HEAD OF RATION OFFICE RESIGNS

H. J. Palmer Leaves For Position In Florida

Horace J. Palmer, general manager of the local War Price and Rationing Office has resigned to take effect August 1. Mr. Palmer, who has held this position for the past fourteen months, has accepted another position at Sarasota, Florida.

Previous to his connection with the local Ration Office, Mr. Palmer conducted a real estate business on East Main Street.

It was stated by a member of the local rationing board that Mrs. C. Harvey Boyce has been named as Mr. Palmer's successor. Mrs. Boyce has been connected with the local office since December of last year and is well versed with the operation of the rationing system.

Other full time employees at the local office are: Miss Ellen Steinke, Miss Betty Hanson and Miss Lydia Cochran. A large number of local women serve as volunteer workers in the local office.

Mr. Palmer has one daughter, Mary, who is serving her basic training as an auxiliary in the WAC's and one son, James, who is employed with the Allied Shipbuilding Corporation at Langhorne, Pa.

FUNERAL FOR MRS. SLACK SATURDAY

Death Claims Local Woman On Wednesday

Mrs. Hattie E. Slack, 72, of 17 Center Street, died Wednesday morning at the Wilmington General Hospital following an illness of about a month.

The widow of the late Strickland Slack, the deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Drew, born in Ohio on August 8, 1871. After her marriage to Mr. Slack, they made their home in Oxford, Pa., for nineteen years before moving to Pocomoke City, Md., where they lived for two years, moving to Delaware, in 1928, where they later purchased a farm on the Ogletown road.

Following the death of her husband, in 1935, the deceased moved to Newark where she has made her home with her only daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fossett, for the past several years.

Mrs. Slack was formerly very active in club work. She was a member of the Daughters of American Revolution, the Newark New Century Club and the First Presbyterian Church. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Leonard Fossett, Newark, and one brother, Wm. H. Drew, of Waterville, Ohio.

The Rev. H. E. Hallman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will conduct the funeral services from the Shellender Funeral Home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Friends may call at Shellender's Funeral Home from 7 until 9 o'clock Friday evening. Interment will be made in the Newark Methodist Cemetery.

RECRUITING OFFICER TALKS ON WAC NEEDS

Need For Girls To Fill Jobs Stressed

There are 1,000,000 non-combatant jobs in the Army which must be filled either by women or drafted heads of families, Lieut. Joanne L. Coates, in charge of WAC recruiting for Delaware, said in a talk Saturday night at the State Theatre. She stressed the need for single girls between the ages of 21 and 44 years, with at least two years of high school being eligible for service in the WAC's.

Lieut. Coates also stated that married women were also acceptable who had no children under 14 years of age.

Speaking of various jobs being filled by the WAC's, she said that they are needed in motor corps work, motor transportation, map making, darkroom work in photography, chemical warfare, decoding, and signal corps and various other branches of the service.

There are about 65,000 girls and women now in the service she stated and at least 6,000 more are needed.

Lieut. Coates was accompanied by Corporal Horn and during the day the two were in charge of a WAC information booth erected on Main Street in front of the Old Academy building.

The WAC officers were met on their arrival in Newark by Mrs. C. M. Palmer, chairman of the Civilian WAC recruiting committee for Newark and Mrs. A. D. Cobb, Mrs. T. D. Mylrea and Miss Edwina Long, members of the committee.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend these services at the Head of Christiana Church.

RAILROAD TIES ON FIRE

Newark firemen were called Monday night to extinguish a fire back of the Horseshoe House on East Cleveland Avenue when railroad ties which had been dumped along the track by railroad workmen blazed up. Police investigating the blaze stated that the fire had been set earlier in the day by railroad workers. The firemen responded with two pieces of apparatus.

DUAL RED TEST RAID CLAIMED SUCCESS

Local Workers Praised For Efficiency In Test

Newark experienced its first dual red air raid alarm last night in a practice blackout that tried out the plan which we are most apt to experience if the enemy should invade this country.

Miss Mildred Baylis and Miss Darlene Ludwig were at the local warning center when the Yellow signal was flashed at 8:10 o'clock denoting that there would be a raid to follow. The Blue signal came through at 8:24 and all lights were turned off at once. The first Red signal was flashed at 8:45 when all traffic was halted and everyone was asked to seek shelter.

At 8:55 the second Blue signal was flashed which allowed traffic to resume and at 9:05 there was a second Red signal denoting that enemy planes were again approaching and traffic was again halted. The third Blue signal was flashed at 9:14 with the all-clear being given at 9:24.

At the Control center, officials in charge stated that there was some confusion caused by folks listening to the radios turning on their lights before the town signal was given.

Mr. Perry, assistant general chairman of the local council for Civilian Defense stated that in no case must the lights be turned on until the street lights of the town came on as each locality had their own system.

During the test raid an incident was staged at the corner of Continental Avenue and Haines Street where an unexploded bomb was supposed to have been dropped. Local auxiliary police, air raid wardens and Lab squads went into action under the direction of Chief Cain and Shief Skinner who were high in their praise of the way that the situation was handled.

R. L. DODGE SPEAKS AT LION CLUB

Discusses Experiences In Two Wars

R. L. Dodge, Past Commander of the Delaware Power Squadron gave a very interesting and timely discussion at the weekly dinner meeting of the Newark Lions Club, held in the Country Club, Tuesday evening.

NEWPORT VISITORS AT AIR BASE

Woman's Club Card Party At Noon Today

Newport, July 29th — Approximately 250 guests attended the weekly dance held Friday evening in the Newport Service Center, including women from the New Castle County Air Base and junior hostesses. Hostesses for the evening were members of the Woodcrest Catholic Church. Father McGinley was also a guest.

On Friday evening, July 30th, the Suburban Century Club members will serve as hostesses.

The Newport Center officials and a group of 65 young women were guests at the Air Base on Wednesday evening at the invitation of Air Base officials. The Van de Venter Twins entertained with tap dancing numbers, and the Stonehurst Red Cross Workers were hostesses. The Air Base Orchestra provided music for the dancing. Miss Besssie Lynam's group of Junior Hostesses assisted with the entertainment.

Mrs. Leslie Mahan, in charge of Red Cross activities in the Newport vicinity announces that they are again meeting to make surgical dressings, and will work on Wednesdays and Thursdays from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Sergt. Donald Varell, son of Mrs. Thomas Varell, of Newport, has returned to Indiantown Gap, Pa., after spending a furlough here with his mother and sister, Miss Julia Varell. Another son, Kenneth Varell has just recently been promoted to Private First Class. Pfc. Varell was inducted into the Army about three months ago, and is located in the Anti-Aircraft Division at Camp Davis, N. C.

The Newport Woman's Club will hold a Card Party on Thursday morning at 10:30, followed by luncheon at noon. The affair will be held in the Woman's Club Building. Mrs. S. C. Lomax is chairman of the luncheon committee, and is being assisted by Mrs J. C. Strong. Mrs. F. H. Webb and Mrs Edward Bratton. Mrs. Otho Selby is chairman of arrangements for the cards, and is being assisted by Mrs. W. J. Jenkins, Jr.

Mrs. Henry M. Wilson of Newport Heights left on Thursday for Camden, S. C, where she will spend two weeks with her husband, Aviation Cadet, Henry M. Wilson.

Piano Rolls And Radio Sought For Air Base

An alert room for pilots at the New Castle Army Air Base needs rolls for a player piano, and a combination radio and victrola is needed for a day room there, R. R. M. Carpenter, chairman of the Delaware Chapter, American Red Cross, revealed this week.

Making an appeal for these items on behalf of the Delaware Camp and Hospital Council, he asked that contributors call Red Cross headquarters if they can supply any of the items.

FERTILIZER OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER

A much more encouraging outlook on the fertilizer materials situation is reflected in a revision, effective July 1, of the order FP05 regulating the manufacture, sale, and use of fertilizer, according to C. E. Phillips, extension agronomist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

The list of grades has been revised to include several considerably higher in nitrogen. Mr. Phillips, extension agronomist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

The list of grades has been revised to include several considerably higher in nitrogen. Mr. Phillips says that most of the grades will be available for use on crops without regard to the grade used in the past. A few grades are restricted to top-dressing and special use.

Farmers will be permitted to use two or three per cent nitrogen grades on fall seeded grain. The nitrogen outlook is quite a bit brighter than it was a year ago and higher nitrogen grades will be available for most crops.

The rate-of-application restrictions this year will be by pounds of plant food used per acre rather than pounds of fertilizer. For instance a 2-12-6 fertilizer contains 20 pounds of plant food per acre. An application of 500 pounds of 2-8-10 last year would be 100 pounds of plant food. A 5-10-10 could be used this year at the rate of 400 pounds of fertilizer equal to 100 pounds of plant food.

Revised fertilizer recommendations based on the new fertilizer grades are being issued by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. They will be available from the county agricultural agent, or your fertilizer dealer in a few days.

PROTECTION FOR LATE SWEET CORN IS ADVISED

Applications Of Rotenone Dust Cheap, And Effective

Many early plantings of sweet corn were almost completely destroyed by the first brood of European corn borers. According to Harvey L. Chada, extension entomologist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, this crop could have been protected with timely applications of rotenone dust. Later plantings should now be watched for eggs of second generation moths which will be out soon.

Examination of early potato vines and early sweet corn reveals that the first brood borers have reached the pupa, or resting, stage in their development. Soon moths will begin to emerge, flying at night and depositing their eggs in masses of about 15 on the under side of the leaves. The eggs hatch into tiny borers which take their first meal by eating small holes in the leaves, and shortly after they crawl to the central stalk into which they burrow.

Mr. Chada says that rotenone dust is the cheapest, easiest, and most readily available insecticide to use. The dust can be obtained ready mixed from almost any insecticide dealer. A hand duster of the plunger or bellows type can be used for small gardens. Proper timing and thoroughness of applications are very important. As soon as the egg masses are found they should be examined daily. Dark spots will soon appear, and the tiny borers will hatch from them. When the newly hatched borers are found, treatments should be started. Four applications of the dust should be made at 5-dak intervals. Cover parts of the plant affected by borors thoroughly with dust to leave a noticeable deposit, and dust developing ears and under sides of leaves thoroughly. The dust is non-poisonous to people and there is no danger from its use.

Anyone having large acreages and spraying equipment should contact the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service for information on insecticidal sprays for European corn borer control.

Hayman's Taxi Service

CORRECTING A RUMOR

There's a rumor going around that I have only two gallons of gasoline a day on which to operate my business. Also someone is telling people that I cannot take "this or that" trip, without consulting me.

I would appreciate it very much if anyone wanting Hayman's Taxi would dial 2257, as I alone can correctly give the information desired.

SUMMER VACATION HAZARDS

Eight deaths from drowning reported in Delaware so far this year and 25 in 1942 prompt the State Board of Health to issue warnings about the dangers from swimming, a recreation enjoyed by thousands in the state during this hot weather. Swimming, though splendid exercise, can be exceedingly dangerous if people become careless.

The State Board of Health's swimming "don'ts include the following:

1. Do not swim directly after eating.
2. Do not swim or bathe in streams polluted by sewage.
3. Avoid shallow water diving, and be sure there are no objects under water, such as tree trunks, rocks, or piling that you may hit.
4. People with weak hearts should avoid violent water sports, keep physical limitations in mind, and give their hearts as well as their bodily mechanism plenty of rest between periods of activity.

The last named rule also applies as well to "week-end athletes" . . . Exercise is most beneficial when taken easily and gradually. It is foolhardy to go from a quiet every-day life to violent, continued vacation exercise.

The benefits of sunshine to man are numerous, but taken in too large doses it is an enemy and week-enders, vacationers, and people in general are reminded that it is a foolish risk to over-do in the heat.

Sunstroke is a special kind of heat exhaustion caused by the absorption of the radiant energy of the sun. This radiant energy causes changes in the brain and that part of the spinal cord which lies in the neck. These changes may cause the death of the person thus affected. In tropical climates people know this and wear sun helmets and spine pads. Keeping the head and the back of the neck protected from the direct rays of the sun is important in this climate too, in summer time, warns the State Board of Health. A number of deaths from heat exhaustion have been reported in local papers this season.

For those who perspire freely and feel droopy from the heat, stirring 1-8 of a teaspoonful of salt in a glass of cool water and drinking it slowly is good protection against heat exhaustion. Among the people benefitted by this are housewives who must labor in hot kitchens, industrial workers performing their duties in boiler rooms, founderies, bakeries, launderies, and other industries. For these, and for manual laborers in the hot sun, there is always the danger of heat sickness. It has been found very helpful to replace the salt lost from the body through perspiration. Some industrial plants are giving salt tablets to their workers for this purpose.

Adequate liquids in the diet of every one, fruit juices and milk as well as water, will help to replace the moisture lost by perspiration. It is advisable, however, that these liquids are not too greatly iced, as this may cause digestive disturbances. No ice at all for babies or small children.

"Victory Through Health" should include health on vacation and in play time as well as during working hours, reminds the State Board of Health.

"THE WOUNDED DON'T HATE"

A newspaper man brough that line back from the battlefields. It was "news" in his eyes for it had come as a surprise to him that those who had been hurt most, hated least—that those men, wounded unto death, had risen above hatred of those who had struck them down.

He went further. And he found that where the hand of war had been most heavily felt, there was less bitterness, less desire for revenge than where war had not touched.

He could have learned it from the refugees. Those who lost most, talked least and hated least. Those who got out safely with some possessions and found only their accustomed way of life disrupted were the most angry.

So it always is. Those who suffer, learn from suffering. They see what the act of cruelty does to the cruel. They know the warping of spirit injustice vents upon the unjust. They sense the erosion of soul intolerance sets festering in the intolerant. They have learned that hatred is a boomerang and that he who hates lives only as the hated.

"The wounded don't hate." They who have brushed wings with death have learned the truth; that life can only be saved by willingness to live and die in a good cause; that no man liveth unto himself, or for himself; that giving does not impoverish; that humility and mercy are more important than ambition and pride; and that righteous indignation can be devoid of personal hatred.

"The wounded don't hate." This does not mean a withdrawal from the battle but a resistance to any weakening of the spirit through those dagger thrusts of prejudice and resentment which disable the hardiest soul.

"The wounded don't hate." Not only on the battlefields must this be true, but here in the midst of the tragedies in the battle lines at home. Can we who are safe at home have less self-control than our boys overseas? Can we hate our neighbors, at home or abroad? We can and must despise and condemn the evil deed. We can and must determine to wipe out the cruelty and oppression for all times—but we must not becloud the issue with the red mist of personal hatreds. "The wounded don't hate." —And we must not.

How About That!

By Ruth Safran

Scene: A victory garden 100 x 175 feet, gentlemanly and jointly farmed by Allyn Cooch, Jack Lacher, Parker Thomas and Capt. Joe Barber. Japanese beetles, flea hoppers and bean beetles are reconnoitering, ready for attack. Stage right, Parker Thomas perches on his inevitable "weeding-and-sowing" chair. He leisurely stoops from time to time to pluck an obstinate weed. Down stage, Jack Lacher "assumes the angle" to reap a harvest of tomatoes. His air-conditioned seat—self-mended—(and a must in gardening) belongs to a pair of old baseball pants long condemned to a rummage sale. Capt. Barber, on leave between ferrying trips, describes the antics of the newest-type airplanes to an admiring female group, seated on the deck chairs rimming the garden.

Allyn Cooch, center stage, quotes from a book on the principles of "inter-cropping and succession cropping". He passes a hoe or barrow, as requested, with a rakish grin.

This is not the forest primeval. . . . nor an ersatz victory garden (where seeds are planted upside down). It is a project dreamed up by brothers Allyn and Dick Cooch about a year ago—before the rest of the Newark community became weed-wacky.

Since then, Allyn has supplied lettuce to war plants, Capt. Barber has transplated cabbage and cauliflower plants from the local garden to the one at the New Castle Air Base, and all four family larders have been well stocked (with "vitaphone" food) for present consumption and for the long cold winter ahead (O.P.A. willing).

If you doubt the grandeur of the larder, scan the list of growing things—it reads like a seed catalogue; celery, radishes, spinach, onions, string beans, early potatoes, late potatoes, tomatoes, swiss chard, cabbage, cauliflower, cucumbers, squash (hookneck, pattypan and acorn varieties), beets, carrots, kale, endive, peas, eggplant, peppers, parsnips, bush lima beans, pole lima beans, okra, gumbo, corn, asparagus, sweet potatoes, canteloupe, watermelon brought to these parts by Martha and Henry Harris).

Seed-sprouter Cooch advises Saturday-afternoon gardeners to "plant the things that are liable to be attacked by certain insects in time to beat the insects." Or—as neighbor Betty Case suggests—"When other people are planning their Christmas shopping list, get together—as these boys do—and decide what you'll plant next spring."

Rapt and Wrapped

Four Newarkites are wearing a wrapped expression these days as First Aid bandaging maneuvers are practiced on them. The program—being staged at Triumph—is aimed at fanning out Red Cross instruction to those guys who are amused at the thought of applying digital pressure on a perfect stranger's carotid artery.

For Your Own Amazement

They didn't mean to be malicious, but the two girls griped and groaned at the way the soldiers had "taken over their town—the pools, the eating places, the movies, the streets."

For such people's enlightenment and amazement, the following remedy is suggested:

Learn to know some of the 300 top-knotch fellows picked for the Army Specialist Training program.

Listen to the fun they inject into and expect from life . . . . Watch them on the fence nightly in a hand-clapping, vocal jam session lasting from dinner's end to study time (30 minutes).

More fun than a circus if you watch them stow away food. It's candybars and milkshakes just before dinner . . . and sandwiches and milkshakes from 10 p. m. to 10:25 curfew (when all of them try to crowd into Rhodes, De Luxe and the State.

Listen to their griping—as all soldiers have griped before them. Group B feuds with A because A got here first and got the best accommodations. All of them cooperate in griping at being gigged . . . or taking muscle-making exercises from Coach Murray.

Be amused—you can't help it—at the insistent way they gaze at femininity passing by and remark "Bet that girl can smile if she tries to."

Learn about their branch of the by-now universal Army club: "The Sad Sack" outfit. To be a "sad sack", a soldier has to try hard and fail foolishly. Like two of the local members who hitch-hiked to Philadelphia in search of a bar. Arrived at 12 P. M. (closing time); went on to Newark, N. J. with the same results. Returned after the week-end only one beer ahead.

Look around and find a substantial number interested in serious reading, good music. There were six, ferinstance, who "ate up" an evening of recorded Shakespeare and symphonies at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis: Pvts. Bert Davis, Robert Thurman, Philip Page, Jr., Joseph Hynes, Verne Kaufert and Jennings Olson.

You'll notice that a lot of them like to dance—above or below toe-level.

Amusing and serious, likeable and bookwormish—and sometimes lonely—that is the Army of 300 stationed in Newark. They're worth knowing.

Newark Makes Merry with Soldiers Owner of Green Hat Unknown

Newark had a royal good time on the evening of the Fourth at the fair held for the purpose of establishing a fund to supply pleasures and comforts for the draft men stationed in Newark.

A portion of the street adjoining the Catholic Church grounds where the fair was held, was roped off, and men and maids enjoyed the dancing to music furnished in turn by the soldiers and the Newark band. The sum of $219.08 was turned over to E. L. Smith, Dean of the school, to be used as it seems best.

The hat worn by Miss Marion Campbell was won by N. G. or H. G. Barger. The initials are not plain. The check number was 62. The owner is requested to call phone 248, to receive the attractive bit of millinery. $20.20 was raised by this novel feature.

S. S. Picnic Next Week

The Sunday School of the Presbyterian Church of Newark will hold their annual picnic in the grove adjoining the Welsh Tract Church, on Thursday, July 18th. Members of the school will meet at the church at ten o'clock. Automobiles will take them to the grounds.

Twenty Thousand Dollars Pledged

Pledges amounting to $20,260 were turned in at the meeting in the Academy building on June 28, National W. S.S. day. The pledges were made by residents in the school districts number 39, 39 1-2, 41 and 41 1-2.

New Principal Elected

Marion F. Mahon, formerly of Deming, N. M., Head of Newark School.

At a meeting of the Newark Board of Education held last evening, Mr. Marion F. Mahon was elected principal of the Newark Public Schools, to succeed R. P. Koehler, resigned. Mr. Mahon is a graduate of the University of Indiana, and is considered there one of the best school men in Indiana and for ten years held the same position in the Danville Schools. Last year he held the position of principal of the schools at Deming, N. M. He is leaving the southwest on account of the climate.

Mr. Mahon has taken graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, and this summer is studying at Columbia.

Lodge Officers to be Installed

There will be an installation of officers of Ivy Castle No. 23, Knights of the Golden Eagle of Newark, Delaware, on Saturday night, July 13, at eight o'clock sharp. The entertainment committee has made preparations for a very pleasant evening. All members are urged to be present.

Lieutenant McNeal In France

H. W. McNeal has today received a card telling of the safe arrival in France of his son, Lt. D. Raymond McNeal, of the Field Artillery. Lieutenant McNeal with a number of Delaware College men, enlisted in the Reserve Officers Training School, at Camp Meade last January. Upon completing the training there he was commissioned as second lieutenant in the National Army. While at Camp Jackson, South Carolina, he responded to a call for volunteers in the School of Fire, and after qualifying, was sent immediately to France.

Home Coming Day at Red Men's Home

Members of the Delaware Tribes and Councils, Improved Order of Red Men, will hold their annual home coming at the Red Men's Home, Newark, next Saturday. Arrangements for the home coming under the jurisdiction of a standing committee of the order, Alexander H. Rogers, chairman, have been completed. It is expected that more than 2,000 members of the different tribes and councils will attend. Every tribe and council in the state will be represented.

Entertainment will be provided by members of the Degree of Pocahontas, in the form of tableau, representing various patriotic and historical scenes connected with the country and state. A picnic luncheon will be served in the grove in front of the Red Men's Home. Joseph Mowrey, former Mayor of Camden, who is the Great Chief of Records of New Jersey, is expected to deliver an address.

At the exercises next Saturday, the Manitou Tribe Fife and Drum corps and the Minnehaha Tribe Band will provide music.

On August 15, the combined orders of Red Men of the States of New Jersey and Delaware, will present a fully equipped ambulance costing about $4,000 to Camp Dix. This presentation is in line with the custom of Great Councils all over the country.

COLORFUL UNIFORMS

Since its beginning in 1775 members of the U. S. Marine Corps have always worn colorful uniforms.

Letters To the Editor

Gentlemen:

Just a few lines to thank you for the Newark Post. I have received four editions so far, the last one of June 17th. I do really appreciate the home town paper and news more than you know.

Of course I cannot name the ... I am on, but there are nine men in this group that are of any size. I arrived here about the first of April. The Isle is composed of royal and volcanic ash and in many ways attractive, scenic beautiful. Of course, it has its sad points, but looking at the other side makes you forget the disadvantages. We have the most blue-colored sky and lovely moon I have ever seen. The weather warm and mild practically all the time with a nice breeze blowing.

We have U.S.O. shows and various programs of sports and etc., to break the monotony of the service routine.

The blackout regulations recently have been lifted somewhat, which adds more cheer.

Swimming and all sports are enjoyed the year around as the temperature is nearly the same the year around.

Closing and thanks again for the old Home Town Paper. Give best regards to all Newarks.

Yours and Best Wishes,
Pvt. Gerald L. Walker

COX—SOUTHGATE NUPTIALS SATURDAY

In Grace P. E. Church, Talleyville, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, the Rev. Edward H. Ehart, Jr., rector, officiated at the marriage of Miss Bessie M. Cox, daughter of Mrs. Garrett F. Cox, Cranston Heights, and Mr. William T. Southgate of Stanton. A reception followed in the parish house.

Mrs. Pearl Norton, organist of the church gave a recital preceding the ceremony and played the wedding marches. Miss Elizabeth Pyle, a member of the church choir gave vocal solos.

Mr. Millard Cox gave his sister in marriage. Miss Mabel A. Steinbaker attended the bride as maid of honor and the junior bridesmaids were Miss Jean Hannum, niece of the bride, Miss Idella Dickerson, both of Cranston Heights. Little Miss Barbara Dickerson, also of Cranston Heights, was the flower girl.

Mr. Ralph Stradley, Stanton, served as best man for Mr. Southgate. Ushers were Mr. Charles Singles and Mr. Clifton Abrams, both of Stanton.

Miss Cox was graduated from the West Chester State Teachers' College and is a member of the faculty of the Marshallton Consolidated School. Mr. Southgate is associated with the Wilmington Sash and Door Company.

McCOY—HEALY VOWS AFFIRMED

On Saturday, in Sacred R. C. Church, the Rev. Innocent Boss officiated at the marriage of Miss Frances Maxine McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Galen W. McCoy, "Echo Hill," Landenberg, and Mr. John J. Healy, Chattanooga, Tenn., son of Mrs. Jane Healy of Wilmington and the late Mr. John Healy.

The altars were decorated with white candles and assorted flowers against a background of green palms. Joseph Daly played the processional and the recessional, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Mindelle Pilos, who sang, "I Love You Truly," "Because," "At Dawning," preceding and during the mass.

The bride, who approached the altar with her father, wore a gown of white chiffon organdy and rose point lace. The basque bodice with the sweetheart neckline and long tapering sleeves pointed over the hand, was trimmed with a wide ruffle of lace encircling the yoke. Two wide ruffles of lace began at the waistline of the full skirt and circled the hemline, continuing around the train. Her finger tip length veil of illusion was held by a Juliet cap and lace ruffles. A single string of pearls was her only ornament. She carried a white prayer book covered with gardenias and satin streamers tied with stephanotis.

Miss Mary Healy, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Audrey B. Marcus, Miss Charlotte Hopkins and Mrs. Muriel Butler. Little Miss Gertrude Burroughs was flower girl.

Their dresses of like style were made with a fitted bodice of lace, sweetheart neckline and elbow length sleeves. The full skirts of tulle were decorated with an inset of lace. They wore matching shoulder length veils caught at the hair line, with horse hair flower wreaths, and carried bouquets of Talisman roses and blue delphinium tied with matching ribbon. Their colors were blue and yellow.

Little Miss Borroughs wore a simple frock of white organdy and a wreath of white roses and stephanotis in her hair. She carried a basket of rose petals which she sprinkled in the path of the bride.

Mr. Cornelius Reardon was best man for his cousin. Ushers were William Comegys, John Creedon and Frank Carello.

The mother of the bride wore a pale gray dress with white and black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Healy, mother of the bridegroom, wore black with black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Reception and luncheon for the families and guests followed at the New Century Club building. Mrs. Healy's going away dress was aqua crepe. She wore black horsehair hat and patent accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias. The couple left for Chattanooga, Tenn., where they will make their home.

MISS EVELYN CORRELL TO WED SATURDAY

Miss Evelyn M. Correll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Correll of Depot Road, will become the bride of Mr. William R. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Miller of near Oxford, on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. The ceremony will be performed in the Newark Methodist Church by the pastor, Dr. Arthur J. Jackson.

MISS NANCY SMITH ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

Nancy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith of Chestnut Hill Farm near Newark, entertained a number of her young friends with a hay ride Saturday evening, July 17. The ride around Cooch's Bridge and Iron Hill was thoroughly enjoyed by the young people. Refreshments were served.

The guests were: Joyce Wollaston, Joan Ross, Annette Steinour, Eve Boden, Jeanette Morris, Patty Reybold, Peggy Smith, Jack Fossett, Gordon Cleaves, Herbert Stone, Herby Tobin, George Williamson, Billy Williamson, Danny McVey and Buddy Palmer.

GOLD STAR MOTHER WILL SPEAK AT CONVENTION

Mrs. Mary Frances Hill of Philadelphia, national president of the American Gold Star Mothers, will deliver an address at the annual convention of the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Delaware, Saturday, August 14, at the Hotel duPont.

Mrs. Carrie Stratton of Philadelphia, national color bearer of Gold Star Mothers, will accompany Mrs. Hill to Wilmington.

Msr. Robert J. Schreiber, department auxiliary president, received word from Mrs. Hill that she will ge glad to meet any gold star mothers of World War I and II who are interested in joining the organization.

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY EBENEZER CHURCH BOARD

The reorganization meeting of the official board of Ebenezer Methodist Church was held on Sunday. Leonard Nelson was chosen vice-chairman and Robert P. Major, secretary.

The following heads of church organizations were chosen: Methodist Youth Fellowship, Lindsay Greenplate; Young People's Society, Earl Lynch; Woman's Society of Christian Service, Mrs. Leonard Nelson.

Forty additional hymnals will be dedicated at the morning service Sunday.

The pastor, the Rev. J. Edward Hemphill, will be away on vacation the latter part of next month. The Rev. O. A. Bartley, president of Wesley Junior College, Dover, will be the guest speaker August 22.

CITIZENSHIP DAY TO BE HELD AUGUST 5

The New Castle County W.C.T.U. will hold its annual Christian Citizenship Day at the Brandywine Summit Camp Meeting on August 5.

This will be an all-day session opening at 10 o'clock. There will be a morning meeting of devotions and exercises and an afternoon program arranged by Mrs. Emma Wilkinson, who is in charge of the soldiers and sailors department of the W.C.T.C.

Mrs. Thomas W. Jakes, president of the New Castle County W.C.T.U., will preside. Mrs. Anne Lee Waller, state president of the organization, will be a guest at the meeting.

JOINT BIBLE CLASS MEETINGS FOR AUGUST

The Ladies and Men's Bible Classes of the Newark Methodist Church School will study together each Sunday during the month of August at 9:45 A. M. in the Chapel of the church, with Mrs. Williams teaching.

The subject for the coming Sunday will be, "How a great critical event in God's program involves suffering and tragedy for those who contend against Him and spiritual blessing and freedom for those whom he has chosen to bless."

Be with us for an hour of Bible Study.

SURE SHOT

James Megilligan, an airplane spotter at the Possum Park Observation Post carried on for six hours alone when his relief failed to show up last Monday morning. Megilligan went on duty at one o'clock in the morning last Monday and unable to secure a partner he filled his spot for three hours until four o'clock when his relief was supposed to come on duty.

When no relief showed up, Megilligan did not leave his post vacant but continued on duty until seven o'clock when the other relief came on duty making two three-hour shifts he served. It was stated that the party who was supposed to relieve him did not hear the alarm clock. Mr. Megilligan, our hat is off to a 100 per cent airplane spotter. We are sorry that everyone is not as efficient as you are and it only adds up that the Possum Park Post is still maintaining its perfect record.

Little Billy Clancy is confined to his bed with his leg in a cast we are told, and boys and girls it would be nice if you would go and see Billy in your spare time. What would be nicer if you can't go to see Billy would be for you to send him a a card. Billy, Sureshot wants you to get better fast. Good luck.

Local harness racing enthusiasts enjoyed six thrilling races on Saturday at the Homewood Driving Park Club. Five races were run with straight heat winners and the first race honors were divided in split heats.

Jake Rudnick gave a fine exhibition of how a driver can fall off his sulkey backwards and escape injury.

Walter Bolton's mare Dallas did not do so good but Ralph Bowers horse Harold Hanover trotted home winner in each heat.

The crowd was not as good as the last time there were harness races held here. There was certainly a great lack of automobiles present. The OPA is surely putting the bug on a lot of people.

Last Thursday evening at the Pleasure Driving panel meeting several persons were present to explain why they had violated the OPA ban on pleasure driving. Everything was just regular until one motorist was called in to explain why he had made a trip to Atlantic City. He stated that he and his wife both worked and he felt that they needed a vacation so they got the old car out and started off for the shore, knowing that they were violating the regulation and expecting to be picked up at any minute. They arrived safely at Atlantic City, spent three delightful days and on their way home an OPA investigator popped out of the bushes and wanted to know the why and wherefore. The result was that the motorist was invited to appear before the local panel. It is presumed that this motorist used his head before he came to the panel meeting and filled up his tank because he did not have so many stamps left in his book. Anyway the committee lifted the remainder: Moral—another customer for the Black Market gas man.

Flash—Coffee can now be purchased in drug stores, restaurants and eating houses for the old price of five cents a cup. Praise the OPA and pass another cup of coffee.

Eugene Campbell has gone into the restaurant business with his grandmother Mrs. Lena V. Robinson. They have taken over the store formerly known as Bunnies at the corner of Main and Chapel Street. Here's wishing you good luck.

The Newark Junior Legion team evened the score with the Seminole team from Claymont last week by defeating them 4 to 2 but Newark was just lucky.

When the local hotshots found that they could not hit the ball, they let the ball hit them. Three of the local boys went to first base when they got in the road of the ball. Big Joe Talucci and fast Bill Hamilton took advantage of their good fortune and scored.

Challenger and Bob Laws had to work for their scores, each accounting for singles. Buddy Cataldi singled twice. Buddy played a bang-up game but was left on second the first time and was thrown out at third in the fifth.

Brandon Davis pitched a nice game until the seventh frame when he tired out and Bill Hamilton took the mound with the bases loaded and only one down. Bill walked another batter scoring one run and then settled down to retire the side.

Jockey Johnny Adams Set Down For 22 Days

The nation's leading jockey, Johnny Adams, was handed a 22-day suspension Tuesday by stewards of the Detroit Fair Grounds race track.

According to the stewards, Adams failed to obtain a release from a previous commitment to ride Earl H. Beezley's Grasshopper II at Detroit last Saturday and instead went to Chicago to pilot Charles T. Fisher's Amber Light in the Arlington Classic. Amber Light finished last.

Adams, who has ridden 139 winners this year, 78 of them in the Detroit meeting, said that he was advised by John Swisher, secretary of the Jockey's Guild, a national organization of riders, that Beezley's second call on his services was not binding.

R. T. Wright, Camden, S. C., flying instructor, saw a dark object pass in front of his eyes while flying upside down. Making a quick grab, he pulled in a watch dropped by another instructor higher up.

High Norman, Willis Pacer, Wins Straight Heats In Three-Year-Old Class; Jake Rudnick Thrown From Sulkey In Last Event As Wheel Breaks In Collision

Spectators at the matinee harness races staged Saturday afternoon by the Homewood Driving Park Club at the Old Huber Race track on the S. E. Dameron farm at the East edge of Newark were treated to thrills and spills as well as some fine exhibitions of harness racing.

Split heats developed in the first race when Ellen Hanover and Red Arrow divided honors for first and second places. Ellen Hanover, owned by W. H. Staats of Baltimore, Md., won the first heat and Red Arrow, owned by William Cole of Chestertown, Md., came in first in the second heat.

Alta Abbie, owned by Ernest Pattit of Paulsboro, N. J., won straight heats in the Class A. Pace, the feature event. In the second heat, Madge Martin led at the half but was overtaken by Alto Abbie at the three-quarter post and trailed by a length at the finish.

The three-year-old pace won won by High Norman in straight heats. In the second heat which promised to be a close finish, Ann Hal and Lady D Abbie Dale broke as they came down the stretch.

Katie D, owned by Dr. H. K. Darlington of Concordville, Pa., on straight heats in the three-year-old trot nosing out Delena May in the stretch.

Ralph Bowers' Harold Hanover got off to a good start both heats to win the Class A Trot although Dr. Darlington's Amelia D ran a fine race.

As the drivers were jockying for position in the Class B trot, the final race of the meet, William Cole, driving Norman Frisco hooked his shaft into the wheel of Jake Rudnick's sulky forcing it sideways and breaking the left wheel. Mr. Rudnick was thrown off backwards but escaped injury. Norman Frisco easily won both heats.

Marines' Hymn Revised To Honor Airmen

The famous Marines' Hymn, song of America's battling soldiers of the sea and known around the world as the fighting song of fighting men for nearly a hundred years, has officially been changed to honor the Corps' galant airmen.

An official order from Lt. Gen. Thomas Holcomb, Commandant of the Marine Corps, formally alters the fourth line of the song's first stanza to "In the air, on land and sea" instead of "On land as on the sea".

The stanza now reads:

"From the halls of Montezuma
To the shores of Tripoli;
We fight our country's battles
In the air, on land and sea."

FARM LEAVES URGED

War Food Administrator Chester Davis, the War Manpower Commissioner and labor representatives have asked war industries, wherever necessary and feasible, to grant short leaves of absence to employees requiring additional time for planting and harvesting on the small farms they operate on a part-time basis while working in factories and mills.

FARM GASOLINE

Equal preference with the Army and Navy in the purchase of gasoline and fuel oil for tractors has been granted Delaware farmers on the petition of the Delaware USDA War Board.

"Automobile joyriders take food out of their own mouths when they waste gasoline needed to operate farm tractors," Clarence E. Ocheltree, Chairman of the Delaware USDA War Board, warned today.

AG TEACHER CONFERENCE IS HELD AT COLLEGE

Fall Study Planned; P. M. Hodgson In Charge

Delaware is located in the best marketing area of the country for all poultry products, including hatching eggs, marketing eggs and broilers it was stated this week by Paul M. Hodgson, state supervisor of Agricultural education at the twenty-fourth annual summer conference of Delaware vocational agriculture teachers being held all this week at the University of Delaware.

The production of hatchery eggs is a science, Mr. Hodgson declared and egg production must be controlled to prevent a shortage during the summer slump. He said that Ag teachers throughout the state should take advantage of the modern facilities of the Delaware Experiment Station and pass their knowledge on to the students under them who in turn would impart their knowledge to their parents.

In a summary of the conference he emphasized the need for a culling program to secure quality production.

Raymond W. Heim, State Director of Vocational Education speaking at the conference stated that the Agricultural course of study for every high school where a department of vocational agriculture is organized must be specific and practical for the area served by the school and the course of study in the various communities of the state can not be the same. The type of farming found in a community will determine the course content.

The job of preparing the course of study falls to the vocational teacher, and as farming practices change in a given community the course of study must change likewise.

The feed problem was a much-discussed topic at the conference and each and every speaker dwelt on the need of utilizing home grown feeds.

One of the great needs of the Delaware poultry industry is to increase the output of hatching eggs in order to create a better balance with the broiler division of the industry, it was stated by Edmund Hoffman, assistant research poultryman at the university.

The broiler industry will come through the war "stronger and better than ever" providing quality standards and maintained, Arthur E. Tomhave, head of the department of animal husbandry stated. He warned against buying "bargain chicks" and said that in the long run they prove more expensive.

CHRISTMAS GIFT IS RECEIVED IN JULY

Letter Is Received By Mayor's Committee

Receiving your Christmas gift in July is one of the many strange things that can happen when one is in the armed services of their country.

Corporal W. R. Edmanson, U. S. Marine Corps has written the Mayor's Committee thanking them for their kind remembrance which should have reached him in time for Christmas but the letter dated July 10 stated that he had just received his gift and stated how much he appreciated being thought of.

The letter as received follows:

July 10

Gentlemen:

Everyone is looking forward to next Christmas. But, today my thoughts wandered back to last Christmas and my friends in Newark. Believe it or not, the greetings from your wonderful citizens just arrived. I have traveled a long way since leaving Newark in 1940, but news from the old town is always welcome.

The thoughtfulness of the check could really be appreciated if I were in the states. It is my wish to save it until I get home on leave. Then, I would like to cash it myself.

What I liked most of all were the two pictures of Main Street. They sort of make a lump in my heart. I hope that al lof our young men may walk in peace on the streets of Newark in the near fluture.

I wish I could let you know the things happening here. There are so many stories to tell about the land and air combats that took place on this island. The boys who invaded Africa did a swell job and the navy is still on its toes. We know what is going on in our area, and I don't mind saying the Japs are on the down grade toward defeat.

Those War Bonds and taxes are buying more than most people know about. The boys over seas know how expensive a war can be. We are buying our share of bonds along with civilians.

If you ever need a marine to raise the spirits of the citizens of Newark, don't hesitate to call on me. I have a story to tell that would make anyone proud of being an American.

Let me thank you again for remembering us at Christmas. I am looking forward to visiting you when our squadron returns.

Sincerely Yours,
William Edmanson.

JUNIOR LEGION DEFEATS CLAYMONT SEMINOLE TEAM 4 TO 2 TO EVEN SERIES

Bill Hamilton Takes Mound In Seventh With One Out And Bases Loaded; Allows Another Walk For Run And Strikes Out Two

The Newark Junior Legion baseball team evened the score with the Seminole team from Claymont last week when they handed them a 4 to 2 defeat on Frazer Field. The Claymont team won the first game of the series the previous week at Claymont nosing out the local boys by one run.

After a scoreless first inning the local boys gathered two runs in the second frame to take the lead. Joseph Talucci, the first batter up was hit by a pitched ball and went to first base. He stole second and scored on Leigh Challenger's single. Challenger stole second, stole third and stole home for the second score of the inning.

The visitors scored their first run in the fourth frame when Stevens hit a double and scored on Mechell's single.

Bill Hamilton tallied the third run for the local team in the fifth inning, going to first base after being hit by a pitched ball, he went to third on Buddy Cataldi's single and scored on Brandon Davis' sacrifice hit.

Robert Laws singled in the sixth, stole second and third and scored on Talucci's sacrifice hit.

Wilfred Davis scored for the visitors in the last inning, going to first on an error he was advanced as the bases were loaded on balls and scored as he was forced home by an additional base on balls.

Bill Hamilton took the mound for the local team in the seventh with one out and the bases loaded. Hamilton allowed another base on balls and struck two men out to retire the side.

RATION VALUES RAISED

Butter, Juices, Vegetables Are Advanced

Higher point values for butter, tomato juice and several frozen fruits and vegetables were announced this week by the Office of Price Administration Meat point values were left virtually unchanged.

Effective Sunday, the ration price of butter goes up two points a pound; canned tomato juice advances one point per pound; frozen fruits and berries increase from six to nine points a pound; and frozen green and lima beans, cut corn, peas and spinach from four to six points a pound. Frozen fruit juices are cut back from four to two points a pound.

August's blue stamps, the OPA said, will be good until Sept. 20.

Partially compensating for the rise in the stamp value of butter to 10 points, the OPA lowered the value of shortening, lard, salad and cooking oils by one point. Margarine will remain unchanged at four points.

The new red point values will remain in effect through Sept. 4.

Although the OPA reported an increase of 10 per cent in the civilian beef supply, no drop in values is possible at present, the agency said.

Because of the increase in beef supply, it was explained, housewives should be able to buy beef. Previously, some regions were not able to get beef at all, pork being almost the only meat in plentiful quantities.

'Due to the continued consumer preference for beef, it is necessary to keep beef and pork point values in the same relationship as at present," the OPA said.

Reporting the rationed demand for butter has been running about five per cent ahead of the amount allocated for civilian use, the OPA said the new value was ordered ot make the supply last until the end of September."

TWO RED ALARMS IN AIR RAID TEST DRILL

Drill Will Be Held One Night This Week

A type of air raid drill never before tried here—involving two red alarms—will be held some night this week, the State Council of Defense announced Monday. The council said that the public has become accustomed to the sequence of four audible signals—the blue warning signal, followed by the red danger signal, then the second blue signal, and finally the all-clear.

Such a sequence, Gerrish Gassaway, executive vice-chairman of the council, pointed out, would be used if enemy planes came to this area, and then left. However, if they were reported nearly, went off, and later changed their course and returned, a different sequence of signals would result. A series of signals of this type will be used in the test this week.

The simulated enemy action scheduled for the test will start with a report of planes, believed to be enemy craft, off the Atlantic Coast, south of Delaware. The yellow warning signal will be transmitted to the various warning and control signals. This signal is not transmitted by the sirens, and is not audible to the public.

Fifteen minutes later the planes will be identified as enemy planes and the blue alert signal will be sounded. This When the planes get nearer the red air raid alarm—the rising and falling signal—will be sounded.

Shortly after reports will be received from aircraft warning posts in adjoining states that the planes have changed their course and the second blue signal will be given as usual.

However, later reports will indicate that the planes are once more headed for Delaware. Then for the first time in drills here the red air raid warning signal will be sounded for the second time.

Then the enemy planes will be intercepted and driven seaward. When this is accomplished, the blue signal will be sounded for the third time. When Army headquarters advises that the planes have been disposed of, the all clear will be sounded.

The defense official said that the usual sequence of raid signals has not impressed upon the public the different type of signals and what they mean, and that the public has not been able to differentiate between the long two-minute warning signal and the rising and falling signal indicating planes are overhead. He explained it is hoped that this week's drill will enable the public to become familiar with the signals and their meanings.

It was also pointed out Army authorities have cautioned that despite aircraft arning services both on sea and land it is possible that in an actual raid the sequence of yellow and blue warnings preceding the red might not be given. It is possible that the first signal to be given would be the red air raid warning, the Army has indicated.

Army To Present Wings To Airplane Spotters

Wings will be presented by the Army soon to all qualified civilian volunteers of the Army information and filter centers and the ground observers corps.

Wings will be given by the Army to observers upon completion of three months of duty. Special merit medals showing the air corps emblem, hanging from a bar which bears the words "For Merit" will be granted to all observers and civilian officers who have performed a special act of service to the Air Corps.

These medals will also be presented to those observers who have completed the Aircraft Recognition course and 250 hours of duty, or who have completed 500 hours of duty, in which case a service bar will be attached.

No 1944 Allotments, Payments on Wheat

So far as is known, there will be no 1944 wheat allotments or payments on allotments to Delaware wheat growers as in past year, reports the State office of the Delaware Agricultural Adjustment Agency. There will be price adjustments on wheat and corn produced 1943.

Although there will be no restrictions or penalties on wheat acreages, Delaware farmers are urged to continue their production of vital war crops adapted to Delaware and not to expand their wheat acreages at the detriment of other essential crops, such as soybeans and permanent pastures.

State to Get $250,000 For Post-War Roads

Delaware will receive $250,000 out of a federal fund of $50,000,000 to be used in preparing plans for post-war construction of highways, according to the United States Municipal News.

The publication reports that Congress acted to prevent the reversion of unobligated federal-aid road funds, and authorized the use of certain funds for engineering investigations and plans and specifications for post-war construction projects.

The $50,000,000 has been apportioned among the states in accordance with the formula provided in the Federal Highway Act. Delaware's share under the formula provided would be 250,000.

Installment On State Tax Is Due July 31

The State Tax Department yesterday called attention of the public to the fact that the second quarterly installments of 1942 state income taxes and of the 1943 war emergency tax are due on July 31 and the whole amount of the tax becomes due immediately if the installments are not paid by the deadline.

Persons who elected to file war emergency returns on the actual basis for the first quarterly period must file for the period from April 1 to June 30, on or before July 31 if they had during that period any income on which the war emergency tax has not been withheld. A remittance for the full amount of the tax shown must accompany the return.

Every employer who withheld any tax during the period from April 1 to June 30 is required to file form WE-1 and transmit the total tax withheld during the quarter.

Forms WE-2, employe's receipt, and WE-3, reconciliation of quarterly returns, are not to be filed until after the close of the calendar year, 1943.

EXAMINATION ANNOUNCED FOR JUNIOR SOIL JOBS

Civil Service Has Openings In Forestry And Conservation

A new examination has been announced by the United States Civil Service Commission for Junior Soil Conservationist with four options, namely: Forestry, Range Conservation, Soil Conservation (Farm Planning) and Soil Surveying. These positions pay a salary of $2000 a year plus overtime, and place of employment will be the Soil Conservation Service, Department of Agriculture, in the States of Pennsylvania and Delaware.

"Persons appointed will perform professional, sub-professional, technical, semi-technical or clerical work requiring specialized knowledge of any of the above fields in connection with various Governmental activities," stated Mr. Singles, Secretary.

To qualify, applicants must show the successful completion of a 4 year course in a college or university of recognized standing. Such course must have included or been supplemented by a minimum of specialized study in the particular option as follows:

1. Jr. Forester.—A bachelor's degree in forestry from a recognized school of forestry.

2. Jr. Range Conservationist.—20 semester hours in range management, pasture management or plant ecology or in any combination of these subjects or in one or more of these subjects combined with forestry, botany, agronomy or animal husbandry.

3. Jr. Soil Conservationist (Farm Planning)—20 semester hours in agriculture, agricultural education, engineering, agricultural economics, agronomy, biology, forestry, geography, range management horticulture, animal husbandry, dairy husbandry, soils or botany. A farm background is required. Applicants are requested to show (by giving dates) the time they have lived on or have been employed on a farm.

4. Jr. Soil Surveyor.—One fundamental general course in soils, provided the course was taken by the applicant within the last twenty years. Graduates in geology will be accepted without the minimum of one general course in soil.

Positions paying $1800 and $1620 may be filled from this list. Applicants should indicate the lowest salary acceptable. Closing date for this examination is August 16, 1943. Application forms may be obtained from Mr. Singles at the Post Office and should be filed with the Director, Third U. S. Civil Service Region, Customhouse.

Appointments in the Federal service are made in accordance with War Manpower Commission policies, directives, regulations and employment stabilization plans.

THIS IS WAR WORK, TOO!

A call to everyone to help on the Food Front

Have you felt that you have lacked the opportunity to take part in the war? Then here it is. You can become a fighter on the Food Front!

Food in this war is just as important as planes, tanks and guns. Our President himself said these words. And this year the need for more Food, especially canned food, is greater than ever before.

Here's what we face right now: Our own local crops are important in this war. Harvested and packed, they will feed our fighting men, our brave Allies, and our own people here at home.

Because of war conditions help is scarce. Yet, the crops must be picked fast and packed fast.

Here is Your Chance to Help

Now that the crops are ready for harvesting and packing, every able-bodied person may be asked to help in doing the job. And you will be paid for your help—for that is the American way.

Remember, this is more than a job—it is a duty!

You will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have paid in part the debt that we all owe to the boys who are fighting for us!

SUBSTITUTE HOG FEEDS PRACTICAL

Barley And Wheat Proves Equal To Corn

Hogs are heavy users of concentrate foods, according to Prof. A. E. Tomhave, acting head of the department of animal and poultry industry at the University of Delaware. Shortages of these feeds as well as increases in numbers of hogs has necessitated some changes in feeding practices. The urgent need for meat requires best utilization of present feed supplies to protect the hog's health and promote growth.

Corn supplemented with a high animal protein feed is the standard hog ration. Today, corn is scarce and tankage and meat scraps hard to get. So the hog grower must provide substitutions for these standard feeds.

Wheat and barley provide the best substitutes for corn. Experimental feeding of wheat to hogs at the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station has given results in growth equal to corn feeding. Barley will also produce growth practically equal to corn.

Tankage has in the past served as the principle protein supplement to the cereal grains in hog feeding. It is almost impossible for the individual grower to obtain tankage and other animal protein feeds to supplement his grains, and he must look to other sources. Soybean oil meal, although scarce, is more plentiful than the animal protein feeds and is a good protein supplement for hog feeding. Commercial feed concentrates are extensively used to supplement grains and give good results. Hog pasture can be used to reduce requirements for high protein feed.

Prof. Tomhave says March and April farrowed pigs should average around 125 pounds now if they have been properly fed and cared for.

George J. Casho Rites Held Saturday

George J. Casho, 93 years old, great-great-grandson of a French immigrant who served as interpreter on the staff of Marquis de Lafayette in the Revolution, died Thursday at his home, 171 Academy Street. He retired from farming in 1912, was unmarried, and had no close surviving relatives.

Mr. Casho was born on Casho Mills on the Elkton Road, the son of the late James and Eliza Mote Casho. The funeral was held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the R. T. Jones funeral home with interment in the Head of Christiana Presbyterian Cemetery.

His Revolutionary ancestor, Jacob Casheau, a French Huguenot, came to Wilmington shortly before 1722 and established himself as a baker. After the French sided with the Colonies in the war with the British he joined Layfayette's staff. Later he moved to Cecil County, Md. Other members of the family settled near Newark and the spelling of the name was named to its present form.

Mexican Beetles Damage Lima Fields

Adult Mexican bean beetles which have developed in early planted string beans have migrated into lima bean fields and are beginning to do damage. Eggs laid on the small lima bean plants are now hatching. Unless the lima bean fields are watched carefully and insecticides are applied to control the adults and larvae, there is likely to be serious damage to the crop.

Rotenone, cryolite or prethrum dusts or sprays applied to string beans have given good control. Any one of these same insecticides should be applied to lima beans as soon as most of the beetle eggs hatch. Care should be taken to get the dust on the under side of the leaves where the larvae feed.

"Grand Old Man of the Campus" and few alumni ever returned but that they called on their old teacher.

He served as president of Delaware College from 1896 to 1914 and the first men's dormitory at the University, Harter Hall was named in his honor.

Dr. Harter was a son of the late Peter Koontz and Mary Poe Harter. He was born November 7, 1853, at Leitersburg, Md. He graduated from the Normal School at Lebanon, Ohio, and received his B. A. degree from St. John's College in 1878; the degree of M. A. in 1880 and the degree of Ph. D. from the same college in 1893. He was given the honorary degree of Ph. D. by the University of Delaware in 1925. His work in the educational field includes: Tutor in Latin and mathematics at St. John's College; two years as principal of Lietersburg grammary school; one year as principal of the high school at Hagerstown, Md., and instructor in mathematics at the University of Delaware from 1889 to 1892.

In 1885 when the department of physics and the department of mathematics were separately formed at the college Dr. Harter was made head of both groups. He became president of the college in 1896, retaining the professorship which he held. It was not until 1914, at which time he saw fulfilled his many hopes and desires for the college, that Dr. Harter resigned his presidency but retained his professorship. When the department of mathematics was organized as a special unit in 1924, he assumed the position as head of the department.

During Dr. Harter's term of office he saw the development of the military unit at the University of Delaware. He helped it to grow from its original start under Lieut. George Leroy Brown to its present proportions.

The present library system was given its first start by Dr. Harter when he obtained $1,000 to finance the purchase of books and shelving. The north room in Purnell Hall was obtained as library space, but later was trainsferred to the since demolished Johnson place at the corner of South College Avenue and Main Street, where it was located until the present memorial library was built in 1924.

Seizures of Poultry Seen Having Effect

The OPA-Army technique of requisitioning poultry from trucks leaving the broiler section of the Del-marva Peninsula is already having its effect on the alleged black market in poultry, an OPA official said last night, after the fifth day of operations.

He said reports have reached the OPA indicating that shippers of poultry are beginning to be wary of black market purchases for they realize they run the risk of losing money if their chickens, purchased at above ceiling prices, are requisitioned by the Army at its price of 29 -12 cents per pound.

The OPA-Army teams were active last Friday and Saturday, stopping poultry trucks, inspecting them, and in some cases requisitioning the contents for Army use.

Several teams stopped trucks in the Georgetown region last week, while others were active on roads leading to the ferries to Baltimore.

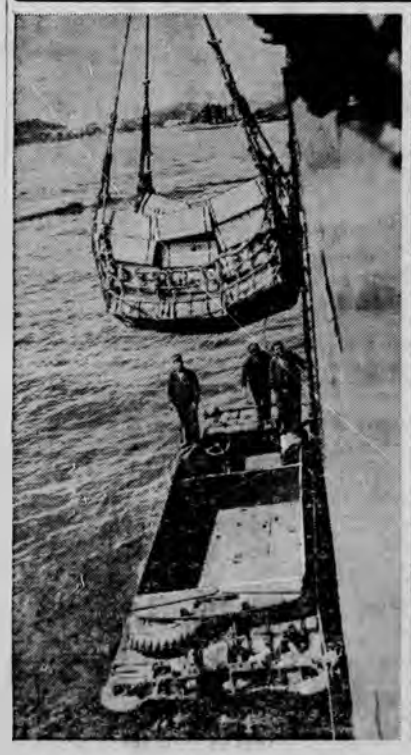
The "Duck"... America's Newest Invasion Vehicle



U. S. ARMY SIGNAL CORPS PHOTOS FROM ACME

This is the Army's newest, most unique military vehicle . . . the 2½-ton, six-wheel, seagoing truck. Officially known as model DUKW, it has been aptly nicknamed the "Duck" by all who are familiar with its remarkable amphibian performance. While General Motors Truck and Coach factories have been producing quantities of this vehicle for some time, these photographs from New Caledonia in the South Pacific are the first to arrive from the fighting fronts.

Left—The "Duck" alongside a freighter is loaded with much-needed supplies for American Forces on New Caledonia.

Above—With driving power switched from propeller to wheels, the "Duck" heads for a supply depot inshore.

Below—Unloaded by a crane, the "Duck" is ready for another trip to the freighter standing by offshore. In actual tests, these huge amphibian trucks have carried 35 men on land and even more when in the water.
