Summer School Opens Monday

Service Citizens Provides Lecture and Music Course

Mary Antin one of the National Speakers

School officials in Delaware are predicting a large enrollment at the Seventh Annual Summer School, which opens at the University of Delaware on Monday of next week. With the registration day one week away, over one hundred applications had been received by the State Department of Education when checked up on Monday. Unlike former sessions, all class room work this year will be held in the recitation rooms at the Women's College and the students housed in the dormitories on the Women's College campus. Harter Hall will be used only in case an overflow building is required to accommodate the students. Meals will be served in the dining hall of the Women's College instead of the Old College, as formerly. This Department will be under the direction of Miss Helen Rees, who was Dietitian at Delaware College two years ago and who has since then been Supervisor of Home Economics in the public schools of Scranton.

The Summer Session of the University of Delaware is a training school for teachers, especially teachers of the rural and elementary grade schools of the State. The courses offered this year have been selected principally to meet the needs of two classes of students: first, teachers in service who wish to earn credits with a view to completing either a two-year or four-year teachers' course in the University; second, teachers who have had little high school education or experience in teaching and who, therefore, need courses of a more elementary character. The program this

Rehabs to Cross Bats With Catholic Club

A game of baseball that promises to be interesting will be played on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Rehabs' diamond between the Rehabs and the Catholic Club. Both teams have been strengthened recently and a close contest is anticipated.

Entertains at Thimble Party

Mrs. H. E. Tiffany entertained a number of friends on Thursday afternoon at a thimble party. The guests spent a delightful afternoon on the spacious veranda, sewing. On Friday afternoon Mrs. Tiffany entertained at cards.

LARGE CLASS FOR UNIVERSITY

Prospects Unusually Good

Judging from the number of prospective students who took the entrance examinations during the two days that the Entrance Committee met last week the new classes at both Delaware College and the Women's College of the University of Delaware next fall, will be the largest in the history of both institutions.

At Delaware College about 40 took the examinations and 17 for the Women's College. This is understood to be slightly more than usually take the examinations at this time of the year and according to those familiar with the college enrollment it indicates that the entering class at Delaware College will be more than 100 and that of the Women's College more than 50.

There are also two days set aside in September for these examinations when no doubt many more will come to Newark to take examinations to enter the two colleges. In addition there is usually a number who enter certificates that the committee does not always know about until about the time the University reopens.

Professor George E. Dutton, chairman of the Entrance Committee for Delaware College, is much pleased with the outlook for an unusually large and well prepared class.

Conditions at both colleges as to dormitory room promise to be considerably cramped for at least a time after the University reopens if the entering classes come up to expectations but every possible effort will be made to accommodate all who desire to enroll.

Church Bazaar

The ladies of the St. Thomas' P. E. Church will hold a bazaar on the lawn of the Parish House on Thursday evening, June 23, for the benefit of the annual Sunday School picnic. Aprons, cakes, home-made candy, pies, punch and ice cream will be for sale. The Minnehaha Band will furnish music for a dance which will be held in the Parish House.

Democratic Officials Confer

Henry Isaacs, State Chairman of the Democratic Committee, "Tim" Mooney, City Chairman, and Eben B. Frazer, County Chairman, formed an interesting group at the celebration on Saturday. Great curiosity was expressed by local Democrats but solicited inquiry brought no reply further than the smile for which these gentlemen are famous.

Catholic Festival Closes

The St. Johns R. C. lawn festival closed Saturday night with a record breaking crowd. While the exact amount cleared is not known, it is thought to be about $800. Saturday night the women of the church served a supper to about seventy-five people. This supper is a new departure and its success will probably make it a feature of future festivals. Several prizes were awarded as follows: Five dollar gold piece, Mr. Samuels; cake, Frank Balling; centerpiece, Mrs. Battersby; ton of coal, Alice Battersby; one-half ton of coal, Mrs. Anna Armstrong; chair, Patrick Nevin; 2 statues, Wm. Clancey; doll, Mary Seifert.

Big Parade of Visiting Companies Feature of Celebration Reception and Dance in the Armory

Flags flying, bands playing, bugles calling, crowds rushing—the honk of the auto, the gong of engine bells, the tread of uniformed men, smile of girls, laughter of children, and gayety of men—all amid a blaze of sunshine, of color and glistening nickle—well, something was about to happen.

It was Newark and the Firemen's parade was about to start. The Housing celebration of Aetna's new engine was the event. From trains, by autos from every town entrance, the visiting firemen were approaching. Bands playing, engines aglitter, marching men cheering, here they come. New Castle—Engine, Band and men, a hundred strong; Clifton Heights, in white uniform and Accordion and Drum winning continuous applause; Elkton, proud and aristocratic in gay array, Singlerly; New-

Up Delaware Avenue to Elkton Road to Main Street (older than Sinclair Lewis himself) thence to East Newark and back to the Old Academy grounds.

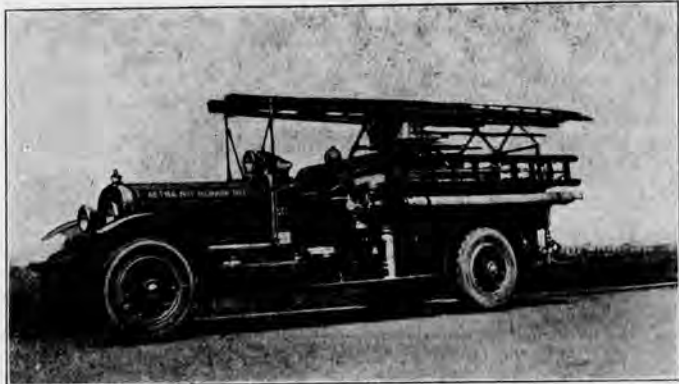

It had been one round of cheers, music and applause.

Fire Chief Wilson acted as chairman. He welcomed the visiting fire-

A Bit of History

The occasion of the Parade recalled interesting bits of history of the town. Newark has made wonderful strides since those days of the 80's. Old citizens chatted over the events and developments of the town and the growth made.

Back in '80 the Dean Woolen Mill was Newark's boast. John Pilling, a foremost citizen of the town and State, and the Dean Brothers were directing this industry. In 1884 it was destroyed by fire—and Newark became conscious that it could not expect to keep pace without civic advancement. So in 1888 the Water Works were installed and a Fire Company organized. A list of the charter members is extremely interesting. Their names are linked with Newark and all its growth and ac-port—will they never cease? "Why, I don't believe it was going to be anything like this. I thought it was all newspaper boosting," heard on every side.

Fire Chief Wilson and Assistants Ellison and Durnall, calm, serene, efficient. Chief Marshall Walt Steel, ah there's the man! Responsibility writ large on his countenance, brows knit, eyes strained but a very Foch in execution. With brain, face and shirt all red with anxiety and enthusiasm, he gave commands that knew no alternative. Assisted by Aides Stiltz and Powell, the Parade was a success before it started. The assembly was made with unusual despatch and the line of march completed in keeping with the celerity of old General Miles of Washington Parade fame, itself.

Receives Degree at University of Penn.

Richard R. Williams, who is connected with the real estate department at the Farmers' Trust Co., received his B. S. degree in Education at the University of Pennsylvania last Wednesday. He has accepted a position on the teaching staff of Temple University for the next academic year.

Annual Harvest Home

Ebenezer Church will hold its annual Harvest Home in Whiteman's Grove on Thursday, August 11th. The program will be announced later. This Harvest Home has been an annual event and in the past has had attractive programs, men of State and national prominence have been feature speakers. In recent years it has become a gathering place for politicians, making slates, mending political fences and downing careers and ambitions.

Children's Day was observed at Ebenezer last Sunday with an unusually interesting program.

men to Newark and presented Theodore W. Cavender of New Castle, who made the address of Presentation. He complimented our boys on their equipment and incidentally called attention to the citizens that they should appreciate the work of the organization. Everett Johnson of the Newark Post was given the honor of accepting the engine on behalf of the Company.

Then music, refreshments, dancing and freedom of the town.

Newark appreciates the interest displayed by the visiting companies. Their visit was certainly a compliment to the community. The men and their turnouts were a pleasant surprise to every one. It was no ordinary rural affair and it would have been a credit to our nearby city and feature displayed as a great event.

The Housing Celebration was a great day recalling the past and looking forth to the future.

Children's Day at Methodist Church

Both services at the Methodist Church last Sunday were given over to the observance of Children's Day. The little tots held their celebration in the morning at 10 o'clock and presented a well prepared program to a congregation that filled the church and overflowed into the hallway. The decorating committee produced a very artistic effect with daisies and other wild flowers, which made a fitting background for the groups of little ones who occupied an elevated position in the front of the church.

After the customary opening exercises, little Louise Fulton recited, "We Welcome You." The following program was then given:

Recitation, "The Bird's Song," Adele Thomas; recitation, "Only a Flower," Rebecca Pierson; solo, "When the Robin Sings," Emma Thomas; recitation, "Why We Bring Flowers," Charles Lewis; recitation, "Rich June," Harold Walls; solo, "My Garden," Emily Smith; recitation, "The Very Dearest Day," Helen Moore; recitation, "On Children's Day," Lyla Richards; solo, "Dear Little Stranger," Mildred Steele; (Continued on Page Four.)

Contract Awarded for Golf Course

Work to be Finished This Season

Club Offers Lots for Sale

Work on the Golf Links of the Newark Country Club is progressing with surprising efficiency. The policy of the Directors has been one of conservatism and produce results only in keeping with the actual interest displayed.

Directors have made a contract with R. H. Johnson Company of Wayne, Pennsylvania, for putting in a 9 hole course complete with water system. The first course will take in the 10th to 18th holes inclusive. Later, it is intended to put in holes 1 to 9.

With this progress made, it is reasonable to expect golf playing by late fall.

The directors have sold all the building lots east of the Mansion House to George Griffin. The Club is now offering for sale some very desirable lots west of the house at $10 per foot. These lots, 100 ft. by 150, facing Iron Hill, are exceptional to those seeking homes or investment. Certain building restrictions are being made to insure certain standards. About 600 feet have already been sold.

Delaware Woman Wins World Honor

Miss Annie J. Cannon of the Harvard Astronomical Observatory who has recently been signally honored by an honorary doctor's degree in mathematics and astronomy from the Groningen University in Holland, she being the first woman in the world to receive such distinction from this institution, is a native of Dover, and received her early education in the Dover public schools.

Miss Cannon is regarded as one of the leading American astronomers. She is a member of the London Astronomical and Astrophysical Association, being the only woman member of that association at present. Lady Hudsons, a former woman member died three years ago.

Miss Cannon is a sister of Mrs. Mary Cannon Benson of Dover and Mrs. Ella Lewis of Elkton, and daughter of the late Wilson L. Cannon.

Miss Cannon is well known locally. She accepted a degree from the Women's College of Delaware at its first commencement and was at that time the guest of the Institution.

Reunion at Pencader Church

The fifth reunion of Pencader Cemetery Association will be held on next Sunday, June 26, in the Pencader Presbyterian Church at Glasgow. Excellent speakers have been secured for both services. Rev. John T. Saris, D. D., editor, author, and traveler, of Philadelphia, will speak in the morning at 11 o'clock, standard time. The afternoon sermon will be preached by the Rev. Olin McKendree Jones, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia. Music will be furnished by members of the West Presbyterian Church of Wilmington.

Trains leave Philadelphia, Broad Street Station, at 8 a. m., and Wilmington at 9.06. Arrangements have been made for automobiles to meet the train at Newark to take the passengers direct to the church.

OBITUARY

Robert O. Currinder

Robert O. Currinder, age 80 years, died at his home, on 26th, at 3 o'clock, on June 19, 1921. He was born in Philadelphia, Pa., and was the son of John and Mary Currinder. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, and was a member of the Board of Directors of the Newark Cemetery.

Rehabs Off for Picnic

The Rehabs are off today for a picnic at Augustine Pier. With flags flying and air full of cheer, they left in Stiltz cars early this morning. There is no set program. Soldiers such as these need no schedule. They have sufficient pep and initiative to give zest to any gathering.

Fader Makes Big Sale

The Fader Motor Co. has recently sold to the People's Bus Line for service between Marshallton and Wilmington, six buses. These machines are of the very latest type of passenger traffic cars.

GOVERNOR ISSUES STATEMENT ON JUDICIARY

Referring to the Judicial appointments recently made, Governor Denney has issued a statement of his views and expresses determination to submit the original list to the Senate which meets on Monday, June 27th.

The statement follows: "I made my selections for the vacancies in the judiciary after a most careful and conscientious consideration. In this matter, I consulted directly and indirectly many of the prominent citizens of this State, among them several members of the bar. Every person I consulted, after careful consideration, agreed that my selections were as good as could be made."

"It has been my firm belief that the appointments to the bench should in no sense be political appointments. A man who is a proper man to select for the bench appreciates the high position in which he has been placed, and knows that it is his business to decide the facts and law as presented to him, regardless of former political affiliations."

"I can't believe that there are many persons in this State who are so partisan as to think it important whether the Chancellor of this State is a Republican or a Democrat. A partisan judiciary, except in name, is a thing of the past."

"The most important thing is to get men of personal character and habits that are beyond question, and men of judicial temperament and proper legal training."

"Senator Wolcott and I have been close friends from boyhood. I believe him to be, and it is generally conceded that he is, one of the best qualified men in the State for Chancellor, and it seemed to me exceedingly fortunate that he accepted the position when I tendered it to him."

"The fact that he is now a United States Senator and that this acceptance of this place on the Bench would make it my duty to appoint his successor in the United States Senate for a short time has given an opportunity to his political enemies, as well as my own, to contend that there has been something improper in what has been done."

"So far as I am aware, it is not of great importance whether Senator Wolcott, who is a Democrat, is to be in the United States Senate for the next year, or whether some Republican shall occupy that place."

"Indeed, if there is any advantage to the State at all, it seems to me that it would be in having an additional Republican Senator there instead of a Democrat. The administration is Republican, and it is but reasonable to expect that a Republican Senator in Washington could do more for his own State just now than a Democratic Senator could do."

"Some people are endeavoring to create the impression that Senator Wolcott was offered the place on the Bench so that some particular friend of mine might be named by me to succeed him in the United States Senate. Nothing could be farther from the truth than this. If Senator Wolcott's place should become vacant I should consider the appointment of his successor a political appointment, and I should not think of making such an important political appointment without getting a consensus of opinion from the Republicans of this State as to whom they desired me to appoint. I have not attempted to get any such opinion, and, if a vacancy occurs, I should take sufficient time to let that judgment of the Republican party crystallize."

"The object I had in view was the naming of the best man for the Bench that I could find. I sought to combine youth with experience and thus bring forth the greatest efficiency. Not a word has been said against the personal character of any of them, and I believe it is admitted generally that all of them are competent men to fill these places."

"As I view it, the question for the Senate to decide is whether or not I have named men that are fit for the bench."

"I cannot permit myself to be drawn away from a perfectly plain duty by adverse criticism, regardless of whether that criticism comes from the Democratic party or from the Republican party."

"Because of criticism, which, to my mind, is absolutely unfair and unjust Senator Wolcott has seen fit to relieve me of the appointment which I tendered him, and which he accepted. I appreciate the spirit in which his letter was written, but it is simply a further evidence to me that he is the man for the place."

"The Constitution imposes solely upon the executive the duty and responsibility of selecting and appointing the judiciary."

"The Constitution likewise imposes solely upon the Senate the duty and responsibility for confirming or failure to confirm the appointments."

"In naming these men I have conscientiously performed my plain duty, and I shall continue to do my duty in this matter without fear and without favor."

"I have yet to be convinced that fear, favoritism, disappointment for friends or partisanship will prevent the Senate from performing its duty."

"I shall leave the responsibility with that body by sending in the names I have selected."

1,525 Solider Dead Returned

Services were held at the army piers in Hoboken recently for 1,525 American soldiers who died in France. The occasion of the service was the return to this country of the bodies of these soldiers on the transport, Cambrai.

Up to this time the bodies of 22,848 American soldiers have been returned to this country. It is expected that 20,000 more bodies will be brought back during the year.

The Building Boom Continues

Houses and apartments for 50,000 families are being built each month in New York. Construction work valued at $50,000,000 is being instituted monthly in that city. The same figures apply to Chicago. Reports gathered by the Federal reserve board show that a building boom that is sweeping the entire country began in April and is gathering momentum each month. Shelter for 250,000 families will be completed before autumn if the boom continues at its present rate. This, officials point out, should bring material reductions in rents and erase part of the national problem that developed with the housing shortage. Sharing in the building boom, in addition to New York and Chicago, are Philadelphia, Boston, Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Richmond, Kansas City, Dallas, San Francisco and Baltimore. In Boston new construction is running more than $16,000,000 a month; in Philadelphia, $15,000,000; Cleveland, $34,000,000; Richmond, Va., $13,000,000, and San Francisco about $20,000,000.—The National Republican.

Dimes and Nickels Make Dollars

The April report of the Woolworth Five and Ten Cent stores shows sales amounting to $10,963,473. Kresge's Stores report $4,391,968. So far this year most of the large chain systems of stores have made record sales.

Battlefield Memorials

A bill has been introduced into Congress by Senator Kellogg, proposing the purchase by the Federal government of the battlefield of Yorktown. The bill provides for the establishment on this ground of a national military park.

An organization of American women has undertaken to restore the French village at Belleau Woods, in recognition of the bravery of American marines who halted the German drive on Paris at this point in June, 1918.

1,044 Aerial Passengers Carried Without Mishap

The first report of an extended commercial airplane service in this country has just been issued, covering the operations of six of the giant converted navy flying cruisers that maintained a daily service between Key West and Havana for the aeromarine airways during the winter. The flying boats, in addition to carrying passengers and freight, carried United States and Cuban mails.

The report shows a total of 162 daily flights were made to and from Havana without accident. During this period 1,044 passengers were carried with their baggage, and in addition 24,042 pounds of mail was transported.

In addition to the Havana service, special trips were made to Bimini and other resorts on special charter. In all, the six giant flying boats flew 644 hours and covered a combined distance of 38,264 nautical miles. During the four months the service was in operation only three flights were interrupted. While the six boats covered 38,264 miles, it was only necessary to change engines four times.—New York Tribune.

Women Show Strength in English Elections

English women in a number of elections recently have made a voting record of almost one hundred per cent. The cause of this unusual activity is a conviction on the part of the women that there has been great waste in the administration of governmental affairs, and they are proving their power to swing elections to the candidate or group of candidates who offer most hope for the kind of economy which gives the most return for the money spent, compared with the so-called "economy platform" which cuts down appropriations often for vital needs, but continues a wasteful system of managing and spending the public funds.

Pueblo Flood Preventable

Such disasters as the great Colorado floods, which have caused colossal damage to the city of Pueblo and the surrounding country, are happily rare. They are seemingly so far beyond man's control to prevent that people regard them in the old phrase as "an act of God." But as a fact they are rare because they are largely preventable, if not entirely so. Very probably there will come a time when science can make it absolutely certain that no possible water torrent will wash away a dam it has constructed. The whole country, the whole world, we may suppose, will sympathize with Colorado in this misfortune. Whatever help the state needs will certainly be forthcoming. We have been sending our largesse to the ends of the earth for the benefit of suffering peoples. It will be doubly and trebly available for our own. No one need fear that this disaster will have any permanent effect on the splendid people of Colorado. San Francisco showed how a city could rise phoenix-like and more glorious from its own ashes. So, we may be sure, will Pueblo rise from the waters of desolation. Civilization is largely the record of man's conquest of reluctant and often antagonistic nature. The breaking of the Shaefer dam only makes it the more certain that man will invent new and better harness for one of the most unruly of the elements.—New York Mail.

A Tribute to American Nurses

The cornerstone of the Florence Nightingale School for Nurses was recently laid with appropriate ceremony at Bordeaux, France. This institution is being erected as a memorial to the two hundred and eighty-four American nurses who died in the World War. The American Embassy was represented at the impressive services. Officers of the American Red Cross and of the American Nurses' Association, French nurses, and French military and civil authorities had a part in the program of dedication.

Things You Don't Know About Your Country

About 999 people out of every 1,000 are dead certain that the state of Maine is a whole lot farther north than any other state. So cock-sure is the average American in this belief that he will cheerfully bet his last dollar or only spare tire on the proposition. But how his eyes will bulge with surprise when he opens up the old family atlas and takes a squint at the big map of the dear old U. S. A., and discovers that a little detached corner of Minnesota sticks up into Canada considerably more than the northernmost part of the Pine Tree state.

Most folks are likewise absolutely positive that Texas is a good deal farther south than Florida, which is another very common mistake. Cape Sable, the southernmost point on the mainland of Florida, is just exactly 49 miles farther south than the most southern point in Texas. The town of Key West, Florida, which is located on an island, is, of course, even farther south than Cape Sable.

Who can tell right off the reel which town in the United States is farthest east and which farthest west? It's funny how every person will cheerfully make a wild guess in trying to answer this question. They just naturally hate to admit they don't know. By the way, have you ever noticed how few of us really have the courage to say "I don't know"? It's not a bad idea at all now and then to say "I don't know." It gives the person who "does know" an opportunity to tell you something worth while. Try it. The easternmost point in this country is West Quoddy Head, near Eastport, Maine. The westernmost point is Cape Alva, Wash.

If one wanted to take the shortest possible hike across the country from ocean to ocean, he would begin his trip at Charleston, S. C., and wind up at San Diego, Calif. If his feet and determination held out he would cover 2,152 miles on the trip, providing he kept a due west course and didn't wobble to the north or south. From West Quoddy head due west to the Pacific ocean the distance is 2,807 miles. From the southernmost point in Texas due north to the boundary of Canada is 1,598 miles.

The length of the Canadian boundary line from Atlantic to the Pacific is 1,744 miles. The length of the Atlantic coast line is 2,730 miles. The Gulf of Mexico borders the United States for 3,640 miles.

Would it amaze you a trifle to learn that the island of Cuba, if transported directly north would extend from New York City to Indiana, or that Havana is farther west than Cleveland, Ohio, or that the Panama canal is due south of Pittsburgh, Pa., or that Nome, Alaska, is farther west than Hawaii?

The gross area of the United States is 3,026,789 square miles. The land area amounts to 2,973,774 square miles, and the water area—exclusive of the area of the Great Lakes, the Atlantic, the Pacific, and the Gulf of Mexico within the three-mile limit—amounts to 53,015 square miles.

Delaware is the lowest state in the Union. The average elevation is only sixty feet above sea level, less than that of any other state in the Union, although its highest point, at Centerville, New Castle county, is 444 feet above sea level, higher than the highest points in Florida, Louisiana, and the District of Columbia.

The highest state is Colorado, being an average of 6,800 feet above sea level. The highest spot in that state is Mt. Ebert, 14,420 feet above sea level.—The National Republican.

Value of Purebreds

The value of purebred live stock, say specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture, is most noticeable in those cases in which the capability of the animals is measured most directly. Among farm animals the best illustration can be found in dairy cattle, though careful yearly tests of milk and butterfat production are relatively recent affairs. The enormous differences among dairy cows when given the same opportunity have been brought out clearly in a great number of cases, and these differences are strongly inherited through both the sire and the dam. The average production for purebreds and grades is much above the average of all milk cows, which is about 4,000 pounds of milk and 160 pounds of butterfat annually.

Compensation and Medical Service

Ex-service men your local Red Cross chapter can help you with your compensation, medical service, vocational training and family problems.

1. Compensation and medical service. Veterans who can furnish affidavits showing (1) that their disability is due to or aggravated by war service, and (2) that others are dependent upon them, may secure additional compensation from the government or medical treatment where it is needed. The Red Cross will act as agent to help veterans fill out application blanks, and prepare detailed affidavits and see that they reach the proper authorities. The secretary at the nearest Red Cross chapter will help them to do this.

2. Certain cases of veterans call for occasional medical treatment. Where they have no money, the Red Cross often can provide for them temporarily while this treatment is being given, and if necessary, often is able to lend small sums of money without interest.

3. In cases where veterans are sent to hospitals, the Red Cross is able to perform these services: (1) see that the man gets transportation to the hospital to which he is assigned; (2) provides means for such recreation as the doctor allows him to enjoy; (3) follows up compensational claims pending with the Bureau of War Risk Insurance; (4) files his application for vocational training and (5) endeavors to look after his family during his absence.

4. Where a veteran's condition warrants it, the Red Cross will provide financial aid, pending the outcome of the government's adjustment of compensation claims.

5. The Red Cross home service, as at present constituted, strives to give veterans help for their family problems; medical service for those dependent on veterans, including care in maternity cases; assistance in legal problems, follow up claims for compensation; assistance in reinstating and converting insurance; assistance in securing a guardian in cases of mental incompetency; assistance in looking after Liberty bonds, back pay, bonus claims and loss of baggage; assistance in getting certified copies of discharge papers, in obtaining wound and death certificates, information as to Victory medals.

6. The Red Cross will show veterans how to make out applications for vocational training whether at home or in a hospital. The Red Cross has information about various trades available to the veterans and puts him in touch with medical officers to see if he should and could take such training. The veteran is advised how to complete these arrangements and how he can get transportation to the training centers. While he is in training efforts will be made to care for his family at home.

7. Families of veterans who have died can secure the help of the Red Cross in preparing and following up claims for government insurance and compensation. The Red Cross also gives advice and instructions as to the return of bodies from overseas.

8. It is not necessary for a veteran to go to Washington to present his government claims and requests. He needs only to ask the nearest Red Cross chapter, or if it is unable to perform this service he should write to Atlantic Division Headquarters of the American Red Cross, 44 East Twenty-third Street, New York City.

Federal Aid for Good Roads Reported Favorably

The Senate Committee on charge of the bill to create a Federal Highway Commission and establish an interstate system of public roads has adopted a favorable report. A minority report will be filed by three Democratic members of the committee probably opposing any change in the present law governing Federal aid to roads.

The proposed law carries an annual appropriation of $100,000,000 annually to aid states in building roads. States taking advantage of the Federal aid are required to match the Federal funds available to the state, and the Federal money must be spent on highways connecting with the highways of adjoining states.

The new bill provides for a Federal Highway Commission of three members to be appointed by the President, with consent of the Senate, at salaries of $10,000. This commission is to cooperate with State Highway Departments through which the Federal funds will be spent.

The Jam Is Breaking

It is worth keeping in mind that the great flow of domestic business never ceases—never has and never will while the continent exists. It springs from the necessary service of supplying American wants under the standard of living which has been established in this country, and that is a source which never runs dry.

Every automobile that passes depreciates tires, every step that is taken destroys shoes, every meal that is eaten consumes foodstuffs—and day in and day out automobiles are run, shoes worn, meals eaten, wants of a thousand sorts satisfied.

Periodically the flow is jammed by the natural effects of the readjustments which must follow the rushing overswellings in the stream of business that come with each of the periods of abnormal expansion which are characteristic of growth. There is a jam clogging the flow of business now.

All of the logs in this jam are important, but some of them, for one reason or another—often psychological—are more so than others. They are the key logs in the jam.

The interest rate is one, the railroad situation another. Both have been moving bit by bit; they are no longer hopelessly wedged. Intelligent pressure is being directed against the building problem, neither of the key logs.

Perhaps the most important of all is the international situation, and that has certainly been straightened out a little.

Every business man knows these are the key logs in the present jam, but not every business man has seen a jam break up and float swiftly away downstream. Those who have been in business for exceptionally long periods recall that once the key logs begin to straighten the jam may be expected to give way at any moment; from experience they know it is actually breaking when these key logs move.

The key logs in today's jam are by no means straightened, but any business man can see that they are not wedged as tightly as they were a few months ago. And sooner or later, as in all the previous similar situations, one will straighten out completely and flow off downstream, to be followed by another and another until the last gives way and loosens the entire jam. Then the great flow of business will be as steady and as powerful as ever before.

These key logs may be entirely loosened at any time now—one of them may actually go rushing downstream even before this magazine leaves the presses.

As usual, those who benefit most from the return to normalcy will be the few who study similar situations in the past, and anticipate the breaking of the jam from the first loosening of the key logs.—Shaw, in System.

Delaware in World Despatches

For a little State like Delaware to take the prominent part in International despatches is no idle honor. This week it is a feature of World News. Of the four chosen to make nominations for the proposed International Court of Justice two are sons of Delaware—George Gray and John Bassett Moore. The honor thus conferred is not just complimentary. They are called to a responsibility fraught with world-wide significance. The trust is not misplaced for by ability, training and experience, they are recognized as authorities, not only in this State and country but all over the world where International problems are discussed.

Not only did the cables record this honor to our sons but also announced the recognition of Miss Cannon, the astronomer. Holland University has given her an honorary degree in recognition of her work in mathematics and astronomy. Miss Cannon is the first woman in the world to receive this recognition from the Holland Institution. Like the sons, her work in astronomy with her discoveries, adding to world knowledge, she is recognized in scientific circles as a world authority.

Delaware has a right to be a bit proud to see World Powers acknowledging the worth and calling to service her sons and daughters.

That Aetna Parade

As usual with Aetna Fire Company, the Housing Celebration of the new Stutz Fire Fighting Machine measured up to all expectations. Advanced publicity was really a prosy record compared to the event itself. This community is indeed fortunate in having such an effective organization. The success of the Company during the last ten years shows what can be done by enthusiasm and co-operation. The Company deserves credit and is receiving it. And in acknowledging the success, they share honors with the community. The event on Saturday demonstrated heartily the esteem in which the Company is held.

The parade was a genuine surprise to every one. It was a bit spectacular even for Newark and would have been a credit to our neighboring city. Those responsible for the event and those in charge are deserving of high praise for their latest achievement.

Charles M. Upham

Charles M. Upham, State Highway Engineer, has been granted a year's leave of absence to go to North Carolina to accept a similar position. There he will organize the Department and direct the Good Road Program involving Fifty Million Dollars. With a hundred applicants, the commission laid them aside and offered the position to Mr. Upham. To those who know him and his qualifications, this is no surprise but merely an expression of good judgment. He is an engineer of national prominence. In road building and engineering circles, he is an authority and many of the road problems today are being solved as a result of his study and discovery. Not only is he a business and construction expert but a laboratory engineer as well. The most careful and scientific tests of all soils and materials enter into Upham road construction. In Government circles, as an authority, he has arrived and his advice is sought on all road projects under National control.

Delaware loses a valuable man. His Department without doubt, is a model of organization. By his system he knows everything going on. It is a modern business with its cost analysis kept with scientific accuracy. At first sight, one would think the system elaborate but on investigation it is found that the cost per mile construction or maintenance here is less than in any other state in the country. Delaware has been extremely fortunate in having such a man to organize the work.

The man himself—he has won his way. He is what Delaware sometimes calls a "furerer." He is not a "live Delawarean." But his personality, his fair and square policy, his natural nature mixed well and he made good and was accepted. He's a Yankee with the ability to mingle with the crowd. Today, he knows Delaware and is a part of it.

North Carolina has done well. With Upham, she will link herself closer with the East. To Upham, Delaware is saying Regrets and Congratulations.

Get It Up

No time should be lost in getting up the guard-rail fence along that section of the Lincoln Highway which extends from the Roseville bridge, near Newark, part of the way to White Clay Creek Church. The material for the fence in on the ground and the work should be rushed.

A big fill had to be made in that sector of the road to bring it up to the established grade. The shoulder of earth on each side of the concrete is both narrow and soft. If an automobile or a truck were to get off the concrete and onto that shoulder the earth would slide from beneath it and a serious accident would result. Not only should the guard fence be rushed and whitewashed but, until that work has been completed, red lights should be placed at intervals along the sides of the sector.

Such lights were used immediately after the road had been opened, but that precaution seemingly was abandoned in a day or two, despite the fact that the road is used by hundreds of tourists and others who have no advance notice of the danger that lurks on each side of the thoroughfare at that point.—Evening Journal.

The Manufacturers' Record reports the following contrast given by a contributor from Knoxville, Tenn. What $31.40 Would Buy Last Year

A Classic in Wills

Men and women of considerable fortunes who are worried over the uncertainties of such will-making as the courts will sustain may be recommended to study the final testament of Chief Justice Edward Douglass White, of the United States Supreme Court, 2 sentences, 51 words, so simple that nobody can misunderstand it and almost certain to cause no contest:

"This is my last will. I give, bequeath and devise to my wife, Letta M. White, in complete and perfect ownership, all my rights and property of every kind and nature, whether real, personal, or mixed, wherever situated, appointing her executrix without bond and giving her seisin thereof."

"Seisin" is a term springing out of feudal title investiture. It includes in its legal meaning legal "possession" either actual or through the holding of a good title. No strictly English word could have been substituted.

Conceivably the training of Justice White in Louisiana law, based on the code Napoleon, made it clear for him to draw such a will. The Latin jurisprudence is in many ways simpler than our common law. But in effect the brief testament only follows the judgment of lawyers of all states. It is from multiplicity of words and ornate or complicated sentences that uncertainty arises, not from brevity, not from inadequacy of expression. That is well worth remembering.—The Brooklyn Eagle.

Other little folks who contributed to the program were Roland Wollaston, Pauline Ring, Eugene White, Mildred Grant, James Henning, Marie Gregg, May Bell Woodroe, and Francis Brown.

The Evening Program

The Senior Department of the Sunday School introduced a decided innovation by presenting a little morality play called Wisdom. The dialogue portion was taken entirely, by selection of verses and phrases from two books of the Old Testament and Apocrypha, the wisdom of Solomon and Ecclesiasticus. This was preceded by music, the singing of a hymn and invocations adapted from Rossetis Annus Domini.

A fitting introduction to the Morality play was the "Processional of the Branches" wherein the young folks bearing flowers and branches marched up the aisle singing a processional hymn.

The characters in the play were as follows: Pilgrim, Henry F. Mote. Youth, William E. Bland. Discouragement, Wilkins Cooch. Folly, Dorothy Hoeffcker. Faith, Olive Potter. Hope, Mary White. Charity, Hannah Lindell. Shame, Iva Wollaston. Wisdom, Marian Gallaher. A closing hymn and the benediction concluded the exercises.

Purchase Car Load Twine

The purchase of a car load of binder twine at 14-15 cents per pound, net, f. o. b. Middletown, is the result of a cooperative plan between the Townsend, Odessa, Mt. Pleasant and Middletown communities of the Farm Bureau. The twine was the Deering and Plymouth brands and was purchased through J. B. Cleaver of Middletown. Mr. P. E. Pleasanton, chairman of the Odessa community, stated that the twine was of excellent quality and that it was easy to figure what the Farm Bureau had saved the farmers of southern New Castle county on the one enterprise.

Some Day

Someday

When a terrible accident and loss of life occurs at the Newark Death Trap, (Pennsylvania Depot) the people of this community will rise in wrath and demand a bit of common sense, safety first regulations and provisions.

Someday

When the hustle for gain ceases a bit, weeds and litter will disappear from around churches and public buildings in Newark.

Someday

When taxpayers realize the simple injustice being done, the College will put a pavement down along their property on Delaware Avenue.

Someday

Citizens will consent to call the road leading from town to the Pennsylvania Station, Welsh Lane, in keeping with history, rather than Depot Road, which represents a fool idea that kept the Railroad out of town.

Someday

When newspapers copy from other newspapers, they will give credit.

Someday

A boy hanging around the corner near the Post Office will want to call on a girl and she will turn him down because of his flip remarks one evening when she passed. He forgets that she is checking on him and just now his batting average as a gentleman is low. This is told us by one of the many girls experiencing the situation.

Someday

A body of men and women will become interested and decide to make Newark the beautiful town that is possible.

Local Boys Get Heifers

The members of the New Castle County Boys' and Girls' Pure Bred Heifer Club who applied for Guernsey heifers are last but not least. County Agent R. O. Bausman experienced some difficulty in securing the Guernsey heifers. However, in a recent trip to the Gable Farm of Paoli, Pa., Mr. Bausman, assisted by Mr. H. M. McDonald of the Newark High School, bought three yearling Guernsey heifers at an average price of $200. The heifers are well grown, well bred and of good conformation, giving every indication of developing into valuable cows when mature. The members of the club receiving Guernsey heifers are: John E. Lewis, Strickersville; Robert Jaquette, Newark; and Lester Burge, Middletown.

Baseball Benefit to Player Eaton

Two benefit baseball games for Richard B. Eaton, the University of Delaware student who sustained a broken leg in a game Saturday, June 11, were played last Saturday and it is expected when final settlement is made that nearly $200 will have been realized for the unfortunate student. Eaton, whose home is at Parkesley, Va., had his leg broken on the Saturday before commencement while playing for the Newark A. C. against Grace on the local diamond.

It is understood that Eaton had arranged to work this summer to earn money with which to assist him through the University for another year. The broken leg, however, will probably prevent him from working any at all during the summer. He is now at the Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, where he will have to remain for some weeks.

Some of Eaton's chums realizing the fact that the accident might prevent him from carrying out his desire for a college education arranged the baseball games for his benefit. The Newark A. C. on Saturday defeated the Fort DuPont team by a score of 8 to 2 on the High School grounds. On this game it is understood about $125 was cleared for the injured student. The Grace team is also said to have played a benefit game in Wilmington although the reports as to the amount cleared have not been received here.

Lund pitched the game for Newark A. C. and Rhodes and Davis caught him. The remainder of the local team was made up as follows: Hopkins, first base; Mote, second; Sanborn, third; Challenger, short; Dawson and Lovett, left; Isenberg, center, and Fulton and Mayer, right.

Some Facts About Our Disappearing Forests

We are consuming lumber three times as fast as we are procuring it. Experts predict our saw log lumber will be gone in fifty years. The bulk of the original supplies of saw pine in the South will be gone in ten years and within seven years 90 manufacturing plants there will be out of existence.

White pine in the lake states is being exhausted and these states are paying $6,000,000 a year in import bills to import timber.

New England, self-supporting in lumber twenty years ago, now has to import one-third of the amount used. It has $300,000,000 invested in wood forest industries, employing over 300 wage earners.

Fire destroys over $20,000,000 worth of timber every year and kills reproduction upon thousands of acres of forest lands.

Within fifty years our present timber shortage will have become a threatening famine.

Forests can be protected from fire, growth can be encouraged, conservative cutting can be practiced, re-plantation can be accomplished—but it takes from fifty to one hundred years to mature a timber crop.

Forest devastation must be stopped. Lands now in forest must be kept continuously productive, forest lands devastated and idle must be put to work. Ten years ago the United States produced its entire supply of wood but now two-thirds of it is imported. This means freight rates are added to the purchase price.

Indications are that supplies of sawwood timber in New England and New York will be exhausted in ten years.

Dependence upon foreign supplies of sawwood for news print means we are at the mercy of foreign manufacturers as to prices. Ten years ago the United States produced its entire news print supply —now we import two-thirds of it. Only one-third of our newspapers are printed on the product of American forests.

High cost of pulp and paper mills prevent the manufacturing plants from following the timbers as do saw mills.

Much pulpwood has now to be freighted 500 miles to the mills. Get busy and plant some trees.—The National Republican.

Louisiana Proposes Taking Schools Out of Legislative Control

It seems likely that the new constitution of the State of Louisiana, which is now being written by a Constitutional Convention, will make some unusual provisions for safeguarding the public schools. The educational committee of the convention has unanimously adopted a plan to put into the constitution an article covering the financing of the public schools. It is the intention of the committee to insure by constitutional provision the best schools the state can afford and to prevent any tampering with this fundamental state responsibility by the changing views of successive legislatures. The plan has the support of all the prominent educators of Louisiana, of the governor and the state officials generally. Louisiana is the first state to consider such action and the final provisions adopted by the constitutional convention will be awaited with interest.

Opera House Offerings

Alice Lake In Her

Wildest Wild Party
An exact reproduction of one of the best known cafes in San Francisco furnishes the setting for a bizarre jardin de danse scene for Metro's picturization of "The Greater Claim," starring magnetic Alice Lake at the Newark Opera House, Friday, June 24th.

"It was a wild, wild party!" said Alice Lake in discussing the scene with a group of friends at the studios afterwards. "For this party, though staged with reckless abandon, was different from any that has ever been filmed. In all the others the heroine has succumbed to the wiles of the 'bad man' of the story, but in this picture she remains unscathed.

"This is the first opportunity I have had for a so-called 'wild' party in one of my pictures. In my recently completed picture, 'Body and Soul,' there was a gay cafe scene. But I don't think it was quite as daring as this one."

"The Greater Claim" is an original story by Izola Forrester and Mann Page. The scene version of the story was prepared by A. S. LeVino.

The supporting cast includes Jack Dougherty, Edward Cecil, DeWitt C. Jennings, Florence Gilbert and Lenore Lynard. Wesley Ruggles directed the production.

New Wanday Hawley Role

Wanda Hawley again plays a sweet girl in the Golden South in the new Paramount picture, "Held by the Enemy," which will be shown at the Newark Opera House Wednesday, June 29th. Those who saw Miss Hawley in "Secret Service," in which she played the same kind of role, will recall how admirably suited she was to the part.

In "Held by the Enemy," as in the former, she embodies the true spirit of Southern womanhood which existed prior to and during the great Civil War. Both pictures are adaptations from plays by William Gillette, a noted American playwright and actor. The cast generally is one of the best and includes such players as Agnes Ayres, Jack Holt, Lillian Leighton, Lewis Stone, Robert Cain, Walter Hiers and others. Donald Crisp was the director.

"The Mother Heart,"

With Shirley Mason

All women are potential mothers, whether blessed with offspring or not. It is indeed one of the blessings of life that the divine attribute of motherhood asserts itself in the life of every woman. The instinct to "mother" and treat with tenderness and solicitude the young and helpless is one of the finest of feminine traits, the world over.

It fell to the lot of a little girl to mother a baby brother after her father had been sent to prison for a crime he never committed and her mother had died of a broken heart; but the little girl never faltered. No mother could have been more faithful to her own offspring; and though beset by perils, she unswervingly brought her little charge through it all, and in the end was well repaid for her self-sacrifice.

This theme has been utilized in a photoplay, said to be of exceeding power and beauty, produced by William Fox. The story is called "The Mother Heart," and serves Shirley Mason as a starring vehicle. Howard M. Mitchell wrote the story and directed the picture, which will be shown at the Newark Opera House on Tuesday, June 28th.

Interesting Musical

With an appreciative audience of friends and relatives, the Delaware City pupils in music of Mrs. Anna R. Armstrong gave an interesting musical on Monday evening last in the auditorium of the Engine House of that town. Among those participating were:

Newark A. C. Wins Over Fort Dupont

With all the success that crowned the Newark firemen in the housing ceremonies on Saturday, it would seem that they were unable to cop all the honors which were to be had in this old town on last Saturday. After the firemen's parade, the boys in the local baseball team had the realization of one of those sweet dreams come true, when they defeated the soldiers from Fort Dupont by the score of 8 to 2. It has been the hopes of the local boys to take the big end of the score from the soldiers for the past several years, but last Saturday was the first time they have been able to fulfill that desire.

An especially notable feature of Saturday's game was the support given the local lads by the baseball fans of Newark. The game, which was given as a benefit game to help defray the hospital expenses of Catcher Eaton, who unfortunately broke a leg in the game with Grace Church of Wilmington on the previous Saturday. It was exceptionally well patronized, and the manager reported contributions to the fund to have been exceptionally generous.

After the parade the Continental Fibre Company Band marched out to the ball grounds and furnished music during the game. The music, of course, served to draw the crowd, until as one of the older fans expressed it that "It looks as if baseball has come into its own in Newark at last." Altogether it was a wonderful afternoon of sport, with everyone enjoying the game like schoolboys.

Children's Day at Methodist Sunday School

year is made up chiefly of the subjects included in the regular two-year teachers' course with additional elementary subjects for those who may find them better suited to their needs. No examinations are required for admission to the Summer School.

According to the practice since 1917, when the Delaware Legislature appropriated a sum of money for the reimbursement of all teachers who carry on professional work to the satisfaction of the State Board of Education for the six weeks during the summer, expenses will be paid for all those who teach in the schools of Delaware.

Demonstration School

A feature which is of especial interest to residents of Newark and the adjoining community is a demonstration school which will be conducted in the small one-room school adjoining the Grammar School building, from 9.00 to 12.00 each morning. The school, in charge of Miss Edith Vansyckle, rural school supervisor of Kent county, will be conducted as a model one-teacher school of six grades. The enrollment is limited to thirty and a tuition fee of $2.50 is charged for six weeks instruction. Professor Wm. A. Wilkinson, Director of the Summer School, stated today that there are still a number of vacancies in the school. Parents wishing to enroll children who need to make up certain subjects in which they have failed during the last school year or who wish to enter children who are hoping to make a higher grade in the fall, will find the demonstration school an excellent opportunity for the summer. Names of children wishing to enroll should be forwarded to the Director before next Monday.

Lecture Course

A lecture course opened to the public and measuring up in every respect to the high standard established last year, will be provided this session to supplement the regular course of the school, by the Service Citizens of Delaware. The lectures will be held in Wolf Hall at 7.30 and with the exception of Sunday evenings, will be limited to one hour. Although a complete list of the series is not yet available, a number of brilliant lecturers and entertainers are already scheduled. Among the number are, A. S. Cook, Superintendent of Public Instruction, State of Maryland; Glenn Frank, Editor of the Century who will discuss world events; Mrs. Augusta Friedewald, dramatic reader, in three numbers, "A Kiss for Cinderella," by J. M. Barre, "Deburau," by Sacha Guitry, and "The Hour Glass" by William Butler Yeates; Mary Antin, on "Life in the Russian Pale"; Eleanor Patterson, noted New York contralto, with violin accompanist.

Special programs have been planned for Sunday evenings during the Summer Session, beginning with July 10th, with Dr. S. C. Mitchell of the University of Richmond, Virginia, former President of Delaware College, who will be the speaker. Music will be furnished for the occasion by a community chorus, under the direction of Miss Dora Wilcox, musical director of the Summer School, composed of voices from the churches of Newark and students of the Summer School. The chorus will be supplemented by a quartette of male voices from the Philadelphia churches.

Dr. Joseph H. Odell and the Right Reverend Philip J. Cook, Bishop of the Diocese of Delaware, will be other Sunday speakers. On July 24th and 31st Sacred Concerts will be given by the best musical talent of Baltimore. Other prominent lecturers will be announced later.

The course this year will include in addition to the four Sunday evening services, ten week-night events, planned primarily for the inspiration of Delaware teachers. The lectures are open to all, however. Residents of Newark cannot afford to miss one of the series.

"Another reduction has been made in the list price of all types of Ford cars and the Ford truck to take effect immediately. The list prices, f. o. b. Detroit, are now as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Vehicle Type and Price. Rows include Touring Car ($415.00), Runabout (370.00), Coupe (695.00), Sedan (760.00), Chassis (345.00), Truck-Chassis (495.00), and Tractor (625.00).

"The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of the low material costs which we are now getting the benefit of, and this fact together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the last three months permitting maximum production, have made another price reduction possible immediately.

"Ford business for April and May 1921 was greater by 56,633 cars and trucks than for the same two months in 1920; in fact, the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited, not by unfilled orders but by manufacturing facilities.

"During May we produced 101,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone--the biggest month in the history of our company--and our factories and assembly plants are now working on a 4000 car daily schedule for June.

"The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent big price reductions, and it is impossible, therefore, to make any further cut in the cost of the tractor."

Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these low prices? There is no reason now why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck or Fordson tractor.

We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just phone us or drop us a card.
