An analysis of the comparative statement reveals an excess of revenue over expense of $4,765.40 for the year ended which is an increase of $3,413.37 over last year's figure. Revenue for the year shows decreases in the following items and amounts: fines, 118.00; installation and service fees, 309.99; licenses and permits, 62.00; reimbursement from sewer loan account, 2,000.00 and miscellaneous, 18.17.

Revenue increases of electric light and power, 12,915.70; water sales, 1,342.53; property and capitation taxes, 652.16; state gasoline tax refund, 37.72; workmen's compensation insurance refund, 125.07; tax penalties, 17.08 and discounts and purchases 8.75, offset the revenue decreases sufficiently to show total increase in revenue for the year of 12,560.75.

In the expenditures column decreases in wages, relief labor, buildings and structures, machinery and equipment, interest, gasoline allowances, office supplies, freight and hauling, advertising, medical expense, maintenance of prisoners and uncollectible accounts show substantial savings under last year's figures for identical items, with increased expenditures of only 0.636.66 over the corresponding twelve month period last year.

The comparative statement for this year shows total expenses of 146,883.44 as against total revenue of 151,648.84 making a profit of 4,765.40 whereas last year's total expenses were 137,736.96 as against total revenue of 139,089.09 making a profit of 1,352.03.

Under the capital outlay column it is noteworthy that all items show a substantial decrease except buildings and structures; extensions and improvements of sewers and streets; machinery and equipment and reduction of indebtedness which show healthy increases commensurate with the growth of the community and progress of the town administrative board.

PLAYGROUND CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS OPENS MAY 1

Last Year's Personnel Reelected For Project

The general committee of the Newark Playground and Recreation Center met in the high school library last night, at the call of Chairman Louis T. Staats, and reelected the same staff of instructors as served last year, for this summer's program. The personnel includes William K. Gillespie, supervisor, Ralph O'Connell, swimming pool instructor and Miss Jane Jernee, assistant supervisor in charge of girls' activities.

The project will be opened on June 17, the first Monday following the close of school, and run for eight weeks closing on Saturday, August 10. Both the playground and pool will be operated five days weekly observing the same hours as last year.

The first ten days of May, from May 1 to 10 inclusive, were designed as the days for an intensive drive to raise necessary $1,200 needed to finance the project. This is $300 under the goal set for last year but will be sufficient to pay all operating expenses and purchase equipment needed for this summer.

George Danby, R. T. Ware and George M. Haney were appointed on the publicity committee to prepare and maintain the thermometer and otherwise publicize the progress being made in the campaign to raise funds.

Miss Edwina Long, secretary and treasurer, read a report on the financial condition of the organization and minutes of the last meeting. A budget was prepared and outlined by Mr. Staats who presided over the meeting. Others present at the meeting were: Mrs. Milton L. Draper, C. E. Douglass, George M. Haney, R. T. ELECTRIC RATES CUT TO APPLY ON MAY BILLS

Jones Awarded Contract For Culvert On Park Place

Newark electrical rates were substantially reduced by action of the town council at its meeting Monday night. The reduction will affect more than 1,500 users of current and present an estimated aggregate savings of from $2,500 to $3,000, although the reduction actually amounts to one cent per kilowatt hour on energy used in certain brackets.

The revised rate schedule on electricity used for lighting will be as follows: first 10 hours, 10c; next 20 hours, 6c; all over 30 hours, 4c. Power rate schedule will be: first 200 hours, 4c; next 200 hours, 3 1-2c; all over 400 hours, 3c.

A minimum fee of $1.00 was retained. It is estimated that a customer using 40 hours of electricity energy will save 20c with the schedule graduated upwards at the rate of 1c savings on each additional kilowatt hour used. An increasing power load for the community makes the reductions possible and a further increase may mean even lower rates in the future if projects contemplated materialize fully.

Award Culvert Contract

Julian T. Jones was awarded the contract for construction of a concrete culvert on East Park Place on the low bid of $1,169.22. Other bids received were: George & Lynch, $1,601.20 and Olivere Paving and Construction Company, $1,760.

Councilman C. Emerson Johnson outlined plans for the summer street repair program which calls for the expenditure of $100,000.

FRANKLY, I'D RATHER FISH THAN SELL FORDS! That's a fact! There's nothing I'd much rather do than whip a good split-bamboo rod over a nice trout stream, or sit in the tail end of a rowboat waiting for a whopper of a bass to grab my bait and run. Maybe folks who don't fish can't understand that. I'm not so sure I understand it myself. It's something about being out-of-doors, where wars and worry and any kind of meanness just don't seem possible. It's something about knowing that, any minute, you're liable to hook into the biggest brown trout, or the biggest black bass that was ever caught in these parts. And it's something else that I can't explain, but every real fisherman feels it. But I'm like you — I have to work for a living. It does interfere with the fishing, of course. But if I can't fish all the time, I'd rather be a Ford Dealer the rest of the time than anything else I can think of! For one thing, I like to deal in products that are top-notch — products I can stake my business reputation on, with confidence and pride. And I know that when Henry Ford builds a car or truck, and sends it to me to sell, I can step right up and say: "Friend, here's a product that's built right, and priced right. Henry Ford stands back of it, and so do I!" I thank you! FADER MOTOR CO. NEWARK, DEL.

APPEALS MADE AT SESSION

Assessments Protested At Special Meeting

By Miss Emma S. Maclary
Newport, April 3—The Town Commissioners of Newport have revealed the fact that they had four or five appeals made to them at their "Appeals Session" during the week, and consideration is being given the property assessments questioned. A. M. Munn, town clerk, stated that the assessed valuation of property in the town amounts to $1,150,341.64, excluding capital tax. The Venturi water meter recently purchased by the Board at a cost of $500 has been installed, and registers the rate of pumping in gallons per minute, as well as the total gallons per 24 hours. The board is now having five-foot square, brick box enclosures placed around well-heads as a safety measure for the town water supply. All wells are being protected at the town pumping station.

Unusual Plant

Mrs. William H. Sanderson, of 102 Roosevelt Avenue, Tuxedo Park has an unusual plant specimen now blooming in her home. The plant is an African lily, and blooms but once a year. The plant is three years old, stands three feet high; has a very unusual bloom which is a funnel shaped flower standing erect, with the bloom measuring 22 inches long, and is of dark red color with a mottled stock, resembling a snake. There is no foliage on the plant at present, but Mrs. Sanderson states she plants the bulb in the yard during the summer, cutting off the present bloom, and it will then produce a beautiful green foliage similar to an umbrella plant. This type of flower is known as the "Sacred Lily" in India. Many friends have called to view this unusual plant.

RATES REDUCED

Hundreds of Newark residents and commercial users of electricity will rejoice at the news of a reduction in town lighting and power rates authorized at a meeting of the Town Council Monday night.

The rate reduction, in higher consumer brackets, will effect a savings of one cent per kilowatt hour which will make an aggregate savings of from $2,500 to $3,000 to local consumers. This action was taken by the council after due deliberation and consideration of comparative rates in other communities of similar size throughout the state.

This is not the first rate reduction that has been put into effect in Newark—nor, is it likely to be the last. Further reductions will undoubtedly be made from time to time as they are possible.

In view of town indebtedness and contemplated street repair projects scheduled for the summer greater reductions at this time would not be advisable.

Based on the new schedule the consumer using forty kilowatt hours of electricity will save twenty cents per month, the consumer using fifty kilowatt hours will save thirty cents and so on at a rate of one cent per kilowatt hour.

The minimum charge remains at one dollar. The new rate will be effective on light and power bills received at the May first billing.

AN OLD STORY

Since time immemorial, reciprocal trade practices have been in effect. Captain John Smith instituted a simple barter system with native Indians hundreds of years ago—a system that worked to the mutual benefit of settlers and natives—between massacres. Reciprocal trading policies are the A.B.C.'s of good business—the essence of progress. You help me and I'll help you is virtually the practice of nature's prime instinct of self-preservation for without helping one another—or the spirit of cooperation—successful industry and progress is not possible.

Luckily we aren't having any massacres in this country today. Fortunately our town is blessed with a versatility of stores, firms and industries catering to nearly all needs of the average buyer despite the fact that we are geographically located in the backyard of the largest city in our State.

This is not a plea for blind patronage of local industry regardless of quality or price. It is, however, a plea for your earnest consideration of the local merchant. Think before you jump in your car and drive fifteen miles to Wilmington and another fifteen miles back home—ascertain if you cannot first buy locally the article for which you would drive thirty miles to save a dime.

Local patronage helps local business which in turn helps every local resident either directly or indirectly. We urge your thoughtfulness and consideration of these factors before planning a shopping tour of out-of-town stores. In many instances it is not possible to buy desired items locally—in still other instances you can buy identical items in Newark at equal or less cost.

The Newark Merchant is dependent solely upon your patronage. A dollar spent at home stays at home—it helps support the town administration and promote civic enterprises. All things being equal the local merchant desires a break—he sells you a spool of thread when it isn't worth driving thirty miles after so why not give him the benefit of another purchase on which he might have a chance to make a small profit and which would cost you no more than if journeyed to Wilmington, Philadelphia, Baltimore or New York.

Newark is no longer strictly a college town—it boasts of thriving industries, alert store-keepers and a group of local business men who spend their money on supplies with which to serve your requirements. Newark business houses deserve every penny worth of business you can consistently give them. You help them—they help you. It's the old merry-go-round but it's what makes the world go 'round too.

TESTED AND APPROVED

Residents of Newark have paid a high tribute to members of the Town Council by not advancing one candidate to oppose the three incumbents who will automatically be returned to office for another two-year term when the polls close Tuesday afternoon.

Lack of opposition to the candidacies of Councilmen Hubert, Wollaston and Richards is self-evident praise of their service and a mute expression of confidence in their judgement and ability to serve local taxpayers satisfactorily.

Their record of past accomplishments bears the stamp of approval. They have helped steer a straight course for our thriving town and have proven their faith by generously giving their valuable time and efforts to the development, progress and financial stability of a grateful and appreciative community.

Voting at the polls on Tuesday will constitute a public expression of this appreciation and confidence a unanimity of opinion without a single dissenting ballot being cast against them.

Councilman Harold Stanley of Muncie, Ind., has ordered women's shops to pull down the shades while dressing the dummies in their windows, explaining: "They are lifelike and should not be permitted in the window unclothed."

FOOD for THOUGHT

By Charlotte Spencer.

Spend Your Food Money Wisely

Economical main dish meals are one of the best ways to feed your family well at low cost.

Protein foods such as meat, eggs, cheese, and dried beans or peas usually furnish the basis for such a dish. These are mixed with starchy foods such as potatoes, rice, spaghetti, macaroni, bread, toast, crackers, or dumplings. Additional vegetables may be added.

A six layer dinner is an example of this triple combination of meat, starchy food and vegetable. Grease well a baking dish. For the first layer cover the bottom of the dish with one cup of diced potatoes. The second layer is one pound of hamburger. Then one cup of onions is spread over the hamburger. One cup of shredded cabbage is added and then one cup of stewed tomatoes is poured over the mixture. This is baked in a slow or moderate oven for one hour. If you have a glass baking dish, you will be delighted at the appearance of the many colored layers.

Scalloped salmon and corn is another main dish combination. Use one well beaten egg and can pink salmon, one can of corn, one cup of bread or cracker crumbs, and milk to moisten. Season, mix well and bake in a slow oven for one hour. Left over vegetables such as peas or greens can be mixed with this before baking.

Bean loaf can be made from any kind of beans. Mash three cups of boiled beans, add one cup of dry bread or cracker crumbs, one-half cup chopped onions and one well beaten egg. Bake for one-half hour in a slow oven. Strips of bacon or of salt pork may be placed over the top.

Beef or pork liver can be used in a liver and vegetable casserole. Shredded cabbage, diced carrots, chopped onions, and sliced potatoes combine well with liver to form a dish it is hard to beat for flavor or health giving nourishment.

Flank steak or bottom round steak can be made more tender by slow moist cooking with tomato. Swiss steak is a well known example of this. A variation of Swiss steak is to use thinly cut steak. Wrap the steak around a slice of onion. Around that wrap a cabbage leaf. Season and fasten the roll together with a toothpick and simmer it slowly in stewed tomatoes or tomato juice.

Most families spend too much of their food money for meat, leaving out the protective foods—milk, eggs, cheese, and green vegetables. Careful thought in planning economical meat and meat substitute dishes can often make the difference between a healthy, well nourished family and one which is constantly on the borderline of sickness.

Weekly Sermon

The Resurrection of Christ
By Rev. Henry Ostrom D. D., Member of Extension Staff Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Text—As he said, — Matthew 28:6.
These are short words—"as he said"—but through them one may see the resurrection of Christ with superior clearness. That outstanding event must be viewed in the light of what He said before it came to pass. Three times before the event Christ said He would be killed and rise again the third day.

To be killed is more than to faint. To be killed is more than to be in a comatose state, more than to have suspended animation. When the Roman soldier drew the spear from Jesus' side and forthwith there came out blood and water, the act was like trying to heap vengeance upon the dead; but the result was added positiveness to the fact of real death.

Likewise, to rise again from the dead could not mean a phantom exhibit or some spiritual attainment. He said, "I will rise again." If we are to receive the words "as he said," we must include this word "rise." The evidences are indeed many and beyond successful denial. He met the question as to whether He might be exhibiting an apparition by taking food and eating it before the witnesses, announcing to them that an apparition would not have flesh and bones as they saw him have. A phantom or spiritual exhibit could not stand in the face of such evidence.

To overcome death, the power of which had survived and wrought through so many ages, we quite agree is not small deed. To exhibit that it is done is miraculous. To have said He would do it, and then to have made good His statement, that is the account of the resurrection of Christ.

Of the thirty thousand men of soldier age put to death by Pontius Pilate and Titus, not a single one can be named by the most scholarly writers, except Jesus. They were killed, and they entered into impenetrable silence. He was killed and He entered into undeniable prominence. Why? He said He would rise again, and He did rise, "as he said."

"To this end Christ both died, and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord both of the dead and living" (Rom. 14:9). His death and resurrection guarantee the believer's salvation for life or death. Happy the soul that surrenders to this living Lord, saying, "Lord, I believe!"

YOUR CHILD'S MOTHER

CORA A. SILVIUS

One Saturday morning, I called on a kindergarten teacher, not so much in my official capacity—one of the visiting teachers of our city—but as a friend. It was a pleasant spring morning, so we sat on the porch. Pointing out two small tots she told me about them.

"Donny, the one in the blue suit, and Martin, the one in green, are very dear to me," she said. "Their mothers were my college chums, and they both married cousins of mine. We were called the Happy Trio in school. Margy is still happy, and Donny shows it, but Irene for some reasons has formed a fault-finding habit. Her small son has caught the spirit, and he is having much to overcome in kindergarten as a result. He is very bright and repeats verbatim what he hears at home, and so he has a tendency to be critical of everything and everybody.

"Donny, on the other hand, is a most carefree youngster, and he often quotes to other children a favorite saying of his mother's: 'You did the best you could. But let's try harder the next time.'"

"Have you talked with Martin's mother about being careful of what she says before him?" I asked. "Since you were such chums I should think she might listen to you."

"Yes, of course I have talked with her about it, but she gets cross. She says I'm only a teacher and not a mother, and that her baby is too young to notice things."

"But something will have to be done. The boy must not be allowed to grow up like that," I protested.

"I agree that something will have to be done. But what?"

We spent the next hour discussing the problem and evolved the following plan.

We realized that seeing things in black and white often will make more impression than spoken words. So the kindergarten teacher was to write out a report on several youngsters—Martin and some that she had taught in another school of our city during the fall term. She would call them A, B, C and so forth. The reports were to be typed, and the kindergarten supervisor, not the kindergarten, was to give me carbon copies. They were to be unsigned.

Several days later I had three of the reports with me when I called at Martin's home. I had already made two other calls nearby, leaving a pamphlet on THE CARE OF THE KINDERGARTEN CHILD.

"I wonder if you would be interested in this," I said to Martin's mother, passing her a copy of the pamphlet. "It is free and contains some valuable helps. And here are reports of three children in our city schools. Would you care to read them?"

"She read the report of A, and smiled. Then she read the report of B—her child. Her face flushed.

"Who are these boys? Who is the teacher?" she demanded.

"They are unsigned, as you see. I received them with the pamphlets from the supervisor. All I can tell you is that the reports are genuine. They are records of real boys in this city. The reports may come from different schools, but they are true cases."

"May I have these papers?" she said in a low voice. "I shall read them and this booklet. I am afraid my own son has become very critical of late."

The plan worked. The mother realized that she could blame no one but herself for her child's unfortunate habit. And she still thinks it was some other child that she was reading about that morning. Martin is now a happy boy. He no longer hunts for the thorns on every rose.

The eight largest manufacturing cities of the country, in the order named, are Chicago, Detroit, New York, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Buffalo. These cities and their suburbs produce one-fourth of all manufactured products in the United States.

Faith Harding, 4-year-old girl of Trucksville, Pa., is making a reputation as a prophet. She is said to have foretold the outbreak of the new world war, the making of the German-Russian pact and the burning of her home town schoolhouse. She now predicts that President Roosevelt will run again.

The Newark Post, Newark, Delaware, Thursday, April 4, 1940

WHAT COULD HAVE been a controversial situation was generously handled by J. E. Rothrock, Sr. Tuesday night when the Newark Table Tennis League directors met to make arrangements for the Shaughnessy play-off which will be staged in the near future.

TECHNICALLY, J. E.'s TERRORS have the fourth spot, the last play-off post, in the well-known bag, despite the fact that they are now deadlocked with Grover Surratt's Travellers for the position. Taking it for granted that both clubs win both their matches tonight, Rothrock's team, a late starter in the loop, would finish with 15 wins against 13 losses or a percentage of .535. Surratt's Travellers, who have gone the full distance would emerge with 22 victories and 20 defeats, or a percentage of .524.

Rothrock's gesture, unnecessary if the Terrors should drop one of their matches to Bill Gillespie's Pedagogues, was a generous one to say the least and is fully appreciated by all members of the league with an eye for good sportsmanship—especially "Slim" Surratt.

IN THE SPRING, A YOUNG MAN'S fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love—and golf. For those of you who may be classed in the latter class of thinkers, Davey Douglass, new pro at the Newark Country Club, has announced that the local links are in fine shape, considering the time of year.

A couple of Newark pill-chasers were spotted plodding the fairways this week, despite damp ground. A few of those choice, hot words indulged in by Dr. Clyde Montague Cox would quickly vaporize the water that is now making the fairways soggy, the greens spongy.

More complete details from the Continental diamond front state lack of spectators' interest as the reason for discontinuing baseball for the 1940 season.

All of which is a sorry situation, to say the least, what with Ellis Cullen's charges laying more than their share of pennants at the local doorstep.

While the ball team comes through with pennants—the crowd comes through with peanuts—not even enough to cover the umpire-transportation items.

WITH THE DELAWARE PARK opening so close you can hear the horses' hooves pounding out a rhythmic beat in your brain, we'll wager there are a lot of worried housewives saving for those rainy days ahead when the "boss" returns shirtless and minus a lottva folding paper originally slated to buy cats for the family, not oats for the nags.

Gambling of any kind is not listed as one of our recreations. We consider it an evil institution which could easily be stamped out by the concentrated will power of the human race. Many, many years ago we learned the futility of backing our judgement with money against the other guy's choice. We learned that it was harmful, often led to crime; that its fruit was often as bitter as the flower, that gambling is a crime—and according to MGM—"Crime does not pay!"

(Look us up, got a hot one in the sixth tomorrow.)

BILL MEREDITH, WHOSE CHIEF claim to fame thus far is his refusal to accept a Phi Beta Kappa key (for $10), hasn't had his talkin' jag slowed down at all by touches of spring. Only seasonal touch to his personality seems to be his cerebrum's absorption of a little of the balminess that has pervaded the atmosphere of late—what-ever anti-table tennis sportsmen have to say to the contrary, we'd like to have them name ONE other small-town sport of any kind that would continue to hold the interest of the competitors over a seven-month period.

lack of facilities will force "Irish" O'Connell to cut his baseball squad of forty candidates at the high school—too bad, but absolutely necessary. Without Bob Ewing, the hurler who started them on their way last season,

PENN ATHLETIC CLUB TO INVADE FRAZER FIELD

Blue And Gold Diamondmen Make Home Debut Against Array Of Former College Stars; Tibbitt Or Daly Expected To Take Mound

By Homer Run

A 15-inning battle, called to a halt because of darkness last year with the score deadlocked at 5-5, will be resumed on Frazer Field Saturday afternoon when Gerald P. (Doc) Doherty's University of Delaware diamondmen entertain Penn Athletic Club in the locals' home debut.

Composed of many former college stars, the Pennacs are expected to bring a strong outfit to Newark on Saturday although the Philadelphia team is also handicapped due to a lack of practice. The tilt last year was one of the longest ever staged on Frazer Field, and this season's tussle is expected to draw a large gallery of followers.

With his hurlers nursing balky arms, Coach Doherty is bringing members of his mound staff along slowly in order to get them in tip-top shape.

Line-up Unchanged

Bill Tibbitt, last year's outstanding pitcher, who was charged with a loss in the opening game of the season, is expected to get the hill assignment, although John Daly, another member of the 1939 contingent, who was credited with the lone Virginia win, may get the call. The husky portlander is reported to be in fine shape this spring and is expected to do his share of twirling in the current campaign.

Expected to stand pat on the array that campaigned Virginia, the Hens' braintrust will probably start Lew Selby at first with Amos Crowley and Wilmer (Lunk) Apsley at the second and third sacks, respectively. Lorenzo (Dutch) Clark, ineligible last year after transferring from Springfield College, is reported to be filling departed Freddie Mitchell's shortstop post in fine style and looks like a permanent fixture.

In the outer gardens, Howie Viden will roam in left, Conrad Sadowski in center, and either Ken Mink or Tom Skippis in right. Capt. Earl Sheats will handle the backstop duties, with Skippis in relief for both the first-base and catching assignments.

Art Bowlsby, Jr. Paces Rovers To Decisive Win

With Art Bowlsby, Jr. setting the pace, the Rovers turned in an easy 2,698-2,312 victory over the Newark Pin Boys on the Legion alleys, Saturday afternoon.

Bowlsby racked up scores of 212, 182, and 244 to compile one of the best totals rolled on the local boards this year. "Buck" Blansfield was top man for the losing contingent with a 521-pin total.

BREWERS TURN BACK INVADERS

Philadelphia Team Downed On Local Boards By 72 Pins

A brilliant third-game finish which saw four members of the team racking up more than 200 pins, handed the Diamond State Brewers a decisive 2,887-2,815 win over the Philadelphia Eagles at the Legion bowling alleys, Saturday night.

Ray Waverly, outstanding Wilmington bowler, paced the Brewers with a 619-pin total, while Bill Rother, with the same score, led the defeated contingent.

Three local pinmen, Morris Adams, Kinsey and Paul Whiteman, rolled for the winners. Adams, after a slow start, produced a third-game 215 total for a score of 530, while K. Whiteman punctuated games of 201 and 211 with a 178 for a grand total of 590. P. Whiteman, after opening with 178, ran his score up to 578 by closing with two games of 200 even.

Newark Country Club Looks Forward To Banner Year

Davey Douglass, new professional at the Newark Country Club, officially opened the course on Tuesday and announced that the fairways and greens were in excellent shape despite the earliness of the season.

The alcoholic "hangover" of the morning after is caused by the formation of an excess amount of lactic acid in the system, according to Yale scientists. They also made the bright observation that laying off liquor would tend to reduce the lactic acid and eventually relieve the hangover.

TERRORS, TRAVELLERS DEADLOCKED FOR FOURTH

Highlanders, Bearcats, And Crescents In Top Positions

By Ned Ball

Gaining an unexpected pair of victories at the expense of Jack Bridgewater's Highlanders, Grover T. Surratt's Travellers moved into a deadlock for fourth place with J. E. Rothrock's Terrors, who split with Bill Fletcher's Bearcats.

The two teams are tied with percentages of 500, the Terrors sporting a record of 13 wins and the same number of losses, while the Travellers have registered 20 victories against an equal number of defeats.

Terrors Favored

Should both teams win tonight, the percentage column will slightly favor the Terrors, but despite the technicality which would hand his outfit the last play-off post, Rothrock has volunteered to a match with the Travellers for the fourth spot.

In other matches played last week, Len Fossett's Crescents split with Bill Gillespie's Pedagogues while Ned McCully's Pingers were dividing with Mervin Dale's Darkhorses.

In the Shaughnessy play-offs, the Crescents will meet the Bearcats Tuesday night while the Highlanders will face the winner of the disputed fourth spot on Thursday.

The two winners will meet in the final round at the St. John's R. C. Church basement at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, April 18.

LEADER IN CUE TOURNEY ADVANCES

Daly Adds Pair Of Wins To Increase Edge Over Porter

Charles (Spike) Daly, victorious in two starts this week, continued to pace the Class B billiard tourney at Jimmy Martin's State parlor, with a record of 12 wins against nary a defeat. Frank Porter, two matches behind the leader, has turned in 10 conquests and has yet to be turned back.

Continuing his brilliant display of shot-making, Daly chalked up a 60-42 win over Leroy C. Hill and then took a narrow 60-57 win over Bill Thompson. Porter in his only start, eked out a 65-64 triumph over Walter Martin.

With only two defeats chalked up against him, Curtis (Huck) Morrison, defending champion, stayed within striking distance by marking up his eleventh win, an easy 65-15 victory over Sammy Heiser. Bob Walls, a University of Delaware student who is holding down the third spot, was idle this week due to the spring vacation.

In other matches played this week, Ernie Smith turned in a 65-31 win over Chris Laskaris, while Eddie Anderson upset Ernie Spence to the tune of 60-57.

JACKET TOSSERS REPORT FOR DRILL

40 Candidates Greet Coach O'Connell At First Practice

With a squad of more than 40 candidates and a nucleus of eight let-tered-around which to build his 1940 team, Coach Ralph (Took) O'Connell opened the baseball training period at the Newark High School, Tuesday afternoon.

Included in the group are fifteen of the same number of pitchers, fifteen infielders, and eight outfielders, many of whom are entering their baseball for the first time. The loss in his class of the squad and limited participation will necessitate a cut in the number of players which will probably be made in the near future.

Much of the coach's hopes for this season's brilliant record of 200 victories against only two defeats, and Howard Wilson, a pair of capable moundsmen who shared the league duties after Bob Ewing had declared ineligible. Edgar Messick and Albert Thorpe, both members of last year's squad, and Robert McKenry, a newcomer, will round out the pitching staff.

Besides Dunn and Wilson, let-tered-around are Albert Aiken, Edgar Dayett, and Charles Weldin, infielders, and the Brooks brothers, Norman and Henry, who do a brilliant job of guarding positions in the outer garden. Norman, whose work at the bat was a prominent factor in last year's excellent record, clubbed 20 hits in 42 trips for an average of .476. Henry, while pouncing out a 200-run total, led the team in home runs with a total of four circuit clouts.

Only two lettermen, Bill Haddock and Bob Stewart, first-year catchers, and Bob Stewart, first-year catcher, and Bob Stewart, first-year catcher, were lost by graduation.

Those who reported on Tuesday were Eugene Robinson, catcher; Moore, William Moore, Arnold Moore, and George Schenck, pitchers; Dunn, Howard Wilson, Robert Cormick, Edgar Messick, and Albert Thorpe, infielders; Angelo Catalano, Harry Dayett, Bill Weldin, Harold Pierce, Bill Bobbitt, Charles Nelson, Kenneth Barnes, Ernie McCormick, Robert Sheaffer, Ernie Laws, Albert McCall, Henshaw Williams, Wallace Dunsmore, George Dunbar, Norbert Cashell, Clifford Lee, Godwin, and Edward Purdy, outfielders; Thomas Griffin, Cecil O'Connell, Paul Cochran, Norman Brooks, Smith, Henry Brooks, Ottavio and Charles Riley.

Frank and William Balling and Ernie McCormick are acting as managers for the 1940 season.

Short Circuit Fire At Recitation Hall

A short circuit in wiring under a floor in Recitation Hall caused a fire to be turned in yesterday afternoon. Prompt action on the part of Aetna Hose Hook & Ladder quickly extinguished the flames in the office of Mrs. Kate Daugherty with no material damage being done.

Local firefighters were called Tuesday afternoon to extinguish a grass fire on Capitol Trail which soon put out with no damage done.

McKECHNIE WEARING BIG SMILE AT CAMP

Cincinnati Head Pleased With Rookie And Veteran

Cincinnati, Ohio. The smile Bill McKechnie wears these days is a result of the manner in which two of his men have gone about their business on the training field here in Tampa. One of them, Ernie Lombardi, is a veteran and the other, Mike McCormick, is a rookie. They have been so impressive because Lombardi is wearing like a rookie and McCormick has displayed the actions of a veteran.

There were a good many skeptics who were feeling sorry for Lombardi when the Reds because Ernie's average was 2.7 last year after his college training failed to anticipate the attack of the big fellow, nor did they take into consideration his sensational performance during the month of September, when he batted .343 during the Reds' winning drive. Lombardi allowed 29 home runs for the Reds last year, more than during any season of his major league career. He participated in 130 games.

Fast, Big Man

McCormick, a 318 pounder, is a real looking prospect. He's a six footer, weighs only 200 pounds, but notwithstanding his size is about the fastest man in the Redleg squad. He was a sprinter in his school days, winning the 100-yard California 100-yard champion. He has run the 100 in 9.9 seconds, both members of the Cincinnati line work of McCormick is particularly encouraging to McKechnie, chief concern of the moment is to start filling a hole in his outfield which has been written about in the Reds' outfield weaknesses. If McCormick can continue to flash as he has in training, much more may be expected, but in a favorable vein.

At Indianapolis, McCormick's record work at AA the year preceding his big factor in last year's league is quite similar to the record, clubbed established at Syracuse by McCormick the year before he finished out a 211 game career in home runs. He has no connection, except that he is the same, but perhaps he is one of those fellows, like Stewart, who can go as well in one situation as another. Frank McCormick's record, in fact, has been in the majors than in AA.

FACTS FOR FARMERS

Although amounts per animal may vary according to needs of individual farms, the Department of Animal Industry at the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station says that a 1200-pound horse doing heavy spring farm work will consume about an average of 16 pounds of hay and 16 pounds of corn each day, or the same amount of hay and 12 to 13 pounds of corn. If mature hay is used, the Delaware workers say that it is a good idea to feed at least one pound of protein supplement daily. They also suggest a weekly feeding of around a pound of bran mash, preferably toward the end of the week.

Over the past 80 years the number of farms in this country has more than doubled. But the size of the average farm has steadily decreased; as the population grew, farms were subdivided. In 1880, according to census estimates compiled by the Security Administration, about 40 per cent of the country's farms were larger than 20 acres, but today, 18 per cent are of less than 20 acres. In 1930 nearly 30 per cent of the farms were less than 50 acres in size. Today, 40 per cent are less than 50 acres.

Sanitation practices are important for raising pullets if efficient production is expected later on. Expected during the brooding period to prevent contact with cock and internal parasite eggs will be with many of the dangers of disease, death losses, slow growth and stunted pullets. Use of suitable brooder houses and sun-drying with wire floors on permanent bases are two ways to lessen pullet mortality.

Protect Delaware producers, all stock shipped into the State from out-of-state sources must be certified from certain diseases. All poultry plants must carry a certificate stating their freedom from red mite and no shipments of peaches are allowed to enter Delaware from those areas where the new X-disease of chickens has appeared.

The country's farmland now in erosion, erosion and leaching, most of which is responsible for 40 per cent of the annual loss of organic or humus matter. And from this same erosion remove only 26 per cent of the humus each year.

One-half of all the world's fertilizer have been issued in the United States.

FARM LOANS NOW OFFERED AT 4 PERCENT

H. Wilson Price, recently elected President of the New Castle County National Farm Loan Association announced this morning that his Association has just completed the distribution of approximately $2,500,000 to former members who were borrowers from the Federal Land Bank in settlement of their stock which they held in the local cooperative.

Mr. Price said: "Our Association has been operating in New Castle County for over twenty years and I cannot understand who so few of our farmers have availed themselves of its facilities."

The eventual purpose of farm mortgage credit is to help the family pay for the farm, or for improvements on it, and get out of debt. A majority of the 800,000 American farmers who have Federal land bank and Commissioner loans are making good progress toward this objective. Many farmers obtained loans from the Commissioner to refinance old debts. Formerly, in many instances, they had short-term mortgages. They paid relatively high interest rates and often did not, or could not, repay anything on the principal. Now, with long-term amortized land bank and Commissioner loans, most of them are meeting their payments promptly when due and gradually are retiring the principal. Each year for the past four or five years, the amount paid off has been greater than the year before. Roughly, about three out of every four farmers with land bank and Commissioner loans have all or part of their indebtedness fully paid up.

Under recent legislation we may now offer Federal Land Bank loans at four per cent interest.

Other Officers and Directors of the Association are: Edwin C. Phillips, Vice President; W. Harman Money, secretary-treasurer; Frank Moody, George C. Burge, Sr., Wilson T. Pierson.
