NEWARK CHORUS TO SING SUNDAY

Local People to Feature Evening Services in Wolf Hall

CRAMER DANCERS PLEASE

Packed House Greets Popular Players Tuesday Night

The union services in Wolf Hall next Sunday evening will be featured by the first appearance of the Newark Community Chorus composed of twenty or more local singers, and assisted by several soloists. The chorus will carry through the entire musical program of the evening. Miss Dora Wilcox at present instructor in Music at the Summer School, is coaching the group and has arranged a pleasing program for the evening.

Numbered among the soloists who will assist the chorus are Miss Cora Frye, soprano, a Newark favorite who appeared here last year; Howard P. Haug, tenor; Dr. George H. Ryden of the University faculty, and Miss Kathryn Graybill of Newark. Miss Nell Wilson will accompany the chorus and Miss Wilcox will direct. Solos will be rendered by Miss Frye, Mr. Haug and Dr. Ryden, while the latter and Miss Graybill will sing a duet.

The sermon for the evening will be delivered by the Rev. Benjamin Johns, D. D., pastor of the Grace M. E. Church in Wilmington. Rev. Frank Herson will pronounce the invocation and benediction.

Dancers Delight Audience

Another overflow crowd greeted the Cramer Dancers in their recital in Wolf Hall Tuesday evening. The series of play dances ranging from Irish jigs to the more serious pantomime dances which were given by Miss Ruth Cramer and Miss Nancy Holt were warmly applauded by the audience and the dainty principals were on several occasions summoned to the footlights to receive curtain calls.

Perhaps the most popular numbers were "The Last of The Barons" and "In an Irish Jaunting Car." These two dances called for exceptionally fine pantomime work, in which the two girls were unusually well trained, the latter of the two numbers, being the occasion for insistent applause and a resultant encore. The costumes were particularly pleasing in every dance.

During intermission and at times between dances, Miss Ruth Halsey played several piano solos, one of which, "The Irish Tune From County Kerry" was very well received by the audience.

SEVERAL STUDENTS ILL

About twelve students of the University Summer School were given treatment by local physicians in their rooms and in the infirmary Monday evening and Tuesday of this week for slight attacks of ptomaine poisoning. A number of the girls were confined to their beds for a few hours, but none were reported seriously ill.

Miss Ruth Pearson, of Milford, a student at the Summer School is reported somewhat improved, after a sudden attack of appendicitis, which necessitated her removal Monday to the Homeopathic Hospital in Wilmington.

25 DOGS KILLED

The campaign being waged by Town and Board of Health authorities against stray dogs continues with unabated energy. According to Chief of Police Lewis, twenty-five canines have been destroyed up to this morning, about twenty odd which were killed by the Chief.

It is rumored that some residents are allowing their dogs to run loose at night without muzzles, in order to escape detection. The police are determined to put an end to the hydrophobia menace and have warned the offending dog owners accordingly. No reports of a further spread of the disease, however, have been made to date.

BABY SMOTHERS TO DEATH DURING NIGHT

Family of Child Grief Stricken By Unusual Tragedy

Edward, the seven months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson, residing near Big Elk, Md., about five miles from Newark, was accidentally smothered to death in his crib Monday evening of this week.

The father and mother, both known in and around Newark, are grief-stricken as a result of the accident. The child was presumably killed by becoming entangled with the bed clothing during the night.

This is the third death in the immediate family of the parents of the child within the past year. The funeral will be private.

Dr. Morrison, of Elkton, was called in an effort to revive the child, but all efforts failed. A verdict of accidental death by strangulation was announced by Coroner Magraw, of Elkton, yesterday.

TWO NEW HOMES

Ground was broken this week for two new homes in the Depot Road section of town. On the Wollaston tract at Kells Avenue, a new bungalow will be erected by Mrs. Helen Wollaston.

On Elkton Road a new home was started for Mr. and Mrs. Orville Little, of this place.

MARKING LINCOLN HIGHWAY NEAR TOWN

Safety Lines Will Give Steady Warning to Drivers

Workmen have about finished the painting of a "safety-line" in the middle of the Lincoln Highway from Wilmington to Newark. A broad white ribbon of paint, easily visible at night, will warn motorists to keep to the right at all times and will no doubt prevent many accidents. On parts of the concrete not covered by the tar top dressing, black paint is used.

The work is being done under the direction of County Engineer Grubb as a part of the State Highway campaign to cut down the total of mishaps this year on the public roads of the State. Similar marks are found throughout the lower part of the State.

NATIONAL GUARD TO HOLD MILITARY DEMONSTRATION HERE FRIDAY

Anti-Aircraft Batteries from Newark and Wilmington With Modern Weapons on High School Field in Evening

198th ARTILLERY BAND TO GIVE CONCERT

Residents of Newark and community are invited to an anti-aircraft demonstration on the High School athletic field on Academy street, Friday evening which is scheduled to be the largest affair of its kind ever held here.

The arrangements for the demonstration are under the personal supervision of Major C. M. McCaskey, recently appointed instructor officer of the Delaware unit, and a former student at the University here. The members of Battery E will take part in the demonstration in addition to at least two batteries from Wilmington.

Chief among the weapons which will be brought here for the display is the new model 175 m. m. gun mounted on a special anti-aircraft truck chassis. This gun has been approved and is being used by the United States government. A 2,000,000 candle-power searchlight, also mounted on a truck, will be operated by a special crew from Wilmington. Eight machine guns will also swing into action during the evening, some of them being operated by the members of the local battery. Blank ammunition will be used throughout.

Band Concert Scheduled

During the course of the evening's demonstration of defense against air attacks, the recently organized 198th Artillery Band of Wilmington will play several selections. This band is under the direction of Captain Harvey Bounds, a graduate of the University of Delaware and well known in Newark. The band is considered one of the best on the peninsula.

The demonstration will start at eight o'clock with a short infantry drill on the field, pending darkness, when the major display will commence. Officers of the local battery are anxious to have as many people see the demonstration as possible, to acquaint them with the work being done by the Delaware regiment. It is also hoped that it will create an interest among the young men of the community from which Battery E must have recruits before going to camp in August.

NEW MANAGER FOR POMONA GARDENS

W. C. Pelton Plans Bright Future for Local Farm

Through the efforts of the Director of Rehabilitation Division, R. M. Upton, the position of superintendent of Pomona Gardens, vacated by Mr. R. W. Hippensteel, resigned, has been filled by W. C. Pelton. Mr. Pelton resigned a position as Professor of Market Gardening at Pennsylvania State College in order to report for duty on July 7.

The Pomona Gardens are five acres in extent and are equipped with fifty hot-bed sashes and a small plant-forcing greenhouse. Mr. Pelton has installed immediately an irrigation system for the whole five acres. Visitors are invited to inspect this system as it is somewhat novel in this section of the country.

Five practical students are busy at the Gardens all the time. They are learning commercial gardening by practical methods, taking but very little class work. The Horticulture classes also visit the gardens as part of their class instruction. Mr. Pelton is planning to introduce many new varieties of vegetables in this district. He is a vegetable writer of some note and will from time to time publish in various Garden papers the results of his work at Delaware.

In a few weeks Mr. Pelton hopes to have a sufficient continuous supply of the common vegetables to sell at farm prices.

BUY FURNITURE FOR NEW FIRE HOUSE

Committee Expects Consignment in Few Days

A complete assortment of furniture, rugs and other equipment for the new home of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company on Academy Street was purchased one day last week by a committee of local firemen, and will be installed within the space of a few days.

The furniture will completely equip the main floor and the second floor. The pool tables, bowling alleys and shuffleboard for the basement will not be bought until later in the year. The purchases were made in Philadelphia, and include several rugs, draperies, meeting-room fixtures, and a set of attractive wicker furniture for the lounging room on the second floor.

The purchasing committee was composed of Chief E. C. Wilson, Charles W. Strahorn, Charles W. Colmery, Leslie Hill and George W. Rhodes.

NEW DAM FILLING UP

The last opening in the new dam erected at the old Dayett Mill, south of Newark, by the Newark Anglers' Association, has been closed up and water is beginning to back into the three mile stretch of lowland behind the barrier. Officials of the Association look for the pond to be at the normal level in a few weeks; although the continued dry weather is slowing up the procedure.

It is understood that several local residents are planning to build fishing cottages and camps along the shores of the new lake next spring, and it is assured that bath houses and boats will be available for those who spend week-ends and holidays there.

NEW COUNCIL ROOMS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Office for Clerk and Meeting Room In Old Fire House

With the transfer last week of the apparatus of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. to their new building across the street, workmen under the direction of J. C. Willis, local contractor, commenced the remodeling of the first floor of the old fire house. It will be occupied by Town Council as soon as it is completed. The interior will be entirely rearranged to make room for an office for the Secretary of Council and to provide for a meeting room. New plumbing and heating fixtures will be installed and an attractive door and window placed on the street front.

The former Council office will be relinquished shortly to its owner, Mrs. Mary Donnell. It is understood that a branch of the Child Welfare Association will soon be opened in the Donnell building.

SHOWS FLORIDA FRUIT

David C. Rose of this place was a recipient a few days ago of six Florida "mangos," a type of fruit grown in abundance in the Garden State, and very popular there. Mr. Rose stated that the mango grows profusely on trees and is very tasty. It resembles a pea in shape and is deep orange in color.

VACATION CAMP FOR "Y" GIRLS SOON

Several from Newark Preparing to Go

LOCATED NEAR EARLEVILLE

Accommodations Doubled by du Pont Gift

A vacation camp for girls and young women will be opened on July twenty-fourth at the Reybold Farm on Elk River near Earleville, under the direction of the Young Women's Christian Association of the Northern District of Delaware. The comfortable old farm house was used last year for this purpose and will again house the camp. Through the generosity of Mrs. Coleman du Pont, who gave twenty additional beds, there will be room for forty girls at one time. By the first of July there were twice as many girls registered as last year and many more have registered since.

The camp will be open six weeks and each day will be crowded full of interesting activities. There will be swimming, boating, hiking, nature study, tennis, baseball, group games, sings, fires on the shore, handicraft, discussion hours and vesper services. In charge of the camp will be an experienced director and all activities will be supervised and instructed by competent counsellors.

The girls will live in the large, airy farm house and will be responsible for the keeping of their own rooms and the whole order of the camp. Each girl is asked to bring bedding for a single cot, plain clothes suitable for outdoor life, plate, cup and saucer, knife, fork, spoon, towels, note book, Bible and spirit of adventure and friendship.

A week is reckoned from Tuesday to Tuesday and guests are asked to come and go as far as possible on that day. The board is six dollars for the week. Week-end rates are two dollars from Saturday afternoon to Sunday night. Visitors of the camp will be charged fifty cents a meal. Sunday and Thursday afternoons are especially designated as visitors' days. The last week of the camp, from August twenty-eighth to September third, will be the business girls' special week. Application for a week's stay at the camp may still be made by addressing Miss Martha A. Good, Y. W. C. A. Camp, Earleville, Maryland.

MISS GOOD RETURNED LAST WEEK FROM TEN DAYS' HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' CONFERENCE AT CAMP NEPAHWIN, NEAR CANTON, PA.

She was accompanied by three high school girls of the district, Sara Kwick, from Claymont; Catherine Townsend, from Newark, and Lillian Rawley, from Dover. Miss Good taught a Bible class at the Conference.

New Scoring System At the State Fair

The advertising car containing thousands of banners, muslin signs, lithographs, cards and posters describing the features that will make the 1923 Delaware State Fair the biggest and best in its twenty-five years of existence left Wilmington this week and will placard the country within a radius of one hundred miles. Hundreds of country stores, bill boards, post offices, blacksmith shops, garages, and other places will be covered with these signs announcing the Fair which this year, will be held August 27 to 31, with an extra day September 1.

In order that there may be no disputing the awarding of thousands of premiums to be given out at the Delaware State Fair, Lewis P. Randall, general manager, announced this week that all the judging would be done under what is known as the Scoring System. By this plan every exhibitor can figure out how his exhibit won a premium or how it failed to win. The same rule in judging one exhibit in a department will apply to every exhibit in that department. By this point system every one will win or lose. In the women's and children's needlework and fancy department the chief qualification is workmanship. The next in importance is cleanliness. In the judging of fruit the quality will first be considered and the form and uniformity of the fruit are next in the scoring process. In canning, the flavor, then the clearness and pack arrangements will follow in order. Last year the judges opened many jars to taste the exhibit for the flavor. As a result many of the exhibits fermented before the end of the Fair. This year it has been decided, not to open any of the exhibits, unless there is a serious doubt in the minds of the judges. This applies to the stewed fruits. The jams and jellies that have a high percentage of sugar used in their preparation and which will not easily ferment will be opened at the discretion of the judges. In judging of cake the flavor, then the grain and texture will be the leading points considered by the judges.

There will be faster horses, a more expensive vaudeville program, the most thrilling automobile races, the largest Midway, the biggest exhibit of poultry, cattle, swine, sheep, and the most complete arrangements made for the checking of automobiles and comfort of visitors.

THIRTEEN HEIFERS GO TO CLUB MEMBERS

Carload of Pure Breds Distributed Saturday By R. O. Bausman

A carload of thirteen pure bred Holstein heifers were distributed among the members of the Junior Dairy Cattle Club of New Castle county from the Washington House stables last Friday afternoon. The members of the club who secured the heifers were:

Homer Rehm, Townsend; Frank Keen, Jr., and Walter Keen, Jr., Newport; Pitney Lee and George Lee, Hockessin; Elva Minner, Marshallton; John Knotts, Middletown; Franklin Ferguson, Robert R. Connel, Raymond Connel, and John Connel, Newark, and Milton Keen, Newport.

The heifers are two years old and were bought by County Agent R. O. Bausman, in New Jersey. The prices ranged from $135 to $165. The dairy club is conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the University of Delaware and in co-operation with the New Castle County Farm Bureau.

The youngsters received their prizes from Mr. Bausman, who superintended the unloading and distribution at the stables.

The members will exhibit their heifers at the Delaware State Fair this fall. This is the fifth dairy club that Mr. Bausman has organized during the last five years. The total

DIAMOND STATE GRANGE TO HOLD BIG PICNIC

Handsome Prizes To Be Awarded For Athletic Games on Thursday

One of the biggest celebrations of the season will be the Diamond State Grange Farmers' picnic at Brandywine Springs Park on Thursday. For some time the members of the grange have been preparing for this event and it will no doubt show the biggest attendance of the season at the Springs. There will be a number of athletic contests for which handsome prizes will be given by the grange. There will also be a band concert and a number of other entertainments which will be entirely out of the ordinary.

It is expected that a large number of people from Wilmington and other cities will be in attendance as well as farmers from all parts of the county. These affairs given by the members of the grange are always enjoyable and this one will be the largest which has yet been held by any grange in this county.

membership is now 135, each the owner of a pure bred heifer. Many of the older members are now owners of small pure bred herds. A recent survey showed that 19 per cent of the pure bred Holsteins in the State are either club heifers or offspring from club heifers.

The Luxury of A Meal in A Dining Car

The Hall Mark

Of Service

Good food, well cooked and served in an attractive manner are recognized features of Pennsylvania Railroad's Dining-Car Service.

$1.00--One Dollar Meals--$1.00

One dollar will buy a lunch or a dinner on a Pennsylvania Railroad dining car.

Four "special combinations" are provided on each luncheon and dinner menu in addition to the usual a la carte features. Over one hundred different combinations are used and changes are made every week in order to afford a variety of choice. Each "special combination" consists of meat, fowl or fish, two vegetables, rolls and coffee, tea or milk. The portions are ample for one person and are served on separate dishes the same as a la carte orders.

This service not only meets the desires and conveniences of railroad travelers, but also effects a reduction in dining-car prices notwithstanding the continuing high cost of dining-car service.

Persons interested in the cost of serving meals in dining cars should read the pamphlet—"Food at 50 Miles an Hour Costs"—reprinted from The Nation's Business. Copies of this pamphlet may be had, free of cost, by writing to D. N. Bell, Passenger Traffic Manager, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

ELKTON POLITICAL POT BOILING AS FALL COMES

O. D. Crothers Announces Himself Candidate for Judgeship

The political situation in Cecil County was made a trifle more complex with the formal announcement made recently by Omar D. Crothers, prominent Elkton attorney, of his decision to enter the field for the Associate Judgeship of the Second Judicial Circuit of Maryland. This circuit comprises Cecil, Kent, Caroline, Talbot and Queen Anne counties. Three other aspirants for this important office are also in the field.

It is also known that a movement is on foot for the boosting of Thomas B. Miller, a resident of Cherry Hill, Md., for the office of Comptroller of Maryland at the coming primary. Mr. Miller is president of the National Bank of Elkton and is widely known and liked throughout all of upper Maryland. His entry into the field would place Cecil County in a prominent place in case he was nominated and elected. Mr. Miller, it is understood, has made no public statement regarding his name being placed on the ticket.

LODGE NOTES

K. G. E. Installation
One of the important fraternal happenings of the year occurred Saturday evening last in Center Hall, when Ivy Castle No. 23, K. G. E., held an open installation ceremony in which officers for the year were placed in office. Over 150 members and their wives and friends, including many from other local lodges were in attendance.

The installation team performed their rigorous duties in a manner which called forth high praise from those who were fortunate enough to be present. Particularly pleasing was the work of the members of the Newark Castle.

After the installation services were concluded, the guests were treated to bountiful refreshments and the balance of the evening was devoted to a social hour. The affair was unique in local lodge annals and was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

A SUGGESTION

July 23, 1923.

Editor The Post,
Newark, Delaware.
Dear Sir:
Apropos of the present calamity to several dog owners and the nervous apprehension of others, it may not be amiss to look at this hydrophobia danger from a different standpoint. In the first place many persons do not seem to know that a dog does not go mad without due warning. He is suffering from a disease that has several premonitory symptoms. For those who may not have ready access to the Britannica—"The disease does not commence with fury or madness, but in a strange anomalous change in the habits of the dog: It becomes dull, gloomy and taciturn; seeks out of the way places but cannot rest; is uneasy and fidgety; jumps up in an agitated manner, again seeks the farthest corner and lies down with its head under its chest and fore paws. This continual agitation and inquietude are in striking contrast to its usual habits and should receive attention. At times it shows unusual affection. Sometimes it carries away straw, thread and bits of wood and has a tendency to lick anything cold, like stone or iron."

These are the symptoms of the first stage, which for us is the all-important one.

Now, these being the warnings it behooves us as sensible people to limit the possession of dogs, as far as possible, to those who will heed the signals—in other words, to weed out the indifferent and thoughtless owners.

How can this be done?

I have never thought the number of automobiles on the road to be any less because of the trouble of procuring a license!

Cannot dogs and dog owners be protected in a similar way?

Is it not possible to make the license fees pay for a few weeks of clerical help necessary for the increased detail involved in issuing licenses only to those signing a pledge card? This card should contain in condensed form the most prominent early symptoms of rabies and the pledge, a promise to immediately confine the dog if such symptoms are shown, until proof shall be established either of health or disease. If this were signed before a notary so much the better. A copy of the above should accompany each license with the request that it be kept at hand for refreshing the owner's memory.

The easy possession of dogs by the careless and ignorant is a serious menace, affecting not only us "humans" and our property, but a creature, to whose unselfish devotion we owe something better than indifference or speedy death.

M. B. Smith.

Editor of The Newark Post,
Dear Sir:

The recruiting season for the Citizens' Military Training Camps will end on the 31st of this month; but it is my desire that those who have assisted in the publicity work of this successful campaign in Delaware will continue their interest from year to year. I am convinced, judging from the co-operation received, that the people of Delaware, as a whole, believe thoroughly in the benefits to be derived by young men through attendance at these camps. If, however, there are individuals here and there who still look askance at any activity of a military nature, I would be pleased to have an opportunity to explain further to them the fact that our boys will benefit materially—physically, mentally and morally—from these camps, even though we may never need their services in a military way.

Very truly yours,
C. L. WILLIAMS,
Major, C. A. C.

Cost of Home Building Continues to Increase

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Department of Commerce statistics indicate the cost of building continued to rise in June. The index cost number of building materials for a brick house, based on 1913 as 100, rose to 215 in June, as against 214 in May, while for a frame house the cost figure practically was stationary at 212.

The index of plumbing fixtures rose from 194 to 195. The volume of building contracts awarded in June was 14 per cent below the May contracts and 6 per cent below June, 1922.

A Telephone Nation

In 1877 the number of telephones per hundred population in both the United States and Europe was none. In 1899 the United States had less than one telephone per hundred population and Europe had barely a fraction of a telephone. In 1921 Europe had a little better than one telephone per hundred population while the United States had risen to more than thirteen telephones per hundred population and now has a total of 14,500,000 in use, which is two-thirds of all the telephones in the whole world.

In this country there is about one telephone to every two farm dwellings, a convenience unheard of in other countries. This wonderful telephone development is due to efficient organization, to the cumulative effect and importance of investments great and small in all the apparatus and equipment required for the transmission of speech, as well as to the foresight and business acumen of those who have directed the policy of the Bell system from the beginning, and to the fact that in this country telephone development has been left to private enterprise under reasonable governmental regulation.

AUTO POLO WILL BE A FAIR FEATURE

Thrills A-Plenty for Spectators In This Novel Game

Auto polo, the most sensational and thrilling of America's outdoor attractions, will be one of the big features each day at the Delaware State Fair. In addition to the sensations, auto polo is the costliest attraction ever brought to Delaware. The State Fair management determined to make the 1923 Fair the greatest exhibit ever witnessed in Delaware, and has left no stone unturned to provide the highest class features obtainable and arrangements have been completed with A. C. Wilson nationally known producer of auto polo to bring his celebrated aggregation here. The auto games will be played on the racetrack in front of the grandstand every afternoon of the Fair. Automobiles stripped for action and carrying two persons, one the driver and the other the mallet man, will play the game of polo mounted in cars instead of on horses.

This big sensational act provides amusing features with every thrilling expectancy, and roars of laughter from the spectators follow chills and thrills in rapid succession, as the stripped cars career around the track in tail spins and head-on collisions, turning completely over and hurling drivers and mallet men through the air, side-swiping each other with a crash of broken wheels, accompanied by the roar of open exhausts and the bang of exploding tires. Auto polo is declared by those who have witnessed it, to provide more thrills in one minute than the ordinary act produces in an hour, and it is believed that it will prove the greatest drawing card ever introduced here.

Fifth Annual Junior Short Course August 7 - 11

Three club members who attend the Short Course will be sent to the Maryland Club Short Course with all expenses paid for at least one day. In return a group of Maryland club members will be our guests at the same time. Our club representatives will go to College Park Wednesday afternoon and will be with the Maryland club boys and girls when they visit Washington, D. C., on Thursday. Our representatives will not be selected until after they come to Newark on August 7th, so everybody has a chance.

The annual Farmers' Day at the Delaware Experimental farm will be held on Thursday, August 9th, during the Junior Short Course. A club boy and a club girl will be on the afternoon program to tell the people of the state about club work. The whole group will attend the afternoon program and show them some real club singing.

Remember any club member can come by paying the fee of $6.00 and transportation.

The swimming pool, gymnasium, base ball diamonds and tennis courts will all be open.

Extra Special For July

This month's surprise is a dandy. Last month we had one for the dairy club boys. This one is for the girls.

Montgomery, Ward and Company of Chicago has given us $115 to be used in sending the club girl who is most outstanding in domestic science projects of the state, to the Second International Boys' and Girls' Club Congress at Chicago early in December.

The winner of this trip will be decided by a Committee of officials of the State Extension Force in November after all records are in. Just now it's an open race. Who wants to go?

A GOOD PROPOSITION

Narrow-minded individuals are inclined to fight the organization of labor banks and co-operative undertakings. This is wrong. These institutions should be encouraged, for the more laboring men go into business, the more will they understand some of the problems faced by an employer in the financing, operation and management of industrial and banking enterprises.

The laboring man who has his capital tied up in a bank, a sawmill, a gold mine, a shoe factory or a public utility plant, will be pretty sure to take an interest in maintaining safe and sound conditions in both state and nation, in order that the property may pay a fair rate of return on his money invested, which to him, the same as any other investor, represents years of toil and saving.

One safeguard of the nation lies in educating our workmen to take a greater interest in, and become owners of, the securities of our various industrial undertakings.

JUMP INTO THE POOL!

The Eastern States 1923 Feed Pool in Delaware closes on Saturday, August 4th. This date marks the close of your pool-feed-buying opportunities until next summer.

Contracts already received indicate that over 9,000 farmers will be participating in the special Pool advantages, receiving their Eastern States Rations in regular monthly shipments during this fall and winter. To meet their needs, three solid trainloads, each of from 35 to 50 carlots of these good feeds, will move eastward from our mills every week.

Consider the economies in purchases pooled in such volume. Consider the quality that must be inherent in mixed feeds which are desired in such huge quantities, by so many farmers. Add your order to theirs, before it is too late to share equal advantages with them.

STUDEBAKER'S SALES FOR FIRST HALF OF YEAR 81,880 Cars

New Record for Six Months Ending June 30; Plants Continue at Capacity

Word has just been received by Chas. W. Strahorn, local Studebaker dealer, of the new record established by The Studebaker Corporation of America for the first six months of 1923, when a total of 81,880 Studebaker cars—all Sixes—were sold.

All Studebaker plants continue at capacity operations and the present output of 15,000 cars per month is insufficient to meet the persistent demand for more Studebakers from every section of the country, which is as great, or greater, than at any time this year.

It is well known that right from the first of the year Studebaker has experienced a demand that has continuously been far in excess of production; although the plant capacity was substantially increased during the spring when a number of new factory units at South Bend and Detroit, on which construction was started late last year, were completed and equipped for production.

While Studebaker sales for the past six years have increased progressively each year, the newest record can be better appreciated by comparisons. The sale of 81,880 cars in the first six months of 1923 shows an increase of 36 per cent over the best previous six months' business in Studebaker history—that of 1922—when a total of 60,053 cars were sold.

Compared with sales for the entire year of 1918, the half-year record of 1923 shows an increase of 243 per cent. It is 103 per cent greater than sales for the full twelve months of 1919. It exceeds the sales of the full year of 1920 by 59 per cent and is 23 per cent greater than the sales for the complete year of 1921.

"Studebaker's accomplishment becomes even more significant," according to Mr. Strahorn, when it is realized that being a large producer, Studebaker is strictly a builder of high quality cars which range in price from $975 to $2750, and in capacity from two to seven passengers, and that Studebaker manufactures Sixes exclusively. To us it means that the public wants quality and wants Sixes in ever-increasing numbers. And by providing us with three distinct models, Studebaker has enabled us to fit the buyer with the car he needs just as the shoe salesman fits the shoe to the foot, instead of trying to adapt the car to the buyer. There are a number of other reasons why Studebaker has been able to achieve new records year after year. These - include:

1. Seventy-one years' experience in the manufacture of high grade vehicles-
 2. Continuation of the founder's policies of honest value and integrity.
 3. Manufacture of vital parts in own plants, saving the middleman's profits and insuring the quality.
 4. Quantity production methods in which the first and final consideration is quality.
 5. The name "Studebaker" which is a household word throughout the world.
 6. Organization of able, experienced workers.
 7. $90,000,000 of actual net assets including $45,000,000 of plant facilities."

THE HISTORY OF CECIL COUNTY

Written by Students of Elrton High School and Reprinted in The Post by Special Permission

Chapter 6

The Eighth District

The eighth district, the smallest district of Cecil County, is situated in the northwestern part of Cecil County. It is bounded on the north by Pennsylvania, on the south by the seventh district or the Octoraro Creek, on the east by the sixth district, or the Octoraro Creek, and on the west by the Susquehanna River. It was formed out of parts of the sixth and seventh districts by an act of the Legislature in 1852. The chief towns are Conowingo, Rock Springs, and Bald Friar. The chief way of transportation is the Pennsylvania Railroad. There is also a state road from Richmansville sixth district, to Oakland and Conowingo to Belair and Baltimore.

The highest point in Cecil County is located at Rock Springs, the height being 540 feet above sea level.

A large majority of the writers of prose and poetry of Cecil County were born and raised along the picturesque Octoraro Creek located between the sixth and eighth districts, dividing the two districts.

The tribe of Indians known as the Susquehanna tribe, lived in the eighth district and on down through the seventh district along the Susquehanna River and the Octoraro Creek, both of these names being originally used by the Indians, also the Conowingo tribe, this tribe of Indians descended from the Iroquois stock. They were six hundred in number when found by John Smith.

The tribe is now extinct. Just above Bald Friar there are a number of rocks in the Susquehanna River, with "hieroglyphics" on them, which are supposed to have been written there by this tribe of Indians. To this date no one had been able to decipher this writing.

The Susquehannox Indians were mostly basket makers and fishermen. They also made their weapons and utensils.

Many bones have been unearthed showing this tribe to be of very large stature and the implements found show them to have been workers along many lines.

The Indians attired chiefly in skins of bears and wolves. Some had ca-socks made of bears' heads and skins. The head went through the skin. The neck and ears of the bear was fastened to the shoulders and the nose and teeth hung down his chest.

There is now one large dam at Mc-Calls Ferry, in Pennsylvania, just north of the eighth district, supplying electric current to Philadelphia and Baltimore, as well as surrounding towns and villages through this section. It is said that three more very large dams are to be built in the near future. When completed they will be able to generate more electricity than is generated at Niagara Falls, and being like the latter place, generated by water power is much less expensive than where fuel has to be used. One thing to be regretted is that in building these dams, the pictured rocks will be submerged in water and it may never be known what this writing of the Susquehannox Indians means.

The Ninth District

This part of Cecil County was settled by Quakers in 1689, who were given different portions of land by William Penn. The meeting-house called the Little Brick, standing on the north side of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore Central Railroad and about three miles and a quarter southwest of Rising Sun. This little brick building was erected in 1811, and was the first built. It was built of hewn chestnut and yellow poplar logs; the new erection was built of bricks imported from England. This little brick building has stood the test of two fires; and, though the frosts and snows of one hundred and fifty-four winters have spent their fury upon it, it appears to be none the worse and looks as though it might last for many centuries longer.

The quakers were opposed to fighting, many of them refused to enter the service of the State, but they had no objection to taking care of the sick and wounded soldiers. A division of the American Army took possession of the Brick Meeting House, in April, 1778, and made it into a hospital for the use of the sick and wounded soldiers. It was used for a hospital for about three months. The Friends treated the soldiers in the hospital with much kindness. During this time many of the soldiers died and were buried in the grave yard that surrounded it.

The pioneer settlers of Nottingham were two brothers, James and William Brown, who started out on horse back from New Castle, in the summer or fall of 1701, into the Wilderness to make themselves a home. Their selection was influenced by the fertility of the soil and by the great size of the forest trees which grew there. They stopped near a large spring on the north side of the road leading from the Brick Meeting-House to Rising Sun. The spring is on the farm now owned by William Cameron. Near this spring was a favorite camping ground of the Indians. Here the brothers Brown unloaded their weary horses and went to work clearing the land for the purpose of making houses, and engaged in agriculture.

Mason and Dixon's Line

Mason and Dixon's Line is a line separating Pennsylvania from Maryland. It was drawn by two eminent English mathematicians and astronomers, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon.

For about eighty years after 1701 there were constant dissensions between the Lords Baltimore, who were the Maryland proprietors, and the Pennsylvania proprietors, in regard to the boundary-line between their colonial possessions.

So Mason and Dixon were sent from England to draw the real boundary. They commenced their task in December, 1763, and concluded it in 1767, having marked out a line of two hundred forty-four miles in length and passing through forests and over mountains and streams. At the end of every fifth mile a stone was planted on which was engraved on one side the Baltimore coat of arms.

All these stones were brought from England. The surveys were revised in 1849 and found correct.

DR. CALDWELL GIVES FINAL LECTURE HERE

Dr. Otis W. Caldwell, director of the Lincoln School in New York and one of the best authorities in grade school education, closed his series of lectures to the Summer school students Friday afternoon last and returned to his home.

During the course of the week, Dr. Caldwell gave lectures both morning and afternoon and frequently in the evening. His subjects ranged from modern methods in the school room to history and philosophy. He is an interesting talker and by the use of a blackboard at his elbow, illustrated his points on many occasions. The students took profuse notes on each of his talks.

In his last lecture, "The School as a Part of the Curriculum," he endeavored to show how the school itself could be of assistance in the education of the child and told what had been done in the Lincoln School in the way of developing self-government among the pupils, illustrating his talk by many incidents of unusual interest.

Announcement

THE STUDEBAKER CORPORATION OF AMERICA is pleased to announce to its customers, friends, and the public generally, its complete line of new

1924 Model Studebaker Cars

Avoiding the superlatives frequently used in automobile advertisements, the Corporation desires to faithfully state the facts concerning these cars and the reasons why the public should buy them.

THE CARS

In design, quality of materials, standard of workmanship, durability, refinements, performance, freedom from repairs, and price, the Studebaker 1924 Model Cars are distinctly the greatest intrinsic values the Corporation has ever offered.

Every improvement the safety and practicability of which have been verified by engineering tests is embodied in these new cars.

The Big-Six

THE BIG-SIX LINE comprises four models, mounted on the standard 126-inch chassis with 60 H. P. 3 7/8 x 5 inch motor:

7-passenger Touring Car - $1750	5-passenger Coupe - $2570
5-passenger Speedster - $1835	5-passenger Sedan - $2750

all prices f. o. b. factory

Refinements and a few minor mechanical changes have been made in the Big-Six, which has established an enviable record for five years. Our large production accounts for its low price. It is a car of the highest grade, comparable to the best.

The Special-Six

THE SPECIAL-SIX LINE comprises four models mounted on the standard 119-inch chassis with 50 H. P. 3 1/2 x 5 inch motor:

2-passenger Roadster - $1325	5-passenger Coupe - $1975
5-passenger Touring Car - $1350	5-passenger Sedan - $2050

all prices f. o. b. factory

Radiator, hood, cowl, and body changes have been made in the Special-Six, with minor mechanical changes and refinements in the chassis. The Special-Six has for five successive years added luster to the name STUDEBAKER. It is one of the most satisfactory and finest cars on the market. It is as good in every respect as the Big-Six, except that it is smaller, and costs less to produce, and therefore sells for less.

The Light-Six

THE LIGHT-SIX LINE comprises four models, mounted on the standard 112-inch chassis with 40 H. P. 3 1/4 x 4 1/2 inch motor:

3-passenger Roadster - $975	2-pass. Coupe-Roadster - $1225
5-passenger Touring Car - $995	5-passenger Sedan - $1550

all prices f. o. b. factory

No body or mechanical changes except refinements have been made in the Light-Six. Over 130,000 Light-Sixes have been produced in the new, modern $30,000,000 Studebaker plant at South Bend, Indiana, under most economical and almost ideal manufacturing conditions. In our judgment, it stands out as the greatest value and the closest approach to mechanical perfection in moderate priced cars yet produced.

THE REASONS WHY

With $90,000,000 of actual net assets and $45,000,000 invested in plants, Studebaker has ample physical facilities to manufacture most economically.

Studebaker's organization of manufacturing executives, engineers, metallurgists, chemists, inspectors, and skilled mechanics is second to none in the industry. The design of Studebaker cars and the workmanship upon them conform to the highest principles of engineering standards and mechanical practice known to the industry.

Best of Materials Used

Studebaker cars contain the finest known grades of iron, steel, aluminum, tires, electrical equipment, glass, bearings, etc. No better materials for automobile manufacture exist. Sheet aluminum has but one-third the tensile strength of sheet steel, and consequently, Studebaker uses sheet steel for its bodies.

By the manufacture of drop forgings, castings, stampings and the machining, assembling and finishing of motors, axles, frames, transmissions, bodies, tops, etc., and the consequent elimination of middlemen's profits, coupled with lower overhead factory costs per car arising from quantity production and low commercial expenses, Studebaker's costs are kept at an economically low point possible of attainment only by manufacturers with vast physical and financial resources.

Bodies Unexcelled

The bodies of Studebaker cars are not excelled in quality of materials and craftsmanship, by any cars on the market. The Coupe and Sedan closed bodies are magnificent examples of the coach builder's art.

Merit Wins

The sales of Studebaker cars for the past six years have shown each and every year a progressive increase. 81,880 cars were sold in the first six months of 1923 as against 60,053 for the same period last year. Only products of merit can make such growth.

CONCERNING YOUR TAXES

Federal taxes of various sorts are due on or before July 31st, Collector of Internal Revenue, John W. Hering, stated today. Returns and payments must be made on or before said date of the miscellaneous occupational taxes, the special tobacco manufacturer's tax and the special tax on the use of boats, provided for by the Revenue Act of 1921, in order to avoid penalty. The warning issued by Collector Hering is precautionary at this time and intended to hasten compliance with the law and avoid the severe penalty and interest provisions for violation.

Capital stock tax returns also must be made on or before July 31st, payment being required within ten days after notice and demand by the Collector.

The Revenue Act provides that "every domestic corporation shall pay annually a special excise tax with respect to carrying on or doing business, equivalent to $1 for each $1000 of so much of the fair average of its capital stock for the preceding year ending June 30 as is in excess of $5,000. In estimating the value of capital stock the surplus and undivided profits shall be included. Every foreign corporation shall pay annually a special excise tax with respect to carrying on or doing business in the United States, equivalent to $1 for every $1000 of the average amount of capital employed in the transaction of its business in the United States during the preceding year ending June 30."

Every domestic corporation must make a return on Form 707 even though the law may indicate that it is exempt from tax. The question of exemption is one for determination by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

A foreign corporation is "carrying on or doing business" in the United States if it maintains an agent, or an office or warehouse in the United States, or in any other way enters the United States for the purpose of its business.

Persons carrying on the business of operating or renting passenger automobiles for hire are required to pay $10 for each such automobile having a seating capacity of more than two and not more than seven, and $20 for each automobile having a seating capacity of more than seven.

With respect to the special tax (due in July) imposed upon the use of yachts, pleasure boats, power boats, sailing boats, and motor boats, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has ruled that a vessel must be both over 5 tons net and at least 33 feet in length to be subject to such tax.

These boats are divided into three classes with respect to length and a separate tax is provided for each class as follows: over 5 net tons and over 32 feet in length, $1 for each foot; over 5 tons, length over 50 feet and not over 100 feet, $2 for each foot; over 5 tons, length over 100 feet, $4 for each foot.

A sentence of thirty days in Elkton jail was imposed by the Magistrate.

A modern bathroom reduces housework

Old bathroom fixtures that are streaked, cracked and chipped are a needless source of extra housework. Then too, danger of contagion lies in every one of these germ catching blemishes. Keeping the floor clean, under and back of an old style tub and fixtures, is a matter of lots of hard work.

Join the long list of families who have improved their homes with modern built-in bath tubs and other up-to-date sanitary fixtures. They are a blessing to the housewife; and cost far less than they increase the property's value.

The installation or replacement of plumbing fixtures is no longer a thing to be dreaded. Our new and modern methods enable us to concentrate and quickly finish a job, without mussing up the whole house.

Visit our store, or let us visit you and tell you how moderately priced such improvements really are.

DANIEL STOLL

DELAWARE BOY WINS EXPERT RIFLEMAN PRIZE

E. H. Jackson, University Student, Captures High Rating at Plattsburgh

Edward H. Jackson of Principio Furnace, Md., a Junior at the University of Delaware, was the only one of the Delaware contingent to receive the Expert Rifleman badge, at the R. O. T. C. Camp at Plattsburgh, N. Y., this summer. Young Jackson shot a remarkable score from ranges of 200, 500 and 1000 yards, both rapid and slow firing. This badge is the highest award for marksmanship given by the United States Government. The rank of Sharpshooter, next in line, was won by two Delaware men, giving that unit a good representation among the colleges represented.

The battle maneuvers which always form a feature of the last few weeks of every camp were held near Plattsburgh Monday and Tuesday of this week. The entire regiment of college men were on the march early Monday morning, to their respective positions along Deal Creek on the Plattsburgh-Chazy road, the same battle ground as fought over by the British and American troops during the Battle of Champlain fought in the War of 1812.

The students from Delaware are living in tents this year, and report the weather quite warm. Major Lathe B. Row and Captain Morse of the unit here are in attendance at the camp.

C. Arnel Nutter, a member of the 1923 graduating class of the University, leaves next week for Plattsburgh to act as second lieutenant during the Citizens' Military Camp opening at that time. Nutter won a reserve commission from the University at Commencement time. He was captain of the baseball team during the past season.

HOW THE SPIDER SHROUDS HIS VICTIM

Watch Your Friend, the Bug Killer, Carry His "Life Line" With Him

Neglect your weed cutting for a few days this fall and thus get acquainted with an experienced gardener decorator and bug killer, your friend the spider.

The flower of all webdom is the orb of the black and yellow garden spider, writes E. P. Jenkins in Nature Magazine of Washington. The orb weavers build a plain web with a small carpet-like patch of fine, closely woven dry web at the center, but the black and yellow garden spider adds a most unusual and distinctive piece of construction.

Always approximately from top to bottom across the space, where there is no spiral, he lays a zigzag of dry web back and forth between two spokes of his wheel. This zigzag is composed of a great number of very fine strands of white web which seemingly would require an immense amount of labor and travel back and forth in the building; but here is where he springs a surprise if you are lucky enough and early enough to see him build it some morning.

He has about one hundred and fifty spinnerets in that rear tool chest of his, each capable of spinning a web, and instead of running the one hundred and fifty strands into one web as usual, he spreads those spinnerets apart and makes a ribbon.

The zigzagging is made in much less time than it takes to tell about it and forms the finishing touch on a masterful piece of work. When it is completed the spider takes position head down at the center of the web, on the underside, where his legs command the tightly stretched lines radiating to all parts of his ingenious trap. He stays on the job day and night.

With the slightest motion of his legs he often keeps this web vibrating back and forth for minutes at a time. After completing a web, the first catch may be a tiny gnat held by one small strand of web, but with some one of his eight legs the spider gets the message sent by the hum of the insects wings over the tightly stretched web.

If he is uncertain as to which one of two or three spokes will lead to the prey, the spider takes hold of two of the spokes with his two front legs and gives a little jerk like shaking crumbs from a tablecloth. If still uncertain he takes two other spokes and repeats the motion until satisfied not only of the location, but also as to the size of the catch, which he can determine by this method. If too small to bother with, he waits for something better.

A Silent Partner

Two men who were "something in the city" were punching at their club one day. "Oh," said one, "my partner formerly used always to oppose my views, but now he agrees with me in everything."

"How do you account for it," asked the other.

"Don't know," said the first. "I'm not sure whether I convinced him, or only made him tired."—Tatler (London).

Musical Diplomacy

After the armistice Pilsudski, then chief of state, asked Mr. Paderewski to come to Warsaw for a conference. When Paderewski arrived at the council chamber Pilsudski, unused to the diplomatic etiquette belonging to such occasions and at a loss for the right thing to say, left the man who was destined to become the premier of Poland standing ungreeted on the threshold. The silence became embarrassing.

Finally Pilsudski, whose eye wandered about the room as if seeking for a way out of difficulty discovered a grand piano at the other end of the apartment.

"Would you mind playing something for us?" he stammered.

"Certainly not," returned Paderewski, "if you will dance to the tune I play." From a Bulletin of the Symphony Society of New York.

Insurance Growing Cheaper

Not long ago the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that electricity was the only large item in the cost of living which had shown any reduction in cost to the consumer since 1917.

Whether or not this indicates a recognition of the truth that the expense for fire insurance protection represents only a small percentage of the individual overhead is not made clear, or whether it was merely an oversight of the Bureau in overlooking this bulwark of modern society.

The astonishing feature of this situation is the fact that the reduction took place in the face of heavy advances for railroad fares, rents, supplies, wages, advertising and other necessary expenses.

LATE RALLY ENABLES ELKTON TO CONQUER

Defeat Havre de Grace Rivals and Keep Slate Clean in River League

Rising to the occasion in the eighth inning of their game with Havre de Grace Saturday last, the Elkton league-leaders formed a parade to the home plate, and before the last man was out, five runs had scampered across, thereby putting the old ball game very much on ice.

Previous to the colorful eighth, the game had gone along very serenely with Leitheiser and Shanner waging a pretty hurling duel. Elkton forged into the lead with their usual first inning rush, scoring twice, but Havre de Grace came right back in their half and made it a ball game by getting one run.

From then on until the eighth it was anybody's game, and the fans from both camps were imploring their heroes to get out there and pound out a few runs. Accordingly, Potts and him mates fell upon Leitheiser with great abandon and as hereinbefore stated won the game. The Havre de Grace pitcher has always been a hard one for Elkton to beat, his slow delivery and so-called "breaks" in his favor getting him out of many holes.

Old man Finn, home-bred ball player of note, contributed two lusty blows to the Elkton cause, meanwhile handling his chances in right field without a mishap. Shanner, the big pitcher who has been clouting the ball at a terrific clip the past two weeks, continued on his streak with two hits. Robinson and Rothwell were the only two Elktonians who failed to register safties.

For Haere de Grace P. Lyons, flashy third baseman, was a busy man all afternoon. He accepted five hard chances without an error, and drove out three of the five hits garnered from Shanner's delivery.

A number of Elkton fans made the trip to the race town to see their pets again come through. Elkton has a commanding lead of two full games over Rising Sun and look like winners at this stage. The score:

THE SPORTING TICKER

A Column Devoted to Clean Athletics and Sportsmanship, written by one who loves the Game.

MY DOG

Firm in allegiance, honorable in service and faithful to a fault; who never lacks devotion, who loves with an undying flame his master in good times and in bad times, who though much wiser than his benefactor, carefully avoids detracting from the universal vanity of Man—that is my dog.

Whatever his breed, whatever his color, he is the true Knight of the animal kingdom. Rather gladly would he die, than have harm come to his master and when his body cries out for food and drink, or his sturdy legs wobble and grow weak with age, still he loves with his liquid eyes, and his incessant wagging.

Better than that, he knows,—he thinks,—he understands. He is dumb, but infinitely well educated in Human Nature. His life, crowded as it is during his short span of years on earth, is dedicated to his master and in death, his eyes turn for the last good bye to the one he loves. That is my dog.

Cooch's Bridge, Del., July 24, 1923.

Greetings!

Well them dog killin' people up your way done away with my two beagles the other day, while I was to the creamery, so that puts a complete stop to my gunnin' trips next fall. Not that I am agin killin' dogs which has a touch of that hydrophobia stuff, for I think the authorities did just as I would do if I was in their shoes. I thought the missus had them up in the garret where I put them but she said that they put up such a confounded holler that she had to let them out, and they followed me up to Newark. I brought them back on the tailboard. So that's all of that.

To tell the truth, Mr. Ticker, there ain't but a little news worthy of interest in a sporting way down here in the "great open spaces." About the only sport I have noted has been the "Tossin' the Scraps for Distance" games which them cornsheller automobilists indulge in down our way every Sunday. You see each member of the party takes all his scraps of fried chicken, pickles, pie and empty bottles, rolls them up in a paper napkin, and then stands off and with their eyes shut try to throw the darned stuff as far as they can. The one who throws it the farthest, gets out fixin' tires on the way home. Most times their direction is pretty good, as the front yard and pasture here at the house does testify. From my philosophy study of this great national summer sport, I have become convinced that there is enough good food thrown on peoples lawns and premises during the summer months to feed all the Russians and have some left over for the I. W. W. fellows. The greatest tendency among us Americans today is to go on picnics and throw scraps for distance. If Henry Ford and his playmates don't quit making those teakettles they won't be anybody left in town on Sunday to go to church.

As I said before, Mr. Ticker, there ain't much news, but there's a powerful lot of talkin' about that race track over near Elkton which they are building. My friend Josh Clayton says that if he is elected States Attorney for Cecil County he's going to clean house right then and there, cause he don't want no hoss racin' further north than Havre de Grace. He says the folks get a lot of consolation from the ride down and back, where if they lost their money at home, they's no consolation lookin' at Moses's original swamp back of Elkton.

I see by the papers that the Farmers are going to have a junket at Newark on the 9th of August. Tell them fellers that I'll be there, not as a tiller of the loam, but as a retired country gentleman, desiring to keep in touch with the issues of the Day. I ain't going to write nothin' about it, however, for my Book of Journalism says to lay off writin' once in a while because you might go stale and your writin' likewise.

Sally Ann sends her respects and says to see if Looney Handloff has any of them fancy bathin' suits size—well that don't matter. Just get a good sized suit. I'll get her in it somehow. Just between me and you, ain't these women the limit?

Hopin' your the same, I am Yours with respect, JOE SPIVUS.

RISING SUN LOSES

Darlington, lowly member of the league during the first half, trounced the haughty Rising Sun club, always prominent contenders, Saturday, when they shoved two runs across in their last bats of the game, to nose out the Sun boys, 6-5. Both Kolfeth and Cullen pitched high grade articles of ball. Score by innings:

Darlington 1 0 3 0 0 0 0 0 2-6 8 1

Elk Mills and Aberdeen each won their games by the same score Saturday, 5-2. Bel Air who has dropped all the way to the cellar from first place at the end of the first half, again tasted bitter defeat, while Perryville could not fathom Allen's delivery when runs were needed. Big crowds attended both games. The scores:

J. HENRY FULTON DIES SUDDENLY

Was Well Known Newspaper Man of Newark; Acute Stomach Attack Caused Death

Local people were shocked to hear of the death near Pittsburgh, Pa., on Saturday last of J. Henry Fulton, aged about 26 years, for years connected with newspapers in and around Wilmington. He was employed by a Philadelphia company in their Nanty Glo, Pa., office, and was talking to the main office over the phone when he was suddenly stricken. Hasty remedies were applied but he died in an hour. Death was caused by acute stomach trouble, an ailment from which he suffered for some years.

Mr. Fulton, or "Scoop" as he was better known here, was employed by the Newark Post for about a year immediately preceding his removal to Pittsburgh. He was known by many townspeople, and was instrumental in starting the Newark baseball team last season. Before coming to Newark, Mr. Fulton was a reporter on Every Evening in Wilmington. He was also employed at various times by the duPont Company, the Rockwell Loading Company and other firms in the vicinity of Wilmington. He is survived by his mother, residing in Wilmington.

The deceased was greatly interested in sports, and knew practically all the sporting celebrities in Delaware. He was a good ball player and managed Newark's team for a time during last year's season.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from the home of his mother, 1400 West Sixth Street, Wilmington, and was attended by many relatives and friends. Floral offerings were sent from newspaper men and sporting men in abundance.

NEWARK VISITOR TELLS OF HIS MARVELOUS DISCOVERIES IN SOUTH AMERICAN TOMBS

Joseph E. Duffy, Contractor, on Business Trip Here, Relates Finding of Collection of Trinkets Older than King Tut

PROMINENT SCIENTIST CANNOT TELL AGE OF DISCOVERIES

The story of a plain, hardworking American citizen, on a business trip to a large plant in northern Chile, South America, uncovering ancient bones and relics for which scores of scientists from all over the world have searched for in vain for years, how this self-same American dug out the relics of an ancient age with the aid of a few natives and transported them to the States without pomp and ceremony, and finally the story of how it all happened, would make interesting reading for anyone, wouldn't it? This American is Joseph E. Duffy, of Paulsboro, N. J., a ledburner by trade and now a contractor with several men working for him in this and other countries. Mr. Duffy spent a few days last week at the plant of the Continental Fibre Co., here on business, and through his friend Bert Everson, the Post was enabled to get the story from the lips of the man himself.

Marvelous Collection

Mr. Duffy's collection of articles taken from age-old tombs in Chile, now repose in his Paulsboro home, and it is a mecca for archaeologists from all parts of the country. He has absolutely refused many offers to exhibit them in State and National museums, and on many occasions has likewise refused splendid offers from universities and colleges.

A total of five thousand separate pieces were brought home from South America, and they are valued at from $300,000 to $400,000. This plain American accomplished a feat which has been the goal for millionaires and scientists for the past century. And still he is just Joseph E. Duffy, lead burning contractor.

WONDERFUL TREASURES IN DUFFY COLLECTION

Among the 5000 separate pieces of ancient handwork unearthed from the 4000-year-old tombs of an unnamed race of South Americans, and brought to this country by Mr. Duffy are the following:

A magnificent string of turquoise beads, the largest the size of a silver dollar, and strung on their original woolen cord. Valued at thousands of dollars.

A copper axe, said to be the only piece of pure unalloyed copper beaten into a tool of practical use in existence today.

A cradle covered with a beautifully woven spread, which rivals in beauty the finest tapestries made today and which is in a perfect state of preservation.

Ears of corn, the kernels perfect, and the ear hard and well preserved.

Plates and implements of a wood not known ever to have existed in ancient history. The wood when immersed in water, sinks immediately.

Bells made of pure gold and wood, ranging in size from two inches in diameter to fourteen inches in diameter.

How It All Happened

Mr. Duffy about a year ago went to Northern Chile on a commission for the E. I. duPont de Nemours Co., at their nitrate plant there. Always a lover of antiques and marvelling at the strange bleak country and the stranger natives, he was wont to walk out into the arid waste of Chilean country sides while off duty at the plant.

It was while on one of these wandering excursions that he came upon a band of natives digging out a right of way for a road. While he watched them carelessly, one dark skinned workman uncovered a few ashy-white bones. They immediately became nervous, but on the assurance of their white foreman that it was only an old corpse left on the surface and covered up by the shifty sand currents, they went on.

But the curiosity of Mr. Duffy was aroused. With a true adventurer's instinct, he waited until the next day, and with two or three natives (a white man never works with his hands in Chile), he started digging just off the roadway. He did uncover a few bones but nothing more. His labors ended when the natives drove up against what looked to be a buried wall. There the adventure stopped, and Duffy went back to his hotel and to bed.

The next morning, he lay thinking about the futile work done the previous afternoon, and suddenly a desire to investigate that wall absorbed his attention. He sprang out of the hotel, grabbed a couple of natives, and before breakfast was attacking the wall. The first sturdy blow of a pick went right on through. Elated, he drove the men to further efforts, and before long a hole two feet square was opened. Duffy reached in and pulled out a poncho, showing unmistakable signs of age.

Scores of Tombs

For several weeks, whenever he had a minute off, Duffy was down there at the tombs, carefully helping the natives unearth the traces of the oldest human beings so far known in the world.

The wall first attacked, it was afterward found, was the first of a series of twenty or more tombs, the burying ground of a tribe of men who lived thousands of centuries before Christ. The tombs had been over turned and rent by some terrible earthquake, and were somewhat unevenly placed. The fine flour-like soil combined with the several layers of some thick material covering them, rendered the tombs practically air tight. They were uncovered from three to ten feet below the surface of the earth.

For days and weeks, the unending stream of priceless relics found their way into Duffy's possession, were taken to a hastily erected storehouse, washed and packed for shipment to the States. Then with his precious belongings he made his triumphal trip back home to South Jersey.

Attracts World-Wide Notice

These discoveries, made but a few months ago, and made unheralded, have not been exploited in the press of the country as were the discoveries made at the tomb of King Tutankhamen in the Valley of Kings. Each day, however, the scientific work is showing more interest in the Duffy collection and in a few months it is believed the Sunday supplements will devote page after page to the accomplishment. Mr. Duffy has already granted interviews to and allowed pictures to be taken by the Associated Press, The Philadelphia North American, the New York Times and the Ledger, is not averse to talking about his discoveries, but is not desirous of having his premises run over by the public and run the risk of having his treasures broken and lost.

Professor Saville, of Columbia, the foremost American authority on ancient races and peoples came to see Mr. Duffy the other day and after hearing his story and looking over his collection stated that he could not place the age in which these men lived. If the bones and relics were found in Europe or Egypt, said the professor, he would place them in the period of 3500 to 4000 B. C. Having been found in South America, however, led him to believe they were much older.

If Professor Saville's deductions are correct, this collection has come from the tombs of the oldest inhabitants of the world so far known.

Were Intelligent Men

From every viewpoint, said Mr. Duffy, the men whose bones he found were expert craftsmen and intelligent people. They wove cloth from the wool of the llama, the only animal to inhabit the country at that time; they made exquisite pottery, baked from clay, which was liberally sprinkled with pure gold; they had needles of wood and bone, beautifully carved implements, some of which carving cannot be duplicated by any craftsman living today. Precious stones were found in abundance and best of all, perfect skeletons of the ancient people were unearthed.

It appeared that everything a man owned in those days was buried with him. The tombs were filled with everything from needles to perfectly shaped cobs of corn and weavings. It has been proved by these discoveries that the dry, barren wastes of northern Chile were once verdant beautiful plains in a high state of cultivation.

One of the twenty-six inch vases, perfect in proportion and bearing some sort of symbols, was broken on the voyage home. Mr. Duffy informed us that he had made a contract with Bert Everson to restore that vase. Bert will start as soon as the pieces arrive, and it is safe to say that the vase will be restored whether it takes two months or two years.

Mr. Duffy is going right along with his contracting work, leaving his family in charge of the collection. While rightfully proud of his accomplishment, one which a whole boatload of University of Pennsylvania scientists missed in their elaborate excursion to South American waters two years ago, he is not boastful of his find. He related the gripping story in a frank, pleasing manner and looks upon the future of his collection with no sign of apprehension.

Slow Implements

The doctor looked him over, spent some moments in profound cogitation, and then delivered the bad news.

"You must diet."

"Ugh," grunted the patient.

"You must eat less," the doctor explained.

"Aw, doc."

"I tell you, my friend, you are digging your grave with your knife and fork."

The patient brightened visibly at this.

"Oh, well, with those implements it is going to take me a long time."

HITS AND MISSES

BREEZY and BRIEF

Marked up for Battery "E" by "The Q. M."

There will be a "Big Time in the Old Town" Friday night.

The folk in this neck of the woods are going to see just how Uncle Sammie goes about protecting the land of the free from enemy aircraft.

There will be an actual demonstration of the work of our regiment.

We will fire our machine guns and the Gun Battalion will fire the big guns.

Of course the searchlight will have to be among those present.

And the Band.

You know the band is practically composed of men from the old 59th Pioneer Band who won 1st place in the 2nd Army and 2nd place in the whole A. E. F.

When the big guns go into action we will have to hold Capt. Davis.

He's an old artillery man and they say he would rather fire a big gun than walk down Chapel street.

We are going to mount Bill Crow and Burton Reynolds on machine guns.

They are the only two in the Battery that know the correct way of handling them.

Jack Keeley thought he knew until he was set back of one in the reading room the other night.

Ask Jack what he was doing all dirty last Monday night.

And what attraction does the Armory have for Sgt. Jim and Bill?

We hear that Inky, Jinx, Dick and Brick are having a good time Smalleys.

"No."

And then Dewey swallowed pond.

Brick has a very nice case of burn.

The mosquitoes are very good at it.

We had a few unexpected visits last week.

It was Pay-day.

The boys had a hard time cashing their checks.

And then it was too much trouble to carry home—so they left it in the cellar.

The table looked like the "Battle of Gettysburg."

Encore!

Sh-h-h! Don't tell a soul.

Friday night either before or after the demonstration there is going to be a big one.

But on the other hand he has a glove.

Anyway it is my advice not to have any supper.

Attention, Abe Reynolds. He will be no throwing of any olive pickles at any of the Sgts.

That also applies to Geo. Jackson.

Finally, don't forget that Thursday night every man will be assigned just what he will do on Friday night.
