The dance, which is to be held in the Field House, is to be the last of the season's dances sponsored by the SGA. As it has been in past years, the dance is scheduled to provide the finale for the May Day Pageant which is to be held on the Women's Campus that afternoon.

Internat'l Rel. Club Discuss U.N. Prob.

Delegates to Collegiate U.N. Report on Assembly

At an open meeting of the International Relations Club last Thursday night the University's three delegates to the Model U. N. presented their experiences while in Chicago. The students attending the Intercollegiate Assembly of the United Nations held last month at the University of Chicago were from fifty-seven colleges and universities from coast to coast and represented the various members of the U. N.

The three delegates from the University of Delaware, Dolores Tondat, Lou Cox, and Eugene Fleisher, representing the country of Saudi Arabia, reported that they gained an insight into the problems of the U. N. by actually working within a facsimile of its structure and by actually taking part in discussions of current topics on the agenda at Lake Success. They believe that the U. N. has accomplished a great deal more than most people realize.

All the students were divided into regular committees of the U. N. Dolores Tondat reports that her committee recommended that the Negro question in this country be referred to the U. N. for solution through its Bill of Human Rights.

In the committee discussing the veto power of the Big Five, Eugene Fleisher reports that a discussion to eliminate the veto met with a deadlock, but that it finally concluded to limit the use of the power. They resolved that a revisional conference be called as soon as possible giving the U. N. power to enforce and interpret world law.

Lou Cox reports that from the problems of U. N. trusteeship and partition which confronted his committee as they discussed Palestine, the solution adopted was U. N. trusteeship for Palestine.

The gathering had the opportunity to hear such speakers as Richard Winslow, secretary-general of the United States mission to the U. N.; Dr. Julius Katz-Suchy, professor of Political Science at the University of Chicago; Claude Pepper, United States Senator from Florida; and many others.

Tea will be served at 3:30 p. m., before Professor Bohr's talk. In charge of the tea will be Miss Edith McDougale, who will be assisted by members of the Mathematics Club. After the talk dinner will be served at Old College to the members of Pi Mu Epsilon and the visiting mathematicians.

Two Brooklynites Win Top Positions In Review Elections for the Coming Year

Florence Reynolds May Queen for '48

Tondat to Be Maid Of Honor; Wise, Sr. Duchess

Florence Reynolds, a dramatics major, has been named May Queen for 1948 as a result of an election by the women students at the University of Delaware. A "country-fair" theme will characterize the activities of the May Court, which this year is scheduled for May 15 on the University campus.

Miss Reynolds' Maid of Honor will be Dolores Tondat, of Hartford, Conn., Senior Duchess will be Eileen Wise, of Ithaca, N. Y. Her attendants will be Elizabeth Trainer, Alden, Pa., and Eleanor Grier, Perryman, Md.

Other members of the court are: Junior Duchess, Joanne Marshall, Lewes; attendants, E. Jane Gordon, Drexel Hill, Pa., and Carol Black, Wilmington; Sophomore Duchess, Ruth Rosen, Chester; attendants, Mary Elizabeth Pettit, Newark, and Rosalie Schafer, Wilmington; Freshman Duchess, Jane Hoch, Wilmington; attendants, Diane Kipp, Wilmington, and Jane Scott, Selbyville.

Miss Reynolds, a senior, is the daughter of Mrs. John W. Reynolds of Roselle. This marks the third year she has been a member of the May Court. Her extra-curricular activities include membership in the E52 Players, the University Chorus, and the Student Government Association, in which she held office in her sophomore year. She had the lead in the production "The Philadelphia Story" and a major part in "Years Ago."

Miss Tondat, a senior, has been a member of the May Court for three years. She is the daughter of Mrs. Julius Tondat of Hartford. At present, she is president of the International Relations Club at the University. She has represented Delaware at a conference at Vassar College, the New York Herald Tribune Forum, and recently returned from the University of Chicago, where she attended a model United Nations meeting.

E52 to Offer New Play May 20 and 21

The E52 Players have selected for their fortieth major production and last play of the school year DIPPER OVER GIMBELS, a new play by Helen Sloan Stetson, author of "Turpentine Boy" and winner of the 1945 University of Texas Playwriting Contest with "Bethy of Cheapside". DIPPER OVER GIMBELS will receive its east coast premiere May 20 and 21 in Mitchell Hall. Since the play is being considered for both Broadway and Hollywood production, Miss Stetson will attend rehearsals in order to make final revisions. This will be the first time that the Players have had the opportunity to work on a new play in collaboration with the playwright.

The cast was carefully chosen so that DIPPER OVER GIMBELS would have the best possible interpretation and acting. Margaret Guenveur and Howard Hitchens will portray the beautiful and wealthy kleptomaniac Ariel and the philosophic young store electrician Kevin respectively. In the supporting roles are Carolyn Bullis, Marilyn Greenberg, Ann Tarburton, Bill Whedbee, Joe McVey, Jack Smith and Bruce Ayars.

Liarakos, Krinsky Zeisberg Winners

Two University of Delaware chemical engineering seniors—who are Wilmington neighbors and Purple Heart veterans—have been designated to receive the Fred W. Zeisberg Memorial Awards for 1948. It was announced Tuesday, April 13, by the Philadelphia-Wilmington Section of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. The section supports the awards as a memorial to Mr. Zeisberg, a former president of the institute.

The Delaware students received the awards in competition with chemical engineers at five other colleges. They are: Louis T. Liarakos, of 2808 Jefferson Street, winner of the first prize, Herman Y. Krinsky, 2710 Jefferson Street, second prize winner.

The awards are given for excellence in technical report writing. Liarakos and Krinsky made laboratory reports on unit operations of chemical engineering. Mr. Zeisberg was greatly interested in the writing of reports.

The competition, instituted some years ago, was renewed in 1947

Cinderella To Be Given by Players

Play Primarily For Children of Delaware

For many years the Children's Theatre Committee of the Delaware Dramatic Association has been making plans for providing entertainment for the most underprivileged theatre audience in our state—the children. These plans will at last be realized with the production of CINDERELLA, the first play to be presented primarily for children by the E52 Players.

CINDERELLA will be given the best production possible. The cast is made up of those who have had leading roles in all recent major productions. Margaret Guenveur will play Cinderella, Verda Lane has the role of the fairy godmother, and Robert Niemeyer is the charming young prince. Others in the cast are Peggy Ann Munoz as the cruel stepmother, Jill Meyers and Amanda Abbott as the disagreeable stepsisters, Howard Hitchens as the Chamberlain, and William Whedbee as the Herald. In addition there will be specially designed costumes, scenery, and lighting.

Ann Furth Holds Post of Editor

Arnold Greenhouse Wins Office of Business Mgr.

On Monday, April 12, the REVIEW Staff, under the provisions of the SGA constitution, elected Ann T. Furth Editor-in-Chief to serve for the approaching year. Ann, an economics junior, has been on the REVIEW Staff since she first came to the University of Delaware campus as a freshman, writing a by-line column "Through the Smoke" at that time. Managing editor prior to her election, she has also held the offices of Managing Editor, News Editor, and Feature Editor. Ann is a graduate of Hunter College High School, Manhattan, where she was a member of the yearbook staff and the senior production writing committee, and true to her Brooklyn upbringing, is a rabid Dodger fan. In addition to her work on the REVIEW, she is a worker on the Social Committee of the SGA.

Ann can claim the distinction of being only the second woman in the history of the REVIEW to hold the editorial reins.

Also ascending in the upper mastedhead is Arnold Greenhouse, taking the place of Sol Balk as Business Manager. Another native of Brooklyn, Greenhouse attended New Utrecht High School before coming to Delaware, and is a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi Fraternity.

Other editorial changes made as a result of the recent elections include the appointment of James Goldey, former co-news and feature editor as Managing Editor, and Jim Reagan, who will continue to blow off steam in The Geyser, as Associate Managing Editor. William Wright and Lois Weber have succeeded to the positions of News and Feature Editors; Jean Murdock and Don Reynolds will continue as Sports Editors; and Maria Buettell and Bill Hughes are Headline and Copy Editors. The post of Exchange Editor has been filled by Dan McVey, Bobby Gillam is Head Typist, and Dick Meixell, Photography Editor.

Changes in the business staff are: Edward Engel, Advertising Manager; Mark Goldman, Circulation Manager; George Stutman, National Advertising Manager; and Neysa Gold, Assistant Managing Editor.

Under the REVIEW Constitution, the principal officers of the REVIEW, the Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager, are elected by vote of the editorial and managerial staff heads, subject to the approval of the Faculty members of the University Committee on student publications.

M.M. Miller Speaks At University Hour

A description of the perils involved in climbing Mount Saint Elias, the highest ice mountain in the North America, was presented by Maynard M. Miller, former president of the Harvard Mountaineering Club, at a University Hour at the University of Delaware April 15, 1948.

Speaking before several hundred students and guests, Mr. Miller said the expedition was the first to scale the mountain from the treacherous Icy Bay region of Alaska. Extensive testing of army equipment was carried on at various levels while scaling the peak, he said. A color motion picture of the expedition was shown during the lecture.

A Statement of Policy

With this issue a new staff has undertaken the publication of the REVIEW. In this editorial we would like to make known our aims and policy.

The REVIEW shall have a two-fold objective. We shall attempt to give a complete and accurate news coverage of everything that is of interest to the student body. The REVIEW is "The Undergraduate Weekly of the University of Delaware". It is therefore our primary duty to serve the undergraduates and anything that is of importance to any portion of this group will be presented.

Our second objective shall be to arouse student interest in campus activities, and to improve the school spirit and solidarity. We firmly believe that the University has the potentiality of giving to every one of its students a fully rounded college life. The REVIEW shall especially co-operate with the Student Government Association, the representative body of the undergraduates.

In order to encourage more active participation in all phases of campus life, and so that the staff of the REVIEW may know where the interests of the students lie, letters to the Editor and to the Student Body will be given greatest consideration. This is your medium for reaching the ears of the Delaware campus. We hope that you will take advantage of it. All letters must be signed (names will be withheld upon request) and the contents must be supported by facts if we are to print them and maintain our newspaper standards.

During the ensuing year every member of the Editorial Board shall be given the chance to print his opinions in the editorial column. As in the case of Letters to the Editor all statements must be backed by fact. The REVIEW will not be an organ for mere rabble-rousing, but will be an organ for improvement through constructive criticism. All editorials written by a member of the Editorial Board, other than those written by the Editor-in-Chief, shall be initialed.

The University is not an isolated community, and consequently everyone here is affected by the swiftly moving events of today's world. Because of this, we shall from time to time present in addition to campus news, news of national and international importance which the REVIEW staff believes is of interest to the student body.

The REVIEW is not a political tool and every attempt shall be made to keep it from becoming one. In matters of campus politics we shall endeavor to impartially submit for your judgment the arguments of all factions. In such matters the REVIEW will not take a stand, unless the actions of an organization, or of any members of an organization, necessitate that such a stand be taken.

The REVIEW staff is at the disposal of every member of the University. We can only print the news you give us, so please co-operate with the REVIEW in order that we may live up to the standards we have set. Without your co-operation we cannot—with your support and co-operation the REVIEW shall be able to serve you as you wish it to serve you.

Weather Angle

By WILLIAM M. BERGMAN, 3rd
April 22 to May 2, 1948

April 22 to 26 will be fair and warm. April 27 to 28 will probably be showery. April 29 and 30 will be clear and warm.

May 1 to 3 will be clear and warm. May, 1948, will be generally warm and dry; temperatures will be above normal and precipitation will be below normal. The monthly mean temperature will be about 65.0° and precipitation will total about 1.80 inches to 2.25 inches. The coolest day will be the 10th or 13th with a low temperature of 44°. The highest temperature of about 92° to 95° will occur on the 27th or 31st. May 7 and 8 will probably have temperatures 90° or higher.

THE GEYSER

By JIM REAGAN

People have been asking us every once in a while where we get our topics; everybody seems to know where our information comes from—they've heard it already. This week we're wondering ourselves; if it wasn't for the Theta Chi formal we'd be in sad shape—or maybe that's the reason we are in sad shape. Now we know why they use that train sound for Bromo-Seltzer; if it were a little louder it would sound just the Bromo bubbling! We feel like running over "Song For Mondays". But we'll wait till we can read the words.

The Country Club was really the scene of some mad doings, with the Theta Chi's in charge. Ray McCarthy did quite well considering the crutches. Dick Joyeusez and Doris Bell, Jim Riley and Collie McKelvey, Buck Thompson and Joan Marshall, Nine Stalloni and Barbara Potter, and the rest of the team were there. Having Beta Eta Chapter furnish the music was a novel trick; but we got our kicks watching Bill Owen play tag with Louise Dougherty around Jack Coulter. Everybody had a share in the surprises though—Peg Brosius found more than flowers in that box from Betty's—remind us to send a note of thanks to Ann Furth—I am not mad.

Due to financial difficulties and the fact that nobody asked us, we were unable to make the Sophomore Hop, but our usually reliable source tells us that the music was fine—the only thing was he was abankerin' fer was a little wax on the floor. We do know that Roy Manlove took it easy on Mary Virginia Hurley's pocketbook by not going out for intermission, but some of the boys must have missed the purity of his intentions. We believe you weren't trying to save your own cash, though, Roy—and to anybody looking for the more sensational stuff on purity and intentions, read the New York Daily News—we've just found out this is a family rag.

Our second sight is coming back and so is SONG FOR MONDAYS—
Wild red wine in a scarlet stream
Black and White and Highland Cream
Singing music, laughing girls
Star-eyed pairs, in dancing whirls
Weekend parties, happy laughter
Nights before and—
Mornings after. . . .

And don't say you thought we wrote that—what a set of files! (Tiger's Roar, 25 July '44).

Well, you don't have to dance to get in on the fun—not when

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Friend:

No doubt you have heard of me and my great work in the cause of Temperance. For several years I have been traveling about the country appearing on the lecture platform. Perhaps you are familiar with some of my better known talks, such as, Down with the Drink Evil—Rum and Rebellion—There is No Booze in Christianity.

For the past three years I have had as my constant companion a true and faithful friend, one Herman Fortescue, who used to sit with me on the platform as I pointed him out to the audience as a horrible example of the ravages of drink.

Herman originally had a splendid background and was a man of fine character, education, and family connections. During the years when he should have been giving thought to the moulding of character, he developed an insatiable appetite for rum, whiskey and other strong drinks. How much better he would have been if he had turned to the church!

There were times when Herman's condition was pitiful. He was a brilliant man who became a wreck of his former self. He would sit with me on the platform shaking like an aspen leaf, drooling at the mouth, and staring blankly at the audience through bloodshot eyes.

Unfortunately, during the past month, dear Herman passed away. A mutual friend has given me your name, and I wonder if help could come from you; I wonder if you would consent to accompany me on the rest of my "Spring and Summer Tour," to take poor Herman's place. A prompt reply is requested. Oh, Brother, Save your Soul!

Yours expectantly,
P. W. HALLOCK, DD, PhD.

PhD's to Be Given For 1st Time at Del.

The first earned doctors' degrees granted by the University of Delaware in its history will be conferred along with a record number of graduate degrees at Commencement exercises in June.

Dr. Carl J. Rees, chairman of the Division of Graduate Study, said that there are four prospective winners of doctorates who now are completing their work for Ph.D. degrees at the university. All are in chemical engineering.

In addition, there are 37 possible candidates for masters' degrees in June, to make a total of 41 advanced degrees which may be awarded at that time. The most ever presented at the University of Delaware at any one time were the 22 conferred at last September's convocation exercises.

The September 1948, graduate degree list includes the names of 25 possible recipients of masters' degrees and three more potential winners of Ph.D. degrees, to bring the total for the year to 69 persons who may receive an advanced degree. The 1947 total of 33 is the record to date.

Dr. Rees said that 14 of the masters' degrees which may be awarded in June would go to candidates studying in the School of Arts and Science, in such subjects as mathematics, history, biology, physics and chemistry. Eighteen are in the School of Engineering, including three in chemical engineering, four in electrical engineering, and one in mechanical engineering. The School of Education lists five candidates for Masters' degrees, and these principally are Delaware school teachers.

NOTICE!

The Military Ball of the ROTC of the University of Delaware, which was being sponsored by the recently-formed Scabbard and Blade, military honor society, has been called off because of lack of time to complete necessary arrangements. The formal affair would have been held this Saturday.

CAMPUSODES

By BILL WRIGHT

The other day we were accosted quite suddenly by a young fellow. His motive, apparently, was a quest for knowledge. In particular, the knowledge of just what "constitutes the material acceptable by a campus newspaper." Not a bit startled or at a loss for a reply, we confidently told him that we didn't know.

There the incident ended, but the question persisted. To clarify the issue in our mind, we took it up ourselves to poll a limited segment of the student population. Upon cataloguing our results we found that there are at least three distinct schools of thought. To wit:

1 A campus paper is meant to chronicle events. Its purpose is to ferret out the facts, arrange them neatly, and print 'em. If a lecture is given on the Sex Life of the Porcupine, report it. List the time and place, the lecturer, and the number of noses and sets of eyebrows present. But, for the luvvymike, don't divulge the position of the latter. Be as faithful to the reader in this detailed chronology as the telephone company is in the directory.

2 Entertain us. We're bored and we want to be amused. Write funny features. Along with that, a little malicious gossip wouldn't hurt. Drag out the skeletons and dust them off. We want to leer appreciatively. If all else fails, clip a dollar bill to each issue. At least—we'd like to see the symbol of our sect displayed.

The third school attracted our attention; that is, more so than the other two.

3 No paper should be so organized that it is entirely representative of a small group, namely the staff. It should endeavor to mirror the thoughts and actions of its readers, to act as a medium through which ideas flow, not as a spring from which the thoughts of a few gurgle forth.

What ideas of what readers? If the U. of D. is a crystal tower set high above and apart from the world at large, then these ideas will necessarily revolve within narrow limits; namely from Old College to Warner Hall. In that event, this isolation from the universe will be strengthened, the tiny radius of our circle, confirmed.

However, if the students are not cloistered members of an isolated group, but rather, part of the world, then there are no material limits to their ideas. In that case their paper must remove any bounds set on its intended scope. Not only campus, but world affairs have to be contained.

Facts and entertainment are certainly part of a paper but opinion is the soul. With opinion, student opinion, the paper mirrors the thoughts of its readers; with facts it simply traces their paths.

If a celebrity gives a lecture, the time, place, and gist of the lecture are important, but the reaction of the audience is the vital element. And as such, it should be printed.

In short, the "material acceptable," aside from pure entertainment, includes anything affecting the student and must have the backlog fact supporting the vital opinion.

S P O R T S

Lacrosse Team On Varsity Standing

It's tough to find out anything about the lacrosse epidemic. The three people who are largely responsible spend most of their time insisting that you see either of the other two because all of the credit belongs to them. Bill Murray and Harry Rawstrom in the athletic office blame it on Gordy Bierman, but the kid from Swarthmore will insist that the laurels belong to the wheels. At any rate, their attitude is a good criterion of the quiet and efficient manner that characterized one of the finest pieces of work in that area since the operation of Seaburg's gums.

You have to start with Bierman because he's the guilty party who brought the germ to Newark. "It wasn't much at the start," says Gordy. "I played in school at home and on a few independent teams, and when I came down here I brought my stick and kept my hand in by tossing a ball up against the wall down at the barracks. Pretty soon three or four others were joining and in a month or so I had over forty fellows interested, some with experience and many who had never seen the game played." Bierman, of course, won't admit that there was quite a sales campaign on his part involved in the deal.

The response apparently gave him a lot of courage, and he tramped in to Murray's offices with his forty-three names and a nice speech tucked away in his noggin. Gordy had seen Murray's picture in the football program, and Murray had seen Gordy running around with the funny-looking stick, but they got acquainted rather fast. The speech went over fine; Murray had within ten minutes the permission of Dean Daugherty to form a lacrosse club, and authorized a liberal expenditure for "certain Physical Education equipment" that amounted to enough sticks, balls, and gloves to start the team. In addition, the soccer uniforms and shoes were made available. "You could have knocked me over with a lacrosse stick," says Bierman.

Things were strictly on an informal basis the first year, which is putting it mildly. Bierman will never forget the first game the Hens played on Frazer Field. "We were a pretty poor excuse for a team, and we got trounced. The soccer shoes were a little rough, and we finally got helmets from the Sun Oil team in Chester. When the game was over, we couldn't pay the officials, so we passed the hat among the players and collected about half of the usual fee. The ref was a nice guy—just one of the many nice guys that made this whole thing possible." Incidentally, a very fine uncle of Gordy's found out about the hat deal and within 24 hours he had a check for officials fees for the rest of the season.

As usual, there's more to it than you can squeeze out of Bierman. He'll admit that his play in the games was pretty poor last year, but few people know that on the days of home games he'd cut his morning classes and begin lining the field at 10 a. m., with the lime roller and finish the job just in time to change clothes and take the field as center, coach, and "please pass the ball."

Murray, like everyone else, was rather amazed at the way things turned out, and when the season was over, the Taciturn Tarheel sent Bierman a summons. The result of this parley saw the athletic department sponsoring the sport this year on a full varsity basis and Murray promising complete financial coverage and the services of a faculty advisor.

The "faculty adviser" deal turned out to be much more than the expected chaperone for away trips. Bierman knew that he had hit the jackpot when Harry Rawstrom got the job. Rawstrom, the former All-American swimmer from Springfield, had already made his mark among the Hen swimmers, and everyone on the northern side of Main Street was already associating the blue suit, suspenders, and disappearing hair with the nicer qualities you could hope for in a coach. A coach he became; the "adviser" tag didn't stick long.

"I'll admit," says Rawstrom, "I was a little apprehensive about the deal when I took over. I'd seen

Hens Whip Lehigh Nine, 13 to 1

With Bill Roy turning in a masterful six-hitter, the University of Delaware blasted its way to a 13 to 1 victory over Lehigh on the latter's diamond in a game played last Friday.

The Leopards broke the ice in the first inning when they made their lone tally off Roy. The Hens, in the meantime were held scoreless until the first half of the sixth inning, when they scored two runs. The Newark boys sewed the game up in the seventh inning when they poured six runs across the plate. The big blow in this inning was Larry "Elmer Valo" O'Toole, who blasted a grand slam home run and clinched the contest for the Blue Hens. Delaware added three more runs in the eighth and two in the ninth for a total of 13.

The hitting heroes of the day were O'Toole, Runcie, and Albie Thorpe, as the Hens hammered out sixteen hits. This victory evens up their record with three victories and three defeats, and was the first league contest of the current season.

Varsity Club Gets Organization Set

On Tuesday night, April 20th, the Varsity Club held its first meeting, which was devoted to discussion of eligibility requirements for this new organization. Approximately 20 members showed up for the initial meeting, and they went over the list of letter winners, trying to decide just who was eligible. The rules of the organization indicate that you must be a junior or senior letter winner to be eligible. Several of the members are preparing invitations, which will be sent out to these men inviting them to attend the next meeting to be held on April 29th, at 7:30, at the Carpenter Field House.

The members were given copies of the constitution which included the purpose, objectives, and other matters which will be used by this club. A faculty advisor will be elected for each year along with the different officers of the organization. Elections for these positions will be held next week, and members are free to nominate anyone in the club for these different posts.

Lacrosse II Bows To Wash. College

In the first Lacrosse game of the season, the Blue Hens lost to Washington College by nine points; the final score being 12-3 in favor of the Washington crew. The two men scoring for Delaware were Cap Bierman (2 points), and Bob Kelleher (1 point).

the game played before and of course I studied it in college, but the proposition of taking over the team that was to compete against All-Americans in the first year left me a little uncertain." However, Rawstrom has had his nose in every book written on the game, and as far as the rules, tactics, plays, and methods are concerned, the genial Jerseyite won't be fooled. And the thing that really sold the troops was Rawstrom's appearance on the field in sweat togs, with a lacrosse stick and the decision to get his head in the road, if that meant learning.

"Gordy has been a big help, of course," says Rawstrom, "especially in a situation that could have been a little ticklish." "Rawstrom already knows more about the game than I do," says Bierman, "besides making the thing official, we've gotten ourselves a good coach." Murray: "Aren't those two something?"

The climax is tomorrow, Friday, April 23, marks the first inter-collegiate lacrosse game to be played in Delaware. These three can't be wrong, there must be something to it. Friday—3 p. m., Frazer Field.

Track Team Opens With Lehigh Today

Spring sports are beginning to go full blast. The track team, under the able leadership of Coach Ken Steers, will have tried to draw their first blood from Lehigh University, April 21, by the time that this paper is printed. Along with baseball and lacrosse, the track squad should draw considerable following from the student body.

From last year's team, the Delaware track mentor hopes to have the record-breaking dash man, Marlon Davidson, who is now trying to overcome a back injury, and another record-smasher, Nine Stalloni, the big man who tosses the javelin. There is a wealth of sprinters, including "Speedy Frank" Lanza, Bill Gordon, Hank Paris, and Gerald "Doc" Dougherty. Other men who are showing up quite well in practice are: Jim Riley on the hurdles, Hank Cofer and Chuck Masten, high jump; and Bob Roberts, Baudy Grier, and Walt Bartoshevsky in the precarious pole vault.

There are, of course, many other events, some of which surely would interest anyone who might come out to a track meet, such as the long-distance races, broad jump, shot put, and discus. There also is a relay event in every meet, where four men each must run in a good race in order for the quartet to win. If a good quarter-mile relay team is developed, Coach Steers hopes to take it to the Penn Relays on the 23rd and 24th of this month, along with any other outstanding track and field athletes.

Something new, also, has been added to the track team—a freshman team, which will compete against the freshman teams of other colleges, while the Blue Hen Harriers engage the varsity team of the same school. Such a team will enable the younger track aspirants to have more experience before competing along with the varsity, and also will give the coaches a better idea as to what the future varsity hopes are. It seems almost certain that this team will add considerable more excitement, talent, and competitive spirit to every track meet, because of the good interest shown in this team already. It is hard to mention the names of the outstanding freshman contenders, so let us wait until they run against Lehigh before we hand out any individual praise. However, watch the Delaware Freshmen roll in the hurdles, mile, and two mile.

A good crowd is hoped for at every meet, and if you come out to the meets, you will be sure to see some form of track and field competition which will prove very exciting, action-packed, and interesting.

Tennis Team Opens Busy Season Sched.

The varsity tennis team opened its season last Wednesday at Swarthmore College and will take to the road again Saturday when they are scheduled to meet Washington College at Chestertown.

The team has been holding practice on a private court since before spring vacation. It is expected that four of the six university clay courts, which are being put into first class condition, will be ready for use by the end of this week.

The Delaware netmen who will represent the school in the first two matches are Capt. Bob Kirkland, Bud Haines, Bob Dunlap, John Houseplan, Dick Ryan, and Dick Edwards, all returning letter men.

SPORT SHOTS

By DON REYNOLDS

This is our first chance to give a hand to Coach Shack Martin and his Delaware baseball team, who turned in such a fine performance during their Southern baseball trip. The Hens won two out of five games against the southern opponents even though they hadn't had more than a half-dozen good days here at Newark when they could practice, while their southern rivals had played several ball games and were in much better shape. Every one of their opponents was on winning streaks when they met the Hens, but the Hens put up a very good showing, winning two and losing three. The pitching and hitting looked very good, with Bill Roy doing a fine job of relief pitching, while Barney Runcie and Tommy Silk were the big guns in the Delaware hitting attack.

With a three-three record under their belts, the Hens have gotten off to a good start, and could cause a lot of trouble in the Middle Atlantic League.

Some of the Hen football players are still showing the effects of their encounter with Villanova's big Wildcats. The most noticeable of these, of course, is Long Island's claim to fame, Ray McCarthy, who ran into a pack of husky linemen, and ended up with a broken foot. Bill Otten suffered a broken arm in this practice session, and may still have some trouble with some chips in that throwing arm of his. We hope that this injury is not too serious, and that "Beel" will be in there tossing passes next fall for the Blue Hens.

The results of the scrimmage seem to be very gratifying, for the Hen's new formation was responsible for some big gains although the passers were handicapped by a strong wind. Hank Paris, who will probably be the first string left halfback, made several nice runs, and can very well be one of the big cogs in the 1948 football wheel.

The Freshmen, and most of the other gridironers who are not out for other sports, are still practicing. The frosh went up to West Chester last Saturday to scrimmage the Teachers College, and will meet the same team here this Saturday. Coach Murray is giving these frosh a good chance to show just what they can do, and they have been showing a lot so far. Those freshman backs aren't too big, but they can really run. We'll probably see a lot of them next fall.

We understand that there is a petition going around to change the name of the Field House to Carpenter Field House. Of course it is already being referred to as that, but nothing official has been done about it. I don't think anyone could disagree with that idea; after all, look who financed the thing.

After seeing Co-Captain Zeke Carrell in that new Ford of his, I suppose everybody will want to be a football captain. After all, Zeke has to keep up with his roommate, ex-captain Jack Messick. They'll probably start a captain's automobile club here at Delaware. I suggest that all managers be given new cars instead of letters. (Just so more boys will come out for the managers of the different sports, of course). Bob Seiman, please note.

B. Murray Stages Eagles Victorious Intra-Squad Scraps In National League

Coach Bill Murray sent three of his football elevens through their paces in an intra-squad scrimmage on Fraser Field, last Saturday. The teams, composed mostly of freshmen and sub-varsity men, displayed a commendable brand of football throughout the afternoon. For many it was their first opportunity to demonstrate their talent. Tony Salerno, Denny Smith, Ray Wright, and Stan Bilski were among the outstanding offensive stars of the scrimmage; while Archie Rapposelli, Rocco Carzo, Dave Thorp, Emil Milner, and Don Boorse performed brilliantly on the defense. Coach Murray can expect much help from these boys and several other lower classmen when next fall's campaign rolls around.

Saturday's session saw the Whites defeat the Blues five touchdowns to none. Bilski snared two of Smith's passes in the end zone to lead the winners' scoring parade. Smith personally accounted for one on a well-timed quarterback sneak which went for eight yards and the score. Salerno, the workhorse of the day, drove over for his TD from the three. Ned King swapped shirts in time to push across the final tally. The Blues managed to produce one sustained drive but this was halted on the Whites' twenty when Carzo dropped on a fumbled ball.

one time was undecided as to what stand it should take on one of the problems, the group set out to find help from someone in authority. Arabians studying at the University of Chicago were very helpful, providing all the information the group needed. They also conducted the Delawareans around Chicago and invited them to dinner at the only Arabian restaurant in Chicago.

"The main impression made by the Arabians was the fact that they are very similar to the average American," Miss Tondat reported. "After this contact we believed that there is really no basic reason why people of all nationalities could not cooperate and make this a better world."

In addition to the reports, the members of the International Relations Club were shown a film pertaining to the U. N., "The People's Charter." Dr. Oppenheim was welcomed as the club's new advisor.

Students Remain More in State Now

Fewer Delawareans Seek Education Out of State

The proportion of Delaware young people who remain in the state for their college studies has almost doubled since before the war, Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the University of Delaware, told about 100 members of Wilmington Chapter of the university's Alumnae Association at their annual dinner meeting in the Hotel Du Pont on April 1, 1948.

Before 1941, Dr. Carlson said, 65 per cent of college-age Delawareans went outside the state for their higher education. Today, he added, with the undergraduate enrollment at the University of Delaware approximately 2,100, there are nearly two-thirds of the state's college-age young people attending Newark classes. This ratio, he said, corresponds with the average for other states throughout the country.

In addition to the 2,100 undergraduate, Dr. Carlson said, there are some 300 full-time graduate students working for master's or doctor's degrees; about 1,000 persons are taking academic extension courses and last year, about 1,500 were enrolled in the Summer Session.

For the future, the president commented, it will be impossible to keep the enrollment down if the university performs the duty which the public expects of it as a state institution. "We must continue accepting students who are qualified to do college work," he said.

Dr. Carlson discussed physical needs of the university and said that at present the most pressing requirement is a student center, which is the goal of the current development fund of the Alumni and Alumnae Associations.

Dr. W. Owen Sypher, former president of the university, who is general chairman of the 1948 Development Fund, told of plans for furtherance of the student center project.

Jim Goldey Speaks To U. Math. Club

On Thursday, April 22, from 6:45 to 8 p.m. the Mathematics Club will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Warner Hall Lounge. James M. Goldey, '50, will speak on some interesting problems of Greek geometry and will also present several mathematical paradoxes.

Suggestions for nominations of officers for the 1948-49 year may be turned in at the meeting. The nominating committee will then present a list of nominees at the May meeting and the election will be held at that time.

Any student interested in mathematics is cordially invited to attend the meeting. Membership in the club is not restricted to math majors but is open to all students on campus regardless of his curriculum.

Short and Loudis At Music Meeting

Two faculty members in the music department of the University of Delaware are attending the Music Educators' National Conference, which is being held this week in Detroit, Mich. They are Anthony J. Loudis, chairman of the department, and Miss Bernita Short, Assistant Professor of Music Education.

Miss Short attended a conference workshop on Saturday, April 17, one day prior to the official opening of the biennial conference, to which music educators, supervisors, teachers and directors from all over the United States and from several nearby foreign countries were invited.

Miss Short represents the State of Delaware on two national committees, one on creative music activities, and the other on "Student Activities and Membership." Mr. Loudis holds membership on the national committee for operas in the schools.

The conference will continue through Thursday, April 22.

All entries must be in the hands of the photographic salon committee, Office of Public Relations, Purnell Hall, University of Delaware by 6 p.m., May 12. Additional information is available from that committee.

A. I. Ch. E. Banquet Last Tues. Night

The annual banquet of the Delaware Student Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers was held at Old College on Tuesday night. Speaker at the banquet was a former president of the A. I. Ch. E., Dr. C. M. Stine of the Du Pont Company. His address about post graduate work in chemical engineering was delivered to an audience of 70 students, faculty members, and men from industry in the vicinity. On the program committee for the banquet were Cyril Kaemmerle and Warren Snow.

The present officers of the Delaware Student Chapter of the A. I. Ch. E. are: President—Herman Krinsky, Vice-President—Louis Liarakos, and Treasurer—Robert Simon. Dr. O. P. Bergelin is faculty advisor for the chapter.

Squire Predicts British Supremacy

Dean Francis H. Squire, speaking at the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club in Wilmington, predicted that Great Britain can be expected to regain its topflight position as a world power if economic recovery is achieved.

Discussing "Great Britain's Position as a World Power", Dean Squire told Lions club members that the British "ought to pull through" their economic difficulties. He however added that recovery would be a slow process involving greater sacrifices on the part of the Britons.

Describing the program of Sir Stafford Cripps, involving greater austerity and more controls, reduced imports and enlarged exports, the dean commented that outside assistance (presumably American) will be necessary even if the Cripps' program is successful.

In addition, Dean Squire, who is also a professor of English history, outlined the policies of and the opposition to the Labor Gov't of Prime Minister Atlee.

after a war-caused lapse of two years. Students at Princeton University won the awards then, and Arnold P. Schueler and William H. Piper of Delaware receiving honorable mention.

This year, six colleges entered the competition. In addition to Delaware, they were: Princeton, Bucknell, Villanova, Lafayette, and Drexel. Liarakos will receive technical books, of his selection and appropriately marked, valued at $20; and Krinsky will receive books valued at $10. Honorable mention went to Charles J. Welsh of Princeton.

Liarakos, son of Mrs. Bessie Liarakos of the same address, is a former Army technician, fourth grade, who received the Purple Heart and Combat Infantryman's Badge during his nearly three years' service. He is a graduate of P. S. du Pont High School in 1941, and at Delaware has participated in three years of junior varsity basketball; A. I. Ch. E., of which he is vice-president of the student chapter; Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity; the Brown Hall dormitory council, and in the intramural sports program.

Krinsky, son of Rabbi and Mrs. Simon R. Krinsky, is president of the A. I. Ch. E. chapter, is a member of Tau Beta Pi, and has played in the band. Like Liarakos, he is a P. S. du Pont High School graduate (1942), and served three years in the Infantry, winning the Purple Heart.

Dr. C. R. Kase A USCCITI Director

Dr. C. Robert Kase, director of dramatics at the University of Delaware, has been appointed a director of the United States Centre Committee for the International Theatre Institute. A former president of the American Educational Theatre Association, he represents that organization on the 22-member centre committee.

The International Theatre Institute, organized last summer at Paris under the auspices of UNESCO, has delegated each member nation to set up its own centre, and the committee on which Dr. Kase will serve is the U. S. Agency. The centre committee is an autonomous unit of the American National Theatre and Academy (ANTA), of which Dr. Kase is a director.

The centre committee is the agency through which the information and services of the International Theatre Institute will be made available in this country. Its co-chairmen are Clarence Derwent, president of Actors' Equity, and Moss Hart, president of the Dramatists' Guild.

Aside from Dr. Kase, the only representative of University theatres on the committee is Samuel Selden, of the University of North Carolina, who represents the National Theatre Conference. The other members include Vera Allen, American Theatre Wing; Richard Aldrich, producer, of Theatre, Inc.; Kermit Bloomgarden, producer, of the League of New York Theatres; John Mason Brown, of the Critic's Circle; Richard Maney, theatrical publicist; and George Freedley, critic, who was a delegate at the Paris conference which set up the International Theatre Institute.

Delaware Students Win Bronze Stars

The Department of the Army has announced the award of a Bronze Star to five University of Delaware students for "exemplary conduct in ground combat against an armed enemy." The students and their ROTC rank are:

Cadet Lt. Colonel ROBERT H. PAPPY, Jr.—Arts and Science.

Cadet Lieutenant LOUIS H. COXE, IV—Arts and Science.

Cadet Lieutenant WILLIAM BERL, III—Mech. Engineer.

Cadet Lieutenant DAVID C. HELMS, Jr.—Arts and Science.

Cadet Lieutenant LEON B. STAYTON—Arts and Science.

Cadet Tech. Sgt. JOHN T. GALLAGHER—Arts and Science.

These students are now completing University Courses, as indicated, having dropped their studies to defend the nation when their services were needed. They have since entered the ROTC and all of them are now in the Advanced Corps. Pappy has been designated a "Distinguished Military Student" by the University authorities in conjunction with the Military Department. All of them are planning to attend summer camp this summer at Fort Bragg, N. C., at the conclusion of which Bob Pappy will be commissioned in the Army of the U. S.

The Military Ball of the ROTC of the University of Delaware which was being sponsored by the recently formed Scabbard and Blade Military honor society, has been called off for this year due to extreme lack of time for completing necessary arrangements. It was planned as a colorful formal affair but plans were not initiated early enough to carry them out as desired. Planning will definitely be started next year to put over a real Military Ball.

Information has been received that the final annual inspection of the ROTC Unit will take place on May 17th and 18th. This inspection will be made by a group of officers from Headquarters, First Army, and the rating of the unit will be determined as a result of this inspection. It is hoped that the unit can retain its blue star. (Signifying an excellent unit) for another year.

If the veterans who plan to take the Advanced ROTC course next year will get in touch with the Military Department soon, it would be greatly appreciated.

Law Club Adopts Its Constitution

Approximately twenty-five pre-law students attended the Law Club meeting last Thursday. A constitution was adopted unanimously and will be presented to the charter committee. The next meeting will be at Old College Lounge on April 30th, at 7:30 in the evening. All members are asked to be present at this meeting, as a guest speaker will be invited.

Some progress was made also on a dinner to be held in Wilmington about the middle of May. More details will be given at the next meeting as to the time, place and date of the affair. Dr. Monroe, the sponsor, is going to procure a renowned legal advisor for this affair.

Alpha Sigma Delta

Alpha Sigma Delta Organized Locally

Will Culminate Social Program With Formal

On January 12, 1948, a group of twelve men organized the ALPHA SIGMA DELTA FRATERNITY, Local. The members of this embryonic organization had one common desire, that of fraternal fellowship, and realized that it could be achieved by starting a new local, which would at the same time alleviate the condition of an inadequate number of fraternities on Delaware's campus. At the first meeting it was decided that one of the prime objectives of the group would be to become affiliated with a national organization that would bring credit to the campus and to the other fraternities already in existence here. This procedure can take from several months to many years; in the meantime, however, the Alpha Sigma Deltas will continue moulding themselves into a strong organization, enjoying at the same time most of the benefits of a national.

Since this first meeting, the group has grown to 29 men and will initiate a pledge system similar to those in practice on the campus today. Having already had several social functions, including a house party, the fraternity will finish its social calendar with a formal dance this spring.

The owner of a big furniture store went to New York to buy some stock and he met a really beautiful girl in the hotel elevator. But she was French and they couldn't understand a word of each other's language.

So he took out a pencil and notebook and drew a sketch of a taxi. She nodded her head and laughed and they went for a ride in the park.

Then he drew a picture of a table in a restaurant with a question mark and she nodded, so they went to dinner.

After dinner he sketched two dancers and she was delighted. They went to a night club and danced and had a lovely evening.

At length she asked for the pencil and drew a picture of a four-poster bed.

Modern Sculpture Exhibit In Gallery

Excellent examples of modern sculpture are now on view in the art gallery. Mrs. Simone Boas' eleven sculptures demonstrate the full volume, attractive design patterns, and above all the originality and understanding so typical of good modern sculpture. Her wood sculptures are especially warm and appealing, while her portraits show character and sympathy. Mrs. Boas' use of her medium, whether it be bronze, wood, cast stone or marble, varies according to the medium in order to bring out the character of the material as well as of the subject matter.

FOR ARROW "YOUNG AMERICA'S FAVORITE" SHIRTS

Introducing

Joseph E. Skura, truly a Wilmington lad, was born and raised there. He says he loves the city and means it, too. Joe is a graduate of Wilmington High School where he was a member of the Student Council and active in the high school stage productions. After graduation, Joe went to work for the Atlas Powder Company, where he remained until the outbreak of the war. He then joined the Army Air Corps and went off to basic training. After basic they made him a draftsman in the Air Corps and it was in this capacity that he was sent overseas. First he landed in North Africa, second in Italy, and then finally he hit Corsica.

The University of Delaware welcomed Joe in 1945 when he enrolled as an engineer. Since then, however, Joe has transferred to the Arts and Sciences School with an Economics Major. He is now a junior and has been active on our campus. He is a member of the Theta Chi Fraternity and represents this organization in the Interfraternity Council. Joe has been a member of the basketball team and played soccer two years since coming to Delaware. Joe is a great fisherman from the word go, and this may be the great attraction which pulls him toward Rehoboth in the summer. He claims that sailing runs a close second to the fishing.

William E. Otten, though originally from Michigan, claims Pennsylvania as his home state. It was in Springfield, Pennsylvania, that Bill went to grammar school and high school. In high school he was very active in athletics. Upon graduation he joined in the Navy Air Corps V-5 Training Unit and was stationed at the University of Pennsylvania. Finally, in 1946, Bill received his discharge from the armed services and immediately came to the University of Delaware.

Bill is one of our better known campus personalities. This is not at all unusual when his list of activities is viewed. In 1946-1947 he served as Social Chairman in our Student Government in addition to serving as vice-president of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity. For the past two years Bill has been a member of the varsity football and track teams. At the present time, he is busy trying to reorganize the Blue Hen Club so that we might soon have another college yearbook.

Since his home is now in Stone Harbor, New Jersey, it is only natural to assume that Bill is an ardent fisherman. He says that he likes the Jersey Shore best of all in the spring and fall. In the fall Bill turns in his fishing pole for a gun and tramps all over South Jersey in search of wild game. Often he is seen with his full quota of wild ducks thrown over his shoulder when he returns after a day of hunting.

Ben W. Melvin Jr. was born in Nashville, Tennessee. Ben has been quite a traveller during his life, having lived in every section of the United States in addition to spending six years in Buenos Aires, Argentina, South America. Upon graduation from Staunton Military Academy, he joined the Army Air Corps. He spent eighteen months in flight training from which he was discharged in 1945.

After attending the University of Richmond, Ben decided to come to the University of Delaware. Finally in September of 1947 he registered as a junior chemical engineer. After eight months at the University of Delaware Ben says that it is really "swell" here and everyone is so friendly.

Ben spends his summer working for the Du Pont Company in Seaford which is his home at present. On his time off he is often seen heading for the seashore with a fishing pole in hand. It's rumored that he is good at this popular sport—must be fisherman's luck! Although he likes fishing and hunting, his favorite pastime is an afternoon of golf and evening of bridge. Whenever you need a fourth just call Ben, he'll be more than willing to play.

Dr. Jeanette Graustein was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts. She graduated from Mount Holly Oak with her B.A. degree, and in 1927 received her Ph.D. in Biology from Radcliff. She came to Delaware in 1930 to teach in the Biology Department.

Even in her spare time, Dr. Graustein likes to work with nature. She is an interested mountain climber whenever the opportunity to do so presents itself. Much of her spare time is also taken up with flower and bird study.

Like most people, Dr. Graustein has a pet peeve. So all you students of Biology take note; Dr. Graustein dislikes imperfection. Things that aren't done almost to perfection annoy her. Therefore, before you turn in a drawing only half-done remember to think twice about it if you expect a good grade.
