

SAFETY TO BE STRESSED BY FARMERS

Special Week Set Aside To Curb Hazards

Thousands of farm accidents in the nation each year could be prevented by a positive safety program. To call attention to these accidents and their causes in an effort to reduce them, National Farm Safety Week will be observed July 25-31.

The goal for the 1948 observance, in Delaware as in other states, is the elimination of numerous farm hazards. The National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture are asking each farm family to accept responsibility for eliminating at least one hazard for each member of the family.

A state-wide survey of farm and home accidents, being conducted in Delaware for a six-month period, by the Agricultural Extension Service and the Delaware Safety Council, shows that during April and May there were a total of 208 accidents reported, resulting in an estimated four and one-half years time lost from work.

The leading accident cause was falls, with 69 injuries recorded—falls from steps, stepladders, over objects and on slippery floors. Other major causes of farm accidents were machinery—19 injuries; tools—16 injuries; animals—9 injuries; and burns—4 injuries. On the highway, in cars and school buses, 28 accidents were reported.

These figures show that concentrated effort is needed to cut down the toll of needless farm deaths and injuries and to make life safer, happier and more prosperous.

PEPPY SALAD

To pep up a macaroni or potato salad add a little prepared mustard to the mayonnaise, blending well. Finely sliced or grated onion is also a flavor help for both these salads; or use a generous amount of onion powder and mix with the dressing.

UNIVERSITY PLANS NEW DORM SETUP

Full-Time House Mothers To Aid Women Students

Completion of a new house-mother plan for the women's dormitories was announced this week at the University of Delaware.

Faculty directors, whose employment was approved by the university's board upon recommendation of the Higher Education for Women, will replace members of the teaching staff who have been used on a part-time basis as heads of houses. Three full-time house mothers will be in charge of the dormitories—Warner, and New Castle halls—while graduate assistants will be employed in the smaller dormitories, and instructors will be available for service. Rooms formerly occupied by women faculty members will be available for 12 more students.

Miss Amy Rextrew, who will be in charge of the new house-mother plan, said: "The house mothers will be available at all times of the night as a parent is in the home and she will know the girls in all intimate ways—their families, their characters, their schedules, their needs as an adviser and friend."

She explained: "The house mothers will also act as hostesses for the hall, will cooperate with the student government through her House Committee, and Women's Affairs Committee. She will be an example of good taste in manners, conduct and social behavior, and she will help these students organize and carry a program of recreation within the dormitory."

Miss Rextrew paid tribute to the women faculty members who have in the past been part-time heads of houses. "They are deeply interested in their students and striving to study or do research, they are continually torn between the two fields of work," she stated. "Teaching and dormitory supervision are both time-consuming, and in addition, emergencies have a way of arising in the dormitories at very inopportune times. Members of the faculty who have served as house mothers deserve commendation and gratitude."

Federal Reserve Reports Drop In Business Loans

Business loans by Federal Reserve member banks in the nation's leading cities declined $13,000,000 during the week ended June 30, the Federal Reserve Board reported recently.

That dropped the outstanding volume of commercial, industrial and agricultural loans to $14,342,000,000.

Real estate loans increased $11,000,000 during the week to a total of $3,822,000,000, while holdings of government securities declined $237,000,000 to a total of $34,632,000,000.

For individual loan items, including business and real estate loans, the FRB changed its reporting system to give figures on a "gross" basis, meaning before deduction of valuation reserves instead of net as hitherto.

Radio Device To Probe Secrets Of Sun

A radio wave telescope, which receives static broadcast from the sun, give the world new clues to the secrets of the solar system.

Martha E. Stahr, assistant professor of astronomy at Cornell University, said the device is being built at Ithaca to aid a research project investigate radio frequency radiation from astronomical sources.

Stahr explained that the sun is actually emitting radio waves in the form of "solar noise" which are often heard on short wave radio sets.

ACP GOALS IMPORTANT

Farmers of Delaware who are cooperating in the Agricultural Conservation Program are urged to follow through on their indicated intentions to carry out conservation practices—and actually complete the practices.

C. E. Ocheltree, chairman of the Delaware Production and Marketing Administration Committee, says that every year some farmers fail to complete practices or fail to meet specifications in the practices they go carry out.

Mr. Ocheltree explains that his committee has the responsibility of seeing that funds used to assist farmers in carrying out conservation practices are used to obtain the maximum of soil and water conservation.

Some farmers fail to qualify for assistance because they didn't understand what was required. The committee doesn't want any farmer to carry out practices and they find that assistance cannot be given because the practices fail to meet specifications.

Farmers also are reminded of their responsibility in furnishing acceptable evidence of conservation practices carried out. Measurements, price slips, analysis tags, or whatever is required should be obtained at the time the material is purchased or the practice carried out. A little attention to these matters now, said the committee chairman, will save time and money later on, and only in this way can the nation be assured of maximum conservation.

DOLLAR GOES CHIEFLY FOR FOOD COSTS

Cars, Filing Stations Also Get Big Part

A report by the U. S. Commerce Department shows that the major portion of the consumers' dollars is going to food stores, with automobile firms and filling stations steadily increasing their share.

These three, together with restaurants, bars and other eating and drinking places are taking more than half of each retail dollar.

Food stores, according to the report are going far better than before the war by taking in 27.6 cents of each dollar spent in retail channels. In 1940 their share was 23.5 cents.

While auto dealers and filling stations aren't up to their pre-war share (21.2 cents) yet, together they're taking 15.0 cents of it and they've been moving up ever since war's end.

So far this year, their respective shares have been 11.1 and 4.8 cents, a Commerce Department compilation shows.

The eating and drinking places rank next to food stores in enlarging their pre-war share of the retail dollar. They get 10.1 cents of it now against 8.4 cents in 1940. But they've lost ground from mid-war 1944, when their share was 13.5 cents.

Liquor sellers are doing the same now as in 1940—getting 1.4 cents of the retail dollar, but that's a comedown, too, from the 2.1 cents they took in during 1944.

Men's clothing stores, having caught up with the immediate needs of the millions of returning veterans, now get 1.8 cents of the retail dollar, or just slightly less than their 1.9 cents share in 1940.

Women's clothing and accessories stores get a bigger share now than they did pre-war—3.2 cents against an even 3 cents in 1940, but they've slipped a lot from 4.6 cents in war-time 1944.

Shoe stores now take in 1.2 cents of each retail dollar against 1.4 cents in 1940, while general merchandise stores, including the mail order houses, get 12.5 cents against 14.8 cents pre-war.

Others getting major outlets of the retail dollar include home furnishings, home appliance and radio stores, now getting 5.5 cents against 4.4 cents pre-war; building-materials and hardware places, now 7.6 cents against 6.7 cents pre-war; and drug stores, 2.9 against 3.5 cents.

Retail sales account for perhaps two-thirds of all consumer spending, analysts estimate. They don't include rent money, or what is spent on amusements, doctor's bills, lawyer's fees and so on.

Crude Oil Output Registers Decline

Crude oil output declined in the week ending July 3 after establishing new record highs for seven weeks running, the American Petroleum Institute reported recently.

Daily average crude oil production in the latest period decreased 10,100 barrels to 5,483,800, which compared with 5,064,200 a year ago.

Reports from refineries totaling 90.1 per cent of the estimated daily potential refining capacity indicated the industry as a whole operated at 97.5 per cent of capacity and ran to stills 5,701,000 barrels of crude oil daily. Daily average for the previous week was 5,674,000 barrels and indicated operations at 97.2 per cent of capacity. A year ago the total was 5,134,000 barrels daily.

JACK WILL BE AROUND TO SEE YOU SOON WAIT!

SGA WORK INCREASE

With the record 1,100 enrollment this year at the University of Delaware Summer Session, the presidency of the University's Student Government Association—formerly an eight-month job—is now a year-around proposition for the current S. G. A. head, Burt K. Williams, of Elsmere.

One of the duties of the S. G. A. is to keep a finger on the pulse of student wants and to act in the interest of the students. If students voice any problems in organizing sports activities, for instance; or if commuter parking lots seem over-crowded, the students look for action from their governing body. These are summer problems which are on the docket of the students' representative.

According to Williams, the year-around job is made easier by the high degree of cooperation received from Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the university, and his administrative assistants. "The students have been helped satisfactorily in every instance where they had a legitimate need," commented Williams.

Attending summer school himself in order to have a lighter schedule next year, Williams expects to be able in this way to spend more time on S. G. A. business during the fall and winter.

Paralleling the extra-extra-curricular business this summer is the organization of activities for next year. The freshman handbook has to be edited and published. Freshman Week activities must be planned, and the annual get-together dance is to be ready for the first week of school.

Dr. Pigford To Lecture In Texas

Dr. Robert L. Pigford, chairman of the Department of Chemical Engineering at the University of Delaware, will conduct a 10-day course in the Humble Lectures in Science this month at Baytown, Tex., for the Humble Oil & Refining Co., a Standard Oil affiliate.

Dr. Pigford will lecture on "Mathematics for Chemical Engineers and Chemists" from July 19 to 30 for the company's technical staff as an integral part of its work schedule. His lectures constitute one unit in a series of approximately five lectures each year, in which general courses are presented at the graduate level in various fields related to the petroleum industry and specific lectures are given on advanced topics of highly specialized content.

The Pigford lectures will follow closely a graduate course which he teaches at the University of Delaware, on "Chemical Engineering Problems." The information also will be closely related to a textbook, published last year by the university and written by Dr. Pigford and W. R. Marshall, Jr., of the University of Wisconsin, on "The Application of Differential Equations to Chemical Engineering Problems."

Mrs. Irving Hoffman

The marriage of Miss Constance Eleanor Silverman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Silverman, of Washington, D. C., and Mr. Irving Hoffman, of Newark, son of Mrs. Louis Hoffman and the late Mr. Hoffman took place on Sunday afternoon, July 4, at 4 o'clock in the B'nai Israel Congregation with Rabbi Silverstone and Seigel performing the ceremony.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a gown of candlelight satin made on classic lines, with long pointed sleeves trimmed with French lace and a square neckline trimmed with a ruffle of French lace. Her crown was embroidered with seed pearls and she wore a long veil of French tulle in rosepoint lace. She carried a spray of white gardenias with a white orchid center.

Mrs. Isaac Shuster, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor and her gown was of a deep rose tulle with a square neckline and carried Johanna Hill roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Ruth Kimblatt, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Jeanne Goldstein, of Wilmington, and Miss Ann Troutman, of Washington, D. C.

Miss Kimblatt wore a pastel blue gown of mousseline de soie, Mrs. Goldstein wore a gown of aqua taffeta and Miss Troutman wore a gown of pink mousseline de soie. They wore floral headpieces and carried bouquets of garden flowers.

Marcia Sue Silverman, of Washington, D. C., and niece of the bride, was flower girl and Bernard Irwin Silverman, of Chicago, Ill., nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mr. Robert Hoffman, of Newark, was best man for his brother.

The ushers were Mr. Maurice B. Silverman, Washington, D. C., Mr. Morris Goldstein, of Wilmington, and Mr. Milton Stone, of Washington, D. C.

A reception was held in the vestry room at the Synagogue.

Following a wedding trip to Montreal and a cruise on the St. Lawrence and having stopped at Chateau Frontenac, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman will make their home in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Hoffman received his degree in engineering from the University of Delaware and Lehigh University and is now associated with the Navy Department in Washington, D. C.

Civilization would take a great stride forward, we feel, if arrangements could be made to have stools at soda and lunch fountains moved a little farther apart. The current trend, and a disastrous one it may prove to be, seems to be toward sneaking them closer together with each passing year. We are not a large person, but we find it difficult to manipulate a sandwich under present day lunch counter conditions without being drawn into a vicious, undercover elbow duel with our neighbors on either side.

The other day, for instance, we spent a particularly grueling lunch hour. Hardly had we slipped onto a stool at a crowded fountain (never mind where) than we received a powerful blow in the ribs from our left. This was administered by a large woman with a kindly face but elbows like battering rams. She was wearing a shoulder strap pocketbook, and, every so often, the strap slipped down her arm. Absently, she would flip out her elbow to hold back the harness, thus subjecting us to a steady pummeling.

To protect myself, we squeezed to the right as far as our stool would permit and held our left elbow close over the vulnerable part of our ribs. This, however, only served to bring forth a stinging attack from our right.

Here, we found a thin man with a piece of pie and a cup of coffee. He was, we saw at a glance, a well-disciplined pie eater, but his coffee stirring was open to criticism. He was a flamboyant stirrer. Between every third bite, he reached quickly for his spoon and churned his cup into a miniature whirlpool. At the same time, his elbow, a long, sharp-pointed instrument, was unheated and free to get in its deadly work.

Our only course was to sit at rigid attention in the exact middle of our stool, with our elbows tucked in on both sides as armor plating.

In this position, we realized instantly, we would have to order our lunch with caution and foresight. We ruled out a tomato and lettuce sandwich, for instance, because these are usually unstable affairs and require all the hands one possesses, plus plenty of maneuvering area, to hold them together. For similar reasons we rejected a toasted tuna fish. Too frequently, these disintegrate in the hands and require one to lean far over his plate at each bite, whilst watching constantly for "squirts." This, of course, would leave us undefended on both flanks.

A plain peanut butter on white seemed the only solution. This is non-oily and non-squirt and can be manipulated easily with one hand. Along with a glass of milk for quick gulps to lubricate the mouth, it would be just the thing to see us through.

Our decision made, it was but the work of a moment to pull out the small flare gun, which we use to summon busy counter girls. This is our own invention and is far superior to our former method of raising a shirt on a broomstick and waving it feverishly.

While we waited for our order, we surveyed our position. Both the thin man and the large woman were still subjecting us to a spirited attack, but we were well bulwarked and all signs pointed to our pulling through the thing with flying colors.

In all master plans, though, there is always the danger of the unforeseen. This case was no exception. Just as our sandwich arrived, the large woman rose to go. It was unfortunate that she chose our side to back out between the stools. As she was about to squeeze through to freedom, her pocketbook strap slipped again and, since she was standing, settled neatly over our head. She didn't notice, and we too startled to raise a shout of alarm. In a trice, she popped out of the stools and lurched away, dragging us after her as prettily as a larfated maverick.

Just before we blacked out, we managed a strangled cry of panic. When we came too we were being helped to our feet by the manager, and the woman was standing by, apologizing hysterically. In the background, we could hear a chorus of snickers.

By the time we were in shape to go back to our sandwich, our place had been taken, and fresh recruits were lined up three deep in every position. We would have been turned out, battered and starving, to walk the noonday pavements were it not for the fact that, just as we were leaving, the manager, a kindly man, who realized he had a store on his hands which he could no longer control, pressed a vitamin bar in our hand and wished us God's speed.

Not all managers are of this high caliber, however, and there is no telling how many pointless tragedies of this sort take place daily at lunch counters throughout the country. We do not speak only for ourselves when say a few more inches between counter stools are essential to national well-being. Possibly, a ban on shoulder strap pocketbooks might also be advisable.

UNDEFEATED RED MEN SCALP INDIANS, 7-5, TO CONTINUE AT TOP IN SOFTBALL LOOP HERE

Game Drops Indians To Third In Standings; Newark A. C. Continues To Push League Leader With Win Over Braves Here On Monday Nite

The Red Men added to their victory string this week and tightened their grip on the lead in the community softball league when they downed the Indians, 7-5, in a game last Thursday night. The defeat jolted the Indians out of a second place tie with the Newark A. C. and dropped them to a precarious third.

Monday night, the Newark A. C. continued to push the Red men for first by bouncing the Braves, 8-2.

The Red Men now have seven wins against no defeats, while the hard-fighting Aces have suffered only one setback in 8 games.

COADY TO BE SCHOOL GRID COACH

Signs As Head Of Athletics At Georgetown High

Joe Coady, for four years a backfield star on the University of Delaware's football team, has signed a contract as athletic director at Georgetown High School, beginning in September.

Coady will coach Georgetown "Golden Knights" football team—undefeated in 1947—and also will be the coach of the basketball, baseball and track teams. He succeeds George Keene, who has resigned to enter business.

Coady, now winding up his collegiate studies in the U. of D. Summer School, will receive his BS degree in September. A native of Minersville, Pa., he starred in athletics there before entering Delaware in 1941. After winning letters on Delaware's undefeated teams of 1941 and 1942, his college career was interrupted by 43 months' service in the AAF as a lieutenant, during which time he saw duty in the Pacific Theater.

Upon his return to the University of Delaware in 1946, he played on the undefeated team of that season, and last fall was first-string fullback. A triple-threat man, Coady was noted particularly for his punting ability, and was rated among the best in small college ranks.

In addition to his football record, Coady also won letters in gymnastics and wrestling, and participated in track.

He and his wife, the former Miss Jane Hasenauer, will live in Georgetown beginning this fall. They now are residents of Newark.

Pig Pullman Cars May Be On Way

They're planning to give a smoother ride on the railroads. But that is just one small part of a project aimed at protecting all kinds of freight from jars and jolts.

Swaying and bumping can scatter loads. Continued vibration can bruise soft fruit and vegetables. Cattle can break legs on rough trips.

So the Association of American Railroads and car manufacturers have joined in a research program to prevent damage to cargoes.

They will make road tests of various kinds of trucks (carriages made up of a frame, wheels and springs) and snubbers (devices that check motion).

Talented Local Youths Are Sought For Dodgers Training School In Md.

Joe Bowen, publicity agent for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was in town on Tuesday to invite local talent to attend the Dodger's baseball school at Cambridge, Md., from July 19 to 21.

"We are not looking for big league material only," he said. "Any youth between 16 and 22 who feels he has something to show us can get in the school."

Candidates may attend for one, two or all three days. They are expected to pay their own costs, but, if they are ever signed to a Dodger contract, all their expenses will be refunded. Entrants also are advised to bring their own uniform, glove and shoes. Sleeping quarters will be available at a nominal fee.

The school, which will be held from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. during the three-day period, will be under the direction of Rex Bowen, full-time Dodger baseball and football scout. Candidates may enter merely by applying at the school.

Last week's report that the Red Men's record for the season was 7 to 0 was incorrect, according to Harry Rawstrom, league director.

Thursday's victory over the Indians, which brought the Red Men up to seven wins, came rather easily. Although outbitt by the Braves, 9-8, they stepped off to a 5-1 advantage in the second inning. The Braves threatened in the sixth when they broke loose for four runs, but the Red Men maintained their lead by notching single counters in the sixth and seventh.

Atkins and Donovan were the mainstays at the plate for the Red Men, both turning in two safeties. Jones, of the Indians, topped both teams with three safe blows.

Federal Funds Still Due Delaware For Highways

The final installment to Delaware of funds made available by the federal government under the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1944 will amount to $28,053, it was announced recently in Washington.

Federal Works Administrator Philip B. Fleming said that $6,250,000 remained from the $25,000,000 fund set up for a three-year program to make improvements on the primary and secondary system.

This will be apportioned among the 48 states.

NEWARK TO PLAY AT NORTH EAST SUNDAY; SHUT-OUT 6-0 AT ELKTON LAST WEEK-END

Marylanders Take Match On Only Six Hits To Hand Newark One Of Worst Setbacks Of Season; Secure Revenge For Disputed Newark Win

Shut-out, 6-0, at Elkton on Sunday, Newark continued on the skids in the Susquehanna League this week. The defeat was the second in a row for the local club, and one of the soundest trouncings it has absorbed all season.

Next week, the Continental Field will be deserted again as Newark moves into Maryland for a contest with North East.

Elkton put on the pressure in the opening stanza last Sunday getting two runs to lead throughout the fracas. The Cecil Countymen exploded for another three in the fifth and finished their afternoon scoring with a single tally in the sixth.

Newark remained in the doldrums throughout the afternoon. At last local boys managed to connect for hits, with Gregg accounting for two. The others were provided by Jones and D. Cataldi.

Elkton mustered his total on only six hits, a hit per run. Spotty fielding and loose play by their guests helped them along. Dolan went six innings on the mound for Newark and was tagged for all six hits. He was relieved by Kennedy who held the opposition scoreless in the last two frames.

Cleveland Avenue Indians and the Southside Indians lead the Junior and Senior Leagues respectively in the hardball competition sponsored by the Newark Recreation Association.

The standings were listed this week by Harry Rawstrom, director, as follows:

Junior League	W.	L.	Pct.
Cleveland Avenue Juniors	5	1	.833
Southside Indians, A	5	2	.715
Warriors, B	3	3	.500
Southside Indians, B	0	3	.000

Senior League	W.	L.	Pct.
Southside Indians	4	1	.800
Cleveland Avenue Seniors	3	2	.600
Warriors, A	3	2	.600

Shortage And Price Rise In Home Appliances Seen

A forthcoming shortage of household appliances—and probably higher prices—is the consensus of manufacturers attending the International Home Furnishings Market.

Industry spokesmen said military preparedness measures and European Recovery Program should make themselves felt in a domestic shortage of materials by fall. They also expect a boost in steel prices.

Answering questions at a roundtable press conference at the merchandise mart, Birch Vermilion, general sales manager, Knapp-Monarch Co., St. Louis, said:

"In our opinion a shortage of some household appliances will show up on the consumer market in the fourth quarter of 1948.

"The steel situation is not good at present. We feel that if we get through this fall it is going to be a tight squeeze."

U. OF D. PLANS FAIR EXHIBIT

Farm Services Will Be Theme

Services to the farms and homes of Delaware will be the theme of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service exhibits at the Kent-Sussex Fair, Harrington, July 27-30.

Extension staff members in charge of arrangements for the exhibits include J. Frank Gordy, county agent leader; M. Gertrude Holloway, state home demonstration leader; Jean Lee, state 4-H club specialist and Jack Lafferty, extension editor.

In the Extension building hundreds of farm and home project entries of the State's 4-H Club members will be on display and in competition for awards. Other exhibits will feature the contributions of home demonstration club work to homemakers. Improved farming practices recommended to Delaware farmers will depict the contributions of county agricultural agent work.

Cooperation of the press and the radio stations of the state in bringing Delaware farms and homes timely farm and homemaking news and information will be featured in still another exhibit. Special events scheduled in the building during Fair Week include daily broadcasts of the Delaware Farm and Home Hour presented by the Extension Service, demonstrations by 4-H Club members competing for state and County awards in dairy production and dairy food preparation contests, and 4-H judging contests.

PUBLIC'S CHOICE OF MEMORIAL DESIGN TO BE SOUGHT DURING HOUSE-TO-HOUSE FUND DRIVE OPENING SOON

Design No. 1

Design No. 2

Design No. 3

Solicitors Will Carry Photos Of Miniatures; Contributions May Be Mailed In Immediately

In conjunction with the fund drive for a war memorial here, the public is being asked to make its choice of design for the monument.

Solicitors in the forthcoming house-to-house canvass will carry photographs of the three proposed designs and each contributor will be requested to select the one he thinks will most fittingly commemorate Newark's war dead.

The three miniatures, worked up by Edward Ratti, local sculptor, are pictured here. Residents need not wait for the drive to make their selection or enter a contribution. The latter, along with a note indicating by number one's choice of design, can be sent to the drive treasurer, Eric Mayer, 92 East Main Street.

Design No. 1 pictures a composite battle scene overshadowed by the outstretched wings of the U. S. Eagle. No. 2 again shows the Eagle, flanked by emblems of various branches of the armed services. Under the Eagle is the inscription, "They Died." No. 3 is perhaps the most austere of the three showing symbolic wreaths and a replica of the eternal flame.

All three are designed to be cut in Indiana Limestone, with the completed monument 20 feet long, seven and a half feet wide at the base and nine feet in height.

No site for the memorial has been chosen as yet. The location most frequently mentioned, though, is the spot now occupied by the town Honor Roll before the Academy Building on Main Street.

Hiring Rules For College Men Hiked By Private Firms

Industry and business are exercising greater selectivity in their hiring of college-trained employees, Col. Donald M. Ashbridge, director of the University of Delaware's Business Guidance and Placement Bureau, reported today.

"Interviewers this year have been seeking higher quality in the graduates they hire, at Delaware and other universities," said Colonel Ashbridge. "At the same time, they have reduced somewhat the numbers of people they can take on. In other words, the 'easy days' of 1946 and 1947 are gone, and this year a senior had to have something to sell besides a diploma."

Despite this trend, Colonel Ashbridge said, he considered the Class of 1948 at the University of Delaware had done "very well" in obtaining positions. The class was the largest ever to graduate from the university.

Colonel Ashbridge predicted that the selective attitude on the part of employers would continue next year.

Gratification in the bureau's clientele was expressed by its director, who declared that it "comprises some of the best business or industrial organizations in the east."

"The fact that their representatives come back year after year," he added, "is proof of their belief that they are satisfied with Delaware's graduates."

Personal appearance of the seniors themselves has much to do with their successful placement. In contrast to the traditional "Sloppy Joe" appearance of students, Delaware's students invariably appear for interviews well-dressed. Coats and ties for the men are a "must" when they are interviewed.

Behind the interviews are many hours of preparation of a complete file on each student, done long in advance by Colonel Ashbridge and an assistant. A retired Army officer, Colonel Ashbridge has directed the bureau since its founding in 1936 except for a five and one-half year period of active duty during the war. He credits the bureau's placement record to cooperation from students, faculty and administration of the university, as well as from the representatives of employers.

Vets May Enlist For Initial Duty In U. S.

Veterans of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard who returned from overseas after September 2, 1945, can now enlist for 3 years of Army duty with units stationed in the United States and be guaranteed continued assignment to the division of their choice was announced today by Captain Walter G. Runte, local Army and Air Force Recruiting Officer for Delaware.

The new change lists eight different divisions from which the veteran may choose including the 9th Infantry Division, Ft. Dix, N. J.; 2d Infantry Division, Ft. Lewis, Wash.; 2d Armored Division, Camp Hood, Tex.; 2d Engineer Special Brigade, Ft. Worden, Wash.; 3rd Armored Division, Ft. Knox, Ky.; 4th Infantry Division, Ft. Ord, Calif.; 5th Infantry Division, Ft. Jackson, S. C.; and the 82nd Airborne Division, Ft. Bragg, N. C., providing they enlist in the Regular Army Unassigned, enlist for 3, 4 or 5 years, are eligible for a grade no higher than sergeant and providing they return from overseas after September 2, 1945.

Captain Runte pointed out that in addition to the above plan there are provisions now in effect to enlist former members of the Armed Forces who were not on foreign duty on September 2, 1945, for direct initial assignment, for a minimum period of one year, to specific units in any of the six Army Areas, including the First Army, in which vacancies exist provided the applicant is physically qualified to enlist under current directives and enlists in the Regular Army Unassigned for 3, 4 or 5 years. Individuals enlisting for a unit in one of the Army Areas will be sent direct from the Examining Station to the appropriate Training Division serving the Army in which the applicant was enlisted for processing and refresher training after which they will be sent to the unit of their choice for assignment.

For further information visit your local Army and Air Force Recruiting Station, located in Room 349, Post Office Building, Wilmington, Delaware, or write to your Recruiting Officer requesting a representative to visit you at your convenience.

No Additional Holiday For Continental Workers

Last week's article on the ending of the strike at the Continental-Diamond Fibre plant was incorrect, according to authorities here.

The workers were not granted Labor Day as an additional holiday, as the item reported. Labor Day was exchanged for Christmas as a paid holiday under the new setup. This means no additional holidays were granted the workers.

Also, the new wage agreement, erroneously reported as going into effect May 5, 1949, actually is now in effect and will continue until that date.

Former Newark Resident Fatally Stricken Saturday

Henry L. Churchman, 86, for many years a Newark resident, suffered an attack at his home in Elmhurst on Saturday night and died without recovering consciousness. Apparently in good health until his sudden death, he had been in charge of the information desk in the Public Building, Wilmington, for the past five years.

Born at the old Churchman homestead on Churchman Road, New Castle County, on Feb. 21, 1862, he was engaged in farming there for many years, dealing mostly in livestock. He later moved from the farm and became associated with the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York as an agent here.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Carrie Harriott Churchman; six daughters, Mrs. Robert L. Armstrong, Mrs. Rebecca Speer, Mrs. Sara Dickson and Mrs. Carolyn Kaufman, all of Wilmington; Mrs. Katherine Longland, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Dorothy Benton, of Battle Creek, Mich.; one sister, Mrs. Wilhelmina Springer, Wilmington, six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon. Interment was in Wilmington and Brandywine Cemetery.

Assessment

even pay for the cost of the town's present police department. Some of the costs of extending the sewer system have been financed in recent years out of the town's general funds rather than by special sewer assessments as permitted under the Sewer Act. As a result, town finances at the end of the 1947 fiscal year provide no funds for a south side sewer system or for any extensive street repairs, improvements or extensions. Cash and bonds on hand at the end of the fiscal year were at least offset by obligations incurred for the extending of the sewage plant, the north side sewer system, improvements in the electric distribution system, and a variety of other items.

"The new assessment board, of which Mr. Wm. B. Swan is chairman, is appointed in accordance with a resolution of the town Council. The board will have several months in which to make a thorough study of town assessment problems. Mr. Swan is eminently qualified for this work. He is a retired Federal Government employee with extensive training and experience in accounting, auditing and law. He has served one term as assessor in Newark during which period he did a great deal to rationalize assessments and to put the town records in better shape. Mr. Wm. S. Hamilton, likewise brings to bear on the assessment problems, his experience as a successful businessman, a long-time resident of Newark, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, and a public-spirited citizen. Mr. F. A. Wheelless was town tax assessor in 1947 and 1948 and was specified in the Council resolution as a member of this board."
