TROPHY COMES TO NEWARK

HIGH SCHOOL CAPTURES SPELLING PRIZES

Much interest prevailed throughout the New Castle county school world last Wednesday in the spelling contest held in connection with the County Teachers' Institute, at the Y. W. C. A. building, Wilmington. The Newark schools captured the honors, their representatives winning the William Winder Laird trophy cup, the first individual prize, and one of the grammar each school making the best record in this test was eligible to compete for the cup, which was in turn won by Miss Myrtle Wakeland of the Newark school. The cup is of sterling silver and bears the following inscription: "The William Winder Laird Trophy Cup presented to the school showing the greatest proficiency in spelling." It will become the permanent property of the school winning it the third time. Following the display of the trophy in the window of the Newark Post, the cup will be returned to have engraved upon it the name of the Newark High School, and the representative, Miss Myrtle Wakeland.

The High School press correspondent in speaking of the result of the contest today said:

"It is the aim of the High School to defend this cup against all comers and we have great prospects of doing so as spelling is taught in the Freshman class as well as in the Commercial Department at the present time.

"It was our good fortune to have Miss Wakeland of the class of '15 with us this year, but in the future we shall depend for the defence of this trophy upon the undergraduate now in the school.

"Not only the class of which Miss Wakeland is now a member but the whole student body joins in offering her congratulations upon her victory."

grade prizes. The local High School was represented by Miss Myrtle Wakeland and Miss Ella Saunders; the grammar school by Alma Dunlevy, John Green, and Beatrice Vansant.

The test to which the pupils were submitted was a written one. One hundred words were written and corrected. The pupil from

Soil Survey Completed

Morrison of the Bureau of Soils and was conducted by the Bureau of Soils in co-operation with the Delaware College Experiment Station. As soon as the report comes from the government printer, a complete analysis of soil conditions throughout the county will be available for reference.

Corn Crop In Delaware

Delaware is widely known for her fruits and vegetables, yet these are not the most important crops of the State. Corn leads in value all crops, with wheat second. The annual corn crop is valued at 4,500,000 dollars; that of wheat at 2,000,000 dollars. The average yield of corn per acre in Delaware is only a little less than that of the leading corn belt states in the Middle West. The average yield per acre of wheat is equal to that of Illinois and Iowa. The average price of grain on the farm in Delaware is, for an average of ten years, ten cents per bushel more than in the Mississippi Valley. The possibilities for profitable grain production in Delaware are as good as in the corn belt states. Last year the largest yield per acre for a ten acre field in Indiana was 110 bushels. One Delaware grower harvested 1126 bushels from a ten acre tract. One acre of this yielded 128 bushels of corn. A yield of 100 bushels per acre has been made by Delaware farmers more than a dozen times during the past five years.

These results have come about largely through the introduction of better methods of culture, improved and selected varieties of seed. It is significant that the largest yields per acre received in this State have been made by men who were active members of the Delaware Corn Growers' Association. The leading corn growers and seed corn producers are members of the Association and annually exhibit at the State Corn Show.

Let every corn grower in the State prepare an exhibit of ten ears of corn and bring it to Seaford for the State Corn Show. You may have something better than is exhibited by anyone else; if not, you will have the opportunity of finding out how to improve your strain of corn. A line addressed to the Secretary of the State Corn Show, Seaford, will bring you a premium list.

Lecture Announced

Charles F. Dole, of Boston, the author of several books on Civics, will address the student body of Delaware College on January 18th. Mr. Dole's subject will be "The United States as a World Power."

Newark Girls Among Goldy Graduates

Graduating exercises of the Goldy Commercial College were held in The Playhouse, Wilmington, last evening. Among the graduates were the Misses Helen G. Slack, Ceilia A. O'Rourke, Marion C. Smith, and E. Naomi Street, all of whom received their early training in the Newark school.

DuPont Explosion Felt Here

The heavy explosion in one of the mills of the Hagley Yard of the duPont Powder Co., which occurred about 8.45 Friday night was felt distinctly in Newark. The windows of the houses were rattled and the explosion distinctly heard. According to current report two mills, numbers 9 and 10, went up. Fortunately the explosion occurred five minutes before changing time. When the mills are charged the employees leave, and consequently no men were in the building or within the danger zone. The mill contained two hundred pounds of powder. An official of the company who arrived at the scene declared that the explosion could not be attributed to any particular cause.

"It is just one of those explosions of the same character as we have been having during the past months," he stated.

Owing to the heavy damp atmosphere last Friday the shock was felt for an unusual distance. The report was heard in Chester, New Castle, West Chester, Kennett Square, and the nearer adjoining towns.

Held Over Mail Delivered

Three former rural mail carriers who recently at the solicitation of the postal authorities, provided the long motor route, have about delivered all the old mail had accumulated for a number of weeks at the local office. The three carriers are only substituting until permanent arrangements can be made.

Social At Welsh Tracht School

A box social under the direction of Miss Boyce, teacher, will be held at Welsh Tracht School Wednesday night, when candy, cake, and fancy articles will be for sale. Proceeds for the school fund.

Big Fire Near Appleton

Buildings of Dean Smith's Farm Destroyed

Fire, supposed to have been caused by a defective flue, was discovered about ten o'clock last Friday night on the farm located near Appleton, Cecil county, Md., owned by E. Laurence Smith, Dean of Delaware College. The dwelling, barn, and a number of outouses on the farm, with their contents were totally destroyed. The farm was tenanted by Charles Blackson, whose loss is a heavy one.

Mr. Blackson and family were away when the fire began. The blaze originated in the house, and was well under way before discovered. A high wind prevailed, carrying the fire directly toward the other buildings. Neighbors arriving upon the scene were unable to do anything beyond save the livestock. Their attention was turned rather, from the hopeless situation, to the saving of buildings on the adjoining Zebley farm, the wind carrying whole shingles for a distance of many yards. The Newark Fire Company played for several hours on the Zebley property. All the buildings were insured, but Mr. Blackson had no insurance on his personal effects. Mr. Blackson's loss is estimated at $6000, and Dean Smith's at $2500. The barn contained 20 tons of hay, 500 bushels of oats, 200 bushels of wheat, 200 bushels corn, and a large quantity of fodder. The principal buildings which were of stone have been standing since before the Civil War.

Medical Examination Completed

Physical Defects Reported To Parents

The teachers of Newark Public Schools have completed the testing of pupils for eye, ear, throat, and nose diseases, in accordance with instructions of the State Board of Education.

A total of 449 pupils were examined including the entire school above the first grade. Of this number 120 or 26.5 per cent were found to have serious trouble with one or more of these organs. A tabulation of the reports shows that one hundred and twenty pupils are affected with impaired sight, seventeen with poor hearing, twenty-six with throat trouble, and four with nose diseases. The two latter diseases cannot always be distinguished.

In all cases of serious defects, cards of warning were sent to parents, advising them to consult a reputable physician or specialist about the trouble suspected. This is purely optional with the parents who are free to follow the advice or not to do so, but it is pleasing to know that in a large number such cases are already being treated by specialists.

It is hoped that the work done will result in a more general interest on the part of parents in the physical welfare of their children.

No pupil suffering from one or more of these defects can hope to make satisfactory progress unless steps are taken to remedy the trouble.

Appointment From Governor Miller

Director Harry Hayward has received a commission from Governor Charles R. Miller to represent the State of Delaware at the National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits to be held at Chicago from November 29 to December 2.

OBITUARY

Ella J. Eastburn
Ella J. Eastburn, aged 34 years, wife of Herbert S. Eastburn, died at her home near Milford Cross Roads early Sunday morning. The deceased had been ill for over a year. Three small children survive. Funeral services were held from the home of her husband on Tuesday, November sixteenth. Interment, Red Clay Creek Cemetery.

Richard Boulden

Richard Boulden, aged 79 years, one of the most highly respected colored men in this community, died at his home in Newark last Saturday. Death was due to heart trouble. The deceased has lived in Newark since he was eleven years of age, when he came to the town to work for Mr. Miller, ticket agent at the P. B. & W. depot. For sixty-one years he was the trusted general utility man around the Pennsylvania Depot, being pensioned by the railroad company about nine years ago. Until recently Boulden was the owner of valuable property on Depot road, a part of which was sold last year to the government to become the site of the new postoffice. The remainder was included in the Delaware College purchases. The bulk of the estate is left to Saldie Bishop, who has acted as Boulden's housekeeper since the death of his wife two years ago.

Funeral services were held from the late residence on Tuesday. Members of the Masonic lodge attended in a body. Interment was made in St. John's Cemetery.

Death of William M. Bell

William M. Bell, a well-known resident of Smyrna, died at his home there last Tuesday night, of general debility, aged 87 years. For many years he was cashier of the Bank of Smyrna, retiring in 1884. He married a sister of the late John H. Hoffecker, who died several years ago. A son, Rowland W. Bell, and two daughters, Mrs. L. Irving Handy, and Miss Laura Bell, survive him. His funeral was held on Friday with interment in Glenwood Cemetery, Smyrna.

TRUSTEES AND COLLEGE MEN CONSIDER "FRAT" QUESTION

The subject of fraternities connected with Delaware College, which has caused more or less controversy during recent years, was discussed at a conference held last night between a special committee of the Board of Trustees and representatives of the different parties concerned. Chancellor Charles M. Curtis is chairman of the special committee of the board which was appointed recently to look into the matter of the "frats" and report back to the board with recommendations. H. Rodney Sharp of Wilmington and Mayor Joseph H. Hossinger, are the other two members of this committee.

The conference last night was held in the office of Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell, president of the college. Charles W. Bush and Hugh M. Morris, had been previously named to represent the Alumni at this conference and Dr. George A. Harter and Professor Charles A. McCue, the faculty. All of them attended the meeting with the exception of Mr. Morris, who was detained in Wilmington. It had also been suggested that the four fraternities get together and name two men to represent them, but this was not understood. The "frats", however, will later name such a committee to meet at times with the joint committee.

Chancellor Curtis, who presided at the conference, explained that under the resolution of the board creating the committee the subject would be considered as follows:

1. Whether fraternities should be abolished entirely.
2. Whether they should be regulated and how in general.
3. Whether they should be permitted to build on or use college property.
4. Whether membership should be restricted to certain college classes of undergraduates.

5. Whether they be permitted to use their houses as dormitories, or refectories by undergraduates.

6. Any other matter pertinent to the adoption of a wise policy respecting them at this period of growth and development of the institution.

As the conference last night was the first one held the committee was especially desirous of hearing all views on the subject and for this reason members of the faculty of the college and graduate and undergraduate members of the "frats" were invited to attend and express their views.

Among the faculty members who were called on and expressed their views were Dean E. Laurence Smith, Dr. George A. Harter, Professor Van G. Smith, Professor Elisha Conover, Professor George A. Koerber, Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, and Professor Harold E. Tiffany, Dr. Mitchell was also present but did not express his views.

The fraternities were represented by the following who expressed their views on the subject: Kappa Alpha, C. D. Pepper, '16, and Norris N. Wright, '10; Sigma Nu, John W. Jones, '16, and William Edgar, '16; Sigma Phi Epsilon, William Martin, '16; and Omega Alpha, J. A. Mather, '16.

Chancellor Curtis stated after the conference that it was held to exchange views so that the subject could be considered in a broad spirit so that what is thought to be the best for Delaware College for the future could be recommended. He explained that other meetings will be held from time to time and that the committee consequently would not be ready to report and make recommendations.

Also salted peanuts.

NEW CENTURY CLUB

Decides To Build A Club House

A very important business meeting, probably the most important one in the history of the Newark New Century Club, was held Monday afternoon. The attendance was an unusually large one, over fifty being present. All minor business was set aside, and the club proceeded at once to its important business. The president, Mrs. Hayward, introduced the vital question of the afternoon, namely, whether or not the club was willing and prepared for the building of a club house. The president invited an expression of opinion from one of the members. She urged the importance of due deliberation before casting a vote on either side. A spirited discussion which was friendly throughout, followed. The expressions were concise and open on both sides. The advantages of a club house as well as the financial difficulties in which the club would involve itself were emphasized with equal strength. From the first, however, it was evident that those in favor of the building would carry the vote. Indeed the question whether or not the club house should be built, soon dwindled in importance before the questions as to what kind of a club house we should have, what its cost should be, the best arrangement.

CLASSES FOR FOREIGNERS IN DELAWARE

NIGHT SCHOOL OPENED IN WILMINGTON LAST MONDAY

Through the action of Superintendent of Schools C. J. Scott, the Public Schools of Wilmington have joined the ranks of over 250 other cities and towns throughout the United States in co-operating with the Bureau of Naturalization of the U. S. Department of Labor in its national movement for the Americanization of the candidates for citizenship and the removal of the hyphenated portion from the title to American citizenship.

The night schools of Wilmington opened November 15. Classes which may be attended by foreigners are held in Schools No. 10, 16, and 8, and instruction given in the common branches.

The Bureau of Naturalization will, from month to month during the current scholastic year, furnish Superintendent Scott with the names and addresses of aliens residing within his jurisdiction who file petitions for naturalization or declarations of intention. This will enable the school authorities to get into touch with such applicants and give them valuable assistance in preparing for citizenship.

Last year there were 610 persons who applied for citizenship in New Castle county. Since July 1, 1910, 1207 aliens of the county have declared their intention and 639 have filed final applications for citizenship.

The necessity for the education of aliens residing in New Castle county is clearly shown by the following figures taken from the latest available statistics:

The foreign-born white population of Wilmington in 1910 was 13,678, or 15.6 per cent of the total population. Of this number 6,754 were males who had attained their majority and only 2,872 were shown to have been naturalized.

In 1910 there were in the city of Wilmington 2191 males of voting age who were classed as illiterate. Of these 1436 were foreign-born whites and only 125 were native whites, the percentage of illiteracy being 21.3 for the former and 0.7 for the latter.

In 1900 there were 1238 residents of the City of Wilmington 10 years of age and over who were unable to speak the English language.

Essay Contest A Feature Of Christmas Campaign

A feature of the "Why Should Christmas Shopping Be Completed Before December Twentieth?" campaign, undertaken by the Consumers' League of Delaware is the prize essay contest on the subject "Why Should Christmas Shopping Be Completed Before December Twentieth?" This method of arousing interest is similar to that which has been tried with great success in Providence, R. I., and is being carried on now in several New Jersey towns. The rules for the contest follow:

For the three best answers to the question, "Why Should Christmas Shopping Be Completed Before December 20?" the Consumers' League offers three cash prizes of $15, $10 and $5 respectively.

The answers, which must not exceed three hundred words each, may be either in prose or verse, need not be typewritten, but must be written on one side only of the paper.

Each must be signed with initials or a fictitious name and each must be accompanied by a sealed envelope having the initials or fictitious name on the outside and the correct name and address of the sender inside.

While the awards will be made primarily on the force of the arguments presented, consideration will also be given to the form of presentation to legibility, spelling, grammar and diction.

The competition, which is open without regard to age, sex or residence, to all except members of the Consumers' League, will close at midnight on Saturday, December 18.

Judges, who will be announced later, will make the awards, and the winners will be announced in the papers on Tuesday, December 21. The money, however, will not be paid to them until December 26, lest perchance it be unwisely spent in late Christmas shopping.

Address all answers to the Consumers' League of Delaware, 306 Ford Building, Wilmington, Del. Some answers will be printed daily in the newspapers.

Continuous Commission Working For Peace

Definite overtures by a group of leading neutral nations to the guage. This number had more than tripled itself up to five years ago, when there were 4,265, or 245 per cent more than in 1900.

Among the approximately 14,000,000 foreign-born residents in the United States in 1910, 1,650,361 foreign-born whites were classed as illiterate. These illiterates are the natural prey of designing and scheming foreigners and natives as well, and are compelled to pay tribute, both in cash and blood, for every service real or imagined.

For years, this condition has been studied by the Bureau of Naturalization in its application to the administration of the naturalization law. It is safe to state that although 85,000 foreigners have been refused citizenship because of mental and moral unfitness during the period of Federal supervision, at least that many have been admitted during the same period in spite of these deficiencies, for the courts have been reluctant to refuse citizenship where proper educational facilities have not been provided. In many places the public schools have, under the inspiration of the Bureau of Naturalization, now opened their doors to the foreigner so that he may be instructed in the duties of American citizenship, and in these localities the courts have readily responded to the new order of things and refused citizenship unless the candidate could come up to the higher standard which has been brought about by the Federal supervision. This system the Bureau has tried out for years and with success in various localities and there is now scarcely a state in the whole country that does not have citizenship classes carried on either by the public schools or under the direction of private agencies.

It is confidently believed by those who have made an exhaustive study of existing conditions that this great nation-wide educational movement will, beyond question, change that portion of the alien body which is now in a condition of helpless dependence and mere self-maintenance to a state of productive capacity.

Dr. Jordan's purpose in calling upon the President was to present to him resolutions adopted at the San Francisco congress calling on the President "to co-operate with other neutral governments in calling conference of neutral nations, which would constitute a voluntary court of continuous mediation, would invite suggestions for settlement from each of the warring nations, and in any case submit simultaneously to all of them reasonable proposals as a basis for peace."

Although Dr. Jordan declared that the status of such a commission would be materially strengthened if the United States became party to it, he expressed the belief, as a personal one, that regardless of whether the United States joins or not, the other neutral powers would act. In any event, he observed, the calling of the conference would come with better effect from one of the nations closer to the scene of the conflict than the United States.

tion when he found a negro and a white man fighting at Klund and Pine streets. He arrested the white man but the negro escaped. He turned his two prisoners over to a citizen and started after the fleeing negro. Another negro opened fire on the officer sending five shots at him at a range of less than fifty feet, all of which missed him. The negro ran through a house and disappeared. Officers searched the neighborhood but failed to trace the fugitive.

Serious Row In Middletown

Late on Saturday night Officer Albert Ruppel arrested Harry Butler, colored, of Sassafras, Md., who had been firing a revolver in an alley, off Main street, Middletown. Butler's father and brothers tried to get him away and other negroes rallied and attacked the officers. Chief of Police Hilliard was struck on the back of the head with a brick and slashed across the small of the back with a razor. Officer Ruppel was also struck on the head with a brick. Samuel Gunning, a spectator of the row, was shot, the bullet passing through his body, piercing one of his lungs. He was treated by Dr. Vaughn and hurried to Delaware Hospital.

Dog's Bark Betrays Robber

Roused by the barking of a dog about 2 a. m. on Saturday, Edward Robinson, son of George F. Robinson, keeper of a saloon at 106 West Tenth street, Wilmington, found that the barroom had been entered and later came upon a man hiding in the water closet, with whom he grappled while his father phoned for policemen. The man gave his name as Thomas Veshovsky and was held in default of $1000 bail for Court on the charge of housebreaking.

Stolen Team Found Quickly

When the Wilmington day police force were forming in line at the City Hall on Friday to go on duty word came from Sheriff Morgan at Elkton describing a team stolen from J. Frank Blake of Childs. An hour later Officer Purcell saw a team at Twelfth and West street answering the description of the missing one and shouted to the driver to halt but he whipped the horse and the officer pursued. After a run of several blocks the driver jumped out and took to his heels. At Thirteenth and Market street the fugitive ran into the yard of W. L. Dockstader's home where the officer found him hiding. He was arrested and taken together with the team to the police station. The man said he was John Simpson, 61 years old, of Childs, and a loaded revolver was found in his pocket. He was given a hearing on Saturday and was held for the action of the Maryland authorities on the larceny charge but meanwhile was fined $100 and costs by Judge Churchman on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon with the alternative of a year in the Workhouse in default of payment.

New Cecil River Resort
The Turner or Jeffers wharf on the West side of Big Elk Creek at the foot of Bridge street, Elkton, is about to be leased, it is stated, by the Ericsson Steam Propeller Company of Baltimore, whose vessels ply through the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal. Chesapeake Haven on Grove Point, at the mouth of the Sassafras River in Cecil county is to be developed into a resort rivaling Tolchester and Betterton. The Ericsson people will, it is said, run a steamer daily between Elkton, Grove Point Betterton, and Baltimore, aiming to furnish ready access to the new resort to patrons from Philadelphia, Wilmington, and other points north of Elkton.

Win Long Legal Fight
Judge Bradford in the United States Court in Wilmington last Monday gave a decision ending litigation pending since 1906 involving a charge of $16,000 upon three farms disposed of under the will of the late Thomas Jamison of Red Lion hundred, who died in December, 1864. The farms are the Jamison Conner farm of 200 acres in St. Georges hundred, the Capelle farm of 212 acres in Red Lion hundred and the homestead of 230 acres in St. Georges hundred, now owned by Mrs. J. Frank Biggs, Mrs. Laurence Lofland, and Mrs. Eliza C. Green. The decree entered is for $8000 and 29 years interest in favor of Mrs. Catherine P. Mathieson, of Philadelphia, a granddaughter of Mr. Jamison. Her sister, Mrs. Vesta L. Bastian, was a party to the suit but withdrew but may make claim for a like award. The claim of Mrs. Mathieson must be paid within 60 days to avoid a sale of the farm by trustees. The late Chief Justice Lore drew the original Jamison will which one of the dissatisfied heirs threw into a stove where it was burned after its reading. Judge Lore had a duplicate copy of the will which was established after a long contest in the State Courts. The three farms were appraised in 1886 at $48,000 and are probably worth more today.

BOOKER WASHINGTON

Booker Washington was more than a leader of his race, he was a great American. Few men of his time seized with such sincerity of purpose, the opportunity presented by a few men, facing the shiftless ignorance of their own people, and a taunting opposition from a superior race, have rendered to their country such service as did this child of bondage. "Up from Slavery," nor was he ever ashamed. Up from slavery, to the Council Halls of the world's great thinkers. Up from slavery, to speak before the royalty of Europe's Courts and yet unspoiled, preferring the work at Tuskegee. Up from slavery, mingling with prejudice, he never gave voice of a cynic. He inspired thousands of his people to a love for an honorable independence and convinced a white people of this right to live and enjoy the products of his labor. Dignity of Labor was his life theme and its recognition, irrespective of color, was his reward.

He tackled what has been considered America's greatest problem—what to do with a newly freed people yet unfitted for the duties of a productive citizenship. Frederick Harrison, the great English thinker, in his visit to America, asked to see Tuskegee. The work there convinced him that the word America represented more than a theory.

Tasks set by him for his people in daily relation with their white brothers, are not yet complete. But his life is an inspiration. And lessons worthy of the learning are to be read by us of another race, in the work of this man, Up from Slavery, to a leader, well rated as a great American.

Congratulations are due the Newark school for the splendid record made in the New Castle County Spelling Contest. The whole community is proud of the achievement, and puts it up to the pupils to keep the cup for another year.

Health Conditions of Delaware Surveyed

Dr. Clark of the Public Health Service of the Federal Government, visited the State recently to arrange for a survey of the health and hygienic conditions in the schools of one county of the State. The work begins at once and will probably take the entire winter for completion. Four experienced physicians will work together and make the study of the air space, amount of light, kind and quantity of heat, ventilation and sanitary conditions as thorough as will be investigated and any pathological conditions determined and studied in relation to their cause and possible treatment. This work is the result of the activities of the Delaware Co-operative Educational Association, which was organized last spring and is representative of every organization in the State which is concerned with social welfare and uplift. The work of the Public Health Service is one of the most valuable movements inaugurated by the association; it has the unqualified support of the State Board of Health and State Board of Education.

On Monday morning, November 15, Assistant Professor F. B. Hills, of the Agricultural Department, addressed the students of the Wilmington High School on the subject, "The Development of Agricultural Education in the United States."

"FRAT" QUESTION CONSIDERED

tions to the board at its regular meeting the latter part of this month. As far as could be learned none of the speakers recommended that in their opinion it would be best to entirely abolish the fraternities. It was the consensus of opinion, however, that there could be no objection to all members of the fraternities taking their meals at a Commons on the campus with all other students. It was also the general opinion that there would be no objection to "frat" houses being located on the campus if under the direct control of the college authorities and the present fraternities be given an opportunity to dispose of their properties to dispose of their properties plus.

Chancellor Curtis made the following statement relative to the purpose of the committee:

"A committee of three of the Trustees of Delaware College was appointed to consider and report recommendations as to the attitude and policy to be adopted respecting fraternities. The committee in considering the question will look to the present and future advantage of the college, for obviously if fraternities are detrimental they cannot be continued however many there are, however large the number of the members may be and however great may be the influence they may have or use. The good of Delaware College is the test. All are called, then, to consider the matter fairly, and with undivided loyalty to Alma Mater.

"At present there are four Greek letter fraternities, all but one being affiliated with chapters of the same fraternities at other colleges. All receive members from all undergraduates. Three own their houses in Newark. The total active membership of the four is now 117. Each have as associate members or trustees, members of the faculty and board of trustees of the college.

"This investigation of an important subject matter is made for the future, and not because of any defect or irregularity in the past and with a full appreciation of the past usefulness, excellent management, and high standing of all the fraternities. In fact they have been in some respects necessary owing to the lack of dormitories for lodging or Commons for boarding the students. Other institutions have had various experiences with them, and there is a variety of opinions as to them. It is a serious problem for solution at Delaware College as it has been elsewhere, and wisely the Trustees are considering it in a broad appreciative way, so that when dormitories and Commons are provided the policy with respect to the use of them by the students may be known in advance and the fraternities may adjust their affairs accordingly, even if it means the giving up of something but them.

Peace Directors Declare For Preparedness

Eight out of the twelve directors of the Maryland Peace Society placed themselves on record as opposed to the peace-at-any-price theory on Monday when they in order "to prevent doubt as to their position on the question of military preparedness," signed the following statement:

"Our aim has been to promote international institutions which will make for justice and to cultivate a sentiment among the people in favor of doing justice toward other nations, believing that when justice is assured armaments will fall away gradually of their own accord through disuse, just as, in frontier communities, the practice of going about armed is abandoned when violence and lawlessness are superseded by law and order.

"It has long been apparent that until there is some promising method of doing justice among nations wars would not cease and that to neglect the question of adequate defense under existing conditions was to run the risk of being preyed upon just as China has been preyed upon.

"Owing to the outburst of militarism and the rule of violence abroad we now go a step farther and assert that until it is clear what all this portends for us it is the duty of the United States to take immediate steps to place itself in a most thorough condition of preparedness."

President Marburg, of the society, who is known as one of the most prominent of America's peace advocates and is head of the American Society for Judicial Settlement of International Disputes, explained last night that there was nothing antagonistic to the peace move in the declaration of himself and his colleagues.

"We must not be carried away by theories at this time," he declared, "and I am positive that among all peace societies in this country those who believe as we do are in a vast majority over the 'peace-at-any-price' advocates. Without adequate armament the United States would be in grave danger, and for any part of the nation's citizenship to declare that we should not be in a position to defend ourselves would be rather foolish.

"China is the only large nation on earth that has practically no national defense—and look at the result. International anarchy exists in Europe, and were we to lay down our arms now the effect might be very disastrous to us. We must carry a gun, even though we preach peace. The time has not yet come when it would be safe to disarm. Disarmament must be accomplished by degrees, and then must be the rule of the world, not a rule for a single nation.

"And when the time arrives for the pushing of the peace movement again, the United States will be listened to far more respectfully if she has behind her utterances the strength of a good fighting force."

Interesting Entertainment Promised By "Aggie" Club

What promises to be one of the most interesting and entertaining plays given in Newark for a long time is the three act comedy "Looking for Mary Jane," which is to be given in the Newark Opera House on the evening of December 3rd.

This is one of the snappiest and liveliest plays ever given in Newark. It is one of the sort of plays that get the audience's attention and sympathy at the very first and holds it to the time the curtains fall on the last act. During the course of this play many situations develop which are extremely amusing, indeed the whole play is full to overflowing with good humor.

The Agricultural Club of Delaware College is working hard and under the skillful direction of Mrs. Herman R. Tyson it is confident that "Looking for Mary Jane" will be fully as popular as "The Jonah" which was given last spring.

Chapel Talks At Delaware College

On November 2, Professor Conover spoke in chapel on "The Fear of Learning too Much." He said, in part: "The old idea that an educated person should be well grounded in all departments of learning, seems to be fading away rapidly. This is the age of specialization. Time was, when a professor of Greek might be transferred to the chair of Mathematics or Philosophy. But now the demand is for specialists, for men and women trained to do one thing and to do it well. While this is well and proper, there is danger of

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation

The lengthening shadows of the passing days remind us that we are approaching the completion of another year. To some, there may have come sorrow and misfortune; to others, gladness and success; but whatever has been the measure of our experience, we should not be ungrateful of the obligation we owe to Almighty God. The acknowledgment of this obligation, which it has been our custom to express since first inaugurated by our forefathers, has left its imprint upon our national life and character and distinguished us as a Christian Nation. For the great benefits we have received out of the abundant harvests, and other blessings which have been conferred upon us, we should be ever thankful and, altho peace and plenty abound in every hand, the people of our country have seldom before stood in greater need of the strengthening power and guiding influence of Divine Providence.

Therefore, I, Charles R. Miller, Governor of the State of Delaware, do designate

THURSDAY NOVEMBER THE TWENTY-FIFTH, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN as a Day of GENERAL THANKSGIVING AND PRAYER

Let us on that day, throughout the State, cease from our usual occupations and join together in our churches and in our homes and render thanks to the Divine Creator and Ruler of the Universe for the great benefits which we have received at His hands and invoke of Him to grant to our Nation and to our State a continuance of the blessings of Peace and Prosperity.

In TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I, Charles R. Miller, Governor of the State of Delaware, have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal to be affixed at Dover, this Tenth day of November, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifteen, and in the year of the Independence of the United States the One Hundred and Fortieth.

becoming narrow. In order to avoid this danger you should not begin to specialize too soon. Do not be a person of one idea, even if it is a good one. Let the maxim be to know something about everything and everything about something."

On November 9, Professor Short spoke on the subject "Be Sanitary and you will be healthy." After showing that the earning capacity of a well man is estimated at from $480 to $1800 per year, according to the class of his labor and that the sick man on the other hand represents not only absence of value to a community but also an economic loss, the speaker said: "It has been demonstrated that most of the common diseases can be traced to conditions easily prevented and eliminated. Typhoid is a filth product, and can be taken in water from a polluted supply; from ice from a polluted pond; from dust blown from a dried out, infected spot onto food, or by food contaminated by flies. Other diseases may be traced in like manner. Knowing the causes, many of the remedies are obvious. As college men you are expected to take the lead in affairs looking to the betterment of conditions affecting the community in general. Fit yourselves to help in this common sense problem of bettering health by sanitation and clean living."

Suppose by hard work you had got together a bushel of very fine, very rare, very costly grain. You wouldn't put it in an old stove—you wouldn't hide it in some out-of-the-way place. Rats, mice or birds might destroy it—insects make it worthless—fire destroy it—servants steal it. You would keep that costly grain in a safe place, so that you could plant it and get a bounteous harvest. Why not use the same care with your hard-earned dollars? NEW CENTURY CLUB

ment of the interior, etc. There were few who did not line themselves on either side. Dean Robinson emphasized the point that the main object of a club should be to strengthen community ties, to serve as a social and socializing center and that the merits of the clubhouse should be considered from that standpoint, and decided by those best acquainted with the community needs. The vote was not called for until every member was well satisfied that the matter had been considered on all sides. It was then moved that the club begin at once the building of a club house not to exceed $6000 upon the lot generously offered by Mr. S. J. Wright. The motion was carried by a two-third majority.

Following this intense business hour the club was treated to a most refreshing and interesting talk by Miss Brady of the Women's College. The subject of her talk was Folk Etymology. Miss Brady pointed out interesting developments in the English language which had their origin in popular misconceptions of the derivations of words. She mentioned many curiosities in speech which this phase of language known as Folk Etymology had produced many words which we have always associated with certain roots proved on investigation to have no relation whatsoever to their supposed origin. Thus belfrey does not at all mean a place where bells are kept, but finds its origin in the German bergfreide, meaning a place of safety, and consequently a tower. The bells were a later addition, and had no connection with the name. She gave scores of examples of this sort. She explained and illustrated the operation of folk etymology and the different ways in which it has influenced the language. Of these all none was probably more interesting than the discussion of how an attempt to explain forgotten origins has changed the entire meaning of words and phrases. "Welsh rarebit," a popular misconception of the correct form "Welsh rabbit," was discussed under this head. All these things Miss Brady explained, could happen when language was a free and moving force. But since learning and dictionaries have, as she quoted "stiffened language into literature," the process of its formation is a much more slow and difficult one. In considering the means by which the common people of today are creating language, Miss Brady made a special mention of modern slang,—its origin, the means by which it often becomes accepted as pure English, and its value as a revivifying and creating agency in modern English.

Miss Marie Ritz, accompanied by her sister, opened the meeting with the song, "Mighty Like a Rose."

The program next week is a lecture by Dr. Sypher. Mrs. J. J. Taubenhau, Press Correspondent.

Clever Window Display

One of the cleverest window displays seen in a long time is that at the G. W. Rhodes' drug store, East Main street. A large card advises the passerby to prepare his voice for the Thanksgiving game, and invites a closer scrutiny of the window, which has been turned into a gridiron. The greensward is laid out in regulation style, placards designating the 5-10-15-20-etc. yard lines. Delaware's team is indicated by tiny blue and gold dots, in front of which appears the name of each player in his regular position. The scrub team, indicated in the same way, appears on the benches. The bleachers are there, and even the football, ready for the final kick-off on Thanksgiving Day. The whole scheme is an ad for throat lozengers specially prepared by G. W. Rhodes, druggist.

Christmas Spirit Abroad

HAPPY HOURS SPENT IN GIFT MAKING

Molly listened patiently while the practical business man discussed Christmas nonsense. She allowed him to chide her upon the folly of wasting one's eyes on gimcracks and furbelows, and worrying oneself, with late hours and rush of work, to the point of distraction. Molly smiled affably at the man, being in too much of a hurry to waste time in needless argument. A half hour later she was at home in her room, serenely and happily working away upon Christmas gifts. "Perhaps it does seem absurd to the masculine mind, to rush and work and fuss over Christmas," she mused to herself, "but I couldn't give it up without losing one of my greatest pleasures. A man may feel that he is actually giving by going to the store and purchasing. We all know he hates to shop, and his surveillance of the bank account makes him very conscious of the outlay, perhaps. But for a woman, Christmas loses two-thirds of its pleasure if there are no made gifts."

Molly's reverie was interrupted by the ding of the door bell. She hastened to admit a friend, bristling with interest and enthusiasm. "My dear, Christmas is in the air," she exclaimed. "A month ago I came from the office too tired every night to think of a needle. I resolved not to make one Christmas gift. Now here I am just bristling with energy and adding daily to my list of to-be-made articles. I simply can't lose all these thrills of preparation. Do you have time to tell me how to make those quaint-looking napkins you used at luncheon several weeks ago?"

The friend produced a strip of linen, scissors, and thimble, and seated herself comfortably for her lesson.

"I think they are very attractive," Molly declared, falling without loss of time, into the mood of her friend. I found the idea last spring in the middle west, but since then have seen them in a Chestnut street embroidery shop. Beautiful linen is of course the first necessity, and yours is a beautiful quality. It is safer to purchase it in the art needlework than in the linen department, I think. I made my napkins sixteen inches square. In cutting I found it paid to take time to draw a thread in order to be sure the edges were perfectly straight. After the square of linen is cut, fold each direction (making a square eight inches), and round square eight inches) and round the roll the hem. Take the linen between the thumb and forefinger of the left hand, give it a quick twist away from you, and a quick roll in the opposite direction. Have the needle threaded with fine delft blue embroidery cotton, and whip over and over the hem, never rolling more than an inch or two in advance of the stitch, in order to keep the roll firm and tight. The rounded corners remove all troublesome angles. When the hem is complete, whip in the opposite direction, being careful to go into the same holes as on the first round. The stitches will slant in the opposite direction, making a border of crosses around the napkin. The finish is very neat and attractive. To carry out the quaint effect, a tiny cross-stitch basket is embroidered in the corner. Buy the finest marking canvas at an art needlework department. Baste on the linen, and work over it counting the bars according to a pattern which may be obtained in any needlework store. Make the handle and a few stitches in the basket of blue to match the border, and work in touches of pink, greens, and yellows. All the design can be worked on a piece of canvas two by three inches. When the embroidery is complete draw the canvas, thread by thread, and the pattern will remain in perfect symmetry on the linen. I saw handkerchiefs made the same way last week. These pieces of linen make attractive gifts for the woman to whom a bit of exquisite needlework is a joy forever."

The friend followed directions, and in three hours had finished the first of a half dozen pieces with which she intended to delight the heart of some domestic friend.

DELAWARE WINS AT EMMITTSBURG

Mt. St. Mary's Defeated 13-6
Delaware defeated Mount St. Mary's at Emmittsburg last Saturday, by the score of 13-6. The home team scored three minutes after the beginning of the game. Shortly after the Mountain boys had made their score, Taylor carried the ball over the line for Delaware. The second touchdown was made in the last period of the game. Over-confidence on the part of Delaware prevented a larger score for the visiting team. The game in detail follows.

First Quarter
Captain Carrol of Mt. St. Mary's won the toss and decided to receive. Ernie Wilson made a pretty kick-off. Smart tackled the gone three yards. By a series of end runs and center rushes Mt. St. Mary's took the ball steadily down the field to Delaware's 30-yard line. On the next play Mullaney went through Delaware's line for 20 yards, putting the ball on Delaware's 10-yard line. With its goal line in danger, Delaware's line took a brace and held its opponents for three downs without gain. A pretty executed forward pass on the next play, Killagen to Carrol, resulted in Mt. St. Mary's only score of the game, Carrol scoring the touchdown. Sheridan failed at the try for goal.

Fidance received the kick-off and carried the ball back 10 yards. Handy made 10 yards more. Again Handy went through Mt. St. Mary's line for another gain, but fumbled. Weldin fell on the ball. A try at a forward by Delaware was intercepted by Mt. St. Mary's. On the next play Mt. St. Mary fumbled. Wilson fell on the ball. By repeated plunges and crossbucks, Delaware steadily carried the ball to Mt. St. Mary's 3-yard line. A crossbuck, Taylor taking the ball, completely baffled the mountain boys, Taylor crossing the goal line for a touchdown. Taylor missed the try for a goal. Mt. St. Mary received. The quarter ended with the ball on her own 30-yard line.

Score: Mt. St. Mary, 6; Delaware, 6.

Second Quarter
Mt. St. Mary's made three successive first downs and carried the ball to the visitor's forty-yard line. Here Delaware held for downs thereby receiving the ball. Several line plunges by Captain Handy and Bratton brought the ball to Mt. St. Mary's 3-yard line. Taylor advanced the ball 2 yards more. Captain Handy practically put the ball over for a touchdown, the play being so close, that the referee gave the benefit of the doubt to Mt. St. Mary. Delaware finally lost the ball six inches from the goal line. Mt. St. Mary kicked out of danger. Again by consistent line plunges, Delaware advanced the ball to its opponents' 15-yard line. Here Fidance tried for a field goal but was blocked, Mt. St. Mary receiving the ball. Then Patler kicked out of danger; Delaware recovered the ball in the middle of the field. A forward pass, Handy to Smart, netted 20 yards. Several off tackle plays put the ball on Mt. St. Mary's 15-yard line. After an unsuccessful forward, the half finally ended.

Score: Mt. St. Mary, 6; Delaware, 6.

Third Quarter
Smart received the kick off and carried the ball back 25 yards. Line plunges by Handy and Bratton netted two successive first downs. Delaware finally lost the ball on downs. Mt. St. Mary started a steady advance down the field. Several spectacular end runs by Grimes and two successful forward passes put the ball on Delaware's 20-yard line. Delaware's line, which, up to this time, lacked the punch and fight which was characteristic in the Dickinson game the preceding Saturday, took a brace and held their opponents for three downs without any gain. A try for a field goal on the last down was unsuccessful. An exchange of kicks then followed. The period finally ended, Mt. St. Mary's ball on Delaware's 40-yard line.

Fourth Quarter

On the very first play, Mt. St. Mary punted the ball, Weldin falling on it. At this point the entire Delaware team suddenly grasped a new life. It was its last chance for victory, and they went after it with a "do or die" spirit. Handy tore open Mt. St. Mary's line for 10 yards. Taylor went seven yards on a cross buck. Bratton found a hole through tackle and gained 12 yards more. Fidance made three yards through center. Capt. Handy finally placed the ball on Mt. St. Mary's 2-yard line. Fidance crossed the goal line for a touchdown through center. Taylor kicked the goal.

In the last few minutes of the game Mt. St. Mary resorted entirely to forward passing, its only possible chance of scoring. After working two successful forward passes, Crothers intercepted the third and ran the ball back six yards. Delaware kicked to Mt. St. Mary's 20-yard line. After trying several forwards which failed, the game finally ended with the ball in midfield.

Score: Mt. St. Mary, 6; Delaware, 13.

GUNNING SEASON ON HAND

Many Sportsmen In Search Of Game

The gunning season which opened last Monday, has brought out the usual number of sportsmen. According to report the season is one of the best enjoyed for some time. Last year, although game was to be found in fair quantities the gunners were handicapped by the government placing a ban on the use of dogs, due to the presence of the foot and mouth disease in the state. This year the quarantine is off, and the farmers in some sections will permit gunning. In other sections, however, notably Mill Creek Hundred, the strictest trespassing laws will be enforced. The season in Delaware is as follows:

Quail—commonly called Virginia partridge—Season opens on Monday and remains open until December 31, both days inclusive.

Wild goose—Season opened October 1 and is open until March 15, both days inclusive.

Brant—Season opened October 1 and is open until March 15, both days inclusive.

Summer duck—Season opened September 1, and is open until March 15, both days inclusive.

Wild duck—Season opened October 1 and is open to March 15, both days inclusive.

Woodcock—Season opens on Monday and remains open until December 31, both days inclusive.

Rabbits—Season opens on Monday and remains open until December 31, both days inclusive. The use of any kind of trap is forbidden.

- Bass until February 1.
- Pike and pickerel until March 1.
- Shad and sturgeon until June 5.

Three Hurt In Auto Crash

Automobiles of Walter W. Reynolds of Ellendale, and J. E. Deford, of Smyrna, collided last Sunday afternoon between Odessa and Townsend and both were badly damaged. Mrs. Deford was hurt about her back and shoulders and remained at Townsend where she was taken after the accident. Walter Hynson and wife of Smyrna, were severely shaken up and one of the former's ears was badly cut.

Night Blaze In Seaford

Fire probably caused by a stove used to heat the large potato storage house in Seaford, owned by W. F. Allen, V. A. and H. Moore, destroyed the building on Wednesday night along with 20,000 baskets of stored sweet potatoes. The building was erected last year and was of up-to-date construction. The loss is put at $20,000 with partial insurance.

Gored By Angry Bulls

Jacob Masoner and John Finnegan, farmers of Little Creek hundred, near Laurel, were attacked and badly gored by two angry bulls who broke out of separate pastures on Thursday. The animals charged a number of men at work in a field. All escaped injury except Masoner and Finnegan who were sent to a Baltimore hospital for treatment.

Noted Suffrage Leader Visits Delaware

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, leader of the suffrage forces of America, paid a visit to Delaware last Thursday evening, when she addressed the annual convention of the Delaware Equal Suffrage Association, in Wilmington. A large crowd assembled to hear the noted speaker.

Dr. Shaw prefaced her remarks by reference to the recent elections which she pronounced a glorious victory, represented by a million and a quarter votes. She pointed out that if the man who runs the grog shop needs the ballot to protect him in his business, why shouldn't the woman have the ballot to protect her home. She pointed out that through the count of ballots, the suffrage and anti-suffrage factions have been enabled to see where their friends are and to line up the crowd.

"We have spied the land and are now ready for a second battle," said the speaker. "The attitude of the women themselves has given me encouragement, and everyone is ready to be up and at it again."

Dr. Shaw referred to the disfranchisement of one half of the people, saying:

"Men are admirable people as far as they go, but they go only half way. We have an aristocracy of sex and nothing else."

It was declared that the people of this country prated about this being a republic even before one-half of the males were enfranchised. Dr. Shaw added: "It is not a republic any more today than it was before non-taxpaying males were enfranchised, yet we sung then as heartily as now the songs of freedom and independence. She gave some forcible illustrations of the manner in which we have been trying to evolve a republic out of a monarchy, in which one man rises to power on the prostrate body of another man." Speaking further on the process of evolution in democracy, she said that we profess that we believe in the constitution and in human freedom, but we do not prove it.

"The government erects a barrier between two classes and claims to be a democracy, but it is not a true democracy. The old time fetish of divine right of kings is dying, and so is the divine right of sex. One is just as consistent as the other."

Dr. Shaw commented on some literature which was sent out by the Pennsylvania State Association of Anti-Suffrage in which the Statement was made that there are several thousand arguments against equal suffrage and only six of them were given and they proved to be weak and illogical. Dr. Shaw spoke for an hour and a half, and held the close attention of her hearers to the end.

Work Of Horticultural Dept.

The Department of Horticulture of the Delaware College Experiment Station is using a portion of its greenhouse this winter for the determination of the Heritability of certain head characteristics of cabbage. A student apple judging team will represent Delaware College at the second eastern intercollegiate fruit judging contest held at Baltimore on Friday, November 19 in connection with Maryland Horticultural Society Fruit Show during the Maryland Week exposition. The other teams in this contest will be from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, and Ohio. The contest last year was won by the team from New Jersey.

They are built of wood, with glass doors, and in seven sections, three lockers to a section. Each locker has an arrangement which holds the instrument, mounted on its tripod, ready for use. Besides the instrument each locker contains all necessary equipment for outfitting the party with transit or level, as the case may be. In the top of each locker on a shelf on which is stored the instrument case. The lockers not only provide a place for the safe-keeping of the equipment, but also facilitates handling of the equipment when the classes are large.

Miss Brust Visits Newark

Miss Huldah Brust, teacher of primary methods in the Girls' High School, Frederick, Md., who lectured at the joint Kent and Sussex county teachers' institute held in Milford last week, was the week-end guest of Miss Elizabeth Smithson. Miss Brust, who for two years has been instructor in primary methods at Delaware College summer school, on Saturday morning addressed the student body at chapel exercises, urging the young men not to overlook the teaching profession in their choice of a career.

Dr. Manns In Consultation

Dr. Thomas F. Manns, Plant Pathologist of the Delaware College Experiment Station has been in Charlestown, Md., in reference to twig blight of the pear and apple. The disease has been very severe throughout the country during the present year, probably on account of the soft and rapid growth which the trees have made. The younger plantings have suffered most and the larger trees have been injured greatly by collar rot.

Returns From Southern Trip

Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell, president of Delaware College, returned Thursday from a trip to Nashville, Tenn., where he made an address at the inauguration exercises of President MacKenzie of Fisk University. While there Dr. Mitchell met D. E. Atkins, a former student of Delaware College, who is now a teacher at Paine Institute, Augusta, Ga., and who was a delegate from that institution at the inauguration exercises. Mr. Atkins was a son of a Methodist minister located here in 1904. He entered Delaware College that year but because of his father moving away he was not graduated from Delaware. Dr. Mitchell last week also adressed the State Student Convention of the Y. M. C. A. at Berea College, Kentucky. This college was established to reach 3,000,000 boys and girls tucked away in the mountains. At the colleges of Kentucky had large delegations of both the faculties and student body at the convention.

TORIES IN DELAWARE

Interesting Paper Read Before Historical Society

A paper on "The Tories of Delaware," written and read by A. B. Carey, an alumnus of Delaware College, was the feature of the meeting of the Delaware Historical Society in Wilmington last Monday evening. Mr. Carey told of the great number of tories that were in Delaware at the time of the war and how Caesar Rodney and other Whig leaders were kept busy detecting and squelching their plans. Mr. Carey divided his paper into the following heads: "Activities of the tories in Kent and Sussex," "Legislation Against the Tories," "Punishment of the Tories." The Tories became so active that on February 22, 1777, an act entitled "An act to punish treason and disaffected persons, and for the security of the government," was passed. Several times after this act had been passed the Tories had uprisings and force had to be used to quiet them. The Tories of Kent and Sussex were noted for their number and their activity, as compared with the Tories of New Castle county, who were fewer and passive.

During the Revolutionary War the Tories were so active that the Legislature found it necessary to pass several repressive laws.

The punishment of Tories, especially in cases when the individual showed no signs of recanting, was extremely severe. Many were punished by very irregular means, although this State had only one incident of a real "tar-and-feather" case.

Attitude of the preachers toward the Tories differed. The Presbyterian ministers were entirely against the Tories, while some other denominations differed some sympathizing with the Tories and others being against them.

him. He always has business down street on such occasions. Old Bill certainly would be a terror in a new town.

Young Raffles Ran Down

The attempt to rob H. G. Terrell's store and the postoffice at Richardson's Park on Saturday morning of last week led to the capture of Alfred Marquess, a bold young burglar of Wilmington, still under age, who under pressure confessed to a series of robberies which had puzzled the police. They included a case of instruments stolen from Dr. L. H. Ball's automobile, money and jewelry from Edward Stephan's home, 421 South Rodney street, breaking into 1201 Lancaster avenue and stealing a hunting knife, entering Alfred Wilson's home at Richardson's Park and stealing an automatic revolver, and old coins, stealing money from the cash register in Willis' drug store, Eighth and Monroe streets, and a safety razor from the home of S. G. Williams, 519 Orange street. He was first arrested for failing to return the change from a $20 bill entrusted to him by a butcher. He was held by the General Sessions Court in $2600 bail on three charges of burglary and three of larceny.

Badly Hurt Saving Money

James Miller, employed by Willard Hayes, a farmer of the Kennet Square section, was sent to Wilmington on Thursday to sell a load of potatoes. He engaged a negro to guide him about the city. Completing his sales Miller drove to the Bull's Head Hotel stables to feed his horses where the negro struck him with a blackjack and tried to get his money. Miller managed to break away and the negro fled. Miller was badly beaten about his face and head and was taken to the Delaware Hospital where it was found that his skull was fractured.
