Tax proposals were defeated in all of the senior high school, at Wilbur and at Christiana.

At the high school the vote against the 15 cent tax increase against expenses was 136-59, and against the bond issue, the vote was 50-37, and at Christiana, 141-34, and

At the Gallaher School opposition to the 15 cent tax increase in the general fund, but approved the bond issue, 29-25.

Approval of the new rate for current expenses was registered by a vote of 296-129 at Brookside; 411-235 at Central; 222-205 at Medill; 206-96 at Smith; and 423-250 at West Park.

The bond issue was approved by a 276-119 vote at Brookside; 250-128 at Central; 245-182 at Medill; 226-108 at Smith; and 453-222 at West Park.

At Monday's meeting, the school board approved payment of the district's department deficit of $3,-000 for the year; a tax-sheltered annuity program for teachers; and awarded a contract to the Spitz Agency for purchase of a heating system for the new Christiana High School at a cost of $13,725, half of which is to be paid by the federal government.

Louviers Personnel Receive Top Prize For Safety Record

Engineering Dept. Staff Works 11,600,000 Hours Without Lost Time Injury

Employees of Du Pont's Louviers Building near Newark received the company's highest safety honor, the Board of Directors' Award, last Monday morning for having worked 11,600,000 hours without a single time-losing injury.

In ceremonies at engineering department headquarters at the Louviers Building, Charles B. McCoy, a vice-president and Du Pont director, presented the award to Melvin F. Wood, chief engineer—the 14th safety honor received by this group since office units became eligible to compete in 1956.

The Louviers unit numbers about 2,100 men and women who worked 11,600,000 exposure hours during the period June 15, 1959, to May 25 of this year, a total of almost 1,100 calendar days without a lost-time injury.

Had they followed the accident frequency rate of comparable groups in industry, between 20 to 25 lost-time injuries would have occurred.

The Louviers unit, which pioneered the Safe Drivers League some seven years ago, established an off-the-job traffic safety record during this period, six times better than the national average for all workers in the country.

Florence Kershaw Room At Smyth Center Dedicated In Honor Of Local "Y" Leader

The Gold Room Lounge in the new Alice P. Smyth Center YWCA was dedicated and named the Florence F. Kershaw Room at a luncheon last Monday in honor of Mrs. Melville G. Kershaw, Newark YWCA center committee chairman for the past four years.

The former Press of Kells, and later the Kells Apartments at the corner of South College Avenue and West Park Place, has been renovated, and was dedicated as the new Alice P. Smyth Center last April 29th.

The lounge with its gold-motif furnishings, features the building's original stone fireplace with window and hand-hewn mantel.

A bronze plaque inscribed "The Florence F. Kershaw Room, YWCA, 1962," was placed in the Smyth Center lounge last Monday with its dedication in honor of Mrs. Kershaw.

Members of the center committee began using the lounge immediately after dedication as the place to meet visitors and for informal gatherings.

Now almost in constant use, the lounge is fulfilling the role envisioned for it by Mrs. Kershaw, chairman of the center committee.

"When we took over this building," Mrs. Kershaw said, "we wanted to keep one section of it very feminine and charming. Our lounge is the result of that idea. Of course, we would have been very hard pressed to get it looking this way if it had not been for the many gifts we received," she concluded.

The center committee began last year to raise money to furnish the lounge, and the annual Autumn Fair, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Herbert Dorn, made $1,000 for this purpose.

With Mary Dabolin and Mrs. Robert T. Holl as coordinators, the local YWCA provides a diversified program for its 900 members.

City Manager Salary Increase Defeated By 5-2 Council Vote

Proposed Ordinance Providing $12,000 Annual Salary For City Manager Supported By Rankin, Shields; $500 Increase Proposed By Bing For Annual $10,800 Total

A $1,700 salary increase for City Manager J. Francis Neide—a raise from $10,300 to $12,000 annually—was defeated by a 5-2 vote with the second reading of a proposed ordinance at the regular meeting of Newark City Council last Tuesday night. Mayor Carl S. Rankin and Councilman Joseph A. Shields voted for the city manager's salary increase.

Councilman Charles J. Schneider objected to the amount of the raise, citing it as a "big jump," and Councilman Henry R. Folsom, Jr., said that he was opposed to the amount of the raise, stating that the city manager's salary was "not out of line" in a survey he had made of wage scales for engineers, and of the salary received by the Seaford city manager.

Councilman William M. Coverdale opposed the salary increase pending evaluation of the public works department, and Councilman Russell E. Bing stated that the City Managers' Association had reported salaries ranging from $8,000 to $12,-000 for municipal managerial positions in communities of comparable size.

Bing's proposal for a $500 increase in the city manager's annual salary for a total of $10,800 was approved with a first reading of a proposed ordinance.

Two Men for Three

Mayor Rankin pointed out that when Neide was promoted to city manager, an economy-minded council had permitted two men to do the work of three, and that no assistant public works director had been employed to succeed Benjamin J. Campagna when Campagna was promoted to director and Neide was appointed city manager after the resignation of J. J. Salovaara.

Shields said that the proposed $1,700 pay increase was "peanuts" when compared with assets of some $8 million for which the city manager is responsible, and cited Bing's figures as "distorted" insofar as Newark's population was concerned because of the exclusion of university students although the city provides the University of Delaware with municipal services.

Shields urged council to "stop quibbling about the amount of money," and approve the $12,000 annual salary rate, and Rankin pointed out the difficulty experienced in employing an assistant public works director and an electrical engineer with present salary limits.

Neide said that he was making less money per hour as city manager than as public works director because of the additional work involved with the city manager's responsibilities.

The mayor called for a vote, and the proposed ordinance was defeated 5-2.

A special meeting of council was scheduled for next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock to consider 50 appeals on assessments of 31 properties in the eastern area of the city. Petitioners are requested reduced assessment because of anticipated property value depreciation with Newark Housing Authority plans for purchase of the neighboring Wilson tract as a site for federal housing.

Extension

A request for a two-year extension in the Cherry Hill development building program was referred to the planning commission, and recommended control of peddlers was referred to City Solicitor Alan Tybout for amendment to the existing municipal ordinance.

Proposed ordinances to prohibit residential use of industrial zone districts, and to provide a $25 daily fine for failure to comply with the municipal weed-cutting regulations, received first readings, and a resolution delegating authority for purchasing bonds was referred to the council finance committee headed by Folsom for consultation with advisor Richard L. Cooch.

The city is to make temporary repairs to Holton Place pending determination of responsibility for permanent paving of a 218-ft. right-of-way, and Councilman Shields of the street committee presented a program including repairs to the North Street curbing; installing a "no outlet" sign on White Clay Drive and restricting parking to the west side of Wilbur Street.

Dr. Carl Rees Lauds, Challenges Grads At U. D.'s 113th Commencement Program

Graduates at the University of Delaware were lauded and challenged Sunday by Dr. Carl J. Rees, speaker at 113th commencement ceremonies.

"If I could have chosen a graduating class to address, and I had no choice, this would have been my outspoken preference," said the retiring provost and dean of the university's graduate school.

The Class of 1962 has generally been regarded by faculty and staff alike as the best in the university's history, Dean Rees pointed, "because of your energetic advocacy of scholarly pursuits, your visible growth in maturity, your willingness to work, to acquire knowledge, to stimulate others, to exercise originality, creativity and leadership, and to having brought along so many younger students who otherwise might have wearied, dropped out and become lost in the strenuous struggle for all this coveted degree symbolizes."

Of the 484 undergraduate degrees conferred by President John A. Perkins, 29 were awarded with honors, distinction or both.

A total of 186 received master's degrees and 23 received PhD's.

Of special interest were two "firsts"—the awarding of the first doctorate in the recently established behavioral sciences program to Roger Alan Cutt, a native of Lititz, Pa., and the first doctorate in applied science to Hernando de la Cuesta Solorzano, of Colombia, S. A.

To qualify for the degree with distinction and honors in course, the student must attain an overal scholastic index of 3.5 and complete an independent research project in his major field.

Students with a 3.5 scholastic index automatically qualify for honors in course.

Joan S. Sibol, 88 Kenmar Drive, Newark received her degree with distinction and honors in course, in elementary education.

Carl F. Chirico, Jr., 302 Radcliffe Drive, Newark, received his degree with distinction in history.

Over the CLOVER

by Dean Belt
4-H Club Agent

Next week will be an exciting one for many 4-H'ers. On Sunday afternoon, 4-H'ers from Sussex, Kent and New Castle Counties will head for the University of Delaware for three days of campus life.

Activities will start with a get-acquainted chicken barbecue. After this, the group will hear why 4-H H'ers would make poor Soviet citizens, by Dr. Howard Rowe, ass't superintendent of schools, Dover. The following days will be filled with interesting subjects taught by university personnel.

Other outstanding speakers for the short course will include Dr. Daniel Biebuyck, speaking on "Our International Opportunity."

In their spare time, 4-H'ers will see the selection of the state dress revue winner; the state public speaking winners, and the state talent show winners.

Now that school is almost over and you will have some time at home, please keep up your guard on safety hazards. If you find a summer job or just work around home, you are subject to hundreds of dangerous situations. Any piece of machinery from a tractor to a camping axe can spoil a happy summer for you.

Be careful around lawnmowers; your old swimming hole; that canoe, and your bicycle. Just be careful in whatever you do or wherever you go.

An extra minute taken to be careful can save a finger and maybe your life.

Two 4-H boys from New Castle County have been selected as delegates to the American Institute of Cooperatives conference to be held in Columbus, O., Aug. 4-9.

Robert Borcherdt, and Robert Stafford were selected for their knowledge of cooperatives and the agricultural program they are following at home. Congratulations, fellows! I know this will be a very excellent experience to you.

Cooch's Bridge Unfurling Cited In June Flag Week

"In these times, when freedom is threatened in many areas of the world and efforts are being made to destroy that which the American Flag represents, it is important that loyal Americans — through display of our national emblem and the successful staging of appropriate exercises—reaffirm their loyalty to this great nation and to all that the Stars and Stripes symbolizes," Gov. Elbert N. Carvel said this week in urging all Delawareans to participate in the observance of National Flag Week, June 10-6.

"Tradition has it that the American Flag designed by Betsy Ross was first unfurled in land battle at Cooch's Bridge in 1777, an event that Delaware annually commemorates with an official Loyalty Day observance," the governor said.

"Hundreds of Delaware's sons through succeeding generations, have followed this emblem of our unity, strength and ideals, and many have perished in the effor to keep it aloft," Carvel concluded.

Kibler Promoted In Navy As Electrician Mate 3/C

William P. Kibler, U. S. Navy electrician's mate third class, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Kibler of Stanton-Christiana Road, Newark, was advanced officially to the above rate on May 16, while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk out of San Francisco.

Promotions for Navy-enlisted personnel are the result of semi-annual fleet-wide competitive examinations.

Alan Mullen, Eric Drewry Demonstrate Atom Might

"Team Teaching," junior-sized, has been taking place at Ogletown Junior High School in eighth grade science classes. Armed with a flannel board, a marble, a common pin, and a "dynamic" model of the atom, two future scientists have been presenting a visual demonstration of the mighty power locked inside the atom.

Taking turns at "showing and telling" have been Alan Mullen and Eric Drewry, both members of the 8-2 home room at Ogletown.

In addition to their in-school performances, Alan and Rickey worked overtime to give their program before the Delaware Teachers of Science when that group met at Ogletown.

FATHER'S DAY

Governor Elbert N. Carvel urged all Delawareans to observe Father's Day this Sunday "in such manner as to properly express appreciation for the blessings that result from kind, responsible fatherhood and a strong family life."

Delaware's chief executive pointed out that "it is appropriate that we honor our fathers as the 'cornerstone' of the foundation upon which happy family life is built."

Governor Carvel said "through their sturdy devotion to liberty and love of freedom, our forefathers built this great nation. Later generations of fathers," Carvel continued, "have preserved this nation and have contributed to its progress."

"We happily have had the blessings that result from kind, responsible fatherhood and a strong family life," as he so well state it, Governor, and hope to express a bit of appreciation to Dad down in Alexandria, Va., this Sunday, and bless him!

New Group Plans Survey Of County For Top Problems

Heads of some 40 civic groups throughout New Castle County will be asked what they think are the most important problems confronting the county, with interviews this summer by representatives of the newly-formed New Castle County Citizens' Organization.

The survey was proposed at last week's meeting at the University of Delaware, attended by 50 persons.

Ferdinand Vari, recently appointed executive director of the Regional Planning Commission, said at last week's meeting, that his commission should have sufficient staff within the next four months to determine what projects can be undertaken by the county-wide citizens' group.

Guest speaker John W. Bodine, president of Penjerdel, reviewed the work of citizens' organizations elsewhere in the region from Trenton, N. J., to Wilmington. Penjerdel is a non-profit organization initially financed by the Ford Foundation, for research and planning services in this region.

Named to the organizing committee are Mrs. Milton Roedel, Brandywine Hundred; Mrs. Joseph Perkins, Pencader; Mrs. Thomas Ford, Mill Creek; Russell Rushton, Pencader; David Fariss, White Clay Creek; Russell Toro, New Castle; Mrs. Henry Aughey, Brandywine; Eugene Zaborowski, White Clay Creek; and Edwin DeFraine Taylor, Brandywine Hundred.

1792 Flour Mill At Cooch's Bridge Destroyed By Fire

A building that replaced one burned by British and Hessians in 1777 during the skirmish at Cooch's Bridge, burned down last week.

Built by William Cooch in 1792, the old mill along Cooch's Bridge Road on the property of former Lt. Gov. Edward W. Cooch, great-grandson of the builder, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday night of last week.

It continued as a flour mill until 1822 when William's son, also named William Cooch, built the brick mill that is now the Dayett Flour Mill.

The second William's son, also named William Cooch, died without children so the mills came into the Edward Cooch family, which sold the brick one to John Dayett.

The former lieutenant governor said the destroyed building had all its floors and some machinery until about 60 years ago when it was converted into a barn. It was built to replace one built by Philip James and sold to Thomas Cooch. This original mill, burned by the Redcoats, stood at the foot of the lawn of the present Cooch house.

The barn was used by J. Theodore Laws.

Two tractors were saved by Aetna firemen who remained there three hours. Aetna was assisted by Christiana.

Other topics to be covered are first aid, program planning, skills in athletics, overnights and cookouts.

The Newark day camp will be under the supervision of H. Truitt Ginn, executive secretary of the Newark YMCA.

Travis Cosaboom will be the director, assisted by Gary Reichard. Counselors for the summer are Diana Duff, Ginger Gore, Eileen Haag, Susan Weimer, Richard Chittenden, John P. Jaquete, Guy Loftman and Alan Whiteman.

Ashton Cites Safety Need For Vacationing Children

Parents and motorists should be doubly careful of youngsters' safety as schools close, J. James Ashton, manager of the Delaware Safety Council, said yesterday.

"Most of us are creatures of habit, and it's a very good habit to drive with extra care this month. Schools will be closing, and thousands of carefree youngsters will be turned loose to play," he said at a staff conference at the council offices.

It's the time of year for motorists to double their caution against the possibility that young children will make sudden dashes across streets and highways, on foot or on bicycles, Ashton suggested.

$20,000 Christiana Stakes On Saturday To Feature Delaware Park Two-Year-Olds

Diversified racing is scheduled at Delaware Park with two-year-old colts and geldings clashing Saturday in the $20,000-added Christiana Stakes, and the jumping phase of the thoroughbred sport getting under way next Monday.

The 5½-furlong Christiana has as usual attracted some of the most promising youngsters. Among the eligibles are such as Jaclyn Stable's Ahoy, who made his record 2-for-2 when he won Garden State Park's Cherry Hill Stakes and is generally rated one of the leading juveniles of the young season; L. K. Rudd's Danaus, purchased out of the Brookmeade Stable dispersal sale at Belmont Park on June 4 for $40,000; Harold J. Rose's Wild Marking, who recently registered his third straight triumph at Delaware Park; Christiana Stables' Water Twister, also a good winner at the Stanton track; T. C. Quisenberry's Q-Berry, a galloping winner of his debut at Oaklawn Park, and other highly-regarded, up-and-coming first-year racers.

Danaus, victorious at Aqueduct in his racing bow when he sped five furlongs in a smart 59-1/5, is the first thoroughbred acquired by his Paoli (Pa.) owner.

In the 1961 Christiana, some of this year's leading three-year-olds finished among the also-rans, including Sunrise County (second), Stinson Beach (seventh) and Greek Money (11th in a field of 12). The winner was G. D. Widener's Chicot.

Launching the jumping sport June 18 will be the $10,000-added Tom Roby Steeplechase at about 2-1/8 miles. This event honors the one-time steeplechase jockey of that name who has been bed-ridden ever since his bad spill with Knight's Quest in 1942 at Belmont Park.

An unusual aspect of the race is the trophy presentation to the winning rider rather than the winning owner. The victorious jockey retains the Roby Cup for one year but also receives a replica for his permanent possession.

The cup and replica are offered by Bayard Sharp, a Delaware Park director who owned Knight's Quest.

This will be the Roby's 15th running.

Holy Angels Wins 4th In CYO Track Among 22 Schools

Holy Angels grade school took fourth place in the Delaware CYO Track Meet in which 22 schools participated at Baynard Stadium on May 31. The meet was won by St. Joseph's of Clayton.

Pat Brown of Holy Angels placed fourth in the girls' 50 yard dash.

The girls' relay team represented by Mary Ann Harkins, Jackie Cordey, Pat Brown and Kathy Sauer was in second place before a spill.

In the junior class, Keith Joos took second, and William Grussemeyer tied for fourth in the standing broad jump.

William Funk placed third in the 50-yard dash.

The boys' relay team of Chuck Dabrowski, Ed Morgan, Joe Barlow and William Funk won third.

She senior boys' relay team with John Balling, Michael Hogan, Arthur Olson and Pat McCann won fifth place.

The team was coached by Irvin Wisniewski and Vance Funk.

Bill Downes Hits Babe Ruth League Grand Slam Homer

Manager Rudy Basta's Newark Lumbermen lead the Newark Babe Ruth League after the first two weeks of play with a 4-0 record, and "even though heavy hitting has been a feature of Babe Ruth League play," R. T. K'Burg reports, "no-hitters have been thrown by the Optimist's Micky Huff and Lumber's Dean Skelly."

Billy Downes of the Bankers hit a grand-slam home run—and is out for the season with an elbow fractured by a pitched ball—and other homers have been hit by Dave Taylor, VFW; and by Dick K'Burg and Dean Skelly of Newark Lumber.

Don Leamy of CDF, and Skelly each have 2-0 records as leading pitchers.

Dean Skelly leads the hit parade with a batting average of .700; Dave Taylor has posted a .538; Dick K'Burg, .467; Gary Peterson .453, and Richard Morrison, Harry Barbarika and Jack Hassman share fifth place for the batting average leaders with .400.

Dick K'Burg leads with nine RBI's; Dean Skelly has eight; Dave Taylor, six; and Tom Skripps and Bobby Hubbard, five each.

Babe Ruth League games are played at the Newark High School diamond on week days at 6 p.m., and on Saturdays at 10:30 a.m.

Richitelli Defeats Gibby Young, 3-2 In NCC Title Play

Ed Richitelli, defending champion, won his first-round match in the Newark Country Club championship golf tournament by defeating former champion Gibby Young last Saturday 3-2.

In club championship play, Tom McKenna edged Bill Hart 1-up; John Holloway beat C. Sweeney 3-2; Scotty Duncan defeated Mike Fenol 1-up; Mike Turnbull won by default from Leon Ryan, Jr.; Mitch Justice edged Curly Campellone 1-up; Art Matthews stopped Howard Armstrong 2-1; and Sank Richards walloped Dick Tweed 6-5.

Bob Stewart, Jr., beat Fred Emerson, Jr., 3-2; Doug McMinn edged Wes Barrows 1-up; Bob Simeone stopped Tom Skripps 1-up; Bill Turnbull turned back Charley Hoch 3-1; Paul McDermitt defeated Gail Lamb 4-3; Dick Bauer beat Bob Stewart III, 3-2; George Anderson topped Chauncey Dean 3-2; and Herb Matthes defeated Steve Macuga 2-1.

Carolina Jim Etheridge says the best bilge pump is "a couple of scared men in a leaky boat with a bucket," and while four men in a boat on the Chesapeake last weekend weren't scared, the additional manpower may have made up for the lack of fright as the quartet performed in a manner that would, have met with Carolina Jim's unqualified approval.

Leaving the Castle Marina on Kent Island last Saturday evening with Francis Neide, Gus Tagnon, and Gibby Young, we discovered that the bilge pump was providing as little action as the Eastern Bay rockfish after trolling from the Kent Narrows to the lee of Wade's Point and the night's anchorage. We hadn't had a strike.

The skipper of the "Young Un III" derived a brief moment of satisfaction in some mechanical tinkering down below in the cabin when he short-circuited the electrical wiring and the windshield wiper began to hum with a sound similar to the sump pump, and in the twilight, an optimistic shipmate took a quick look over the side and reported — erroneously — that the water was being pumped out of the bilge.

At that point, the bucket brigade took over.

After a steak supper aboard, we drifted over the Eastern Bay grass flats, bottom fishing with bloodworms — and instead of encountering the expected bonanza of big white perch, failed to get so much as a nibble.

A quarter-moon and some million or so stars were bright overhead, but the astral aspects of a dream night for an astronomer such as Newark's Warren Anderson were largely wasted on four fishermen who merely managed to identify the big dipper with some difficulty.

The southeast wind which blew all night, picked up a few knots the next morning as we began trolling before breakfast, with the sun hull down over the Miles River mainland.

Gus Tagnon came up with the first rock — a four-incher that grabbed a Tony spoon as Gus dropped the lure into the wash over the propeller after inspection and some hour of careful trolling with four lines far back in the more placid wake. And this first rock was taken on Francis Neide's rod as Mr. Neide momentarily left it untended.

Trolling around Tilghman's Point — a bold, wooded headland — we took another rock — an inch longer — and fished up the Miles into the Wye River and its headwaters without another strike.

Early in the afternoon, drifting before the strong wind with bloodworms and peeler crabs, we caught eight larger but still small rock on a spinning rod with a shad spoon and bloodworm combination; three good white perch; and Gus Tagnon caught the fish of the day in a big yellow perch that grabbed a minnow Mr. Tagnon had just managed to catch on a bloodworm.

We had a fish fry after all — two fish apiece — in the calm of the Castle Marina anchorage off the Chester River just before driving back to Newark.

Walter Miller of Christiana, fishing Beck's Pond with nine-year-old daughter Patsy, caught several nice bass recently with what Walter calls a "pluggy." An unreconstructed bait caster, Mr. Miller dismissed spinning rods simply, with "I don't care much about 'em."

Patsy caught some baby catfish that are now swimming around with some older resident tadpoles in a bowl in the Miller home.

"They aren't all tadpoles," Walt Miller said reflectively. "Some of them have turned into frogs."

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. "Acky" Stiltz found flounder last weekend in Sinnepuxent Bay off Ocean City, Md.

"We caught 15 nice flounder," Mrs. Stiltz said during a lull in last Tuesday night's Newark City Council meeting.

Bob Kidwell Takes Second In AAU State Pole Vault

Kidwell cleared 12-6 to finish second to Bob Cuthrell, Caesar Rodney High School coach, who vaulted a record-breaking 12-1-3/4.

Local Legion Nine Loses 3-2 Opener In Eighth Inning

Tied at the end of the regulation seven innings last Friday evening, Newark's entry in the Junior American Legion Baseball League lost its opener 3-2 in the eighth as Delaware Post No. 1 hit Newark's Tom Tulley for three singles after Tulley had given up but two hits over the regular route.

The Newark line-up for Manager Edward M. Knight's J. Allison O'Daniel Legion post players included Larry Thornton, Gary Shaner, Phil Thompson, Willard Jackson, Tom Brown, Roy Quinn, Lee Spayd, Nick Brahy, and Tulley.

Knight's nine played last night against William Penn's Legion team at New Castle, and the local Legion team play Brandywine Post at the Friends School diamond tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock.

Linton, McGlinchey Head Local Teams For Mack League

Newark's two teams in the six-club Delaware Connie Mack League, opened the season last night with Manager Bill Linton's Newark Shopping Center nine playing at Claymont, and Manager Joe McGlinchey's VFW squad opposing Swanwyck at the local Stine Lab diamond.

The Shopping Center plays at Swanwyck tonight; the Vets play Elsmere at home on the Stine diamond; and tomorrow night the two Newark teams meet at home. All games are scheduled to begin at 6 p.m.

In next week's Connie Mack League tests, the Shopping Center plays at home with Elsmere on Monday; the Vets entertain the Christiana Lions on Tuesday; and Christiana opposes the Shopping Center here at home next Wednesday, Ken Fell reports.

SNUG HARBOR!

Nestled near the mouth of the Chester River with the Love Point Light winking westward over the Chesapeake Bay beyond, the the Castle Marina on Kent Island affords a happy harbor for cruisers and sailing craft on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

The new docks aglem with green and white paint have taken shape since last winter's desolation, and the old colonial farmhouse has been transformed into a beautiful, new-but-old yacht clubhouse that leaves nothing to be desired. Nothing, that is, but more evidence of rockfish in Eastern Bay, the Chester River, and the Chesapeake itself.

Experts Offer Aid With "Spadework" In Starting Trees

There's a science to digging a hole —if it is to contain a tree!

Many homeowners handle the barbecue pit more adeptly than the planting pit. They just dig and plant and hope for the best.

Davey tree experts frown on this practice. They advise plant-it-yourself enthusiasts to be more exacting if they want their transplants to prosper.

Moving is a shock that can be cushioned for most young trees.

1. Dig a hole considerably wider than the roots and 18 inches or more deep, so that roots can be spread out naturally.

2. If the hole isn't well drained (heavy and soggy soil), drain tile should be run from the bottom of the hole to a drainage point.

3. Note the earth line on the trunk and plant the tree so that it will grow at approximately the same depth.

4. Cut off all broken or injured roots, but preserve the fibrous kind.

5. Fill the hole up to the lower root level with soil mixed with granulated peat moss. Sandy and clay soils need about 25% mixture; heavy clays even more.

6. Fill in three-quarters of the hole with the earth-peat moss mixture and pour in water to help settle it. Complete the fill-in when the water settles making sure the topsoil is loose.

7. Mulch to a depth of two to four inches with peat moss mixed with a little topsoil and attach guy wires to the tree for support.

Holstein-Freisian Record Set By University Cow

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced completion of an official production record by registered Holstein cow Imperious Gobersa, an eight-year-old owned by the University of Delaware, with 16,000 pounds of milk and 613 pounds of butterfat in 305 days.

In contrast, annual production of the average U. S. dairy cow is 7,000 pounds of milk containing 265 pounds of butterfat.

Consumer Forum Stresses New Product Trial Need

Consumers should stop being suspicious of new products! Instead, they should be eager to try them; buy them; and tell their neighbors about them—if the products satisfy.

This was the message of Mrs. Jean W. Rindlaub, vice-president of Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborn, Inc., New York advertising firm, to 200 persons attending the second Delaware Consumer Forum in Georgetown.

ARCHEOLOGY SPEAKERS

Dr. and Mrs. Allen Schiek will address a meeting of the Northeastern chapter, Archeological Society of Maryland, this Friday at the Cecil County Library, Elkton, at 8 p.m.

Janet Coblentz, Author Of Quick Meal Booklet

Have you ever wished that you could simply wave a magic wand and a colorful, tasty meal would appear on your table?

With many prepared and partially prepared foods available, the modern homemaker can work such magic, according to Janet Coblentz, University of Delaware extension nutrition specialist.

A new university publication, "Quick Meals for Busy Homemakers," and written by Miss Coblentz, explains how.

The pamphlet can be obtained free from your county home demonstration agent or by writing to the Mailing Room, School of Agriculture, University of Delaware.

Money may not buy happiness, but it sure helps you look for it in more interesting places.

FLAG DAY

June 14, 1962

No one really knows who designed the American Flag.

There is the legend that Betsy Ross, acting on the instructions of a congressional committee, stitched together the original pattern of stripes and stars.

There is the legend that George Washington proposed the design as an adaptation of his own family coat-of-arms.

There is the legend that Francis Hopkinson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, created the first sketch from which the first flag was made.

None of these legends is fully documented. The origin of the flag which the Continental Congress at Philadelphia adopted on June 14, 1777, remains a mystery.

But there is no mystery about what the flag stands for. It was fashioned out of an overwhelming desire for liberty, and it endures as the emblem of our personal freedoms . . . the freedoms of self-expression, of self-determination, of individual enterprise.

Let us reaffirm our belief in the moral rightness of these freedoms by displaying the flag — not only on Flag Day, but on every patriotic occasion. And let us constantly be alert to make sure our freedoms are not abridged . . . so that our flag will have, for future generations of Americans, the glorious meaning it holds for us today.

Grant Of $750,000 To Extend Studies For Life Sciences

Federal Funds Available With Longwood Foundation Fund For Wolf Hall Wing

Plans to enlarge research and instructional facilities in the life sciences have been announced by Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware.

A $750,000 grant from the Longwood Foundation will enable the university to receive matching grants from two federal agencies. The National Science Foundation and the National Institutes of Health will each make grants of approximately $300,000 to finance construction of a wing on Wolf Hall.

The addition will be devoted principally to laboratories for research and graduate study in psychology and the biological sciences; will contain an aquarium room, greenhouse facilities, and a soundproof, shielded laboratory for psychological testing.

"The University of Delaware is once again grateful to the Longwood Foundation for its generous support in the development of science at this university," President Perkins said. "Some of the significant advances in medical science in the last few years have come from highly qualified researchers in the basic sciences in laboratories on university campuses. With these new facilities we hope not only to conduct more research here but, equally important, to train individual men and women capable of making valuable contributions in these fields."

Dr. Bruce Partridge, vice-president for business and management, said that in addition to development of the new wing, improvements to existing Wolf Hall, constructed in 1917, will be made.

The recent gift is the second major contribution by the Longwood Foundation for the construction of university facilities.

An $875,000 grant in 1956 provided part of the funds for Pierre S. du Pont Hall, newest engineering building on the campus.

Termite Control Exhibition Slated At Theta Chi Frat

County agents, pest control operators, and others interested will have an opportunity to see how a professional "termite job" is done at a special demonstration in Newark next Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

Members of the Delaware Pest Control Association cooperating with the department of entomology at the University of Delaware will perform a complete termite treatment on the Theta Chi fraternity house on West Park Place in Newark.

According to Dr. Dale F. Bray, entomologist with the University of Delaware, members of the pest control association will be there with the equipment needed for professional termite control.

Each operator will be assigned a certain portion of the large three-story house. They will treat all areas of the house including the foundation, joists, and walls.

One particular problem, Bray notes, is a large, concrete slab front porch that runs the full length of the house. It will be necessary to drill through the concrete with pneumatic drills to properly treat termites under the porch, he says.

Management Consultants

Councilwoman Betty McClendon expressed disappointment with Neide's presentation of "one bid in five weeks" with the quest for a firm of management consultants to survey the public works department, and two more bids are to be obtained for council decision.

Folsom announced that he had arranged for a Du Pont Company management specialist to confer voluntarily with council concerning the proposed survey, and a meeting is to be arranged for Monday or Wednesday of next week.

A postage meter is to be purchased to realize savings in labor and material with the mailing of 4,000 monthly electrical department billings; the $300 purchase of a right-of-way from the Pennsylvania Railroad for installation of a sewer to serve the Arbour Park home development was approved with the restriction that the railroad be denied free tapping into the line; and a proposal to control sidewalk display of merchandise in the city by prohibiting such display within 20-ft. of the curb, is to be reviewed.

William H. Porter in the audience sat through an hour and a half of the council meeting to be advised that approval of his offer to paint the B&O Railroad bridge over Capitol Trail was to be deferred pending development of the railroad's announced plans for painting its own bridge — without automobile agency advertising.

Mrs. Albert Couden Heads Vacation Bible Classes

Mrs. Albert Couden will direct Daily Vacation Bible School at Head of Christiana United Presbyterian Church, June 18-29, for all children four years of age through junior high school.

Classes will be conducted Monday through Friday, beginning at 9 a.m., and a bus will provide transportation, traveling the Sunday route.

The Rev. Richard L. Loringer is minister at Head of Christiana, and Larry W. Timmons is Sunday School superintendent.

Bob Hughes Tops Odds To Win At Table Tennis

In spite of ever-increasing handicaps, the experienced table tennis players are still working thier way through local events, and Bob Hughes at -8 won last week's Newark Table Tennis Club feature. The handicap is a player's starting score, thus Hughes, has to win 29 points to take a standard 21-point game.

In the final, Hughes beat Bob Earle, 0-handicap and eased past semi-finalist Rufford Harrison (-5).

Hughes had other wins over Dick Organist (4), Jim Saxton (10) Tom Newlin (2) and the other half of the Earle combo, Bernita (12).
