ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY

Betty Johnson, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Johnston, was painfully hurt, but fortunately escaped serious injury, last Wednesday afternoon when struck by an automobile driven by George L. Townsend, Jr. Mr. Townsend's machine struck her as she darted across Depot road on her bicycle. The little girl was knocked off her wheel to the road and the bicycle was wrecked. Mr. Townsend picked her up and carried her into her home where several stitches had to be taken to close a laceration on the back of her head. Apart from that and some bruises she sustained no other injuries.

At the time of the accident there was a tennis tournament in progress on the University courts, and cars lined both sides of the road, leaving but narrow driving space in the middle. Mr. Townsend was driving slowly down this narrow lane when the child wheeled into the road in front of his car.

ENLISTS IN ARMY

Private Harry C. Harrigan, son of Mrs. Ellen Harrigan, of Newark, who recently enlisted for service with the Detachment Enlisted Men's branch of the Regular Army, has been assigned to duty with troops of the Ninth Corps Area, and left New York City last week aboard the United States Army Transport Chateau Thierry for San Francisco.

Upon his arrival at San Francisco Private Harrigan and the young men who sailed today with him will be sent to Fort McDowell, California, from which place they will be assigned to permanent stations throughout the Ninth Corps Area. This area embraces the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and California, in which are located many ancient and historic posts closely associated with the romantic history of the West from the time of the first Spanish explorations.

Newark Urged To Widespread Display Of American Flags On Memorial Day

Chamber of Commerce Scores Town for Lack of Patriotic Zeal; Arranges Special Price to Merchants for Flags; Flags Should be Placed in Curb Sockets

At the meeting of the Directors of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, last Friday night, R. W. Heim, chairman of the Civic Committee, brought up the question of the display of the United States Flag on Memorial Day. It was pointed out that Newark was somewhat delinquent in showing patriotic zeal in this respect, and that on patriotic occasions the flag displays in such towns as Elkton, Middletown and Dover usually put Newark's display to shame.

The directors unanimously agreed that all effort should be expended to make the flag display in Newark on Memorial Day one of which the town need not be ashamed, and the Civic Committee was instructed to push the matter vigorously. Pursuant to this, the Civic Committee negotiated with the H. W. Vandever Company, of 909 Market street, Wilmington, for a special price on flags. Mr. Vandever agreed to make a special price on flags to Newark merchants and to send a representative here on Friday morning to call on each merchant and take orders for flags at the special discount price. It will be necessary that the order be given at the time of the representative's call in order that the flags be delivered before Memorial Day.

It is suggested that in order to make the display on Main street uniform, that flags be placed in the sockets along the curb, rather than from second story windows or porches.

In addition to the Vandever arrangement for flags, Professor Heim calls attention to the offer made by the Delmarvia Star in its edition of last Sunday. This offer was made on a coupon, but Professor Heim took the matter up with Joseph H. Martin, publisher of the "Star", and was assured that no resident of Newark would be refused a flag if they called at the office of the "Star" with or without a coupon.

The Chamber of Commerce earnestly urges that every residence and business house in Newark display a flag or flags on Memorial Day.

Large Crowd Expected At Peninsula Meeting

Keen Interest Indicated In Del-Mar-Va Association's Third Meeting

That the third annual meeting of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association, which will be held in the Wicomico Hotel, Salisbury, Md., May 25th, will attract one of the largest gatherings of Peninsula citizens interested in the promotion of its economic welfare and development ever assembled, is evidenced by scores of letters of a commendatory nature being received by Dr. G. Layton Grier, the Association's President.

While the Association's officials have recognized the increase in direct interest in its activities because of the increase in new members for the coming three years, additional expression of direct concern voiced in the letters received has given reason to believe that the annual meeting will be attended by a far greater representation of citizens than have ever before participated.

Plans for the meeting are being rapidly completed and at Association's headquarters it is said that beyond doubt a typical Eastern Shore welcome by a representative Eastern Shore audience will be given the distinguished speakers of the meeting. The speakers are: Mr. Lloyd S. Tenny, Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics, a figure of national prominence; Mr. Dan S. Hollenga, Business Manager of the Petersburg, Virginia, Chamber of Commerce, and widely known as the "Billy Sunday of the American Legion"; and Dr. Alfred Pearce Dennis, Vice-Chairman of the U. S. Tariff Commission, a native of the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula, and nationally and internationally known as a diplomat and economist.

A clean-cut business program has been arranged for the meeting. The morning session will be devoted to an address by President Grier, followed by a report from the Executive Director, Dr. F. B. Bomberger, and departmental reports by the Chairmen of the Traffic and Transportation Committee and the Publicity and Advertising Committee.

The meeting will be thrown open to informal discussion as to the Association's future program in which members are to be especially requested to participate. The election of officers will also take place. During the afternoon the speakers, each with a subject of direct and vital interest to Del-Mar-Va, will be heard.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS MEET

Vote Donations to Nurses Association and Flower Hospital at Dinner Meeting

The Board of Directors of the Newark Chamber of Commerce met for dinner at Coverdale Restaurant, last Friday night, and after the dinner held its regular monthly business meeting. It was decided to discontinue monthly meetings until September, except at the call of the president.

A donation of $50 was voted for the Visiting Nurses Association, and a similar donation was awarded the Flower Hospital.

Mayor Frazer reported the success of the Council of Newark in securing watchman service at the North College avenue railroad crossing.

Professor R. W. Heim reported the progress of the Civic Committee with its clean-up campaign, and the committee was commended for the splendid work it had done.

It was reported that the State Highway Department would probably start work in the near future on the road from Christiana to Hare's Corners. Both the Newark and New Castle Chambers of Commerce were interested in this road and cooperated in a petition and delegation to the Highway Department to have it put through.

A., commanding the Delaware unit. Captain Gordy's company, Company A, was judged the best company in the unit in competitive drill, and Lieutenant Wright's platoon carried off the platoon honors.

G. W. Elliott and Josiah Marvel Speakers at Banquet; Ralph Stephenson Awarded Scholarship

One hundred and ninety-one members of the Sons of Delaware, of Philadelphia, made their annual visit to the University of Delaware, last Saturday. In the afternoon the guests attended the May Day exercises of the Women's College and a baseball game on Frazer Field. At 5:30 they sat down to a banquet in Old College.

George W. Elliott, former Director of Public Safety of Philadelphia, and Josiah Marvel, of Wilmington, were the principal speakers and both gave interesting and humorous talks.

There were several musical features provided by students of the Women's College including selections by the Women's College Glee Club which were greatly appreciated. Miss Ann Barclay, violinist, and Miss Eleanor Edge, pianist, also gave selections. The community singing was led by William P. White, of Wilmington.

The dinner was prepared by the dietary staff of Delaware College and served by student waiters. $138.60 was collected to be divided evenly between the waiters and the Athletic Association.

For some years this society has given, annually, a $300 scholarship to a Delaware student. James E. Wilson, of New Castle, who graduates next month and who has received this scholarship for three years, was a guest at the dinner and gave a short

Dr. Adam's Spray Notes Released This Week

Tell When To Spray And What To Use For Various Plant Afflictions

Spray notes reared by Dr. J. F. Adams, Plant Pathologist of the Experiment Station, were released last week through the office of Acting County Agent Ed Willim, Jr., of Newark. These notes are prepared by Dr. Adams and are sent to all persons on the spray list in the County Extension Office. Anyone interested in having their names placed on this list will please get in communication with the Acting County Agent. The spray notes are as follows:

Apples

The seasonable weather since the first of May has favored rapid growth development and this week will find the majority of varieties swinging in to the petal-fall stage. April was the most favorable conditions for scab infection we have had for several years. High winds and rainy weather prevented timely spraying. Scab infection was showing up on leaves the second week of May, especially in Kent County. If heavy infection shows up, it is essential to put on a thorough application at this time in order to check a secondary infection. Remember our scab infection period is not over. Where growers have not used an oil spray the Rosey Aphid is showing up in the lower counties.

When to Spray

The Calyx or Petal Fall application should be applied immediately after petal fall but before the calyx lobes have closed. Sometimes in order to complete on time, it is necessary to start when three-fourths of petals have fallen. On account of uneven bloom in many varieties, two applications are made or what they call split applications. If weather is rainy or windy make two applications. In this spray the rod appears to do better work than the gun.

What to Spray With

Use commercial lime-sulphur (testing 32 Baume) at rate of 5 gallons to 195 gallons of water (1-40 strength). Add 6 pounds of dry arsenate of lead to each 200 gallons of spray. Because of possible arsenical injury to fruit and leaves add about 12 pounds of lime to each tank of 200 gallons. Wash in the lead after the lime-sulphur is diluted. Never add lead to concentrated spray.

Where growers are equipped for dusting use a standard Sulphur-Arsenate-Lime mixture.

Bordeaux mixture is not a safe spray to use at this time unless it is necessary to clean up Apple Blotch. If Aphid is present add Nicotine Sulphate (Black Leaf 40) 1 1/2 pints to 200 gallons of spray. Two quarts of fish-oil soap with this mixture will increase the efficiency.

Purpose of Spray

This will be one of the most important sprays for holding in check the scab infection as well as Frog-Eye leaf spot. The success of Codling Moth control is greatly dependent upon the efficiency that this spray is applied.

Pests such as Curculio, Canker Worms, Tent Caterpillar, Leaf Roller and Bud Moth are also controlled with this spray.

Peaches

Some growers do not like to think of this crop as in many plantings practically all fruit prospects have been eliminated by low temperature injury, especially in Sussex and Kent Counties. However, many plantings have prospects of fruit especially in the two upper counties.

Petal fall was practically completed for all varieties last week. Rapid development will occur with warm weather. There is usually a ten-day period between petal fall and shedding of shucks, but is likely to be a shorter interval this season.

For growers experiencing severe injury from curculio, we are making the following recommendations. When majority of husks start to split and first show the little green peach apply the first spray or dust. About five days later or when husks or shucks are nearly off, repeat application. For these two sprays, use Dry-Mix 32 lbs. and 4 lbs. of arsenate of lead for each 200 gallons of spray mixture. For dusting use a 80-5-15 or 2 70-10-20 mixture.

Where curculio is not a serious pest, our standard recommendation is as follows: Dry-Mix at rate of 50 lbs. for each 200 gal. of spray mixture plus 6 pounds of lead arsenate. Start this application when husks or shucks have split and are being shed. Do not delay until husks or shucks are nearly off as considerable curculio injury may occur.

Purpose of Spray

This spray or dust application is

Two Blue And Gold Pitchers Fail To Stem Barrage; Delaware Plays Poor Ball

The University of Delaware baseball team was sadly blighted yesterday afternoon, on Frazer Field, when Temple University shut it out 13 to 0. Part of it was due to the fact that Temple was very good, and more than half of it because Delaware was very poor. Temple drove Crossgrove from the mound in the fourth, and hit Snogger hard for the other five innings. Snowberger and Glasser were the only Delawareans that seemed to be able to connect with the ball, and Hill was the only Blue and Gold performer that didn't look like a soccer candidate. Score:

essential for Scab, Brown-Rot and Curculio.

Frost cracks on apple leaves are showing up but must not be confused with scab or Frog-Eye infection.

No estimate has been made of the frost injury that occurred on the 15th, 16th and 17th of April. With many varieties there will be no effect on the set of fruit. In Sussex County the Early Ripe and Transparent would seem to be most effected. In some plantings estimates of injury vary from 30 to 80 per cent.

Do not spray out last portions of a tank by stopping at and drenching one tree.

Spraying too close with gun because of high pressure will often cause injury to the young developing fruit and leaves.

SOAKING DOWN WHEELS AN OLD FARM RITE

Before motor vehicles—automobiles and tractors—found their way to the farms, largely superseding the old wagons and buggies, the practice of "soaking down" wooden wheels was very general. Today there are still a few thrifty farmers who make a regular habit of thoroughly wetting the wheels of such vehicles—where the vehicles have survived. The object, of course, was to make the wood swell, thus preventing drying out and keeping the spokes from rattling and the wheels themselves from tumbling to pieces.

Even in this era of hard-surfaced roads and an ever-lessening number of horse-drawn outfits, one will notice, particularly throughout New England, occasional places where the highway crosses a shallow stream or brook. At one side of the little bridge or culvert under which the water runs, the road will branch, making a short loop down the slight incline, through the rivulet and back up on to the main route again.

When the country roads were built these little detours were for three purposes. They made it possible for the farmer to wet the wheels of his wagon or buggy, to water his horse and to soak the animal's hoofs—humane and utilitarian observances incidental to travel over the hot, dusty roads.

Years ago the farmer who thought well enough of his rolling stock to take good care of it was very particular not to neglect the "soaking down" treatment. Sometimes when he was going on a long trip he would take the wheels off his vehicle and stand them in a long watering trough generally to be found in the farm yard. At intervals he would turn them around so the soaking would be complete.

"THE JAZZ SINGER"

The Vitaphone, the voice of the screen and the most important development in "talking pictures" in a generation, will be introduced to Delaware audiences for the first time with its debut as a permanent attraction at the Arcadia Theatre, Wilmington. Al Jolson's picture "The Jazz Singer" one of the most successful made with the Vitaphone and in itself a drama of engrossing realism will be the screen attraction.

Thousands of dollars were spent by the Stanley Company of America to supply the delicate recording and amplifying apparatus necessary for Vitaphone and in its placement the exhibitors have added a real theatrical attraction.

Al Jolson has in "The Jazz Singer" his first photoplay and a triumph that brings not only the comedian but his crooning voice to the screen. The Vitaphone will reproduce his famous Mammy Songs and others in the course of the performance.

Daniel Stoll Awarded Oil-O-Matic Franchise

Oil-O-Matic Heaters Outsell All Others

Survey Shows Twice As Many Installed As All Other Oil Heaters; Stoll Recommends Copper For Drain Pipes

Daniel Stoll, 20 West Main street, Newark, who has earned an enviable reputation in this part of the State as a plumbing, heating and roofing contractor, has recently been granted the exclusive franchise for this territory for the Williams Oil-O-Matic oil heater, and is already preparing to install machines in Newark residences.

An oil burner survey, recently completed by the Popular Science Monthly disclosed the fact that in the last three years there have been twice as many Oil-O-Matics sold in the U. S. than all the other 184 different makes of oil burners put together, and that 98.7 of the users of Oil-O-Matics reported complete satisfaction. Mr. Pierre S. du Pont has had 63 Oil-O-Matics installed on his estate at Longwood.

Mr. Stoll has hundreds of testimonials from Oil-O-Matic users telling of their economy of fuel over any other kind of heater, their convenience and perfect operation.

The activities of Mr. Stoll are not confined particularly to Newark. He has completed a number of contracts for the installation of plumbing, heating plants and roofing in Westover Hills, the new fashionable development just outside of Wilmington. He is now renewing the equipment in Mrs. J. Pilling Wright's old homestead, near Harrington, and he is installing a vapor heating plant in a community church house at North East. Two of his Newark contracts are the new Presbyterian Sunday School and the new residence that William E. Holton is building, both of these being subcontracted from the Smyth Construction Company.

Mr. Stoll reports that copper is becoming increasingly popular in building and replacements of drain pipes and gutters. It costs no more to install than other materials and once installed is good for the lifetime of a building.

HUTCHISON TO LAY MARSHALLTON SIDEWALKS

At Dover last week a contract was given out for the building of sidewalks and curbing at Marshallton, Delaware. James Hutchison, local contractor, was the successful bidder, getting the contract at approximately $14,000. The job calls for 1058 feet of sidewalks and curbing along the highway, five feet of walk to be on each side. This sidewalk is something urgently needed at Marshallton, as a zone of safety for pedestrians.

Another contract just received by Mr. Hutchison calls for the remodeling of the buildings on the old Nicholas Johnson estate at Farmington, nine miles below Milford. Work on this is to be started within two weeks. Extensive repairs are to be made on all buildings on the estate, with considerable remodeling. A new kitchen wing is to be erected and the entire place modernized by the installation of complete plumbing, heating, water and lighting systems. All this work is done under the direction of Mr. J. P. Wright of this city.

Other work being done by Mr. Hutchison is progressing satisfactorily. The walls of the new ice station on Main street have been erected; the Grover residence in Wilmington has been plastered and the tile and woodwork is being installed. At Newport the Dielectric plant main building is completed with the boiler house still to be erected.

PATCHELL & MARSHALL DESIGN VARSITY BUCKLE

A new buckle is being displayed by Patchell and Marshall, Main street haberdashers. It is a belt buckle finished in the University colors—a gold seal centered in a large blue "U".

The buckle was designed by Mr. Patchell.

Both Mr. Patchell and Mr. Marshall have been students at the University and the Varsity Shop has been very popular with Delaware men. High class merchandise and up-to-date styles have been featured.

A new line—the Faultless No-Belt pajamas and underwear garments, adapted for the comfort of the wearer by doing away with the necessity of a tight belt through the use of a non-restricting elastic; Ide collars, shirts, and underwear, the latest patterns in neckwear are also featured in the Shop.

The cleaning, pressing, and dyeing business formerly conducted by Clements & Outten, has been continued by the firm and is giving very satisfactory service.

NEWARK TRUST INAUGURATES EVENING BANKING SERVICE

A new feature to the city's banking service was inaugurated last Wednesday evening by the Newark Trust Company. The bank opened at 6:30 P. M., standard time, and remained open for business until 8:30. Each Wednesday until further notice this evening service will be continued.

Banks in larger cities all over the country have adopted an evening service, which has proved a great convenience to patrons who cannot easily get to the bank during the day.

The Newark Trust Company has always endeavored to make its service personal and adjust itself as far as practicable so as best to serve the public. This evening service is an extension of that policy that will no doubt prove gratifying to its patrons.

11 YEARS EXPERIENCE WITH ONE INCUBATOR

Every incubator has its own peculiarities and each hatcheryman must spend some time catching on to these differences. Eleven years experience with one type of incubator, the Newtown, has been the record of G. W. Murray, of the Murray Poultry Farm, on Barksdale Road. Mr. Murray was one of the first to see the advantages of the Newtown, eleven years ago; he has stuck to this type of incubator ever since, and the passing of time has served to indicate the correctness of his choice. Today it is one of the most popular and successful of the many on the market.

This experience of Mr. Murray's is passed on to his customers in the form of better chicks. The fluffy youngsters reared under the expert hand of this hatcheryman are sturdy little chicks that weather many a storm less fortunate chicks fall victim.

The Silverbrook workshop is renowned for its fine work.

In granite, marble, and onyx monuments are craved by the master craftsmen at the Ayars shop, beautiful memorials to those who have passed into the Great Beyond. It is at this period each year that the thoughts of those who have loved ones on the other side turn to a permanent memorial—so that the Silverbrook Works is operating at capacity.

USE SHARP MOWER ONLY

A sure method of tearing up your lawn and spoiling its appearance is that of using a dull lawn mower. The long grass blades twine themselves around the whirling knives and are torn up by the roots or raggedly slashed instead of neatly and cleanly cut.

Look over your mower carefully—if the blades are not sharp send it immediately to a good shop—such as that conducted by Harry L. Solomon at 102 North Union street, Wilmington. Mr. Solomon has had several years experience in this business and has an exceptionally well-equipped plant for this kind of work... the

MODERN ALLADIN'S CRY

"New lamps for old" cried the vendor in the old tale of Alladin and his Lamp. Today it is mattresses instead of lamps and the Wilmington Mattress Company, of Thirteenth and French streets, Wilmington, is the magician who takes your old mattress, renovates, recovers, and makes it into a new one. Or, perhaps, it is a feather bed which is taken in hand and—Presto!—is changed into a mattress.

As this branch of the mattress business becomes better known more and more people are sending their worn or spring-rusted mattresses to the factory for repairs.

Fly A Flag

Newark has been charged by its own Chamber of Commerce with a lack of patriotic interest and zeal in the matter of displaying the Flag of the United States on patriotic occasions, which draws embarrassing comparisons between Newark and some of its community neighbors. It urges that Newark redeem itself by making its Memorial Day flag display second to that of no town in the State.

This is a matter that should require little urging, particularly on such an occasion as Memorial Day. As a matter of community pride, Newark should have an impressive display on this day, and as a visible indication of the respect we bear to those whose memories we honor at that time, every residence, every business house should fly an American Flag.

New Castle County Loses Many Chicks

22.3% of Chicks Lost in First
Month, Due Mainly to Weather

In continuing the "Grow Health Chicks" campaign inaugurated at the beginning of the season by Mr. H. S. Palmer, Extension Poultryman, reports indicate that the losses of baby chicks in New Castle County are excessively high this spring. Twenty-six poultrymen have reported that they have lost 22.3 per cent of the baby chicks started, by the end of the first month. This information was given out yesterday by New Castle County Acting County Agent Ed William, Jr., of Newark.

"These losses," continues Mr. William, "are very high. The mortality as shown by records received in the lower county has been comparatively low, amounting to about 11 per cent at the end of the first month, while that in Kent County was 10.8 per cent during the same period. The principal cause of these greater losses in New Castle County has no doubt been due to the weather conditions and poorer housing facilities. Due to the damp, cold weather the poultry in New Castle and Kent Counties, where the soil is heavier and more inclined to hold moisture than that of Sussex, have suffered severely from Infectious Bronchitis.

It has been advised that no more report cards will be sent out to the cooperating farmers in this campaign until about October 1, but every poultryman is requested to keep as close an account as possible on their chick losses from now on until that date, when the final loss for the season card is sent to each one. More pink mortality cards are being distributed to the poultrymen in order that they will have a card readily accessible on which they can keep their mortality losses during this period.

The fifth instruction letter of the campaign is now ready to be sent out to those farmers who have shown some interest by returning at least one of the questionnaire cards requested through the County Agent's office. The information on this instruction letter is very timely and seasonal for those poultrymen who have flocks of birds from four to eight weeks of age. It includes directions for fattening broilers, separating cockerels and pullets, and the use of roosts to induce the habit of roosting at an early date with the young birds. The following instructions on the fattening of broilers have been prepared by Mr. Palmer in this instruction letter:

Fattening the Broilers

The two principle ingredients for a fattening ration are yellow corn meal and milk. Most any growing mash can be turned into a satisfactory fattening ration by adding enough corn meal to equal 50 per cent of the mixture and enough dried milk to equal 10 per cent of the mixture.

Some special formulas for fattening are as follows:

No. 1.—60 lbs. corn meal, 20 lbs. ground hulled oats, 15 lbs. flour middling or red dog, 10 lbs. dried milk.

No. 2 (Connecticut).—100 lbs. corn meal, 50 lbs. ground oatmeal, 50 lbs. flour middlings, 30 lbs. beef scrap.

Mix the mash to a thin batter with water, and feed in troughs three times a day. If liquid or semi-solid milk is used for mixing, the dried milk or meat scrap should be omitted. The semi-solid is diluted 1 to 3 with water. Two pounds of liquid or diluted semi-solid will mix 1 pound of mash.

After the third day no more drinking water is given until near the end of the fattening period. Sufficient water is contained in the batter.

Late in the afternoon a feeding of whole corn may be given.

Place the birds to be fattened in a pen to themselves. Provide enough at once. Starve the birds for twelve feed hoppers for all the birds to eat hours before starting on the fattening ration. Give water but no feed. Then give a very light feeding of the fattening ration. Continue feeding less than the birds would consume at each feeding for two days. Then if they are eating heartily, they should get all they will eat from the third day on. Remove all left-over feed from the troughs 30 minutes after each feeding. This is very important to maintain an appetite. In case the birds do not eat heartily at any time, one or two feedings should be omitted.

About two weeks is as long as the birds should be held on the fattening ration.

Even before the cockerels are ready to be fattened for market they should be separated from the pullets. This will give the pullets a better chance to get their share of the feed and also furnish more room which is very important. If no special house is available for the cockerels, a place can be provided by shifting a pen of layers after they have been shinned down by culling. If the chicks have been brooded in a permanent brooder house the separation can be made by moving the pullets out to specially prepared Summer Roosting Shelters, and leaving the cockerels where they are. These Summer Roosting Shelters provide an excellent means of getting the pullets out on clean ground and good pasture. Plans for building these Summer Roosting Shelters can be had by writing to the County Agricultural Agent or to the Extension Poultryman at the University of Delaware.

It is very important that the pullets have roosts and learn to use them before hot weather comes. Roosting on the floor makes them much more likely to become overheated at night and take cold. If low roosts are put in when the chicks are three or four weeks old they will gradually take to them and save the vexing task of teaching them to roost later by setting them up night after night by hand.

Clean, dry litter on the floor is the most important single factor about the brooder house. The litter catches a large part of the droppings and filth from the chicks and unless it is cleaned out and renewed frequently it becomes a constant source of danger.

Regardless of the type of feed hopper that is used, the cleanliness of the feed depends very much upon the cleanliness of the litter. Many good poultrymen are changing their litter every week and more often if it becomes damp because of rainy weather.

Clean ground is perhaps next to clean litter in importance. It seems impossible to grow healthy pullets on ground that is contaminated with coccidiosis, round worms, etc. The Summer Roosting Shelter mentioned above offers a good means of providing clean ground.

Another plan that will help is to rake, or harrow all bare spots around the house after every rain. This and the application of some lime each time helps very much to keep the soil pure and sweet.

CHANGE BULLETIN NOS. OF STATE AG. BOARD

With the publication of bulletin Volume 18, Number 1, Report of Plant Pathologist and Plant Disease Survey, 1927, the series of bulletins issued annually by the State Board of Agriculture was changed. The annual publications of this Department will now be as follows:

No. 1—Report of Plant Pathologist and Disease Survey.

No. 2—Report of State Laboratory, January-June.

No. 3—Annual Report of State Board of Agriculture.

No. 4—Report of State Laboratory, July-December.

The subject of bulletin Number 1 may be varied from year to year. The Report of the State Laboratory includes the analysis of feeds, fertilizers, limes, etc. These bulletins are all sent free of charge.

A letter has been sent out to all persons on the mailing list for these bulletins, requesting them to advise the State Board of Agriculture whether or not they wish to continue receiving these bulletins; and, if so, what numbers they desire sent them each year. In the future, bulletins will be sent only to those who have requested them.

Anyone who did not receive one of these letters may have their name placed on the list to receive these bulletins annually by making application to the State Board of Agriculture, Dover, Delaware. The number of the bulletins desired should be stated in making application.

SPRING SEASON LATE

Once more farmers are handicapped by backwardness of the spring season, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in its May report on the agricultural situation. A copy of this report has been received by Acting County Agent of New Castle County, Ed William, Jr., from whose office this information is being released. The report has the following to say concerning agricultural conditions, especially those of the eastern part of the United States:

The wet weather, coupled with severe cold waves, has held back field work and seriously retarded the germination and growth of early crops already in the ground. The frosts of last month apparently did not find fruit buds far enough along to be heavily damaged, except in parts of the Southwest. Last year was a poor year for fruit, but so far this season the situation looks different.

Among the important cash crops which have been going into the ground recently, potatoes apparently are slated for one of the greatest increases in acreage. Growers have reported their intentions to plant nearly 12 per cent more acres to potatoes than last year. This increase may not actually occur, but if it does and if 1928 is an average growing season, there is a real chance that there will be a potato crop big enough to break the market next fall. According to the Acting County Agent, the potato growers in New Castle County are planting about the same acreage as last year, with a possible increase of 15 per cent. "If the total increase statement," says Mr. William, "potato growers in this county, even though they have not increased their acreage, will suffer with the rest of the producers if the crop next fall is large and the market low.

The agricultural situation in the East, as outlined by this report, is as follows: Field work under way slowly. Sowing oats in north and beginning to fit land for later crops. Maple sugar harvest of the eastern states reported not very large. Some potatoes up from New Jersey southward and preparation of land in progress for other crops. Occasional reports of frost damage to fruit in April but not extensive. Winter damaged wheat, pastures, and meadows, especially young clover and alfalfa. Spring sales show high prices for dairy cows, likewise tendency toward higher prices for heavy horses.

Memorial Day Program Includes Parade and Exercises

The exercises at the Memorial Rock, on Old College campus, will begin at 10 o'clock. Ira S. Brinser is arranging this program for the Legion committee.

The exercises will open with an invocation by Paul Lovett, chaplain of the Newark Legion Post. The audience will then sing "America." Major R. G. Buckingham, Civil War Veteran, will recite Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address." The audience will sing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Colonel S. J. Smith, national chaplain of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and chaplain of the Newark Veterans Post, will give the Memorial Day address. This will be followed by a Eulogy to the Dead, the giver of which has not as yet been announced. THE AMERICAN SERIES

A NOTABLE project!—to perpetuate, in sterling silver, the outstanding periods in America's artistic development. Thus far, there are only two designs, covering the entire scope of American life. MINUET—representing Early America... PINE TREE—representing the America of today. Each is notable not only for historic importance and fidelity to period, but for its charm and individuality.

In view of the widespread interest shown in the American Series sterling, we have arranged a complete display of both MINUET and PINE TREE. We shall be glad to show these patterns to you.

PLAN CONCERT SERIES

The concert of the Choral Society of the Newark New Century Club which was given in the clubhouse last Thursday night, proved such a great success, and was so thoroughly enjoyed by everyone attending, that the society has received a large number of petitions to repeat the program. It has been decided that it would be impracticable to arrange for another concert in the near future, but the society is planning a series of concerts to be given next Fall and Winter. They will follow the same plan as the first one, having a diversified musical program, followed by dancing and bridge.

HOW MUCH SHALL STUDENTS PAY?

The recommendation that college students should pay the costs of education provides good food for thought, but like a fresh vegetable, it needs plenty of salt. Again, it is like certain ingredients in cooking which need to dissolve slowly, as otherwise they spoil rather than improve the dish. This is, in fact, the wisdom expressed by Dr. Trevor Arnett, member of the General Education Board, in discussing, a few days ago, the new women's college to be established in Bennington, Vt. This college expects to meet almost the entire expenses through tuition fees. Dr. Arnett favors this program, but he advocates gradual rather than sudden adoption of it.

The Bennington plan of raising tuition fees is interesting when contrasted with the combined statement made a few months ago by the heads of the seven most prominent women's colleges in eastern United States. The latter declared emphatically that further increase of fees in order to have students more nearly pay actual expenses would mean ruinous discrimination against the daughters of professional and trade people—while the colleges, through loss of this desirable class of student, would be entering chiefly to the wealthy and ceasing to build for democracy.

In the United States, which has deliberately adopted the working ideal of equal educational opportunity for all, no college can afford to turn down the able and in every way worthy student who is lacking only in funds. Loan funds and scholarships are necessary and desirable. A system of such aids is a part of the Bennington program. There are a few colleges where the hearty cooperation of banks has been obtained in arrangements which permit of students receiving adequate loans in a most businesslike way. In higher education men have come generally to agree that students should assume more of the cost of college, and that it is wholesome for them to do so. The point at which careful judgment is required is where the financial obligation undertaken by the student becomes more than is reasonable for the non-wage-earning person or the future professional man or tradesman to carry. For it is still true, and may always be true, that the majority of students cannot before graduation earn their whole expenses, nor could thousands of those going into certain of the professions or of the trades pay off a debt of, say, $5000 in a short period of time.—Christian Science Monitor.

Christiana

In gold. Mr. Prouse is a retired Methodist minister, and is the father of Rev. Clarence Prouse, of Chalfont, Pa., who, with his family, often visits here—his wife having formerly been Miss Priscilla Appleby, of this place.

In the early hours of Sunday morning, a blast, both loud and long, was sounded on the fire siren. But it proved to be nothing but noise; for, so far as anyone could discover, there was no fire. Apparently someone was in the mood for celebrating some joyous event, and took this method of working off his excess spirits!

Three girls from Christiana were among the Newark High School seniors who spent three days last week on a sight-seeing trip to Washington. They were Ella Moore, Elizabeth Campbell and Ruth Phelps, all of whom, of course, report a wonderful time.

Last week Mr. Olan J. Cleaver and family visited a cousin, Mr. Russell Cleaver, of Chesapeake City, Md.

Miss Mary and Mr. Reese Moody, of Wilmington, and Mr. Warren Singler, of Newark, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moody.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Cleaver and their children spent Sunday with Mrs. Cleaver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leasure, of Glasgow.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Victor, of Stanton, were visitors at the Cleaver home last Wednesday evening.

Monday evening of this week a birthday surprise, in honor of Miss Florence M. Appleby, was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Maclary. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Appleby, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moody, Mrs. Oliver Rothwell, Oliver Rothwell, Jr., Dorothea Rothwell, and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Phelps. A delightful evening was spent in playing progressive "500."

The disease, known as three-day measles, which has kept a number of children from school during the past few weeks, seems to have subsided now; no new cases having been reported recently. Grippie also seems to be on the decline, though many people are still suffering more or less from its after-effects.

Mrs. J. T. Eastburn has recently recovered from a severe attack of mumps.

Mermaid

HARMONY GRANGE

There was a good attendance at the meeting of Harmony Grange on Monday evening. A report from the committee on fertilizer reported that the order had been distributed and a check sent for the carload. The binder twine order will be sent this week.

A resolution was presented by the committee on resolutions urging that the road known as the Gap Pike Road should this year be made an improved highway. The resolution will be sent to the Pomona Grange, which will meet on the first Thursday in June with Center Grange at Centerville. If favorably acted upon, it will then be sent to the State Highway Commission.

A letter was read from Diamond State Grange thanking the members of the Mermaid Grange for their generous attendance at the supper which the former Grange held in Stanton recently.

The program of entertainment was in charge of Lewis Springer, and consisted of readings, recitations and music. Sherman Wivel played several selections on the accordion. A skit by four boys, Lewis Springer, Sherman Wivel, Lloyd Porter and Winston Cleland, showed boys' life in a boarding house. The girls of the grange treated those present to homemade fudge.

The meeting voted to send cards to the Sherman Garrison family in Baltimore, who have several cases of sickness at present.

The meeting next Monday evening will be in charge of Sara Pennington and Carolyn Peach.

Personals

Sara Pennington went to Morrisville, Pennsylvania, last Friday to visit her sister, Helen Pennington. On Saturday, the two sisters went to Garden City, Long Island, to visit friends for the week-end.

Miss Carolyn Peach and Bancroft Peach spent last week-end with their friends, Miss Lillian Gordon, Miss Elizabeth Gordon and Freeman Gordon, in Baltimore. Barbara Jean Garrison returned with them to spend some time with her grandparents.

Miss Mary Wivel is a patient in the P. and S. Hospital in Wilmington, suffering with appendicitis.

The Young People's Society of White Clay Creek Church will give the play, "The Path Across the Hill," at Hockessin this evening. The Society will give a strawberry festival on the church lawn on the evening of June 14.

Mr. and Mrs. William Peach spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Whiteman, on Ebenezer Hill.

ORDERS RIFLE RANGES OPENED TO CIVILIANS

Target ranges located on all Army posts within New York, New Jersey, and Delaware were ordered thrown open to civilian residents of those States last week by Major-General Hanson E. Ely, commanding the Second Corps Area at Governors Island.

DR. MACNIDER BALKED IN HIS EFFORTS AT SLUMBER

Dr. William de B. MacNider was summoned to Charlotte for a midnight consultation Saturday night, and started back at two a. m., and got to Chapel Hill at 10 Sunday morning, and said he thought he would like to go to bed right away since he had not got any sleep all night. But a friend said let's take a look at the garden first, and so they did. And then, as the doctor was starting up to bed, it was suggested that he wait for an early dinner and go to sleep immediately afterward. The early dinner was provided, and he went to his bed. The telephone rang and his daughter, Sally Feard MacNider, said yes, her father was in, and the doctor's wife went to the telephone and learned that he was invited to a dinner in honor of a visiting scientist, and she went up stairs and interrupted his sleep to get his answer. And he said yes, and went to sleep again. And the telephone rang, and this time it was an invitation to serve as godfather at a christening at half past four. And the doctor was awakened in order to decide whether or not he would be a godfather, and he said yes, and went back to sleep again. At about half past three the Piersons and Vernon Howell came in, and Vernon Howell went up and awakened the doctor. The dean of the pharmacy school was expelled from the room after a brief and pungent conversation, and the doctor went back to sleep again. At quarter past four he was awakened and told he had 15 minutes to make the christening. What christening? he asked, and was persuaded only with great difficulty that he had ever been told of it before. He reached the church half an hour late, and the christening proceeded in due order.

When it was done he and his family drove around town, and then he said he thought he would go home and go to sleep. But, his wife reminded him, you have got to go to that dinner. What dinner? he asked. He was informed. So he went to the dinner in honor of the visiting scientist, and later on in the evening he got to sleep.—The Chapel Hill (N. C.) Weekly.

talk expressing his appreciation to the society for the scholarship. It was announced that the scholarship for next year had been awarded to Ralph Kenneth Stephenson, of Smyrna, who is just finishing his first year in the engineering school. His father, the Rev. R. K. Stephenson, pastor of the M. E. Church at Smyrna, was also a guest at the banquet.

The members of the University committee on arrangements and reception consisted of A. G. Wilkinson, Dr. Claude L. Benner, Miss E. G. Kelly, James E. Wilson, Dr. Walter Hullahen, Dean George E. Dutton, Dean C. A. McCue and Dean Winifred J. Robinson. Members of these committees met the visitors on their arrival and escorted them to the May Day exercises.

Egg Record Report

Delaware hens during April laid on an average 15.9 eggs each, while the pullets in their first laying season have averaged 18 eggs each. With mixed flocks, including both hens and pullets, the average production was 17.7.

This information was made public recently by Acting County Agent Ed Willim, Jr. of New Castle county, through the monthly report of the Delaware Farm Egg Record Club under the supervision of Mr. H. S. Palmer, Extension Poultryman. One hundred fifty-four poultrymen returned their cards for the month. These reports indicate that 55,029 birds have been kept on these farms on which the above egg production records have been figured. In the flocks classified according to size, the small flocks, from 1 to 99 birds, have an average egg production of 18.1, while in the larger flocks of 400 and over the average production dropped down to 10.9 per bird. Except in the class of flocks of 100 to 400 birds, the mixed flock laid more eggs than those of the flocks divided into pullets and hens. The average for the best mixed flock of 1 to 100 birds is 26.1. The average for the best mixed flock in the 100 to 400 birds is 21.5. The average for the best mixed flock of 400 and over is 24.1. It will be noted that these figures are based on the highest flocks reporting for the month, and should not be confused with the figures announced in the first paragraph, which are averages for the entire 154 farms which reported during the month.

A special notice which accompanies this letter states that after this month these summaries will be sent only to those who send their reports regularly.

Spring flowering shrubs should be pruned in the summer immediately after they are through flowering. To prune them now would be to cut off this year's flowers.
