ALPHA EPSILON PI is small in number, but strong in spirit. The brothers and their little sisters share their activities equally. They do things a little differently, and are proud to say there is no hazing in their frat.

The winners of the Inter-Fraternity Council Award for highest cumulative average, they strive for good scholarship.

Re-established in 1974, they have had no house to tie them down. So, they went places: Atlantic City, to the New York City Theater. Next year they will move into a house on Wyoming street, receive an official charter and they expect to expand dramatically.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA takes pride in their reputation. The brother hood is made up of athletes, students, and partiers. They have won three awards for chapter excellence and numerous social service awards. They were also the Intramural Champs in 1979. The Interfraternity Council has awarded Outstanding Scholarship and Outstanding Athletic Achievement to the brothers. They work hard to contribute to the American Cancer Society, hold car washes, Roller-Skate-A-Thons, and do volunteer work for Cerebral Palsey.

DELTA TAU DELTA's South College Avenue house provides music for the Mall and steps of Memorial on nice days. They build a tradition on their parties. Their Open Campus parties with live bands and multiple kegs were huge successes, though their Blow Iran Off the Face of the Earth Party was less than well received.

DELTA UPSILON — the frat that goes the way of the Greeks — sponsored a jungle party, a beach party, Homecoming festivities with much alumni participation. Benefits from their Wiffle Ball Marathon went to the United Way. This was their decade year and things keep chugging along at their Ivy Hall Building - Frat House.

KAPPA ALPHA has been around for a long while. Everything about the brothers speaks of the "Old College Try" right down to their old stone house. They alone continue with coat-and-tie sit-down dinners. Their chef has been with them for twenty years. They also have a house mother who "keeps things calm and sews on buttons". This year's projects included: a new roof for the 'Kastle', Homecoming, Christmas, and Spring Formals, their annual Muscular Dystrophy Run-For-Life. Unfortunately, their 7th annual Block Party had to be cancelled. For two years running they have received the Amen Award for chapter excellence, and their 32 Spring pledges break a 76 year-old record.

Fraternally new, the brothers of KAPPA ALPHA PSI have been on campus since 1975 and are still house shopping. There is not much frivolity; their pledges are put through a strict pledge period. They service such notable causes as Cerebral Palsy, March of Dimes, and the University Gospel Choir.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA has tripled in size since its founding in 1963. They have received the Grand High Alph Award, given to the outstanding chapter in the nation. The Delaware Blood Bank received their help in a successful blood drive.

"Friendship is essential to the Soul," is the belief of OMEGA PSI PHI Fraternity, Inc. which has thousands of chapters nationwide, and in the Virgin Islands, Africa, Korea, and Germany. They are well-known for their national programs of social service. Examples are the National High School Essay contest, and Africare, a program helping millions of starving West Africans. Locally, Psi Zeta Chapter proudly sponsors many campus community service projects such as the annual Martin Luther King Memorial Dinner, the annual Halloween Party for Grade School kids, and the annual Minority Awards Banquet. They also sponsor some social functions including semi-formal dances and their annual Founder's ay Celebration.

PHI BETA SIGMA Fraternity Inc. was founded in 1914 at Howard University. Their philosophy is Brotherhood, Scholarship, and Service, and their motto is "Culture for Service and Service for Humanity". Phi Beta Sigma is an international service organization of college and professional men with chapters in the United States, Africa, and Switzerland.

PHI KAPPA TAU started in the Delaware College days of the university in 1920, and has grown to 123 chapters. Their 18 year old house on Academy Street offers "fraternity life in the fullest sense of the word," say the members. Phi Tau does a lot together: a Homecoming Bull Roast, an Easter Keg Hunt, a Founder's Day Banquet, and Spring and Christmas Formals. Their energy benefited many charities including the Big Brothers of Delaware, the March of Dimes (walk-a-thon), and Muscular Dystrophy.

PKA celebrated their fifth anniversary with a beach party, that is, Harrington Beach in front of their new house behind Gilbert E. It was a year of parties for the brothers, with their Spring Weekend in Rehoboth, Valentines Party with AKA, a Founders Day Banquet and a national Founders Day Conference in D.C.

Their 12 pledges is a record dating back to their old status in the 50's. They were only refounded on campus in 1975 after a few years in limbo. But they are back in strength, with an undefeated intramural softball team.

SIGMA NU has burned down, but not out. The brothers have had organizational set-backs in the years after their Old College House was destroyed in fire. Now they have a modern, sturdy, three-floor structure on the traditional sight that houses many of the university's athletes. Even the non-athletes there are sports minded; they can be seen playing ball on Carpenter field and frisbee in the front yard. They were the intramural football champs.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON are the grand old men with the heart over their Old College door. They have been around since 1907 and are the second largest fraternity in the country. The brothers keep up their college tradition with their beach parties, Christmas Dance, Homecoming Dinner-Dance, and their rivalry with Sigma Nu. Their charity activities keep up with the times; they held a haunted house with Alpha Phi for underprivileged children, and a bike-a-thon.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON are the new kids, this being their third year on the Delaware Ave. block. Yet, the Nu Pi chapter was voted the most improved of the 303 national chapters.

They have geared their fraternal antics towards their charities — raising money can be fun. Who else would roll a keg from Wilmington to Newark for St. Jude's Childrens Research Hospital, or hold an Olympic Toga Happy Hour to celebrate the passing of the torch on its way to Lake Placid?

THETA CHI is the Greek Games Champions for two years running. They are a frat who like to play. Also champs of the intramural football leagues. They can also claim to be the only bird-watching fraternity. They've done charity work for the March of Dimes Haunted House, and traditionally have held Winter and Spring Formals.

The Greek Sorority tradition of ALPHA CHI OMEGA goes back to 1885, revived on this campus eight years ago, and the activities are still going strong. They participated in the March of Dimes Haunted House, all Panhellenic Function fund raisers, Alumni dinners, and various formal and casual parties. They are also the recipients of the Panhellenic Scholarship Award.

The ALPHA OMICRON PI symbol is the Jacqueminot rose, though their activities are much more vigorous. Their Fall Rush included a Cabaret Night, a western party; they have had hay rides, a Cocktail Party with DU, a Halloween Party, a Founder's Day Pledge Dinner; participated in the March of Dimes Haunted House, Student Center Night, Greek Week; held an Ice Cream Social, Spring Formal, Leap Year Party, and Parents' Day.

The sisters want more from college life and in real life. They strive for good scholarship, are active with alumni and donate time and money to the prevention of the #1 crippling disease - arthritis. They raise money by car washes and carnation sales, and conduct their own research projects.

"What is ALPHA PHI? It's a special kind of love." It is also one of the oldest sororities in the country. The Delaware Chapter was formed in 1969 by six friends who resolved to do something about campus life. They were active, holding tailgates with parents and alumni as well as fraternities, making up Thanksgiving baskets with Alph Tau Omega, holding a Panhellenic Tea with the Administration. They sold lollipops for the Heart Fund, held a car wash, and a Spring Formal.

ALPHA PHI is a lifelong experience, the sisters are friends for life and keep in touch with the help of their magazine, "The Quarterly". Famous Phis include Elizabeth Taylor, Raquel Welch and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale.

The aim of ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA is four-fold: physical, spiritual, intellectual and social development of their members. Their flower, colored pearl white and crimson, is the Narcissus. They devote their services to the aid of the mentally retarded.
