

May Day Fete To Brighten Campus

Top Students To Get Honors Day Awards

Honors Day Exercises at the university this year will be held on Thursday, May 20, at 11:10 a.m. in Mitchell Hall.

The purpose of Honors Day is to give public recognition to those students who have distinguished themselves scholastically. Winners of some twenty prizes will be announced, among them the Wilmington Panhellenic Prize of $50, the Charles B. Evans Prize of $50, the University Drama Group Prize of $50, the Emalea P. Warner Prize of $25 and the Phi Kappa Phi Sophomore awards of $25.

Special invitations to attend the morning assembly will be sent to those students who have been elected to the various honor societies and to their parents and to those students whose names appeared on the Dean's List for the first semester of this year. Faculty, students and friends of the university are invited to attend the Mitchell Hall exercises.

A feature of the morning assembly will be an address by one of the country's leading astronomers, Dr. Cecilia Payne-Gaposchkin, Phillips Astronomer at the Harvard Observatory and author of Stars In The Making and other books.

According to the press announcement, this is the first book to present for the general reader the story of the universe — its present state and the future towards which it is moving as revealed through the great advances in astronomy in the last two decades.

A recent reviewer says of this book: "Dr. Payne-Gaposchkin's un-

Phillips, Harkins To Give Program Of Music, May 19

Two seniors, Patty Phillips and Bill Harkins, will give a music recital for the students and public on Wednesday, May 19, in the Warner Hall Hilarium at 8:15 p.m.

The joint recital, which is sponsored by the music department, will feature singing by Miss Phillips and piano selections by Mr. Harkins.

Miss Phillips, who is a music major, will sing selections from Mozart, Brahms, Schuman and Bianini. Harkins, who is an art major, will accompany Miss Phillips and will also play pieces composed by Ravel, Bach and Chopin.

Alumni-Alumnae Associations Plan Reunion This Weekend

The Alumni-Alumnae Associations are holding a two day reunion today and tomorrow, May 14 and 15, replacing the former one day annual event.

The schedule for the weekend, arranged by Richard D. Groo, secretary of the Alumni Association, and Henriette E. Miller, secretary of Alumnae Association, in connection with the Alumni-Alumnae committees, has been planned so that simultaneous affairs are going on for men and women.

The weekend begins today with folding of the birth and death of the stars is at once scientific and exciting and poetic; one can feel one's imagination stretch to comprehend even a fraction of the mysteries of the starry heavens which the astronomer's patient research has now deciphered."

Blue Hen Staff Chooses Smith, Greenstein Editors For '55 Yearbook Edition

Although the 1954 Blue Hen is not yet out, plans have already been begun for the 1955 yearbook. Jacob Smith, a junior business major, and Richard Greenstein, a junior political science major, have been selected for the two top offices of editor and business manager, respectively.

Jake, who was junior editor of the Blue Hen this year, is in Scabard and Blade, on the Review staff, in the Accounting Club and was assistant comptroller of Sig Ep. Sports wise, he is manager of the basketball team, participates in intramural sports and is in the Gold Key Society.

Dick, who recently was elected president of Young Democrats, is

Engineers Choose Council Officers

At a recent meeting of the University Engineering Council, Grant Lowe was elected president, succeeding Charles Presnell, former UD diving ace. Other officials chosen at that time were George Houghton, vice president; John R. Williams, secretary; and Ralph Snowberger, treasurer.

Lowe, an active participant in council affairs, served last year as chaplain of ATO fraternity. Houghton is a pole vaulter on this year's winning track team. Williams and Snowberger are both members of Theta Chi and the ASCE. They are the senior and junior representatives, respectively, to the council.

Current council activity is directed toward an engineering open house next fall. This affair will include a representation from all schools of engineering in nearby colleges and universities. Other future activities include next year's Engineer's Ball and the circulation of the Slipstick, the engineering publication.

a luncheon and tour at Winterthur, lasting all afternoon. After dinner the University Drama Group will present "Angel Street." Following that Smyth Hall will hold a coffee hour.

On Saturday several undergraduate classes, including history, economics, French, psychology and bacteriology, will be open to the graduates. Preceding the combined luncheon where Dr. John Perkins will speak, separate alumni and alumnae meetings will be held.

Swain And Menser Express Confidence In Future S. G. A.

By FRANK SWAIN

The inexorable passage of time has eclipsed another term of student government administration. The installation of Dave Menser and Mickie Blaine, along with other student representatives, reflects a wise choice by the students. The ability of the group to assume responsibility, combined with an earnest desire to forcefully represent student opinion, will undoubtedly add significantly to further improvement of student government.

During the past year the student body, as a whole, has repeatedly shown an interest in fostering an efficient scheme of student self-government. Perhaps the one area in which the students could reorient their thinking is that of student-administration relations.

Too often student misunderstanding and suspicion obscure the issues with the result that student-administration liaison is unnecessarily strained. Plans presently under consideration with the purpose of improving the situation for the students cannot be revealed because of their delicate nature.

The consummation of these plans, however, requires the consideration and recognition that student gains can only be achieved through greater student-administration understanding and cooperation.

UD Students To Receive Annual Cauldron Issue In Mail Next Week

Cauldron, the University of Delaware's annual literary magazine, will be distributed to all students via their mail boxes within the next week, according to an announcement made by Walt Callahan, associate editor of the magazine.

Virginia Benator is editor this year, but since she has been ill, a major part of the work has been done by Walt Callahan. Other members of the Cauldron staff are as follows: Betty Lou Carrow, poetry editor; Margy Brennan, prose editor; Sally Carpenter, art editor; Dave Schulman, business manager; and Ann Herbst, exchange editor. Mr. Edward A. Hungerford is the faculty advisor.

This year's Cauldron will include contributions by Robert Hillier, Shulmith Oppenheim, William Ferry, Frances McNeal, Jim Hoyle, Cynthia Hamilton, Martha Shillito, C. J. Cannon, Robert Hukill, Barbara Rogasky, Kelsey Mott, Dunham Kelsey, Jean De Vries and Lila Smoleroff.

By DAVE MENSER

"Hind sight is always better and easier than foresight." No truer words were ever spoken as far as writing about next year's SGA. It is much easier to talk about what has been done than to talk about what shall be done.

Last year the Review submitted a budget to the SGA. It was calculated right down to the last penny, except for one factor, a factor that would have the greatest influence on it but could not be measured as to its future. By the end of this year the Review had exceeded its budget. The extra money was needed because the paper had done a good job. Those who forecast expenditures could not forecast the activity of the staff.

Likewise we cannot forecast the activity of next year's SGA. We don't know whether the "staff" will be active or not. We can only hope so.

There are many problems that will face us next year. Not just with the university administration or the City of Newark, but our greatest job lies in making the students aware of SGA. It is only with the active support, and the active interest of the entire student body, that we can do the job for which we were created.

Frosh Vote On Class Dues, Adopt New Constitution

The constitution of the class of '57 was adopted at a meeting of the class held in Brown Lab last Tuesday, May 11. The class also voted to collect dues at the rate of $50 a semester, per person, to be collected at registration.

According to the constitution, three standing committees are to be created as follows: Finance Committee, Entertainment and Activities Committee, and Publicity Committee. The executive committee of the class is to consist of the class officers, the SGA representative, the chairman of all standing committees and one representative-at-large for every fifty members of the class.

To become effective, the constitution had to be passed by a 25 vote of those attending a regularly called class meeting.

Officers of the class are Tom Thomas, president; Bill Lord, vice president; Hank Weil, treasurer; Carolyn Phillips, secretary; and Joan Ross, SGA representative.

Queen Jane Banks Dons May Crown To Highlight Weekend's Celebrations

The thirty-first UD May Day celebration will begin tomorrow at 2:30 on the lawn behind the Women's Gym.

May Day is sponsored by the Women's Executive Council and consists of original dances prepared by the dormitories and the Modern Dance Club. This year's theme is "Uptown Downtown." Jean Sloman and Ruth Ward are co-chairmen of the affair, Ellen Ungerleider is their co-ordinator and is assisted by dance chairman Liz Stafford and Grace Harrison. Carolyn Cliff is music chairman.

Other committee chairmen include Marty Snyder, costumes; June Williams, properties; Doris Carmichael, programs and ushers; Mary Lou Matthes, art and posters; Jane Frederick, business; Lucy Sala, May Pole dance; and Kay Knighton, publicity.

Highlight of the festival will be the crowning of Queen Jane Banks, a senior elementary education major from Wilmington. Her court includes May Queen attendant Anne Marie Dumas; Senior duchess Patty Phillips; Senior attendants Faye Miller and Barbara Lilliquist; Junior duchess Margaret Fullerton; Junior attendants Bobbie Holmes and Patti Ingram; Sophomore Duchess Shirley Tibbett; Sophomore attendants Jean Evensen and Sylvia Field; Freshman Duchess Betty Jane Weber; and Freshman attendants Elaine Leary and Barbara Blake.

In all of its thirty years of performance, May Day has never been postponed. It was once held in Newark High School, however, and has twice moved into the Women's Gym.

New SGA Social Chairman Initiates May Frolic Plans

Brad Barnes, new SGA social chairman, takes the reins of the student social program with the May Frolic, a semi-formal dance concluding the May Day celebration, tomorrow evening from 8:30 to 12 in Carpenter Field House.

The orchestra is a mystery, but retiring SGA social chairman Wayne Kirkland, promises a real surprise. It is a "small" secret.

Jim Bradford, in charge of chaperones, has enlisted the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Brown and Dr. and Mrs. William J. Mellen.

Other committee chairmen include Dick Knoll, lighting; Brad Barnes, tickets; and Pat Gerstenberg, decorations. Tickets are $2.50.

Newman Club Chooses Shelton As New Prexy

At a recent meeting of the Newman Club, elections were held for officers for the coming year. The new president-elect, Jim Shelton, takes the reins over from Jim Flynn, who led the club through a successful year.

Other officers were Mary Kaleel, vice president; Anne Zeman, recording secretary; Peggy Woerner, corresponding secretary; and Pat Friello, treasurer.

E-52 Children's Theatre Group To Complete 1954 Season Tour

With some 400 miles and 15 performances of "Snow White" behind them, the E-52 Children's Theatre company leaves again this afternoon on the last leg of their tour.

From last Wednesday morning until Saturday at 5:30 p.m. the 23 members of the troupe toured eight downstate schools and ended their long drag in the Easton, Md. High School. This afternoon the company leaves for Washington, where the last two performances will be given at Roosevelt High School.

Few, if any, of the returnees were really glad to see Newark on Saturday's rainy afternoon. Although the tour was almost all work, the company enjoyed every minute of their task, seeming to regret that their toiling was ended.

If the weary-eyed people on campus said they were tired because of the tour, it is very believable, since the motto with them had been "late-to-bed and early-to-rise."

Looking at a typical day, we find the cast arising at 6:30 a. m., piling into cars and the van, and with eyes more shut than open, heading for the nearest restaurant for breakfast. Then off to work at the designated school.

First came the unloading of the truck, with the entire company on hand to carry scenery, props, costumes and lighting equipment to the stage.

Cooperative Effort

Bing Pusey and his lighting crew set up first, as five members of the cast, Bill Brown, George Cavey, Ken McElroy, Barbara Nast and Phyllis Baker, hopped to in order to get the switchboard and the lights set up and focused in what was often a half hour's time.

While this was going on, the stage crew: Spen Hedger, Bill Scott and Bill duBell, with the help of Dick Sutton and Ollie Baker from the cast, would put up the scenery and prepare for fast scene changes.

All this action took a great deal of the time of most of the company, but there was more to be done. Running around in her normal frenzied but efficient way was Liz Parkhill, properties chairman, getting her chairs, benches and raspberry tarts in order. Under her were three cast members: Bobbie (Continued on Page 8)

STUDENT MEALS

On Saturday, May 15, breakfast and lunch for students with meal tickets will be held at Commons Dining Hall at the following hours:

Breakfast—7:30 to 7:30 a. m.
Lunch—12:30 to 12:40 p. m.
Dinner will be held at Kent Dining Hall at 5:30 to 5:40 p. m.

All meals on Sunday, May 16, will be served at Kent Dining Hall at the usual meal hours.

University Band To Hold Concert Sunday, May 16

On Sunday, May 16, at 4 p. m., the annual outdoor band concert will be held on the north steps of the library. This concert is free, and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

The University of Delaware's band, composed of 65 members, will play the following numbers this Sunday: "Thunder Song" by W. Finlayson, "First Suite" by Gustav Holst, "Fantasy on American Sailing Songs" by C. Grundman, "Hands Across the Sea" by J. P. Sousa, "Royce Hall Suite" by W. D. Troutman, "Song of Norway" arranged by Leidzen, "Suite of Old American Dances" by R. R. Bennett and "El Charro March" by J. L. Larver.

Seven seniors will be playing their last concert as members of the University of Delaware's band. They are: Bob Wynn, flute; Lois Alderman, flute; Joel Sears, bass clarinet; Lorin Krusberg, French horn; Tom Sanderson, baritone horn; Judge McWhorter, tuba; and George Rothrock, tuba.

Lois Alderman, Mary Emily Miller and Irvin Rinard will receive gold pins designed for the band for three years of service. Large chenille letters will be given to 18 members of the band for two years of service.

Engineers Society Chooses Officers

At a recent meeting of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering society, David Ewing, Daniel Walton and George Houghton were elected as vice president, recording secretary and cataloger, respectively.

George Houghton was elected as representative to the Engineering Council.

Other students holding positions in the honorary group include Edward Taylor, president, and Alvin J. Major, corresponding secretary.

Bob Strouss and Bryan Field are pictured helping Mrs. Harvey Dickey pack some of the clothing recently collected in Newark for the annual Sigma Nu clothing drive. The two students were in charge of the drive for the fraternity. Mrs. Dickey is chairman of the Newark Central Welfare Committee.

Sigma Nu Completes National Project To Aid Needy Families

Sigma Nu Fraternity recently completed its second annual Service Week Project. The program was sponsored by the national fraternity in the interest of serving the community in which the fraternity groups are located.

This year Sigma Nu at Delaware joined the other 119 Chapters throughout the United States and Canada in their projects by directing their attention to the needy families of Newark.

The entire fraternity of eighty members and pledges held a week long drive for the collection of clothing for these families. The original goal of the drive was surpassed when the combined efforts of the fraternity produced over 350 articles of men's, women's and children's clothing.

Bryan E. J. Field was the honorary chairman for the drive, while Robert Strouss was the general chairman. The wide assortment of clothing was turned over to Mrs. J. Harvey Dickey, 240 South College Avenue, Newark, Welfare Chairman of the Newark Central Welfare Committee.

Mrs. Dickey and her committee are in charge of distributing the clothing to the needy families of Newark and surrounding communities.

Hillel Elects New Council Officers

Barbara Silverman was elected president of Hillel Councilorship at a meeting held last week. Other officers elected were Noel Jablow, vice president; Sue Hoytash, corresponding secretary; Margy Fleischer, recording secretary; and Paula Baker, treasurer.

Barbara, a freshman education major, is also a member of D.S.T.A. and is on the news staff of the Review. A freshman business major, Noel has recently been initiated as a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi and is on the local ad staff of the Review.

A closing picnic has been planned for May 25.

Jim Flynn Heads 1954-55 Scabbard And Blade Society

The Delaware company of Scabbard and Blade, the national military society, has elected Jim Flynn to head the group in the coming year. Three other juniors were also elected to important offices.

Bill Knoll was elected to the post of First Lieutenant, and Bill Keene is the new Second Lieutenant. Dale Hill was chosen secretary. All the new officers are juniors.

Jim Flynn is an education major from Pittsburgh. He is a member of the Sigma Nu social fraternity and is president of the Newman Club. This is his third year in ROTC. Bill Knoll, junior in Arts and Sciences, comes from Glenolden, Pennsylvania.

After the new officers were installed, the members of Scabbard and Blade discussed the awards which will be given to outstanding freshmen and sophomores in Military Science and Tactics. The award is to be a medal. The group also discussed the possibility of a social event before the end of the school year.

The new officers will be installed at the next meeting.

Czerwinski And Pyle Represent UD Biology, Psychology Depts. In Recent Science Conference

Stanley J. Czerwinski, representing the department of biological sciences, presented a paper at the Eastern Colleges Science Conference held in Brooklyn, New York, on April 22-24. Ann Pyle, representing the department of psychology, was also present.

Czerwinski's paper, "The effect of a nitrogen mustard on the development of xylem in the primary roots of Zea mays," was delivered with assurance. The clarity of both the written material and of the slides left no room for question of the interpretation of the data.

DAN STRECKER RECEIVES PKT PRESIDENCY

Dan Strecker, a business administration major from Selbyville, Delaware, is the new president of Phi Kappa Tau. He took office in March, and since then he has done a commendable job in directing fraternity activities. Dan served as secretary before being elected to the presidency. He has been active in intramural sports, E-52 and advanced ROTC.

The new vice president is Don Rau, a sophomore chemical engineer from Garden City, New York. Don is on the Delaware indoor and outdoor track teams and is a member of the A. I. Ch. E.

John Fernandez, a junior education major from Wilmington, Delaware, is the new secretary. John is active in intramural sports and served as rushing chairman before his election as secretary.

Dave Ewing is the newly elected treasurer. A junior chemical engineer from Kennett Square, Pa., he is also president of A. I. Ch. E. and a member of Tau Beta Pi, the honorary engineering fraternity.

Other officers are: Howard Anderson, house manager; Don Hornberg, chaplain; Gordon Pfeiffer, assistant treasurer; Bob Horne, sergeant-at-arms; John Martine, editor; Don Eipper, social chairman; Hap Cook, steward; Bob Ferguson, pledge master; Russell Winselar, Rushing chairman; and Don Finch, librarian.

Reading-Knowledge Tests To Be Given On May 28

French, German and Spanish reading-knowledge tests will be given on May 28 by the Modern Languages department. They will begin at 4 p.m.

The French test will be administered in Brown Lab auditorium, the Spanish test in Wolf Hall auditorium and the German test in 220 Hullahen Hall.

It is required of all university students in the field of arts and science and secondary education, except those enrolled in an accredited college before September, 1945, to pass a reading-knowledge test of a modern language before graduating.

Anyone who has completed the second year college course or who is judged capable by the Modern Language department to take the test is eligible for admission to the examination.

Further information concerning the requirements may be secured in the Registrar's office or in room 214, Hullahen Hall.

All Students who are returning to the university next year must be photographed within two weeks for new I. D. cards.

Pictures will be taken in Hullahen Hall basement from May 12 through 14, and May 17 through 20 at 3 to 5 p. m.

Blue Hen Editor, Bertuch Discloses Facts, Attractions Of 1954 Yearbook

The 1954 Blue Hen will be distributed to those having paid in full or paid deposits on the yearbook on Tuesday, May 25, while from May 26 to 29 the sale will be open to all. If the books are not picked up, the deposit will be lost.

Besides the printing in type similar to LIFE magazine, several other new features have been added to the yearbook this year. These include sixteen pages in color, a section devoted to the football queens, memorials to Tony Mitchell and Chip Hammond, colored end sheets and individual pictures of fraternity men.

"The growth of the university corresponding with the growth of the state is the main theme of the Blue Hen," stated Henri Bertuch, editor of the yearbook. "An underlying theme emphasizing outstanding individuals on campus is also presented." This includes separate shots of the students who are outstanding in any campus activity.

The book is being dedicated to a person who, in the opinion of the senior class, "has done more for the school and the seniors than anyone else." The identity of the person to whom the book is dedicated will not be disclosed until about the time the book comes out so that it will be a surprise to all.

When you go out on the job, you want the most durable steel measuring tapes you can get—Lufkin "Chrome Clad." The jet black markings won't wear off, for they are bonded to the line and protected by multiple electroplatings that further build up the fine tape steel from which the line is made. The resulting line is heavier, stronger, and most rust and corrosion resistant. It is easier to read, easiest to clean, and won't surface crack, chip, or peel. Only Lufkin tapes are available with Chrome Clad.

Waples, Phillips To Produce Two Lab Theatre Plays

Two student-directed plays, "A Phoenix Too Frequent" under Ed Phillips and "Queer Medicine" under Bob Waples, will be presented as Lab Theatre productions in Mitchell Hall next Thursday at 8:15 p. m.

These two shows are entirely student produced, even down to the sets which were designed and built by Ferdinand Susi for Phillips' show and Pete Ellsworth for "Queer Medicine."

"Phoenix," by Christopher Fry, is the story of a young Roman woman of centuries past wasting away for the love of her dead husband. The setting is in the husband's tomb where the girl wants to join her spouse in the underworld. Her life is brightened, however, when she lets herself fall in love with a handsome Roman soldier.

The cast of "Phoenix" are: Ellen Ungerleider as Dynamene, Lillian Gullet as Doto and Irv Rinard as Tegeus Chromis.

"Queer Medicine" is a folk drama by Paul Green, the Pulitzer Prize winning playwright. It is the story of the lives of two men, a woman and a medicine man in the hills of eastern North Carolina. The cast has so far not been announced.

Production crews have recently been announced by Herman D. Middleton and will be headed by Bill duBell, stage manager. Dick Stewart and Susi will be working stage crew.

Students are still needed to work on scene painting, and as yet no one has been found to act as house manager the night of the show.

Italian Study Fellowships Offered To U. S. Students

Six fellowships for study in Italy have been offered to American graduate students by the Italian Government, it has just been announced by Mr. Kenneth Holland, president of the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York City.

The awards, made available through the Cultural Relations Office of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, are for a minimum period of six months between October 1954 and July 1955. Closing date for application is July 1, 1954. Men or women in any field of study may apply.

Candidates must be U. S. citizens, preferably under 35 years of age. Preference will be given to candidates who apply from the U. S. and have not had previous study in Italy. Applicants must have a master's degree or the equivalent in advanced work. They must submit a project for advanced study or research and must demonstrate capacity for independent study.

Although a knowledge of Italian is not required at the time of application, successful candidates are required to learn some Italian before taking up their fellowships. Free tuition will be given fellows who wish to attend the summer orientation course, held especially for foreigners, at the University of Perugia.

Tasselites To Hold Tapping Ceremony

The tapping ceremony for new members of Tassel, the senior women's honor society, will be held on May 20. Names of the new members will not be announced until that time. The ceremony will take place on the green in front of the library between Hullahen Hall and Brown Laboratory at 10 o'clock.

The new members, unaware of having been chosen, will be awakened at six o'clock in the morning by the present members. They will be honored at a breakfast at seven o'clock.

The formal initiation will take place Tuesday evening, May 25, in Old College Lounge at five o'clock, when both Tassel alumnae and Mortarboard alumnae from the Delaware area will be present.

Students have the opportunity to see the last major dramatic production of the season in Mitchell Hall this week. The University Drama Group's presentation of "Angel Street" opened for a three-performance run on Thursday evening at 8:15 p. m.

American Studies Program Planned

It is suggested that students interested in the program see either their advisors or Dr. Moyne of the Department of English as soon as possible.

The Committee on American studies calls the attention of the students to its undergraduate program, whose purpose is to enlarge the student's understanding of American life.

The program has the usual 121-semester-hour requirement for the Bachelor of Arts degree in the School of Arts and Science and consists of an interdepartmental concentration in American Studies of 39 hours of required courses and 12 hours of electives in approved advanced courses.

With proper planning, a conventional major of 30 semester hours may be taken concurrently with the American Studies concentration, though this is not required.

Students should enroll in the program by the beginning of the sophomore year.

Come to the May Frolic Saturday night.

Freshmen Activities To Begin On Wednesday, September 15

The Class of 1958 will arrive on campus on Wednesday, September 15, for a week of activities planned to help it become better acquainted with the college.

The week's program will begin on Wednesday afternoon with an assembly featuring Dr. Perkins, Dean Collins, Dean Hocutt and president of the SGA, Dave Menger. On Wednesday evening they will see a film of college life, learn a few college songs and then return to their dormitories for their first dorm meetings.

'Your University' Show Ends 1953-54 Season

The final program in the "Your University" television series for the 1953-54 season was presented Monday evening, May 10, at 10:30 over WDEL-TV.

As a final offering, the University of Delaware presented a condensed version of its recent fashion show, presented by the School of Home Economics under the direction of associate professor Thomas B. Pegg of the department of dramatic arts and speech.

The program featured musical numbers by Dave Thompkins and Patricia Phillips, Cathy DeLellis, Elaine Labour and Raymond Kitchen. Dick Sutton acted as narrator.

The rest of the week has been planned to include a meeting of all women with Dean Collins and junior counselors, a meeting of the men with Dean Hocutt and with the deans of the various schools and faculty advisors. There will also be campus tours, a class meeting with the SGA and various programs by the cheerleaders, the Women's Athletic Association, Men's Intermural Council and the Dramatic Department.

On Sunday afternoon will be a reception given by President Perkins, and in the evening will be a Foreground: Boeing RB-47E, world's fastest day-or-night long-range reconnaissance plane. Background: Standard B-47E six-jet bomber.

What do you want most in an engineering career?

Is it room to grow? Then join a company that's growing. Boeing, for example, has grown continuously throughout its 37-year history of design, production and research leadership. There's always room up ahead—and Boeing promotes from within. Regular merit reviews are held to give you steady recognition.

Do you want long-range career stability? Boeing today employs more engineers than even at the peak of World War II. Here you'd work on such projects as pilotless aircraft, research on supersonic flight and nuclear power for airplanes, on America's first jet transport, and the world's outstanding jet bombers.

Do you want variety of opportunity? Aviation is unique in this respect. It offers you unmatched variety and breadth of application, from applied research to production design, all going on at once. Boeing is constantly alert to new materials and new techniques, and approaches them without limitations. In addition, Boeing's huge subcontracting program—requiring engineering co-ordination—offers you contacts with a cross section of American industry.

Boeing engineering activity is concentrated at Seattle, Washington, and Wichita, Kansas—communities with a wide range of recreational opportunities as well as schools of higher learning. The company will arrange a reduced work week to permit time for graduate study and will also reimburse tuition upon successful completion of each quarter's work.

There are openings in all branches of engineering (mechanical, civil, electrical, aeronautical and related fields) for DESIGN, PRODUCTION and RESEARCH. Also for physicists and mathematicians with advanced degrees.

For further information, consult your PLACEMENT OFFICE, or write JOHN C. SANDERS, Staff Engineer—Personnel Boeing Airplane Company, Seattle 14, Wash.

It's Your Job

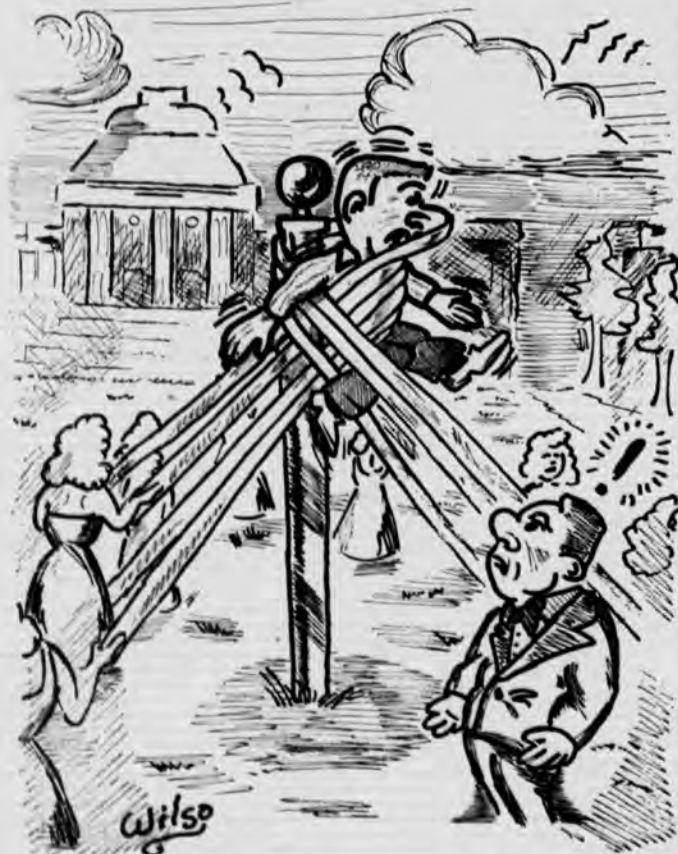

Do Your Best

It makes us sad to see good material at a university go to waste. We are sure that almost 100% of those students allowed to enter college have the ability to graduate, yet about 50% of those entering fail to graduate for one reason or another. Surely this situation can be corrected. The will of a student to apply himself to the best of his ability seems to be part of the answer.

Give up a few of those study breaks and try to sit at your desk for a few more minutes. Work until you have done your best. Don't be a "could-have-done-better-student"—be one that knows and feels that he has put his utmost into his job. As a student, you are here to work and do your best just as a worker does his best in expectation of advancement.

Here at Delaware you have a job to do. The seven day a week, six hours a day student will seldom fail. Some may work harder than others for the same grade in the end, but the satisfaction of "a job done to the best of my ability" is a satisfaction that comes only from the application of the student for all he is worth.

'Neath The Arches

By MICKIE BLAINE and DAVE MENSER

Big news around the old quad again this week is . . . what else but weekends?

Starting on north campus and working down . . . Sig Ep kicked off with a fabulous blast out at the Kennett Square Country Club. Jo Anne Wood was chosen the "Girl of the Golden Heart." After serenading Jo Anne, the recently pinned girls were given rose corsages and serenaded as a group. The house party on Saturday nite was great but couldn't hold a candle to the picnic out at Jack Miller's farm on Sunday. Bill Annonio gave his pin to Shirley Thomas with the thought that it might be more secure on her than on him.

The North East Yacht Club was the scene of the ATO formal on Friday nite. Natalie Lane was chosen as their Dream Girl. A big gang went to Shaeffer's for dinner on Saturday before the house party. Everybody, all the boys that is, went in the creek up at Camp Mattahoon at their picnic on Sunday. Jack Knapp placed his pin on Betty Paul, and Dick Chappell and Pat Emmot announced their engagement.

The KA's held their dinner and dance at the Brandywine Country Club. The Kappa Alpha Rose for '54 is Peggy Tigie. If the band had played one more jitterbug, there would have been bodies all over the floor.

Willie Keene livened up the house party by announcing his pinning of Jean Hayes. Judge McWhorter surprised everybody by pinning Carol Morgan, and Eddie Brannicki placed his pin on his own KA Rose from Baltimore, Mary Jane Vogel.

The Pikes had their formal, as usual, up on top of Quality Hill at the Newark Country Club. The Stardusters turned out some real tremendous music. Congratulations to Howie Graham, whose girl, Audrey Wilson, was named the Dream Girl. Saturday's picnic moved inside for two reasons: first 'cause it rained, and second because there was a house party. Most of the PiKaps turned out at the shore Sunday for another great blast.

Our deepest sympathy to Bill duBell. Lena was a rare thing. She will be greatly missed.

Recent pinnings: Harry Menser and Jeanie Tull; and Jackie Hackett and Jack Holstein.

They say if you don't smoke, drink or run around with women you'll live longer. Actually, it only seems longer.

A bishop was sitting in an opera house one evening. His companion surveyed the numerous ladies wearing very décollete dresses and exclaimed:

"Honestly, bishop, did you ever see anything like it in your life?"
 "Never," gravely replied the bishop. "Never since I was weaned."

"I suppose you heard that Al killed his wife?"
 "Really, how?"
 "With a golf club."
 "Oh? How many strokes?"

Taken For Granted

By JACK GRANT

On April 26 one of the most unusual conferences in all history commenced at Geneva, Switzerland, where the leading powers of the world met to bring peace to Korea and Southeast Asia. Peace is doubtful, however, for it is well known that Soviet Russia has made use of international conferences for the purpose of propaganda sounding boards. It seems now that the Communists are knocking on the door of bigger and better propaganda victories, for it appears as if the western alliance is becoming more and more of a myth.

It would seem as if France and Britain are unconcerned about the possible loss of Southeast Asia to the Communists and would make a deal with Russia if it could be done diplomatically and without too much offence to the United States. This would seem to be their preferred course of action rather than supporting a Southeast Asia collective pact, like NATO, which Secretary of State Dulles has suggested to Anthony Eden. Continued appeasement would seem to be the preferred course of action by Britain, rather than agreement with the United States to come to the defense of Dien Bien Phu with United States carrier-based air power. If Britain had supported this suggestion by Secretary Dulles, the fall of Dien Bien Phu could not have been timed by the Communists as a playing card at the Geneva conference table.

Without the collective pact mentioned above, the outlook cannot give us anything but the gravest anxiety, and it presents the Eisenhower Administration with the same political consequences that were seen during the past two administrations. The Taft-McCarthy-Jenner wing of the Republican Party proposed arguments during the Truman Administration which contended that because of inaction or inadequate action all Southeast Asia was falling prey to the Communists. Will not the Republican right-wing arguments of 1952 be equally valid when applied to putting the blame on Eisenhower and Dulles if Indochina and the rest of Southeast Asia should fall?

If we are to have a collective pact for the protection of Asia, then where are we to find allies which would have agreed, for example, to the proposed defense of Dien Bien Phu with carrier-based air power. As one surveys Europe and Asia there are many countries and armies which we could claim to be our real allies: Spain, which has granted us air bases, would hardly object to any military action taken against the Communists; Turkey, with her excellent army; the powerful armies of South Korea and Formosa; and the armies of Pakistan, the Philippines and Japan could be included in the list.

So it is that the cause is by no means lost. The important thing for the Allies to do is to take collective action and uphold what decisions they make. Whether we agreed in the past to "partition" or "truce-lines" the Allies must be willing at the present to tell the Communists to stay behind it under penalty of massive retaliation.

Such action at Geneva is a necessity, for certainly the whole world is intently peering over the shoulders of those who are sitting at the conference table.

Memorial Library Art Gallery Opens Bicentennial Show

A new exhibit opened in the art gallery of the Memorial Library on the University of Delaware campus on May 1 and will be on view through May 17 during library hours.

The exhibit consists of panels of photographs and accompanying explanatory materials supplied by the Columbia Bicentennial Exhibit Committee.

When Columbia University began to make plans for its Bicentennial, it was decided that freedom of inquiry and expression was the most appropriate subject which a free university in a free country could choose. Therefore, the theme upon which the activities focus is "Man's Right to Knowledge and the Free Use Thereof."

As one of the observances, a graphic exhibit of sixty panels was prepared to explain and illustrate this theme. Twenty-five of these panels were reproduced in the form of a traveling exhibit, and an accompanying brochure was prepared complete with illustrations of the panels and a commentary written by Mary Van Doren.

The freedoms and obligations implicit in the theme are not considered as the property merely of the academic world, but of all men.

This exhibit has been designed to serve as a point of departure for such thinking. It has called upon the wisdom of the ages and culled illustrative material from many lands to this end that man's right to knowledge and the free use thereof shall be understood and practiced.

Alpha Tau Omega

Last weekend will be long remembered by the brothers and pledges of ATO as one of the most enjoyable events of the year. Our Weekend festivities began Friday night with a formal dinner and dance at the Northeast Yacht Club and was followed on Saturday night by a terrific house party. The pledges provided the entertainment, and it was agreed among the actives that a splendid job was done. Our heartiest thanks go to the pledge class for their part in making the weekend a memorable one.

On Sunday our annual picnic was held at Camp Matahoun. There was a softball game between the actives and pledges, and afterwards everyone went berserk and threw each other in the stream. Dr. Webber and Dr. Remmage, our chaperones, fortunately escaped this activity.

Miss Natalie Lane was chosen Dreamgirl of ATO, and Julie Phillips was chosen by the chapter as the Sweetheart of ATO. Congratulations!

On Saturday, May 15, formal initiation will be held for the pledges. That night, as is the custom, a house party will be held for the new actives.

Congratulations are in store to Lou Weaver, who has recently been pledged. The chapter would like to express its appreciation to our chaperones who attended the Weekend. Brother J. Robert King and his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Steele joined us at the formal dance on Friday night; Brother William Mosher and his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Francis were with us for our house party; and Dr. Remmage and Dr. Webber with their families attended the picnic on Sunday.

Pi Kappa Alpha

The "PiKA May Soiree" at the Newark Country Club was the fuse that touched off an atomic weekend for the Pikes. Remo Mazzetti and Windy "Dream Boy" Graham did a good job of fixing the decorations, consisting of balloons, streamers and Pike pins. S.M.C. Bob "Freddy's here" Cornwall presented the Dream Girl cup to Delta Eta's Dream Girl, Audrey Wilson. She wore a black ballerina length strapless gown.

After the dance Remo "Valentino" Mazzetti and Angie Oratorio held a party, which was attended by many Pikes and their dates.

The next afternoon, social co-chairman Mike "Smile Please" Sacco and Bob Pillow took charge of a picnic which was held west of Newark. After many people got wet chasing foul balls, rain finally moved the picnic to the house.

Sunday found us down at the Lewes Yacht Club, where alumni Bill Stevenson and his wife Franny threw a party. Pledge Ace "Sickman" Kassees seemed to prefer Dover better than Lewes.

Sunday night most of us finally closed our eyes on a weekend we won't forget for a long time.

Phi Kappa Tau

With only two weeks of classes left until the end of the semester, the Phi Taus have a full calendar of both social and fraternal functions remaining. Activities for this weekend include the May Dance and the alumni visit. Next week initiation of freshmen pledges will be held, followed a few days later by Phi Tau Weekend.

Everyone enjoyed the concert by the George Shearing Quintette, and we hope more programs of this nature will be brought to the Delaware campus in the future.

Sigma Nu

Congratulations are in order for Jerry Angelo and Jack McDaniel, who were recently tapped for Omicron Delta Kappa, the honorary leadership fraternity on campus. Congratulations also to Jay Badgley, who is now a member of Alpha Zeta, the agriculture fraternity.

Saturday of last weekend saw many of the brothers over in the "city of brotherly love" attending the 100th anniversary of "Skimmer Day," which features among other things crew races between the top crews in the East. Seems as though Bill "Fido" Lotter and Bob "Rover" Manolakis were competing for the coveted "hunting dog award" at the many house parties which attracted the brothers that evening.

The annual Father and Son Banquet was held Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple in Newark. It was a large success and enabled the fathers of the brothers to become acquainted. The guest speaker was Bryan Field, well known sports announcer in the nation, who is the father of active Brother E. J. Field.

The deadline's drawing mighty near

The paper's going to press;
Oh what, pray tell me, can I write
Besides the usual mess.

The weekend saw no parties
With the Delt house mighty still
And brothers lying all around
With only "time" to kill.

On Friday nite the Shearing fans
Trekced across the street
To hear him play his famous way
In that rather solid beat.

A few with spirit in their blood
Helped Penn with Skimmer Day;
And from the stories they brought back

The times were pretty gay.

The lover boys went on their dates
To keep their social graces
And must've had some real good times
From the lipstick on their faces.

And even though I've filled this space
With stupid rhyming, too,
I think you get the point at least
That nothing's happened new.

Kappa Alpha

K. A. Rose Peggy Tighe reigned over the dining and dancing Friday night as Beta Epsilon's 50th Anniversary celebration began. Other awards presented during the banquet at Brandywine Country Club were Jim Hoey, outstanding senior; Lou Harrington, outstanding fraternity member; Jack Ryan, Goober Gorman award for best tall tales; and Bill Lord, outstanding pledge.

Brothers George Cavey and Lew Whitaker were on tour with the Children's Theatre production of "Snow White" and were unable to attend the formal dance. George had the male lead, and Lew was stage manager. However, both were out in full force at the house party Saturday night, as was everyone else, including a few Thets.

To alumni adviser, Brother Vernon Lewis, goes everybody's sincere appreciation for a wonderful picnic at his cottage Sunday afternoon. "Mom" Metz and "Uncle Billy" found out their sea legs aren't so good. How cold was that water? A few other couples found a shoe tree along the beach. Strangely enough, the shoes belonged to them.

Three of the brothers celebrated the weekend by pinning their "sunny, southern sweethearts." Congratulations to Judge McWorter and Carol Morgan; Edward Branjecki and Mary Jane Vogel; and Bill Keene and Jean Hayes.

This weekend a few representatives from the house will attend the Province Convention at the Beta Kappa House, University of Maryland.

Theta Chi

Salutations to the Stout twins for being elected outstanding senior (Joe) and outstanding fraternity man (Ed). Our deepest and warmest congratulations go to the 1954 sweetheart of Theta Chi—pretty little Miss Penny Ernest.

Things weren't so serene this weekend, however. It's like this—we like to consider ourselves as being sort of rocks—sort of, well... independent. But when the brothers can't even have a quiet little party without having half the corps in the infirmary next day, (malady's ranging from wrenched backs, twisted necks and sprained ankles all the way to the typical headaches) well, it's time to go back to playing football. Stout's date even gave him a black eye. Anyway, we'd like to thank Bill Wagonigae, KA, and Martha Wright for a great weekend.

Alpha Epsilon Pi

This was a dead week at the Ape Cage. The brothers are still recovering from the big weekend. Joe Demaestri has an extra-curricular activity in Philly named Judy. The wine supply is depleted, so we haven't seen brother S. J. lately. Brother Katman is doing a land office business with his nine-cent (ten cents to brothers) combs.

Chuck Sloin is finally taking his pledge trip to Virginia next week, sei gezunt. Ex-master Goldenberg wants to play "Forbidden Games." How can anybody get lost in Elkton, Steve? Congrats to the A.E.Pirates who turned in their usual sparkling (?) performance last week, dropping their fourth in a row. Good work, boys... That's about the size of it.

Here's more track news!

A record that has stood for 22 years in the fourteen-event Middle Atlantic Collegiate Track and Field Association's Championships will probably be broken when the 23-college organization holds its 42nd annual two-day championship meet beginning today at LaSalle College's McCarthy Stadium. A release received early this week from LaSalle reports that Bill Reybold of the U. of D. is favored to break the MACTF mile record of 4:22.2 set in 1932 by Manhattan College's Frank Crowley.

Bill, as you probably know by this time, ran the mile in 4:18.6 on a heavy track a couple of weeks ago against Johns Hopkins to set a new U. of D. record. On the fast newly-conditioned track in McCarthy Stadium, Reybold is a good bet to lower Crowley's time. He will be pushed by Connie Krause of St. Joseph's, who has been running slightly over 4:20 all season. If Reybold can come through and if he's backed up by good performances by Hen trackmen in other events, Delaware should improve on its sixth place standing of last year.

It seems like Steve Butcher breaks a shotput record just about every week. Last Saturday against F. and M. he set a new university mark of 46'1 1/4", shattering the old mark of 45'7" set by him on April 17 against Swarthmore. Earlier Steve set a new indoor record of 46'1 1/2" and shattered his own 1953 mark of 44' 5/8" in the Baltimore Relays by tossing the shot 45' 1/4".

Lehigh looms as Delaware's toughest track opponent of the year. Lehigh is powerful in the field events which Delaware has been depending upon to rack up points all season. It was Lehigh that last defeated the Hens in dual competition—way back in 1952.

QUICKIES

The Blue Hen tennis team is currently experiencing its most successful season in many years, already winning five games . . . The game between Delaware's winning baseball team and Haverford's non-winning team, rained out last Saturday, has been cancelled by Haverford. Since Haverford committed eleven errors in its most recent game, could it be that they were a little shook about meeting the Hens? . . . Andy Wagner, now batting .300, threatens to take the batting lead away from Tom Redfield, currently .310, who has been in a slump for the last four games . . . Roger Bannister, who set a new world's record last week in England by running 3:59.4 on a mile and one inch track, believes that it can be run still faster. Hmm. Tennis, anyone?

Swarthmore, Maryland Defeat Hen Golfers 7-2

The Blue Hen golfers suffered their fifth and sixth losses of the season this past week. The swingers only managed to collect 2 points out of a possible 9 in both matches played; both matches were lost by a 7-2 score.

The fifth loss was chalked up on Tuesday, May 4, when Delaware ventured to Rolling Green Country Club, home course of Swarthmore College. Delaware's lone winner of the day was Dave Farone, who defeated Dick Marrow, 4 and 3.

One week ago today Maryland handed the Blue Hens their sixth loss. Besides winning all three of the best balls, the Terrapins also had two men, John DePiro and Beel McFerren, who were tied for the medalist honor of the day. Dave Farone's 77 was a very impressive individual score, but he still lost his match, 2 up.

Today the Blue Hens are again busy on the golf links. They are playing host to the University of Pennsylvania at the Newark Country Club. Match time is at 2 p. m. It seems time for the Blue Hens to break into the winning column.

Chick Nine Downs West Chester 7-3

Bill Patterson pitched a winning 7-3 game last Friday, May 7, against the West Chester J. V.'s at West Chester. Patterson did not walk a Ram until the eighth inning.

Because of his good pitching, Delaware's Chicks held the advantage throughout the game. This was the first of three games to be played this season. The second game will be at Drexel tomorrow. Under the coaching of "Whiz" Wisniewski, the Chicks have a good chance of winning all three games.

West Chester 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 2 0-3

Somebody goofed last week, but we'll never tell who. You probably didn't even miss us.

The big deal this week is the May Day festivities to be held Saturday, May 15th, starting at 2:30 p.m. The spot is in front of the Women's Gym. Really hustle on those dances, gang. It's your show and we're bound to have a good one.

Things have been popping in the Modern Dance Club. They have elected new officers to head up the activities for next year. Louise Ferdon is the top woman, with the able assistance of Mary Alagia as her Vice. Peggy Chadwick will have a sharp pencil at every meeting, while Joyce Adams is raking in the dough. We will be well informed of their doings by their publicity chairman, Rita Cusato.

Among their list of accomplishments this year have been May Day, a Music Festival, an appearance on T.V. and a performance at the Dover Century Club for the annual education meeting.

The W.A.A. picnic which we were telling you about was a huge success. Next year's officers were announced. Succeeding Mary Lou Matthes is Liz Stafford as president. Lee Seemet is the vice president. Joan Russell is secretary and Joan Hopkins is treasurer. Congratulations kids! With a crew like this, how can we miss?

These fraternity weekends are bringing forth quite a few pin-

Blue Hen Tennis Team Nears All-Time Record Of Six Wins

The Blue Hens neared an all-time mark of 6 wins by recording 3 victories during the past week. The record now stands at 5-2 with 4 matches remaining to be played.

On Wednesday, May 5, the tennis team journeyed to Philadelphia to oppose Drexel. They emerged victoriously with a score of 6-3, making their present record 3-2 while Drexel has lost four matches in four times out.

White defeated Sackettman, 6-1, 6-2. Hoey defeated Cherry, 8-6, 4-6, 6-4. Mulrooney defeated Berman, 9-7, 6-4. Veale defeated Piercey, 7-5, 5-4, 6-4. Schupp lost to Ulrich, 4-6, 0-6. Daniello defeated Drechsler, 6-3, 6-8, 6-3.

In the doubles play, White and Hoey defeated Sackettman and Berman 8-6, 6-3. Schupp and Simpkins lost to Piercey and Ulrich 0-6, 2-6 and Moore and Jebens lost to Cherry and Drechsler 3-6, 2-6. Winning five of six matches in the singles competition enabled Moore, Simpkins and Jebens a chance to play in the doubles matches.

The following day the team played host to West Chester on the south campus courts.

White defeated Crespy, 6-1, 6-1. Hoey defeated Donofrio, 6-3, 6-3. Mulrooney lost to Crespy, 2-6, 0-6. Veale defeated Marion, 6-1, 6-2. Schupp defeated Helker, 6-3, 4-6, 6-1. Daniello defeated Bingaman, 6-3, 6-0.

In the doubles matches White and Hoey defeated Crespy and Donofrio 6-4, 6-3. Mulrooney and Jebens lost to Crespy and Marion 2-6, 4-6. Moore and Simpkins lost to Snowberger and Bingaman 4-6, 6-3, 0-6. Congratulations to Carl Schupp for winning his first match in varsity competition and to the team for handing West Chester its first defeat this season. The final score was 6-3, which brought our record to 4 and 2; West Chester's record stands at 5-1.

On Saturday, May 8, on the south campus courts the team again won another impressive victory defeating Ursinus. White defeated Kenny by a forfeit, owing to the fact that Kenny had a sore arm. Hoey lost to Jespersion 8-10, 1-6 in the Carpenter Field House due to rain. Mulrooney defeated Radowski 6-1, 6-1. Veale defeated Rotman 6-0, 6-0. Schupp defeated Westerhoff 6-3, 6-3. Daniello defeated Fellows 6-3, 1-6, 6-1.

The Blue Hens captured the doubles matches by forfeit. Ursinus claimed they had to get back to the university. The match had been decided anyway in the singles play by the Hens winning five out of six matches.

Coach Rylander and the team feel confident that they can better the record. The last time the tennis team had a winning season was in 1941.

U D LACROSSE TEAM TO PLAY LAFAYETTE

The Delaware lacrosse team, paced by co-captains Boyd Cook and George Chaloupka, will play host to Lafayette College tomorrow afternoon on Frazer Field with the game slated for two o'clock. This will be the last home game for the Hens.

Lafayette has not won a game this year, and they have lost most of their games to teams that the Blue Hens have played. A comparison of scores puts Delaware in a favored position.

Last Wednesday the Hens played Washington College from Chestertown, Maryland. Washington boasted one of the most powerful teams on the east coast. Many veterans were back from last year's team which handed the Hens a severe defeat. In one of their victories they defeated Hofstra, the team that beat Delaware last Saturday.

Saturday's fray with Hofstra was marred by occasional showers and a muddy field. Delaware started out fast, with Pete Brosius scoring in the first minute of play. The weather conditions and the quick goal didn't seem to hold the boys from Long Island down very much. They proceeded to score five goals and later added fourteen more.

The vaunted power proved overwhelming for the Blue Hens, with the score ending up at 19-3. The Hens played without the services of Ronnie Haines and Grunt Morris, both of whom were out with injuries.

Woodward And Green Herald Hens To Victory By Outstanding Pitching

Delaware's high-flying Blue Hen nine got off on a new winning streak last week when they trounced Swarthmore 7-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Dal Green and trimmed Franklin and Marshall 4-1 as Dave Woodward pitched a neat six-hitter. This gave Delaware six wins in their last seven games and an overall 9-7 record.

The Hens found Swarthmore about as good as their seven-game losing streak indicated, and it is a wonder the score was not higher. As it was, the Hens got nine hits including co-captain Billy Annonio's home run over the left field fence and Bob Hooper's 340 foot double off the fence in left center.

The Hens took the lead in the second when Annonio singled, moved to second as Lou Romagnoli was hit by a pitch and scored after an infield error.

The Siemen men got another in the third when Hooper doubled home Gary Buckwalter, who had singled. In the seventh the Hens clinched the game with a five-run rally which included Annonio's homer and singles by Jim Zaiser and Andy Wagner.

Swarthmore combined two bunt singles and a wild pitch to score their only run in the sixth.

Green struck out ten and walked five in picking up his second win of the year against two defeats.

Against Franklin and Marshall the Hens put together eleven big hits for four runs and coasted to their victory behind big Dave Woodward's steady pitching.

Delaware gave Woodward his first run in the second inning. Annonio walked, moved to second on the third baseman's error and scored on Bob Trivitt's single. The score stayed 1-0 until Tom Redfield dropped Wayne English's fly to left in the seventh for a two-base error. English scored later when he just beat Hooper's throw to the plate on a fielder's choice.

The Hens were not to be denied, though, as they came back with two runs in their half of the seventh when Romagnoli singled, and then after two outs, Buckwalter doubled him in. Buckwalter then scored on a single by Wagner. Delaware added an insurance run in the eighth on successive singles by Green, Annonio and Romagnoli.

The loss was F&M's seventh in nine starts.

Blue Hen Of The Week

Turning to a team which is not having so much luck this year, it is hard to overlook the beautiful play exhibited by a sophomore lacrosse player from Catonsville, George "Pete" Brosius, who leads the team in scoring with eleven big points of the team total of twenty-six, has really been playing a bangup job as Milt Roberts' chief attack man for the 1954 stickmen.

During the Swarthmore game Pete came through with three big scores, and in the Hofstra game last Saturday Pete scored a goal in the first 30 seconds unaided.

Pete came to Delaware from Catonsville High School, Maryland, about three miles outside of Baltimore, where he won varsity letters in soccer, basketball and lacrosse.

At Delaware Pete has concentrated on lacrosse and is doing a fine job at that. Majoring in civil engineering and maintaining a Dean's list average does not leave much time for extra-curricular activities, but Pete is a member of the ASCE, the Sigma Nu Social Fraternity and the Delta Phi Honorary Society.

Track Squad To Compete In MACTF; Victorious Over F & M Last Saturday

Tomorrow the Blue and Gold track men will travel to La Salle College in Philadelphia to participate in the Middle Atlantic States Conference Meet. The prospect of an undefeated season has caused speculation that the team will do very well.

The Hen track squad continued its winning ways on Saturday by defeating Franklin and Marshall by a score of 70-56.

Captain Bill Reybold continued his amazing feats; Bill improved on his old 880 yd. record by 1.8 seconds. He was clocked at the incredibly low time of 1:54.5. This time serves as a preview of what Bill is expected to do at La Salle Saturday.

Steve Butcher proved that the old arm is still good for a few more inches by breaking his shot put record again. This is the sixth time this season that Steve has stretched his earlier record. On Saturday Steve heaved the little round ball 46 ft., 1 1/4 in.

Vince Palomba, the newest addition to the Delaware squad, showed real promise on Saturday. Vince tossed the javelin 166 ft., 9 1/2 in. to claim first prize in this event; versatile Tom Oves pulled down third place in this event.

Bob Graham finally found an event in which he could better Steve Butcher's results. Throughout the season the feats of Butcher have eclipsed the steady reliable scoring of Graham. Bob tossed the discus a few inches farther than Steve on Saturday, though, and thereby won the event.

Mike Ferver proved that last week's win was far from a freak. Ferver broad-jumped to his second straight win Saturday. His leap was good for 21 ft. 3/4 in. Mike also posted a second place in the 100 yd. dash.

The pole vault was won by Bill McWilliams. McWilliams has been undefeated in outdoor competition thus far. Although he is somewhat of a novice at pole vaulting, George Houghton brought home third prize.

The first place in the high jump was shared by Delaware's John Simpson and Dick Saunders. After eliminating all foreign competition, both men stopped jumping at 5 feet. Saunders came through brilliantly with a place in the 220 yd. high hurdles and a third in the 120 yd. high's.

Jim Flynn was the only double winner of the day. Speedy Jim breezed in way ahead in both the 100 yd. and the 220 yd. dashes. Flynn is setting a mighty fast pace; he is expected to be very tough to beat at the Middle Atlantic Conference meet on Saturday.

Co-captain Bill Annonio's 320 foot home run against Swarthmore was the first over the wall variety for the Hens this year.

The Hens meet a good Muhlenberg team tomorrow on the Frazer Field diamond at 2:30. The Mules recently defeated district champion Lafayette and have compiled a better than .300 team batting average for the season.

We don't know what the batting averages are, but those softball games are still in full swing. Can't quite tell from here who the champs will be, but New Castle is really putting in their bid.

That's about the size of it for this week. Don't miss the May Day this Saturday. If you do, you'll be sorry!

Andy Wagner, slick-fielding first baseman, now owns an eleven game hitting streak and a .300 batting average.

The Hens have now had eight straight well pitched games. Woodward, who started the streak in a losing effort against Lafayette, owns three of them.

Buddy Kimmel, the little rubber-armed right hander who had pitched in eleven of the Hens previous fourteen games, did not get to work last week. He says he likes to see the Hens win, but he likes to pitch, too.

TERRESTRIAL ENGINEERING?

Probably not. As far as we know, there isn't such a term. Even so, the terrain of a manufacturing plant may have a vital effect on the design and location of its engineering equipment.

It certainly did in the case of our Belle, West Virginia, plant, which is just across the road from a flat-topped hill, 750 feet high.

Perhaps you'd like to match wits with Du Pont engineers, for we feel that this problem was interesting—and its solution ingenious.

Briefly, the situation was this: Carbon dioxide was to be removed from a mixture of gases by bringing them into contact with water in "scrubbers" operating at 450 psi (gauge). The inlet gases contained about 25% CO₂ by volume. Because of its greater solubility, most of the CO₂ would leave the scrubbers dissolved in the water.

It was necessary to reduce the pressure of this water to atmospheric and recover the dissolved carbon dioxide, since CO₂ was needed for use in a chemical synthesis. The degasified water then had to be pumped back into the pressure scrubbers, to repeat the scrubbing cycle.

Still like to match wits? How would you design an economical closed system for this scrubbing water? After you've thought out your solution, you might like to compare it with the one given below.

Du Pont engineers made use of the precipitous terrain in this way: pressure on the water leaving the scrubbers was sufficient to force it up to the top of the hill for CO₂ recovery. The returning water thereby provided a pressure of approximately 325 psi (750 feet of head) at the base of the hill. This gift of pressure on the suction side of the water pumps resulted in considerable energy saving.

Do unusual problems such as this one challenge you and stir your enthusiasm? If they do, we think you'll be interested in technical work with the Du Pont Company.

But there was still work to do as Nancy Poole and Marilyn Haley took out the costumes and made quick repairs where necessary. At night these girls could be found washing and ironing the dwarfs' costumes, dirtied by rolling on the stage floors. Last but not least we found Zona Herzog and Mary Minkewich setting up make-up stands in minute dressing rooms. At one theatre there was so little room that the make-up was donned in the back of the truck.

Nine times the cast and crews unloaded the truck during the four day tour, and each night found them getting into bed long after midnight.

Overseeing the operation in their various capacities were two students, Lew Whitaker and Jean DeVries, and a faculty member of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech, Herman D. Middleton. Lew as stage manager had the job of supervising the entire stage action, while Jean, company manager, arranged sleeping and eating accommodations and was in charge of the entire company.

Campus Iron Curtain Dropped Ten Years Ago At Delaware

Readers of the Wilmington Journal-Every Evening picked up their newspapers one night in September ten years ago and were surprised to see the following headline: "U of D Adopts Coeducation in Wide Reorganization Plan." Reading further, they learned that "the University of Delaware will become a coeducational institution this month under a sweeping reorganization plan voted Saturday by the Board of Trustees at a special meeting on the campus.

Freshman Week

For the first time this September, the members of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership society, will be available during Freshman Week in front of the Memorial Library to furnish freshmen with any information concerning college.

On September 20 the freshmen will register and Freshman Week for 1954 will draw to a close.

"The new plan will go into effect the first of October or as soon afterwards as it can be done. Women students reporting to the campus next Monday will attend classes with the men, and the separate functions of the Women's College are to be abolished."

This news had been anticipated by some for a number of years; the ultimate effect was not as earth-shaking to the student body as it might seem to have been.

Probably the most important result of the new plan from the students' point of view was the creation of the offices of the Dean of Men and Dean of Women.

First Joint Venture

A good reason for the lack of "effects" felt by students was possibly that for a period previous to the official merger the classes from the Women's College had been creeping slowly onto North Campus.

Actually, the Memorial Library was the first coeducational venture; although strict segregation was maintained between the men and women students, they were both permitted to use this building. Around 1939 men and women began to mingle in the reading rooms; separation had fallen by the wayside long before 1944.

The early dramatic groups on campus were also quite instrumental in pulling the college together. Since both men and women were needed in productions, the early drama class, E-52, established the spirit and precedent for co-ed classes. A short while later, upon completion of the new chemistry building, women's classes began meeting there although scheduled at different hours than were the men's. This was another step toward coeducation.

The actual merger was undoubtedly a result of these details seeping into the daily routine; however, the deciding factor was economy, since separate classes were expensive, and it was felt that the women were being deprived of instruction under many leading professors.

The first attempt to integrate the administration was made in 1933, and a subsequent one five years later. Both of these were unsuccessful, but according to the '44 issue of the Review, "When Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, an active leader in the earlier attempts, was made acting president, he suggested that a committee be appointed to study plans for reorganizations.

"Dr. Sypherd's comment on the reorganization: 'In working the University of Delaware as a coeducational institution, the Board of Trustees sought to perfect a program which will insure maximum usefulness to both men and women students.'"

TODAY'S QUIZ
 WHAT MAKES A LUCKY TASTE BETTER?
 "IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!
 A Lucky tastes better for two important reasons: 1. Lucky Strike means fine tobacco...light, mild, good-tasting tobacco.
 2. That tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"--the famous Lucky Strike process--tones up Luckies' fine tobacco... makes it taste even better--cleaner, fresher, smoother.
 That's why a Lucky tastes better. And naturally, better taste is why thousands of college students prefer Luckies to all other brands.
 So, enjoy better taste. Be Happy--Go Lucky!

Dolan Aids In Research On Presidential Elections

Dr. Paul Dolan, associate professor of political science, contributed to the research of a group of political analysts who published their findings in a five-column report, Presidential Nominating Politics in 1952. The study was made in order to determine how well American political nominating procedures functioned in making the will of the people known at the nominating conventions.

The analysis was conducted both on a state-by-state and a national level. Some 340 political scientists from all states contributed their findings to the volumes, which contain studies of how both parties in every state and the territories selected their delegates and made known their choices, as well as a report and analysis of pre-convention and convention nominating politics on a national basis.

Dr. Dolan made an analysis of the membership of Delaware's Republican and Democratic delegations to the convention. He based his study on three main points: the relationship of members to their constituencies, the way in which each delegate was chosen and the relationship of the members of the delegation to their respective parties.

The report was published by the Johns Hopkins press and edited by Paul T. David of the Brookings Institute, in collaboration with Professor Malcolm Moos of the Johns Hopkins University and Ralph M. Goldman of the Brookings Institute.

Chris Bernhard's Lucky Strike Entry Wins $25 Award

Last December Chris Bernhard, feeling in one of her more poetic moods, decided to enter the Lucky Strike jingle contest which was open to all college students. Chris entered five jingles; her winning entry went like this:

"The latest college survey shows
That Luckies lead again.
They're tops with all the smart
coeds,

As well as with the men."

Chris said that she had not expected to win the contest because shortly after she submitted her entry she received a post card telling her that her entry had been received and they would notify her if she had won. She thought this was just a polite way of telling her that they could not use her jingle. "I was very excited when I heard I had won," Chris admitted.

Shortly afterward she signed over all rights to the American Tobacco Company. The winning jingle appeared in a nationwide Lucky Strike ad, and Chris received a twenty-five dollar award.

When asked what she planned to do with her money, Chris answered that it was spent long ago. She used it to buy a new gown for Women's Weekend.

A French major, Chris hails from Chatham, N. J. Chris spends all of her spare time planning for her June wedding.

Alumni Reunion

 May Day festivities will follow for the women while the men are invited to intercollegiate lacrosse, tennis and baseball events. There will be a tea at this time for former Home Economics members in the Home Management House. A banquet is scheduled next for men only, but the women will dine in College Inn. The May Day Dance will officially end the reunion on campus.

Accommodations have been made to house in the Women's Dormitories any alumnae who wish to stay overnight. While some of the activities are in progress, plans have been made to entertain graduates' children.

At the time of the alumni and alumnae meetings new officers will be announced, and class reunion gifts will be presented to the university.

During the weekend, awards will be presented to the persons coming the farthest, to the alumnus from the oldest class represented, to the class with the greatest percentage of members present, to the class with the largest number of people present and to the Outstanding Alumnus of the year.

The honored classes are those back every five years from 1954 (ending in "4's" and "9's") as in 1904, 1939, etc., this year. These classes usually make a special effort to have a large percentage of their members return.

Honors Day

 Dr. Payne-Gaposhkin is also scheduled to present an illustrated lecture on the scope of modern astronomy to members of the combined Honor societies and their guests at 8:15 p.m. in the lounge of Warner Hall.

In the preparation of this program, the Faculty Committee on Student Honors is being assisted by the following students: Edward Ralph of Alpha Zeta, Mary Ann Lindale of Kappa Delta Pi and Pi Mu Epsilon, James Hoey of Omicron Delta Kappa, Jay Clark of Psi Chi, Paul Moser of Sigma Pi Sigma, Jane Banks of Tassel, Edward Taylor of Tau Beta Pi and Mickie Blaine representing the Student Government Association.

Blue Hen Staff Chooses Editors For 1955 Yearbook

 on the Review, participates on S.G.A. committees and has been active on committees within his class.

Other members of the staff that have been appointed so far are as follows: JoAnne Wood, senior editor; Dick Knoll and Charles Willis, boys' sports editors; David Feh-

Ann Cunningham and Jean Parker, junior editors (in charge of the section); Tommy Moore, sales manager; and Erv Berg, Jay Hartford, Carol Morgan and Ronald Seres, photography staff.

Around 250 pictures have already been taken of the class of '55 while the rest will be taken in the fall, giving another chance to those who have not been photographed so far.

Beginning on May 17, juniors who have had their pictures taken will be able to select their best one for the yearbook by stopping in at the Blue Hen office. The selection will go on for approximately a week.
