Property Owner Files Complaint For Alleged Damages Resulting From Sidewalk Construction At South Academy, East Park Place Property

Already beset by a number of financial problems, the city of Newark was confronted with another at the Tuesday City Council meeting when a $10,000 damage suit against the town was reported.

John M. Knox, property owner of a corner lot at South Academy Street and East Park Place, has brought suit against the town for $10,000 and costs, plus interest, for damages caused by H. Barclay, Wilmington contractor employed by the city to lay a sidewalk across the Knox property.

The complaint filed in Superior Court states that Elliott acted without his permission in the construction of sidewalk, and weakened foundations of buildings on the property with excavation opera-

City Solicitor John P. Sinclair stated that the sidewalk was approved as the result of a petition from the Newark Parents' Association, requesting a sidewalk at that location to protect children from traffic in the street and that the city was within its rights in directing the contractor referred to Section 33 of the City Charter, which states that a 30-day notice, the city has authority to approve such construction and to bill the property owner involved.

Paul Gallagher, realtor, presented approved plans for the sidewalk extension project, just north of the Chrysler Tank Plant, to City Secretary Charles Long advised to inform Chrysler that this plan will be completed in two weeks, pending Chrysler decision concerning possible location of a road through the

Sixth Annual Chicken Festival Provides Fun, Eats for 15,000

The Sixth Annual Delmarva Chicken Festival closed to a crowd of 15,000 people, who were on hand for the grand parade and the Red Foley stage show.

Two new chicken cooking queens were recognized and awarded gold trophies, electric ranges and cash prizes. The top cash prize of $500 went to Mrs. Frank Tharp of Lewes, Del. for her picnic delight recipe and the judges said she earned the award because her recipe was relatively simple, easily prepared, and could be served hot or cold. It was cut up fried chicken with onion sauce as the main condiment. As the National Chicken Cooking Contest winner, Mrs. Tharp rode in a special parade float with little 13 year old Patsy Lee Jones, of Georgetown, the Junior Contest winner.

Touches of glamour sparkled all of the activities since the beauty queens were selected on the first day. Debbie Ann Savage, 20 year old home economics student at the University of Maryland, was elected as Miss Delaware. Newark's teen-agers have requested the Newark Recreation Association volunteers to help them obtain various summer jobs by providing a bulletin board where "help wanted" and "situation wanted" notices may be posted.

The bulletin board is in service but the "situation wanted" notices far outnumber the others. Public interest is requested to bring about a better balance.

If you have a temporary job for a youngster, please call Miss Gail Kauffman, phone 2-1197.

Statewide X-Rays Planned For Each Resident Over 15

John G. Leach Conducts First Meeting of Public Information Delegates

Men and women from every field of public information in Delaware were present at a meeting of the Public Information Committee of the Delaware Statewide Chest X-Ray Survey, in Wilmington, on Wednesday, June 24th. John G. Leach, chairman of the public information committee for the survey, welcomed the group, and introduced the survey's president, Dean William Penrose, and other speakers.

The goal, to X-ray every Delawarean over 15 years of age, between September, 1953, and February, 1954, was stated; financial need expressed, and the primary object of the meeting was explained—"to get the message and desire to the general public throughout the state."

Dr. Victor D. Washburn explained the medical picture to the group, representatives of newspapers, house organs, radio, television, theaters, out door advertising, clubs and fraternal organizations, labor and management, churches, and civic organizations were called upon to make suggestions for the success of the campaign. Many of these pledged their enthusiastic personal support, and explained how their fields might affect the educational program.

Four public information sub-committees were formed and their chairmen appointed at this meeting. The chairmen are: James Chandler, III, speakers bureau; Robert Carlisle, slogans and symbols; J. Gordon Walsh, radio and television; Miles L. Frederick, proclamations.

Mr. Leach thanked the gathering for their attendance and interest, and in closing the meeting asked that every person lend his support to the statewide campaign, "the biggest thing ever undertaken in Delaware!"

Temporary headquarters have been set up at 1308 Delaware Avenue. A newsletter will be released at regular intervals to report progress and stations are expected to be set up in Kent County in September. X-ray machines will be located at central points in communities and volunteers will be needed in many phases of the campaign.

The lecturer is presently conducting one of the summer session courses entitled "Schools and Community Improvement" in the School of Education.

Newark School District Faces September Classroom Shortage

Anticipated Elementary School Needs Require 44 Classrooms With 27 Expected Available; Building Construction Strike Halts Progress

The Newark Special School District is facing September's school opening with 27 elementary school classrooms available and an anticipated need for 44 elementary school-rooms.

Double sessions for the lower elementary grades were necessary during the past school term because of a lack of school facilities, and concerning the possibility for doubling again in September. Superintendent Wilmer E. Shue stated that such arrangements would assuredly be necessary again, and may be extended to include the upper elementary classes through adjustments in teaching and school-directed homework.

Parents have made inquiries as to what children will be assigned morning or afternoon sessions, and in answer to these questions Mr. Shue said: "The Board of Education will decide when all factors are shown, and such a decision will be made in the best interests of the children."

"Because of the building strike," he explained, "we are unable to determine when the first 12 classrooms of the new Middle School will be completed. Construction schedules have been revised to include finishing of the classrooms first, leaving the cafeteria and the bus waiting room until last."

"And if the crafts are authorized to return to work at a very early date, the school can be finished with sufficient help, in time for the start of school in September."

A survey conducted by the Newark schools has disclosed that 131 youngsters from Brookside Park alone will be starting to school in Newark for the first time this fall, and that in Brookside there are 213 children of school age, and 371 youngsters of pre-school age.

Of the newcomers to the Newark Special School District, 39 will be coming to school in Newark; 45 will be starting in the second grade; 26 pupils will go into the third grade; there are 28 fourth graders; 25 in the fifth grade; and 18 children will begin their local schooling in the sixth grade.

The Board of Education has investigated the possibility of temporary housing until the Middle School is ready; has considered the use of churches and the Academy Street barracks of the University of Delaware; but no adequate facilities are available to the extent required.

"The main building will be used entirely for high school students, leaving 23 classrooms available in the elementary buildings, and four in the Main Street school building. Housing in the New London Avenue School offers no current problem, the superintendent commented.

"With 27 classrooms available for the elementary school children," Mr. Shue said, "we face an anticipated loss for 44 classrooms."

"And in the fall," he added, "some 110 homes will be occupied in College Park."

The Delaware black bass and pickerel fishing season opened last Thursday—a fact that we had something less than successfully banished from the old brain in deference to press day for the Post—and then Herman Klahr and Dick Baldyck showed up early Thursday morning with a six and one-half pound large mouthed black bass on a string with a pair of lesser brethren, a three and one-half pounder and one that probably weighed out at better than a pound-and-a-half.

All three of the handsome, green-gold bronzebacks were still alive and smelling of that delicate, perfume characteristic of bass—a pleasant scent familiar to successful bass fishermen and an aroma in no way reminiscent of just plain fish.

Herman punched a big hole in our good intentions for the day, and while we hung around the Post until the paper came off the press, our physical presence contributed little to final make-up of Mary Johnston's society page, nor to the smooth press run.

If you got a paper last week, it was due to the Thursday effort of Bob Journey, Libby Taylor, and Bill Durham.

Catching a six pound bass in Delaware—or anywhere—is a long-shot chance somewhat akin to an error in a bank statement as compared to your check stub entries; making an unassisted catch of a line drive foul into the third base stands at Connie Mack stadium; or cashing in on a 25 to 1 filly in the eighth at Delaware Park after suffering with seven straight also-rans.

Herman Klahr not only came up with a six and a half pounder, but he took it on Opening Day out of Lumm's Pond!

Perhaps you've never fished Lumm's. If you have, you can appreciate Herman's feat. If you haven't, don't.

There are a few places—the Sahara, for one—where it is tougher to take a fish, but there aren't many.

Several weeks before the season opened—when bass fishing was at its peak—we gave Lumm's a thorough going-over at sunset. And characteristic of past experience, we failed to raise a fish.

In justice to the boatkeeper at Lumm's Pond, it should be pointed out that few lakes are more picturesque or likely looking for a bass fisherman. And potentially, Lumm's is a hot spot. There are plenty of fish there, and big ones. But we can't catch 'em.

Axel Anderson, who accompanied us on our first trip to Lumm's, said in advance: "You won't catch many bass here, but what you do catch will be big ones." And the Swede was half right.

Herman, an unreconstructed bait-caster, took all three of those Thursday bass on a medium sized plug—a River Runt—and that's one for the inveterate spinners like Sam Campston and Bob Hanby to chew on.

This evening fishing on Delaware's still-water ponds is a bit tougher for us—the mosquito action can be and usually is terrific after sundown—so rather than risk a case of anemia we went to Kitts Hummock with Lyle Patterson for a Thursday night go with the Delaware Bay waters.

If the sea trout had cooperated half as well as Dick Ware's Evinrude, the fishing would have been highly satisfactory. But the trout didn't and the fishing wasn't.

With Lyle we tossed around on a choppy, high-rolling sea before a good breeze out of the northeast, and failed to get a strike until after the sun set and the moon took over.

In the semi-visibility of moonlight, the toadfish became active

SOIL CONSERVATION
You can conserve soil without improving it, but you cannot build soil without conserving it. Soil is like a living thing. Feed it right and treat it right, and it grows like any living thing, and produces more while it is growing, says the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Our future capacity to produce depends in a large measure on how we manage our soil resources.

Traffic Expected To Exceed Record Holiday Week End

National Safety Council Advises Uncertain Drivers To Remain Safe at Home

Can you make quick decisions? If you can't, you had better stay at home on the Fourth of July weekend, the National Safety Council said today.

It has been estimated that the average motorist has to make from 30 to 40 decisions per hour, depending on the traffic, the Council said. "If a driver is never more than a few seconds away from an accident," the Council expects more pleasure-seeking motorists to climb into their cars and roll up more miles than ever before in the nation's history.

Nearly 40 million motor vehicles are expected to jam the highways, and their speedometers are expected to clock close to four billion miles on the road and the substantial rise in gasoline consumption will play the fact that many motorists will use the three-

by KATHARINE W. HAMMOND

Even if you think you're not susceptible to poison ivy, don't take any chances with it. I thought that I was safe after not having had it except very slightly for over 30 years. I was wrong.

When growing up, I'd get it nearly every summer when we'd visit the farm. We tried all the lotions—purple, green, yellow and white—according to the doctor's advice. Applied to the affected parts, you would wait for the itching to stop, and for the blisters to get bigger so that the doctor could cut them. Then, boom, like a thunder clap—more itching—even the bed clothes made you squirm.

We crushed plantain leaves. Someone said the extract from the leaf would help. It made a dull, greenish, thick, mass, looked like creamed spinach without the cream, and good for the bed linen. Salt water was supposed to be good and the fresh, briny odor reminded you of the ocean. Ah, the outdoors! A little household ammonia mixed with water, or if you were brave, applied undiluted, might burn it out.

My sister was more unfortunate than I. Her face and eyes were affected and poison ivy made her look like a prize-fighter after a championship match with Joe Louis in his prime.

Somewhat we always came through and the nerve-racking itch was gone, out of mind, and our skin was just as good as before.

Now, we have shots for poison ivy. They help, but bear no guarantee. You must stay away from the weed unless your body is completely protected.

We have found a pretty spot near our town to build our home. We are spraying the trees and clearing out the weeds. It will be the most beautiful place in the United States when finished, but—

You're right! I got poison ivy. Everyone is sympathetic and they know just the thing. My doctor admitted the course must be run, even with shots and the pretty pink applications.

Sugar of lead, they tell me, is good. "But," my husband said, "it is poisonous." Absorbine, Jr., is what you should use and Chlorox will fix you right up, they say. Vicks salve cured a little girl in two days and my neighbor said the use of yellow soap after exposure, keeps you immune.

I've tried them all at one time or another.

Well, I've found the cure. My husband purchased more lotion plus a package, the contents of which he was told would work magic on poison ivy. It had done so for one of the attorneys in town. He had a bad case of poison ivy on his head and with this magic he was cured immediately.

As I said, I'll try anything. I am briny again. No, it isn't salt but it has salt in it and it has an odor. In the package, was a salt mackerel. I pictured my leg encased with the mackerel, and the lawyer with his head swathed with the tender, juicy fish.

My poison ivy? It's true, it's magic, that mackerel juice, but I'll never go near poison ivy again.

Newark Middle on Cruise Through Caribbean Area

Midshipman first class Steven J. Barczewski, USN, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Barczewski of Route 1, Newark, is participating in a two-month training cruise aboard a ship of the Navy's 1933 Midshipman Practice Squadron, out of Norfolk, Va.

More than 30 ships, including the battleships Missouri and Wisconsin and the light aircraft carrier Saipan left Norfolk early in June, carrying 3,200 trainees to nine ports in South America and the Caribbean.

BAD PLUGS

Bad spark plugs are one of the chief causes of excess fuel consumption in a tractor or an automobile engine, says the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. So for economy, check spark plugs often, get new ones regularly.

DON'T LET INDEPENDENCE DAY MAKE YOU A DEPENDENT!

Unless this holiday is different from all that have preceded it, thousands of Americans will become dependents on Independence Day.

They will be the maimed, the widowed, the orphaned. For the rest of their lives some of the maimed will have to depend on others for their physical care and comfort — some of the widowed and orphaned will have to depend on relatives or the state for their financial support.

And the dependency of the maimed, the widowed, the orphaned will be the result of Independence Day accidents. Several hundred Americans will pay for their celebration with their lives, and all because of accidents that need not happen.

Holidays have become horror days in the United States. In recent years many holidays have brought such a high accident toll that they assume the proportions of a national catastrophe. And this carnage need not occur. Accidents are not acts of God. They are acts of humans who foolishly bet their lives for dubious rewards.

Motor vehicle accidents lead the list of Fourth of July hazards. According to the National Safety Council, one out of two persons now living in this country has been or will be injured in a motor vehicle accident before he dies, unless our present accident rate is greatly reduced. And many of these accidents occur on holidays, when traffic is especially heavy.

Second high on the Fourth of July accident list is drowning. Falls, fireworks and firearms, sunstroke and heat exhaustion, food poisoning and miscellaneous accidents also exact their toll.

Independence Day tolls are not inevitable. They can be prevented. Police departments and other officials all over the country will be alert to prevent as many accidents as possible. But as always the size of the toll depends chiefly on the good sense of every American.

Please take it easy over the Fourth.

25 YEARS AGO

Boy Drowns in White Clay Creek

One of the most pathetic incidents in the White Clay Creek drowning of 9-year old Albert Love on Monday afternoon, was that his 16-year-old brother, Vernon stepped on the youngster's body, Tuesday morning, while wading in shallow water near the dam at the Paper Mill Bridge, aiding the search.

The little chap was in bathing and either slipped or slipped unnoticed into water over his depth. When he failed to come home that evening, an all-night search was undertaken.

No Electricity Rate Cut
At the regular monthly meeting of the Town Council it was reported that the Delaware Electric Company's reduction in rates would not extend to the town of Newark. The price cut applies to domestic, not contract rates.

Haines Street Sewer Service
A request to Council for provision of water and sewer service on Haines Street, between Main and Delaware Avenue, disclosed the fact that the street does not belong to the town.

Mayor Frazer will meet with property owners to discuss deeding the street to the town, and if this can be arranged, the street will be provided with water and sewer service for the usual sewer tax assessment on the properties affected.

Daniel Stoll estimated the necessary installations at $375.

Worrlow Appointed County Agent
A. D. Cobb, state director, announced that George M. Worrlow, assistant County Agent for New Castle Co. for the past nine months, has been appointed County Agent.

Mr. Worrlow has made many friends of the farmers in the county and was an outstanding 4-H club member in Maryland. He was a member of the first dairy club judging team sent to England in 1922, and graduated from the University of Maryland in 1927.

Stolen Tires Recovered
Seven new automobile tires, stolen from the garage of Henry F. Mote, were recovered by William Cunningham, who is employed by Mote, and Constable William Wideman.

Upon information received from a local source, Cunningham, accompanied by Wideman, discovered the stolen tires locked in a house on New London Avenue.

One man was arrested, and taken before Magistrate Thompson, denied any knowledge of the theft. He was released on $1,000 bail pending further developments.

Sports
Rose held the North East sluggers to seven scattered safeties in a Tri-County League game on Saturday afternoon at North East, and struck out 11 men, but Newark dropped the decision, 5 to 3.

Cook, 2b; Knott, 3b; Davis, c; Jaquette, 1b, and Rose collected a hit apiece for Newark.

P. F. Pie won the silver spoon for low net at the Newark Country Club last Saturday, with a 69. H. A. Turner took Sunday's prize for low gross with a 74.

Society
Miss Marian Crozier Durnall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Durnall, and Carl B. Ragan, son of Mrs. George F. Ragan, were married Friday evening by Rev. D. W.

Can What You Can But Can Carefully Specialist Advises

Preserving as much food as possible at home is important, but so are you homemakers.

That's a word of canning caution from Miss Louise R. Whitcomb, home management specialist of the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

First, Miss Whitcomb says, "No oven canning." Oven canning is never recommended for two reasons. The food may not be heated to a high enough temperature to kill the bacteria; and oven canning is a serious cause of accidental explosions. Explosions could happen anytime, even with the best quality jars. Don't take this risk of cutting and burning yourself, possibly seriously.

Pressure cookers or canners, and water bath methods are more safe, especially if done correctly. In pressure canning, be sure to read the directions that come with the cooker. Pressure gauges should be checked each season, to insure perfect working order.

In the hot water bath method, be sure to use good quality glass jars. Miss Whitcomb explains that imperfect jars can explode easily in this processing method. All jars should be carefully checked for cracks, nicks, or sharp edges. Jar caps should be in perfect condition. Have plenty of clean cloths and pot holders on hand to avoid burns.

"And above all," Miss Whitcomb concludes, "don't try to can the universe in one day. Over fatigue is a sure way of running into these landing accidents. Can what you can, but can carefully."

Jacobs at the Methodist Episcopal Church. Mr. and Mrs. Hogan will make their home at 340 South College Avenue.

Miss Annabelle Jarmon spent last week-end with Miss Patience Thompson at Richardson Park.

Mrs. C. A. Adams will leave Saturday for a month's visit at Warrenton, Va.

Miss Jean Webber, of New York City, will spend this week-end in Newark as the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. D. Cobb.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Bausman and son, Bobby, returned Friday from Ithaca, N.Y. Mr. Bausman has been studying at Cornell University.

Mrs. George E. Dutton and son, George, Jr., will leave Thursday for a ten day visit with Mrs. Dutton's sister, Mrs. W. M. Carmine, Baltimore.

Warren A. Singles and the Misses Jane and Anne Smith were guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Gallagher, of Peach Bottom, on Sunday.

Mrs. Everett C. Johnson and Miss Marjorie Johnson will leave July 7 for Pawling, N.Y., where the latter will teach at Mammit School.

Miscellaneous
The new Chevrolet family coach was advertised at $365; coffee was selling for 33 cents; a big loaf of bread was 8 cents; and bacon was not too popular at 32 cents.

At the Newark Opera House, it was $40,000 Miles with Charles Lindbergh, and Mullins in Wilmington were advertising palm beach and mohair suits at $11.50.

$100,000 New Castle Handicap To End Delaware Park Meet

Defending Champion Kiss Me Kate Among 15 Fillies, Mares Considered For 16th Annual Event; Grecian Queen Rated Top Three-Year-Old

Three stakes were listed for this final week of Delaware Park's 32-day meeting with the big climax scheduled for Saturday when fillies and mares will vie for the richest purse ever offered anywhere for distaff-side members of the race-horse family. The holiday special is the $100,000 added New Castle Handicap, to be decided over the classic route of a mile and a quarter.

At this writing, at least 15 thoroughbreds are considered possibilities for the 16th running of the Independence Day fixture, and indications are that a dozen or so will definitely line up for the richest event of its kind. Even if only 10 horses go postward and that's more than enough for the customers, the New Castle would gross $120,000 and net the winner $24,000. It costs $350 to pass the entry box and an additional $1,000 to start. Fifty-eight horses were nominated at $100 each.

The star-studded field is expected to come from the following group of possibilities: Grecian Queen, Marta, La Corredora, Kiss Me Kate (the defending champion), Be Gracious, Big Mo, My Celeste, How's Tricks, Islay Mist, Mispal, No Score, Ming Yellow, Nilufer, Spinning Top, Northchance, Parading Lady, How, Home-Made, and Devilkin.

Grecian Queen, owned by Mrs. Ben F. Whitaker, seems most formidable of the three-year-olds in the New Castle, having won the Gazelle, Coaching Club American Oaks and Prioress in addition to running third in the Delaware Oaks this season. Of the older stars, Kiss Me Kate again must be rated a strong contender—she has the Firenze Handicap to her credit this year—while Marta, off her Top Flight Handicap triumph in New York, apparently has regained her best form.

The two other stakes scheduled for the final week were jumping specials—Tuesday's Spring Maiden Steeplechase at about two miles, and Friday's Indian River Steeplechase Handicap—longest infield event of the meeting at about two and a half miles on the stakes course for a purse of $10,000 added.

Bryan Field, Vice-President and General Manager of the track, will again describe the stakes running with Jack Lee and Bob Kelley handling winner's circle interviews and color.

The distinguished guest speaker to appear on that part of the broadcast devoted to worthy causes in Delaware will be Lamont duPont, Jr., chairman of the Delaware Chapter, American Red Cross.

Dusting 'Em Off

By E. A. RAUGHLEY

It begins to look like the experts who picked the Yanks to win the flag knew just about everything they were talking about. Since they ran off that streak of 18 in a row, the press has been full of opinions on the effect it had on the rest of the teams.

Some say that the race is over and one bright boy wants to "go minor league" and split the season. And again, a gentle reminder is thrown out that Brooklyn once lost a 13½ game lead they held in August and history sometime repeats. As far as any effect it might have on the size of the crowds, they still come to see the Yanks, even if they do beat the home teams.

Speaking of the Yankees, it seems that the league has ideas about what happens when you become a Yank.

Yankee Touch

I remember when the A's picked up a first baseman by the name of George McQuinn. George was a good ball player but was over the hill and Mr. Mack got him for not too much money and at the end of the season was released. Next spring he was picked up by the Yankee training camp, made good, and was the spark plug that kept the Yanks running all year. So did several of the National League's faded veterans after being waived out. A good example is Johnny Sain.

The A's are having quite a run of injuries. First it was Bobby Schantz, and then Elmer Valo, up to his old tricks of trying to crash through the wall in right field. Then Joe Coleman, who was trying to come back, had his appendix removed; Alex Kellner turns up with bursitis in his pitching shoulder, and Eddie

Newark Jr. Legion Drops 15-2 Game To League Leaders

The Newark Jr. American Legion League dropped a 15-2 game to the league leaders, the Methodists, in a game played at the Newark Jr. Legion grounds last night. The Methodists scored two runs in the top of the first inning at Price's Run on Monday evening to take a short-lived lead over tied-for-first place Laurence Roberts Post, but the Robertsmen came up with seven runs in the second act to hand the local Junior Legionnaires a 15-2 lacing.

Tom Donovan held the Newark lads to four hits while his mates hammered a pair of Newark twirlers for a total of 16 safeties.

Jack McDowell, at second base for Newark, touched Donovan for two of the four hits registered by Manager Danny Hamilton's charges.

The loss dropped Newark 3½ games off the pace.

Adults Work Out As Groundskeepers For Little League

After the regular Kiwanis club meeting last Wednesday evening, some 20 adults turned out with rakes and miscellaneous equipment to give the Little League diamond at Barksdale Road a going-over.

Among the volunteer landscape gardeners were: Bill Skold, Clarence Brown, Bill Murray, Merle Taylor, Dan Harvey, Hubie Melrath, Ralph Colbert, Ace Aiken, Pete Dawson, Arlington Jackson, Bill Burrell, and the Seidell brothers.

It was hot—good and hot—but the enthusiasm of the workers was in no way dampened by the perspiration.

The public is invited—is urged—to attend all Little League functions, from games to grounds-keeping.

Camp Rodney Begins 36th Year With Record Roll

1135 Boy Scouts Sign Says Council Chairman With 300 for 1st Week

The Rodney Scout Camp on Chesapeake Bay, near North East, Md., opened for its 36th season on Sunday with 300 boys and leaders signed up for the largest first-week enrollment in the Camp's history, according to an announcement made by Philip G. Rhoads, chairman of the Del-Mar-Va Council camping and activities committee.

To date, 1135 campers have signed up for one or more weeks. Mr. Rhoads stated, "Forty-one troops have reserved camp sites for one week or more where they will camp under their leaders using the camp's facilities and the help of the camp staff."

Registrations of individual Scouts who are not going to camp as a troop are being received daily at the Scout Office, 1012 Jefferson Street, Wilmington. Scouts are urged to get their applications in early for the camp periods of their choice. Information on registration and camp costs can be secured from any Scoutmaster or at the Scout Office, Wilmington 6-4351.

The old Cheechakoo Camp, one of the original sites on the Rodney reservation has been dismantled and a new tent camp is ready to be available and the Rachel Topkis Memorial Rifle Range is nearing completion and should soon be ready for use.

Standard .22 calibre target rifles will be provided at the camp and boys are not to bring their own rifles. The dedication date for this new feature has been set for July 19.

The camp program is planned to provide a maximum of fun in an ideal Scouting atmosphere. Every precaution is taken to insure a safe and happy experience for Scouts 11 to 18 years of age under conditions where they can get the most benefit from the Scout program.

Scoutcraft, swimming, boating, canoeing, nature study, marksmanship and recreational games provide fun and skills for all Scouts.

Mason-Dixon Oval Presents 200-Lap Grand National

A 200-lap Grand National Circuit late model championship race is scheduled for the Mason-Dixon Speedway Sunday night, July 5, under the lights. Co-promoters Mel Geller and Sam Taustin have announced.

Several dozen late model cars will be present for the grueling 200-lap test over the Mason-Dixon one-half mile dirt oval which will start with time trials. Actual racing is listed to get underway with the first heat at 8 p.m. This is the first time such a venture has ever been attempted in the five-year history of this oval.

There will be no racing at Mason-Dixon Sunday afternoon. Track managers plan to spend as much time as possible in getting the track in best condition, eliminating the dust problem around the turns.

Ray Duhig, the Toledo flash, with three Grand National Circuit championships to his credit, will be among the field. Duhig won the Wilmington, Del., Massasa, Va., and Columbus, Ga., Grand Nationals.

SERMON OF THE WEEK

By Mrs. Frances Youngren Boody Bible Institute, Chicago

Dr. Benjamin Spock, of the University of Pittsburgh, wrote during National Child Health Week: "Good health for a child isn't just having a nose that doesn't run. It means feeling good enough to want to sing and whistle. Good health for a child means a loving home, a wholesome neighborhood, understanding parents and teachers. . . . and there are tens of thousands of children in America who still lack these essentials." Where will their feet lead them?

"The world marches forward on the feet of little children" said Phillips Brooks. Since this is true, mothers and fathers throughout our land should be careful into what paths they lead their children. Those children entrusted to their care by God . . . because every child born into the world has an undying soul.

"When mothers brought their little children to Jesus for Him to bless, He said: 'Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me: for of such is the kingdom of heaven. And he laid his hands on them' (Matt. 19-14, 15). Then, too, He gave this solemn warning: 'Whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea' (Mat. 18:6).

The story is told of a little lad playing in the aisle of a trans-continental train. "Where are you going, my little man?" asked one of the passengers. "Out west, sir," he said. "But to what place?" asked the interested stranger. "I do not know, sir, but my father knows, and I am going with him."

"My father knows, and I am going with him." Oh, that each child in our land might have that implicit faith and trust in his father, and even more so in his heavenly Father, whom we can know through the Lord Jesus Christ. Only in Him are children safe from the onslaughts of evil.

"The Lord our God is one Lord; and thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart; and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children" (Deut. 6:4-7).
