ST. JOHN'S PASTOR IS MOVED TO CITY PARISH

Rev. Leo O'Neil Is Transferred From Hockessin To Church Here

The Rev. Dr. Eugene J. Kraemer, pastor of St. John's Church here for the past 15 years, has been transferred to the pastorate of St. Patrick's in Philadelphia, and the Rev. Leo W. O'Neil has been appointed to succeed him. Father O'Neil has been rector of St. John's at Hockessin since 1940.

The changes were announced this week by the Most Rev. Dr. Edmund J. Connelley, bishop of Wilmington. Father Kraemer came here in 1934 and during his rectorship a number of improvements were made. The present building of the church was erected in 1937 and a building fund for a new school was launched. For a time the school was the Newman Club of the University of Delaware. Three years ago he celebrated the 25th anniversary of his ordination.

Father O'Neil besides being rector of Hockessin has held the post of superintendent of the parochial schools of the Diocese of Wilmington and he will continue in that position. Father Kraemer, who was born in Pennsylvania and came to this country at an early age, studied at the Brothers of the Christian Schools in New York City, later at St. Mary's College, Northampton, Pa., and at Old St. Mary's Seminary, Poca Street, Baltimore, then transferred to the Catholic University at Washington, D. C. He was ordained in 1921, in Baltimore. He next spent two years on the faculty of St. Charles College, Catonsville, Md., and then came to the Diocese of Wilmington where he was appointed rector of St. Benedict's Church, Ridgely, Md., in 1923. He supervised construction of Our Lady of Mercy Church at Centerville, Md.

Father O'Neil, a native of Troy, N. Y., was ordained to the priesthood June 14, 1921, by the Most Rev. Dr. Edmund J. Connelley, bishop of Albany (N. Y.) at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in that city. Father O'Neil came to the Diocese of Wilmington in 1930 where he was appointed an assistant pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church and principal of the parochial school. He served as assistant rector of St. Patrick's Church, Wilmington. (Please Turn to Page 3)

Nazarene Congregation Will Dedicate New Church Sunday

Number of Visiting Clergy to Be On Hand For Ceremonies At 2:30 P. M.; Congregation Provided Much of Labor For Building

Formal dedication of the recently constructed Church of the Nazarene, 27 North Chapel Street, will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m., the Rev. J. C. Reedy announced this week.

The attractive brick structure, which has a seating capacity of 253 including the balcony, was completed some months ago, and the first service was held there on Easter Sunday morning. A large basement will be brought into use for Sunday School classes and young peoples meetings as the need arises.

The Rev. J. H. Parker, district superintendent from Baltimore, will be the principal speaker at the ceremonies on Sunday. The invocation will be by the Rev. James H. Boggs, pastor of the West Grove, Pa., Church, and the prayer of dedication will be offered by the Rev. George Andres, pastor at Royersford, Pa. A solo will be sung by

Mr. Kenneth Aikens, of Deepwater, and the program will conclude with a word of appreciation from the pastor. The church was first organized in 1841 under the pastorate of Mrs. Laura Albright. Mr. Reedy took charge in July, 1943, at which time the congregation worshipped in a hall at Choate and Main Streets. The site of the present church was purchased in 1945, with the building there providing chambers for worship and an apartment for the pastor. In 1947 another property at 25 North Chapel Street, was bought and condition as a parsonage. Then the razing of the old building at 27 North Chapel Street was begun, and the new church erected under the direction of the pastor. Members and friends of the congregation contributed the funds and much of the labor for its construction.

YEAR'S WORK REVIEWED BY LEGION UNIT

Services And Activities Of Group Sketched

A resume of the activities and services carried out the past year by the J. A. O'Daniel Unit, No. 10, American Legion Auxiliary, was released this week by Miss Dora Gibb, president.

An estimated 80 children were helped here either directly through the unit's welfare program or through the cooperation of other agencies. In addition, large amounts of clothing, food and toys were distributed at Christmas. Six Christmas packages, made up by the unit, were sent to the children at Stockley.

The unit's community service projects included aiding the local Red Feather drive with contributions and volunteer solicitors. Members of the unit also assisted with the local draft registration. The unit's wheel chair and crutches, available free of charge to members of the community, also filled an important need.

Under their veteran rehabilitation program, the unit members visited the Perry Point and New Castle VA hospitals to assist with the Christmas shops. Donations of cigarettes, etc. were made regularly through the year. Further veteran's aid included a $5 contribution towards Field Day at Perry Point and a $10 donation to the summer needs of the hospital there as requested. In addition, Mrs. Harold Sheaffer and her committee selected food for the post's contribution to the hospital party last June and acted as hostesses at the affair. Members of the unit served at various times during the year as hostesses at the hospital.

Miss Gibb also reported that the unit awarded prizes in social studies and citizenship to an eighth grade girl at both the white and Negro schools here.

Contributions made by the unit the past year were: community chest, $5; war memorial, $10; Red Cross, $5; Christmas seal, $2; March of Dimes, $5; Visiting Nurse, $25; National Heart Association, $5; Association for Crippled Children and Adults, $5; Cancer drive, $5.

No Special Trash Collections Here

No special trips to pick up individual trash accumulations will be made by town crews, municipal authorities announced this week, after receiving a number of such requests from residents who didn't want to wait until the regular collection days.

Trash will be picked up only on the first and third Wednesday of the month, officials said, although sometimes, when the collection is heavy, the work is extended over Thursday and Friday to cover the town.

It was further stressed that trash must be placed in containers in order that it may be quickly and efficiently handled by the crews.

Swimming Classes To Start On Monday

Chance To Learn To Swim Offered Youngsters Of School Age

An opportunity to learn to swim will be offered local youngsters of school age on Monday, when the beginners class opens at the Women's Pool on the university campus.

The class, which will meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday, will be under trained instructors, with Harry Rawstrom, swimming coach at the university, in charge. The course will offer an invaluable opportunity to acquire an always useful skill and a source of continuous pleasure. Mr. Rawstrom said. Those who attend won't become expert swimmers, he stressed, but added that anyone who follows instructions will learn to handle himself adequately in the water. Any child can learn to swim if he follows directions, Mr. Rawstrom claims.

Children interested in joining the class should apply at the pool. Hours for the boys will be 10 to 11 and the girls 11 to 12 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Classes for intermediate, advanced and life saving groups will also open next week. Details may be secured at the pool.

Recreational swimming which opened this week drew 200 heat refugees to the pool on Monday. About 190 youngsters turned up at the afternoon session and 40 adults at the evening.

AETNAMEN'S CARNIVAL TO OPEN FRIDAY

Band Concerts Planned First Two Nights

Main Street began to take on a festive air this week as workmen started to string bunting and flags in preparation for the annual Aetna Company carnival which opens here for a 9-day stand next Friday.

Highlight of the opening night will be an outdoor concert by the new Aetna band, recently transferred from the Continental-Diamond. The band, which will be seated on roped-off Academy Street, will play both Friday and Saturday nights. Since it joined the fire company, the band has received new uniforms, and more members have signed up.

The uniforms were secured partially through donations from townspeople who were solicited by mail. William Warwick, carnival chairman, said the response to this appeal was highly gratifying.

As in former years, the carnival will feature games, kiddie rides, ferris wheel and other concessions. Donations of fancy work and bake goods are still being sought by the committee.

Climax of the event will be the firemen's parade on July 5, when volunteers units from throughout this area will descend on the town to stage their usual colorful march. Full details on the route, judges and outfits in line will be announced next week.

Valuable prizes, including a 1949 Pontiac, will also be awarded during carnival week.

The band will make its first appearance Monday in a parade at Avondale.

Newark 4-H Member Lunches With Frear

Delaware's four delegates to the nineteenth National 4-H Club Camp meeting in Washington were the luncheon guests of United States Senator J. Allen Frear, Jr., at the Capitol Monday. The group, Elizabeth Ann Bostick, Felton; Jacqueline Ann Davis, Newark; Edward Workman, Delmar, and Charles B. Ross, Clayton, together with Miss Jean Lee, of the University of Delaware's Agricultural Extension Services, who accompanied them, ate in the Senate private dining room.

Senator Frear also introduced the young Delawareans to the Vice-President of the United States, Alben W. Barkley, who in a brief talk recalled his recent visit to Delaware when he addressed the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner meeting in Wilmington. After lunch the club members posed for pictures with Senator Frear on the steps of the Capitol Building and later visited the Senate gallery as Mr. Frear's guests.

Proposal Meets Same Objections As 3 Years Ago; Question Shelved At Special Meeting Mon.

The parking meter issue, revived unexpectedly at the June meeting of Town Council, was as abruptly dropped at a special meeting on Monday night.

Council, which called the session for a general discussion of parking meters, found itself besieged by a delegation of business men, armed with a petition of protest and effective arguments against the meters.

It was the same wall of resistance that Council run into three years ago, and the result was exactly the same. The plan was tabled indefinitely.

The petition against the meters, which contained the names of 41 Main Street merchants, was submitted by Jerry Weinberg, president of the Chamber of Commerce. He said that with few exceptions only Main Street merchants had been approached and that only six had refused to sign. Four of these had no opinion and only two definitely favored the meters.

In addition to Mr. Weinberg, those who spoke against the meters were George Neighbors, Herman Handloff and W. S. Hamilton. Mr. Handloff pointed out that for some time the retailers had been attempting to encourage business here with special sales, radio programs and promotional campaigns under the slogan "Shop In Newark." He said the installation of meters, which would be an indirect tax, would offset much of the good-will built up the last few years.

The fact that meters are, fundamentally, a form of taxation levied on a special group—the motorist-shopper—was the basis of the businessmen's objections.

Previously, Samuel Diehl, who proposed the meters as a way out of Council's financial dilemma, outlined a plan whereby the revenue from them would go for establishing a sinking fund to finance a pension plan for town employees and a special donation fund for such projects as the town ambulance company, Christmas lights, etc. He stressed further that the only alternative to meters would probably be increased taxes.

Mr. Diehl pointed to the situation in Elkton where he is employed. He said that at first many businessmen, himself included, had opposed the meters, but since they have seen them in operation, they have become convinced meters do not harm business, and provide needed revenue for the town. He also read a letter from Dover's city manager saying that the parking meters there have been favorably received by businessmen and townspeople.

Mr. Diehl also stressed the fact that one of the major objectives of meters here was to ease parking congestion on Main Street.

This letter was dismissed by the delegation of business men as not a major problem in Newark except in rush periods. The retailers added that the town's parking problem could be effectively handled by properly enforced parking regulations.

Miss Patricia Reynolds, of London's Old Vic Theatre, will speak on "The Theatre in Post-War Britain" at Mitchell Hall, at 8:15 p. m. on Thursday, June 30.

Memorial Committee Accepts Council's Offer

Councilman Samuel Diehl said this week that the Memorial Committee has accepted Council's offer of a $500 contribution to the memorial fund on the condition the committee assume the upkeep of the board until a permanent monument is erected. He added that the committee is planning to go ahead with the erection of the long planned memorial in the near future.

LEGION POST IS AWARDED STATE PRIZE FOR SAFETY

Department's Jackson Trophy Is Second "First" For Local Group

According to word received here this week, the J. Allison O'Daniel Post, No. 10, American Legion, has won the 1948-49 award of the Floya Jackson Safety Trophy, which is given each year by the Department of Delaware to the post which makes the outstanding record in promoting safety.

The trophy will be awarded at the Department Convention, July 15. Walter J. Wassmer is the safety committee chairman of the local post.

Primarily the award is in recognition of the school safety program developed here the past term. With the cooperation of the Newark Police, the PTA, and school authorities, the post outfitted and helped train boys in traffic safety work before and after school hours and for fire safety work. Safety programs and meetings were conducted at the school. Considerable work was done with the cooperation of the Delaware Council for Education in promoting a bill in the Legislature requiring automobiles to stop when a school bus is taking on or discharging passengers. The bill was passed, although at this writing it has not been approved by the governor in the form submitted for his signature.

This is the second Department "first" which the O'Daniel Post has won this year, the other being the Distinguished Service Award given by National Headquarters for the outstanding state record in Americanism and Community Service work.

This week a complete report on these activities was submitted for presentation at the Department Convention. A partial text follows:

Memorial Day—With VFW, assumed co-chairmanship of Memorial Day observance, including parade and ceremonies; decorated over 250 graves; with VFW, visited cemeteries for firing salute and tags.

WEED KILLER FACTS LISTED

Bulletin On 2,4-D Is Out

Keeping posted on new information is an important safeguard in using 2,4-D, the chemical weed killer, advises Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist for the University of Delaware.

According to Stevens, a new 10-page bulletin, "Using 2,4-D Safely," has been issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in which scientists point out that the discovery of 2,4-D has brought about a completely new and revolutionary concept of weed control. Since 1945 it has become the most widely used chemical weed killer in the United States. Commercial sales in 1948 are estimated at more than $ million pounds.

Because 2,4-D has the power to kill many weeds as well as weeds, an understanding of this new substance is essential to safe and effective use. The University of Delaware's Agricultural Experiment Station conducted experiments this past year on sweet corn and asparagus says Stevens, and while no definite recommendations are formulated as yet, many varieties on trial proved superior to others. The results of these experiments are available from the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station.

Copies of the USDA's Farmers' Bulletin No. 2005, "Using 2,4-D Safely," may be obtained upon request from the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, or from the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

Accidents Top Cause Of Child Fatalities

Accidents are the leading causes of death among children from 1 through 14 years of age, says the Delaware Safety Council. Nearly 12,000 children in this age group are killed in all kinds of accidents in the United States each year. Accidents to children also are an outstanding cause of disabling and permanent injuries.

The Delaware Safety Council also reports that forty per cent of the accidents caused among the children from 1 through 14 years of age are home accidents, thirty-four per cent of them are motor vehicle, and twenty-six per cent are all other accidents.

A happy home, where parents and children love and respect one another can't help but be a wholesome and enjoyable place in which to live. More than that, it will most likely prove to be a safe place, too.

Children are imitators, and no amount of safety education the parent gives his child can be completely effective unless mother and father obey the rules, too. In safety, as in everything else, children absorb the attitudes of their parents and copy their behavior. Telling Johnny to cross the street only when the light is green is not going to seem important to him if he sees you dashing across on the red. And if Mary sees her mother standing on a wobbly chair to get something down from the cupboard, she's not likely to use a ladder or other study support when she needs to reach for something herself. If you make sure that your way of doing things are reasonably safe and correct, you will find that your children are likely to develop safe practices, too. They will take pride in acting as mommy and daddy do and will soon learn that the safe way is really the best way.

Joseph Mitchell

Two Delaware 4-H Club members have been selected for a special honor, scholarships covering two weeks of leadership training at the American Youth Foundation Camp, to be held at Shelby, Mich., August 15 to 28. These were awarded on the basis of four-month development, representing the 4-T's—heads, heart, hands, and health.

Miss Elizabeth Webb, 17, of Goldsboro, Md., and Joseph Mitchell, 20, Hockessin, were awarded the scholarships. Only one 4-H Club boy and one 4-H Club girl from Delaware may win this trip, which is sponsored by the Ralston Purina Company.

Miss Webb, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Webb, has been a 4-H Club member for nine years. Living on a 192-acre farm near Goldsboro, she has completed 17 club projects in cooking, canning, frozen foods, dairying and baby beef.

In 1948, he was state dairy production contest winner and was also a delegate to the National 4-H Camp in Washington.

Enrolled in the agricultural course at the University of Delaware, he has completed his freshman year as a winner of the Esio scholarship awarded to an outstanding 4-H boy. A leader in club activities, he was instrumental in helping organize a new 4-H club at Yorklyn recently.

20th Robin Hood Dell Season Opens Monday

Robin Hood Dell opens its 20th season in Fairmount Park on Monday night, when Lauritz Melchior and Helen Traubel, the Met's most famous Wagnerian stars, lift their voices in the world premiere of a concertized version of "Tristan and Isolde."

The next night, June 28th (Tuesday), will be given over to the first of the high-grade, but low-priced symphony concerts.

Under the direction of Leonard Bernstein, the Robin Hood Dell Orchestra of over 90—the same men who have been winning the praise of England and Scotland in their recent tour—will present the first of those symphonic Tuesday night concerts.

Then, on Thursday night, again under the baton of Bernstein, the second Master Series concert will be given, featuring Gregor Piatigorsky, acclaimed the greatest 'cellist in the land, and Nathan Milstein, one of America's leading violinists.

The Master Series of 12 concerts, featuring noted stars, and the Symphonic Series of 6 concerts, for those who like their music without soloists, may still be bought as units.

Information on tickets in book form can be secured by calling Dell Headquarters, Pennypacker 5-1810.

Farm Land Prices Down First Time In 10 Years

After 10 years of almost steady climbing, farm land prices in the country as a whole appear to have reached the postwar peak, say Dr. R. O. Bausman, agricultural economist at the University of Delaware. Land prices in Delaware have held steady during the past 12 months, and land values in this State still are almost double (89 per cent above) prewar average, 1935-39.

Referring to "Current Developments in the Farm Real Estate Market," just released by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Dr. Bausman points out that United States land prices turned downward 1 per cent during the last 4 months ending March 1. This, he said, is the first significant decline in these prices since the late thirties, though, for the country as a whole, they are still more than double the average in 1935-39.

During the past 12 months, the prices of land purchased have continued to rise a little, but the 3-per cent rise in the past year is a slowing down from the 7-per cent rise for the previous 12-month period and the average of about 12 per cent a year in the war years.

In the past 4 months, land prices were holding firmer in the Middle Atlantic and East South Central States than in other regions. They were declining in all the Mountain and Pacific States and in scattered States in the East North Central and New England regions. Increases were found in half of the States of the Union, but these were more than offset by declines in 16 States.

Voluntary sales of land in the United States fell off about 17 per cent during the past year as compared with the previous year; and sales were down nearly a third below the peak shown for the year ending March 1947.

Parking Meters

forcing the existing 1-hour parking ordinance.

As for the pension plan and special donation fund, the retailers agreed that these were worthwhile and necessary objectives but claimed that they should be financed by general taxation and not by a special levy on the motorist-shopper.

Mr. Weinberg said that as far as business was concerned he could see a number of probable evils arising from the meters and no possible good. For one thing, he said, meters would discourage spontaneous buying. Shoppers with a time limit on their purchases due to the meters would not be inclined to linger in the stores. He admitted that in congested metropolitan areas, meters, while still an evil, offset the greater evil of overcrowding and tend to keep people moving. But he contended that in a small town the aim is not to keep people moving but to allow them leasured, unhurried shopping. This, he said, is one of the advantages to shopping here rather than in Wilmington.

Council admitted that the retailers were the group which would be most affected by meters and agreed to concede to their wishes in the matter.

The first camp will be from June 27 to July 2; the second, July 11 to 16; and the third, July 18 to 23, according to the program announced by the Rev. Richard M. Green, of Dover, executive secretary of the Conference Board of Christian Education, which conducts the camps.

Veterans Forum

Q—I have a 20-year endowment policy but find payments are too high. May I exchange this policy to a term or an ordinary life policy?

A—If your 20-year endowment is less than 5 years old, you may change it to an ordinary life policy provided you are in good health, and submit an acceptable report of medical examination. Under no circumstances may the 20-year endowment be changed to a term policy.

Q—I have already used about 25 days of my leave under the GI Bill. Will VA allow me additional leave at the end of my training period?

A—Under a recent change made by VA, you may apply for 15 days leave at the end of your enrollment, provided you have enough remaining entitlement for education or training to cover it.

Q—I am an honorably discharged World War II veteran. Can I get glasses through VA?

A—Yes, if they are determined necessary for a service-connected disability; or a necessary part of hospital treatment or domiciliary care, or to prevent interruption of training under Public Law 16, 78th Congress, as amended.

Q—What income limitation provision is attached to the pension I will get as the widow of a soldier who died in a Japanese prison?

A—No income provisions are applicable to compensation payable for service connected death.

Car Registration Lags As Deadline Nears

About one-half of the 18,000 motor vehicles in the state with tags which expire on June 30 remain to be inspected and have tags renewed.

Frank L. Reed, state motor vehicle commissioner said the lanes have a capacity for inspecting up to 1,000 cars a day and can complete the inspection of all remaining cars before the deadline, if motorists bring them in promptly.

If a large number wait until late this week and early next week congestion at the Wilmington lane is inevitable, Mr. Reed said.

He added that new cars are being acquired in Delaware at the monthly rate of 1,000 to 1,500, but that the rate of rejections is still high.

Rejections are most frequent for defective lights with brakes in second place. Persons who wait until the last few days and then have their cars rejected suffer inconvenience and delay the operation of the inspection lanes, Mr. Reed said.

1950 Wheat Allotment Deadline Is July 15

According to a statement issued by Jay Price, chairman, New Castle County Agricultural Conservation Association, all farmers who did not seed wheat for harvest in 1947, 1948, 1949, but expect to seed wheat for harvest in 1950, and wish a 1950 allotment, must request this either thru the County Office or their Community Committee. This request must be in writing, stating the specific acreage he desires, and addressed to New Castle Co. A. C. A., Box 450, Newark, Del. July 15th, 1949 is the latest date a farmer may make a request for a new allotment. Do not delay if you wish this allotment.

can Heart Association, Council for Delaware Education.

Mischief Night—With PTA and other organizations planned program, acted as marshals for parade, contributed toward prizes, reducing property damage by entertaining children.

Boy Scouts—Sponsored troops and activities by membership on central committee, contributions, troop committees.

In brushing up floors a long-handled dust pan and a push broom are recommended instead of the common short-handled dust pan and dust brush because the long handles save back-bending. Before buying a vacuum cleaner, it is a good idea to try it out to see whether the handle is the right length for comfortable use. When waxing floors, spare the back by using a long-handled waxer with self-polishing liquid wax. When washing kitchen or bathroom floors, use a long-handled mop rather than the hands-and-knees method.

and attending dinner and cours of honor.

Junior Base Ball—Management, coaching, uniforms and equipment for 10-game season; took boys to Shibe Park.

American Legion School Awards—Presented medals and certificates to outstanding boys and girls in High School Graduating Class.

Hospital Entertainment—Conducted two variety shows with donated local talent, one at Perry Point Hospital and one at New Castle Air Base. Donated food and cigarettes; Auxiliary conducted two Christmas parties, came locations, supplying gifts and wrappings and Christmas cards for patients to send to families.

Post Home—During the year acquired our Post Home and, largely with work done by members, plus funds raised through rentals and other activities, made extensive improvements to building.

Boys State—Post sponsored two Newark boys in this Legion activity.

Girls State—Auxiliary unit sponsored two Newark girls in this Legion activity.

Gratitude Train—Arranged for appropriate parade and ceremonies, as well as distribution of gifts with considerable publicity, all of which was reported to individual donors by letters written to French people.

In addition, the post sponsored activities here on Armistice Day, American Day, Washington's Birthday; helped stage the community UN Forum; backed the War Bond Program; took part in funerals for about 12 returned veterans; arranged food collections for Christmas baskets; placed a representative on the town Charter Committee; sponsored local youths to Boy's State; staged a number of square dances and other social affairs; worked with VFW on memorial fund drive.

Local Delegate At AAUW Convention

Mrs. Ned B. Allen, of 318 South College Avenue, is attending the 1949 biennial convention of the American Association of University Women at Seattle, Washington. The parley opened on Sunday night for a five-day period.

Presidents of university women's organizations—Canada and Mexico—will attend the AAUW convention. A delegation of 15 other university women from Canada will also be present.

The AAUW's own president, Dr. Althea K. Hotel, Dean of Women at the University of Pennsylvania, will fly from the Seattle Convention to New York City to join a radio-sponsored goodwill tour of twelve world capitals conducted as a "Round the World Town Meeting." The AAUW president is expected to participate in some of the broadcasts, and will take part in the "World Town Hall Seminar," a special series of round tables for the United States group with leaders of each country visited. She will ascertain particular needs which the AAUW might help to supply through its program of educational and personal aid to university women in displaced persons camps and in war-devastated areas.

The "special interest" convention session dealing with international relations will mark the 25th year of the AAUW study-action program in this field. University women's groups have studied not only for their own information but to cultivate a community understanding of world affairs as they affect American communities. The topic "Making One World," which keynotes the international relations workshop meeting, expresses the AAUW viewpoint on international relations.

International relations is the subject featured at the Tuesday evening session of the convention with Mrs. Mary Agnes Hamilton of London, one of Great Britain's most distinguished women, as the principal speaker.

Keynote speaker for the AAUW convention will be Judge Dorothy Kenyon, internationally known attorney of New York City, who recently returned from Beirut, Lebanon, where she was the U. S. delegate to the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women.

Another international figure who will attend the convention is Dr. Helen C. White, a member of the United States National Commission for UNESCO, and vice-chairman of the Board of Foreign Scholarships, appointed by the President to direct awards under the Fulbright Act.

One of the students from abroad who is studying in this country on an AAUW international grant will attend convention sessions and appear on the program of the Thursday evening Fellowship session. She is Mrs. Kaisu Tuusanen of Finland, headmistress of a high school at Rauma.

The association has also issued emergency grants to restore to professional usefulness university women who have suffered from the war.

Additional Rent Possible After Property Improvement

A landlord who is planning a major capital improvement on his property and wishes a prior opinion on the amount of additional rent he will be allowed for it must submit his proposal in writing and furnish as many details as possible on the cost of such an improvement when he applies for a prior opinion, Area Rent Director John L. Walmsley said today.

"This is necessary," Mr. Walmsley explained, "to enable our office to determine the additional amount of increase to be allowed for the improvement. We call that a prior opinion."

"But that prior opinion won't amount to much unless the estimated cost turns out to be reasonably close to the actual cost. I realize, of course, that fluctuating building materials and labor costs may make it difficult for the estimated cost and the actual cost to be approximately the same. But the more details the landlord can furnish, the better able our office will be to furnish a prior opinion that will stand up."

An old theory of ours that birds should be left strictly alone, that they are far luckier than most humans and know it, and that people who worry about them, especially about baby birds, are weird ducks, is now substantiated by no less an authority than the curator of the Bronx Zoo.

Pestered by inquiries from anxious bird lovers, who become particularly fretful around this time of year when baby birds are falling or being kicked out of nests right and left, the zoo chief issued recently a statement to the press to the effect that the best thing one can do for birds is leave them alone. Mama birds, he said, know how to handle their offspring. This, incidentally, is more than can be said for a lot of bird-worried humans. The zoo man said it was alright to put baby birds back in their nests or, if this is impossible, in a tree where the mother will find them, but he warned against carrying bird charity to excess, as, for instance, erecting umbrellas over exposed nests on rainy days.

He indicated also that people who harbor birds, that is kidnap them and hide them indoors on the pretext that they are shielding them from the hardships of life in the backyard are breaking the law.

This last will come as a blow to a lot of bird-lovers, especially one gentleman we know who has consecrated his off-hours to doing good turns for birds. He has built what is practically an avian mansion in his backyard, complete with central heating and an indoor swimming pool, and he has assigned himself chief janitor, caretaker, bell-boy, nurse-maid, and baby bird sitter to the joint. When his apartments are full, he frets about the ill-housed birds forced to build old-fashioned nests in trees. He also conducts a clinic in his cellar for crippled birds and is chief dietitian for his undernourished feathered friends.

When we showed him the newspaper clipping with the zoo expert's do-nothing advice regarding birds that have fallen out of nests, he flew into a tautum, said such twaddle was only for amateurs and didn't apply to professional bird-lovers like himself. He claimed that there was nothing illegal about what he termed "bird emergency service" so long as the birds are set free as soon as they can manage on their own.

He then leveled an accusing eye at us and asked exactly what our position on birds was, we saw that he was craftily easing the discussion over to moral grounds and realized we had to step carefully. If we admitted to an anti-bird prejudice, we would be blacklisted by all respectable elements of society.

We hastily pointed out that we were neither pro nor anti-bird, but a member of a third party—the bird-lovers. We explained that, while bird-lovers feel they can't do enough for birds, the bird-enviers are convinced there is little or nothing humans can do for birds. Bird-enviers, we told him, are usually irritated by birds. They don't like the way they sport about in the upper air, flaunting their superior talent and endowments. They never hear a bird sing but that they are convinced they are getting the bird from a creature who knows he received the better break from nature when he was given wings instead of a mere brain. Lastly, bird-enviers hold birds responsible for the airplane, an invention which all bird-enviers distrust. If it hadn't been for the bad example set by birds through the ages, men never would have gotten the idea for fitting ponderously about on aluminum wings in risky and ludicrous imitation.

When we finished our harangue, our friend looked at us in a strange manner as if we were the queer duck instead of him.

When we were small we always wanted to live near a firehouse so we could see the fire engines start off to each and every fire. We had the feeling again this week when we heard the Aetna Company's new band practicing on Monday night. Everyone lucky enough to own a front porch in the area was treated to a twilight concert. We are no music critic, but to our ear the Aetnamen tootle and thump in a very pleasant manner. They were seated in the ambulance quarters which acted as a backboard and three marches and stirring airs all over the neighborhood.

The community at large will get its first chance to hear them when the carnival opens next Friday. Outdoor concerts are scheduled for opening night and Saturday night. The band will be seated either on Academy Street, which will be roped off, or before the firehouse.

The rank and file of the Aetnamen are expecting big things from the band this summer. They hope it will top some much needed prize money in parades throughout the state. Since it was transferred from the Continental-Diamond to the fire company, the band has secured new uniforms and a number of new members.

500 Million Post Office Deficit Seen This Year

The U. S. Post Office will have a $500,000,000 deficit at the end of this fiscal year, June 30, a post office official said recently.

Joseph J. Lawler, third assistant U. S. postmaster, said in an interview "only Congress can put the post office on a paying basis by increasing postal rates."

Local Club Earns Seventh League Victory By Overwhelming Hickory Hill, 13-3; Grudge Match Looms On Sunday; Large Turnout Is Expected

The Newark AA continued abreast of the pace setters in the Pen-Mar League last Sunday by turning back Hickory Hill, 13-3, on the latter's diamond.

The victory, Newark's second in as many meetings this season with the Hickory club, boosted the locals' league record to seven wins against two defeats.

One of the setbacks was administered by Providence (Kenmore), who is slated to appear here this Sunday on the Continental Field. In their last meeting, Kenmore upset Newark, 7-3, and the locals will be looking for revenge this time.

Tennis Class Expanded Program Open On Monday

An expanded tennis program is planned here this summer by recreation officials under Harry Rawstrom.

The two most easterly courts on Frazer Field will be available to residents throughout the summer, and the program there will have three phases—learner's class, a tournament or "tennis ladder" for experienced players, and, possibly, a series of team matches with out-of-town clubs.

The tennis class will be held from 11 to 12 daily beginning Monday under Edward Horty. Anyone may register by putting in an appearance at the courts.

The "tennis ladder" will be organized when and if sufficient interested players are gathered. The same goes for the plan to play a series of matches with outside teams. Games can be arranged with clubs in Wilmington and Dover.

British Gov't. Asked To Advise On Birth Control

A royal commission urged the British Government recently to give free advice on birth control, under the National Health Service.

The commission supported: Planned families. Higher state money allowances for children.

Income tax relief for parents in the higher brackets as well as lower ones. The commission said there is little danger of moving into "a world without children" unless the average family size falls much farther in Britain.

The commission—known as the Royal Commission on Population—was set up by the government more than five years ago.

Its 100,000-word report was completed after one of the greatest inquiries ever made into Britain's population.

The six women and eight men wrote into their report: "A community like ours in which birth control is generally accepted can only prosper or, in the long run, survive, if its members think it worth while to have families large enough to replace themselves."

Two Victories Past Week Shove Newark AA To Top Of Standings; VFW Turns In First Triumph By Defeating WaWa; Jays Now Third

The Newark AA stormed up from the ranks to take over the place in the town softball league this week, while the Pythians who had held the reins since the start, slipped to second in the standings.

An 11-2 triumph over Chrysler on Monday and a 16-5 scoring handed the WaWa Tribe last Wednesday propelled the Aggies into the lead. They were helped by the fact that the Pythians suffered their first defeat of the season on Monday, bowing to Chrysler, 7-4.

Club Pounds Out 15 Hits To Win By 14-1 Count

Behind the 5-hit pitching of Ted Davis, the J. A. O'Daniel Post's Junior Legion team subdued New Castle Post, 14-1, on Monday night.

The Newark club let loose with a barrage of 15 hits, bunching their runs in three innings. They poured across six in the third stanza and added four in each of the next two innings.

A triple by J. Knotts was one of the high points of the game, as were two more triples by Fals and Webb of New Castle.

Davis, who contributed to his victory with three hits, struck out nine opponents. Blaney also turned in three hits for Newark.

FARM SAFETY WEEK SLATED IN DELAWARE

Carlessness Cited As Top Accident Cause

Delaware will observe the sixth annual National Farm Safety Week, July 17-23. The theme of the week will be "Carlessness." The National Safety Council reveals that unsafe driving is the leading cause of farm accidents. The safety council shows that 70 percent of farm accidents are caused by unsafe acts on the part of the driver. One of every five accidents in the United States is caused by a driver who is careless. They take extra precautions to avoid accidents.

Delaware Agricultural Extension Service is planning to stress special farm safety each day of the week. Sunday will be observed as church day, with a special service on "Thou Shalt Not Kill." Monday will be home safety day, featuring home safety. Tuesday will be machinery safety day, featuring machinery safety. Wednesday will be highway safety day, featuring highway safety. Thursday will be highway safety day, featuring highway safety. Friday will be machinery safety day, featuring machinery safety. Saturday will be review day, featuring review of all phases of accident prevention, especially the elimination of unsafe practices.

Farm Accidents Rise

The approaching haying season will mark the beginning of a rising accident period for farm people," cautioned Edward H. Schabinger, County Agent. The National Safety Council reports that the peak will be reached in July or August. In Delaware, a farm accident survey showed 42 persons injured in haying operations.

Farm people can change this annual accident period even though haying is a busy season. A few extra precautions will insure safety during this period of the year is all that is necessary.

Check all equipment carefully before haying starts. Watch out for loose hitches, ropes, pulleys and other lifting equipment. See that ladders, ladders or loft floors are in good repair and hay chutes guarded to prevent falls.

Be sure you have the right equipment to do the job safely. For example, the common method of lifting baled hay with hay forks is hazardous, the hay will be done much safer with hay forks.

When working, be on the alert and avoid getting into hazardous positions. Always stop equipment for oiling, adjusting or unclogging. Keep hay cards in place.

The sharp unguarded steel lines of tractors are dangerous weapons. Handle them accordingly. Never get a pitchfork or leave it where someone may jump or fall on it.

Remember that damp hay is one of the principal causes of barn fires. Be sure that hay is well cured before it is stored in a haymow and check regularly for several weeks for any signs of heating.

12 Penna. Summer Theatres Now Open

Season In Full Swing At Drama Outpost Near Here

More than a dozen rustic outposts of the drama—summer, or straw hat theaters—are operating or will soon get under way in nearby Pennsylvania for the season.

These theaters offer a wide variety of plays—from Shakespeare to Shaw—from Moliere to Milne—dramas, comedies and musicals.

Many already-famous stars of both stage and screen "keep in practice" by appearing in the Pennsylvania Summer theaters. For example: Kay Francis in "Let Us Be Gay," Sylvia Sydney in "The Two Mrs. Carrrolls," Ted Andrews and Leo G. Carroll, to name but a few, are lending their talents to the Bucks County Playhouse this season.

To the list of theaters operating in previous years may be added a completely new one—Aldenberry Playhouse at Boiling Springs in Cumberland County, which, while not presenting plays in a reconstructed old mill or hayloft, will be playing in a new concrete and steel building erected especially for the purpose.

Among the other summer theaters scattered conveniently throughout the State are: The Hedgerow at Moylan, Delaware County; Unity House, Forest Park, Pike County; Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope, Bucks County; Grove Theater, Niangua, Luzerne County; Hayloft Summer Theater, Allentown, Lehigh County; Green Hills Theatre, Mohnton, Berks County; Gretna Playhouse, Mt. Gretna, Lebanon County; Mountain Playhouse, Jennerstown, Somerset County and the Playhouse at Eagles Mere in Sullivan County.

Penna. R. R. Lists New Implements

More than 300 new passenger cars, 140 new Diesel-electric passenger and freight locomotives, 4,000 new freight cars, and 426 new Diesel switching locomotives—a major portion of the Pennsylvania Railroad's $266,000,000 postwar new equipment and equipment improving program—are now in service, the railroad announced this week in reporting on progress in putting the program into effect.

In addition 92 passenger cars, of 382 programmed, have been completely modernized as have 10,400 freight cars of many types, of 17,000 programmed, officials said. Thus far, approximately $190,000,000 of the funds required to complete the project have been expended, or three quarters of the total. The program is the largest single project of betterments of any kind ever undertaken in the railroad's 103 years of history.

At the time the railroad's postwar program was announced last year, the total cost was about $217,000,000. Since then, 2,000 new gondola cars, four experimental electric freight locomotives, 20 Diesel switching locomotives, two Diesel passenger locomotives, 200 cabin cars, 109 modernized passenger cars, and 8,831 modernized freight cars have been added to the program, increasing the total cost to $266,000,000.

All 63 Diesel-electric passenger locomotives in the program are now in service on the Pennsylvania's through East-West trains and trains serving intermediate cities west of Harrisburg, Pa.

Designers Introduce Two-Face Dress Style

Designers introduced recently a "turn about" dress that can be sophisticated or sporty—depending on the wearer's marital status.

The woolen frock is a demure white-collared classic with buttons down the front * * * when it's worn by the bachelor girl.

But with a husband to button it up the back, it becomes a slick and high-fashion frock, ready to go dancing.

Constant Growth

Since the end of the war, we have placed in service a total of three entirely new central offices . . . we have added to the equipment in every one of our other central offices . . . we have added more than 3,400 poles and 51,000 miles of wire to our network.

Most important of all, we have added more than 37,369 telephones to the 68,744 in service on V-J Day.

This vast expansion program was made possible by New Money Invested in Telephone Securities.

Important dollars, these. Vital dollars. To continue to attract them, we must keep them secure. And we must see that they earn a fair return.

History Of Labor Relations Sketched At Rotary Meeting

Lanier Outlines Union Development From Colonial Times

The history of labor relations in the U. S. from colonial times until today was sketched by Dr. Charles N. Lanier, head of the business administration department at the University of Delaware, in a talk Monday night at the Newark Rotary Club.

Through the years the position of labor has steadily improved. During colonial times when it was vital that every citizen in the newly settled country be productive, unions were unknown and any tendency toward labor organization would have been regarded as a conspiracy against the Crown and later the U. S. Government.

It was not until 1842 that the first court decision was handed down recognizing the legality of unions. The "right" of labor to bargain collectively was not formally written into law until 1933 in the famous section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery Act. The next major step in the advance of labor was the Wagner Act which outlined certain legal procedures for collective bargaining. World War II and the subsequent boom with its accompanying labor shortage greatly enhanced the bargaining position of unions. Later in 1947, the controversial Taft Hartley Act was passed, restating and revising the procedure for bargaining. At the moment, the latter is up for revision or repeal by Congress.

New Drug Cuts Blood Pressure

A new drug credited by doctors with decreasing blood pressure has been announced by the University of Pennsylvania.

The new drug, called dihydroergocornine, was developed by four university physicians engaged in a drive to fight heart and circulatory diseases.

The university said "this favorable combination of effects had been observed" for the first time:

(1) "The spasm of the brain blood vessels which accompanies high blood pressure can be released."

(2) "The blood pressure of the body is lowered."

(3) "There are no unfavorable effects on the patient."

The university announcement said the drug, developed from a fungus which sometimes grows on rye and other grasses, is injected into the muscles and temporarily lowers general blood pressure.

Doctors explained that the drug is not recommended for routine treatment of high blood pressure cases, as its effect is only temporary.

Customers' Corner

Please don't keep your complaints about either the food or service you get in A&P stores to yourself. Tell them to us!

We know that most people are not letter-writers. If something doesn't please them about a store they simply take their trade elsewhere. We don't want that ever to happen in our stores.

The men and women of A&P try to give you always the best food, the best values and the best service.

But perhaps we fail you once in a while; and in any case there is always room for improvement.

You will be helping us make your A&P store a better place to shop if you will let us have your complaints and suggestions.

Please write: Customer Relations Department, A&P Food Stores, 120 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.
