Where There Are Little People to Sew For... The Singer Sewing Machine means all the difference between needle-and-thread drudgery and the most fascinating employment any home-loving woman can engage in. Between the peerless Singer and the best of the department-store machines there is no more real resemblance than between fine linen and burlap. Moreover the Singer Sewing Machine agency is always as easy to get at as the Post Office. At Singer stores you can now get Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machines and Parts. The Wheeler & Wilson machine, for over 50 years the standard of the rotary-shuttle movement for making the lock stitch, is now sold exclusively at Singer stores.

Tribute to the Horse.

By Hugo Krause.

It is an animal more than any other has contributed to the welfare and happiness of mankind. It has been the horse. Forced into captivity, domesticated, and interbred, until he reveals the highest qualities of beauty, intelligence and beauty of form, he has been man's patient and faithful burden bearer as well as his silent companion of the centuries. He has shared with man the hardships of exploration, the ages of chivalry, the struggle for democratic freedom, and the advance of commercial supremacy. In literature, in art, in song; in war, as well as in peace, he has stood by his master's side in the glorious descriptions of human achievement.

The history of the horse is in a large measure the history of the human race. He stands today as the highest embodiment of physical perfection, the most delicately constructed machine, the most beautiful and efficient that the ingenuity of man has been able to evolve in the animal kingdom. And what an incentive to emulation he is to man in his own race; what a beautiful example of the power of labor and of the results it can be assumed by man as a voluntary rather than an involuntary servitude.

As we look upon this noble friend of man, who is so often subjected to the neglect and cruelty of commercial greed and abject slavery, let us not forget that, though he may be owned individually, he is ours by race inheritance, ours to use, ours to enjoy, ours to protect, and that we owe it to him as well as to ourselves to demand for him justice and fair play.

Never deceive or play tricks on an animal that trusts you implicitly, for confidence once shaken can never be regained.

A STRONG TICKET

The strongest ticket ever named... is the State wide opinion of the action of Delaware Republicans at yesterday's Convention. Truly the ticket represents the call of the people. Undue personal ambitions, sectional line, gave way to the needs of the hour and representing the sentiments of the rank and file, men were culled and honored as seldom seen in the world of politics. Several of the nominees like Senator Miller, and Mr. Hall who were prominently spoken of for the offices named, refused to discuss the matter. Without plea or pledge a responsibility and duty has been given them. Coming with this honor is the strong support of the party and confidence of every voter throughout the State. And so it is with every man named on the ticket. Nominations coming to them from out the open opinion and conviction of the delegates—without the usual campaign strategy—they should indeed feel proud as does the whole State of their success.

Platform Adopted

The following is the platform adopted by the Republican party at Dover yesterday:
We, the regularly elected delegates of the Republican party in the State of Delaware in state convention assembled, at Dover, this 20th day of August, 1912, reaffirm our ancient and steadfast allegiance to the national Republican party.
1. We heartily endorse the principles contained in the platform adopted by the Republican national convention at Chicago, June 18-22, 1912.
2. We pledge our loyal and unflinching support to William H. Taft, the candidate of the Republican party for President, and to James S. Sherman, the candidate for Vice-President, both able and safe, wise and courageous, prudent and careful and well fitted to support our country in its hour of need.
3. We strongly commend the administration of President Taft. We uphold his principles and the wisdom, care and courage he has at all times displayed in conducting the affairs of our national government.
4. We strongly endorse the most excellent services rendered by our Representatives in Congress, and also the able and honest administration of the Governor of our State.
5. We reiterate our belief in a protective tariff, and in order to fully protect our workmen, we favor a tariff on imports which shall equal the difference between wages in this country and wages in Europe with a fair profit added for the American manufacturer; and this difference we believe should be ascertained by a non-partisan tariff board of experts, and not be determined by a Congressional inquiry always resulting in a mere conflict of testimony between the manufacturer and importer. Some of the existing duties are too high and should be lowered and we do not believe the protective system should be so adjusted as to permit the constant sale of American goods abroad cheaper than at home.
6. We favor a constitutional amendment extending the term of office of the President and Vice-President and to be ineligible to another term at any time.
7. The Republican party is today and always has been the party of progress. It has successfully solved the problems of government for over forty years. It has enacted into law every particle of progressive legislation which the country has had during that period and has made a record unequalled in all time, which record is the history of the United States. Therefore, having, by wise and careful legislation in harmony with the spirit of the times placed the United States in such a position of progress we neither bow nor yield to any party as a party or greater progressiveness than the Republican party and on this progressive record of our party we confidently invite the support of all citizens.

8. We believe in and advocate the stability of government as guaranteed under the Constitution, and that the true and certain progress of the nation can only be achieved by action which shall not destroy the Constitution of our forefathers, which has well served its purpose for more than a hundred years.
9. The Republican party has always stood for a sound currency and safe banking methods. We advocate a revision of our present banking laws in order that an elastic currency may be provided, with such safeguards as will prevent sudden stringency and panic. The independence of banking institutions must be assured so that all parts of the country shall be free from any central domination. The movement of agricultural products should be facilitated by a better and easier method of marketing the necessary currency.
10. We are ardently opposed to the recall of judges and of judicial decisions. We advocate a free, independent and untrammelled judiciary, which the recall would destroy.
11. We strongly favor such legislation as will expedite both civil and criminal cases, so that justice shall not be slow and expensive, but that cases shall proceed expeditiously, but not expensively.
12. We demand the prompt prosecution of all offenses against the registration and election laws and denounce bribery and corruption at elections.
13. We favor an improved and simplified secret ballot, readily understood and easily voted.
14. We demand the strict enforcement of the law against the sale of intoxicating liquor in those districts of the state where the same is prohibited, and in those districts of the state where the sale of intoxicating liquor is licensed, we favor the absolute elimination of the saloon from policies.
15. We favor a Workingmen's Compensation Act, which shall be fair and just alike to employer and employe, and in order to ensure just and reasonable compensation to an employe incapacitated by injury at work and proper support for the widow and orphans of a workman dying by reason of injuries received at work, we favor the abolition of doctrines known in the law as the fellow servant and assumption of risk doctrines and modification of the doctrine of contributory negligence so far as such latter doctrine applies to the law of master and servant.
16. We again advocate the establishment of a national system of inland waterways, and we especially favor the immediate acquisition of the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal as a part thereof, and we favor legislation that will provide competition between carriers by rail and water.
17. We favor legislation to establish a parcels post, believing that it will tend to reduce the cost of the necessities of life, by bringing the consumer closer to the producer.
18. We are opposed to such consolidations, combination or merging of public utility companies as will cause oppression of the people.
19. In the interest of peace we favor maintaining the Army and Navy on the basis and policy established by past Republican administration and we condemn the action of the Democratic House of Representatives in its attempt to cripple the Navy by reducing the number of battleships to be constructed.
20. We commend the careful and economic Republican administrations of county affairs in the counties of New Castle and Sussex and invite a comparison of their present county affairs with those of past administrations of past years.
21. We demand the strict enforcement of the laws against short weight and measures and we favor a change in the manner of the inspection of weights and measures in order to secure more frequent and rigid inspections.

22. We favor the continued improvement of the highways of the state and we demand the scientific and systematic, constant, careful and continuous maintenance of the improved roads built under Republican administration.
23. We favor the equitable assessment of lands, thereby securing a fair distribution of the burden of taxation in the several counties of the state.
Helpful Ideas From Western Town-- Letter From Rev. A. Van Overen
Grand Rapids, Mich., August 16, 1912.
Editor Newark Post: The house beautiful. This can be the epitaph of our old home. Everything has changed, the names of the streets and the numbers of the houses. The names of the streets are more beautiful, as of course the numbers, because they are new. I hardly knew the city when I saw it. The streets are beautifully lighted and spotlessly clean, the lawns in perfect condition. You may want to know the secret for the benefit of our own little town. This is it: Among the many papers there is one that is progressive, which offers premiums for the best lawn, and the cleanest community. The result is, every one vies with his neighbor. The same thing is true in the graduating class of the High School. This same evening press gives five dollars in gold to the young lady who can make the cheapest and neatest graduating dress, the dresses being the same color, all white. The cheapest was 50 cents and the most expensive was $1.80. The one that won the prize cost 75 cents. The work must all be done by the young lady herself. This has a two-fold purpose: training the graduate how to handle the needle and how to economize. Each is an art that ought to be practiced. Originality of landscape also comes in for attention. Every lawn of any size shows the skill of the domestic artist. One old lady who had nothing but a back yard, plied her skill and took the premium for three years in succession. What others have done can be done in our own little town. Why should we not have as pretty a town as one can find anywhere? I was told of one man who was presenting attorney, who cleaned up all places that were immoral, and the wide open town. He is now judge and in that position does the same. They are now talking him up for a higher place. What he does speaks so loud that it demands attention. Everything is on the forward movement. Why cannot we have it? I have been out into the country and every house has a beautiful lawn, with the shrubbery placed in an artistic manner, with flowers galore. The home is made attractive so that there really is no place like home. The farm itself is a different place than it was when I was a boy. The rural district is but a suburb of the city connected by street car and telephone. No one is far from the center of attraction. Everyone reads the newspaper and knows in the early morning what is going on the whole day or during the coming week. The only way out here to advertise is through the newspaper, and because of that fact there are local reporters from everywhere who know everyone and everything, so it's but one great effort for one great family.
Sincerely yours,
A. Van Overen.
A New Crop In Delaware
Cantaloupes are being shipped by the carload from Sussex county. Their success as a money-making crop has been demonstrated during the past two years. By actual growing it has been found that Delaware cantaloupes can favorably compete with the famous Colorado brand, with a great advantage in the usefulness to big markets which it possesses. Delaware is but eight hours to San of the largest markets in the United States, and as a result the Sussex cantaloupe can be shipped to those markets at a much lower cost and in much better condition than can the Colorado product. Farmers have made considerable money on the crop this year, and as a result large acreages are being planned for next year. Georgetown, which is the center of Sussex county and the county seat, raised cantaloupes for the first time in its history this year, and yet, notwithstanding that fact, shipped about twice as much to market. The cantaloupe is expected to jump far ahead of both the strawberry and the peach in the future.

GAMES OF THE WEEK

Newark won from Oxford on Saturday by the score of 6 to 0 and is now less than two games back of the leaders in the Tri-County League race. Havre de Grace defeated Port Deposit by the score of 2 to 0 and took the lead from the latter club, which team had held it for several weeks. Elkton won a close game, 4 to 3, from Aberdeen and Elk Mills kept up its good work by downing Northeast 14 to 1. The standing of the eight clubs in the league follows:

W.	L.	Pct.
Havre de Grace, 13	7	.650
Port Deposit, 12	7	.631
Aberdeen, 11	8	.579
Newark, 10	8	.556

Oxford, 8	10	.444
Elk Mills, 6	12	.333
Northeast, 5	14	.263

Murray Pitched Great Game.

The victory of Newark over Oxford on Saturday, thereby breaking that club's long winning streak was largely due to the excellent pitching of George Murray. The little twirler had the Oxford sluggers at his mercy at all times and allowed them but four scattered hits and not a run. The entire team, however, supported him in fine shape. The work of Gregg in center being one of the features of the game.

Reynolds, who has been going like a breeze for the Oxford team, was hit timely and it was Newark's game all the way. "Dick" Morris started in this capacity, he getting a double and triple. The victory was a great surprise to the Oxford fans, as they were beginning to believe that their team since it struck its stride six weeks ago was invincible. The work of Murray is all the more commendable because of the fact that all twirlers have been looking alike to the Oxford bunch and they have been rolling up the hits in double figures in most every game until Murray happened along and put a stop to their slugging.

The score follows:

Newark Has Good Chance.

The local club at the present time has about as good if not a better chance to win the Tri-County League pennant than any club in the league because it has been demonstrated during the past few weeks that the team is playing the best and most consistent ball of the season. The victory on Saturday brings Newark to within less than two games of the leaders. If Newark should win the next two games the club's percentage would be 600. If Havre de Grace, now in the lead, should lose the next two their percentage would be 591, or 9 points below Newark. Of course the Port Deposit and Aberdeen clubs, now between the locals and Havre de Grace, also have to be considered.

Newark will have a hard proposition next Saturday when the strong Aberdeen club will be here for two games. While there is no discounting the fact that Aberdeen is strong the locals should on form annex both of these contests. It is likely that Geoghegan will be here and twirl one game and "Vic" Willis the other. Havre de Grace has an easy proposition on that day, as they play Northeast, but Port Deposit will have to go some to win from Elk Mills. In case the locals win both games and Port Deposit drops one to Elk Mills, Newark will be tied with Port for second place. The club is stronger than ever before and the players are putting up a much better game.

Tri-County League Notes.

Murray has shown that he has the goods and has even surprised some of his friends by his excellent work.

"Dick" Morris landed on the ball hard in Oxford. It seems as though "Dick" always hits harder away than he does at home.

Schweitzer pitched another fine game against Port Deposit. Two hits by Brickley were all that Port got.

Look out for trouble when Scott Gregg finds his batting eye. Even if he don't strike his hitting gait this year his work in the field has strengthened the defensive play of the team 33 per cent.

Hofecker continues to pull Elk Mills up by his fine work in the box. The Wilmington Tri-State League team is trying to induce him to come there for a tryout.

"Bob" Montgomery played a fine game at Oxford and friends of the old timer say that there will be a decided difference in his work from now on.

The season ends on September 28 with our old rivals, Elkton, playing here.

One of the largest crowds of the season should be on hand next Saturday and do all the legitimate rooting possible for both games from Aberdeen.

Murphy caught a fine game at Oxford and also had two of the eight hits made by Newark.

Newark Field Club Wins.

Hemphill's pitching was no much for Elkton on Saturday and the Newark Field Club easily won by the score of 11 to 1. The race in the Penn-Mar League is becoming very close and the locals look to have an excellent chance of capturing the pennant.

Hemphill was in his usual good form and, but three hits were made off his delivery. He fanned 10 but while he did not give a walk he struck two batsmen. In the three games that Hemphill has pitched for the locals he has allowed but six hits.

O-Cedar Polish

A woman can live with a broom in her hand and still not be a good housekeeper. The dust settling on the furniture and window sills has always been a trying problem to the dainty housewife who wants things spick and span. Not only that but dust is the greatest germ carrier. Living on our dusty streets, this has become a serious problem. You all know how you swept yesterday and company came to-day and there you could write your name on the furniture.

And now here comes a remedy
O-CEDAR

Moisten a piece of cheese cloth and wipe off the furniture and the dust is absorbed. Nor does it injure the polish on the piano—it is a polish as well, absolutely GUARANTEED not to injure the highest mahogany finish.

It is in fact a wonder for it not only is a dust killer but a polish and germ killer. This may sound strange but a trial will convince the most particular.

For floors, an O-Cedar DUSTLESS MOP comes that beats electricity—it gives a tone to the floor like a new waxing—even on plain stained and varnished floors.

Again—for cleaning and polishing automobiles—it comes highly recommended.

Try it out—it's not expensive and a labor saver.

PENNSY CO-OPRATES WITH BOARD OF TRADE

Plans to locate new industries on its lines, the Pennsylvania railroad has just issued a circular inviting the cooperation of Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade and other commercial organizations.

The Pennsylvania Railroad's industrial work is presented along rather unique lines in American railroading. In addition to a staff of thirteen division freight agents located at the principal points on the road, whose duties include industrial development in the territory under their jurisdiction, there has been established in the General Freight Department, at Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, an industrial department under the direction of the General Freight Agent, and in charge of John L. Whitaker, special agent. The industrial department carries an active list of available buildings and sites, and is prepared to furnish full information regarding any of them. It has just issued an industrial directory containing a classified list of commodities alphabetically arranged, and giving the names of shippers and receivers at all points on the Pennsylvania Railroad east of Philadelphia. In addition to that, the railway has for distribution a directory of woodlands, fruit and vegetable dealers, a directory of meat, vegetable and produce buyers and shippers, and a directory of grain and flour dealers, flour and feed mills, elevators and warehouses, and hay and straw shippers.

THE FLORIDA HOG
 As It Appeared to One of Our Readers

The hog is perhaps as adaptable an animal to the various customs of man as can be found, ranging from the original wild beast to the stabled Berkshires of the Delaware Experiment Station. Perhaps being somewhat akin to animals, when I crossed the Florida line I began to look for the stock. I saw a few under-wood dogs and some dogs, but about every country house was two or more hogs. They were long legged, rather thin, and had long noses and tails. I took an interest in them, (having pulled persimmon for the pigs every summer of my boyhood) and I watched every settlement for the hogs. The hogs were always in evidence but I could see no pens nor were any of the hogs fenced in. After landing at my destination and still finding that the land abounded in penless hogs, I wanted to know how they were fed and what breed they were. One day I saw the hogs digging up ants and nesting on the young. I asked my host how the hogs were fed. He said they rooted down and pulled the center or bud out of the young palmetto trees. As for breed they call them ground squirrels. Many of them are striped lengthwise of the body with brown stripes, and at three or four weeks old are very pretty. Along the shore they can always dig crabs, and all through the pine woods some animal, or perhaps it is a fish, makes holes in the ground much as our crayfish does in wet places. The hog can always root these creatures out if he is short for a meal. In the center of a young palmetto is leaves rolled tightly together just as a young corn plant, only it is a larger roll. It is about as sweet as young corn and is edible for man or hog. It is prepared for human food in various ways, including pickling. I might have taken more of a liking to it if I had not once made myself sick on the juicy middle of a cornstalk.

Florida hogs do not eat from a trough for the reason that they never saw one. The pines of central Florida do not grow close together, perhaps twenty to fifty feet is a fair average. This plan of nature gives plenty of room for grass to grow among the trees. This is unfenced and is called the "open range." All cattle and hogs are turned on the open range by March first or earlier. The hogs have been there all the while. It is a case of root hog or die. In the corn growing sections the corn is planted about March first, the rows are eight feet apart and one grain of corn is planted at every step. After the corn is large enough to work it is well worked and a row of peanuts is planted between the rows of corn. The corn fodder is saved by stripping all the blades from the stalk from the tassel down, then the ear of corn is broken off with about half the husk on it and cribbed that way.

Each man rounds up his hogs and cattle from the woods and drives them into the corn and peanut field. Here they grow very fast and make a sweeter meat than is known to porkdom in Delaware. In the sections that do not grow corn and peanuts Mr. Hog is just killed when wanted. He makes about one hundred and fifty pounds; how long it takes him to do it is nobody's business. He turns in the goods and has not cost his owner one cent. He has never seen a pen, trough, nor ring for his nose. He is long legged to get through the bushes, a long tail to balance up his nose, and a long nose, that is his stock in trade, to get his living and turn over to his owner more and better lean meat for the cost than any other hog in the United States.

A. E. Rittenhouse.
