

BEAUX ARTS BALL ENDS SEASON FOR DRAMA UNIT

U. Of D. Group Members Wear Gay Costumes For Fete Saturday

In gay costumes, representing "characters from literature," members of the University Drama Group held their annual Beaux Arts Ball on Saturday night at the Newark Country Club.

The club was decorated with bits of scenery from plays which the group had produced during the year, and a small stage was installed and illuminated by "spots" to present the program of the evening.

Prize for the most novel costume was awarded to Virginia Mahanna who appeared as Salome even to carrying an imitation head of John the Baptist. James Merritt also received a prize for his excellent portrayal of "Charlie's Aunt." Group prizes were given for characterization of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by Mr. and Mrs. Thiel and Dr. and Mrs. Roy Donoho. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Humphreys who posed as the "Bobbie" twins in appropriate manner "look" received the other group prize.

Several of the acts from Newark's outstanding Lion Club show "Boys Will Be Girls" were brought back to life during the evening. Music was furnished by the Tune Mixers of Wilmington, who circulated informally among the dancers as they played.

During the last hours of the ball, refreshments of cold turkey sandwiches and coffee were served by the long experienced and capable committee headed by Mrs. Jean Sinclair.

The ball was definitely a big success and wound up one of the most outstanding seasons in the annals of the University Drama Group. Much credit goes to Mrs. George A. Winkler, who was chairman of the committee.

Feline Crisis Threatens Work Stoppage At Curtis

Production at the Curtis Paper Company, which was seriously disrupted last Thursday when the word spread that the mill's pet cat "Judy" had disappeared, practically ground to a halt on Tuesday after the truant feline was discovered stranded in a tall Poplar in the company yard.

A mill-wide work stoppage loomed as sympathetic employees gathered to call encouragement to "Judy," while an emergency call was sent to town authorities.

The municipal repair crew rushed to the scene post haste and immediately launched rescue operations, led by stalwarts Burton Messick and J. R. Wood. The two scaled the tree by ladder and climbing spurs, finding "Judy" clinging to a slender limb. She was in no mood to be rescued and finally had to be sawed off. The drop was later measured at 83 feet.

Grateful Curtis Company officials and employees are considering holding a "Judy Day" and formally awarding medals to the two intrepid cat saviors. "Judy," however, is miffed at the whole business and feels she might as well have jumped in the first place. To prove it she has disappeared again, and town authorities are wondering uneasily just how tall that Poplar is.

RICHARDSON RITES HERE ON MONDAY DRAW MANY

Local Legion Chief Killed Early Friday In Car Crash

Final services for William K. Richardson, commander of the J. A. O'Daniel Post, No. 10, American Legion, who was killed early last Friday morning when his car ran off the DuPont Highway and struck a tree, were held Monday afternoon from the Shellender Funeral Home.

Interment was in Head of Christiana Cemetery, with the Rev. H. E. Hallman officiating. Attending the body at the graveside was an escort of Legionnaires and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

William K. Richardson

The pallbearers were members of Hiram Lodge, No. 25, A. F. & A. M., and Legionnaires, and the honorary pallbearers included officers of the Department of Delaware, American Legion, and past commanders of the local post.

Mr. Richardson, who was 29, is believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel, when, according to police, his car veered between two sections of the dual highway and struck a tree near Hare's Corner. He was returning from Philadelphia where he was taking a business course at the University of Pennsylvania. He died of a fractured skull and shock at 5:40 a. m. Friday, about two hours after being admitted to the Delaware Hospital.

Delegations from the O'Daniel Post and Auxiliary and the Veterans of Foreign Wars viewed the body on Sunday evening, at which time a Guard of Honor was provided by the 40 at 8 of Wilmington and local veteran organizations.

Born in Wilmington but a resident of Newark all his life, Mr. Richardson graduated from the Newark High School and the University of Delaware, class of 1941. In July, 1941, he entered the Army, serving until March.

May Start Work On New Grade Unit In September

Finished plans for Newark's new $600,000 elementary school building are expected to be ready about August and construction may start in September, according to Supt. Wilmer E. Shue.

Preliminary lay-out plans have been approved by the local Board of Education, and Architect E. William Martin has been directed to go ahead with the detailed drawings. These, it is estimated, will take about 10 weeks, after which the Board will be ready to ask for bids.

Meanwhile, a general idea of just how the new school will shape up could be gleaned from the initial plans already approved.

The building, which will be erected on Academy Street between the two existing structures, will be connected to the present high school by an all-weather passageway, at the center of which will be an octagonal waiting room for bus commuters.

The main entrance to the new building will be on Academy Street, but the present driveway to the high school will be eliminated and a new one, laid for both buildings from Delaware Avenue, this will go behind the new school, and end in a traffic circle in front of the proposed waiting room between the two buildings.

Third Design For War Memorial

Formation of a town-wide committee, including representatives of all local civic and fraternal groups to carry out a campaign for funds to erect a war memorial here, will take place at a meeting on Tuesday, June 8, at 8 p. m. in the offices of the Town Council, Academy Street.

The date was set this week by officials of the V. F. W., who first proposed the plan for the monument and are now seeking full civic backing.

Besides directing the drive for funds, the town committee will be charged with selecting a design from the three submitted, as well as a site for the monument. Suggestions from the public on these two points will also be welcomed.

Model of the last of three original designs by Edward Ratti, local sculptor, is shown above. Like the others, this is intended to be executed in Indiana Limestone. Its dimension would be virtually the same as those listed for the first two.

All three miniatures will go on display in the window of the Newark Department Store in about two weeks, according to V. F. W. officials. The public will then be invited to vote for their choice of design.

Organizations which already have gone on record as willing to back the campaign are: Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, Knights of Pythias, Masons, Eastern Star, American Legion, Rotary, Jaycees and the Newark Country Club.

The drive will seek $5,000, of which $3,000 will go for the cost of the monument and the remaining $2,000 will be earmarked for maintenance.

Bible Presbyterians In Special Service Sunday

The public is invited to hear a talk by the Rev. Francis Schaeffer at the Bible Presbyterian Church on Sunday at 7 p. m.

Colored pictures taken by Mr. Schaeffer while on a tour of Europe on behalf of the American Council of Christian Churches will be shown. The pictures will supplement Mr. Schaeffer's address, which will give first hand facts on the needs of those in war devastated countries, as well as the best means of aiding these suffering people.

NHS ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP

Theresa Tierney Is Named Winner

Theresa Tierney has been named as winner of the annual $100 scholarship award of the Newark Alumni Association.

One of the outstanding seniors recommended by school officials, she was selected by the Alumni Board of Directors.

The announcement was made at the annual Alumni banquet last night in the school cafeteria where old grads of the local high school gathered to a fete the class of 1948 and welcome them into the Association.

Speaker of the evening was Mayor Ford McBerty.

The drive to secure funds for the scholarship award is still underway, but will probably close this week-end.

Mrs. Delena Ginther, chairman, said. Contributions may be made to any of the following: Dora Gibb, Anne Chalmers, Phoebe McBerty, Mrs. J. Harvey Dickey and Mary Janet Jamison.

MEETING ON APT. HOUSE POSTPONED

Issue Marks Time Until Next Month

The special meeting of the Town Council called for this week to reconsider the $20,000 apartment house project here has been cancelled, and the problem probably will not be brought up until the next regular meeting of the town body on June 7, officials said this week.

The special meeting, which would have been the second this month on the much disputed question, was dropped when it was found impossible to gather a quorum of Councilmen. Many are out of town on business, it was said.

Also pointed out this week was a misimpression created by an article here of two weeks ago on the meeting at which Council first rejected the Elkton Road project. The article stated that Council Frank Durnall had refrained from voting down the apartment house on the grounds that not a single resident from Elkton Road was present at the meeting. The article was correct, but it was pointed out that a letter of protest from at least one Elkton Road property owner was filed with Council and read at the session. This was from Mrs. J. P. Wright, who owns 10 acres with 461 feet frontage on Elkton Road, one side of which borders on the site proposed for the apartment house.

The move urging Council to reconsider its rejection of the project was brought to a head last week, when formal resolutions were forwarded from two local veteran organizations and the Newark Chamber of Commerce, all asking Council to review its decision. Several petitions asking for more favorable action were also circulated.

In addition, Council received a letter from the John K. Walter Company, which is promoting the development, claiming their plan had not received just consideration and mentioning the possibility of court action against the town.

Services Yesterday For 21-Month Infant

Norman E. Hall, Jr., 21-month-old son of Norman E. and Elizabeth Morrison Hall, of Newark, died Sunday at St. Francis Hospital in Wilmington, where he had been a patient only a day. The baby became ill on Friday.

Also surviving are his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Alice T. Hall, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, and several uncles and aunts.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the funeral parlors of R. T. Jones. Interment was in New London Cemetery, New London, Pa.

Jeweler Firm To Open Store Here

Dufar Jewelers will soon take over the large shop at 52 East Main Street, currently Peggy Cronin's Bargain Box. School officials have been on the look-out for such material for some time, hoping to secure enough in advance to avoid delays when the building itself is completed.

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS REVISED BY TOWN UNIT

Dr. Rees Will Talk In Place Of Carlson At Ceremony Here

Dr. Carl J. Rees, state department commander of the American Legion, will replace Dr. William S. Carlson, university president as the speaker for the afternoon Memorial Day service on the campus of the University of Delaware this Sunday.

Dr. Carlson, originally invited to make the principal address, is unable to appear due to a previous engagement, according to Colonel Ashbridge, head of the town's committee for the observance.

It was also announced that chairs will be provided for the entire audience at the campus ceremonies.

Except for one other slight change, the program, as announced last week, will remain the same.

The observance will be split into two parts, the first before the Honor Roll on Main Street, followed by the service on the campus. The former, beginning at 3:30 p. m., will be a wreath laying ceremony conducted by members of the American Legion and the local Veterans of Foreign Wars, along with the Newark High School Band. A rifle salute will be fired and taps sounded as the wreath is laid.

Next the two units of veterans and the band will march to the campus for the program there. Instead of moving up Main Street as previously planned, the group will proceed down Academy then right on Delaware Avenue to the lower campus.

The service there will start at 4 p. m. with an invocation by Dr. Arthur J. Jackson, pastor of the Methodist Church.

Col. Ashbridge will then introduce Mayor Ford McBerty, who will turn the program over to Dr. Rees.

Following the main address, the climax of the service will be the laying of a wreath in the rotunda of the Memorial Library. The emblem will be placed by members of local Boy Scout troops. The benediction will be by the Rev. H. E. Hallman.

A special invitation to attend has been issued to all Newark's Gold Star Mothers. They are urged to make themselves known to the ushers an will be directed to a seat.

LEGION TO DECORATE GRAVES OF WAR DEAD

Flowers And Flags To Be Distributed By Post Here

The regular business meeting of the Lt. J. Allison O'Daniel Post, No. 10, American Legion, was held on Tuesday, May 18, in the Legion Rooms of the Academy Building, with Bill K. Richardson, post commander, presiding.

(Note: This article describes the last meeting presided over by Mr. Richardson. It is presented here just as it was written before his sudden death last week. Vivaly interested in an active Legion program here, Mr. Richardson called the meeting "one of the best ever.")

J. Q. Smith exhibited Legion uniforms recently purchased for the post color guard, which will participate in the Memorial Day service here on Sunday. Members of the guard include Andrew Breeding, captain; William Beswick, Clyde Baylis, Norvil Robinson, and Harry Williamson.

As another phase of preparations for Memorial Day, a committee headed by Harvey Robertson will decorate graves of the war-dead in this area with flags and flowers.

Post delegates elected to the State Legion Convention, to be held in Rehoboth, June 25-26, include the post commander, John Fader, Harry Williamson, Floyd Jackson, Andrew Breeding, and William Beswick. Alternates are Eric Mayer, Conrad Lewis, Jr., Roy Reed, Herman Handloff, Richard L. Cooch, and William Wassmer.

Herman Handloff, chairman, reported that the recent Post carnival was a financial success, and that $100 had been turned over to the State Police Boys Camp. He announced also that the Kay Amusement Co., which supplied the concessions for the affair, had matched the Post contribution to the camp dollar for dollar.

The Post voted to contribute $25 to the local Navy Mothers League towards the purchase of a paraplegic bus for the veterans at the New Castle Hospital. A $10 check was voted to the Newark Recreation Association.

W. S. (Shack) Martin, chairman of the Junior Baseball committee, announced that the season is underway, with LeRoy Hill coach and Paul Griffith as manager. John Fader is the liaison agent for team bookings, and Bob Sheaffer is arranging transportation for the team.

New Group Rulings In Blue Cross Enrollment

The Delaware Blue Cross Plan recently announced new group enrollment regulations.

In the case of employe groups, re-opening of membership will henceforth be on an annual or semi-annual basis. This regulation replaces a rule that permitted old employes to apply at any time, followed by a four-month waiting period before membership became effective.

New employes will be eligible to apply for membership and for changes in existing memberships within 30 days of employment, instead of 60 days.

In the case of all groups, subscribers who have a two-person contract excluding maternity benefits, may increase their coverage to include a newborn child if application for the additional coverage is made within 30 days of birth.

Community groups will continue to be handled from Blue Cross headquarters at 902 Orange Street, with the policy of annual reopening remaining.

U. Of D. Girls Dedecorate I-Room School Near Here

Eight University of Delaware girls this week wielded paint brushes and hammers at a one-room country school to add another touch of practical experience to classroom discussions on school environment. In order to "provide more stimulating surroundings for the children," the girls, members of a class in elementary education, re-decorated the school at Landenberg, Pa.

The idea was developed from class discussions concerning school environment, according to Miss Rena Allen, associate professor of education. "It was found that in order to have the most efficient conditions for learning, it is necessary to have a stimulating environment," she explained. "After tabulating all the assets needed for an ideal condition, the class wanted to try their theories in an actual classroom situation."

Mrs. Jean Lewis Groscup, a member of another education class at the university and teacher at the Landenberg school, invited the group to visit her school. The girls observed the situation first-hand and formulated ways of applying the principles already studied.

After receiving the permission of the teacher and the school board, the students decided to plan their project. Miss Dolores M. McCall, 1003 North Rodney Street, Wilmington, was named chairman of a committee to gather resources. Soon afterward, the students, equipped with buckets of paint, brushes, ladders, tools and other material did a job of rejuvenation.

Students besides Miss McCall who participated were: Miss F. Evelyn Schutzman, 2814 Baynard Boulevard, Wilmington; Miss Phyllis E. Andrick, 503 West Twenty-fifth Street, Wilmington; Miss Helen T. Connelly, Felton; Miss Shirley Schaeffer, 4016 Shipley Road, Wilmington; Miss Ellen R. Tinsman, Hockessin; Miss Elizabeth S. Rife, Wallingford, Pa.; and Miss Pauline Ellingsworth, Bridgeville.

DATA ON SOYBEANS

Urge Arasan Treatments

Delaware farmers who plan to seed local grown yellow soybeans this season are advised to treat that seed with two ounces of Arasan and increase their usual planting rate by one-third to one-half.

This is the recommendation of Dr. John W. Heuberger, pathologist, and Claude E. Phillips, agronomist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

The specialists base their recommendation on the fact that when Delaware's crop of yellow soybeans was harvested last year, it was found that many of the beans were infected with Purple Spot disease or a new mold disease, or both. Studies conducted by the two workers have shown that infection with each disease has run as high as 25 per cent in certain varieties.

Beans planted from May 15 to June 10 had the highest amount of disease. When varieties were compared, it was found that the Lincoln and Chief varieties were much more susceptible than the Patoka variety.

Germination studies have shown that only about 25 per cent of the badly diseased lots of seed germinated. Work with seed treatment materials in nation chambers indicated that Arasan apparently killed the mold and also increased the germination of clean seed to apparently 7 per cent. This material apparently kills the mold and will prevent its being introduced into the soil.

Treatments tests conducted under controlled conditions in the greenhouse on regular field soil showed that the stand of untreated infected Lincoln seed was 17 per cent, while the treated seed gave a stand of 47 per cent. Spergon and New Improved Ceresan seed treatments for these particular diseases were not as effective as Arasan.

Where bacterial inoculum is to be used, it should be added to the treated seed just before they are planted.

Army Offers Planned Careers To '48 Grads

Opportunities for young men to follow "Planned Careers" have been expanded greatly in the New Regular Army during the rebuilding of the peacetime service over the past two years. 1st Sgt. Robert T. Botsford, Army and Air Force Recruiting Officer for Delaware, declared here today. The Air Force, the Ground Forces and the Administrative and Technical Services all are now in a position to offer career training and real opportunities for advancement.

Longer term enlistments are best as they give volunteers the time to get advanced training in the Army Technical Schools to qualify them as all-around experts in a craft. Short term men have time only for primary training, he said. Those joining the service for 3 years (and congress has authorized up to 6 year enlistments) not only get training in the highest skills, but can add to their education through formal classes and correspondence courses available to all soldiers.

For further details see your local Army and Air Force Recruiting Officer located in Post Office Building, Newark, Delaware.

AM I DUMB ?

At the intersection of one of the busiest streets of one of our big cities, a reputable citizen offered to sell $1.00 bills for 50c. You would be amazed to know how few people availed themselves of this offer.

Some people claim that the public appreciates value most when a reduced price is offered on a commodity that has a printed price on it, and that they are skeptical on other types of merchandise.

On my recommendation, the Silco Store, has installed a miniature Nylon Hosiery Department in its store:—Only two types,—a 51 gauge, 15 denier, that retails at the better stores at $2.25; and a 45 gauge, 30 denier, at $1.50. These stockings carry the famous advertised Trade Mark "NU-MAID"

I maintain that twenty times as many people would buy this hosiery if we could sell it at ridiculously low prices, than if we sold it at regular prices. We have priced the 51 gauge, 15 denier at $4.69 for three pairs, $1.59 a single pair; and the 45 gauge, 30 denier, at three pairs for $3.19, or $1.09 a pair. They are full fashioned, first quality, all Nylon from tip to toe.

It is worth money for me to find out what you—the buying public—really think. I want you to write me a letter, giving me your honest opinion, after wearing a pair a few days. Prizes will be awarded to the writers of the most convincing letters. Attach the part of the hosiery envelope that has SILCO printed on it, to your letter, which must be limited to seventy-five words.

Our company will pay a first prize of $100.00; a second prize of $25.00; a third prize an Arvin Radio ($15.95 value); fourth prize a General Electric automatic iron; a fifth prize Silco Coffee Maker.

This contest is not open to Silco employes. It is agreed that your letter becomes the property of the Silco Company, and that the opinion of the judges shall be final and incontestable. This contest will close May 31st The winners will be announced in this paper June 10th.

ACP SOIL PRACTICES

Farmers of Delaware should understand that when they carry out conservation practices under the Agricultural Conservation Program, they are expected to maintain, or keep up, these practices. That is part of the responsibility accepted when assistance is received to help carry out the practice.

In explaining this provision of the ACP, C. E. Ocheltree, chairman of the State PMA Committee, states that sometimes farmers get the idea that after the work is done one year and the payment received, there is no further responsibility.

Mr. Ocheltree points out that under the provisions of the program, if the State or County Committees find that any conservation practices carried out under a previous year's program has not been maintained in accordance with good farming practices, or if its effectiveness has been destroyed by neglect of failure to keep up the practice, deductions may be made from the current year's assistance earned under the program.

The purpose of the Agricultural Conservation Program is to conserve soil and water and not to make payments to farmers, the State Committeeman emphatically stated. And while all farmers have a responsibility to the nation to conserve their farmland, farmers cooperating in the ACP have the additional responsibility of safeguarding the investment the nation has made in conservation through the program.

Most farmers do maintain these practices, the chairman said, but for those few farmers who do not, the provision for deductions was set up.

BROILER MARKETS STUDIED

Research Workers In New Survey

Studies to discover ways of expanding present markets and to open up additional outlets for Delaware broilers have been initiated in the department of marketing and farm management of the University of Delaware, according to George M. Worrlow, director of the university's agricultural research and extension services.

Director Worrlow said that these studies are a part of the nation-wide agricultural marketing program sponsored cooperatively by the Land Grant Colleges and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, under funds provided by the Research and Marketing Act of 1946.

Director Worrlow reports that for the past several months the university department of marketing and farm management has been conducting a survey of retail food stores in Wilmington and Philadelphia to determine the extent to which Delaware broilers are now being sold and what conditions would be necessary to expand outlets and increase sales. A similar survey of New York City stores is planned. This survey work is under the direction of Dr. R. O. Bausman, head of the marketing department, and is being done by Willard T. McAllister, a member of that department.

Another phase of this study includes the placement of various types of dressed and packaged broilers in stores to determine homemaker preferences. This study is now underway in Philadelphia. Checks are being made of the preferences consumers show for methods of dressing, packaging and display, and whether newer marketing schemes increase sales and consumption of poultry.

To determine the place broilers now have in family diets, other studies are planned directly with homemakers through the home economics section of the Extension Service.

To carry out this portion of the marketing program, the appointment of Mrs. Anne W. Holberton as extension marketing specialist, has also been announced by Director Worrlow. Mrs. Holberton is a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute with a master of science degree. She has worked previously in the agricultural engineering and home economics departments at that institution.

During the next three months, Mrs. Holberton will interview and meet with homemakers in Wilmington and vicinity to gather information on the extent to which broilers are now being used and to demonstrate economical and attractive ways of preparing and serving Delaware broilers.

NEW FARM CLUB MEETS

Defines Objects

The newly formed Upper Delmar Farm Equipment Club, an organization to promote better relations between farmers and farm equipment dealers, held its second meeting Monday at the Howard Hotel, Elkton, Md. Harold Shipley, of White Bros. Supply, Wilmington, who is president of the group, will act as permanent chairman of the new farm equipment retail association.

By-laws were submitted and approved and the membership, program and executive committees were appointed at the session, which was attended by dealers from Cecil County, Md., and New Castle County.

In defining the objects of the association, Mr. Shipley said: "The organization intends to promote better relations between dealers and farmers and to render better service to the farmers of the community. This will be done by promoting friendly relations among dealer members and encouraging mutual understanding of problems common to the farm equipment business. The next meeting will be held June 28 at the Howard Hotel."

"It ain't fair!"

"Everything in the house runs by electricity—but this piano!"

Yes, the whole family enjoys cheap, dependable electric service for just about everything—except poor Butch and his piano lessons.

Butch and his 'laborious' method of playing the piano are like a lot of grown folks—still doing things the hard way... still "putting up" with tedious, manual labor methods where low-cost, work, time and effort-saving electricity will do the job faster and better.

Seems like a lot of wasted effort and talent, when it's so much easier to simply flip a switch and let ready dependable electricity do the hundred and one daily jobs for you.

Electricity, through modern electrical appliances, gives you finer service than ever before—makes living easier, more pleasant for everyone. And, for all the service it gives you, electricity is still just about the smallest item in your budget.

PASTURE PROBLEM

Within six weeks Delaware farmers can easily have a serious pasture problem unless something is done now to avoid it, warns Claude E. Phillips, forage crop specialist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. To maintain dairy production during this period, steps should be taken now to provide pasture.

Right now, as in other years, there is plenty of pasture—possibly even more than usual, since abundant rain has caused grasses and clover to grow with unusual abundance. And during this period when there is plenty of pasture and when farmers are busy with other jobs, it is hard to realize that something should be done about the pasture problem.

Normally, however, points out Phillips, we have a period of drought and regular pastures are insufficient, and it is more than likely that we will have that problem again this year. Since commercial feed is high in price, it is more important than ever that this difficulty be avoided.

Phillips recommends seeding Sudan grass which will be ready to graze in five or six weeks. This semi-tropical grass grows readily in Delaware. Sudan grasses should be seeded at the rate of about 25 pounds per acre and covered not more than one inch deep. Plant at least one acre for each 3 or 4 cows. This grass responds well to good land and fertilization—at least 300 pounds of a 5-10-5 fertilizer per acre is recommended.

If Sudan grass is planted now, it will be ready for use at just about the time other pasture facilities are gone. This will avoid depending upon expensive commercial feed supplies to keep the dairy cows producing.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Lee Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Murray, Eastburn Heights, Marshallton, to Mr. John Wilson, son of Mr. Charles Marshallton, took place at 2 o'clock on Saturday, May 22, at White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Hendrick Van Dyke, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. Miss Romaine McCormick acted as maid of honor and accompanied Miss Betty Long, soloist. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of ivory broadcloth satin, with a sweetheart neckline, and the full skirt was made of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Miss G. Paul Lynam, matron of honor, who attended her sister, was attended by Miss Eleanor Murray, another sister, and Mrs. James C. Murray, bridesmaid, chose blue taffeta. The gowns of all the attendants were alike, with sweetheart neckline and bouffant skirts. Their headresses were made of tulle to match their gowns. They carried bouquets of mixed flowers.

Mrs. Murray, mother of the bride, wore a gown of dusty rose. With this was a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Murray, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue and wore a corsage of roses. Mr. James C. Wilson was best man and his brother, the ushers were Mr. E. Murray and Mr. G. Paul Lynam. A reception followed in the assembly room of the church, after which the couple left for a wedding trip. On May 20, 1939, the University of Delaware baseball team closed out its season by defeating P. M. C. 7-0 thus giving the Hens of that year a record of 11 wins and six losses for a rating of .647. In 1939 there also was a 15-inning 5-5 tie with Penn Athletic Club.

Last Saturday the Blue Hen nine closed out its 1948 schedule, and again the score was 7-0. The opponent this time was Gettysburg instead of P. M. C. But there was even a more vital difference. The 7-0 score was in favor of the Hens.

Delaware entered the season's finale sporting a winning streak of eight straight games and with a record of 13 wins and only six losses. The Hens were confident of another victory as Coach Shack Martin sent Joe Penneck, a converted first baseman, to the mound. And Joe pitched a masterful game, allowing the Hens only four hits. But the Blue Hens came apart at the seams, with seven of the nine men who saw action committing a total of nine errors.

But despite the debacle up near the battlefields of Gettysburg, the Martinmen had a splendid season, finishing with a 13-7 record for a .650 average.

The Hen baseball team of 1939 earned a reputation as hitless wonders, for in that season only Second Baseman Amos Crowley hit at a .300 or better clip. That team's success came about as the result of a tight defense and a superlative hurling corps. Taking their regular turns on the mound were the string-bean team captain, Phil Reed; the two husky Wilmingtonians, Bill Tibbett and John Daly; and 275-lb. Bill Deaver, who hailed from Elkton and was called Tiny.

This year's Delaware diamond aggregation had much more hitting punch and a fine quartet of twirlers in Albie Thorp, Bill Roy, Jim Collins, and Joe Penneck. With a little more of the finesse afield which comes with experience, this present crop of pitchers is sure to be compared most favorably with those of almost a decade ago.

Checking back to that Delaware nine of '39 served to reemphasize the fact that the Hens have consistently had winning baseball clubs. And it also showed that with regularity they have gotten off to poor starts, usually as the result of absorbing several defeats on their annual southern trips, and then finished fast as the campaigns drew to a close.

In 1940 for example they won seven of their last nine games to finish with a record of ten wins and seven losses. In that year they closed out the season by drubbing P. M. C. 16-0 behind the four-hit pitching of John Daly. It was Captain Earl Sheats who led the Hens in hitting during that season with a .311 average.

At the moment our records for the 1941 season are playing hide-and-seek with us but we do recall that it was a year in which Delaware finished in the black ink by a wide margin. It was also in 1941 that the U. of D. became the only collegiate nine to defeat a great Norfolk Naval Training Station team. And it was Hugh Bogovich, the southpaw with the ham-sized hands, who hurled masterfully to beat the Gobs.

After dropping five of their first six games in 1942 the Delaware nine, with Shack Martin at the reins for the first time, won ten of their last twelve contests for a season's card of eleven wins and seven losses. It was Daly, Tibbett and Bogovich who performed the pitching chores, ably supported by a quartet of sluggers who all bettered the .300 mark. Conrad Sadowski clubbed the ball at a .368 clip and was closely followed by shortstop Freddie Mitchell with a .356 average. Amos Crowley, a neat little second baseman who captained the Hens in '42, finished with a .316, and Barney Runcie, who led the Hens in hitting this year and who was then a freshmen outfielder, registered a .308 batting figure. That last full season of baseball until after the war was brought to a close was completed by a thriller on Frazer Field before a large alumni crowd in which the Blue Hens defeated Drexel Tech 1-0 as big John Daly limited the Dragons to a mere three hits.

In 1946 the Hens returned to the diamond to cop the Middle Atlantic States Conference championship in the first year in which that league operated. Delaware won nine, lost three, and tied one conference contest. In the only two non-league games the Hens won one and were stalemated in the other. This record of ten victories, three losses, and two ties gave the Hens a season average of .766. The only year we can remember in which Delaware finished with a better season average than that was in 1938, when sixteen wins and only four losses produced a .800 rating. In '46 no less than five regulars and three pitchers had batting records of .300 or better.

Last year's Hen nine had a tougher time finishing on the right side of the ledger but barely managed to do so with nine wins against eight setbacks. Thus we find by recapitulation that during the seven seasons for which figures are immediately available, Blue Hen ball teams have won 80 games while dropping only 42 for a highly creditable seven-year average of .656.

Marylanders Tie Score In Ninth And Again In Tenth, Then Push On To Single Run Decision; Newark Is Set For Tilt With Perryville Sun.

Refusing to accept defeat, the Aberdeen baseball nine, after tying the score in the ninth and again in the tenth, slipped across a single run in the eleventh to hand Newark its first setback in the Susquehanna League.

It was a nerve wracking afternoon for all concerned at the Aberdeen field, and when the hysteria finally subsided, the score stood 9-8.

Newark appeared to have the situation well in hand long about the seventh when it boasted a comfortable 7-5 advantage, but Aberdeen peeked away with single runs in the eighth and ninth to tie the count at the regulation deadline.

Newark promptly came to life in the tenth with what appeared to be a decisive run, but their hosts were not to be so easily put off. C. Jacobs, Aberdeen right fielder, stepped up to deliver a resounding four base blow which deadlocked things at 8 all.

This proved a back-breaking blow to the Newark club, which slunk scorelessly during the opening of the eleventh. Aberdeen, however, merrily maintained its one-run pace, when Whiteford, the pitcher, was safe on a fly, and Miller brought him in with a game deciding triple.

Despite Aberdeen's fight, Newark deserved a better fate. Hock, who went the distance for the locals, especially deserved more of a break, since errors by his teammates put him in trouble on several occasions.

Silk led the Newark batsmen with four blows. Skripps and Schaen got three each.

Newark returns to the Continental Field Sunday for a meeting with Perryville.

Toy Water Pistol Does Man's Work

A toy water pistol in the hands of Raleigh, Tenn., town's assistant post master means better sweeping. Mrs. Carlos Kemp, and early morning commuter, attests that the federal employe starts his chores at the post-office with pistol in hand. She watched him spray the dust before sweeping.

"It was surprising how far he can spray the water with his pistol," she said.

NHS Girl Softballers Notch Fourth Straight

Newark's High's Girl Softball team won its fourth consecutive game on Monday by defeating Friends School, 12-11, in a closely fought contest on the latter's field.

Trailing by five runs until the last inning, Newark rallied to score six runs which proved the deciding factor. The Mt. Pleasant nine was the first to fall to Newark, going down, 16-2. The local girls continued their winning streak by defeating the much favored Conrad team, 8-7, in an extra inning. Mt. Pleasant was later defeated a second time by Newark, 15-10.

ATHLETIC FACILITIES EXPANDED

U. Of D. To Erect Big Hangar For Team Workouts

Purchase by the University of Delaware of a steel and aluminum hangar which, when erected on the campus at Newark, will nearly triple the space now available in the fieldhouse, was announced today by William D. Murray, director of health, physical education and athletics at the university.

The new barrel-shaped building, to be placed adjacent to the present fieldhouse, will have an earth floor and will be used for indoor practice of football, baseball, track and other outdoor sports.

It will be 162 feet in length and 147 feet wide, compared with the present 123x112 dimensions. The height of both structures is the same—39 feet.

The addition was bought from a portion of funds donated for a field house addition several years ago by R. R. M. Carpenter. The building was bought, for a price not disclosed, from Factory Associates, Inc. Built by the American Bridge Company about two years ago to meet government specifications, the all-metal structure never has been in use. It is now crated in Los Angeles and will be shipped here by boat.

Details of erection of the building will be decided upon later, but at present, according to Mr. Murray, it is not believed that the addition will be ready for use until after this fall's football season.

DELAWARE FARM FRONT

How Thick Is Your Farm

Outlook for Delaware crops was good at the beginning of this month, according to a report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Delaware's 1948 winter wheat crop is estimated at 1,330,000 bushels, about 5 per cent less than the 1947 crop of 1,407,000 bushels. The rye crop is expected to produce about 252,000 bushels in 1948, as compared with 238,000 bushels in 1947.

Stocks of hay on Delaware farms on May 1 are estimated at 14,000 tons compared with 16,000 tons one year earlier. Hay and pasture are reported in better condition than a year ago and better than average.

"An Over-All Picture of Home Demonstration Work in Delaware" is the title of a new folder issued by the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. Explaining the organization and activities of home demonstration clubs, the folder answers some of the questions most frequently asked by women who consider joining a home demonstration club.

The folder, Extension Folder No. 15, is free to anyone interested in home demonstration work. Copies may be obtained from county home demonstration agents in Newark, Dover and Georgetown.

"What is your farm's third dimension? You may have a big farm a mile and a half long by a mile wide or it may be just a small farm several rods long by a few rods wide, but more significant than the length and the width is the third dimension—the depth."

In this way, C. E. Ocheltree, Chairman of the Delaware PMA State Committee, calls attention to the most valuable dimension of the farm—the depth of the topsoil.

He pointed out that some large farms—200, 300 or 500 acres—may be so thin that little can be produced either to give the farmer an income or to supply more food or fibre for consumers. Other farms, although small in acres are "large" in the crops produced—their soil is deep and rich. Not all large farms are "thins" and all small farms "thick" but the productive size of a farm depends on the depth of the soil.

One of the main jobs of the Agricultural Conservation Program, says Ocheltree, is to help farmers hold their land; to keep this third dimension from decreasing. Deeds and contracts, he points out, have to do with the area. The Agricultural Conservation Program helps the farmer hold title to his land by helping him hold and improve the third dimension on the farm.

"Too many farms have been lost because this third dimension was neglected," Ocheltree states. The primary purpose of the AC Program is to help farmers hold the third dimension, and local ACA offices are prepared to give farm owners and tenants advice and financial assistance.

Other board members of ANTA who were re-elected at the meeting when Dr. Kase's term was extended include Brooks Atkinson, Clarence Derwent, Vinton Freedley, Rosamond Gilder, Robert Porterfield, Oscar Serlin and Lee Simonson.

Motorists' dollars go farther when pavements are CONCRETE

THE DOLLARS you pay in gas taxes and license fees go farther when they are invested in concrete pavement. Concrete usually costs less to build than other pavement of equal load-carrying capacity. NEW U. OF D. GRID ATTACK S OUTLINED

Murray Tells Plans For 1948

According to Coach Bill Murray, the Blue Hens' widely-heralded offense consists chiefly of a "T-formation philosophy" in order to tailor his strategy to 1948 grid limitations.

"We will not be lining up much differently than in the past," under the double wing previously in use at Delaware Murray claims. "Our lineup will be exactly as before except that the blocking back will line up in a position called the T-back. We will run many plays exactly the same as before. We will be trying out the T philosophy."

"The T," he continued, "is not necessarily a formation; it is a whole way of playing. Despite the great wave of T-formation in recent years, the way of lining up, as such, has not changed the game." Its principal impact upon the offense of any team, he emphasized, is in the method of a back's receiving the ball.

Elaborating further on his views of the "T," Murray said it was widely misunderstood. "There's nothing really new in it," he pointed out. "Many years ago, it was the principal method of lining up, then for years it was generally discarded. I believe that the wide adoption of it recently has been caused by the smaller ball, which is more adaptable to throwing."

Delaware's modification of its highly successful double-wing system is being based on a prospective lack of topflight blocking backs for the coming season, "and this started us thinking in the direction of the T," said Murray. He explained that he believed the Hens would be less handicapped by this lack if it used a T than if it persisted with the double-wing. On the other hand, he said, there are a few men coming up the '48 varsity from last year's freshman team who appear particularly well suited to a T offense.

The Blue Hens' 1948 schedule, Murray predicted, will be Delaware's "heaviest ever—tougher than in 1947." Joe Brunansky, Delaware line coach, also was a guest at the Touchdown Club luncheon, held in the Hob Restaurant.

Television Seen Boast To Movie Production

Television as it develops will require four times the current annual film production to meet its demands, W. W. Waits predicted recently.

Watts, engineering vice-president of Radio Corporation of America, told the Society of Motion Picture Engineers that at the same time the nation's television future promises great benefits to increased production and engineering advances for the movie industry.

"Television is here and must be reckoned with," he said at the opening of the S. M. P. E. five-day convention.

U. OF D. WILL RECONDITION 'THE KNOLL'

70-Year-Old Building To Be Retained

The University of Delaware has decided to repair, rather than replace, the frame building known as "The Knoll," home of President William S. Carlson.

Because of the uncertain condition of the 70-year-old dwelling, the university's trustees launched an investigation of "The Knoll" structural defects. As a result, the grounds and buildings committee of the board of trustees this week reported that while reconditioning is essential, the residence still retains "substantial value and should not be taken down."

"The extent to which it needs repairs and reconditioning has not been fully determined," the committee said. Meanwhile, the university has obtained another house in Newark as a temporary residence for Dr. Carlson and his family.

"The Knoll" was acquired by the university in 1917 as a home for the president, and Dr. Carlson is the third president to live in it. The building also served, during the recent war, as a dormitory, and the results of that use necessitated some redecoration to restore it to habitable condition for private use.

NHS ALBUM IS SENT TO N. J. SCHOOL

High Schools Trade Books On Activities

The Newark High School and the Central High School of Newark, N. J., recently exchanged interesting inter-sectional albums, composed by the students and describing, with pictures and articles, life in the two schools and communities.

Part of an educational project known as "Friendship Through Understanding," the exchange was started by Central High, who forwarded its album to the local school with the request that the pupils here prepare and return a similar album because of the identity of the town's names.

School officials and pupils here received the idea with enthusiasm and immediately began work on the return album. It was recently completed and mailed.

The cover of the local book is the colorful yellow and black school emblem, and the album contains many photographs of the town, university, school, industries and historic sites. A letter of greeting, a copy of the school paper, and pictures of the student council are some of the interesting features of the album. It was prepared under the direction of Frederick B. Kutz, high school principal, and the history and art departments.

Much credit goes to Janice Olson, Dick Dayton, Ann Weldon, Jimmy Draper, Nancy Smith, Mary Ann Reale and the local History Club for their work on the project.

HOMEMAKER GROUP SEES UN MEETING

Five Newark Women Join Recent Tour

Approximately 100 Delaware women, members of home demonstration clubs, attended a meeting of the United Nations Security Council at Lake Success, on May 25.

The trip was sponsored by the State Home Demonstration Council, as part of the international relations program of the clubs, and was arranged by Mrs. Charles Z. Dukes, state international relations chairman.

Traveling by bus, the group reached the United Nations headquarters at 1:30 p. m. They were met by a member of the United Nations educational personnel, who took charge of a period of orientation and briefing in the activity of the Security Council. The women then sat in on a session of the Council. The home demonstration members plan to follow through this trip with reports to be given at the June club meetings.

Members from Newark in the group were: Mrs. L. J. Walker, Miss Mary Jane Lee, Miss Adeline Hoffman, Miss M. Katharine Jones, Miss M. Gertrude Holloway.

DEBATE AT ROTARY IS CALLED TIE

Mayer And Shields In Bovine Feud

A heated debate between two bovine experts, Vincent Mayer and Joseph Shields, on the relative merits of Jersey and Guernsey cows, featured the dinner meeting of the Newark Rotary Club on Monday night.

The formal setto was arranged by program chairman William S. Martin in order to settle a long standing feud between the two members. Shields was willing to bet his shirt on the superiority of the Jerseys, while Mayer was pro-Guernsey.

The question is still very much up in the air, since the debate came out a draw. Members of the club were judges, and their reaction was registered through an applause meter.

Guests at the meeting were Warren Buckingham, of Middletown, and Frank Tolomeo, Newark. Mr. Martin presided in the absence of President William S. Hamilton.

Next week's meeting has been cancelled due to Monday's delayed observance of Memorial Day.

Free tickets to Children's Day at the Harrington Fair on July 27 will be available to school pupils here.
