Suggest Plans For Preservation Of Academy Building

Famous Old Structure May Become Community Center if Preliminary Plans Take Shape; Committee to Feel Out Sentiment of Town

TRUSTEES CANNOT FINANCE IT

The first move destined to affect the future of the famous old Newark Academy building was made Thursday night last at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, when it was suggested that the building be turned into a community center, for the use of both townspeople and tourists passing through.

With permanent idleness facing it, since its charter forbids it to be used for other than educational purposes, something must be done, it was stated, to keep it intact and create a place for it in Newark.

Mayor Frazer, who is a trustee of the Academy, brought up the subject Thursday night, and an interesting discussion followed.

The Mayor called attention to the wonderful history of the old building, and referred to its as "probably the only building in the United States where three signers of the Declaration of Independence were educated." The Academy was built as a part of a general educational scheme in this section at the same time New London and West Nottingham academies were built. It was the forerunner of what is now the University of Delaware.

Estimates Vary

Mayor Frazer's estimate placed the cost of restoring and equipping the old building at $5,000. Other estimates made by members of the Chamber are generally higher. Some place it at $10,000.

In his speech, the Mayor explained that the Trustees of the building could not finance the needed improvements. The income from the endowment fund is all that can be used. The principal cannot be touched. Money was borrowed to complete building the wall and pavement along two sides of the grounds. As yet the debt has not been entirely satisfied. It was his conviction that a drive for funds throughout this and other communities of the State would be the most feasible method to raise the money.

Various other views were expressed by business men following the Mayor's speech. The matter awakened a great deal of interest, but nothing definite was planned.

Instead, President Johnston said he would appoint a committee to make a close estimate of the amount needed to restore the building, and to devise possible ways and means for raising the amount needed.

Anglers' Meeting

A meeting of the Newark Anglers Association has been called for Friday evening of this week in the Farmers' Trust Company at seven o'clock, standard time. President Widdoes, in announcing the meeting also stated that Sunset Lake is about half full of water. The lake was drained recently for repairs to the dam breast.

"HORSE" NOT "HOARSE"

THIS TOT'S TROUBLE

When 5-year-old Albert Gregson, living between here and Elk Mills swallowed a metal prize-package horse in mistake for a piece of popcorn one day last week, it could be rightfully said that he developed serious "horseness" in his throat.

The tin horse lodged in the upper bronchial tubes, but efforts of Dr. Johnson to remove it at once proved futile. The boy was immediately rushed to Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, and operated upon by Dr. Fred Smith.

An X-ray was taken of the throat to locate the position of the horse, and a few minutes with the famous bronchoscope removed it with little or no pain.

Stabbed In Altercation By 16-Year-Old Negress

Ellwood Bostick Expected To Recover From Deep Wounds In Abdomen; Girl Held For Court

Reports from a Wilmington hospital yesterday indicate that Ellwood Bostick, Negro, of this town will recover from a deep stab wound in his right side suffered during a fight with 16-year-old Mary Jane Haman, also a Negro, in a house on New London Avenue last Wednesday night.

When taken to the hospital by Dr. Johnson, Thursday last, Bostick's condition was very grave. A small penknife wielded by the Haman girl slashed through the inner wall of the abdomen, and fears were expressed that peritonitis might set in.

The altercation started over Bostick's alleged attentions to another girl, said the police here. When apprehended Wednesday night, the girl was calmly indifferent to the consequences of her act, and is said to have planned the murder of Bostick some days before. According to police she said she would do it "over again if she had the chance."

After spending the night in the local jail, she was taken to Wilmington and is being held for the Juvenile Court. Being a minor her case cannot go before the grand jury in regular session.

STROKE SUFFERER NOW DEVELOPS PNEUMONIA

Bayard Robinson Lying Very Ill In Wilmington Hospital This Week

Following a slight stroke, affecting his speech principally, Bayard Robinson, a well known fibre maker employed at the National plant here, has contracted pneumonia and is very ill in a Wilmington hospital.

Mr. Robinson was found in an unconscious condition in his home here on Sunday, May 10th last, by his family. A physician was hastily summoned, and the sick man rushed to the hospital. It was found that he was suffering from partial paralysis of the head and face.

The contraction of pneumonia was reported early this week and his condition is causing serious concern among his relatives and friends in Newark.

Mothers Gather A Feature Of W. C. May Day

Parents of Freshmen Here of College Routine in Novel Meeting Saturday Last

A large number of mothers of members of the Freshman Class of Women's College availed themselves of Dean Robinson's invitation and were the guests of the College last Saturday for a conference luncheon, May Day Fete and the Home Economics Plays.

The whole day was most interesting and delightful. The conference, which convened at eleven o'clock, was attended by the mothers and their daughters in a group. The president of the Freshman Class, Miss Ruth Larter, presided, and introduced Dr. Quaesita Drake, who explained the new system of grades which has been adapted for use in the College next year.

Dean Robinson explained the Foreign Study Plan and showed views of the new buildings that have been made possible by the appropriation made by the last State Assembly. Dr. Hullahen and Dr. Holloway greeted the mothers. Miss Kathryn Ladd told of the ideals of the Student-Government Association and Miss Dorothy Nunn of the work of the Young Women's Christian Association on the campus.

Miss Reta Tatman led the group singing and her mother, Mrs. Lawrence Tatman, of Greenwood, sang two solos.

The general opinion of the guests was that Dean Robinson was to be congratulated on the success of the plan. The mothers were not only interested, but enthusiastic over the work and future of Women's College.

Drive For Legion Starts Saturday Local Quota $600

Committee Decides Against Individual Canvassing of Town; Letters to be Sent Out Asking Aid

CAMPAIGN ENDS ON 30th

At a meeting of local American Legion men held in the Armory here Monday evening, plans were laid for the opening of the drive for Newark's quota of $600, to become a part of the $10,000 allotment for Delaware. The campaign for funds will consume one week, beginning next Saturday.

The committee in charge of the drive in Newark comprises J. Earl Dougherty, Warren A. Singles and Mayor Eben B. Frazer. Two meetings of the committee have been held, the first one being addressed by representatives of the Legion from Wilmington.

Solicit By Letter

In lieu of the customary methods used in drives of this sort, the Legion drive promoters have instituted a letter campaign for Newark which, they say, is calculated to bring the same results without bothering business and professional men with personal appeals.

Letters have been sent out to scores of townspeople, asking them to contribute any sum they deem adequate for the cause of the Legion. They have been requested to send or leave such contributions at either of the two banks here. In case they are not in by Saturday, May 30th, the closing day of the drive, arrangements have been made to accept them at the Memorial Day services that morning.

Legion Wants Millions

The Legion, during this intensive nation-wide drive of one week's duration, hopes to raise a total of five million dollars. Delaware's quota is set at $10,000.

Newark is preparing for one of the largest crowds in her history on Saturday. Seven thousand separate invitations to contributors have been sent out. The invitation is extended to every citizen of the State. Accommodations for the big crowd are taxing the facilities of the equipment here.

MEMORIAL DAY SPEAKER

Dr. Sparling Of Baltimore To Address Townspeople on 30th

It was announced yesterday by Clarence A. Shore, chairman of the Mayor's Memorial Day Committee, that Dr. Christopher P. Sparling, rector of Prince of Peace Church in Walbrook, a suburb of Baltimore, will be the principal speaker at the exercises here on that date.

The services, as is the custom, will be held at the boulder on the upper campus of the University, where the selective service men were sworn into the service of the nation in 1918.

Further details of the day's program in Newark will be announced soon.

DELAWARE DROWNED, 33-0

McAvoy's Nine Meets Horrible Death At Georgetown Yesterday

Delaware's baseball team suffered what is believed to be the worst drubbing in the history of the sport here yesterday afternoon at Washington, when the Georgetown University sluggers buried the locals under a 33-0 score in the regulation nine innings.

An Associated Press despatch from the capital this morning stated that the score probably will set a record in collegiate circles. Details of the harrowing conflict are mercifully lacking.

The Blue and Gold plays Ursinus today on Frazer Field.

Newark High Wins

Newark won the first skirmish for the D. I. A. A. baseball championship yesterday afternoon when they defeated Caesar Rodney in a protested game, 4-3.

The protest came in the eighth when a Newark runner scored the winning tally from second when the down state catcher threw the ball into centerfield. The latter claimed interference on the part of Rose, who was at bat.

The game was nip and tuck all the way. Errors on both sides, however, were factors in the run getting. After leading most of the way, Newark was tied up in the seventh, 3-3. Rose pitched a nice game.

Who Broke the Window?

Tom Ling, the earnest little laundryman of East Main street, suffered another persecution Sunday night when someone deliberately drove their fist through his window. Tom prepared, in the very best English he could coax into his pen, a note to a score or more merchants, respectfully asking their aid in finding the culprit. The note is a gem.

To know Tom is to know a good citizen. It is hoped that friends of the little yellow man will come to his aid and stop this sneaking type of annoyance.

Student Election Interrupted By "Combine" Charge

Sigma Phi Epsilon Members Walk Out of Wolf Hall During Balloting Yesterday; Will Investigate Allegations

SERIOUS EFFECTS ARE SEEN

With a roar that figuratively shook the student body to its heels, the lid blew off at the Men's College student elections yesterday morning and a seething inter-fraternity strife was exposed to public view.

Action taken by the entire active membership of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity in walking out of Wolf Hall during the annual balloting for offices has caused a rumpus which is the common topic of conversation wherever the students, faculty and friends of the University gather.

One by one, the Sigma Phi candidates for office arose and withdrew their names from the ballot yesterday. A letter was handed to President Leach of the Student Council. Thereupon the Sigma Phis left the hall in a body.

The letter follows:

"Being aware that certain organizations on the campus have secretly combined for the specific purpose of dividing among their particular candidates the political spoils of this morning's elections and to defeat other candidates—irrespective of merit or service—who happen to be non-members of the organizations engaged in this disgraceful machination, we, the members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, herewith refuse to participate in an election conducted in such a manner or to support a Student Council not elected under honorable circumstances."

Frats Deny Charges

Before the action of the fraternity was known to most Newarkers, the details were spread on the front pages of Wilmington newspapers an hour later and broadcasted throughout the State.

After the shock had worn off, the remaining members of the student body proceeded with the election of class and Student Council officers. Sigma Phi names were kept on the ballots, and were voted on according to custom.

The charges outlined in the letter of the protesting fraternity were publicly denied from the floor of the meeting yesterday. Either the president or another officer of each fraternity there represented, construing that the "certain organizations," stated in the letter denoted Greek letter groups, declared that such a charge was unwarranted and a reflection on the student body in general.

President Leach appointed Francis Warner, William Miller and William Jackson, all Seniors, a committee of three to ask President Rinard of the Sigma Phi group to either come himself or send a representative at once to the meeting and amplify the charges made in the letter. According to one member of the committee, Rinard said he "had no interest whatever in the elections." The committee returned empty handed and the election proceeded.

Start Investigation

It was reported in a Wilmington newspaper this morning that a committee of three alumni will be appointed to begin an investigation of the charges brought by Sigma Phi Epsilon. They are A. J. Taylor, Charles E. Grubb and George L. Townsend, Jr.

Feeling is running high in the student body as a result of the sudden outbreak of fraternity war. So far the faculty is not reported as having taken a hand in the matter.

It is generally conceded by local observers, however, that unless the situation is cleared up soon and good fellowship restored among the various fraternity groups on the campus, their status at the University will likely be seriously affected.

Firemen Will Attend

The Singery Fire Company of Elkton will attend the Maryland State Firemen's Convention at Ocean City, Md., on June 11th, next. The Elktonians will go in a body.

Chamber Of Commerce, In Meeting, Discusses Many Town Problems

Dinner for Members Only Held Last Thursday Evening. 42 New Men Gathered in During Year. Committees Report Accomplishments.

Striking a new note in the usual run of such affairs, fifty-three members of the Newark Chamber of Commerce gathered at Old College last Thursday night, barred the doors to spellbinders and visitors, and figuratively speaking, went to the mat with town problems.

It was a novel idea. And as such, it made a considerable hit with the representative group of men present. Everyone felt free to talk, and most everyone did talk a little. Everything from a public dumping ground, to a move to preserve the Old Academy building, with stops in between, were discussed. Daylight Saving, however, died on its feet as an issue. When it was brought up, the subject was greeted with profound and eloquent silence.

Plan Big Year's Work

Under the leadership of President J. K. Johnston, the after-dinner meeting swept through the reports of committees, on over the Peddler License obstacle, and into a series of constructive recommendations. For business efficiency and orderliness it could hardly be beaten at a Directors' Meeting.

To start the evening off right, D. A. McClintock, chairman of the Membership Committee, reported that forty new members had been added to the rolls during the recent drive. This brings the total membership up to one, hundred and six. From a glance at the names of the members published in another column this week, they seem to represent every activity now in existence in Newark.

Reports of Committees

Among the reports submitted by committees through their chairmen, Dr. George W. Rhodes for the Signs Committee, stated that attractive billboards advertising Newark will be in place at the east and west entrances of town within a few days.

Dean George E. Dutton, chairman of the Civic Committee, urged that better guide signs for motorists be placed at Main street and Elkton road, pointing out that hundreds of people lose the trail at that point by the lack of a suitable direction post. He also recommended that the Chamber urge every owner of an open lot on Main street to clean up his property and put it in a respectable condition.

Committees for these two projects were named as follows: Signposts: Eugene Kennedy, Rev. H. Everett Hallman and T. A. Baker, chairman. For cleaning up lots: James H. Hutchison, Raymond Fader and Orlando K. Strahorn.

Harry W. Davis for the Agricultural Committee said he had no recommendation to offer since there seemed nothing for his committee to do. Due to the absence of Dr. Hullahen, the Educational Committee did not make a report.

A committee was appointed consisting of Messrs. A. D. Cobb, J. E. Dougherty and J. Irvin Dayett, to frame resolutions supporting the Aetna Fire Company's efforts to bring the State Firemen's Convention here in 1926.

Approve Permanent Tree

Warren A. Singles reported from a meeting of the Directors of the Chamber recommending that the body as a whole endorse a movement for a permanent community Christmas tree to be erected on the Academy lawn in conformity with the landscape plans, and to thus escape the expense of transporting a full sized tree there every winter. Upon motion the Chamber authorized the tree to be procured next Fall and placed on the lawn.

Move To License Peddlars

At a recent meeting of the Mercantile Section, the question of larger fees for peddlars and hawkers which are infesting the town was discussed at length. The discussion was resumed Thursday evening when Sol Wilson presented a proposed ordinance regulating the practice.

The net result of the opinions expressed revolved about the right the Town of Newark has to levy fees or fines on so-called "interstate traders." At least two such firms, hearing of the rumpus in Newark, have written to the Chamber, enclosing in their letters, excerpts from court decisions which hold that such fees or fines are unlawful. In view of additional opinions from both Charles B. Evans, attorney to Council, and other townsmen, it was felt by the Chamber that the proposed resolution should be investigated thoroughly before enforcement. It was, however, referred to Council for their consideration.

The one definite move made in the peddler discussion, however, was the carrying of a motion to raise the existing license fees for residents of the State who peddle their wares in town. The fee at present is $2.00 per day. The motion was heartily supported by everyone present, and the suggestion made that Council take action on it together with a suggestion that Town Officer Lewis be informed that one of his duties shall be the apprehending of peddlars not showing a proper Newark license.

These two motions completed the action of the Chamber on this issue. The matter of recommending that the town provide a public dump for refuse from households was discussed at length, but no action was taken at the meeting.

Quartet Pleases Diners

The Presbyterian Church male quartet, consisting of Messrs. Kennedy and Meyers, tenors, and Messrs. Cobb and Barnes, basses, formed the basis of the evening's entertainment. The quartet not only sang some old favorites in splendid style, but sprang three clever parodies on Daylight Saving; Mayor Frazer and the Assessment issue. The parodies were written to the tune of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More."

After a few slow starts, the gathering of staid business men warmed up to their chords in great style and before the dinner was over, were singing like school boys on Saturday morning. The Donkey Song appealed particularly to their taste. It was a most unconventional spectacle to see William J. Lovett, Dr. Rhodes, Warren Singles, Rev. Hallman, and their neighbors to right and left thumping their ears in true Donkey fashion. John C. Poole accompanied the singing and played during the dinner.

The dinner, served piping hot by the corps of student waiters, consisted of sirloin roast, peas and new potatoes; then there was grape fruit cocktail to open with; and a salad and meringue glace to top off the menu. Cigars and cigarettes were passed prior to the meeting.

Assessment Report

J. K. Johnston, in his opening remarks, reported that his committee's negotiations with the Assessment Board (as recently published in The Post) had not been altogether completed. He is convinced that the Board is in the wrong with regard to Newark, and assured the members that no effort would be spared to win a victory for local taxpayers.

Providence continued their winning streak Saturday by defeating the Elk Mills Club in a twelve inning contest by the score of 9 to 7. Providence used three pitchers in turning back the home club. Loose fielding got Workman in hot water at the start and Elk Mills scored five of their seven runs in the first two innings. Arrants, who pitched the last seven innings for the visitors was very effective, allowing but three scattered hits. Green and Workman starred at the bat for Providence while the pitching of T. Spirited Fight Seen In Elkton Election

Five Candidates In Field For Two Vacancies In Town Council; Election Next Monday May See Big Vote

With five candidates definitely in the running for two vacancies on Town Council, the annual local elections to be held in Elkton next Monday are of unusual interest to the townpeople.

Taylor W. McKenney and John F. Sparklin, of Council, whose terms expire this week, are both in the fight for re-election. The latter a few weeks ago, decided against a candidacy, but the pressure of his political friends caused him to allow his name to go before the voters again.

It has been pointed out that both McKenney and Sparklin being veteran members of the organization are familiar with conditions and are anxious to see the era of street and property improvement which they have been working for, go on to completion.

The other wing of candidates comprise Clarence Perkins, Dr. W. D. Cawley and William Crawford, all three well-known Elktonians.

Prospects of a heavy poll of votes at the election Monday has been evidenced by the interest noted this week. Each candidate is strongly supported by an active constituency. The two men polling the highest number of votes will be named for seats in Council. Active campaigning has already begun and will continue up to and including the day of voting.

MEMORIAL LIBRARY FACTS

The building alone cost about $210,000. The building with equipment will cost complete about $300,000. The fund for book purchase to augment the library is $20,000. The Reading Room when filled will hold about 5,000 volumes. (Now about 2500). The stacks when completed will accommodate about 125,000 books. At present the stacks hold about 50,000 books. We have now on our shelves slightly more than 30,000 accessioned books. We have in addition about 20,000 government publications, books and pamphlets. Some of these had been for a long time in storage and are not arranged. About 50 books a day circulate (outside the building). No record of use in the building. About 150 periodicals are subscribed to. The Library has 871 borrowers. Average daily circulation is 50.

A UNIVERSITY?

Not a little comment has been caused by the actions of the Freshman Class at Delaware College one night recently when they celebrated the throwing off of the Sophomore yoke by burning their green baskets on the lawn of Women's College, between Sussex Hall and the Science building—incidentally, burning off twenty square yards of the finest turf on the campus. With something like fifty acres of Delaware College ground upon which to stage their party, it is peculiarly fitting that the Freshmen had to pick out this twenty yards of Women's College grass. There used to be traditions at Delaware. One of them concerned the burning of Freshman baskets on the open ground above the Women's College. Freshmen, we all agree, are to be excused from traditions. In fact, they may be excused from a lot of things simply because they are Freshmen. With cherubic innocence, they thought it was all right. We cannot bristle and assume the freezing stare of the pedagogue in this matter. Rather, we feel a bit sad. The action the other night smacks neither of flesh, fish nor good red herring. It was simply one of the "little things," so-called, which stand between a second rate college and a University. If the real tone of the Freshman class is thus displayed; if the wisdom of older men in the college who knew of the proposed bonfire is so cramped; in short, if this type of sportsmanship envelopes the men of the upper campus, the term "University," proudly intoned in somebody else's parlor, is a mockery. It just doesn't fit.

Invited to attend the exercises. Special invitations have been sent to every contributor to the building fund whose address could be secured. The address list of Gold Star Mothers obtained from the War Department was found to be so incomplete and incorrect that it is feared that many will not receive invitations and the Committee on Arrangement desires to have it known that it particularly desires that every Gold Star Mother in the State shall attend the dedication.

By special order of the War Department, the First Engineers' Band from Fort du Pont will provide the music. The singing of the Star Spangled Banner at the opening of the program at the Library will be led by a chorus of one hundred male voices from the service clubs and musical organizations of the State, led by William P. White, of Wilmington. The keys of the building will be formally presented to the President of the Board of Trustees, Mr. Henry B. Thompson, by Dr. Joseph H. Odell, Director of the Service Citizens of Delaware. The Service Citizens, through their Engineering Department, erected the building without cost for contractors' bond, fees, or profits, effecting a saving of perhaps $20,000 and assuring the State the minutest care in the supervision of materials and construction.

The concluding feature of the program will be the presentation of the Memorial Book by Everett C. Johnson, Chairman of the Library Memorial Committee, to the Governor of the State of Delaware, who will accept the Book on behalf of the American Legion of Delaware to its place in Memorial Hall. They, accompanied by a Color Guard, after placing the Memorial Book, will return to the portico of the Library. The audience will then be requested to rise and stand at attention while the Bugle Corps blows the call "To the Color."

ANNOUNCING BIG AUCTION

Another large auction sale of building lots and small farm plots will be held at "Delaplaine Manor," formerly the Vought farm a mile east of Newark on the Lincoln Highway on Saturday, May 30th, it was announced early this week. Further announcement will be found in The Post this week.

The Delaplaine Development Company, of which George L. Medill, of Newark, is president, is conducting the sales through Joseph W. Hamilton, a Wilmington auctioneer. The farm has been split up into about 200 choice building lots, several small farm plots and includes thereon a 100-acre farm and mansion house. Nearness to Newark, the splendid location and convenient bus service are expected to result in a spirited sale on the above date.

OVER 100 ENTRIES MADE BY NEWARK IN BIG TRACK MEET

Newark Public Schools, including all grades, have entered well over one hundred boys and girls in the fifth annual New Castle County Field and Track meet at Elsmere on Friday of this week.

Pupils of the local schools have been training earnestly for the Big Day and are ready to wage bitter battle with du Pont High School, their ancient rivals in this competition. Miss Antoinette B. Eggen, girls athletic director here, has a number of promising entrants in the girls track events and a strong dodge ball team in several classes. Horace A. Nunn, boys' coach, will have a fast relay team, and the strongest possible list of track entries under the weight divisions.

The pupils, their teachers and parents will spend the day at Elsmere on Friday. Weighing in the contestants begins at nine o'clock. From then until nearly sundown, there will always be something doing. Thousands of children from every school in the rural sections of the county are expected.

Superintendent J. H. Owens, Miss Eggen, and Mr. Nunn, from the High School, R. W. Heim, vocational director for the state; and Kenneth Crothers, a Senior at Delaware are the Newark people acting as officials in the big meet.

RODNEY SHARP GUEST OF NEW CENTURY CLUB

The New Century Club will hold the last formal meeting of the Club year on Monday, May 25th. The chairmen of all the standing committees will please bring their reports of the year's work in writing and present them at this meeting.

The Club will convene at 2.30 advanced time.

Dean Robinson entertained the Club at the Women's College on May 11th. She invited Mr. Rodney Sharp to tell us about his recent trip to New Zealand.

Mr. Sharp told in the most delightfully informal way of his experiences in this far off land. He did not recommend New Zealand as an ideal country for tourists. Judging from his description, a journey over the main railroad of the Islands recalls experiences on the "roller coaster." As to auto travel, the roads are very poor, the curves very sharp, the altitudes very great. This mode of travel must be full of "thrills."

A pleasant social hour with refreshments followed Mr. Sharp's talk.

HOCKESSIN FARMS VISITED BY GROUP OF AG STUDENTS

The class in farm management at the University of Delaware took one of its scheduled inspection trips through northern New Castle County yesterday. The trip was under the direction of Prof. George L. Schuster and Mr. R. O. Bausman, of the University. Each year the class is required to take a certain number of these trips, studying the systems of farm management that have proven successful on practical farms. The farms of J. Howard Mitchell and Sons of Hockessin, Edward Pierson and Son of Hockessin, and John C. Mitchell of Hockessin were visited during the trip on Tuesday.

The farm of Mr. John C. Mitchell was an outstanding example of a system of farm management in which the cost of producing milk is materially reduced through the growing of alfalfa hay. The large tonnage of alfalfa hay grown by Mr. Mitchell enabled him to maintain a high average milk production with the purchase of a

Washington Worrys Over Australian Cruise

From Brooklyn "Daily Eagle"

"Except for a handful of jingoes, official Washington privately believes that this long cruise of the American fleet to the Antipodes is fraught with dangerous possibilities. The President himself is concerned over the battle voyage to these British colonies following the naval war games at Hawaii.

"It is gathered at the White House that he wishes the fleet's schedule could be cancelled in some way. But the die is cast and there seems to be no way in which the cruise can be curtailed without loss of American prestige or offense to Australia.

"This cruise of the American fleet to the Antipodes was originally planned two years ago, when Japanese-American relations were better than they are today. No immigration exclusion then darkened the diplomatic sky. The Administration committed itself to the naval undertaking. Even the Japanese Government now appears to understand that there can be no turning back at this late date. If the cruise were to be suddenly called off by the White House, as the President has been vigorously urged to do, Australia would be angered, because in the visit of the American fleet this British dominion sees an informal white Pacific alliance against encroachments by Japan.

Coolidge Anxious to End Tension
"But President Coolidge, it is learned at the White House, is desirous of easing the tension in Japanese-American relations occasioned by this naval gesture in the far Pacific. Just how he will do it remains to be seen. Several possibilities have small amount of dairy feed. Mr. Mitchell also had a comparatively large acreage of potatoes which materially increased his farm receipts. The growing of potatoes demonstrated to the students the importance of supplementing the receipts from the dairy herd with a high acre value cash crop.

The students were interested in the farm of Edwin Pierson and Son. Mr. Pierson operates a small farm of 40 acres, but carries on an intensive type of farming. Mr. Pierson's major farm receipts are potatoes and truck crops.

The farm of J. Howard Mitchell & Sons demonstrated to the students a system of farm management in which pure bred livestock is one of the principal sources of income. Mr. Mitchell has one of the best herds of pure bred Jersey cattle and of Berkshire hogs in the county. Mr. Mitchell told the students how his farm receipts had been improved through the breeding of pure bred cattle and hogs.

Comments On The Times

Brief Summaries Of National And Foreign Events Of The Past Week Prepared By Newark High School Pupils

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

Italy

The Italian women have been given the right of suffrage by Premier Mussolini, and at the same time they are made subject to service in time of war. The women will be glad to pay. Record during the war demonstrated that they are capable of fulfilling the most arduous duties from hospital work to actual fighting. The Italian premier has drawn his pessimism from America's experience. The women vote about as their men folk do. They show the same tendencies—to quarrel, to fight, and to delude themselves on public issues.

Japan

Japan's largest submarine, capable of cruising across the Pacific, and return without difficulty, has been completed, and will be delivered officially to Naval authorities late in May. It has been named No. 53 and displaces 1700 tons.

Spain

Alfonso takes the reins again. Public order and personal safety are restored and constitutional guarantees re-established. Legal matters, which have been decided by court martial, return to the ordinary courts of law. The old political grafters of Spain were turned out by Military Dictatorship.

Russia

Trotsky has returned to Moscow as the leader of the "opposition." As yet, however, it is impossible to ascertain his purpose or the strength of his party. The Russian Soviet government which carried on as a state owned industrial system, has failed so definitely that proposals have been advanced to allow private factories and private employment on a large scale. Peasants have been allowed longer leases of their land, which might easily end in the restoration of private ownership, and in general have been given a fuller share in the government.

CALYSTA FOOTE.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

New Immigration

Even with the great amount of "bootleg" immigration coming in, there is no doubt but that the new quota on the admission of aliens to this country has greatly reduced the flow of immigration. The law allows from each country two per cent of its nationals who were residing in this country in 1890.

Famous Lawyers Offer Aid

Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, and Dudley Field Malone, of New York, national known trial lawyers, recently offered their counsel, free of charge, to Professor J. T. Scopes. Scopes is charged with having broken a recently enacted law of Tennessee, which forbids the teaching of the theories of evolution in any of the schools. Darrow likened William Jennings Bryan, who is to aid the prosecution, to Nero. Nero tried to kill Christianity with slaughter and law, while Bryan is attempting to block education with law. From the looks of things, William Jennings Bryan has found a monkey on his family tree, and if the Darwin theory of evolution is true that monkey is some kin to William Jennings. Still there is no reason why freedom of teaching and learning should be hindered because of a scandal in the Bryan family.

War Debts Called In

The Government recently warned France and eight other countries that it is time to refund the war indebtedness to the United States. The principal and interest owed by these nine countries is something over seven billion dollars.

Freedom of Philippines

Former Judge Haussermann spoke against the independence of the Philippines. Among other things he said that since 1898 there has been constant efforts to free the islands. He also stated that it is propaganda, pure and simple.

WM. HAYES, JR.

Caillaux

Joseph Caillaux is repeating history in the political life of France. Caillaux, his father, and his great-grandfather, all had to combat hostile public opinion. All three refused to be condemned and carried on strenuous struggles, which finally gained for them the respect of their opponents. When the present Joseph returned from exile to take in hand the economic future of France, he not only won his own fight but scored another marked victory for the Caillaux family.

Joseph Caillaux was, as a child, very bright. His thirst for knowledge, his delight in intricate problems, his systematic and thorough craftsmanship are still spoken of at Lycee Condorcet in Paris. Finance held a fascination for him and at the age of twenty-seven he had entered on a political career and was Inspector of Finance in the Algiers. Like his father, he played a wary political game. His motto was "no reaction and no revolution." He played different parts in politics for years then stopped, only to enter the political arena again in 1906 as Minister of Finance, in the cabinet of Clemenceau, the old enemy of his father and himself. The following year he forced the income tax on the moneyed classes, a measure which caused the downfall of the Clemenceau Ministry. The life of Caillaux from that time—the brief premiership in 1911, Mme. Caillaux's shooting of the editor of the Figaro in 1914, the sensational trial, his acquittal, Caillaux's activities during the war, his arrest by Clemenceau and his sentence to imprisonment and exile for Pro-German sympathies have now had attention redirected to them.

Today, Caillaux, Minister of Finance, once more faces his enemies confidently and defiantly, and the problems of finance calmly and straightforwardly. Caillaux's plan for straightening financial difficulties is being met with considerable interest. Various expenses which heretofore have not been incorporated in the budget will now be listed in it. This means 3 billion francs supplementary receipts from taxpayers, half of which Caillaux intends to get by indirect taxation and (Continued on Page 10.)

"The Good Ole Days"

An interesting report, just completed by the Department of Agriculture, reveals the fact that in 1860 it was possible to purchase four eggs for a penny. At the same time corn was sold in the State of Minnesota for 30c a bushel, and wheat for 75c; while in 1846, in Illinois, beef sold at 2½c a pound and stovewood brought $1.00 a cord, while in 1834, in Morgan County, Illinois, cows sold for from $10 to $20 apiece, and live hogs could be purchased at 2c a pound.

Delaware Wheat Farmers Organize To Market Grain

Meetings Throughout County To Be Held In Interests of Cooperative Shipping Methods

The farm organizations of Delaware such as the Grange and the Farm Bureau are interested in the Grain Marketing Company to the extent that they are asking all farmers to there the story relative to marketing Delaware's grain in a way that will mean thousands of dollars more to the wheat producers.

Mr. Rensberg, who is in this county now in the interest of the organization, said yesterday: "The Grain Marketing Company is a farmer-owned and farmer controlled cooperative organization, organized under the co-operative marketing act of Illinois of 1923 and capitalized at twenty-six million dollars. The farmers in forming this co-operative took over the physical properties and business brains of four individual marketing concerns previously known as the Armour Grain Company, the Rosenbaum Grain Corporation, the Rosenbaum Brothers and the Davis-Noland-Merrill Grain Company of Chicago.

These physical properties comprise forty-eight percent of all the terminal elevator space of the United States and have a storage capacity of nearly fifty million bushels. Being a non-profit organization operating entirely for the benefit of the producers, lessening the mechanical cost of merchandising grain and other economics brought about in such a large measure, there will be a patronage dividend paid to each member on the basis of patronage to the extent of the net earnings of the company, aside from giving to the producer the cash grain prices for the various grades quoted from day to day.

For the farmers of Delaware the Grain Marketing Company will receive their grain at the Philadelphia Terminal where it will be conditioned, graded and sold for the farmer. According to the survey made by the Extension Division of the University of Delaware the grade of wheat can be improved by the above mentioned process to the extent of two grades, which means on the average of 5 to 7 cents more per bushel and on the amount marketed yearly a net increase to the farmers of Delaware would consequently be fifty to seventy thousand dollars. Aside from this the Grain Marketing Company is in a position to give as high a quotation on the average as any other terminal operating old-line company.

Unfortunately in Delaware there is not a country elevator and cars must be loaded by hand, consequently we are using the crudest and most primitive methods locally due to the lack of marketing facilities. All of this can be changed by co-operative effort on the part of our farmers at our various local points.

For the benefit of farmers living in New Castle County, the following

FORM A TENTATIVE CANNERY ASSOCIATION

Representatives from Various Packing Firms on Peninsula Interested In Meeting Last Week

Seven co-operative tomato packing concerns in Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland, representing 3,000 acres and upwards of 500 farmers which average in normal seasons a pack of more than one hundred million cans of tomatoes, met at the Hotel Du Pont, Wilmington, Friday last and effected a tentative organization and named committees to conduct investigations concerning grading, packing and marketing of tomatoes which will be reported back at subsequent meetings.

The meeting was the culmination of attempts made in the past six months to assemble the co-operative canneries, which pack tomatoes and market them on a fifty-fifty basis between canner and grower. Eventually it is predicted that all tomato packing and marketing will be done along this method, because it not only assures each farmer of an equitable price but the highest price obtainable at the lowest cost involving the canning and sale of the product.

Charles A. Gelder, of Princess Anne, Md., of the Tri-State Tomato Growers' Association, the chairman of the present Federation of Tomato Canners presided at the meeting which was held in the clubroom of the hotel. There were present representatives of the West Dover Farmers' Packing Company, Farmers' Packing Company of Wyoming; Kenton Tomato Growers' Association, Farlee Canning Company of Chestertown, Md.; Denton Canning Crops Co-operative Association of Denton, Md.; Rock Hall Co-operative Packers' Association of Rock Hall, Md., and United Packing Company of Newark. In addition there were W. T. Derriksen, chief of the Bureau of Markets of Dover, F. B. Bamberger, marketing expert of College Park, Md.

Constitution Lectures Now In Book Form

Talks By Prominent Delawareans Given At University During 1923-24

A series of five lectures on Government delivered at the University of Delaware by prominent Delawareans during the years 1923 and 1924 have just been published. The lectures were arranged by the department of History and Political Science with the co-operation of Judge Hugh M. Morris, and their publication was made possible by Mr. Everett C. Johnson of Kells.

Following an introduction by Professor George H. Ryden, editor of the volume, the lectures appear as follows: "America's Safeguard of Liberty" by Judge Hugh M. Morris;

"American Constitutional Government," by ex-Senator Willard Saulsbury; "Growth of the Federal Constitution by Judicial Interpretation," by Mr. Robert H. Richards; "Present-Day Problems and the Constitution," by Mr. Henry Ridgely, and "Right of Petition," by Mr. John P. Nields. All the lectures strike a conservative note, emphasizing, to quote Dr. Ryden in his introduction, "the need of maintaining unimpaired the fundamental principles of the American governmental system as laid down by the framers of the Constitution."

Make Big Drive For Legion In State On Week Of May 25-30

"Next week every person in Delaware will have the opportunity to show his gratitude to the boys who gave so much and to the children of those who gave the mortal limit."

This was the declaration of Josiah Marvel, of Wilmington, chairman of the Delaware committee for the American Legion's national $5,000,000 endowment fund for disabled veterans and war orphans, in announcing an intensive campaign to complete the State's quota the week of May 25 to 30.

Under the direction of Chairman Marvel's committee, which includes a number of the State's most prominent citizens, local endowment fund committees have been organized in every community where there is a Legion post. These committees are on edge to go "over the top" and begin the active work of the drive. Leading citizens outside of Legion ranks are serving on them along with Legionaries and Legion Auxiliary members. Chairman Marvel expressed confidence that the state would contribute its full share of the endowment fund before the end of the week's campaign. He said:

"The endowment fund is a project in which every person in Delaware should feel it a duty and a privilege to have a part. I am sure Delaware will respond to this appeal in the fashion characteristic of her in all great patriotic undertakings."

The American Legion men of the State are behind the endowment campaign in a body and are receiving the whole-hearted support of their communities, according to J. Alexander Crothers, commander of the department of Delaware.

"I am sure the people of Delaware believe that the men who sacrificed their health and the children who gave their fathers that the nation might survive are entitled to everything we can do for them," he said. "I know Delaware will be behind the Legion to the limit in the campaign next week."

CLEAN DAIRY DRIVE TO BEGIN SHORTLY

Second Tour of State Under Way By R. C. Beckett; Will Fix Standard of Dairymen

A most virgorous campaign to save the babies of Delaware through seeing they have clean pure fresh uncontaminated milk, free from typhoid fever and tuberculosis germs is being planned by the State Board of Health. The campaign will reach its climax on July 1, when dairymen of the state who have failed to clean up their dairies and taken other precautions and common sense methods to keep the milk they sell clean and pure will be refused licenses to sell milk. Fortunately the number of those who are apt to fail in their responsibility to the public are few, according to R. C. Beckett, state sanitary engineer. For more than a year, efforts have been made to clean up dairies. Last spring Mr. Beckett made a tour of the state and later presented each dairyman who fell below the standards a copy of his report. Again twice during the winter he made a subsequent inspection and again this spring he has visited the dairies and examined conditions. On the results of the last trip and comparing with the first two inspections the standing of the dairymen is being fixed.

DOVER PROBABLE SITE FOR SHIRT FACTORY

Dover may have a new industry within a few weeks. If the interested company should succeed in finding a suitable location it would mean that thousands of dollars will be added to the city's annual income.

Charles L. Hardesty, president of the Dover Chamber of Commerce, announced last week that a New York shirt manufacturing company, the name of which is withheld for the present, has suggested that it would set up its factory here provided an attractive arrangement could be made. Representatives of the company have asked that the old school building on New street, abandoned with the completion of the present schoolhouse, be leased rent-free to the company for one year with an option to buy the building and grounds at the expiration of that period.

CAMDEN MAN 60 YEARS IN ODD FELLOWS LODGE

Thomas Irons, of Camden, having recently rounded out sixty years as an Odd Fellow, during which long time he has never had to receive sick benefits, will this evening, in memory of those sixty years, give a little social spread to the members of Amity Lodge, No. 20, of Camden, into which lodge he was initiated in 1865.

Mr. Irons will, on this occasion, be glad to meet and greet any other brother, from any where, who has been sixty years an Odd Fellow.

Mr. Irons has recently issued a book of which he is the author, entitled "A Brief Story of Early Odd Fellowship." The book is a vivid and most interesting story of the origin and early development of Odd Fellowship.

Mr. Irons is an able writer, many great works having come from his pen, one of which is the book entitled "The Blue Hen's Chickens and Other Poems," which has received commendation from both press and public.

MILFORD SHIPYARD IS FINISHING RUM CHASERS

The Vinyard Shipbuilding Company, whose yards are located in South Milford, are putting the finishing touches on the last two rum chasers which they are building for the government. One of the boats has been given its trial trips this week and has come up to the government requirements. It has been newly painted and the crew has been in Milford several days waiting to put it in commission. This boat will leave the builders' yards this week. The remaining boat is rapidly being made ready for its crew. The builders expect to deliver it to the government on or about May 27th.

Who Are The "Worthwhile" People

By acid test of popularity measured in number of copies sold a group of literary experts give to Edna Ferber's "So Big," the honor of the best book of the year. Yet it is a story involving the surroundings of the most sordid and savagely self-sacrificing, to find defeat in the end; the story of the Chicago swamp farms and all their early horrors in the rawest of the raw. Miss Ferber frankly says that she can find no inspiration in the rustle of silk nor in the perfumed elegance from which Robert W. Chambers and his ilk have carved literary fortunes. One tells of nature in the primeval with a touch that can only come from one who has seen and suffered. The other writes only luxurious flights of fancy from which all unpleasantness, not to say truth, has been carefully expunged. The public is not slow to detect the real from the fiction.

This column confesses that it can find nothing particularly thrilling or even interesting in rehashing the early life of self-made men. They are singularly alike and their early careers are being duplicated in hundreds of thousands today, the greater part of course, never rising above that chronic struggle. It goes without saying that they were men of superior talent, tenacity—call it what you will—to pull themselves out of that groove and when that is said all is said. There is little interest in going into all the minute details of childhood and early youth. We may, and probably have the type in our "Main Street," but to the mind of this column, a man's "worthwhile" career does not begin until he is old enough and wise enough to attain some signal and far reaching success that counts large in the general welfare.

There is a frightful lot of sentimental slop that is covered under the head of "Society." This is mostly written by women who have an inclination to become more or less maudlin, if not incoherent at times. There is no fixed standard of "Society" in America nor can there be. Our great fortunes have a disturbing habit of disappearing. Our democratic institutions forbid an "official" aristocracy and with no law of entail, there is nothing on which to lay a permanent foundation. All our cities and larger communities have their circles of social elect and guard them jealously so far as possible on a basis of inherited wealth and tradition, but an attempt to set one of these aside as supreme dictators, is pure folly.—Vineland, N. J., Republican.

Weddings

McDowell-Claringbold

Miss Rae T. McDowell, daughter of C. L. McDowell, of 1402 West Seventh street, Wilmington, and T. Cuthbert Claringbold, of Roseville, near Newark, were married Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Dr. A. W. Sonne, D. D., of West Presbyterian Church. Miss Ethel A. Grier was the only attendant. The bride wore white and carried orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss Grier wore a lovely afternoon frock with large picture hat, and carried Ward roses and lilies of the valley. Bayard S. Lindell, of Newark, was best man.

Owing to the recent death of the bride's mother, the wedding was quiet. The wedding comes as a surprise to their many friends in Wilmington and Newark. Following the ceremony the young couple left for Atlantic City where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mrs. Claringbold last summer conducted the Old Mill Antique Shop along the Lincoln Highway at Roseville and is known to many Newark people. The groom is widely known among the younger men of the community.

COOCH'S BRIDGE D. A. R. IN REGULAR MEETING

Mrs. Ernest Frazer Re-elected Regent of Local Chapter

A very interesting meeting of the Cooch's Bridge Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the home of Mrs. A. L. Beals on Saturday, May 16th. The annual reports made by the various officers showed the chapter to be in a flourishing condition both financially and otherwise. The Registrar reported twelve new members having been taken into the chapter during the year.

The Chapter Regent, Mrs. Frazer, gave a very entertaining account of the meetings of the "Continental Congress" of the D. A. R. held last month in Washington, D. C. Members of the local chapter attending the Congress were Mrs. J. P. Cann, Mrs. Ernest Frazer, Miss E. E. Todd and Mrs. Albert W. Forman of Washington.

The following officers were elected for the next two years:

Regent, Mrs. Ernest Frazer; Vice-Regent, Miss E. E. Todd; Secretary, Mrs. W. Frank Wilson; Treasurer, Miss H. E. Todd; Registrar, Miss Alrichs; Historian, Mrs. Walter Blackwell; Chaplain, Mrs. H. D. Southard.

At the conclusion of the business meeting a delightful tea was given by the hostess to the members of the Chapter.

About seventy-five people of Newark and immediate vicinity attended a card party at the Thea Chi fraternity house last Friday evening.

The affair was given in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Finley M. K. Foster, who leave in the Fall for Madison, Wisconsin. He is a member of the Theta Chi fraternity and very popular with the boys at the house. The chapter house was tastefully decorated for the occasion and late in the evening delicious refreshments were served the guests.

College May Day festivities on the lawn of Red Men's home Saturday afternoon last.

Perfect weather greeted the visitors, among whom were over a hundred Sons of Delaware on their annual outing to Newark. The seats on the Red Men's lawn were filled long before the exercises started, and hundreds stood during the program.

The girls under the direction of Miss Prugger, provided several novel features for the entertainment of the guests. Mother Goose Nursery Rhymes, with the actresses appearing in all the well-known costumes beloved to children, danced, pantomimed and sang their way through a delightful series of sketches.

The program started with a professional, after which came the various rhymes. After the exercises two plays were presented in Wolf Hall by the Home Economic Students. The first was "Madame's Personality Shape," in which there was a fashion show, and the other, "Among Us," given by the Junior Nutrition students. These plays were written by the students, and were presented under the direction of Miss Kelly.

YOUNGER GENERATION FINDS NEW DEFENDER

Mrs. John D. Sherman Says Short-Comings of Youngsters are Traced to Home

Does Uncle Sam need a wife? "He certainly needs a home-maker," according to Mrs. John D. Sherman, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs.

"Not only do we need better homes, but there is a crying need for more homes," says Mrs. Sherman in an article on "Home in America," appearing in the May number of the National Republic.

"We hear a great deal of criticism these days," continues Mrs. Sherman, "of the younger generation. With all the charges that are brought against the young people of the country, it seems strange that we so seldom pause to sum up the offenses of the older generation. As a matter of fact, if one generation is at fault, so, inevitably, is the other. If there is in many instances, a regrettable laxity of attitude on the part of the young people of the nation, if there are forces which seem to menace the physical and mental well being of the younger generation, where does the fault lie? Where can it lie except in the American home? Homes should offer a stronghold against all evil for those who live in them. They are the true defenses of the young of the country. If our defenses are weak, we must not expect our youth to be strong."

A brilliant ninth inning rally which they nosed out a hard-earned victory placed Continental at the top of the Fibre League heap on Saturday last.

Pitted against the strong National Fibre club in their home ballpark at Yorklyn, Manager Edmanson's team had a hard battle on their hands to win the third straight league game. Nip and tuck all the way, fielding good, pitching even better on both sides.

Going into the ninth, Continental was facing defeat by one big lone-ome run. Chalmers first up, worked a single for a pass. Fulton ran for Chalmers. Jackson fled to Watson for the first out. Jim Keeley then whaled a fast ball for an earnest two-bagger. Fulton played safe and scrambled back to third. Colmery fanned for the second out and things looked exceedingly dark from a local standpoint. But the Big Break came suddenly. Earl Dawson slapped a hot one down to Lamborn, who fumbled and recovered too late to nab Dawson at rst. Fulton scored on the play. To cap the climax Lamborn mopped up another hot shot from Harrigan's bat, and the winning run came in.

DELAWARE WALLOPS ST. JOHN'S RIVALS, 7-3

Big Crowd Sees Victory On Frazer Field Saturday; Visiting Player Badly Hurt

In a long, slow game, witnessed by the largest crowd of the season, Delaware's baseball aggregation threw a jolt into the St. John's College nine, 7-3, when the Blue and Gold batters bunched their hits at opportune times during the afternoon.

While outhit 9-8 McAvoy's men managed to wade into Roseberry at his weakest moment in the third inning, and stepped into a three-run lead. Efforts of the visitors to get back lost ground proved futile, as Pryor kept the hits well scattered.

Brenna, visiting third baseman, sprained his knee early in the game and was carried from the field. The injury necessitated several changes in the St. John's lineup, and the team seemed to lose their vim.

St. John's scored one in the fourth on hits by Wolfinger and Lutz and Holmes' sacrifice. The visitors scored again in the sixth as a result of Cherpak's error and errors by Lichtenstein and Prettyman gave them their final run in the ninth. The score:

Yorklyn was impotent thereafter.

"Lefty" Hurls Good Ball

Little "Lefty" Smith and Earl Ramsey shared the twirling burden between them during the afternoon. Although the only alien run came with Lefty in the box, he pitched splendid ball. Only one solid blow was struck against him in five innings. Two bases on balls and a single did the damage in the fifth. Ramsey took up the burden in the sixth and held the Yorklyn batters safe. Between them, the Newark hurlers turned back 12 batters on strikeouts. From the standpoint of pitching, the game was a gem. Bengie and Marsey, the latter at former local star, formed a keen battery and held Newark's sluggers to four measly hits.

Jim Keely wielded the Big Stick for Newark during the fracas while Creedon and Quinn were the gunners for Yorklyn. Paul Lovett and Lee, two usual heavy hitters, were off their feed Saturday and failed to connect.

The same teams play next Saturday at Continental field here, the game starting at 3 p. m. daylight saving time. With their favorites in the lead, Newark rooters will likely be out in force to make it the fourth straight win.

Orgy of Bunts In 9th Cracks Elkton Machine

Elk Mills Rivals Pile Up Seven Runs in One Weird Inning Saturday; Open New Ball Park With Parade

NEWARK HURLER WITH ELKTON

A swirling, squirming barrage of bunts ruined a perfectly lovely day for Elkton fans Saturday afternoon.

Elk Mills, bitter rivals for a couple of generations back in everything from quilts to baseball, cut loose with their backs to the wall in the ninth and before the dust had settled and the spectators regained their seats, seven juicy runs had scampered over the plate. One ball was hit out of the infield during the orgy.

Rarely in the memory of the oldest fan present has such a weird inning been played in the county seat.

Elkton, with Bobby Watkins hurling airtight ball, walked into the lead with two runs in the second. Inning after inning went by with the Millers as helpless as kittens on flypaper. The big crowd hung on every pitch, for with the two teams battling as only such rivals can battle, anything might happen.

The Bitter Ninth

Came the ninth—and it happened. The first man to face Watkins drew a pass, the second hit safely and the third got hit. The crowd sat up very straight and looked very worried; that is, Elkton fans looked worried.

Then came the hail of bunts. With the squeeze play on all the time, every bunt that trickled from the plate scored a run from third. In an instant the Elkton infield went up like a balloon. Watkins threw them high, wide and handsome at Cleaver Potts, his battery mate, and Cleaver got tangled up with Elk Mills runners at home. The Elktonians lost their own ball game. A squeeze play, properly executed by runner and batsman, can be stopped in only one way. That is to "brush off" the batter, in other words, throw the ball at his head to make him back away from the plate and thus miss his bunt.

In the pandemonium created by the wild inning, the home team seemed to lose all their pristine steadiness. On the other hand, Elk Mills reserves rushed up and down the baselines like Comanches. The stand was a bedlam of noise.

Thus seven big runs came in before the last man had been retired. A lead of five runs to make up in their last turn at bat is a big job for any team, and certainly too big for a team which goes through the harrowing experience Elkton suffered. There ended the ball game, and a Roman holiday for Elk Mills.

Veteran Hurls Cleverly

"Ole Man" Finn, erstwhile right fielder for Elkton, was throwing them in for Elk Mills all afternoon. By virtue of his age, and unimpeachable character, he was allowed to use his spitball. He used it with rare effect and let the hard-hitting, Elkton bunch down with eight hits. However, the county seaters toyed with the Millers all afternoon. They ran wild on the bases and scampered about with supreme confidence. Elk Mills kept pecking away at Watkins but with very little effect. The Newark boy pitched a splendid game and won a great deal of praise from Elkton fans.

To be brief, it was a great game while it lasted; it lasted, however, entirely too long for the Elkton rooters.

Open New Field

And by all means we mustn't forget the big league dedication program which preceded the game. Led by Sterling Dunbar's melodious band, a group of high officials of the league, ball players, and town officials paraded around town before the game. President Johnson made a speech. Then came more music by the band, and the two rivals locked horns. The rest is history.

RIISING SUN LOSES

Rising Sun lost a close one to Bel Air Saturday when McNutt threw the ball past so many of the Sunners

HAVRE DE GRACE WINS

Three big tallies in the seventh carried Havre de Grace to victory over their particular rivals, Perryville, Saturday last. It was a free hitting game with both Budwick and Mthers throwing them in and dodging later. It was nip and tuck for three innings then the Railroaders forged ahead, only to be nosed out in the seventh.

Chemical Conference In Wilmington Discusses Safety Measures On 23rd

Visiting Delegates May Attend Dedication of Library Here Following Saturday Session

The Chemical Safety Conference to be held at the Hotel du Pont, Friday and Saturday, will be the most important activity of the chemical section of the National Safety Council this year and will bring together men eminent in the safety movement, who are particularly interested in the problems involved in chemical manufacture.

Arrangements are now practically completed for the entertainment of the guests and for the working out of the rather comprehensive program which has been outlined. This is the first time the chemical section of the National Safety Council has ever held a meeting apart from the National Safety Conference and it is expected that its action will be the forerunner of a series of important meetings of this kind in the future.

It is realized that the growing chemical business of the country involves problems which demand the most thorough study and it is regarded as particularly fitting that this first meeting is to be held at Wilmington, which is located in a section where there has been a great growth in chemical manufacture.

Every society which has an interest in local affairs will take part in the conference, including the Delaware Section and the South Jersey Section of the American Chemical Society, the Delaware Industrial Accident Board, the Delaware Medical Association, the Du Pont Chemical Engineering Society, the University of Delaware, and the Delaware Safety Council. Other organizations who will be represented consist of the Newark, N. J., Safety Council, the Baltimore Safety Council, and the Philadelphia Safety Council.

O. J. Merrell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Merrell, 54 Delaware Avenue, has just been notified of his promotion to the Senior Degree in the League of Curtis Salesmen—an organization maintained for its more successful boy salesmen by The Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia.

He won this recognition by his record as a local representative for the above named Company and appreciates the support which his customers are giving him.

As a local representative of "this company," O. J. has his own business cards and stationery, and as an additional reward for the success that he has achieved in his work, he will receive a deposit of $5 to his credit in the Farmers' Trust and Savings Bank.

O. J. is proudly wearing his Senior pin and to his friends is showing the certificate of his new rank, bearing the signature of the Sales Manager of the Company and the Secretary of the League. He has already started actively to work for his promotion to the next rank in the organization.

Returns From Trip

H. R. Cole, manager of the United Packing Plant here returned on Friday last from a business trip to Norfolk and nearby points in search of labor for the canning season here.

HARMONY GRANGE

An interesting meeting of the Grange was held on Monday night with a large attendance present.

Mrs. Harrington who was unable to enter with a recent list of candidates, was given the third and fourth degrees. Horace A. Nunn, agricultural instructor of Newark, whose father is master of the Milford Grange, was proposed for Harmony Grange.

Notice was read of the entertainment of Pomona at Stanton about the middle of June. Harmony will be host to the visiting grangers.

Mothers' Night Held

The Mothers' Day program, postponed from the previous meeting night was held during Lecturer's Hour. The program was featured by several good recitations and readings by members. Several selections by a violin and piano combination comprised the music. Following the entertainment cake and lemonade were served.

Next Monday night is scheduled as "Pie Night," and a right royal time is in prospect for Harmony members.

GOLFERS START BATTLES

The first of the 1925 season's matches at the Newark County Club were started off last Saturday when the qualifying round in the Classes of Eight tournament were run off. Ideal weather conditions brought out a host of golfers and the course was crowded. Thirty-five qualified in five flights.

J. P. Armstrong, playing his usual consistent game, carried off the low gross score when he shot a keen 85. Harry G. Lawson, of Wilmington, won the low net prize with a 78. The field which survived Saturday will be cut in two on Saturday next when the second round will be staged.

the other half by increasing certain schedules of the income tax.

Caillaux plans to use half of the German reparations to settle obligations and the other half is to go for reconstruction work, and the negotiations will open soon, a report stated. This settlement of obligations would remove a cause of friction between the two republics. The cabinet has approved of Caillaux's policies and agreed to make his financial plans a question of confidence before the Chamber of Deputies.

Paris was much angered by Houghton's speech, and the "Temps" in remarking on it said that a revision of the peace treaty was too high a price to pay for aid. The statement was also made that the refusal of the U. S. to ratify the Versailles treaty gave rise to the present state of European confusion, by the encouragement the refusal gave Germany.

The trouble in Morocco is showing that the Rifian troops have been rather well trained and are fighting the French with modern war tactics. Many have died in the skirmishes but the French troops expect to settle things soon. The Rif troops have had Paris rather worried but things are now said to be progressing satisfactorily, though it will take several months to defeat the Clansmen, and Lyautey will need 100,000 men. The decisive battle will probably take place along the 100 mile front in French Morocco within the next few days.
