Vitamin B-12 Seen Cheaper Next Year

Delaware farmers, and farmers all over the United States, will probably find Vitamin B-12 cheaper in another year or so, according to the Animal and Poultry Industry Department at the University of Delaware.

The vitamin is important in livestock raising, particularly as a feed supplement for young chickens and pigs. B-12 makes them grow to market weight faster, with less feed.

Until recently, the vitamin has been supplied by feeding meat and fish meals. Now U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists have discovered organisms which produce the vitamin by fermenting the material in which they grow.

Insects To Launch Annual Attack Soon

Two insect pests on ornamental trees or shrubs are now, or soon will be, active, according to Edward H. Schabinger, County Agricultural Agent. The mimosa webworm is one of these. It will attack young leaves of the mimosa tree causing severe damage if not promptly controlled.

Spray the tree thoroughly with a 1% solution of DDT. To make this spray use 1 ounce or two tablespoonful of 50% wettable DDT in one gallon of water. Another spray made of 5 table-spoons of calcium arsenate in one gallon of water can also be used.

The second pest is the bagworm. This insect attacks evergreens and can kill these ornamentals in one season if not controlled at once. Use the same sprays as recommended for mimosa worm. In all cases, the tree or bush should be thoroughly covered with the spray. One or more sprayings will probably be needed as successive hatching of the worms may take place.

Stevens Urges Two Crop Home Gardens

Don't Waste Space, Farm Aide Says

"Don't let garden space go to waste," says Robert F. Stevens, extension horticulturist at the University of Delaware.

Many early vegetable crops are now maturing, and the ground they were planted on is clear for another crop. Spinach, peas, radishes, lettuce and cabbage has matured, or will soon. There is still plenty of time to plant summer and fall crops. Snap beans, lima beans, carrots, sweet corn, collards, kohlrabi, and many other vegetables can be planted in June.

A small space can be used for growing cole crop plants to be transplanted later. These would be cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, and brussels sprouts. Plant the seed from June 10-June 25. The plants will be big enough to transplant by July 20 to August 10. Then you'll have fresh vegetables during fall and early winter.

Keeping the garden producing as much as it can, all the time, helps to cut down on the amount your family has to freeze, store or can. It also gives you better-tasting fresh vegetables over a longer period, says Stevens. So to really make the garden pay, he suggests "Keep Your Garden Producing."

If you're worried about the army worm in small grains and pasture, ask your county agricultural agent for the latest control information.

The Newark Post

The Newark Post, Newark, Delaware, Thursday, June 7, 1951

FILLIN' IN

Our esteemed legislators on the Town Council, the absolute rulers of Delaware's second largest city, have faced up nobly, it seems to us, to the problems of governing a future boom town.

When Chrysler and DuPont announced their plans for building here, the Councilmen, with remarkable vision and political insight, instantly grasped the fact that the town stood on the threshold of a new era.

We have been fascinated since then watching the change that has come over them. They have learned to talk bigger, think bigger, and use bigger figures. In short, they are well on their way to becoming modern statesmen.

Where two years ago they dealt with decisions involving the purchase of a new street sweeper or the hiring of a new policeman, now they grapple with the problems of town expansion, overhauling the municipal government, and the hiring of two policemen.

The biggest change in the lawmakers is in their language. They had to learn to talk bigger before they could think bigger, and they quickly adopted what might be called a top-level vocabulary, involving terms used only by our foremost global thinkers.

For instance, one Councilman constantly exhorts his colleagues to "spell-out" his proposals. "That needs spelling out," he will say, or sometimes, "It seems to me we need to spell this thing out." He gives the impression he wants the Council to choose up sides and hold a spelling bee with maybe the Mayor awarding prizes. One theory is he has a quail complex because he lost a crucial spelling bee in his grade school days and now wants a chance to clear himself.

Another Councilman is more interested in penmanship. Either he is accusing other people of wanting to "write off" something or he wants to "write it off" himself. During Newark's great border war, when it appeared doubtful whether some of the suburban areas would agree to annexation by the town, this Councilman charged that sinister forces were trying to "write off" Nottingham Manor.

This statement came at a time when sinister forces in Washington were being accused of "writing off" Formosa. There were strong hints of a tie-up between the two write-offs, but nothing was ever proved. In any case, an atmosphere of global intrigue hung heavy for some time over the meetings of the Big Six at 24 Academy Street.

The favorite high level expression of a third Councilman is "stop-gap solution." What we need more of, he feels, are stop-gap solutions. Once during a sharp exchange (argument) at a Council meeting, he pounded the table and called for a stop-gap solution. A colleague, dozing and yawning beside him, snapped awake and gave him an injured look. "I won't stop yapping for you or anyone else," he snorted.

This ability to talk big is merely a reflection of the fact that the Councilmen have learned to think bigger. Their vision has broadened the past year. Like top-level statesmen they have become masters of the quotable equivocation, the pregnant ambiguity.

For instance, when a group of citizens turned up at a recent meeting to request help on a housing project, one Councilman grandly assured them: "If you'll meet us half way, we'll be glad to meet you MORE than half way."

There was a moment's awed silence, while the assembled intellects tried to figure out just how the Council would manage to pull off the involved acrobatics called for in this statement, and then, by tacit consent, the whole subject was dropped, and the Council moved on to more pressing matters.

The final proof that the Council has come of age is the way it now talks figures. It was an historic moment last week, when the Council passed the million mark.

Town Supervisor Francis Niede was giving some estimates on the cost of new sewer and water lines in outlying areas that may be brought into the town. He warned the lawmakers to get a grip on their chairs, then gave his estimate of the total. It came to $6,307,500.

The Councilmen repeated this after him. First in a hushed chorus, then individually rolling each digit on their tongue. They recovered themselves quickly, though, and before the meeting over they were talking non-existent millions like gov't experts. They seemed to relish the fact that only a few zeros, nothing at all really, separated them from the big-time statesmen in Washington.

It is true, of course, that the Council has changed its thinking reluctantly. It prefers the old days, but, like it or not, it is forced to keep in step with these disjointed times. And, all ribbing aside, the Council has faced up stoutly to a difficult situation.

Hock Hurls Newark To Ninth Straight County League Win

Mainstay of Local Pitching Staff Leaps To Play In Pro Loop

In his last appearance with the Newark AA this season, Bob Hoch pitched his club to an 8-4 victory over the Workhouse nine in a game last Thursday night.

Hoch, who left this week to play with Columbus, Ga., in the Sally League, also helped his victory along by getting three hits for three times up to pace the Newark attack.

The victory was Newark's ninth in New Castle County League play and the eleventh triumph of the season.

The team pulled off to a one run lead in the second and was never headed. Their biggest spree came in the fourth, when they pushed across five runs.

The total was bolstered by home runs from the bats of Phil Harrison and Nick Testa.

The Workhouse nine bunched its four runs in the sixth.

Tonight Newark will meet the revamped Newport Vets on the Continental Field at 6:15 p.m.

The Delaware Park stake program for the 1951 meeting will number 14 events, one less than during the past four years. Under the new step-ladder agreement between Belmont Park, Aqueduct and Delaware Park, the Delaware "leg" of the three-year National Maiden Hurdle, has been transferred to Aqueduct. The new setup calls for Delaware to run brush races only from June 18 to the end of its meeting on July 4. During that period, Belmont will conflict four days and Aqueduct 11, with the Delaware meeting, and those two tracks will run hurdle races only.

DELAWARE PARK NEWS

Delaware Park has distributed handy pocket-size pamphlets containing fingertip facts and figures about the Stanton track, past statistics and just about everything press and radio men like to have throughout the race meeting for handy reference.

One of the many turf figures most concerned about the death of Henry W. Collins' fine handicap horse Manyunk was William duPont, Jr., master of Foxcatcher Farms. Mr. duPont, founder of Delaware Park and a member of that track's Executive Committee, bred Manyunk and sold him to the Collins stable several years ago.

Manyunk, a six-year-old gelding by Unbreakable—Golden Manda, scored one of his more recent triumphs last March 17 when he won the $25,000 added St. Patrick's Handicap at Bay Meadows. The veteran suffered a hemorrhage after finishing second in a race recently at Hollywood Park and died the next day.

Walter J. Higgins and Leo O'Grady, president and general manager, respectively, of Olympic Park, Inc., is handling automobile parking at the Delaware Park meeting. Olympic has the parking concessions at all New York tracks, with O'Grady handling the Delaware assignment.

James E. Ryan, who handles the extensive strings of Mrs. Esther duPont Weir and the Rokeby Stable of Richard K. Mellon, has returned to Delaware Park. Ryan was the leading trainer during the 1950 meeting with 13 winners. Mrs. Weir's stable stood second in earnings here last year with $44,950.

Delaware Park in 1950 ranked fifth among the nation's race tracks in the amount of money distributed and the number of races run for fillies and mares. Purses won by the feminine races amounted to $133,000 in 29 races.

NHS Nine Winds Up Season With Record Of 8 Wins 6 Losses

Jackets Down Archmere And Mt. Pleasant In Final Spurt

The Newark High School's 1951 baseball season passed into history last week with the Jackets chalking up a record of eight triumphs in 14 starts.

In a final spurt, Coach Frank Mercer's charge clicked off two victories, the first over Archmere, 11-4 and the second on Friday over Mt. Pleasant, 6-1.

In his only appearance on the mound this season, Bunny Blaney held the Mounties to two hits to pace the Jackets to the final win. Newark produced six hits, scoring a single tally in the first and slipping across three more in the second.

Mt. Pleasant inched over their lone counter in the sixth, as the Jackets came through with single runs in their last two times up.

The Jackets may well better their record next year. The entire team, with the exception of Joe Gregg, first baseman, will be on tap next spring. Most of the players are now sophomores or juniors.

Star Studded Field Is Entered In Delaware Park's Sussex 'Cap'

38 Nominations For Saturday's Mile And Quarter Fixture County Delight, Palestinian, Greek Ship, Cochise Among Starters

A star-studded field looms for Delaware Park's $25,000 added Sussex Handicap to be run Saturday, according to the list of 38 nominations for the mile and a quarter fixture announced today by Racing Secretary J. Gilbert Haus.

For example, the first eight finishers in the nine-horse field that ran in the recent Gallant Fox Handicap at Jamaica are engaged in the Sussex. In the eight, in the order they finished, are Rokeby Stable's County Delight, Isidor Bieber's Palestinian, Brookmeade Stable's Greek Ship, T. G. Bennett's Lotowhite, King Ranch's On The Mark, Gustave Ring's Lon Eagle, Brandywine Stable's Cochise and Harry LaMontagne's Steel Blue.

Other Sussex eligibles include such stalwarts as Mrs. Andy Schuttinger's Ferd, G. D. Widener's Lights Up, P. A. Markey's Piet, Mrs. E. duPont Weir's Royal Governor, A. G. Vanderbilt's Next Move, C. V. Whitney's Mr. Trouble, Mrs. L. Lazare's Sheila's Reward, G. H. Bostwick's Stunts, Brookmeade's Why Not Now, Greentree Stable's One Hitter, Tom Gray's Oil Capitol, Mrs. W. M. Jefford's Adile and Post Card, King Ranch's Renee and numerous other good winners.

County Delight could well be called the most improved horse of the young 1951 season. His Gallant Fox triumph followed closely upon his Dixie Handicap score at Pimlico and the four-year-old son of Count Fleet, no ball of the first year, apparently has "found himself."

Cochise, which represents Delaware Park president Donald P. Ross, tired after setting the Gallant Fox pace to the head of the stretch under 125 pounds, but previously had defeated Ferd, County Delight and other stars in the Grey Lag 'Cap. The galloping grey will be seeking a second straight victory in the Sussex.

The reputations and accomplishments of the other Sussex candidates mentioned above are too well known to need more telling.

YELLOWJACKET HIGHLIGHTS

By the Journalism Class and The Junior Journalists Club At Newark High School

Former Grad writes To "Alma Mater" Frederick Kutz, Principal of Newark High School, recently received a letter from a member of the class of '30 who is now in the armed forces. We are including below portions of the letter:

Dear Mr. Kutz: I have just made application for OCS and in order to take entrance test candidates must have a transcript of high school grades, so, I'm writing to ask for a transcript as soon as possible. I would surely appreciate it. Mr. Kutz, if you could have it in the mail soon, for I believe I'll have to have it in a week.

Well, how is my dear Alma Mater? Do I ever miss N. H. S. I can honestly say I spent the best years of my life there. I keep plugging it everywhere the subject of school is mentioned. By the way, I've had an awful lot of compliments on our class magazine. I'm glad we selected this type. How is N. H. S. these days? I'm wondering just how you propose to meet growing demands for education in Newark. I'm thinking also, that you will have a headache. You have my best wishes.

Well, Mr. Kutz, I must cease here and "fill the sack" for we have to go at 3:30 a.m. Some life this army! Sincerely, Member of Class of '30.

We are so sorry to mention something unpleasant—but we are asking the young boys who left their fingerprints on the window sill of the Wilkinson tenement house when they broke in and stole a lamp, a two-burner hot plate, and a large piggy cookie jar last week, to at least return the cookie jar, for it was a keepsake left to Mrs. Rash by her dead mother-in-law.

The Rashes had the house all cleaned, the curtains and shades up, preparatory to moving in over the weekend. The panes broken by those boys during the short vacancy after the Shets family moved had all been replaced. The State Police take a dim view of this latest episode, according to Mrs. Rash, and the Landenberg Road is going to be under daily surveillance from now on. If you movers ever wonder where your boys got the articles I mentioned, take your course in hand to set your boy straight, so talk to Mrs. Rash, who told me personally that she wouldn't press matters if the property was returned and the boys were made to realize the seriousness of this kind of thing. It's not high spirits, it is crime when carried that far. Mrs. Rash has her hands full taking care of two little sons, five and six, just returned from the Chester County Hospital where they have been under treatment for the past three months with a very serious infection still necessitating their constant care.

Miss Anne Enlicky of Wilmington was a house guest at Loozer's this last weekend. We hear that Miss Enlicky has changed her mind about the necessity of county and state "There's never a dull moment" to which many of a would agree.

We sympathize with two ladies returning quietly home from the movies the other night to find a big trailer truck looming up out of the dark, stuck half one direction, half in another, across a narrow country road. We can only hope the driver, who was lost, stopped off at Bellevue when he finally got to New York, trying to turn that truck around on one of the nar-

Diamond Dust
The Yellowjackets finished their season with an eight and six record, winning their last two games. The local nine downed Mt. Pleasant, 6-1, and subdued Archmere 11-4. Last Monday they dropped a heart-breaker to Brown Vocational to the tune of 2-1. Tom Baker ended up top man on the mound by appearing in every game but one and had a seven and five record. Ronnie Bramble, Joe Thorp, Jim Seydell and Bunny Blaney finished hitting over 300.

Tom Baker's complete record stands, 85 innings pitched, 41 runs given up but only 25 earned. His earned run average is 2.08, given up 19 free passes, fifty-three hits and struck out 83. Bunny Blaney is the only other pitcher that registered a victory; he pitched one game, defeated Mt. Pleasant on a two hitter.

Joe Thorp, one of the squad's leading sluggers, had a hitting streak of nine straight games but was held hitless in the Mt. Pleasant game. The only home run produced by any member of the team was off the bat of Bunny Blaney. Ronnie Bramble led the team in extra base hits.

Next year the high school will have almost the same team since most of the players are sophomores and juniors. Joe Gregg, regular first baseman, is the only senior.

Most of the boys will continue to play ball throughout the summer months with the American Legion, Harmony, and Newark town team. Maybe next year we'll have an even better team! So long for now!

Newark Negro Group Files Suit To End School Segregation

New Castle Negroes Also Enter Action In U.S. District Court

In an effort to end segregation in the public high school here, Negro residents of Newark have filed suit in the U. S. District Court, Wilmington, asking that those sections of the state constitution and state law pertaining to the maintenance of white and colored schools be declared unconstitutional.

A similar suit has been filed by Negro residents in the New Castle Special School District. Both actions were entered by Louis L. Redding, Wilmington attorney.

The two suits are an outgrowth of an attempt made some time ago by Negro residents in the Newark and New Castle districts to enroll colored students in white high schools. The applications for admission of both groups were turned down. About eight Negroes applied for entrance to the Newark High School.

At that time, school authorities here said they were unable to grant admission of the Negroes, claiming the state constitution made segregation mandatory. The State Board of Education later backed up the stand taken by officials here.

The suit brought by the Newark residents names the Newark Board of Education and school officials here as defendants, in addition to the state board of education and Dr. George R. Miller, Jr., state superintendent. The New Castle suits also lists the state officials as defendants, plus the New Castle board of education and the administrative officials there.

The suit seeks a decision declaring that denial of admission of Negroes to public schools is a violation of the equal protection clause of the U.S. Constitution.

Eight Grade Students Earn Auxiliary Awards

The outstanding students among eighth grade girls in the Newark School District are Carolyn Chalmers, Newark elementary school, and Alice Boston, New London Avenue School.

They have been chosen winners of the annual American Legion prize awarded by the J. A. O'Daniel Unit 10.

Final Meeting

Herbert Marin presided at the term's final meeting of the Allied Youth Council at the Newark High School.

Pvt. Johnson Trains With Army Airborne Division

Pvt. Howard R. Johnson, son of Mr. Raymond Johnson of 184 1/2 New London Avenue, has been assigned to the 101st Airborne Division, Camp Breckinridge, Ky., for Army basic training after completing processing here at the 203rd Reception Center.

He will receive six weeks training in basic military subjects necessary for all soldiers. This will include qualification firing with the carbine or M-1 rifle.

The remainder of his basic training will be in advanced individual subjects and the basic fundamentals of his army or service.

District Votes, 123-4 For Merger Of Newark-Glasgow Schools; Court Suit Pends

Newarkers voted 123 to 4 for consolidation of the Newark School District with the Glasgow district in a referendum Saturday.

Whether the merger will actually take place is still in doubt, however, pending the outcome of a suit filed in the Court of Chancery, Wilmington.

The suit, entered by two Glasgow residents, challenges the validity of a previous referendum in Glasgow, when residents there voted by a slim margin for consolidation.

Vice-chancellor Collins J. Seitz has issued an order enjoining any action that might be based on the results of the referendum until the validity of the earlier referendum is determined. The Chancery suit charges that if the consolidation is carried out by the plaintiffs and other Glasgow property owners will have to pay a Newark school tax, covering not only the maintenance of the district but also the cost of interest and liquidation of the district's $250,000 bonded debt.

Council Meeting

was fixed for July 2 between 1 and 6 p.m. in the Council Offices.

Charles Long, town secretary-treasurer, was sworn in as town assessor by Mayor Wallace Johnson. Mr. Long succeeds Oliver Rothwell, who resigned suddenly.

The lawmakers authorized Mr. Niede to advertise for bids on a large scale street repair program, calling for the amassing of Winslow Road from Orchard to Beverly, Townsend Road from Winslow to Sunset, Kells Avenue from Manuel to its end, and Manuel from East Park Place to Kells.

The program also proposes laying an oil and chip surface on Tyre Avenue, Manuel, Courtney, Wilson and Church Streets in those areas where curbing was recently installed. Benny Street and Caldwell Place would also get surface treatments.

Curb and gutter work is planned for the north side of Ray Street and portions of Tyre, Courtney, Manuel and Forrest Lane. The project also calls for widening South College Avenue along the former Evans property.

The lawmakers gave the first and second readings to an ordinance setting a schedule of fees to be charged in the future for building permits, which currently are granted free of charge.

The proposed law would set a $21 fee for a permit on construction costing $10,000 plus $1 for each additional $1,000 of cost. Lesser fees would be required for construction under $10,000.

The Council authorized its consulting engineers, Whitman, Acquardt and Associates, to draw up plans for tying in the town sewer line with the county interceptor line which is scheduled to be extended soon to the Chrysler tank plant. Once the tie-in is completed, sanitary sewer service will be provided for the entire southwestern section of town. The engineers were ordered to negotiate with county authorities in an effort to have the interceptor line extended beyond the Chrysler plant to the west in order to aid the town's plans for the tie-in.

The lawmakers took steps to secure an interest free federal loan to aid with town planning. The loan application will be made through the Housing and Home Finance Agency. The town already has authorized its consulting engineers to carry out a $500 preliminary town planning survey.

The Council reluctantly turned down a request for financial help from the Newark High School Athletic Association, which is seeking funds to erect overhead arcs for night football games at the school athletic field. Pointing to the depleted town treasury, the Councilmen explained that they recently were forced to turn down a request by the Newark Recreation Association for an appropriation to aid a community recreation project.

Town Solicitor Sinclair was ordered to draft a smoke abatement ordinance. The action was taken as a result of a number of complaints from residents regarding smoke and odors from railroad engines and local industries.

A request by Councilman Coverdale for police control during the morning and evening rush hours at the East Main Street entrance to town was referred to the police committee for study.

Mr. Coverdale also asked for alleviation of traffic tie-ups at the intersection of Main Street and Tyre Avenue, and he suggested that two lanes be set up, one for through traffic and the other for cars making left turn, similar to the system now in operation at the corner of Main and Academy Streets. Council agreed to the proposal. Councilman Donald Hill pointed out that a recent ordinance limiting parking in the Ashley, Wyoming Roads and East Park Place area was not being enforced. Mr. Niede explained that delivery was still awaited on no-parking signs, but he agreed to set up temporary cardboard markers.

In a resolution proposed by Councilman Frank Durnall, Mr. Niede was ordered to seek bids on the cost of covering an open drainage ditch in the Wilbur Street and East Cleveland Avenue area.

The ditch, Mr. Durnall said, contains drainage matter from the University of Delaware and is a threat to public health.

Worriwlo Speaker At Rotary Meeting

The University of Delaware is providing an important service to agriculture and the farm people of the state, according to George M. Worriwlo. Speaking at this week's meeting of the Newark Rotary Club, the director of the University's Agricultural Experiment Station traced the history of farming in Delaware.

"The gross income of Delaware's agriculture," said Worriwlo "was only 20 million dollars in 1930. Last year it was 102 million.
