

give a first printing there to what would in this case occupy about six pages. These considerations are rather conventional but I cannot well escape their force.

Sincerely yours

H. E. Snodden

Wm. Bates, esq.

EDITORIAL OFFICE OF The Atlantic Monthly,
BOSTON.

Chocoma, N. H.

25 July 1891

My dear W. Bates

I am very glad to know that you are making a volume of Oriental tales. For if they have the beauty and force of the two I have seen the book cannot fail to meet with acceptance.

The exigencies of magazine publication, however, make it unwise in my judgment for me to Give a first printing then to other names in this case occupy about the page. These conversations are rather conversational but I cannot well escape this form.

Truly Yours
W. E. Lawrence
The book cannot fail to meet
with acceptance.
The exigencies of magazine
publication, however, make it impossible in my judgment for me to do a better, and

WILLIAM LAWRENCE
The Atlantic Monthly
BOSTON

W. E. Lawrence

22 July 1851

My dear Mr. Baker
I am very glad to learn that you are making a volume of Winter tale, for if they have the beauty
and force of the two I have seen
the book cannot fail to meet
with acceptance.
The exigencies of magazine
publication, however, make it impossible in my judgment for me to