Firemen Hosts At Ceremony Next Saturday

To House New $11,500 Engine In Presence Of Neighboring Companies; Christiana Group Have Honor Position; Annual Banquet Scheduled Monday Night.

"Visiting firemen" will not be a catch phrase here Saturday. It will be a fact.

On that day, full representation from nine volunteer companies, seven from New Castle County, will be followed by a reception and "open house" in the Aetna headquarters on Academy street. On Monday night, the week-end festivities will be brought to a close by the annual fire dinner in the New Century clubhouse.

A big crowd of visitors and townspeople are expected to witness the housing ceremony. The volunteers from Christiana, the "baby" company of the county, having been designated to the honor position and will escort the big pumper into its permanent home. All firemen present will be in full uniform, and many of the companies will bring their apparatus.

No parade will be held, according to officials in charge.

Speaking Program

The committee in charge of the housing ceremonies is headed by Ira Shellender, chief engineer, and includes the following: Elmer J. Ellison, chief; R. E. Crowe, Walter Powell and Daniel Stoll. The housing address will be given by Everett C. Johnson. Other speakers from visiting companies are scheduled to pay their respects in brief speeches.

Companies who have been invited to attend are New Castle, Cranston Heights, Christiana, Newport, Middletown, Elsmere, Kennett Square and Elkton.

Dinner Monday Night

The annual Aetna dinner, always an interesting and attractive affair, will be held in the Century Club, under full charge of the firemen. The Board of Directors, Messrs. George W. Rhodes, R. S. Gallaher, John R. Fulton, Daniel Stoll and H. Warner McNeal have made detailed plans, assigned to each member a detail of the dinner, and a gay time is promised.

Between 200 and 250 members and guests are expected.

When visitors arrive Saturday they will see perhaps the best equipped fire company in Delaware, comfortably housed in their attractive new home, and every effort will be made to make the visit a most enjoyable one.

Cordial invitations are extended friends of the volunteers to join in the reception Saturday afternoon.

COLLEGE LECTURES

"Recent Advances in the Chemistry of Nutrition" was the subject of a lecture given at 8 o'clock last evening in the Hilarium of the Women's College of the University of Delaware at Newark, by Dr. Henry Sherman, professor of chemistry at Columbia University, New York. Dr. Sherman spoke under the auspices of the home economics department of the Women's College.

HAIL THE TOPEPPO! LATEST DELICACY

Eastern Shore farmers are interested in a new hybrid vegetable being successfully grown in New Jersey. It is the topeppo, a descendant of the Stone tomato and the Bull Nose pepper crossed. Its jolly name, it is said, will win it a trial, at least, in the nine counties, and word comes from Jersey tomato growers that the topeppo taste is a satisfactory combination of the tomato flavor and the pepper tang.

It is said to be milder to the palate than the parent pepper and yet to have more character in taste than the plain tomato. In shape, the hybrid is tomato-like, though somewhat squat and has the deep-set divisions of the pepper. Its skin is mostly yellow, with infusions of red spreading through it.

HOUSE, BARN PREY TO FLAMES

Snow Filled Roads Check Firemen's Dash to Barksdale Blaze Sunday; Local Company Out

Hearing a peculiar crackling noise from above, Frank Ansaleish, a farmer of near Barksdale, Maryland, four miles from Newark, left his chair Sunday afternoon and investigated. Arriving at the head of the stairway, he found the top of his home a mass of flames.

Singerley firemen of Elkton responded to the alarm, were caught tight in snowdrifts, dug out, and went on. Upon arrival at the Ansaleish home, flames had gutted the building, no water was available and the firemen returned home. Loss is placed at $4000. The house was of frame construction, 10 rooms. Nothing save a few pieces of living-room and kitchen furniture, was saved.

Newark Men Out

The burly red engine of the Aetna Hose Company lost a brief bout to Old Man Snow Sunday morning, while responding to an alarm sent in from the Kyle farm in Pencader hundred, tenanted by Samuel Lane.

Tearing out from Newark, the firemen headed across upper Pencader, through Wilson's Station.

The roaring machine wrestled brilliantly for several hundred yards, but was beaten back, caught up tight in a drift and stalled. Meanwhile the flames raged at the Kyle farm. Aetna boys went overboard and dug their engine out but too late to be of service. They returned to Newark.

The fire was found to be in Mr. Lane's barn. The building was destroyed along with many implements, feed and grain. No livestock was killed. Loss has been estimated at $4000 to $5000.

CLUB DISCUSSES PROHIBITION

Henry R. Isaacs Speaks At Men's Club Meeting Last Week; Several Take Part

A lively discussion on "Law Enforcement" characterized the meeting of the St. Thomas' Men's Club in the Parish House here Thursday evening. While many phases of enforcement were mentioned, the speeches centered themselves about the 18th amendment to the Constitution.

Henry R. Isaacs, Esq., of Wilmington, was the stated speaker of the evening.

In his speech, Mr. Isaacs brought out his belief that the prohibition amendment could not be repealed if put to a vote, argued that it was a part of the Constitution, and to be respected as such, and urged that men, as good citizens, get behind the law and support it, along with all laws now enforced. Following his speech, Mr. Isaacs was asked and answered several questions put to him.

Dr. C. L. Benner, Dr. Walter Hullivan, Dr. W. O. Sypher and Rev. R. B. Mathews, rector of St. Thomas', were among the speakers during the subsequent discussion of the subject.

Rev. Mathews, in his talk, emphatically stated that the stand against prohibition taken by an official of his church in New York recently was not to be construed as setting forth the views of the Episcopal Church as a unit. The speaker went on to say that his opinions, too, were personal.

The rector took decided issue with the amendment and parts of Mr. Isaacs' address. He, at one point, likened the amendment to "a law to compel a man to wear a red shirt on Wednesdays."

A large group of members and friends from other congregations were in attendance at the discussion. Mr. Isaacs was heartily thanked for coming down to take part.

Addresses Forum

Professor George H. Ryden of the University Faculty addressed the members of the Arden Forum at Arden, Delaware, last evening on the subject, "The American Revolution."

This is the second time in recent months that Prof. Ryden has been requested to speak at the Forum. The meeting was held in the Arden Schoolhouse.

DEATH CLAIMS 3 LOCAL MEN

Francis Moore, Restaurant Proprietor, Bayard Robinson and John Pope Die In Week

Three Newark men, all well known and enjoying wide circles of friends, were death victims during the past week. Their passing brought gloom to many sections of the community.

Francis B. Moore, young proprietor of the Newark Inn on East Main street succumbed Saturday to a complication of diseases, in St. Francis Hospital, Philadelphia, where he had gone for treatment. He was 29 years of age, and a native of this territory. He has been in business here for several years and was very popular among his neighbors and associates. Funeral services were held from St. John's R. C. Church at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, with interment in St. John's cemetery, west of town. Deceased was the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore, of Depot road, and leaves a wife and two small children.

In charge of the local chapter of Red Men, of which he was an active member, the funeral of Bayard Robinson, aged 45 years, was held from the lodge rooms in Center Hall here (Continued on Page 4.)

Church Gets $20,000

The vestry of St. Anne's P. E. Church of Middletown, has been notified that through the will of the late Henry W. Brown, of Germantown, Pa., the church will receive the income from $20,000, the principal to be held by a trust company in Philadelphia, for a term of years. The income is to be used for the upkeep of Old St. Anne's Church and the burying ground. Mr. Brown was buried in Old St. Anne's cemetery on the day before Christmas, and his wife and her sister were buried there several years ago. Mr. Brown took a great interest in the old church and the grounds for a number of years and made frequent visits there.

NEW DIRECTORS

New directors recently elected to the board of the Mutual Building and Loan Association here are James H. Hutchison, contractor and builder, and Daniel Stoll, plumbing and heating contractor.

SNOW BLOCKS ALL HIGHWAYS

Traffic Men Work Night and Day to Open Huge Drifts Near Newark Section

Probably at no time in recent years have the main highways around Newark been so effectually blocked than after the heavy snowfall here last week. Driven before a stiff gale Wednesday and Thursday, the powdery snow blocked roads as fast as they were opened.

From Wednesday morning until midnight Friday, workmen from the County Engineer's department battled the drifts with three snow plows, two "trimmers" and a score of pick and shovel men. The Newark-Wilmington road was blocked until Thursday afternoon, while the Elkton-Newark division could not be cleared until late Friday night.

Roads near Glasgow, the new Newark-New Castle pike and practically all roads in Mill Creek hundred were badly drifted. It is estimated that over 10 inches of snow fell, although drifting took place principally after the fall.

Trucks Stalled

Two heavy trucks and three cars were wedged in drifts between here and the Maryland line on Thursday night and Friday. One truck, in attempting to get out, was overturned. About seven o'clock Friday evening, the big caterpillar tractor owned by the county, appeared on the scene, and, while traffic was held up for a half hour, the machine bucked the ten-foot drifts. By eight a narrow lane was opened into Maryland. Scores of cars were lined up on each side of the danger zone. Heavy drifts extended from the Riley home just west of Newark almost to Belle Hill, a distance of four miles.

Highway officials and crews assisted by County Officer Leach, were on the job night and day and a great measure of credit appears due them for the opening of the drifted roads in short order.

Lewis In Field

H. Winfield Lewis, popular Clerk of the Courts for Cecil County, has announced himself a candidate to succeed himself at the next election. His opponents to date number one, Emerson R. Crothers.

LAST MINUTE NEWS

Former Newark Woman Weds Florida Realtor

Mrs. Nan B. Kennedy, a resident of Newark for many years but more recently engaged in hotel and real estate activities at Daytona, Florida, and August Ruhwadel, president of the Halifax Realty Company of that city, were married Monday in New York City.

Announcement of the wedding came by wire to The Post today from Montreal, Canada, where Mr. and Mrs. Ruhwadel are on their honeymoon. They are now attending the winter sports carnival.

The bride, who has a host of friends in Newark, settled in Florida several years ago, and has been eminently successful in real estate circles in Daytona.

NEWARK MEN IN RAYON COMPANY

J. P. Wright Is President of New Concern; H. L. Bonham a Director; Plant at New Castle

With the sale of the old Bethlehem Steel Company's plant near New Castle late last week, a new Delaware industry has been announced. It is the Delaware Rayon Company.

The company, incorporated a few weeks ago in Dover, is headed by J. Pilling Wright, treasurer of the Continental Fibre Company of this town. Harry L. Bonham, secretary of the Continental firm, is announced as a member of the directorate of the Rayon firm.

Associated with the local men on the board are Thomas A. Duffy of New York, Leon H. Ryan, formerly with the Wilmington Fibre Specialty Company, now general manager of the new firm, and M. Antonin Chappel, president of C. & E. Chappel Freres, et Cie, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The New Castle plant, used as a shell loading center during the war, contains 110 acres and buildings in good condition, having a floor space of about 27,000 square feet. Machinery has been ordered and is being built for the manufacture of Rayon yarn, a product made from wood pulp, mostly spruce.

Reports state that when the plant begins operation, 400 persons will be given employment.

Third Defeat For Oak Grove School Bonding

Improved School Proponents Again Beaten By 369-75 In Referendum Saturday, Conditions Reported Overcrowded And Unsanitary

NEXT MOVE DOUBTFUL

For the third time in two years, the voters of the Oak Grove district between Newark and Wilmington, on Saturday overwhelmingly defeated a proposal to bond said district for $50,000 for additional school room and improvements.

It was the worst defeat suffered by the new school advocates since the question was brought up in 1924. Thirty-five more taxpayers voted against the proposal than did a few months ago. Feeling, as usual, runs high among the strong partisan members of both camps. It is a question said to involve many phases, but is generally believed to be the only way the district can meet the expense of additional quarters for the children.

The $50,000 was to have been used in constructing a six-room addition to the present structure. The previous bond issue measures, which were defeated, were for $60,000.

Advocates of the new school measure following the counting of the ballots, attributed the defeat of the bond measure largely to the taxpayers of Brookland Terrace and Colonial Park sections, who worked and voted against it. It was said that while only six children from Colonial Park attend the Oak Grove school, the other children, forty or more, attend Wilmington schools.

The enrollment in the Oak Grove school now is 270, and 30 surplus pupils occupy a classroom on the second floor of the Elsmere Fire Company headquarters. The basement of the schoolhouse also is used for school purposes, 70 children being housed below the ground.

POURING CONCRETE

Following the completion of excavation work for the new home of Farmers' Trust Company here, workmen have begun pouring concrete into the foundation forms for the building. The unusual depth of the basement has been taken care of in the plans. Most of the space will be used for storage vaults, it is understood. The excavation work was in charge of F. W. Lovett.

TO GIVE PLAY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church, will give a playlet entitled "Aunt Fannie's Miracle," in the lecture room of the church, February 23rd. Mrs. Ernest Frazer has charge of the play.

Lenten Series At St. Thomas' Begins March 3

Bishop Cook And Bishop Davenport Listed Among Prominent Episcopal Clergymen Coming Here For Special Services; Lenten Season Opens Today

Prominent clergymen, from Baltimore, Philadelphia, Wilmington and Easton, headed by Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, Bishop of Delaware, have accepted the invitation of Rev. Mathews to fill the pulpit here. The rector, however, has been unable to arrange for the visit of Dr. Wyatt Brown, brilliant rector of St. Michaels-All Angels, Baltimore. Dr. Brown was unable, due to his heavy Lenten schedule, to accept. Rev. Wilson Sutton, D. D., of Trinity Chapel, New York City, invited with Dr. Brown to fill a February date here, also was forced to decline.

List of Services

The series, then, will begin on Wednesday evening, March 3rd, with Rt. Rev. George W. Davenport, Bishop of Easton, Maryland, in the pulpit. The balance of the series is as follows:

March 10th—Rev. Murray Dewart, rector of Christ Church, Baltimore.

March 17th—Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, Bishop of Delaware.

March 24th—Rev. Louis Washburne, rector of Christ Church, Philadelphia.

March 31st—Rev. Alban Ritchie, D. D., rector St. John's Church, New York City.

First Service Tonight

Today being Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, holy communion will be held in St. Thomas this evening at the usual hour. There will also be a short address by the rector. Special address will be given each Sunday evening during the Lenten season. The Episcopal choir will also have an active part in the services.

"Special" for Band

Through the kindness of Samuel J. Wright, chief sponsor of the organization, the Continental Band travelled in a special car attached to a regular P. R. R. train Friday night, when they broadcast a musical program from radio station WOO, in Philadelphia. Previous plans to go by bus were frustrated by the severe storm.

Hundreds of Newark people tuned in for the concert Friday. Reception was reported very good. Bayard Perry, manager of the band, announces the receipt of several complimentary letters from radio fans who heard the program.

Rumors Brighten

The rumor concerning the sale of the New Central Hotel block in Elkton, noted in The Post last week, refuses to be downed.

Persons close to the deal heroically deny the report, but persist it does. Lately, the version is that a group of Middletown men have purchased the hotel, restaurant and theatre for $65,000.

State Schools To Have Place In Sesqui Plan

Meeting of Delaware Commission Monday With School Heads Decides $5000 Is Needed To Supplement Existing Appropriation; To Tell Story In Films.

At a meeting held in Wilmington's council rooms Monday, attended by representatives of the State Board of Education, Wilmington schools, the Delaware Commission and Joseph R. Wilson, of the Sesqui Centennial staff in Philadelphia, preliminary plans were discussed for having Delaware schools represented at the Philadelphia exposition the coming summer.

The meeting was called by State Superintendent Holloway, who presided.

Mr. Wilson said the Sesqui Centennial would open on June 30. He explained that the space to be allotted the various exhibits in the Palace of Education consisted of 205 square feet of floor space and 620 square feet of wall space. The estimated cost would be about $1785, with the cost of the booths at $250.

Representative James C. Hastings, of Newark, secretary of the committee named by Governor Robinson to have charge of the expenditure of $25,000 authorized by the General Assembly for Delaware's exhibit at the Sesqui Centennial, reported that the commission had decided to show motion pictures of Delaware's historical, political, social and industrial life at the Sesqui.

Mr. Hastings suggested that the best method of showing the State's educational development would be in line with the first thought of the committee, through the exhibition of the pictures of the school system in operation. He expressed the opinion that enough could be shown on a 1000-foot reel in the Palace of Education to give visitors a good idea of the progress Delaware is making along educational lines, in addition to the 205 feet of floor space allotted for booths and 620 feet of wall space for exhibits.

Mr. Wilson said that a "Delaware Day" might be arranged, when the motion pictures could be shown, suggesting that now would be the best time to take the pictures, while schools are in session.

This preliminary discussion led up to the question of cost. Mr. Hastings said that out of the State's appropriation of $25,000, after absolutely necessary expenditures for floor space, etc., had been deducted not much would be left to contribute toward the exhibit. He said, that without first consulting with his colleagues on the committee, he was not sure whether any portion could be devoted to this purpose.

Mr. Hastings said he did not believe there would be any trouble in raising the small amount necessary.

After considerable discussion, it was concluded that $5000 would be sufficient, and belief was expressed that friends of education in the State would gladly contribute.

NEWARK CLOSE TO LEADER IN VOTE RACE

Aetna Hose Company Comes Within 100 Points of Overhauling Newport in Contest For Chief's Auto Through State-Wide Popularity Contest; Harrington Still Leads in Kent.

Endorsing the Popularity Contest, being conducted by the Good Will Fire Company of this place, at a called meeting last Saturday night, the Clayton Fire Company members pledged themselves to work for the Fire Chief's auto to be awarded the Fire Company of Kent County receiving the greatest number of votes, based on the population of the fire company's district. The rules of the contest were explained to the Clayton firemen by H. H. McGill, of the Good Will Company.

The Clayton firefighters were in third place in the Kent County contest last week, they receiving 80 votes, making their total up to Saturday 739 or fifty less votes than that recorded to the credit of the Hobbs-Hose Co., of Dover. The Harrington Fire Company maintained its lead with 1089 votes.

The Clayton firemen, however, are confident they will surpass the Harrington Company record before the end of the week. The Clayton firemen also endorsed the idea of the State fire companies insuring their members and they will be represented at the meeting of representatives of the fire companies of Delaware to be held in Dover on the evening of February 23. It is thought that G. C. Maull of Lewis, president of the State Firemen's Association, will preside at this meeting.

The activities of the New Castle County fire companies, especially the Minquas of Newport, and the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company of Newark, during the past week has spurred the other companies of that section to redouble their efforts. The Newport firemen still lead the New Castle County division, but the Aetna firemen are a close second so far. Brandywine Hundred Fire Co. of Bellefonte, the baby organization of the State fire fighting units, is third with a total of 2144 votes so far.

The fire chiefs autos will be placed on display in the various towns of the State as the contest progresses and it is expected that when they are awarded at the State Firemen's Convention here on July 14, the citizens of the towns in which the winning fire company is located will turn out en masse to welcome their boys. The standing of the fire companies so far is as follows:

New Castle County—Newport, 2439; Newark, 2339; Brandywine Hundred, 2144; Richardson Park, 1309; Elsmere, 959; Cranston Heights, 953; Holloway Terrace, 939; Middletown, 789; Christiansa and Delaware City, 689 each.

Kent County—Harrington, 1089; Dover, 789; Clayton, 739; Wyoming, Smyrna, Camden and Milford, 689 each.

Sussex County—Rehoboth Beach, 1039; Laurel, Seaford, Lewes, Georgetown, Bridgeville, Delmar, Ellendale, Selbyville, Milton and Millsboro, 689 each.

The sub-contract for plumbing and heating in the new dining room and kitchen being erected at the Women's College here has been awarded to Daniel Stoll of this town.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE NOTES

(Written For The Post)

One of the most popular courses in college this semester is Miss Gillespie's course in Music Appreciation. This course includes the history of music, the studying of the lives of the greatest composers, and the study of the instruments of the modern symphony orchestra.

The class this semester is composed of students from all four classes in college and meets in the Common Room of Sussex Hall.

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet gave a delightful party in the Hilarium last Friday evening. Each girl was asked to appear in an odd costume. Games were played and a jolly, boisterous time was enjoyed.

On Friday, in chapel, Dean Robinson announced the high grades that had been made in the mid-year examinations. "A" is the mark of exceptional excellence and these girls received that grade in all subjects: Helen Levy, Helen Simon and Louise Harris, seniors; Margaret Nunn, junior; Dorothy Inderlied, sophomore; and Mildred Phillips, freshman. An "A" in Freshman English is another high honor and that grade was made by three girls this year. They are: Frieda Kurtz, from the Wilmington High School; Mildred Phillips, from Wilmington High School, and Josephine Roscoe, of Dover High School.

Dean Robinson and Miss Taylor from the college were among the patrons at the Sigma Phi Epsilon Formal Dance on Friday evening, and at the Sigma Phi Epsilon House-Party on Saturday evening. A large number of W. C. D. girls attended these two dances.

Katharine Ady attended the Junior Prom of Gettysburg College at Gettysburg on Friday last.

Mae Collison and Lydia Wilson spent the week-end at State College, where they attended the Junior Prom of Pennsylvania State College.

There was a bid for standing room in the Hilarium on Sunday evening at vesper service. The program had been planned by those girls who room on the third floor of Sussex Hall and Olive Murray was the leader. Eloise Rodney and Lillian Steele played. Prof. Matthews, of the English Department, sang a baritone solo. Dr. Benner, of the Department of Economics, gave a most inspiring address. His theme was "The Tangible and the Intangible Values of a College Education," and the talk was one that the girls will long remember. Dr. Benner is very popular with the students, probably because he lives up to his precept that "the teacher should teach his pupils much more than the subject of the text book."

Dr. Sherman, a food expert and chemist from Columbia University, was secured by Miss Parker to lecture on "Nutrition" last evening in Wolf Hall.

Everett C. Johnson will address the members of the Freshman Class at Orientation Hour today.

Estelle Wheelless entertained at tea at her home on Orchard road last Saturday afternoon.

The Juniors were in high glee on Friday because of the arrival of their much-coveted class rings. These rings

HOW MODERN AUTOMOBILE MAKERS KEEP PRICES DOWN AND QUALITY UP

The development and refinement of manufacturing and assembling processes in the production of automobiles is the marvel of an age remarkable for mechanical progress.

In a recent interview, Colin Campbell, Vice-President, Durant Motors, Inc., said:

"The automobile industry has set an example for the whole manufacturing world in the precision with which it has reduced manufacturing and assembling methods to an almost exact science, thus stepping up permanent production capacity and reducing human error to a minimum."

Mr. Campbell explained how the assembly method, used in the production of Star cars, reduces manufacturing costs and improves the quality of the product.

"Mechanics," said he, "at the great plants of Durant Motors, Inc., engaged on the same operation day after day, week after week, become highly skilled specialists, remarkable for their speed and accuracy. Their efficiency, born of long experience in doing a single thing continually, so far reduces error that defective work is rare, indeed."

"This is the way a Star automobile is put together by the modern progressive methods," added Mr. Campbell:

"The frame is riveted together with pneumatic riveters, the motor and fly-wheel underpans attached and the previously assembled springs and axles securely fastened to the frame. Then the assembly is swung on chains to a slow moving conveyor and starts on a journey that transforms it into a complete automobile.

"First, are attached in their order propeller shaft, two universals, transmission, battery strap, tire carrier, gas tank and supply pipe, brake cross shafts and pull rods, pedals and shafts, steering post and drag link, and muffler. Then brake bands are adjusted and the entire chassis sprayed with the enamel finish which is dried in a huge electric oven as the chassis passes through without a pause in its march to completion.

"When the enameled black chassis emerges from the drying oven, the motor (already assembled and tested) and clutch are lowered into place and secured by bolts and nuts turned home by special wrenches. Then the front universal, battery, front fenders, side aprons and running boards are added and the chassis is ready for the body, which is lowered into position from the floor above and bolted fast."

J. WILL PERKINS

Elkton was again shocked Saturday, when news of the sudden death of J. Will Perkins, one of her best known citizens, was made known. Mr. Perkins, who was associated with his son, Joseph H. Perkins, in the manufacture of fruit juices, had just finished his dinner and complained of feeling ill, and expired before a physician could be summoned.

Mr. Perkins was a son of the late John W. and Virginia Perkins, of Elkton, and succeeded his father in the harness business at his death. Later he disposed of the business. He was appointed Sheriff of Cecil county upon the death of Myron Miller, who was shot by a prisoner of the jail, to serve the unexpired term. Mr. Perkins was elected to the Maryland House of Delegates and served with distinction. Mr. Perkins was one of the leading members of Elkton Methodist Episcopal Church, and has served as an official for a number of years.

He is survived by his widow, who was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hinchliffe, one son, Joseph H. Perkins, of Swarthmore, Pa., two daughters, Mrs. David L. Sloan and Mrs. David Duncan, of Overbrook, Pa.; also by three sisters, Mrs. Daniel Harvey of Childs, Mrs. Robert D. Brown and Mrs. Daniel S. Terrell of Elkton, and two brothers, Edward Perkins of Washington, D. C., and Clarence Perkins, of Elkton.

Fraternally, Mr. Perkins was an Odd Fellow and a Mason. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at his late home, at 3 o'clock, with interment in Elkton cemetery.

The Old Army Is Passing

The old Army is passing. The gruff, hard-boiled, middle-aged non-commissioned officers are giving way to younger men, "gentlemen rankers," as Kipling would call them. Today, say Army authorities, the military establishment abounds with youngsters holding the highest enlisted grades up to and including that of master sergeant, the very highest.

Before the World War the sergeants and first sergeants usually were "old-timers" who had to their credit at least ten years of service; service in Cuba, Panama, Alaska, China or the Philippines. The war took an enormous toll of these men, and hundreds more retire each year on three-quarters pay at the end of thirty years of service. Few of the hardy soldiers who fought in the Spanish-American War and against Aguinaldo in Luzon are left. The Army today is composed primarily of young men.

This is accounted for by the rapid turnover. The present day soldier is not a professional military man. He enters the service just as he would enter a college, and for much the same reason.

The schools of Uncle Sam's Army are among the finest in the country. Practically every line of human en-

DEATH CLAIMS

J. W. McCool, Sr.

Old Resident of Cecil County Dies After Two Years' Illness; Was Well Known

John W. McCool, Sr., aged 78 years, a retired Cecil County farmer, died at the home of his son in Elkton. Mr. McCool had been in poor health for almost two years. Infirmities of age were factors in the last illness and brought on his death. Deceased was a prominent figure in the county during his life and had a host of friends.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, John W., Jr., George and Samuel McCool, and one daughter, Mrs. George Barr, of Elkton. At this writing no arrangements have been made for the funeral.

deavor is taught, from the raising of horses to medical and radio science, engineering, cooking and the many mechanical trades.

Each year thousands of young men who have completed courses offered to its personnel by the Army, purchase their discharges for a nominal sum and return to civil life. Nearly all of their applications are based on the offer of more lucrative positions by commercial concerns, and it is a cardinal principle of the Army that it shall not stand in the way, in peace time, of an enlisted man who has the opportunity to better his position in life.

It is for this reason that the old Army is passing. Promotion is rapid and it is common to find a "top-kick" or a staff sergeant in his first enlistment, and under twenty-five years of age.

ELKTON BOYS IN BUSY SCOUT WEEK

Rev. W. G. Harris Instrumental in Planning Activities During National Period

Boy Scout Troop No. 1 of Elkton, Maryland, under the leadership of their Scout Master, Rev. W. G. Harris, celebrated Boy Scout Week in a most delightful way. On Sunday evening the boys attended services in the M. E. Church, when the pastor and Scout Master preached a special sermon for boys. More than fifty of the boys attended this service.

Monday night the boys enjoyed a camp supper in the Church House. Mr. Irving Kepler and Mr. Lynn Gillespie, committee men, and Prof. Guy Johnson of the High School, addressed the boys at this banquet. The program for Tuesday night was postponed until February 23, when the boys will be guests of the Rotary Club at the Theatre, when Judge Duncan, of Baltimore, is to be the speaker.

Friday afternoon was observed as Patriotism in School. The boys assembled and were addressed by Mr. Kepler and Scout Master Harris. The boys look upon it as the great week in the year and will plan a larger program for next year.

Sunday callers at the J. F. Brackin home were Mr. and Mrs. William Banning and children and Mrs. Reba Gregg.

FEAR OF FLOOD WANES ON RIVER

Water in the Susquehanna River at this point still continues at normal height despite the recent thaw. It is generally believed that the remaining ice in the river will pass out without causing a flood.

Arrangements have been made with Major E. A. Lohman, commander of the Aberdeen Proving Ground Aviation Corps, to bomb the ice from airplanes in case the water goes above normal. This is merely a precautionary measure and will only be put into operation in case there is a sudden and dangerous rise in water.

still laboring through huge drifts, which at some places make travel impossible.

The school children were forced to stay home several days last week and this week owing to the inability of the busses to reach their homes. On Monday, a school bus finally got part way up the pike. Work of opening the road will likely be completed in a day or two.

"Gutenberg Bible," Called Finest Example of Printer's Art, Brings $106,000 at Auction

The Melk copy of the Gutenberg Bible, the first book printed from movable type, was sold for $106,000 at the Anderson Galleries Monday night to Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, of New York and Philadelphia.

The Melk copy was sold by order of Edward Goldston, a London book dealer, who acquired it from the Benedictine Monastery in Melk, Austria, which had owned the work for several centuries.

The first bid was $50,000, made by Miss Belle da Costa Greene, librarian for the J. P. Morgan library. This was quickly followed by bids from Dr. Rosenbach, Edgar H. Wells and others, the offerings mounting in amounts of $5,000 at each bid until the book was held at $65,000.

bidding for the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and who fought it out thereafter with Dr. Rosenbach.

The crowd cheered when the bidding reached $100,000, and during the remainder of the sale there was intense interest. Dr. Rosenbach at length bid $104,000 and Mr. Benjamin responded immediately with an offer of $105,000.

The Bible bears the title "Biblica Latina," and the line "Mainz, Johann Gutenberg and Johann Fust, 1455," at the foot of the title page. It is a first issue of the first edition in two volumes, folio size, measuring 15 by 10 3/8 inches.

The copy has been carefully decorated throughout by a contemporary illuminator, with colored flowery scrolls and leaves running from the larger initials. The scrolls are similar to those embellishing the copy belonging to the City of Burgos, in Spain.

With the Bible goes to the purchaser letters from experts of the British Museum and the Vienna Library, stating that they have compared the copy with the copies in their libraries and have found it to be complete and genuine.

NEW CASTLE'S COURT HOUSE

Civil government in America was still in the pin feather stage when the old court house at New Castle, Delaware, was built almost 250 years ago, says Building Economy.

Delaware's period of early settlement was fraught with much conflict and clashing of ambitions. Both the Dutch and the Swedes attempted its colonization and had many pitched battles over its occupancy.

Verrezano, the Florentine, is generally accredited with first having set foot on the soil of Delaware in 1524; somewhere between New Castle and Wilmington. Hendrick Hudson sailed up into that region along about 1609, although Lord De La Warr, after whom the region later was named, disputes with him the honor of the first landing and seems to have been accorded the credit.

Following the organization of the Dutch West India Company in 1621 and the Swedish West Indian Company in 1626, colonization parties were dispatched to the Delaware country by both nations.

Early Dutch effort was largely concentrated on Manhattan Island, but eventually Governor Stuyvesant, of New Amsterdam, began to cast jealous eyes toward the Swedish colonies to the South.

Thereafter for a period of nearly a dozen years there was more or less constant conflict between the Dutch and Swedish colonists under Governor Stuyvesant and Governor Printz. Just which was the stronger was always in doubt, and finally the English in superior force took possession in 1664.

When the English vessels appeared off New Castle the civilians, a good many of whom were Swedes, their power having waned in the last few years, speedily surrendered to the invaders. But the Dutch soldiers, retiring to the forts, declared for defense.

It wasn't much of a resistance that they were able to offer. The forts were merely wooden block-houses, built as a refuge from the raids of hostile Indians whom the Swedes, by more considerate treatment, had been able to turn against the Dutch.

For a time the Duke of York held a charter from the English covering this territory, but eventually permitted it to lapse. Then in turn came the dominion of William Penn whose governorship included this region along late in the 17th century.

Penn was responsible for the erection of the court house which was needed for the meetings of the Colonial Council and Assembly. The first recorded meeting of this body, consisting of three councilmen and six assemblymen from each county, was held on March 10, 1683.

Some of the weighty subjects under legislative consideration during this session, which lasted several days, were: The planting of flax and dealing with "scoulds," building a house of correction for each county, regulating the courts, the marking of cattle, marriages by magistrates, stopping inter-county sales of slaves, regulating fencing, and limiting of public house credit to 20 shillings.

The court house, built of brick brought over from England, served as State House and legislative hall for the meetings of the Assembly until the removal of the seat of government to Dover some time after the building of the State House there in 1779. The central section of the building was built in 1708 and west wing in 1767.

As early as 1803 Wilmington began an effort to have the county seat brought there from New Castle. This village feud lasted until 1881 when it was authorized by action of the State Legislature. New Castle now uses the old structure as a city building. For nearly half a century it has been covered with a coating of stucco, but in all other respects it is practically as originally built and remarkably well preserved.

Stephen Hopkins, Rhode Island

Many a man's place in history is founded upon a sentence in which he struck the current nail on the head. "Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes," "Give me liberty or give me death," and "I have not yet begun to fight," have proved the touchstone of undying fame for their authors.

Among the singers of the Declaration of Independence, the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of which will be commemorated by the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia this year, was Stephen Hopkins, of Rhode Island, whose remark upon appending his signature to the historic document deserves more fame than it has won.

"Sir, you hand trembles," challenged a bystander, as Hopkins, with unsteady hand, took up the pen to sign the Declaration.

"True, sir, but my heart does not," was the reply.

He was nearly seventy years of age, but his answer made no apology for physical disability. That his spirit was indomitable in spite of obstacles is evidenced in the accounts of his life. He was self-taught, but in time came to be Chancellor of Brown University. He was bred a farmer, but served as Governor of Rhode Island for a number of terms.

Being advanced in years during the stirring times of 1775-76, he was able to give to affairs of the Colonies the accumulated wisdom of a man who has passed through strenuous political history. He was a clear and convincing speaker, and used his influence in favor of decisive measures. He was a member of the committee which drafted the Articles of Confederation.

TO PRESENT PLAY

Plans have been announced for the presentation of "Sophronia's Wedding," a three act farce comedy, in the New Century Club here on March 19th. The play will be given by members of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church. The date previously stated, March 18th, was in error.

Hopkins's first public office was that of Justice of the Peace. He later was a member of the Rhode Island Legislature, Speaker of the Assembly, Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, a delegate to the Colonial Convention at Albany in 1754, one of the committee which drew up a plan of union, and, finally, a member of the First Continental Congress.

See Changes In Ranks Of M. E. Ministers

Approaching Conference Sessions Expected to Result in Several Transfers, Says Middletown Report; Rev. Pardee May Not Return to Christiana.

A number of changes in the pastorates of various Methodist Episcopal Churches are expected to be made at the approaching annual meeting of the Wilmington Conference, although no definite announcement has yet been made.

St. Paul's Church, Wilmington, presents a vacancy to be filled, due to the recent resignation of Rev. Carlisle L. Hubbard, who accepted a call to Newburgh, N. Y. He expects to leave the pastorate there in March. It is said that no minister has as yet asked for the charge, and the general impression prevails that a minister from the west, or middle west, may be chosen.

A number of the present incumbents have been asked by their congregations to retain present charges. Among those who have not yet acknowledged the invitations are Rev. W. Ernest Greenfield, pastor of Brandywine Church; Rev. W. A. Wise, pastor of Scott Church; Rev. O. B. Rice, pastor of Chester-Bethel; and Rev. Thomas Pardee, who has been acting as supply at Christiana.

Besides the vacancy created in the conference by Dr. Hubbard, going to Newburgh, several other vacancies will also be created. Rev. W. R. Mowbray, pastor of Cookman Memorial Church, has announced that he will retire from active work at the close of the conference year.

Among the rumored changes is that Rev. W. A. Wise will be sent to Delaware City Church, where Rev. J. W. Easley, who has been acting as supply, has also announced that he will retire at the close of the conference year.

Delaware City

A "Lincoln Program" was presented by the teacher of fifth and sixth grades at Delaware City School, Mrs. George L. Bright, for the meeting of the P-T. A. on Monday evening, February 8. Mrs. Barnes, visiting teacher for New Castle county, was present and made a fine address on "Keeping the Children in School," encouraging the pupils of Delaware City to try for the attendance banner. The principal, Newell Ward, spoke of the need for understanding between pupils and parents, following his talk with an invitation for all to buy a copy of "The Delaware City Decoy," the school paper. With a report of eight new members from the membership committee, the association can now boast of 126 names enrolled on their books.

Lee's Chapel

There was a large attendance at the meeting of Lee's Chapel Colored P-T. A. on February 5th, when everyone enjoyed the program given by the children of the school. There was a general discussion of the wonderful work being accomplished by Miss Augusta C. Smith who is teaching a number of the people of the community in a Night School. Another meeting of the association was to be held on the fifteenth.

Commodore MacDonough

A splendid meeting marked the second anniversary of the opening of Commodore MacDonough School, when the Home and School Association met on February 9 in the school auditorium. In the absence of the speaker who had been expected, Professor Ezra Wenger very ably took his place and the audience was greatly pleased with his talk. The Boy Scout troop was formally installed, the Scout Council, of which Rev. W. W. Harris, Horace Simmons, and Claude Lester are members, sat on the platform, while Professor Wenger, the Scout Master, explained the aims and activities of the boys and predicted that by this time next year there would be twenty in the troop instead of ten. At the March meeting of the association, the Girl Reserves will have their installation.

SESQUICENTENNIAL HISTORY SKETCHES

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by the Sesquicentennial International Exposition, which opens at Philadelphia, June 1, 1926.

Thomas Jefferson, Virginia

A red haired, healthy looking youth with hazel-gray eyes, prominent cheek-bones, and a heavy chin, was known as "inquisitive" Thomas Jefferson, because of his delight in asking questions and persisting until they were answered.

It was the same tenacity of purpose and love of controversy that characterized him as a child that aided the thirty-two-year-old Jefferson in writing the Declaration of Independence, the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the signing of which will be commemorated by the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia, on June 1st.

He was born in Virginia, on April 13, 1743, the third child of the family. When he came of age in 1764, he was the wealthiest, one of the best educated, and certainly the most conspicuous young man in Albemarle county.

He recognized and assumed the responsibilities of his position and within a few months was elected to two of his father's offices—justice of the peace and vestryman of the parish. He writes of himself that the passions of his soul were music, mathematics, and architecture.

Jefferson was proficient in natural sciences and was versed in anatomy, civil engineering, physics, mechanics, meteorology, astronomy, architecture, and botany. Such was his knowledge of various subjects, that he was considered a monument of learning.

According to his biographer, William Eleroy Curtis in "The True Thomas Jefferson," the author of the Declaration of Independence was the father of fast mails, having arranged while Secretary of State, to have mails transported at the rate of one hundred miles a day, then considered an extremely rapid pace; author of the coinage system, the Mint in Philadelphia having been established at his recommendation; and the ablest politician that this country had produced.

His public life covered a period of sixty-one years. He was actually in office thirty-nine years. Among other offices which he held, he was elected to Congress in 1781 and again in 1783. In 1784 he was sent as minister to France. He was inaugurated Vice-President in 1796, and was elected President in 1800 and served until March 4, 1809.

"ALOMA OF THE SOUTH SEAS"

"Aloma of the South Seas" will be presented at the Playhouse, Wilmington, all next week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday, with the same splendid cast and production that recently received so much favorable comment during the record run of the play in Philadelphia, where it crowded the famous old Walnut Street Theatre for three months during which time several extra performances were given, so great was the demand to see the play. The piece was first produced thirteen months ago and ran at the Lyric Theatre in New York, for eight months. These runs prove that this love drama of the tropics appeals to the masses.

The authors, John B. Hymer and LeRoy Clemens, have combined various elements which go to make entertainment for everybody. A big scenic production and the realistic effect of a terrific tropical storm is a feature, seldom seen in the theatre nowadays. Thrills, laughing incidents, pathos, novel dances and beauty are brought

Dickinson Downs Delaware Five 20-15; Two Games Scheduled During This Week

Blue And Gold Cagers Put Up Good Fight Against Flashy Maroon Team In Wilmington Friday

Delaware dropped her fifth basketball game out of six starts Friday night in the Auditorium, Wilmington, when the big Maroon five from Dickinson nosed them out in a close guarding contest, 20-15. Several hundred Delaware and Dickinson students and alumni, together with Wilmingtonians of both camps, saw the game.

As has been the case all season, Delaware's lightweight attack could not function consistently against the burly men on the Dickinson team. Never has the lack of weight been more apparent than at this time.

out during the recital of a pretty love story which tears the veneer of hypocrisy away and holds human nature up to the mirror. The cast embraces Mary Ann Dentler, Harry C. Bannister, Ray Collins, Ruth Abbott, Lily Kerr, George Fitzgerald, Walter Ayers, Ben Taggart, Leonard Carter, Sally Stembler, Thomas McLarnie, Rita Nolan, Doris Williams, Larry Woods, Ed. Brady and others, including Hawaiian instrumentalists who furnish exotic music and the much talked of South Sea dancers, LaGitana, Yurieva and Victoria whose representations of tropical dances are faithful reproductions of those customarily performed throughout the islands and being so must not be considered too lightly.

Lichenstein caged four pretty goals, but all were from well out on the floor. He was the big Delaware gun. The Methodists' edge in passing was reflected in the score. The invaders seemed to have a better idea of what to do with the ball when they gained possession of it while momentary hesitations on the part of Delaware when they got hold of the spheroid gave Dickinson a better chance to cover. The relative ability of the teams was better indicated by this more concerted passing attack of the Carlisle crew than by the points separating them.

Dickinson upheld the great record which it has established on the court this season, undefeated in all their starts and numbering among their victims the University of Pennsylvania. The Blue and Gold combine appeared nothing daunted by the reputation of their rivals which has marked them as one of the best quintets in the east, and fought gamely from whistle to whistle.

Dickinson appeared more willing to try long shots and with more chances excelled in this department. The feature toss of the evening, however, was one from the hands of Bill Carroll, long and slim Delaware center. Captain Lichenstein did nearly all of the scoring for Delaware and divided honors with Gallagher, of Dickinson. Each secured four field and one foul goals for nine points. Sweeley at forward for Dickinson and Creamer at guard for Delaware, both played hard games and the all around floorwork of Goldberg was one of the best performances of the night. Score:

Play Tomorrow
Delaware has two more assignments this week. On Thursday the Blue and Gold dribblers will take on Hahnemann in the Newark gym. On Saturday the five will be the guests of Franklin and Marshall College at Lancaster. Neither of these teams have particularly good records and Delaware is expected to break back into the win column.

"Delmarvia" Believed To Have Originated With Movement To Merge Delaware And Shore

Author Of Slogan Not Known Today; First Used, Says Vallandigham,
In Early Seventies; Would Have Embraced 6150 Sq. Miles

Much speculation has been rife of late concerning the origin of the coined word "Delmarvia," used in reference to the delightful peninsula formed by the Chesapeake and Delaware bays, which includes Delaware, the Eastern Shore of Maryland and two counties of Virginia. The subject has been brought to the front of late primarily by the insistence of certain organizations of the peninsula that the name is properly Del-Mar-Va, and that they shall henceforth drop the "I" from the word, and be known as "Del-Mar-Va."

It was intimated by John S. Rossell at a recent banquet that nearly a hundred years ago an attempt was made to form a new state out of the peninsula.

This is true, in the main, but not the "State of Delmarvia." A resolution was passed by the Senate and House of Representatives of Delaware, pointing out the advisability of joining Delaware and the Maryland counties of the Eastern Shore into one state in February, 1833, but with the insistence that the name of the new state should be Delaware. A commission was appointed.

With such restrictions on name, and the fact that Maryland would sadly miss her Eastern Shore counties, it was not likely that anything should come of this, and, in fact, the proposal fell through. Delmarvia may have been suggested, but it seems also unlikely, as this name is possibly not over fifty years old, and did not come into use until the latter part of the century.

Old residents spoken to concerning the name fail to recall that it was used in the days of their youth. At any rate it did not come into current use until the present century.

Apparently the author of the name is unknown, although exhaustive research might bring his name to light.

Dr. E. N. Vallandigham in his delightful book, "Delaware and the Eastern Shore," believes that it was first used in the early seventies. He says that one of the movements, attracting more or less languid interest, to unite the whole peninsula into a single state, occurred in the early seventies, and brought on a lively discussion.

"In this instance the name suggested was 'Delmarvia.' There was some favorable comment in a few of the Maryland counties, and Delawareans would have been glad to see the area and population of the State more than doubled, though they had little taste for exchanging the sonorous and historically significant name 'Delaware' for the hybrid 'Delmarvia.' Of course the Virginians were cold to the proposal, scornfully unwilling to sell their birthright for what seemed to them an unsavory mess of pottage."

However, such a state with its large population, its inherent richness and wealth, both agriculturally and industrially, would have at once taken its place as one of the richest and most prosperous states in the Union.

But the name Delmarvia, as applied to the peninsula watered by the Chesapeake and Delaware bays, has been in such long usage, has been so generally accepted, and altogether forms a more delectable mouthful, that the substitution of Del-Mar-Va seems due for some hard sledding as far as general and popular use is concerned. —Sunday Star.

FORESTRY'S SEMI-CENTENNIAL

(From the Pittsburgh Post)

In the course of a long uphill struggle it is profitable from time to time to look back and review the progress that has been made. The centennial of the inauguration of a movement is a particularly appropriate occasion for such a survey, and the semi-centennial only a little less so. Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association, has done well in directing attention to the fact that the year 1926 marks the fiftieth anniversary of forestry in the United States; for in reviewing the course that the campaign for conservation of our timber resources has taken during the half century there is encouragement for its continuation with unabated vigor.

Men of vision had foreseen the necessity of preserving the sources of lumber supply long before a shortage was threatened. William Penn required that one acre of forest be left for every five cleared. Connecticut in Colonial days had an ordinance designed to check wastefulness in the use of timber. Congress made an appropriation of $200,000 in 1799 for the purchase of a forest reserve from which the Navy was to get timber for ships. In 1873 Congress passed an act granting 160 acres of the public domain to any settler who would plant and maintain forty acres of forest in treeless sections. That same year the American Association for the Advancement of Science adopted resolutions requesting the Federal Government to investigate our forest resources. But it was not until 1876 that organized forestry, as we now understand it, got under way. In the centennial year, Dr. Franklin B. Hough was appointed by the United States Commissioner of Agriculture, to make the forest investigation requested by the Association for the Advancement of Science. Out of the work that he did, the United States Forest Service was developed.

The magnitude of the forestry movement, as it stands, is well known. Innumerable agencies are working in all parts of the country for the conservation of our rapidly dwindling forest resources. Only last week a new organization, the Pennsylvania Forest Products Manufacturer's Association, entered the campaign with a convention at Tyrone.

The need for preventing forest fires, for careful lumbering, and for restoring trees on the denuded areas is now apparent to every intelligent American.

Eastern Shore Advertising Fund

Now Reaches Toward $50,000 Mark

With $1,300 secured at the Worcester County Conference held in Snow Hill Tuesday, February 2, and $1,000 in new pledges secured at the Somerset County Conference, the total sum so far pledged toward the support of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association is $46,996.

So far the Counties which have swung in line back of the Association in vigorous fashion are: Wicomico, Dorchester, Sussex, Worcester, and Somerset, with Wicomico in the lead with a total of $17,335 pledged. The Kent County, Maryland, Conference will be held on Friday, February 5 and steps are being taken to arrange for Conferences in Queen Anne, Caroline, Talbot, and Cecil Counties. In Delaware, Sussex County is rapidly nearing its quota of $15,000. Preliminary steps are being taken to organize Kent County, Delaware, while in New Castle County the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce has authorized an annual appropriation of $10,000 to the Association.

It is expected that by March 1 Conferences will have been held or scheduled in each one of the fourteen counties on the Peninsula. As soon as all of the counties have been given an opportunity to signify the measure of support which they propose giving the movement, steps will be taken to organize the Association on a permanent basis and to proceed with the initial phases of an advertising and publicity program. The Association will also establish a Research Department and a Traffic Bureau.

It is announced at Association Headquarters that when the canvass of the fourteen counties has been completed, the program will be adjusted to meet the needs of the counties which support the movement. The counties which may, for a reason, remain outside of the Association circle will not be penalized in any way, but on the other hand they cannot expect the Association to render them the special services to which the active supporters of the movement will be entitled.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. George T. Peterson, who passed away on January 30, 1925.

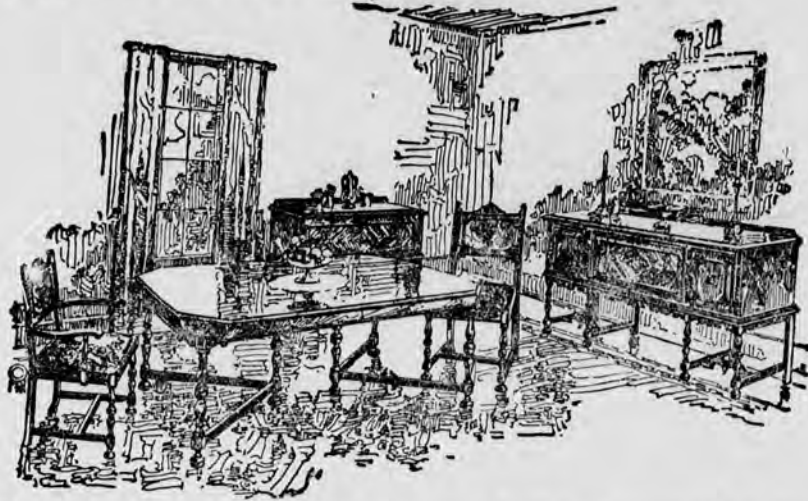

She bade no one a last farewell,
She said "Good-Bye" to none,
Her heart had ceased to beat before
We knew that she had gone.

Her cheery smile and kindly ways
Are pleasant to recall;
She had a smile for everyone
And died beloved by all.

Sadly missed by Husband and Children.

MEGARY

There's More Than Comfort in a Well-Furnished Dining-Room—

There's an added enjoyment to every meal if our minds are not bothered about creaking and groaning chairs or a table that's palsied and wobbling—or a buffet whose drawers and cupboards stick and bind.

And there's the pride that comes to everyone when our guests admire and enjoy not only the dinner, but the beauty of the dining-room furnishings.

Dining-room suites like all other furniture here are lower priced than usual this month.

Here are just a few suites to give some idea of their modest prices.

There is a suite of combination walnut, with high-lighted medallions, in the popular Tudor design. The buffet, six-legged, is 66 inches long, with deep cupboards and of course a silver drawer—the serving table is fully enclosed—the china, semi-enclosed with fretted door. The table is 42" x 54" with a six-foot extension. The chairs to match are upholstered in a fine small-figured tapestry.

It is marked this month for the suite of ten pieces, $225.00.

Another suite of combination walnut, dustproof, mahogany interiors, is of the heavier type, with 66-inch buffet, a 44" x 60" table, a closed server and semi-enclosed china. The chairs are covered in a small-figured velour.

It is marked this month for the suite of ten pieces, $292.50.

A particularly attractive suite in combination walnut, with a 66-inch buffet, has a fine gold-lined inlay and the front finished with plaques of burl walnut.

It is marked this month for the suite of ten pieces, $306.00.

There is a suite of combination walnut, in a high-lighted dull finish. The buffet is 66 inches, the table 42" x 60". Rosewood plaques ornament doors and bottom with an overlay of maple.

It is marked this month, the suite of ten pieces, $315.00.

Among the new arrivals is a very fine suite in combination American Walnut—66-inch buffet. It is of the Renaissance period, sturdy and massive. The fronts are of fine burl walnut with pierced maple overlays. The chairs are covered in a fine blue tapestry, closely resembling hair cloth. The serving table is unusual, of the new "hutch" type, completely enclosed to the floor with roomy cupboards and linen shelf.

It is marked this month for the suite of ten pieces, $346.50.

In the always popular classic style of Hepplewhite, there is a walnut suite with a 66-inch buffet, a 44" x 60" table, a single door server and a semi-enclosed china closet. Made of fine walnut throughout with quartered oak interiors and fronts of burl walnut. The chairs are particularly attractive with seats in a small-design tapestry.

It is marked this month, the suite of ten pieces, $350.00.

And there is one suite that is an especial value. The buffet is 66 inches with a moulded shaped top. The china closet is semi-enclosed, the chairs are in a fine figured blue-taupe tapestry. The table, heavy and substantial is of the new pedestal type, distinctive and different. The suite is of the Renaissance period, with heavy turned legs and shaped stretcher and is in American Walnut.

It is marked this month for the suite of ten pieces, $360.00.

And for the smaller dining-room—or breakfast-room—there are some very attractive suites.

They're more than breakfast suites. They're really fine dining-room suites that have never "grown up" and their size makes them ideal for many small cozy homes or apartments.

One suite is in grey enamel, striped in brown and black with a floral basket decoration. The little server-buffet is enclosed and is 42 inches long. The drop-leaf table has a shaped top and is 38" x 46" when open, and the chairs are covered in a blue and gold tapestry.

It is marked this month for six pieces, $96.00.

A suite with a drop-leaf table and four chairs, has a combination Welsh cupboard with drop leaves. It can be had in gum, walnut finish, or in the new Wedgewood enamel.

It is marked this month for the suite of six pieces, $121.50.

A suite in maple in a deep-toned tan, high-lighted finish has four Windsor type chairs, a server, a hanging cupboard and a 36" x 48" drop-leaf table.

It is marked this month, the suite of seven pieces, $144.00.

There are three suites that are very special values this month.

Six-piece Suite	$175.00
Seven-piece Suite	$212.00
Six-piece Suite	$279.00

We'll be glad to have you select one of these suites and hold it for future delivery.

And you needn't shock your bank balance either. You may distribute the cost over a series of monthly payments if you wish, without interest or any extra charges whatever.

PROF. BARCLAY TALKS TO CLUB

New Century Group Hears University Man on "Books"

Those who attended the New Century Club meeting Monday afternoon felt the worth-whileness of the sincere thought-provoking talk on "Books and Reading," given by Professor Barclay, of the University of Delaware. He started out by saying "Books are the treasury of human knowledge" . . . "each succeeding generation testing that which has been preserved; and only those books survive that picture eternal Truth. Those that picture the aspirations of the human heart; true relationships of man to man; of man to woman; of man to his Creator are the ones that survive; the false perish."

The speaker said, personally, he had had two objects in reading, namely, pleasure and profit. For pleasure he recommended Nature books. In his discussion of what to read, Professor Barclay put religious books first. He recommended Homer's "Iliad" as the finest production of the ancient Greek civilization; "Virgil" of the ancient Romans; Matthew Arnold's "Light of Asia" as revealing Hindu thought.

To be rounded one should read books on Philosophy, Biography, Science, as well as Poetry and Romance. The reader was advised to weigh all his reading in the balance of Truth. The speaker said, in his own reading experiences, he had never found a principle of Truth expressed that he could not find in the Bible and in the writings of Shakespeare.

SHRINERS PLAN DELAWARE NIGHT

William J. Highfield Arranging For Celebration In Wilmington Next May

Members of the Shrine and of the Masonic order in general throughout the community, are interested in the plans for a "Delaware Night" to be given by Lu Lu Temple of Philadelphia in Wilmington on May 12th next. Practically the whole of the Hotel DuPont will be chartered for the occasion, it is understood.

For years it was the custom of Lu Lu Temple, on account of having probably 1800 members in this State, to hold a Delaware Night. Potentate Highfield broached the idea of having a Delaware Night in Delaware. It is intended to bring to Wilmington on that occasion the Lu Lu Temple Band of 125 pieces, the Patrol and all of the uniformed units of the organization. This will number several hundred men.

Put on Ceremonial One of the big features to the members of the organization will be the Ceremonial which will be put on in the Playhouse. On this occasion there will be a considerable number of candidates from Delaware to enter the Shrine, and these will be initiated at this ceremonial. It is probable that there will be a large class, as both the members of the Knights Templar and the Consistory are eligible to membership.

Guard Officers Honor Guests At Reception

Captain and Mrs. James C. Hastings Entertain At Reception And Dance In Armory Friday Evening; Many Local Guests Attend; Bad Roads Keep Several Visitors Away.

One of the most pleasing social events of the current season was held Friday night here, when Captain and Mrs. James Hastings tendered a reception and dance to the officers of the 198th Regiment, Delaware National Guard, their wives and friends. The affair was held in the Armory on Delaware avenue. About 150 people from down-state points, Wilmington, Newark, and Elkton attended.

Carrying out a patriotic decorative scheme, the big drill hall presented an attractive picture during the evening. During the dancing, music was furnished by Johnny Ash's Collegians. Several "Paul Jones" dances indulged in by all, proved jolly parts of the program.

During the first half of the dance, an appropriate tribute to the memory of Lincoln took place. During a pause in the music, Corporal Reynolds, of the local battery, unveiled a flag-draped portrait of the Emancipator, immediately following which the orchestra struck up the National anthem, as the guests stood at attention.

Many Guests Present

In the receiving line with Captain and Mrs. Hastings were the following guests:

Colonel and Mrs. John P. LeFevre of Dover, Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. George J. Schultz of Hartly, Major and Mrs. H. B. VanSciver of Wilmington, Major Robert P. Glassburn, U. S. A., senior instructor to the 198th regiment, and Captain Robert Carswell, junior instructor.

Other military men and their parties present were:

Captain and Mrs. H. B. VanSciver, Captain and Mrs. Leroy E. Work, Captain and Mrs. North Dowling, Jr., Captain John J. Dugan, Lieutenant and Mrs. James A. McDonald, Lieutenant and Mrs. Clarence A. Baker, Lieutenant J. Smith, Jr., Captain and Mrs. K. Hall Sipple, Lieutenant Herman W. Cook and Lieutenant and Mrs. James L. Whaley, all of the 198th Regiment; Major Arthur Underwood, Captain and Mrs. William P. Morse and Captain and Mrs. Whittimore of Newark, all three officers being connected with the R. O. T. C. at the University of Delaware; Colonel and Mrs. S. J. Smith, retired chaplain and Lieutenant Edward Barber, U. S. A., now visiting his mother, Mrs. S. J. Smith.

Newark people made up the principal number of civilian guests, with a sprinkling of guests from nearby points. Among others present were:

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hulihan, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Heim, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Gallaher, Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Armand Durant, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Robinson.

Dean Winifred J. Robinson, Mrs. W. Ray Baldwin of Elk Mills, Mrs. Richard Bond, Wilmington, Misses Edna Murray, Mary Ryan, Anne Ritz, Ruth King, Ann Gallaher, Mary Meade, Mary Houston, Harriet Wilson, Mrs. Catherine Wilson Goldsmith, Natalie Ayerst of Elkton, Miss Elsie Wright and Miss Clendaniel.

FARMERS SAVE MONEY

In Pennsylvania the Keystone Grange Exchange the past year did nearly a million and a half dollars of business for Grange members and handled an immense amount of goods purchased in large lots at wholesale rates, and distributed among the local units all over the state. This Grange enterprise, has saved thousands of dollars for the Pennsylvania Grange members and each year of the Exchange shows a steady increase in its business. The articles handled are chiefly fertilizer, seed, farm implements, spraying materials and household supplies.

STATE LEADS IN CARS PER CAPITA

Titling Officer Says Delaware Motor Cars Are Owned By One Out of Five Persons

Delaware led the nation last year in the number of pleasure cars per capita, according to figures made public last week. Nebraska last year claimed the greatest number of pleasure cars, the ratio being one car to every six persons. But Delaware went them one better.

During 1925 there were automobile licenses issued for 39,840 pleasure cars and for 375 motorcycles, making a total of 40,215. This would have meant one car to six if there had only been 39,103 licenses issued, but there were more, so that this state, with 234,720 persons, although one of the smallest in population, leads the nation in the number of pleasure cars per person owned there.

Officials of the Titling Department of the State Highway Department, believe that this year will see a much heavier registration of pleasure cars.

"I believe there will be from ten to twenty per cent increase in the number of automobiles used for pleasure," said S. D. Prouse, head of the Titling Department. "I am basing this prediction on conversations I have had with many dealers and from other information coming to me. The dealers tell me that they have excellent prospects. By that, persons have come to them and have looked cars over and have volunteered the information that they are going to buy a car. These are not owners of cars seeking a new one, but citizens who have never yet owned an automobile."

Up to Saturday, licenses had been issued for 25,928 pleasure cars. That this is only about half of what will be issued during the remainder of the year is indicated in many ways. Many persons either spent too much money on Christmas gifts, or else are using it for other purposes now and this class always waits until April or May when the weather moderates before they obtain their car license. That is the method used every year. Up to date driving permits have been issued to 31,000 persons. This latter item seems to forecast more paid chauffeurs this year. The number of persons taking the examination for paid chauffeur jobs is larger this year than last.

If Henry Ford, or some like beneficent navigator ever succeeds in perfecting and popularizing air routes, we unhappy mortals who have been floundering in ten inches of snow will rise as one man and shout—"Banzai! He is the thrice Blessed One!" To step aboard an aeroplane and be in Florida overnight, leaving some one else behind to clean up the mess, is a joy too good to be true. Maybe it will come. It is not safe any more to forecast failure no matter how lurid or fanciful be the project. So far the public has not taken to air navigation with any sort of enthusiasm but its perfection may tell an entirely different story.

South Jersey is now suffering from a bad case of bridgeitis that means that visions of gold and glory can only be realized by throwing bridges across the lower Delaware. We have about $15,000,000 borrowed money already invested in the present structure that so far hasn't carried a wheel, and the ultra thrifty opine that we had better pay for one horse before going in debt for another. At least it is worth waiting to give the present structure a tryout, before constructing another.

Possibly John Rockefeller hasn't the slightest idea of the sum of his great wealth and what is more, does not care a rap. He has reached the goal of a kindly old man, pursuing his simple pleasures with childlike simplicity and the world holds nothing else. After all is said and done, however, the greatest achievement of his life has been to raise a worthy son. This alone counts in the final summing up, let the testator be a billionaire or modest citizen.

The last words of the late John R. Gates, ruthless multi-millionaire, was "Charlie, Charlie"—in his delirium calling for his only son, who died at 21, a victim of too much money. A well known writer well puts it that after reaching a certain point, a man no longer owns his money, his money owns him. Unquestionably the ripe years of John Rockefeller and his simple pleasures are solely due to his wisdom in getting out from under the driving and merciless bondage of his own wealth in time.

A recent census discloses that Vermont has more cows than people. Simultaneously comes a dispatch that the mercury in upper New England is 32 degrees below zero. Can it be possible that all the hired men and dairymaids who have been forking hay into those cows have flung down their pitchforks and pails and fled to a more kindly clime—Florida, for instance? Come to think of it, you

The county engineer's office was complimented by the Levy Court for the expeditious manner in which the county roads were cleared following the ten-inch snowfall last week. The court received a letter from the superintendent of Edgewood Sanitarium at Marshalton, thanking it and the engineer's office and road forces for clearing the road leading past the sanitarium last Sunday so that food supplies could be received.

NEW POULTRY CLUB FORMED

B. & O. R. Through Club Agent Willim, Decides To Open Another Organization In County

That New Castle county is to have another B. & O. Poultry Club to be established by the B. & O. Railroad Company in pursuing their commercial and agricultural development policy, seems to be a fact. This announcement was made yesterday by Ed Willim, Jr., County Club Agent, after a visit by Mr. E. B. Baugh, agricultural agent of the Railroad. This will make three poultry clubs started under the auspices of this company within the same number of years. These three clubs are maintained with the co-operation of the B. & O. Railroad, the Extension Division of the University of Delaware and the New Castle County Farm Bureau.

This club will be somewhat different from the two others formed in the county, according to Mr. Baugh, when he made this offer for his railroad. From his statement, the railroad will furnish ten early hatched high grade Barred Rock pullets and one cockerel to ten boys or girls in some rural community of the county. In former years the railroad furnished high-grade day-old baby chicks. By giving the club members this six to eight weeks old stock it is believed that they can carry this number through the summer to the laying season without further loss.

The railroad wants every club member to have ten laying birds with which to start the beginning of the flock management when the birds mature and are ready to lay about November 1. Last year Frank Andrews of the Middletown B. & O. Poultry Club raised 42 baby chicks out of the 55 given him by the railroad. He is now the owner of this large flock of chickens which seem to be making considerable money for their young owner.

Mr. Willim says that the community in which this new club is to be placed, has not been selected. He wants to put it in a locality which hitherto has been little touched by the Extension Service in the county.

N. J. GRANGE COURAGE

Members Denounce Senators For Their "Wet" Attitude

The Grange in New Jersey recently expressed itself forcibly on the attitude of the two United States senators from that state, who are endeavoring to overthrow national prohibition. At the annual session of the New Jersey State Grange at Atlantic City the delegates unanimously passed a resolution "emphatically censuring and condemning the attitude of the senators from New Jersey to modify prohibition enforcement in any manner and demands of them to about face and stand for law, order and decency."

The State Grange also declared that the two senators "do not represent the sentiment of the thinking people of New Jersey," and further drove the matter home by voting to send a copy of the resolution adopted to President Coolidge and to every congressman and senator in Washington.

Newark Loses Chance at State Court Title; Beaten by Dover High Last Night, 26-18

An unlooked for defeat at the hands of Dover High School last night, definitely put Newark out of the running for the 1926 D. I. A. A. basketball championship.

Jury's Plea Disregarded; Woolman Jailed

Chief Justice Pennewill Holds That Jurymen End Their Duties With Return Of Verdict; Elkton Youth Gets Three Months Term In Workhouse

Faced by an unusual situation—a written communication from the jury in the case, Chief Justice Pennewill and Associate Justices Richards and Rodney, on Friday, wrote the final chapter to the case of the State vs. James Woolman, 19 year old Elkton youth, who was convicted on a charge of simple assault growing out of the death of Miss Mildred Congdon, struck by Woolman's car on Depot road here, December 16th last.

Three months in jail was the sentence imposed on Woolman. He has now begun his sentence in the New Castle County Workhouse.

Before imposing sentence, Chief Justice Pennewill read a communication received from the jury that tried the Elkton youth, in which the jurors asked that no term of imprisonment be imposed on Woolman.

The communication was as follows: "We, the undersigned, being the jurors sworn to hear and determine the above stated case, do respectfully recommend to your honors that the defendant, James Woolman, be not sentenced to a term in the New Castle County Workhouse and that he be fined a sum commensurate with his means."

"We further humbly report to your Honors that in reaching the verdict which we did we took into consideration the youth and excellent reputation of the defendant, James Woolman, and for that reason reached our verdict of 'guilty of assault with a recommendation for mercy,' in the hope that your Honors would not sentence the said James Woolman to a term in the New Castle County Workhouse."

Cockburn, known to be heavy scorers, got loose too many times, however. Field goals won the game with plenty to spare.

A huge crowd witnessed the struggle between the two rivals. Newark girls nosed out the Dover sextette by one point, 28-27, in the preliminary game.

he should be proud, and we believe that when his time has expired his life and conduct will be such as to vindicate the faith and confidence of his many friends.

Woolman was represented by Philip L. Garrett and J. P. Cann, of Wilmington, and Henry L. Constable, of Elkton.

Extra Half-Inch of Milk Will Add $507,555 To Profits of Delaware Dairymen

An extra half-inch of milk in every cow's milk pail at each milking would add $507,555 to the profits of Delaware dairymen during the next twelve months, according to the Larrowe Institute of Animal Economics.

"The average cow in this state gives around three inches of milk at a milking," states the Institute. "At the prevailing market price of milk the extra half-inch in the pail would mean about fifteen extra dollars in the pocket of her owner. On the basis of the 33,837 cows of milking age on Delaware farms, this should mean $507,555 that may be available to dairymen and to the farm family."

As an instance of what better care and feeding will do for a dairy herd, the Institution cites the cow-testing association records of fifteen cows on the Valley Farm of Smith & Preston at Conotton, O. Ten dollars a day above their board is what this group paid the owners each day for a year for the privilege of remaining on the farm, or at the rate of $279.84 per cows per year.

An outstanding example of what feed and treatment will do for a cow is Sabina, one of the herd. In one year's time she produced 11,599.9 pounds of milk containing 702.1 pounds of butter. The total value of her production was $509.04, or $426.87 over the costs of her feed during the twelve months.
