Derelicts And Druids Hold "Tap Day" Sat.

Senior And Sophomore Honorary Societies Notify Candidates Of Their Election; 24 "Tapped"

The Derelicts and Druids, Senior and Sophomore honorary societies of the University of Delaware, held "Tap Day" last Saturday afternoon, which is the occasion of tapping candidates, who have been elected to the respective societies. Members of the Freshman and the Junior classes who have been prominent and outstanding in their class and University activities are elected to the societies.

Present members of the Derelicts, the Senior Society, assembled on the steps of Old College while the student body collected around the steps to witness the ceremony. John Leach, a former Derelict, and a member of the class of '25 made a brief speech, in which he stressed the aims, functions and ideals of the society. Mr. Leach pointed out that the organization was formed when conditions at the University were in a turmoil due to fraternity politics, and it was with ideas of removing this state of affairs that the organization was formed. Mr. Leach also stressed the fact that new members were selected without fraternities playing any part in the procedure. Mr. Leach also urged all of the undergraduates to take a greater part in the activities of the school and to make membership into this society their aim, as it represented the last word in Senior honors at the University.

The following members of the junior class were chosen as members of the society for the coming year: William Reybold, of Delaware City; Louis DiJoseph, of Jenkintown, Pa.; Harold Roser, of Kennett Square, Pa.; Floyd Hubert, of Newark, Del.; Richard French, of Richardson Park; Edwin Murray, of Wilmington; James Jaquette, of Newark; Richard Long, of Delmar; Virgil Van Street, of Dover; Robert Burton, of Philadelphia; Max Glasser, of Westfield, N. J.

The Druid Society of the sophomore class made their selection during the annual track and field meet on Frazer Field. The Druids formed a triangle on the bank of Frazer Field and as each new member was tapped he was led into the triangle by the present Druid who tapped him. The following men were chosen from the freshman class: William Brown, of Wilmington; Frank Gladden, of North East, Md.; John Russo, of Wilmington; Joseph Moran, of Wilmington; Caleb Boggs, of Cheswold; Louis Smith, of Norwood, Pa.; Robert Ely, of Wilmington; William Doordan, of Newark; Robert Glover, of Wilmington; John McDowell, of Philadelphia; James Hill, of Wilmington, and William Morgan, of Wildwood, N. J.

Old College Sing Goes Over Big!

Large Group Broadcasts Some Nasty Harmony In Attempted Revival of "Singing College"

On last Wednesday evening about seventy-five students assembled on the steps of Old College at the invitation of the Student Council to sing all the old songs and to have a regular get-together meeting such as was held in the lounge in the good old days before the cafeteria. Jimmy Wilson led the singing and did no mean job of it, although he assured the audience that he would have some one more experienced in that line to officiate at the meeting to be held at the same time next week. All who attended were filled with enthusiasm and there seems to be little doubt but that the Wednesday sing will soon become one of Delaware's traditions. Everyone present was requested to appear again next Wednesday and bring some one else to swell the number.

BOTH MEN DESERVING

At a meeting of the combined editorial and business staffs of The Review, held Wednesday in The Review office, Emerson Wilson was unanimously chosen Editor-in-Chief to succeed R. W. Robinson, retiring editor. In another unanimous choice, Philip Blank was delegated the responsibility of presiding over the business management, succeeding R. S. Baker. Joseph Flanger defeated Richards by a close vote for News Editor, while the Business Staff, without a dissenting voice chose Marcus Torelli as assistant to the business manager. The elections were remarkable for the smoothness with which they proceeded, three unanimous elections setting a new record for harmony.

Both Wilson and Blank have proven themselves capable of handling their respective responsibilities and with the continued co-operation of their supporters are expected to publish a tip-top paper during the coming year. Editor-in-Chief Wilson announces that the retiring editor, R. W. Robinson, will be retained in the capacity of advisory editor for the coming year. Complete statement of appointments will appear next week.

Haverford Dumps Delaware Again!

Garrett worked again on Friday against Haverford and was not up to his usual form, in fact the same was true of the whole Delaware nine, as they played the sloppiest ball of the current season. Delaware started out by getting over 3 runs in the first inning before the Mainliners knew what it was all about, but after that, Haverford tightened and Delaware loosened, and the game went easily out of Delaware's hands. Tennis Team Out for Second Win

Succumbed to Johns Hopkins Tuesday by 7-2 Score

Captain Fritz Creamer's tennis team will play their second home match of the season tomorrow afternoon, meeting Franklin and Marshall. The lone Delaware win has been registered on the home courts at the expense of Drexel and it is to be hoped the victory will be repeated tomorrow afternoon. The team has not had much success this season, having suffered three defeats while annexing one win. The team bowed to Johns Hopkins at Baltimore on Tuesday, 7-2. Captain Creamer was the only one to capture a singles match. Fred, paired with Alec Taylor in the doubles accounted for the other Delaware point.

Proposed Amendment to Constitution

At the student body meeting to be held May 16th the following amendment to the present Student Government Constitution will be proposed:

"Resolved, that the Constitution of the Student Government Association be amended by inserting the following article to govern class elections

ARTICLE FIVE—Section One

"The election of all class officers and representatives shall be conducted in the following manner:

"A. Nominations for all officers shall be unlimited. A motion to close the nomination shall not be in order until three minutes after the nominations have been opened.

"B. A majority vote shall be necessary for election to any office. After nominations have been closed one ballot shall be taken. If no candidate receives a majority of the votes cast, all but the three highest candidates shall be dropped from the ballot, and a second vote taken upon the three remaining candidates. If no majority is received upon the second ballot, the candidates having the lowest number of votes shall be dropped, and the final vote taken upon the two remaining men.

Section Two

"The Order of spring elections shall be as follows: 1. President; 2. Representatives to the Student Council; 3. Remaining class officers; 4. Other class representatives.

Section Three

"Two days shall have intervened between nominations for and elections to all class offices."

St. John's Tossers Collect Timely Hits

Failure to Hit Safe in Pinches Spells Defeat for Delaware Though They Outbit Johnnies

After breaking out of a batting slump considerably the Blue and Gold baseballers allowed mishaps and had fielding to lose the game to St. Johns on Tuesday. Delaware was charged with four errors and the pitching was far from effective.

Max Glasser snapped out of a terrific batting slump and slapped a pair of singles. Lichtenstein and Jaquette also coddled Roseberry offerings for two safeties each.

Delaware will play the Johnnies in a return engagement tomorrow afternoon and are swearing vengeance in loud and angry tones. The game will start promptly at 3.00. Everybody out and give the team some whole-hearted support. The team has reached a point where it is badly in need of a win and the students should turn out in full force to help them break their losing streak at the expense of the Annapolis aggregation. Captain Whittemore Receives Gift

Presented with Travelling Bag by Combined Rifle Club in Appreciation of Coaching Services

The Rifle Clubs of the University presented Captain Kenneth Whittemore with a handsome traveling bag in recognition of his faithful service as coach of the combined rifle teams of the two colleges. The presentation came as the culmination of a picnic given by the Women's College team to Delaware College team. Miss Olive Murray, the manager of the W. C. D. team made the presentation speech. Captain Whittemore admitted that he had enjoyed the time spent in coaching the teams. He is leaving the University next year, after having spent four years here as instructor in military.

ANNUAL OUTING OF SONS OF DELAWARE, MAY 19

The Sons of Delaware will hold their annual outing and dinner at the University of Delaware on Saturday, May 19. This is also the day set aside for the May Day exercises at the Women's College.

The program for the day is as follows: May Day festival at Women's College, 2.30 standard time; baseball game at Frazer Field, at 3, between the Ursinus College and Delaware College teams; banquet in the Commons, Old College, 5.30. The principal speakers at the banquet will be George W. Elliott, former director of public safety of Philadelphia, and Josiah Marvel, attorney, of Wilmington.

Inexperienced Candidates For Presidency Plentiful; Amendment Aimed At Regulation Of Class Elections

GENERAL ELECTION WED.

The past two weeks have witnessed a great deal of activity on the campus as the annual election skirmishes absorbed the attention of the various classes. Thus far, they are not yet complete—the classes having concentrated upon the choosing of presidents and Student Council nominees in preparation for the general student elections to be held this coming Wednesday. The positions remaining to be filled will be taken care of sometime during the coming week.

The voting in all cases was particularly close. Nominations were plentiful on all sides, with the result that competition ran rife. Two, and sometimes three, votes were necessary before anyone could be declared elected.

The situation presented by the Senior class is an unusual one. Due to one of their former Student Council men having left school, Culver, and the failure of the two other representatives, French and Murray, to secure re-election, the Senior class presents as their nominees four men who have had no previous experience upon the Council. Indications are that "new blood" will predominate in the make-up of next year's student senate.

The amendment which the Council presents for adoption is the result of a consensus of opinion to the effect that class elections should be centrally regulated. The system of leaving such regulation to the individual classes is thought by many to be unsatisfactory.

Three Seniors on the Review Staff present themselves as candidates for the Council. The student body will elect one of that number, one who will best represent the student publication interests and the students as a whole, in their opinion.

The results of class elections thus far are as follows:

- Senior Class
President—Edgar Reace.
Remaining officers to be elected.
- Junior Class
President—Alex Taylor.
Vice-President—Frank Sweezy.
Secretary—Richard Rinard.
Treasurer—Charles Middleton.
- Freshman Class
President—Caleb Boggs.
Remaining officers to be elected.

The complete Student Council ballot to be presented Wednesday follows:

- Senior Class Nominees
(Vote for two.)
Robert Burton
Lawrence Elliott
John Flynn
Hugh Holt
- Senior Representative from Review Staff
(Vote for one.)
Ralph W. Robinson
Philip Blank
Bernard Nobis
- Junior Class Nominees
(Vote for two.)
Allan Barton
Charles Kimble
Frank Squillace
Irving Taylor
- Sophomore Class Nominees
(Vote for one.)

Chemical Engineers All Have Jobs

Despite "hard times" and alleged depression in some industries, it has been ascertained that the seniors in the chemical engineering course at Delaware are all assured good positions upon graduation. They have been placed as follows:

Chas Gurney with the Hercules Powder Co., to be located at the Experimental Station in Kenvil, New Jersey.
F. I. Ponsell and C. F. Kelly are both to go to the Jackson laboratory of the du Pont Co.
P. B. Locates has been working part time at the Krebs Co. and will continue there after graduation.

"The Show-Off" Is "Red Hot" No Foolin'!

Footlighters Promise Most Interesting Comedy On May 17th; Cast Thoroughly Prepared To "Put It Over"

The much heralded Footlighters production, "The Show-off," will be presented at Wolf Hall on Thursday evening, May 17, 1928, at 8.00 p. m. There has been so much said and written about this show that it would be useless to add much, but the writer will take this opportunity to say that the club feels sure that this production will be a banner one in the history of the Footlighters Club. They intend to end this season—which was on the whole a successful one—in a blaze of glory. Certainly they have picked the right play, because George Kelley has put just about everything there is in this comedy. There are thrills, suspense, pathos and great gobs of comedy.

The cast which is above the average has been working diligently ever since vacation and they have made great headway. Each member seems to fit into his part admirably and they give every indication performing perfectly on next Thursday evening. Remember the date isn't very far off. You'd better buy your ticket now and be sure of a good time. All the members of the Women's College are just dying to see this play and they especially like to get out on Thursday night so you shouldn't have a hard time getting a date.

Even if you go by yourself we can guarantee you a really good time for you'll like the wise cracks and the comedy and you won't find the female members of the cast at all hard to look at. So remember Thursday at 8 and only 50 cents.

General Ely Inspects University R. O. T. C.

Commander of Second Corps Area Makes Annual Inspection; Highest Officer Which Ever Inspected Delaware Unit

Major-General Hanson E. Ely, commander of the second corps area, the headquarters of which is at Governor's Island, N. Y., inspected the University of Delaware R. O. T. C. unit on Monday. The inspection took place at noon and did not interfere with classroom work. The usual sham battle was omitted from this year's inspection program.

General Ely is on an inspection trip throughout the area. This is the first time that the R. O. T. C. here has been honored by an official visit from such a high army official. General Ely was accompanied by Major E. Audrey, also of Governor's Island, who recently made the annual inspection of the local R. O. T. C. unit. He was met on his arrival in Newark by Major Robert P. Glassburn, Major Arthur R. Underwood and Captain K. G. Whittemore, all of the regular army and instructors of the R. O. T. C.

On his arrival General Ely was taken for a call on Dr. Walter Hulihan, president of the University, at the latter's office, where he also met several other members of the faculty. The General then reviewed the battalion on the campus. This inspection was followed by luncheon in Old College Hall, which was attended by the cadet officers in addition to the regular army officers present. General Ely gave a short talk to the cadet officers.

During the inspection, the second platoon of Company A was judged the best platoon in the unit, and for this honor, cadet Lieutenant J. F. Wright was awarded a sabre. Last week cadet Captain J. F. Gerdy, commanding Company A, was awarded a sabre when Company A won the drill competition.

CURTAIN!

"And so the little Red Squirrel with one last frisk of his bushy tail scampered up the trunk of the old Hollow Tree in the Green Meadow and disappeared! Which is the end of our story hour for children! Next week, Uncle Wip will tell us all about"—but we don't know what he's going to tell you about. We'll let him attend to that! Which is our funny, little way of saying that this is the last issue of The Review published by the present staff.

And now that it's all over but the shouting—or the funeral, the editor finds that, after all, there is but one thing of which he is certain—he has given his level best, without stint. One policy he has consistently tried to hold to in editorial remarks: that of reviewing facts in as impartial a manner as circumstances made possible—and presenting conclusions arrived at without mincing words or beating around the bush.

Any verbal bouquets directed toward our retiring business manager are superfluous. His achievements cannot be denied. Figures don't lie—the recent financial report is a splendid double-barrelled eulogy in his behalf. The editor would add a word of sincere appreciation for the unusually energetic cooperation which Baker tendered him in management affairs—a most gratifying experience. And there were others who aided materially during the past year. Francis Roemer ably represented the Review on the Student Council, Samuel Handloff proved himself a capable news editor and member of the "Board of Strategy." Rinard, Cooch, Rickards, Cohen and Flanzer were dependable news gatherers. The business staff was fortunate to have men like Blank, Torelli and Simpson that could be depended on.

The newly elected editor has been in closer touch, perhaps, with the inner workings of the editorial room than any one else. It was fitting that the one who has been the retiring editors' dependable "aide-de-camp" should now take over the reins. There is no doubt as to his capability. He will carry on. And in his new position as advisory editor, the editor will assist Wilson to any extent that his past experience makes possible. The business staff has a friendly but serious challenge to meet. What will next year's balance sheet show? Blank on the profit side and blank on the loss side—let's go!

And now—our intended short swan song has already swelled to the size of an elephant's chorus—adieu!

VOTE YES ON AMENDMENT

Every now and then as our student government continues to function circumstances arise that cause us to refer to our little blue handbooks—and we are convinced of the fact that the instigators of our present constitution were no Jeffersons! The fact has been very clearly brought home during the recent class elections. And so the Student Council presents for the approval of the student body the amendment printed on the first page of this issue. We hope that every one can clearly see the need for it and vote favorably upon it so that complications such as have occurred will no longer be possible. Elections should be conducted in a fair and systematic manner.

MORE THAN WISDOM

George Jean Nathan is quoted as saying: "If the American university doesn't teach a man wisdom, it at least teaches him how to loiter through life gracefully, and how to make other men do his work for him, and how to laugh and sing, and how to make love, and how to remember just a little more romantically than any other man, and how to smile tolerantly and pleasantly at his critics."

Personality and leadership, two fundamentals in the knack of making others work for us are of course developed or at least an attempt is made to do so while one is in college. But is that the primary purpose to relieve us of physical exertion? No. It is only a means of enabling us to contribute something of our abilities during the brief span of years for which we are preparing ourselves.

To laugh, to sing, to make love. Does our adaptation to these three deserve censorship? To be able to truly enjoy the spare moments and leisure time between the routine duties of life is a privilege the value of which is determined by scope of our intelligence. If we can turn from the trying hours of business and enjoy and upbuild ourselves for a time, we are investing more in our future than would be possible through any other channel, if not carried to extreme.

To remember romantically the days of the past is an impetus for any man to climb to higher heights. The opportunities which those golden days afforded make us look forward with true pleasure to the days of the future.

To smile tolerantly at our critics is an attribute which few people possess. Unjust criticism is indeed apt to phase us, but those who can stand unmoved by it will dispatch their work forcefully and well. Yet to be able to adjust our convictions when the truth points to broader fields is essential if we are to continue our mental and spiritual growth.

League for Industrial Democracy Convenes

Summer Session for College Students To Be Held in July, at Stroudsburg, Pa.

College students throughout the country are showing much interest in the Fourteenth Summer Conference of the League for Industrial Democracy which will be held this year from Thursday, June 28, to Sunday, July 1, at Camp Tament, Stroudsburg, Pa.

The conference will be devoted to the fascinating question as to whether socialist philosophy and tactics should be revised in view of recent developments in capitalism, particularly in America. The various sessions will deal with such subjects as the Economic Interpretation of History, Social Progress Under Capitalism, The Means of Attaining Labor Control, The Relative Advantages of Capitalism and Socialism, etc.

On Friday or Saturday afternoon the Yale Liberal Club has called a conference of representatives of college liberal clubs throughout the country to discuss at the camp methods of closer cooperation.

Among the speakers will be: Stuart Chase, the brilliant author of "Your Money's Worth" and "The Tragedy of Waste"; Harry Elmer Barnes, Professor of History at Smith College and author of many books on history and sociology; Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President of the United States; William M. Leiserson, Professor of Economics, Antioch College; Ivy Lee, Industrial Relations Counsel of the Rockefeller and other big industrial interests; James H. Maurer, President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor; Roger Baldwin, Director of the American Civil Liberties Union; Dr. I. M. Rubinow, author of "Social Insurance" and head of the Philadelphia Jewish Charities; James O'Neal, Editor of the "New Leader"; H. S. Raushenbush, co-author of "Power Control"; Dr. Jessie W. Hughan, author and teacher; Solon DeLeon, Editor of the American Labor Year Book; Dr. Alexander Goldenweiser, sociologist; Louis B. Boudin, author and attorney; Algeron Lee, Educational Director of the Rand School; Benjamin Stolberg, writer; J. B. S. Hardman, Educational Director, Amalgamated Clothing Workers; Ex-Assemblyman Louis Waldman, attorney; McAlister Coleman, writer; Paul Blanshard, Field Secretary of the L. I. D.; Dr. Harry W. Laidler, author of "History of Socialist Thought", and others.

While the conference rates are $3.50 a day, a special rate of $2.50 a day covering room, board and recreation, including tennis, swimming, boating, etc., will be made for all bona fide college students. Those interested should apply immediately to the Intercollegiate Department, League for Industrial Democracy, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

American Bankers Association to Provide 167 Scholarships for American Universities

Delaware Designated as a Beneficiary Under the New Plan; Will Receive at Least One Scholarship

New York, May 6.—One hundred sixty-seven collegiate loan scholarships will be provided by the American Bankers Association Educational Foundation, 98 of which are now being proffered to 71 selected colleges and universities in 34 states, it is announced by John H. Puelicher, President Marshall and Ilsley Bank, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, as chairman of the foundation's board of trustees. The foundation fund of $500,000 was started in 1925 by the association to commemorate its fiftieth anniversary and aims to stimulate and aid worthy men or women students to pursue courses in banking and economics in collegiate institutions throughout the country. The scholarship awards will be available for the scholastic year beginning next fall and will provide recipients with loans of $250, to be repaid on easy terms following their entry into earning business life.

A special feature of the plan in addition to its educational advantages is that scholars upon discharge of all financial obligations connected with their loans will be given certificates of honorary membership in the foundation signed by the members of the board of trustees, which will be available as evidence of financial reliability for their use in starting their business careers.

Proffers of one or more scholarships, setting forth the detailed rules under which the loans will be made through the collegiate authorities and the plan under which the recipients are to pursue studies under their supervision, have been made to some institution in every state of the Union. According to the report, Delaware is designated as a college to receive at least one of these valuable scholarships.

The general plan allots one scholarship to a higher institution of learning in each state where the banks have completed the subscription quotas assigned them in the foundation fund. Additional scholarships are allowed for each unit of $2,000; or excess fraction of that amount, above $500 contributed from a state. The plan for raising the $500,000 educational fund allocated the first $250,000 to private subscriptions by bankers throughout the country and then the remaining $250,000 was divided among the various states proportionately to their banking figures. Maturity of pledges will soon complete the fund.

Under the rules adopted by the foundation trustees, institutions allotted scholarships are selected on the basis of type of school, educational standards, geographical distribution and their desire to co-operate in the plan. A committee to award the scholarships is to be created in each selected institution to consist of the head of the school of business administration or department of economics or an equivalent officer as chairman, a professor or instructor in charge of banking courses, the dean of students and a prominent banker chosen by the president of the college and chairman of the committee. The duties of the committee are to select students for scholarships and co-operate with the foundation in administering the plan. The plan, while not demanding scholarship of the highest rank, aims to develop leaders in business life and therefore precludes awards to mediocre or inferior students.

been promptly met payments may be placed on a quarterly basis until the loan is wiped out which must occur within three years. Although action will be taken in case of delinquencies, consideration will be given to special circumstances such as ill health or unavoidable unemployment.

"It is the intention of the trustees that the foundation's subscribed or incremental funds shall be used solely to advance the knowledge of banking and practical business economics," Chairman Puelicher said in announcing the launching of its actual operation. "Scholarships under it are not to be awarded those seeking general knowledge.

"To me the amount thus far subscribed is only a beginning. It is only an assurance to the American People of the American banker's devotion to the economic welfare of his country. This fund will be increased both by increments on the amount paid in and also to a material degree by large future contributions from those whose prosperity has come to them in the banking profession. I hope to see the time when this foundation will have multiplied itself tenfold."

Sigma Nu Fraternity Routed by Fire

Roof Badly Burned and House Water-Soaked Following Midnight Blaze

The members of the Sigma Nu fraternity were routed out of a sound sleep last Tuesday night when their house in Newark Center caught on fire. It seems some Snake felt cold and tried to start a fire in the fireplace, but the chimney refused to draw and a defective flue soon set the roof on fire. Then for quite a while the Snakes were very warm. When they cooled off and began to estimate the damage they found that they had lost most of their roof and this, together with the damage caused by water, placed the total extent of their losses in the neighborhood of $1500. The blaze caused quite a little excitement but did not draw a large attendance since the night was bad, and the average collegian didn't care to venture that far away from the campus for a paltry fire. A very pleasant time was had by all who attended, however, and, remembering the S. P. E. conflagration of last year, they have decided not to miss next year's annual fraternity fire. Most of the Sigma Nus had to find lodging elsewhere for the night, since their sleeping quarters had been pretty badly damaged by water. It will be several days before the house is again ready to accommodate all its former occupants, until that time the members are putting up at other fraternity houses and at private homes in Newark.

Radical Curriculum Changes at Columbia

New York, N. Y. (by New Student Service)—Displacing the present curriculum of twenty years' standing, a revised plan of undergraduate study, designed to open new and larger intellectual vistas to the student, will go into effect next September at Columbia College. The first two years will be devoted to "orientation and discovery." The junior and senior years will be given to genuine work in preparation for graduate or professional study, or for "the yet more serious business of living a useful and high-minded life."

The new plan includes such innovations as lecture courses demanding neither prerequisites nor examinations, and reading courses given cooperatively in different but allied departments of study. Discussing the program and its aims President Nicholas Murray Butler said:

"Any student who satisfactorily completes the work of the freshman and sophomore years will have gained a good general education of junior college grade. Should he not desire further college training, he will have accomplished something that is definite and most helpful in making him an intelligent citizen. Skillful advisers will come to know each student, his needs and his ambitions, and aid him to reach those decisions affecting his career which will be correct."

"Another most important principle has entered into the making of the new program. Every effort has been made to measure progress toward the bachelor's degree in terms of real achievement rather than in terms of prescribed courses, or hours, or points, or anything of the kind."

"A student who can show that he is competent to omit any of the courses ordinarily prescribed for undergraduates will be encouraged to do so. He will thus gain opportunity to take up studies for which he is ready and in which he is interested, no longer merely marking time in a group which bores and discourages him while other less well-prepared students are trying to catch up with him."

HARTER HALL PERSONALS

The week in Harter Hall has principally been devoted to listening to campaign addresses from those who are running for things, and to explaining why politics in Delaware are mismanaged and corrupt. We have elected at least four new sets of Druids and Derelicts, suppressed the Review, maligned the faculty, and settled why the Sigma Nus tried arson. A pretty good week.

The rumor has flitted around the battlements that our Power, the Campus Convoy and owner (?) of the Cantangerous Caboose, is now bottled in Bond. 100 proof, so the story goes, decidedly intoxicating, habit-forming, and would drive any one dotty. So much for Charlie for this week.

Demon Dave, the Winsome Wooser of Women, and so forth, is once more doing his bit toward making our nights unhalloved. Strains of bacchanalian revelry creep through his mail slot at all hours, and the dorms are themselves again.

We caught Nancy Hanks reading "The President's Daughter" last Sunday. Pretty bad, Nancy, and on Sunday, too! Our faith in the essential goodness of man is now absolutely null and void, and we expect to hear of Walt Davis going to the bow-wow any minute. He ducked the party of the rifle team Friday afternoon, and had unexcused absence until the shadows were as long as Wait.

Reds Goffigan announces his intention of abstaining from his customary week-end in Baltimore. These Baltimoreans get all the breaks.

Roy Raughley, the Cabin Boy, has daringly ventured into the uncharted sea of blind dates—two in two days, and he is now blind in both eyes. Little hope is held out for his recovery unless an Elizabethan expedition is arranged for him almost at once.

Emmy Wilson, the originator of the saying, "The Federal Union, it must be preserved", and co-author of "Lincoln, the Man of the People", is now Editor-in-Chief of this organ. Whoopee! We'll have free trade and Uncle Tom served up red-hot once a week.

A new society has been organized in the dorms. We haven't as yet ascertained its members or its purpose, but we hope it's not intellectual. We've seen them before.

Zoo Prof (taking class on exhibition trip)—I have a group of twenty freshmen. Can't you let us look at the monkeys for half price?

Keeper—Twenty Freshmen! Wait, I'll bring the monkeys out to look at you.

BURN 'EM UP, SNAKES!

Rumor has it that the Hartly firebug has resumed his activities, but Danes swears that he was in bed at the time.

Ted Scholl was quite embarrassed at being caught without a necktie, but he quickly remedied the situation.

Prouse says its a shame the boys had to have their fun the one night in the month that he spent at home.

The lads had difficulty in rousing Smitty, but he got out before the water began to flow and managed to save all his belongings.

The Sigma Phis were quite disappointed that there was a private phone available, and that no one had to look for a nickle to call up the fire department.

Wilson and Jones were so clever at sweeping the water away that the Kappa Alphas have decided to let them wash the porch once a week for the rest of the year. It is rumored that Wilson has accepted a position with the Newark Street Cleaning Department, but the rumor has not been confirmed as yet.

was had by all—except Scholl, who bought the sandwiches.

he betting was high on what Dick French and Fuzzy Hill would say when they came home. The exact words can not be printed here.

Kooser says that it was the best time he has had since he officiated at a Kangaroo Court.

"How does your new cigarette lighter work, John?"
John (nursing sore thumb): "Fine, I can light it with one match, now."

"John was held up last night by two men."
"Where?"
"All the way home."

BLAZERS POPULAR IN MANY COLLEGES

(By Fairchild News Service)
New York City—Students in all parts of the country are turning to the striped or solid color flannel blazer jacket as a campus and sports wear garment, according to observations made for the Daily News Record, only daily paper in the world devoted to men's style and the apparel industry.

At Amherst College, Amherst, Mass., which was recently visited by a Daily News Record reporter, a striking example of the gain in this style was observed. Here, where last season the colored flannel jackets were not seen in a single instance, large numbers of fraternity men had adapted the blazer.

Purple, light and dark blue with gold or red trimmings, emerald green and black were among the colors shown by the solid blazer jackets worn at a baseball game which was coincident with a week-end social function at this old New England College which dates its founding to Colonial days.

A few of these sprightly sons of Lord Jeffery Amherst wore striped flannel blazers in dark and light blue shades, combined, but the solid colors were in the majority. With these jackets and with the old tweed and worsted jackets, suede windbreakers, and sweaters worn by informally dressed students on the afternoon of the baseball game, flannel trousers were used.

The black shaker knit pullover sweater, with crew neck, was worn by many of the Amherst men observed. With this garment gray flannel trousers and black and white sport shoes were frequently seen. Plain white, blue and green pullover sweaters also were popular with these students, who favored solid colored golf stockings over the Argyle patterns.

Amherst men who were in mode sedate dress, for the fraternity dances, selected in many cases suits of dark blue worsted, cut in the prevailing university style, the jackets having three buttons. Trousers worn by these men inclined toward nineteen inch bottoms and wider rather than the narrower bottoms now popular with the Princeton and Yale students.

Starched collars, on white shirts, were worn by many of these Amherst students. Others had soft attached collars, worn with a pin. Small figures, solid colors or quiet stripes featured the neckwear of these students.

"TWELFTH NIGHT" TO BE PRESENTED BY W. C. D.

"Twelfth Night," the play that has been chosen for the annual Shakespearean production of the Women's College, will be presented at seven o'clock, standard time, on the evening of May 12, in Wolf Hall. Miss Nora B. Keely, of the English Department, is the faculty coach, and Miss Dorothy Caulk, the student coach. Frank Stephens, founder of Arden Colony, is assisting with the direction of the play. Friends at Arden will lend the costumes.

SORORITIES OPPOSE SMOKING BY GIRLS

Boston—Smoking by college sorority girls, either in their chapter houses or on college campuses, was condemned in a resolution adopted today by delegates to the national pan-hellenic congress.

Alumnae as well as the active members of twenty national sororities are represented in the congress.

Miss Irma Tapp, of Kingston, N. C., representative of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority, was elected president of the congress. Miss Rene Sebring Smith, Delta Zeta, of Long Beach Calif., secretary; and Mrs. Edward Prince, Phi Mu, of Webster City, Iowa, treasurer.

JAPAN'S FIRST WOMAN ECONOMIST

The "Japan Advertiser" says that Miss Toyoko Orito, 27 years old, of Yokohama, graduated from Kyushu Imperial University in March, is the first Japanese woman to receive the degree of Master of Economics in Japan. She has been studying at Kyushu for the last three years. Her thesis is entitled "Study on the Accumulation of Capital." It is said to be the result of study into theories advanced by a German woman economist. Miss Orito is expected to do another year of study at Tokyo.

QUESTIONS ASKED ON VELOCIPEDE ETIQUETTE

Taken From a Copy of "Scientific American" February 27, 1869

"If a fellow goes with his velocipede to call upon a lady, whose house has no front yard, and no back yard, and there is a lot of boys in front of it ready to pounce upon his machine and the lady is smiling through the window, what is he to do with it?"

"If a fellow, riding his velocipede, meets a lady on a particularly rough bit of road, where it requires both hands to steer, is he positively required to let go with one hand to lift his hat; and, if so, what will he do with his machine?"

"If a fellow, riding his velocipede, overtakes a lady carrying two bundles, and a parcel, what should he do with it?"

"If a fellow, riding his machine, meets three ladies walking abreast, opposite a particularly tall curb stone, what ought he to do with it?"

"If the hind wheel of a fellow's machine flings mud just above the saddle, ought he to call on people who do not keep a duplex mirror and a clothes brush in the front hall?"

"If a fellow, riding his velocipede, encounters his expected father-in-law, bothering painfully over a bit of slippery sidewalk, what shall he do with it?"

"If people, coming suddenly round corners, will run against a fellow's machine, is he bound to stop and apologize, or are they?"

"If a fellow is invited to join a funeral procession, ought he to ride his machine?"

"And is it proper to ride a velocipede to church; and if so, what will he do with it when he gets there?"

INTELLECTUAL QUACKERY

"Civilized society today is protected against the menace of medical charlatans, but there are no lays on the statute books of nations to deal with intellectual quacks, who, for commercial gain, deliberately, wilfully and maliciously, poison the minds of men, and set nation against nation and individual against individual."—Correspondent in the China Press, Shanghai, March 11, 1928.

I KNOW what I like in a pipe, and what I like is good old Prince Albert. Fragrant as can be. Cool and mild and long-burning, right to the bottom of the bowl. Welcome as the week-end reprieve. Welcome . . . and satisfying!

No matter how often I load up and light up, I never tire of good old P.A. Always friendly. Always companionable. P.A. suits my taste. I'll say it does. Take my tip, Fellows, and load up from a tidy red tin.
