'Old Days' Spirit Revived In Fracas Near Harter Hall

Removal Of Old Liberty Bell Starts Disturbance On Tuesday Night Which Resulted In Trial Of 15 Students

Newark Police Quell Outbreak

An attempt to emulate the antics and pranks of the "old-timers" as revealed in the Centenary Briefs resulted in the arraignment of fifteen students before the Student Council for trial. Punishment will be decided at another council meeting later in the week. Tuesday evening's festivities began with several dare-devil leaps by one student from the third story of Harter Hall into a blanket held by twenty or so of his confreres.

This put the crowd of about fifty students and townies into an hilarious mood and prompted them to attempt "crashing" the State Theatre. Repulsed, one of them conceived the idea of transferring the old Liberty Bell from the Training House up into a tree adjoining the convocation tent. While carrying the bell over, one of the special Centenary detectives stopped the crowd and asked for an explanation of their action.

"We're taking the bell down to Mitchell Hall for a Pageant rehearsal," piped up one of the ring-leaders. This gag satisfied the policeman who let them pass unmolested.

Once having the bell hoisted into the tree, several began to hit its rim with an iron sash. The sash broke into several pieces, whereupon Newark kids began throwing the sashes against the bell scratching it up to some extent.

Meanwhile the clamor of the bell had attracted a crowd of one hundred or more. Many town residents thought the fire siren broke and the ringing of the bell an emergency measure to summon the volunteer firemen to a fire alarm fire.

A Newark policeman ran up and ordered the gang to disperse. Unable to scatter the mob alone, he summoned Dean Dutton and Dr. Hullahen from a Pageant rehearsal at Mitchell Hall. Dr. Hullahen de-

Battery "A" Wins Honors In Competitive Drill

Crack Delaware Unit Puts On Good Performance Before Army Judges; 1st Platoon Of Battery "C" Best

The annual R. O. T. C. competitive drill, the most important military function of the college, was held yesterday morning between 11:40 and 1:00 o'clock.

Battery A was awarded the distinction of making the best appearance of the three batteries, and the first platoon of Battery C was adjudged the best platoon in the battalion.

The three batteries paraded and were judged by Colonel A. E. Tanner, Commander of the 621st Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft; Major W.

Foreign Study Group Large Despite Many Adverse Conditions

Despite the unsettled political conditions in Europe and the present disadvantageous rate of exchange, which has increased very considerably the cost of the Junior Year in France, the twelfth Delaware intercollegiate Foreign Study Group will probably be almost as large as the one now in Paris, according to a statement recently made by the Secretary of the Committee on Foreign Study. Although the registration will not close until June first, applications have already been received or are expected from 35 students representing about 20 colleges. The 1934-1935 French Group will sail for France on the SS Lafayette, leaving New York on August 25th, and will spend eight weeks in preliminary study at Tours (under the direction of the University of Poitiers) before undertaking the usual program

Del. Col. Union Now Athenaeon Society

Group Changes Name To That Of Old Literary Society Disbanded 15 Years Ago

The Delaware College Union, student discussion organization at the University, seized the opportunity Tuesday to pay tribute to one of the ancient literary societies of Delaware College on the exact date of the opening of the college one hundred years ago—May 8, 1834. By a unanimous vote, the organization decided to change its name to that of Athenaeon Society. William H. Conner, an alumnus, and member of the Athenaeon Literary Society, was present and offered a short sketch of the society, which passed out of existence fifteen years ago, after more than seventy-five years of life.

The Athenaeon Society was organized December 18, 1834, and adopted its constitution February 4, 1835. There are more than 150 surviving members, a number of whom will be present Sunday afternoon at the reunion and tea given by Mrs. Francis A. Cooch, of Newark.

President H. A. Walker was in the chair. New officers were elected as follows: President, Eldon R. Vosseler; Vice-President,

Faculty Member Suggests Possible Advantages Of Co-Ed University

To the Editor of the Review
My dear Editor:

It occurs to me, in connection with the present outbreak of the ever recurrent co-educational controversy, that perhaps too much stress is being placed upon expediency and technique, to the partial loss, at any rate, of perspective. Without being a violent, or even a vigorous, agitator either for or against the movement, may an alumnus of a co-educational institution suggest an aspect of the matter to which relatively little attention appears to have been given?

Phone Call Elects Mansberger New Student Body Head

New Council Takes Action On Damage In Recitation Hall; Centenary Contributions From Contingency Fees

"Review" Staff Voted Allotment For Charms

Walter Mansberger, Sigma Nu, was elected president of the Student Council Monday night after a hurried telephone call to Wheeler, absent attending a funeral, gave him the necessary majority to beat Max Mayer, non-frat, and Harry Wilson Sig-Ep. Wheeler's vote was checked and recorded by the Senior members of the Council.

Further elections resulted in Max Mayer, vice-president; Jack Hartman, treasurer; Alvin Handloff, III, corresponding secretary; and Fred Kelley, recording secretary.

A letter of complaint from A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator of the University was read protesting against the damage done to the light-switches in Recitation Hall. Mention was also made that Dr. Hullahen had been annoyed by noises of students on the second floor of Recitation Hall in between classes.

Immediate action to prevent further damages was taken in the form of a motion by Jack Hartman that: Any student seen dam-

Award 16 Honorary Degrees Saturday

Mrs. A. D. Warner, Sr., To Receive Medal Of Honor; Three Decorations From French Government

Honorary degrees, decorations, and a medal of honor will be conferred upon sixteen men and women at the Centenary Convocation Exercises on Saturday morning, May 12, of the University of Delaware. The Medal of Honor will be awarded to Mrs. A. D. Warner, Sr., (Emalea P. Warner), of Wilmington, who has been such a firm and devoted friend of the Women's College. Three decorations from the French Government will be

Mary Ingram As Queen To Preside Over Colorful Spectacle At Women's College; Surrounded By Large Court

Mary Poynter Ingram, of Lewes, Del., senior at the Women's College, will be the May Queen at the annual exercises to be held this year as an important part of the Centenary of the University of Delaware. Miss Ingram is a graduate of the Tower Hill School, and was selected as Queen by the whole student body of the Women's College.

The Centenary May Queen will be attended by a Court of Honor, likewise selected by the entire student body. The Court includes Ethel Lou Brady, Maid of Honor; Helen Hackett, Frances McGee, Virginia Wilson, and Marjorie Allmond, as Duchesses; Betty Weber, Anne Griffith, Helen Layton, Vera McCall, Hazel Darrell, Anne Roberson, Anne Rosalie Friedel, and Caroline Louise Graham as Attendants.

The May Court will be dressed appropriately in afternoon dresses, organdies, etc., as for a garden party. The costumes for the dances will be rustic since the idea of a County Fair will be carried out, and the dancers will be villagers, dressed as milk-maids, Scotch Highlanders, Foresters, and so on. The colors and materials for the costumes have been carefully se-

New Delaware Notes Comes From Press Today

The eighth series of Delaware Notes has been published. The book is a collection of articles giving much valuable information concerning the history of the University.

Among the contributors to the work are Mr. George Morgan, Dr. George H. Ryden, Prof. H. Clay Reed, and Dr. George Abram Harter. Dr. Ezra B. Crooka is the Editor.

Open Classes This Afternoon And Tomorrow Morning; Art Exhibit In Library A Feature; Convocation Tomorrow Afternoon

Fraternity Reunions For Tomorrow Night

The Centenary Celebration is now in full swing. The ball started rolling with the official opening last night in Mitchell Hall with the presentation of the historical pageant.

Many visitors and official guests arrived yesterday, while others have been arriving in Newark during the morning. Rooming accommodations have been secured for these people in local hotels, rooming houses and fraternity houses.

A large tent which will accommodate 2000 persons has been erected on the campus at the corner of Main Street and South College Avenue. The Centenary Convocation will be held on this location tomorrow afternoon.

The Memorial Library, Old College, and several other buildings have been provided with large flood lights for exterior illumination. Many business firms and residents throughout the town have decorated their buildings as a part of the event.

Two special policemen, with quarters in Harter Hall, have been provided to protect guests and participants. They are Edward E. Dutton and J. J. Morgan, former members of the Wilmington police force.

The Centenary Pageant will be presented again this evening and tomorrow afternoon.

The art exhibit of the Centenary is housed in the Memorial Library. It includes the work of students in the University and of prominent Delaware artists. One exhibit shows the growth of the school during the past one hundred years.

Tonight an informal dance is being given in Old College for the Alumnae and Alumni. Tomorrow afternoon, the Women's College will hold their May Day Pageant on the lower end of the campus.

In addition, tomorrow afternoon a baseball game will be played with Dickinson College and a tennis match will be held with George Washington University.

This afternoon and tomorrow morning exhibition classes throughout the University will be

Offer Forty-Three Summer School Courses

The 1934 summer school session will last from June 25 until August 3. The school will be under the direction of Professor William A. Wilkinson.

Forty-three courses are being offered this year under a large teaching staff. Although the courses are planned for active teachers in the public schools, students who wish to prepare for or supplement their regular college classes may enroll.

Tuition is free to all residents of Delaware. An entrance fee of five dollars is all that is asked. Accommodations will be provided in the dormitories or in private homes as arranged for by the director.

Dr. Hullihen Chairman Of Y.M.&Y.W.H.A. Forum

Dr. Harry Elmer-Barnes, Historian And Journalist, Is Principal Speaker

Dr. Walter Hullihen, president of the University, will be chairman of the first open forum at the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A., on Sunday night, May 13. Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes, noted historian and journalist, will be the principal speaker.

The subject for the forum will be: "The Swing Toward Dictators." Dr. Barnes will discuss the present tendencies of government.

Dr. Barnes has long been recognized as one of the outstanding authorities in the fields of history, sociology, and economics. He writes a column in the New York World Telegram, "The Liberal Viewpoint." For some years, he has been secretary to the New Jersey State Department of Penology. He has been professor of history at Clark University, Worcester, Mass.; and recently was in the history department of Smith College.

Chatter

Harter Hall

Irv Malcolm has been elected King Bull, II—Long Live the King! And are we proud? "Flit" MacBride is playing tennis all the time—maybe his new girl at the D. P. is a tennis fiend. Now that "Swede" Anderson has a motorcycle, he spends his week ends in Wilmington. Who's the lucky girl, Swede? Don Smith stepped out at the house party last Saturday night with a certain well-known W. C. D. girl friend, Jack Hartmann and "Swede" Anderson were tapped for Blue Keys. Congratulations, gents. We have two relay stars (?) in our midst, Black and Glover. Did I say stars? There are more bull sessions than ever before. Going down, marks!

Sigepigrams

Congratulations to Bros. Lattomus, Croes, Di Sabatino, and Black. Coach Green also shares a considerable part of the honors. Green tries to take on the town for a few rounds after the gala house party. Leahy takes his "steel" product home from the party, then he goes in for a few alloys. Sabby is a "Kahn-hearted" sort of a fellow. Pettierew is always wondering what happens to his girls—he certainly can make them laugh. Davis crashes through with a brand new doll for the house party. Don't forget fellows that the milk train leaves Wilmington at 5:27 a. m. daylight saving time. I know from experience. Congratulations to future Blue Keys, Bros. Kelly, Hartmann, Croes, and Pledge Anderson. The Derelicts also tapped Bros. Crowe, Green, and Newman. Jamison assumes assistant commandment of the great fleet. "Drawbridge" Surratt really goes in for these long-distance tours on the night of a house party. Stewart had that relay victory all figured out on his slide rule. "Crazy" Naisby is still burning the highways on the week-ends. Morton has been telling me he has a good chance to graduate this year. . . . I hope I have not spoken out of turn. Lawrence spends two or three hours on the campus! Well gang, let's get after that baseball trophy this week. Sig-Eps are planning big things for their alumni this week-end.

Sigma Nus

Congratulations to the New King—Irv Malcolm. He would have had our vote too. . . . Only the Senator can excel him in his chosen field. . . . Rice is having a tough time these days. He can't make up his mind again. . . . Eckbert is off blind dates for life. Oh yeah! . . . Whenever Tubby buys a car he's going to make sure the springs don't squeak. . . . James wishes to inform the campus that he doesn't care to be called "Put-Put" any more. He considers "Jesse James" more appropriate. . . . The memorandum on Baldy's desk is very interesting. Don't you think so? . . . Samuel enjoys commuting again for he can have his nights free. Who is she, Eddie? . . . Medill just loves to wash ceilings. Don't you Don? . . . Mayerberg seemed more downcast than usual last week. Didn't she write you, Doc? . . . Roy Hill can be seen taking a sunbath almost daily now. . . . For the winners see Robertson and Burke—they always choose the winners for others but never win themselves. . . . Hallet and Dineen stepped high, wide, and handsome Saturday night from what we hear. . . . Tommy evidently got his orders not to go to the big, bad senior banquet. . . . And so to bed if Maull will ever stop trying to be a second Bing Crosby.

Sigma Tau Phi-osophy

This is Lew Harris' lucky week. . . . He found a nickle. . . . "Pehooch" Salsbury had insomnia Sunday nite. . . . Our womanly curiosity is aroused. . . . Where were you, you dirty stay-up late. . . . Milt Smith officiated Saturday with gusto. . . . Since then, "gusto" has left. . . . The question of the hour—"Who knows the dame Sony Handloff is bringing to the house party Saturday night?" . . . "Gim" Geller kinda closed things up Monday eve. . . . He made a motion for adjournment. . . . Shadow says, "I like Hyme's girl better than I do mine." . . . Look out Hyme—you know Shadow—you had better handcuff him to his own girl. . . . Jack Blechman has had his date for one month, one week, two days, thirteen hours, twenty nine minutes, and forty-two seconds. . . . Nick says that Dillinger has been caught three times. . . . The Scholarship Cup now adorns our once bare mantel. . . . Take a peek at it. . . . Welcome back Sigma Tau Phi alumni. . . . Here's a chance to hear some of the old stories again.

Kapers

All the boys are behaving very well, even Keitz and Flounders. . . . Zacheis is in love with some girl, we wonder who she is. The girls still call Watson every nite; it must be great to be so popular. . . . We wonder why Kelley and Sutton visit the library so often. . . . Smiling Dave Wheeler is also getting to be very popular with the girls down at the library. . . . Edge gets homesick every day and goes home for some medicine. . . . Kelley got up at 6 o'clock one morning and threw Sutton's jar of Vicks at a blackbird that was destroying his peaceful slumber.

Training House

Let it be known to the world that the authorship of this column has changed hands—from bad to worse. One half the fellows have taken their beds to the roof these warm nights—just outdoor men—Flynn seems to be the major of the wandering army. "Quick-silver" Hudson has been very quiet in his sleep lately—I hope nothing has happened on the southern front. Stretch Pohl and Joe Zavada were celebrating Friday night—wonder what?—Carey, the only fellow in the Training House who can throw his shoulders out of place to attract the fair sex, claims he now takes the hamburgers which are handed out in one of our gay resorts—Extra special—Flynn has again attended a class. . . . Crocker claims to be champion of the world. . . . in what? . . . Bing Gouert's symphony orchestra is looking for bookings. . . . "Rosey faced" Greer is on the loose again. . . . any prospects? . . . Crompton is peeved—he said the boys throw a house party on his bed every time he leaves it unguarded. The author of this column must again return his attentions to the lecture which is being delivered so energetically.

Pittsburgh Alumni Of Delaware Elects

At a recent meeting of the Pittsburgh Chapter of Delaware Alumni the following officers were elected for the coming year:

C. B. Shaffer, '06, president, Pittsburgh, Pa.; J. R. Kelley, '08, vice-president, Western Penna., McKeesport, Pa.; S. B. Stine, '07, vice-president, Central Penna., Osceola Mills, Pa.; James Mannix, '26, vice-president, Northern Penna., Erie, Pa.; W. A. Reynolds, '12, vice-president, Northern Ohio, Cleveland, Ohio; J. I. Hoffecker, '29, vice-president, Central Ohio, Akron, Ohio; W. E. Howard, Jr., '24, secretary and treasurer, Edgewood, Pa.

The dinner was held at the Keystone Athletic Club, which was decorated with the university colors. Jack Kelley the '08 baritone led in singing the Alma Mater, and other songs which he as dinner chairman had arranged.

Four classes of the women's college were represented and the girls have decided to become affiliated with the chapter affairs until they are able to organize an alumnae chapter.

In the middle of August the chapter will hold a golf tournament at Cambridge Springs, Pa., at which time plans will be made for running a motor bus down to Huntington, Pa., to support the football team in its game with Juniata College, in October. A dinner will be held in the hotel Huntington the night of the game.

The Pittsburgh Chapter also decided to meet at noon Saturday, during the Centennial on the steps of Old College to have the group photographed.

The music for the dinner was furnished by Mrs. S. Blaine Stine, in a charming manner. Directors appointed to serve with the officers were, W. L. Hirsh, '02; W. L. Fader, '02; F. J. Donohoe, '29, and A. D. Rose, Jr., '29.

Dr. Ryden to Lecture on British Invasion of Del.

Will Take Charge Of Delaware History Class Saturday Morning In Wolf Hall

"The British Invasion of Delaware Before the Battle of the Brandywine" is the title of a lecture to be given by Dr. George H. Ryden, professor of history and political science at the University of Delaware, and State Archivist, as one of the open classes at the Centenary next Saturday.

Dr. Ryden's lecture will be a part of History 104 and will be delivered in the auditorium of Wolf Hall at 7:55 a. m., standard time. Visitors are welcome.

The British expedition will be followed from the landing at Elk Ferry or Head of Elk, across country to Cooch's Bridge and then on through northern Delaware to Chadd's Ford. Authority for the statements made will be drawn from the Journal of Major John Andre, later hanged by Washington as a spy (many maps appear in this journal of the route taken); the Journal of Captain John Montross, British engineering officers and the orders of General William Howe, the British commander.

What distinguishes man from the rest of creation is that man is born with an insatiable desire to know.—Dr. R. G. Aitken.

The first business of a free people is religion. There never has been a great nation without religion.—Dr. S. Parks Cadman.

It isn't the heat, it's the humidity
that annoys
glass insulators, too!

Even glass insulators behave badly toward telephone currents when humidity is high. This has been proved by experiments at Bell Telephone Laboratories.

When it's humid, a film of moisture forms on the glass. The more humid, the thicker the film—and the more electrical current escapes! Important factors governing amount of leakage are the chemical nature of the glass, its shape and age, the amount and kind of dirt on its surface.

Through exhaustive studies, telephone men have developed more efficient types of glass insulators—and are seeking ways to make them still better. Close attention to every detail of Bell System equipment leads to constantly improving service.

Blue And Gold Trackmen Win From La Salle, 65 1-2 to 60 1-2

Lambert And Carey Star For Locals In Second Dual Victory

Delaware, in a close and interesting contest, won her second successful track and field meet Tuesday, May 8, by defeating La Salle College of Philadelphia, 65½ to 60½. Great credit should go to Coach Andy Bowdle and his student assistants for developing such a winning team the first year. The meet was extremely close and was tied at several stages during the afternoon. At the end of the eleventh event the two teams were all even. La Salle took the lead by winning the 880 yard dash, only to lose it by having no entry in the high jump. Delaware maintained the lead gained in the latter event by a first and third in the final events—the javelin.

Kadluboshy and Circeli of La Salle kept their team in the running by scoring 23 points between themselves. For Delaware Carey with two firsts and a second, Lambert with the same, and Pohl with one first and two thirds, were outstanding performers.

The summaries:
120-yard hurdles—Won by Cleary, Delaware; second, Hodgson, Delaware; third, Cavanaugh, La Salle. Time 18.5.

100-yard dash—Won by Lambert, Delaware; second, Bythiner, La Salle; third, Mayer, Delaware. Time 10.6.

Shot put—Won by Carey, Delaware; second, Parris, La Salle; third, Brennan, La Salle. Distance 40.4 3-4.

La Salle; second, Tammany, Delaware; third, Tammant, Delaware; third, Rodgers, Delaware. Time 11.10.

Discus—Won by Kadlubosky, La Salle; second, Carri, Delaware; third, Parris, La Salle. Distance 120.2.

Broad jump—Won by Lambert, Delaware; second, Coty, Delaware; third, tie between Anderson, Delaware, and Caton, La Salle. Distance 21.9 1-4.

220-yard dash—Won by Bythi-

Leading Athletes In Gym Exhibits

Swimming And Gym Classes To Be Open This Afternoon And Tomorrow Morning

Leading University of Delaware athletes will take part in the Physical Education classes to be staged in Taylor Gym during the Centenary as a part of the Open Classes to which visitors are admitted.

On Friday afternoon, May 11, at 1 o'clock, Phys. Ed. 206, swimming, will be directed by Mr. Edward Bardo. Those taking part include the football and basketball captains, E. O'Connell and E. Thompson; J. Carey, three-letter man; J. N. Russo, J. Crowe, F. Lambert, H. Hudson, football; F. Lambert, track; and E. Jefferis, H. Hickman, and G. Records; W. Lawrence, all around athlete.

In Phys. Ed. 208, Gymnastics, under the direction of Mr. A. C. Bowdle, will be conducted on Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. Those participating will be W. Lawrence, J. Hickman, J. Edge, H. Hudson, J. Dillon, P. Griffith, F. Kane, G. Records, J. Green, F. Lambert, R. Hodgson, J. Russo, R. O'Connell, J. Crowe, and D. Minner, soccer captain, and voted the most valuable man in baseball.

Lattomus Wins Relay Cup For S. P. E.'s

Eliminates Lead Sigma Nu Held In First Three Laps; Theta Chi Second

Hugh Lattomus, in a spectacular, lightning finish, rescued the Interfraternity Relay Cup for Sigma Phi Epsilon last Saturday afternoon. Although the pre-race dope favored this fraternity to finish first again, and Theta Chi second, the Sigma Nus almost upset these calculations. For the first three laps the Sigma Nu men—Mayer, Brady, and Stayton—were well out in front so that at the beginning of the fourth lap they held an eight yard lead. Then it was that Lattomus' amazing sprint brought his fraternity to victory. Del Minner was also responsible for securing second place for the Theta Chis by passing Jack Glover in the very last second of the race.

This relay was one of the most interesting held in years. The time was very fast, 1:36.2 minutes, coming but .2 second short of the record for this event.

The following are the team in the order in which they finished: Sigma Phi Epsilon, Croes, Black, di Sabatino, and Lattomus; Theta Chi, Hunn, Wright, Lynam, and Minner; Sigma Nu, Mayer, Brady, Stayton, and Glover; Kappa Alpha, Walson, Horner, Sutton and King; Phi Kappa Tau, Elliott, Malatesta, Hopkins, and Rogers; Sigma Tau Phi, Jasper, Blechman, Hirshout, and Salsburg.

Villanova 6th Victim of Delaware Golfers

Win By Score Of 5 1-2 to 1-2, Taking All Matches But One All-Even Foursome

The golf team came through again, to defeat the capable Villanova representation. For the sixth time Charley Pie and his men have lived up to the reputation they have acquired. There are four more matches—four more wins will make one of those much sought but rare occurrences, a perfect season. Hitching the wagon to a star may be, but highly possible with the fine playing of Benton, Wilson, Moore and Pie.

The Villanova match was much tougher than the score indicates, and was tensely contested throughout. The highlight of the contest came in the best ball play: Duffy and Burke of Villanova were pushing Captain Pie and Bill Moore up until the eighteenth hole. It was anybody's point. On the eighteenth green Pie sank a 20 foot put to even the match.

Singles

Benton, Del., defeated Craig, Villanova, 4 and 3.
Wilson, Del., defeated Burke, Villanova, 4 and 2.
Pie, Del., defeated McNulty, Villanova, 2 and 1.
Moore, Del., defeated Duffy, Villanova, 2 and 1.

Best Ball

Benton and Wilson, Del., defeated Craig and McNulty, Villanova, 4 and 3.
Pie and Moore, Del., all even with Duffy and Burke, Villanova.
Final score: Delaware 5½, Villanova ½.

THIS AND THAT

R. C. M.

Salutations, felicitations and what-not to Gerald P. "Doc" Doherty for the manner in which the Interscholastic Track Meet was conducted last Saturday afternoon. Both in his organization of the meet and his selection of officials, "Doc" left little to be desired. This meet was completed with less confusion than any other which I have ever witnessed. Little delay occurred during the entire afternoon, and this was appreciated by coaches, participants, and spectators.

Ralph C. McMullen

Records were broken right and left by the scholastic schools represented on Frazer Field Saturday afternoon. Only in Class C was the calibre of the athletes not up to par. The Delaware high schools could not match the marks set up in this class in former years.

The Blue Hen Baseball Team is beginning to show signs of real merit. With "Bob" Ferguson around to help "Boney" Jackson, "Doc" Doherty has two good pitchers on whom he can rely. More hits are ringing from the bats of the Delaware men and this also is a good sign. With but one or two exceptions, the pitching has been good all season and with a few added hits here and there, the Blue and Gold nine should go to town.

Again the golf team wins . . . I am never happier than writing the word "win" in Delaware's athletic wars. Captain Pie and his mates have gone a long way now, and I think with fifty per cent of the breaks they will finish the season undefeated . . . I hope I am not wrong in this statement.

Saturday afternoon marks an important date in Delaware's history. Besides many other events taking place at Newark that afternoon, "Doc" Doherty's basketball team will face Dickinson and Coach Jones' netmen will meet George Washington University. No doubt these athletic events will be witnessed by the largest crowds ever in attendance for similar activities. I wonder how the boys will act under pressure?

If I were king:

I would find someone to worry for Andy Bowdle (or maybe he likes to do it himself) . . . I would have the band play for the Delaware and Dickinson baseball game tomorrow . . . I would restrict track events to 440 yards (any longer distance than that is entirely too far to run) . . . I would furnish Neil Stahley with at least three capable assistants for the next grid campaign . . . I would build a decent gym (and make doubly certain that it was sanitary) . . . I would have Frazer Field enlarged and have permanent bleachers erected . . . I would abolish the custom of the election of captains to athletic teams (they are becoming, more and more, necessary evils) . . . I would order everyone in college to participate in at least one sport . . . I would order all alumni members to attend at least one athletic event per year (no maximum number) . . . I would elect a commission to welcome all visiting teams (the Blue Key has failed) . . . I would order that all athletes get their needs for food satisfied (they're doing pretty well now—thanks to the C. W. A.) . . . I would hold everything! this is a sport column—I suppose (I doubt it thought) I would then be satisfied.

West Catholic, Lansdowne, And Du Pont Interscholastic Victors

Previous Records In Shotput, Discus, Pole Vault, Half Mile And Mile Runs And Mile Relay Events Shattered

Last Saturday one of the most successful interscholastic track and field meets ever held at Delaware took place of Frazer Field, when nine records fell. West Catholic High of Philadelphia, Lansdowne High, and duPont High won the cup in their respective divisions, Classes A, B, and C.

The race in Class A was very close between West Catholic High and Haverford School. Both teams took a place in practically every event and it was not until the meet was over that the winner could be determined. The winners scored 51 points to Haverford School's 43½. Following these two came Germantown Academy with 15, Tome with 12, and F. & M. Academy with 8. Lansdowne High had practically its own way in Class B. It scored 32 points to Swarthmore High's 19½, Collingswood's 12, Penn's Grove High's 10, Haverford High's 9½, and West Chester High's 14.

In Class C duPont had a very hard time in winning the cup. The final event—the broad jump—decided the meet. Before this event Caesar Rodney, Claymont, and du Pont were contesting so closely that to forecast the winner was impossible. Next to duPont with 20 points came Caesar Rodney with 18, Claymont with 16½, Dover with 13½, Newark with 12, and Middletown with 5.

The summaries of the nine records which were broken are as follows:

Class A

One mile run, won by Howard, F. & M. Academy. Time 4:38.4 minutes. Old record was 4:39.6 minutes.

Alumni Intervention

John N. Russo

Damon Runyon, Dan Parker of the New York Mirror, Paul Gallico, of the New York News, Stoney McLinn of the Philadelphia Record, and many other prominent sports writers, have written articles and editorials relative to proselyting and subsidization of college athletes. Even The Carnegie Foundation has made some fruitless researches in this respect. The Institute, to my mind, has often divulged some high-powered exaggerations in reference to the support of athletes in various colleges and universities throughout the country, and now your tyro is going to make an effort through the medium of this column to defend certain alumni and athletes who have been unjustly accused of such practice.

Often times members of the alumni in addition to faculty members have had false accusations hurled at them, because a member of some team was getting some financial support in order that he might get a college degree. We all know that there are many students in college who have been awarded academic scholarships, because of their ingenuity in this respect. I know for a fact that the Masons and various other organizations assist unfortunate fellows in a financial respects in order that such students might get an education. These men generally are good in their class work. They get good grades and sometimes make the honor roll. I am very much in sympathy with such practices. I am also certain that the majority of people who are familiar with these conditions will agree with me. However, this is only one unit that any college has to offer.

Let us consider one of the extra-curricular activities which plays an important role in the life of the undergraduate; namely athletics. There are many athletes who graduate from high and prep schools and who are good athletes, but they lack sufficient funds to continue their education in college. Immediately, some interested alumnus or group of men interested in the growth of the college, send this boy to school. As a result of these doings our graduates are tagged as people who send boiler-makers and ditch diggers to college in order to place the college "on the map." This is both unfair and unjust to those who are gainfully interested in the liberal arts.

There is very little difference in the academic student and the student athlete. The latter gets more out of life and better prepares himself for future living. Why shouldn't some one help the unfortunate athlete? If the alumni or someone else is interested in promoting collegiate activities on an honest basis, there is no necessity for the non athlete and the over-bearing accusers to openly gripe.

We will have athletic teams and we will have good ones as long as we get the proper support. This will only be attained by the correct intercessions. Students in college must maintain a certain scholastic average no matter by what means they are attending school. Professors show impartial treatment to all students—so what? My contention is that this intangible expression "alumni intervention" is a myth and source of so-called ideal ethical standards that could find better subjects for their ramblings.

EDITORIALS

Welcome Grads!

Graduates of remote and recent years, we welcome you all to the Centenary festivities of your Alma Mater. Although you have passed into the active world to become leaders in your fields, we appreciate the fact that so many of you remember that this is your University as well as ours.

Conditions and facilities here have perhaps changed to such a marked degree that you hardly associate the appearance of today's University of Delaware with that of the college you attended. But the foundations, the basic ideals of friendship, leadership, and progress still remain here. The stimulus of your interest aids inestimably in the furtherance of these ideals. Fundamentally, Delaware is still the same place where we hope you spent some of the happiest days of your life. Therefore, we are sure that you will feel at home during your short return here, and that you will carry away with you an enlivened enthusiasm for the welfare and progress of the University, your Alma Mater and our mother of learning.

Segregating the Sexes

The great economic benefits to be derived from co-education at Delaware have so far been stressed by us above all else. In addition to other things we have pointed out that according to report, in 1930, of the local Chapter of the American Association of University Professors, by combining the small classes of both colleges in the junior and senior years alone, the salaries of eight professors would be saved, or two hundred and seven more credit hours could be offered by keeping the same size teaching staff.

A new chemistry building is needed by both the Men's and Women's Colleges. Neither one is apt to secure it soon, partly because of the difficulty of deciding which one needs it most. A chemistry building near the Library which could be used by both the women and the men appears to us to be the only suitable solution.

We have become so engrossed in the many ways in which economies would be effected by a co-educational university that we are grateful to Mr. Lewis, the Librarian, for calling to our attention that which we had more or less overlooked in our discussions—the advantages of the intermingling of men and women in the classroom. The duty of the College is to prepare the student for life. It seems foolish to segregate the sexes in that period of life when they are rapidly nearing the marriageable age. Now is the most important time of their lives to learn as much as possible about associations with the opposite sex.

Here at the University of Delaware the Men's and Women's Colleges are two separate institutions as far as classes are concerned. Most of the men and women here came from co-educational secondary schools. It seems the height of bad logic to let the boys and girls be together all day in school at what is considered the most dangerous period of adolescence and then separate them when they come to college, more matured and sensible and on the threshold of embarking on life's journey with a husband or wife.

More College Graduates In Politics

The need for an intelligent and more statesmanlike participation into the affairs of the State by our college graduates has never before been pointed out so clearly as by the disgraceful and fruitless bickering of the petty politicians of our State Legislature with the financing of an adequate relief program to care for the needy and destitute of the State of Delaware.

We pride ourselves on our school system, but it has been a dismal failure, ESPECIALLY IN OUR COLLEGES, in developing a well-informed, intelligent point of view towards governmental problems.

Today if we put our ear to the ground we hear rumblings. Throughout the country voters are asking questions embarrassing to those holding the reigns of power. It is up to the college graduate, with his wider and more appreciative understanding of the mechanisms of government; his ability to distinguish between hollow campaign promises and the really sincere efforts of a small minority, to warn and point out to the people the necessity of casting their ballots for the right man.

The man or woman who has been exposed to four years of college life should by the very nature of things be a different sort of person than the man or woman who has never been to college. But what do we find? Instead of leading the fight against the high-handedness and effrontery of the small-time politician, the potential leaders of the people are assimilated into the ranks of the "regulars."

We regret that we cannot, at the present time, feel that the college student is adequately equipped to combat the sophistry and bombast of present day politics, and to assume an intelligent leadership of the masses. He studies history and political science in the class room, but seldom voluntarily does any research in those subjects. Any such work is done only upon compulsion or for the sake of a few credit hours, instead of for the sake of adding to his knowledge. We have a fine library here, but many books are still untouched by students' hands.

We are no authorities on education, but it seems to us that education must do either one or two things. One is to educate people along lines so that they always remain obedient to the status quo; the other is to educate them along realistic lines so that they will be intelligent and receptive to change and new ideas. That economics class at Columbia whose teachers threw away the text books and substituted the newspapers, will be a class that will know what is going on, for they are keeping up to date.

We students at the University of Delaware are more fortunate than the students of other universities. We are inhabitants of a small state where the results of a campus renaissance along lines political can be vitally felt and nourished. The State of Delaware needs us in her high places. More and more Delaware graduates are coming to occupy responsible posts throughout the State. There should be more. As yet they are an inarticulate minority.

Our graduates should seriously consider politics as a public service profession wherein they have a duty. Politics must have new blood to cleanse out the impurities in its blood stream. It needs well-informed and intelligent recruits who are socially-minded.

The day of the old time politician is waning. Youth must be served. It is time for a change. We need men and women who are receptive to change in accordance with the trend of the time, and who are not afraid to assert themselves accordingly. This requires courage. Has your education equipped you to do this? If it hasn't, don't wait on the faculty. Educate yourselves.

Put Activities Fee On College Bill

The Delaware College Student Council is sending a resolution to the Board of Trustees of the University requesting that the Student Council Activities Fee be placed on the college bill.

At the present time the Student Council has the responsibility of collecting this fee. Year by year the number who pay the fee diminishes greatly. Judging from the past decline, this source of income for the maintenance of the "Review" and other student activities of vital importance will not be sufficient to carry on essential extra-curricular functions.

We do not think that the Board of Trustees can be urged too strongly to place this item on the college bill. Collection would be much easier than under the present system.

With everyone paying the fee, the unfairness of some students bearing the burden of supporting activities for other students would be done away with. In addition, if everyone paid the fee, it could be lowered considerably without bringing it below present income.

Current Quotes

At one time Harvard required all bachelor of arts graduates to translate the Bible from its original form into Latin.—Haverford News.

We need the pioneer spirit in education—the willingness to desert worn-out traditions and discard obsolete shibboleths. Otherwise, our universities are merely extinct volcanoes.—Dr. Charles Seymour.

Such things as pop quizzes and note takings are unknown to the students of the University of Mexico. The only time they are required to attend classes is for the final examination. Before the examination the students buy textbooks, written by the professor, and study them. This method enables the students to work while they acquire their education.—Agonistic.

In the Editor's Mail

Editor of the Review:

A few weeks ago an editorial appeared in the Review asking members of the Student Body to use the Review for their mouthpiece. I think that this is a mighty good idea and ask you to publish this note which is directed especially to the non-fraternity men.

My contention, men, is that it is not fair from any point of view for the fraternities to wield as much political power on our campus as they do at present. Why should we non-fraternity men wander around like lost sheep just because we are for some reason unable or unwilling to join a fraternity. Perhaps staying non-fraternity is a crime punishable by obscurity, almost by exile. If so this is a strange sort of justice.

If my statistics are correct we have the numerical majority. Yet when elections come along, we either scatter ourselves among the fraternities so evenly as to render ourselves impotent, or else we don't even attend the elections. It isn't right! It can be changed! Let's change it.

Nothing has ever been accomplished by sitting around and moping. But before anything done we must count our forces. You other non-fraternity men must write to the Review and tell just how you feel about this problem. Whether you agree or disagree, I feel sure your opinions will be published. At any rate, let's do something instead of just spreading ourselves out on the campus to serve as doormats for our fraternity friends.

Non-Fraternity.

Sportsmanship

That the writer witnessed this bit of sportsmanship at one of the country's outstanding Track and Field Championships held last month.

The pole vault event had resulted in a victory for a Princeton man, second place for a Michigan State Normal athlete; and a triple tie for third between two Yale men and a Lafayette man. Under I. C. 4 A. rules and regulations, ties are not to be jumped off, but the points divided equally among those who are tied for the place. The third place medal was drawn for by the contestants. It so happened that the Yale man won the toss and the third place medal. Thereupon the Lafayette man registered displeasure and disappointment. This was obvious to the Yale man, who sympathetically approached the youth.

"Do you really feel bad about losing the toss?" asked the Yale chap.

"Yes, I really do," replied the youth.

Thereupon the Yale man handed the medal to the Lafayette youth and walked away with a smile.

"That Joe Penner is insufferable to any person of average intelligence," says a Dickerson professor.

Conover, Sypherd Will Talk On Book Of Luke

Reading Of Text In Original Greek And Lecture Part Of Open Classes

The Book of Luke will receive its due meed of attention at the University of Delaware tomorrow morning, during the course of the Centenary as a part of the open classes.

From 7 to 7:50 a. m., standard time, the class in Greek 312, under the guidance of Professor Elisha Conover, one of the oldest members of the faculty and professor of ancient languages and literature, will read the original text of Luke in the Greek Testament. This class will be open to visitors, who may thus observe the University in operation. It will be held in Room 24, Recitation Hall, Delaware College.

From 7:55 to 8:45 a. m., on Saturday morning, Dr. W. O. Sypherd, head of the Department of English, will lecture in Room 7, Science Hall, Women's College, on "The Place of the Book of Luke in Literature." The class will be open to visitors, and is a regular lecture period in the English 328 Course.

ERRATUM

We wish to correct a statement in last week's Review to the effect that the Delaware Student Council had gone on record as being in favor of co-education. It should have read "The Delaware College Student Council."

The credit for the rescuing of the Bell from its solitary confinement in the Power House to its present pomp and glory of the Centenary belongs to Irving Reynolds, '17, whose chat to another alumnus, Iz Bleiberg, '26, resulted in a letter to a student who brought it to Doc Sypherd's attention . . . sic erat.

The prize costume of the pageant is that of Mr. Byam's . . . doesn't he remind you of one of Mack Sennet's policemen?

A twenty-one gun salvo and many huzzahs to Frank Stephens of Arden for the writing of the pageant . . . and congratulations to all contributing to the success of the Centenary.

Physics Building Originally Aggie Experiment Station

What building was the original headquarters of the Delaware College Agricultural Experiment Station? Few present Delaware students would recognize the Physics Building by this resounding title. Yet, this comparatively small structure once housed most of the subjects now located in Wolf Hall, and was, at the same time, the precursor of the present Experiment Station.

In accordance with the Land Grant Bill of 1862 and the Hatch Act of 1887, the Delaware College Experiment Station was organized on May 8, 1888, during the presidency of A. W. Raub. The erection of the building took place in the following three months at a cost of $2,980.00. It is interesting to note that, according to the First Annual Report, although $1,428.56 was spent for the library, $2,209.88 for general fittings, and $4,921.17 for apparatus, only $650 was expended for salaries. This report, however, covered a period of only three months.

The first floor of the building originally contained the chemical laboratory and the office of the director, Dr. George D. Purington of Missouri. On the second floor were the botanical, bacteriological, and entomological laboratories. A photo-engraving of the building made in 1888 is remarkable rather because of changes in the environment than because of any change in the structure itself. Indeed, the only noticeable difference lies in the height of the building from the ground, for, whereas there were formerly six steps before the entrance, there are now only three.

Tomorrow evening at 6 p. m., the Alumni will hold a dinner in Old College and the Alumnae will hold one in Kent Hall.

Later in the evening fraternity reunions will be held in every house on the campus. The vast preparations made for house parties give indication that there will be a gay time all over the campus.

Several events are scheduled for Sunday, among which are a concert by the Wilmington Music School Orchestra. This event is scheduled for 4 p. m., Sunday.

The Centenary Office is located on the top floor of Old College. Here all visitors are asked to register and secure guides who will show them through the buildings.

Another announcement of interest is the transfer which will soon be made of the Delaware Foreign Study Bureau in Paris from 14 rue de la Glacière, to 4, rue de Chevreuse, where the Committee has very fortunately been able to rent from the American University Women's Club highly satisfactory quarters for its offices, library, and study, conference and social rooms. aging school property was to be reported by Student Council and be made to pay for the damage. This motion was passed with little opposition.

Charms for Review Staff
It was decided at the meeting to allocate money from the REVIEW fund to buy charms for those members of the staff who have served two years or are deserving of them in the judgment of the editor-in-chief and the business manager. The motion leading to this decision was introduced by Alvin Handloff, III.

Following much discussion a suggestion was sent to the Board of Trustees with the recommendation that the students' activities fee be included on the college bill at the beginning of the collegiate year.

To settle the burning issue of collecting the class contributions to the Centenary Fund, each individual supposing to have given fifty cents, it was decided to take the money from the contingency fees, providing that no objections are received from the parents. They are to be notified of this solution this week by individual cards. It was this same technicality of the contingency fee money really belonging to the parents that defeated earlier in the term proposal to tax each student $2.50.

"Old Days" Spirit Revived In Fracas Near Harter Hall

cided it was a matter for the Student Council to handle and arranged for members of the Council to watch the bell. This succeeded in calming most of the onlookers.

But not so with the exuberant spirits of Harter Hall. Not content with the gravity of their past offences, they ran up to the rooms occupied by the Centenary policemen, and after picking the locks of the room with a wire hanger, ransacked the room and threw the bedding out of the window.

At 1:30 a. m. the boys broke up, sobered by the possible punishments awaiting them on the morrow. All, however, were determined to let no one person stand as scapegoat for the mob, but all should hang together.

Old-time alumni will probably recall their early days at Delaware when the ringing of the Liberty Bell was the means by which the students released excess college spirit. To tie the clapper of the bell to the side was a feat which made a fellow a momentary hero. The post of ringing of the bell on special occasions was a post equal in honor to that of president of the Senior class.

The Liberty Bell was resuscitated this year from the old Power House when interested alumni demanded it be exhibited as a reminder of the "old days."

It was at first thought that a special belfry would be built for it on top of one of the buildings or erected on the campus. Lack of funds prevented this and the bell was being kept in old Mechanical Hall as a temporary resting place until the Centenary.

"Alumni News" Appears; Motif Is Centenary

The University of Delaware ALUMNI NEWS makes its spring appearance in an issue gracefully and sincerely dedicated to the Centenary of its Alma Mater.

Throughout the magazine are reminiscences and notes on the slow, painful growth of the University. In "The First One Hundred Years," Mr. William H. Connor, '00, traces the major steps in the development of the University. Mr. Francis A. Cooch, '93, in "College Life," sheds a new and peculiarly zestful picture of college life in the "good old days." His article is replete with many humorous, personal experiences as well as those which happened to the remainder of the then meager student body.

The editorial page is especially stimulating inasmuch as it shows an accurate perception of the college's needs and faults. It endorses the strengthening of the undergraduate school, the acquisition of new buildings, the hiring of high-class teachers, the raising of salaries, and the stiffening of scholarship standards as a few of the objectives requiring prompt action.

Just tribute is paid to Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, '96, for "his nothing short than marvelous manner in which he handled the thousand and one details connected with the planning of the Centenary celebration." In picturing Dr. Sypherd as an alumnus who stands out pre-eminently as a teacher, an administrator, and a source of inspiration to the students on the campus, the pulse of present-day Delaware College is again correctly diagnosed by the editorialist.

A palm is handed to Editor-in-Chief and the staff of the REVIEW for its stand on co-education and the strengthening of the undergraduate school. The editor of the ALUMNI NEWS praises the director of the REVIEW'S policies for his elevation of the student publication to something more than "mid-flopper" journalism. The duty of the REVIEW is pointed out to be "to keep alive a spirit of alertness in the students to their Alma Mater's needs and problems, so that when they finally become alumni they will be informed and intelligent alumni rather than mere rah-rah boys sporting fraternity pins."

The remainder of the magazine is devoted to summaries and evaluations of the advancements of the University in its various departments and schools. All, however, are written in a most interesting vein particularly those of Mr. W. D. Lewis, University Librarian, and Deans Dutton and McCue. Mr. Paul Leahy, in his estimate of the University today, very clearly demonstrates the possibilities of the University of Delaware of becoming the perfect small university.

The true interest of the Alumni Association is shown to lie in other fields as well as that of football by Mr. H. G. Lawson. In his contribution, "Visions," the president of the association appeals to the Alumni for financial aid to install a placement bureau at Delaware to aid future graduates.

Upon re-reading the ALUMNI NEWS we see more clearly than ever before, the strong ties binding the University to its alumni. The love for Delaware by contributors to the magazines must be indeed great and deep if it makes them capable of such stirring articles. The entire magazine is permeated with affection—a sincere affection which pays homage to its Alma Mater on the occasion of its one hundred anniversary. The reading of the issue is an insight of the "glories that never grow old."

We hold up the ALUMNI NEWS to all students of the University of Delaware as an example of what Delaware means to those who have left here; as an example of the vital interest which the Alumni Association takes in their welfare; and as an appeal to them to realize that their service to the University should begin now, in any capacity they may serve, so that Delaware may in truth become "the perfect small university."

KENNETT LEGION

"Arabian Nights" presentation outline and cast data is given initial announcement by the Kennett Legion Pageant committee and John T. Hall, noted director.

For Longwood staging, the Oriental stories are divided into three episodes: "Scheherazada," in which are shown events leading to her telling the famous narratives; "Sinbad," his travels and loves; and "Alladin" with the wonderful lamp. Besides the main characters, the cast of 250 includes thirty-two groups. Dialogues, pantomime, dancing, music and two readers (as introduced at the World's Fair pageant) are used.

The selected dates for the pageant, the fifth annual, with Longwood electric fountains display, are June 21, 22, 23, 25, 26, 27, according to K. R. Bowen, general chairman, and a graduate of the University of Delaware.

Baseballers Beat Susquehanna 13-6

Ferguson Yields But Seven Hits And Garner Two Himself

The excellent pitching of Ferguson gave the Blue Hen nine a 13 to 6 win over Susquehanna, Thursday, May 2. While Jim was holding his opponents to seven hits, he participated in the Delaware hitting fest of thirteen with two singles.

Another feature of the game was the home run by Newman in the ninth which started a rally netting the Blue Chicks five more runs. Catcher Martinex led in the sticking for Susquehanna with a three base hit and a single.

Bowdle Enters Nine In Middle Atlantics

Meet To Be Held At Lafayette Friday And Saturday

Coach Andy Bowdle has entered nine men in the annual Middle-Atlantic Intercollegiate Track and Field Championships to be held at Lafayette, Friday and Saturday, May 11 and 12, at Easton, Pa.

Because of the impressive showing the Blue and Gold trackmen have made so far this season, Delaware should gain quite a few points at this meet.

All Friday afternoon will be devoted to preliminary trials, while on Saturday the finals will be held. The events and men entered from Delaware are: Javelin and Discus—Corey and Pohl; Shot Put, Corey, and Mayer; Pole Vault, Pohl; High Jump, Cotty and Crowe; Broad Jump, Anderson and Cotty; 100 yd. dash, Lambert; 220 yd. dash, Lambert and Mayer; 100 yd. high hurdles, Cleary; 220 yd. low hurdles, Green; 440 yd. dash, Crowe.

Since no freshmen can compete in these championships, none of the freshmen that form a great scoring power in the Delaware dual meets can be entered.

Dickinson Defeats Racquetiers

The Delaware Tennis Team was rained out in one match and defeated in another last week. The team travelled to Bloomsburg on Friday, but because of the pouring rain, this match was called off. On Saturday, the match with Dickinson resulted in a 7 to 2 defeat.

Those playing in the singles were in the order named: Walsh, Hume, Wheelless, Whitney, Eckbert, and Davis. All six were beaten. Of the doubles combinations, Walsh and Hume lost, Wheelless and Whitney won, and Eckbert and Davis won.

Blue Keys Tap Fifteen; Derelicts Pick Thirteen

Greer, Croes, and DuVall Head Blue Keys For Coming Year

At the Interscholastics Saturday twenty-eight men were tapped for the junior and senior honorary societies. It had not been expected that Derelicts would be tapped this year as the general campus feeling is that it is a useless organization and its abolition had been vigorously advocated. It is now up to the new Derelicts whether they wish to perpetuate the society.

After their initiation last night, the new Blue Keys elected John Greer as president; Bill Croes, vice-president; and Dick DuVall, secretary and treasurer.

The Blue Keys have offered their services to Doctor Sypherd during the Centenary and have made plans to meet all visiting athletic teams starting today.

The new Blue Keys are: William Croes, Jack Hartman, James Kelly, Garret Hume, John Carey, Stephen Wilson, Frank Elliot, John Bishop, Joseph Jefferson, Milton Smith, Ralph Walson, Austin McCullough, Henry Anderson, John Greer, and Richard DuVall.

The new Derelicts are: Charles Cunningham, Ralph O'Connell, James W. Nichols, Delbert Minner, Charles Pié, Walter Mansberger, Joseph Crowe, Harvey Maguigan, Newman, John Russo, Frank Mayer, John Davis, and Joseph Green.

There is no question so big but that it can be settled right, if met in the right spirit.—Daniel J. Tobin.

If it is a revolution it is a peaceful one achieved without the overthrow of law and order.—President Roosevelt.

Walter Dent Smith '22, College Hour Speaker

Well-Known Alumnus Reads Panegyric On Everett Johnson; Dr. Hulliher Speaks Briefly Explaining Stand On "Undergraduate School First"

Walter Dent Smith, alumnus of the Class of '22, addressed the college hour meeting on Tuesday morning. He read a paper which he had written on the topic "The Old Man at Kells."

In his paper Mr. Smith lauded the efforts and achievements of Everett Johnson as a publisher and statesman. Mr. Johnson was the founder of the House of Kells.

Mr. Smith praised Johnson for his personal integrity and for his ability as a lawmaker in the Delaware Legislature. He also read an excerpt from Johnson's widely known eulogy of Abraham Lincoln.

Previous to Mr. Smith's speech, Dr. Hulliher explained his stand in respect to the editorial printed in the Review, entitled "The Undergraduate School First." Dr. Hulliher said that he agreed that the undergraduate school should be of primary interest. But he explained that an endowment for the improvement of the present system might cut down appropriations to the university from the State Legislature by the amount of the money donated.

The establishment of some additional chairs for graduate courses by private endowment would not augment the funds of the undergraduate school. Therefore, the legislature could not drastically cut down the appropriation.

In addition, graduate courses would add considerable benefits which would improve the university.

Potts Again Heads Footlights

At its regular meeting on Monday night the Footlights Club elected the following officers for the coming year: president, Curtis Potts; vice-president, John Russo; secretary, Alvin Handloff; treasurer, Dan Medill.

Potts is serving his second term as president of the dramatic organization.

College Women Taught Legal Rights

Brooklyn, N. Y.—College women should know their legal and civil rights as tenants, as landlords, as wives, mothers, widows and even as divorcees, according to Mrs. Frances Anne Ballard, graduate of Bryn Mawr and the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Ballard has formed classes at the University of the State of New York to instruct co-eds along these lines.

—they age good grapes to make rare wines

— and they do something like that to mellow good tobaccos

WHERE THE RARE WINES come from they know that the two most important things in wine-making are the selection of the grapes and the long years of ageing in the wine cellars.

IT'S VERY MUCH THE SAME in the making of a cigarette. You have to get the right tobaccos, then put them away to age and mellow in wooden casks.

You can't make a good cigarette like Chesterfield in a day. It takes over two years to age the tobaccos for your Chesterfields—but it adds something to the taste and makes them milder.

the cigarette that's Milder
the cigarette that TASTES BETTER

Everything that modern Science really knows about is used to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

Greatest Circus Is Coming Soon

The world's mightiest amusement entourage, the Ringling Bros and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus with its gigantic 1934 program of new world-wide wonders, many of which have never before appeared in America, is definitely scheduled to exhibit in Wilmington, Friday, May 18.

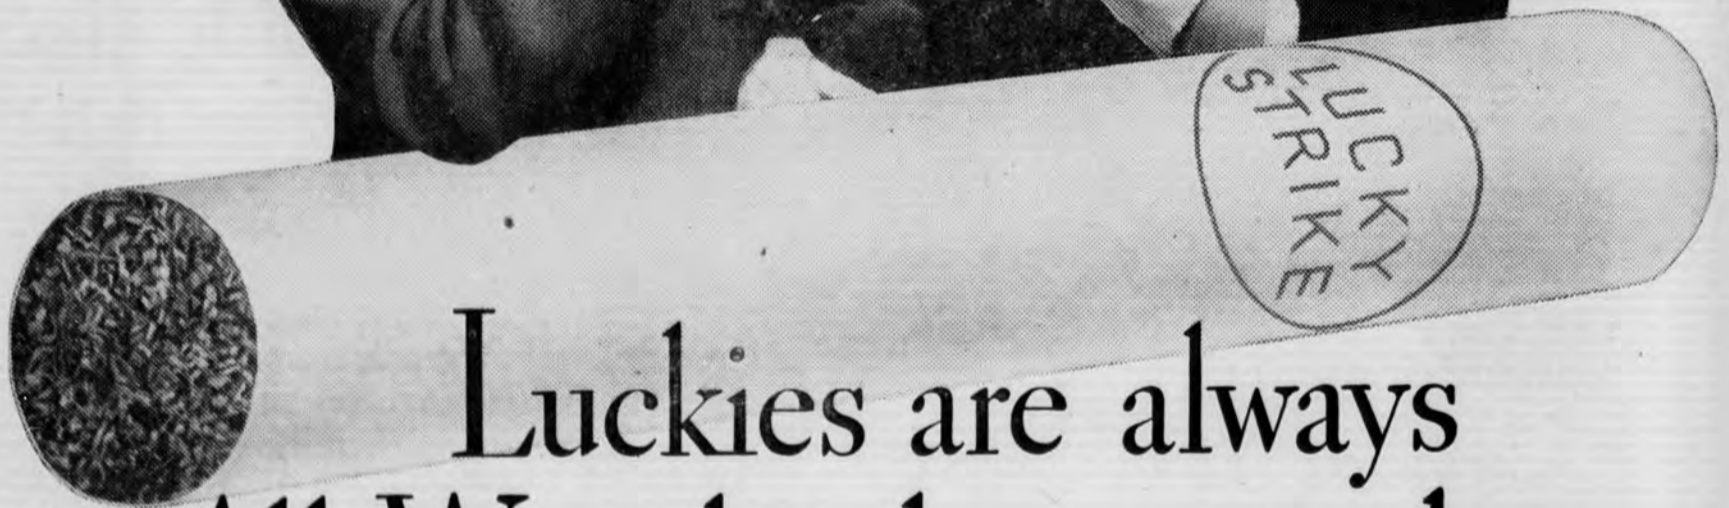

The gorgeous, vastly enlarged inaugural spectacle, "The Dunbar of Delhi" stupendously introduces the multitude of arenic marvels that succeed this pompous panoramic display.

The great new international congress of features presented in the seven rings and stages, huge hippodrome track and the maze of aerial riggings includes the recently imported Otari Troupe in the most astounding mid-air feats ever witnessed. These intrepid performers fly from all points of the compass at the same time in perilous forward and reverse flights through space from their lofty aerial cross.

The Otaria with such arenic notables as Mlle. Gillette, Europe's sensation of the air, now appearing in this country for the first time and the celebrated Tarence-Dolores, Merckels, Willos and Spurgat Troupes, all new to this continent, are among the 800 men and women circus stars presented by their big show this year.

The circus bears on its four long trains of 100 double-length steel railroad cars more than 1600 people, 50 elephants, 1009 menagerie animals and 700 horses.

There are 150 internationally famous clowns in the gala 1934 performances of the world's largest circus—the greatest congress of funmakers ever assembled.

are made. They're so round and firm, so free from loose ends. That's why Luckies "keep in condition"—that's why you'll find that Luckies do not dry out—an important point to every smoker. Luckies are always—in all-ways!—kind to your throat.

OLD COLLEGE

Old College is the heart, the foundation of the University. It is around this Century old edifice that the Centenary exercises will center. Originally used for dormitories, chapel, classrooms, and commons, the building is now used as a lounge, as offices of the Military Department, as the Commons and as the center of the social life of the school.

RECITATION HALL

Was formerly used exclusively as a classroom center. Upon the erection of Wolf Hall and Evans Hall, it became the Administration Building. Besides the offices of the President it contains the Dean's Office, the Business Office, the Foreign Study Office, the Mathematics and Modern Language Departments.

PURNELL HALL

THE "KNOLL"

An exceedingly attractive residence used as the President's home. Its Colonial architecture and lovely setting make it one of the show places of Newark.

NEW CASTLE HALL

The companion to Sussex Hall; together they comprise the permanent dormitories of the Women's College. Modern in construction, New Castle is a completely fire-proof structure and it blends well with the other units comprising the school.

HARTER HALL

Harter Hall is the new, modern, men's dormitory. Named after Dr. George Harter, former President of the University, its design follows the Colonial tradition of the school. Completely modern in every detail the building contains rooms single and en suite. An abundance of showers and baths furnish ample proof of the old axiom, "Cleanliness is next to Godliness." Harter Hall is located just off Main Street, on the North end of the Campus and is easily accessible from all points. Needless to say, there is never a shortage of tenants.
