NEW GOVERNOR INAUGURATED YESTERDAY WITH IMPOSING CEREMONY

REPRESENTATIVE DELAWARE ASSEMBLAGE ATTENDS

MILITARY, EDUCATIONAL AND CIVILIAN ORGANIZATIONS PARTICIPATE IN PARADE PRECEDING THE EXERCISES AT THE OPERA HOUSE

GOVERNOR WILLIAM D. DENNEY

Loyal Delawareans from all parts of the State thronged the capital yesterday to witness the inaugural ceremonies which inducted into office Governor William D. Denney and Lieutenant-Governor J. Danforth Bush.

Crisp, cold, sunny weather put snap and "go" into the parades and was according to the superstitious, a good omen for the incoming governor. Dover did herself proud on this occasion, the first in 50 years to witness the inaugural of one of her own sons.

Ferris Giles and his aides had decorated the State House and other public buildings with flags and bunting. Residents of the capital, particularly along the line of march, used flags and bunting freely, giving a festive, holiday air to the staid old town. Arrangements for the parade and the ceremony were ably planned by the inauguration committee of the Legislature, consisting of Senators Allee and Murphy, Representatives Otwell, Lee and Davis; and by the citizens' committee chosen from the three counties and consisting of the following: Darlington Flinn, Herman D. Faulkner, Joseph D. Hall, J. T. Montgomery, Arthur Johnson, Harold S. Creamer, Frank C. Miller, Shermer Stradley, D. B. Tharp, John Titus, Walter Fanning, Richard Pilling, Robert S. Gallaher, Edward H. Naylor, J. Leslie Ford, H. P. Scott, Edward Hart, Clarence E. Pool, James A. Hart, Sr., and Walter E. Donovan of New Castle county; R. J. Clendaniel, James E. Williams, William M. Miller, B. G. Wheatley, S. N. Culver, R. D. Lingo, W. J. Swain, Clifford E. Burton, Robert Short, William Faulkner, Representative George H. Otwell, J. Leon Black, ex-Senator S. J. Furness and Edward Goslee, of Sussex county, and J. J. Hartman, John W. Hering, Walter O. Hoffecker, Ruby R. Vale, William W. Richardson, B. A. Hazel, Jehu Harburton, ex-Senator Robert Hollett, J. Seward Dailey, ex-U. S. Senator J. Frank Allee, Alfred Raughley, Oscar W. Allen, John W. Killen, R. A. Saulsbury, James L. Davis and Howard T. Buckson, of Kent county.

ENTERTAINS MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was delightfully entertained on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. G. Wilkinson, on South College Avenue. The cheerful glow and grateful warmth of the fireplace was especially pleasing to the faithful members who braved the storm to be present at the meeting.

Due to illness in the family the president, Mrs. H. Warner McNeal, was unable to attend. Mrs. Francis A. Cooch, first vice-president, therefore presided. She read the 103rd Psalm and led in the recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

DARING HOLDUP IN TOWN LAST NIGHT

Two Negroes Relieve Charles Moore of $45 and His Watch

While Charles Moore, a young man about 20 years old, was returning to his home on Cleveland Avenue last night, he was held up by two Negroes who blocked his path near the B. & O. bridge. At the point of a gun he was forced into a dark spot near the fence surrounding the M. E. cemetery and there relieved of $45 and his watch. The thieves then fled and young Moore after a brief visit to his home notified Chief Thompson who immediately started in search of the criminals. No trace of them, however, could be found. Mr. Moore stated that one of the negroes was either armless or had one arm in a sling. This one he can readily recognize for he saw him clearly. The other kept away from the light and his features could not be distinguished.

NEW CENTURY CLUB CANCELS REGULAR MEETING

Plans for a Play Recital to be Given April Fifth

The regular New Century Club meeting scheduled for yesterday afternoon was omitted owing to conflicting engagements and to the fact that Miss Matthews, a war relief worker who served overseas with Herbert Hoover, and who was to have addressed the club, was summoned suddenly to the Middle West. Next Tuesday Mrs. R. W. Heim will read a paper on Louisiana.

The Club has completed arrangements for a play recital which will be given by Miss Grace Sage of Boston on the evening of April 5. Miss Sage comes highly recommended from engagements in towns, schools and colleges which admit only the best artists. She was a few years ago a member of the faculty of the Leland T. Powers School. During the war she served at Newport, Rhode Island, planning and giving entertainments for service men.

HOOVER RELIEF FUND GROWS SLOWLY

Citizens Asked to Make Contributions This Week

Contributions to the Hoover relief fund are coming in slowly. No canvass is being made but citizens are urged to make contributions. The plight of the poor unfortunate little ones, whose existence between this and next harvest time depends upon the generosity and charity of the citizens of this and other towns in America. Ten dollars will keep one child alive until that time.

No canvass of the town is being made. Eben B. Frazer and George W. Griffin, who are handling the affair here, are leaving it to the individual to make the contribution either to them or to the banks which have kindly agreed to take care of such contributions.

Those who had contributed up to noon yesterday are as follows:

H. W. McNeal, $5.00; Wm. E. Thompson, $5.00; Miss Margaret Anderson, $5.00; A. F. Fader, $5.00; Mrs. A. F. Fader, $5.00; Prof. Chas. L. Penny, $10.00; Geo. W. Griffin, $20.00; Miss Mary J. Graff, $5.00; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Richards, $25.00; 8th Grade Grammar School, $20.00; J. E. Dougherty, $10.00; P. M. Sherwood, $5.00; Mrs. P. M. Sherwood, $5.00; Ralph Williams, $1.00; Contribution, $2.00; G. Fader, $20.00. Total, $148.00.

SENIOR CLASS TO HOLD BAKE

The Senior Class of the Newark High School will hold a bake in the Academy building next Saturday beginning at 10.30 a. m.

WILL INSTALL PASTOR TOMORROW EVENING

Reverend John McMurray recently called to the pastorate of Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church, will be formally installed tomorrow evening. Rev. Joel Gillfillan will preside. Rev. J. N. Huston, of Glenolden, Pa., and others, will assist in the ceremonies.

GOVERNOR W. D. DENNEY OUTLINES SOUND BASIS FOR STATE PROGRESS

URGES BUDGET SYSTEM AND ECONOMY IN ADMINISTRATION

MAKES CLEAR HIS STAND ON SCHOOL LAW, URGES HELP FOR STATE COLLEGES, ORGANIZATION OF NATIONAL GUARD, AND SELF GOVERNMENT FOR WILMINGTON

The following is the full text of Governor William D. Denney's inaugural address delivered yesterday at Dover:

Members of the General Assembly and Fellow Citizens:

In view of the able and exhaustive message of my predecessor to the General Assembly I deem it unnecessary at this time to do more than refer briefly to certain matters of Government and public concern to which I think your attention should be called. Later in the session I may address the General Assembly more specifically and at greater length upon some subjects respecting which legislation might be advantageous to the State.

In connection with State and local government there has been much discussion of the budget system, and I am heartily in favor of its adoption. It would undoubtedly insure the conduct of government along business lines, and result in greater economy on the part of public servants, as well as the reduction of expense and elimination of waste. If wisely planned and faithfully carried out there can be no doubt of its success. But it must not be forgotten that the best system will be disappointing if the officials who spend the money of the state are not careful, economical and efficient. An up-to-date fiscal system is highly important, but not more so than the character of public servants. I hope to be controlled by this thought in making appointments to office, and trust no one will expect me to be influenced by any consideration other than the public good.

Advices Greater Authority for State Auditor

TELLS ACHIEVEMENTS OF FEDERATION OF FARM BUREAUS

E. B. Heaton Addresses Gathering of Farmers at Wolf Hall

"We are not asking favors for the farmer, but we do ask that he be put on the same basis and given the same recognition as are other industries," said Mr. E. B. Heaton of the American Federation of Farm Bureaus when addressing a meeting at Newark last night. Mr. J. I. Dayett, of Cooch, presided. About seventy-five farmers were present.

In reviewing the achievements of the American Federation of Farm Bureaus, Mr. Heaton stated in a referendum submitted to its 1,500,000 members, on the Ralston Nolan Bill which proposed to inflict a tax of one per cent on all farm land about $10,000 in value, that the vote was two to one against it and that the bill was immediately dropped. When the railroad bill was before Congress through an intervention of the national farm bureau organization the book value of the railroads was reduced $1,110,000,000 and $1,000,000 in freight rates thus saved, 57 per cent of which the farmers would have to pay.

Another outstanding achievement of which Mr. Heaton spoke, was the securing of credits for farmers. Especially the federation (Continued on Page Four)

COMMUNITY CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

A meeting of the Community Club of Glasgow was held in the public school building on January 13, 1921, at 8 p. m. The meeting was opened by singing "Our Delaware." A prayer was read in concert and a short but interesting program was rendered by the pupils of the school.

The teacher, Miss May Brown, gave a reading upon better attendance in the schools, after which a short time was devoted to business matters of the club. The following officers were elected: Miss Katharine Bolton, chairman of the membership committee; Mrs. Richard Brown, chairman of the social committee; Mrs. W. Lamont McElwee, chairman of the press publicity committee.

The meeting was then placed in the hands of the social committee for the social hour.

Legislators to Visit Newark Next Friday

Will Inspect Experimental Farm and Colleges

Committee Makes Tentative Plans for Reception at Meeting This Afternoon

By joint resolution passed this morning the members of the General Assembly fixed Friday next as the date of their biennial visit to Delaware College and the Women's College of Delaware.

The college committee on arrangements, President Walter Hullivan, Dean Winifred J. Robinson, Deans E. L. Smith and C. A. McCue, Dr. W. O. Sypherd and M. Van Gieson Smith met this afternoon at 4 o'clock to make arrangements for their reception. In this they will cooperate with the legislative committee, Senator John F. Richards, Representative Charles L. Medill and Representative William Crompton of Pendlecadet hundred.

The tentative plans formulated include a reception on the arrival of the train at 11 o'clock, military escort to the Experiment Farm whence they will go to the Women's College for a brief inspection tour. Luncheon will be served at Old College where appropriations for the needs of the colleges will be discussed. They will then inspect the college buildings and later in the afternoon will have tea at the Women's College.

WILL HOLD BAKE FOR BENEFIT OF SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL FUND

A pie social and bake will be held in the hall at Appleton on Friday evening, January 21. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Soldiers' Memorial Fund.

ELECT TRUSTEES FOR ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

At a meeting held recently Benjamin Blest and James Walker were elected trustees for St. John's Church to serve for the year 1921.

SECRETARY OF STATE ALDEN R. BENSON

General Alden R. Benson, new Secretary of State, whose appointment was confirmed this morning by the Senate.

Auditor's office. Under the present system this office does not audit or control as fully as it should have the power to do. While, as the name implies, it was intended as a check on the various departments, officers and other agencies spending moneys of the State appropriated by the Legislature, it does not perform that function. The result is that thousands of dollars are spent every year without the State exercising the least supervision or control over the details of such expenditures. This is not the fault of the officer but the fault of the law creating the office. While the office is created by the Constitution, the General Assembly may define its powers and duties. I would earnestly commend this matter to your attention.

Urges Economy in Maintaining Government

There is a strong feeling among our people that the expense of maintaining the government of this State is far greater than it should be. If there are abuses or extravagances the enactment of a proper budget law and the creation of a proper and effective State Auditor's department would go far toward preventing them in the future.

Another thought prevalent among the people is that there are too many commissions clothed with power to spend the public funds. Undoubtedly this thought is well founded and it is the duty of the legislature to curtail the number by abolishing those whose work does not justify their continued existence, and consolidating others that seek to accomplish the same object independently and often at cross purposes. The Executives and Legislatures of other states have been confronted with a like problem and the solution seems to be the reduction of the large number of commissions to a few, co-ordinated so far as possible, and all subject to some central authority.

It is quite possible that waste and extravagance in the expenditure of the public moneys may be exaggerated in the minds of the people but the general belief is perhaps not surprising.

In this connection permit me to say that in my opinion the Governor should not be a member of any commission that must spend the money of the State. He should be at all times in a position to call any such commissions to account and have a free hand in dealing with it in such manner as his duty to the State requires. He is the representative of the people, and must conserve their interests to the full extent of his ability.

It is more difficult for him to do his duty in this regard if he is himself a member of a commission that is subject to criticism. My feeling about the matter is so strong that it will be gratifying if the legislature shall relieve the Governor of membership on any such commission.

Makes Position on School Legislation Clear

During the past two years our citizens have been giving an unusual degree of thought to the problems of public education. This is a healthy sign. We are more interested in the welfare of our children than in anything else. I am willing to believe that the many criticisms of the School Code of 1919 and the School Law passed at the Special Session of the General Assembly in 1920 were honestly offered. It is not a sign that the people of Delaware are opposed to good education, it simply means that they want a system of education which they can understand, which will fit the peculiar needs of the State and which will not impose too great a tax-burden upon any class or section of the population.

I would recommend that we all forget past differences of opinion and that we bury any ill-feeling which may have grown up during the past two years. Let us get together and study the situation in a calm and patriotic spirit.

Whatever has proved to have been of value in the much discussed School Code let us keep; whatever has failed to produce good results let us change.

If I understand aright the report which the State Board of Education has made to this Legislature some notable results have been achieved but even this does not prove that we cannot do better in the future.

May I point out that practically every state in the Union is in a similar condition of unrest about public education. And everywhere the problem is the same—the high cost of maintaining a modern system of schools. In Delaware we want our children to have educational advantages equal to those enjoyed by the children of other states. The chief question we have to answer is how we can finance such a system. You, the representatives of the people, are called upon to find a satisfactory answer to that question. I feel convinced that if we obtain the money necessary for running our schools without placing an unwarranted burden of taxation upon any group or class of our taxpayers, all of the other difficulties in connection with our school laws will be quickly and satisfactorily settled. I ask you therefore to give the closest possible attention to the financial aspect of this problem.

But I think it only right to apprise the Legislature that I cannot conscientiously approve any repeal of the present School Laws unless a just and a satisfactory substitute bill is passed by the General Assembly.

Declares for Good Roads

No one can ride over the beautiful and substantial concrete roads that have been constructed in our State without experiencing a feeling of pleasure and a wish that the mileage was greater than it is. We would all like to see such highways continuous, north and south, east and west, both for purposes of personal pleasure and business profit. Too much credit and praise cannot be given to those generous and public spirited citizens who have been instrumental in making such conditions possible. We know their efforts are fully appreciated and trust their good work and interest in better roads will continue. The State would gladly continue to supplement their work if it was financially able to do so, but how long can the State and counties stand the great expense in view of the present high cost of construction?

Economy must be practised and money saved along this and other lines or much more will have to be raised by bond issues or large increase in taxation. It is my hope that by conducting the business of the State along strictly business lines, just as a successful corporation is conducted, we may be able to avoid any considerable issue of bonds or increase in taxation. The State is financially prosperous now, but we have no assurance that our large income derived mainly from corporations chartered by the State will continue much longer.

It is probable that the General Assembly will be asked during the present session to make appropriations for various purposes far greater than were ever made, or asked for before. Of course appropriations must be made and the State should not be parsimonious in providing for objects that are essential and good. But it does seem that in view of present conditions the construction of buildings of all kinds not absolutely and immediately essential, should be reduced to a minimum. We must recognize the fact that our State is small, with resources comparatively limited, and that we cannot do some of the things that larger states can well afford to do. Naturally we want to keep reasonably abreast of the times in all good works, but in our enthusiasm for improvement we must count the cost and carefully consider our ability to pay. Delaware has been conservative in the past, but that very conservatism has enabled her to avoid many of the experiments that have proved so costly to other and larger states.

Commends Needs of Colleges to Legislators

We are proud of our institutions, and of none more than Delaware College which is rapidly growing in size and influence and reflecting much credit upon the State. May I request that in your visit to Newark you will pay careful attention to the needs of this institution. I think you will find that the College authorities have always been reasonable and modest in their requests for appropriations; indeed, I think they have been so modest that the College has been in danger of having its work limited for lack of funds. Other institutions of learning are able to take some of our most promising professors by offering larger salaries. In this connection I would suggest that you give particular attention to the wish of the College authorities that the name be changed from Delaware College to the University of Delaware. By making it a university you will give a more honorable position to its professors; you will make it what it really is—an institution belonging to all the people of the State without regard to location, denomination or political affiliation—and you will be doing only what other states have done for their institutions of learning. May I also ask that you will give your best thought to the question of the development of the Women's College. Two years ago a teachers' training department was started within the College which already has about fifty pupils. These young ladies are taking a two years' course with a view to teaching in the schools of our own State. It qualifies the young women of our own homes to do work of great value to the State as a whole and at the same time to receive a high grade certificate and consequently more pay for their labors. In order adequately to take care of this branch of the work it would seem as if a new residence hall were in immediate demand, and I should be happy if you could reach the conclusion that such a need will be met by this session of the Legislature.

Our State College for Colored Students is in a transition period. I understand that the Delaware School Auxiliary Association is willing to put the buildings and grounds in condition for first class work if the State will make adequate provision for teaching the pupils enrolled. The Colored College should be an institution which will give a thorough industrial training to the colored children of Delaware, and I think you will recognize the justice of the claims that are made upon you by the Trustees of the institution.

Hopes for Improvement of Political Conditions

With the hope of improving political conditions some new things have been tried in this and other states in the last few years; one of them is the direct primary law. It is certain that every new thing in government is not an improvement on the old. It matter not how good the intention, or how strong the hope of those responsible for the change, it is usually an experiment and sometimes a failure. It may be perfect in theory and exceedingly bad in practice. It would be well for the legislature to carefully consider the primary law, now that it has been given a fair trial and determine whether it has accomplished the good hoped for. Does it secure better candidates, and does it justify the expense of its operation? The nominating conventions of parties in this State have usually been composed of representative citizens, of character and capacity, and it is a question whether nominations made by them are not more likely to be of higher grade than those made through the activities of a few persons in the district and under a law that compels a candidate to seek the office and not the office to seek the man. Very often the best citizens will not do this, indeed sometimes they have to be persuaded to accept.

We have entered upon an era of government in which the women of the state are entitled, equally with men, to the right to participate in political affairs and I trust they will bring to the task qualities that will make conditions better than they have been in the past. Surely along some, if not all lines, their opinions and efforts will be helpful and those who have opposed as well as those who have favored equal suffrage should exercise the political rights to which they are entitled to the end that better government may be secured. It is to be hoped that they will make their influence for good felt in many ways and particularly in the selection of candidates for office. Although good men have been nominated as a rule, there have been some exceptions, and our new voters will have the power to prevent such mistakes in the future. Even though their influence should be felt in no other way, this alone would be ample justification for their enfranchisement. It is certain they will not stand for intemperance and immorality anywhere, and especially in the persons who make or administer the laws of the State. Having been given the right to vote we believe they will exercise it wisely and become potential factors in the effort that should be made to secure a more intelligent, effective and economical government.

Urges Establishment of State Guard

There has never been a time when there was better reason for a State guard than there is today. It would surely give the people a feeling of greater security if there were some organized force within our borders that might be called upon for assistance in an emergency that justified the call. The old militia law has become practically ineffective since the passage of the Federal Statute which provides for the organization of a federalized force within the State. If such a guard should be recruited here, which I strongly hope may be done, it would constitute a complete regimental unit. The expense of the regiment would be borne largely by the Federal Government. The unit would be sufficiently attractive and useful to enlist the services of our young men as well as to secure a reasonable amount of financial assistance from the State. In these critical times I feel sure our citizens would welcome such an institution, and feel that a comparatively small amount of money appropriated for the purpose would be amply justified. A committee representing those who saw service in the last war is preparing concrete suggestions as the result of their experience and in conformity with The National Defense Act and I recommend the result of their labor to your consideration.

States Conception of Gubernatorial Ethics

While I conceive it to be the duty of the Governor to give the General Assembly any information he may possess and to make any suggestions, or requests, respecting legislation that will, in his opinion, be for the best interest of the State and aid the members in the performance of their public duties, their will be no effort on my part to unduly influence their votes. It is the theory of our government that the independence of its different branches shall be recognized and maintained, and while my office will be open at all times to any member who may wish to confer with me, I shall not attempt to influence his action against his own judgment and conscience by any improper means.

It will be my policy, not to attempt to control, but to cooperate with the legislature in securing such legislation as will be for the best interest of the people. By this is not meant that the Governor will approve all the General Assembly may do but that its members will be free to perform their duties unembarrassed by executive interference. If convinced that any legislative action is wrong it will be my duty to exercise the veto power conferred by the Constitution; but it will not be done until the matter in question has been carefully considered, nor unless good reason can be given for non-approval.

Pleads for Abolition of Sectionalism

The success and prosperity of our state depend as well upon those who work in the shops as upon those who work in the fields. If one class suffers the other also suffers. It is my thought that if you improve the condition of either of these classes you materially aid all the people of the State.

We are mutually dependent, perhaps more so than in larger states, and it is important, therefore, that we help one another as best as we can. In recent years the citizens of the lower counties have become better acquainted with Wilmington than in the past. This is due largely to the State Fair, Delaware College, the meetings of the State Bankers' Association held throughout the State and the better means of transportation. And as the relationship becomes closer and acquaintance better, farm, town and city will be mutually helpful in many ways. We are all proud of Wilmington, our rapidly growing city, and deeply interested in its future growth and prosperity. Unquestionably one of the greatest benefits to the city just now would be a larger amount of self-government, and a new charter adequate to its needs.

Praises Conservation and Americanization Work

It may not be necessary to call attention to the importance of the good work being carried on in this State that has for its object the conservation of child welfare and the public health. I shall not dwell on it further than to say that manifestly nothing can be more essential to the well being of the people and any assistance that the State can afford to render will be as good an investment as can possibly be made. But in this connection I want to call attention to the work that is being quietly done, mainly in the City of Wilmington, a work of which most of the people of this state know little.

I refer to the activities of the Delaware Safety Council. This organization has for its object the prevention of preventable accidents, and in consequence the saving of life and limb. To show the importance of this work it is only necessary to state that in the last four years a large number of our citizens have lost their lives or sustained serious injuries through accidents, and the consequent economic loss to the State has been very great. The Delaware Safety Council is a voluntary non-profit body of citizens which for more than a year has made its influence felt. The Council's work is educational and corrective, it tends to lessen the burden on our charitable institutions by reducing the number of accident cases, and seeks to develop and stimulate all appropriate agencies.

Another subject to which I wish to make brief reference is the work done by the Americanization Schools of Delaware under the auspices of the State and Local Boards of Education. These schools have been carried on under an appropriation made at the last regular session. I am told that

For The Homemaker's Eye

Crystalized Popcorn

Before popping the corn hold the popper containing the kernels under the cold water faucet, allowing the water to wet it thoroughly. Shake well and set on the back of the stove or in the oven to steam, and then pop. To frost the corn, make a crystalizing sirup as follows: Into a saucepan put one pound of sugar, one-half cupful of water, and a pinch of cream of tartar. Stir over the fire until the sugar is dissolved, then withdraw the spoon. Boil without stirring until the sirup is brittle when dropped into cold water. Take from the fire and add one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Have the corn in a pan in the oven where it will have been kept hot, and pour the sirup over it, stirring as rapidly as possible, so as to distribute the sirup evenly without breaking the kernels. When all the sirup has been poured over the corn, sprinkle thickly with granulated sugar, which will cling to the sticky surface of the hot corn. Put in a cool place to set. This frosted corn may be colored by adding a little vegetable color to the sirup.

To Slice Oranges Easily

To peel and slice oranges without losing any of the juice, cut a piece of peel off the top of the orange, in a circle about two inches in diameter (depending of course on the size of the orange) and cut a similar circle from the bottom of the orange. Slash the balance of the skin in strips about an inch wide, which can then be easily removed. Quarter the orange, by pulling the segments apart. Take two of these quarters at a time, place them together on a large plate with the flat surfaces down, and with a sharp knife cut through the two quarters on the slant across the grain of the fruit. This makes firm slices. Fruit cut in this manner can be used in any number of ways—fruit salad, fruit cocktail, or just as "sliced oranges," with sugar sprinkled over them.

To Make Delicious Cinnamon Toast

Mix equal quantities of cinnamon and sugar, and sprinkle lightly over huttered toast when the toast is hot. Then place toast in the oven until the mixture has melted. To keep a supply of cinnamon and sugar in an attractive jar or bowl will mean that the electric toaster or grill makes cinnamon toast literally "while you wait."

Orange Gelatin Cake

Bake sponge cake in deep round layer cake pans. Make an orange jelly and mold in the same pan, dipping it first in water. Have one layer of jelly to two of cake. When the jelly is firm, dip the pan for an instant in hot water, then place one of the layers of cake over the jelly and place a large plate upside down; hold the three firmly together, and turn the plate over so that the cake will rest on it with the jelly resting on the cake. Now place the other layer on the jelly and frost with orange frosting.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS An Overshoe Economy

Rubbers wear out more quickly at the heels than in any of the other parts. To prevent this, cut heavy cardboard to exactly fit the heel and place them there when the rubber is new. You will be surprised to find how much longer the rubber will last.

Dressing for Poultry

In making dressing for poultry try just moistening the bread-crumbs and then mixing them in a spoonful or two of baking powder, according to the amount of bread that is used. Great care must be exercised not to render the dressing sticky by packing it too tightly into the fowl.

For Emergencies

There is nothing better than linseed oil and limewater in equal parts for burns. This takes the "fire" out of the wound and soothes it greatly. Borated talcum powder or finely sifted white flour, if pure, are also excellent for the first treatment of a burn or scald, but if the space affected is a large one, never wait before sending for a doctor.

Bruises may be successfully treated with arnica if the skin is not broken. Hot water applied as a fomentation takes the stiffness out of the tissues and assists the circulation of the blood by means of which nature will herself work the cure.

When the hands become chapped with frost, or because you do not dry them enough after washing, try warming them well and rubbing them with alcohol, after which rub in a little cocoa-butter. It is extremely healing, and the alcohol has a stimulating effect on the skin, inclining it to heal quickly.

Alcohol is good also for chilblains. Wash the feet or hands, whichever are affected, in warm water and rub gently with the alcohol until the circulation becomes very brisk and you can feel a glow through the extremities, then guard against cold by wrapping them in a piece of flannel, for contact with cold sheets will bring about the old condition and undo all the good of the treatment.

A wart may be removed without soreness by applications of oil of cinnamon three times a day.

To clean coat collars made of cloth, sponge with salt moistened with ammonia. Rinse with clear water and press under a cloth while damp. If the collar is of velvet sponge lightly with hot water and ammonia. When dry sponge with alcohol. If the nap is crushed badly steam over the spout of a tea-kettle. To bleach ivory if only slightly discolored, brush over with a paste made of alcohol and whiting. When the alcohol evaporates brush off the whiting with a very soft brush.

GARDNERS SHOULD PREPARE NOW FOR APPROACHING CROP

Whether it is conducted on an extensive scale to supply the market or whether it is to produce food for the family the garden plot is likely to be the most profitable acreage on the farm. Gardening really begins in the fall. When the last vegetables have been removed and stored the prudent gardener sets about to prepare the ground for the next year's crop.

Any rubbish, dead vines or plants, and bean poles or tomato stakes should be cleared away, says the United States Department of Agriculture, and the ground sown to rye or some other green crop to prevent the loose earth from washing under the winter rains. A clover crop also improves the physical condition of the soil. When a cover crop can not be supplied the next best thing that may be done is to plow or spade the soil and allow it to lie rough throughout the winter. This practice destroys many insects that lie just below the surface. The winter frosts have a lightening effect upon the soil, especially on clay soils.

The earliest and choicest vegetables are harvested by the man who maintains a few hotbed sashes and uses them to start his garden. He is able to handicap the frost line by several weeks, and to set, strong, well-developed plants in his garden at a time when his neighbors are planting seed.

The farm income is at its lowest point in the early spring, but it can be increased considerably by the sale of young plants grown in the hotbeds and ready for transplanting. Tomato, cabbage, eggplant, and pepper plants are always snapped up when the first warm planting days come, and they are easily grown in the hotbed. A little more space and a little more seed than the grower needs for his own use are likely to bring good profits. Before the ground freezes in the fall is a good time to clean out the old hotbeds.

Unless the soil used in the hotbed is to be exchanged for fresh earth it should be shoveled from the bed and tossed into a pile near by. The decayed manure from the bottom is scattered over the pile and thoroughly mixed with it to form rich soil for next year's beds. Over this goes a coat of straw or leaves held down by bits of board to keep it from blowing.

Some farmers find it convenient to use evergreen boughs instead of straw for the outer covering.

Hotbed Should Face South

New hotbed pits should be dug so that they will face the south, and the location should be selected, so that the beds will be protected from cold north winds and late spring storms. Sometimes the earth taken from the new pit is suitable for use in the hotbed, but this is the exception rather than the rule. A few loads of leaf mold from the woods mixed with the natural soil will often form a smooth, rich, stoneless mass which gives an ideal hotbed filler.

The back or north side of the frame is usually from 12 to 18 inches high, while the south end is about 8 inches, so that the whole bed may have pitch enough to get the sun upon all parts. The standard hotbed sash is handled by most dealers, and measures 3 feet in width and 6 feet in length. A frame just wide enough to support the sash seems to be the most satisfactory, though wider beds are sometimes used with supporting ridges placed at 6-foot intervals. A well-painted cypress sash, glazed with good double-strength glass well set in putty should give the careful gardener 12 to 15 years' service. Heat for the hotbed is furnished by means of a bed of horse manure 8 to 16 inches thick in the bottom of the pit. Permanent hotbeds are often heated with coils of steam or hot-water pipes under the bed. Hotbeds require constant care to prevent their becoming overheated, especially during bright weather.

MAKING MONEY

Some men make their money in business—some in stocks—some by tolling some saving of their daily wages. But we submit to you the unquestioned fact that more men have achieved a comfortable competence through the ownership of property—houses and land which bring in a fixed income—than in any other way.

A word to the wise is enough. Watch your neighbors gradually rise in the world and then ascertain how they are doing it.

In nine cases out of ten you will find they have purchased their home or farm—often on easy terms—while their less enterprising neighbor is still paying rent.

A word to the wise is sufficient. If you have not yet started on a place of your own do not delay. Get full particulars about some of the following properties.

through them, over two thousand men and women residing in Delaware and representing thirty-one different countries have been given instruction in the English language and the fundamental principles of American liberty. Only through such education can the future unity and loyalty of our citizenship be assured and I commend it to your attention. There is an unusual degree of mutual confidence and understanding between the native and foreign-born elements of our population, and I believe that this is due in no small measure to the work of assimilation promoted by the Americanization classes.

Hopes for Early Readjustment in Business

In conclusion permit me to express the hope that business conditions here and elsewhere may soon improve, and the present state of unrest may soon pass, and that the unemployed may have employment. I realize, as you must, that the new administration begins at a rather inauspicious time, but conditions are no worse here than in other states. The times require patience, as well as the serious thought and careful act of every public servant and of none more than the legislative and executive departments of the state. The most difficult and troublesome duty a government has to perform is that of taxation, and it behooves those entrusted with that work to see to it that money is not raised and spent for purposes that are wasteful, extravagant or unnecessary. I know the people of this state well enough to say they are in favor of better schools, better roads and other improvements, but many of them think that we should not try to accomplish too much at once. They believe in gradual rather than radical improvement, but when it is shown that a law is necessary for the public good, that it is just in its provisions, and wisely administered I have no doubt that they will be reasonably content.

The citizens of the state performed their duty nobly during the war, and there has been no failure since to do their full part in relieving distress and suffering across the seas. Our soldiers, and others in the service, whether at the front or not, were real patriots and intensely loyal to their country and state. They sacrificed much for the sake of humanity during the war and were willing to give their lives and all they possessed for the good of the cause. Any reasonable demands they may make I am sure will not fall on deaf ears but will meet a glad response from those who can appreciate real courage, unselfish devotion and true manhood. But all our people have made real sacrifices for humanity in other lands, and are now hopefully looking for the time when their own burdens shall be made easier to bear.

The State has successfully passed through some trying experiences during its long, eventful and honored history, and the splendid record made in the past will not be marred during the readjustment trials we are experiencing now.

The serious conditions existing to-day, economic and otherwise, were caused in a large measure by the world war, and will disappear as time goes by. But in the process of reconstruction difficult problems have arisen, and others will arise before readjustment is complete. They will try the patience and test the wisdom of every one in private or official life.

But whatever may be the work required for the betterment of individual and state, we may be sure that Delaware will do her part for she has ever been among the first, and never last, in all good works.

NEW GOVERNOR INAUGURATED YESTERDAY WITH IMPOSING CEREMONY

Former Mayor Joseph G. Lawson, of Wilmington.

The retiring and incoming officials, retiring governor John G. Townsend, Jr., Governor-elect William D. Denney and his guard of honor composed of ex-service men, Adjutant General J. Austin Ellison, former Adjutant General Wickersham, Secretary of State Alden R. Benson, retiring Secretary of State Everett C. Johnson, Lieutenant Governor J. Danforth Bush, the governor's staff, the Judges of the Supreme Court of the State, the congressional representatives, State officers, Robinson's Band, Delaware College cadets, Young Men's Republican Club of Wilmington, Cadets of State College for colored students at Dover, and several civic organizations made up an imposing parade which formed on Dover Green shortly after 11 o'clock and after covering the principal streets of the town, proceeded to the Opera House where the inaugural ceremony was performed.

Previous to the inauguration of the governor Major J. Danforth Bush of Wilmington, was sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor at a session of the State Senate. He presided over the joint session of the Senate and the House held in the Opera House at which the oath of office was administered to Governor Denney by Chief Justice James Pennewill at 12 noon. The Bible used in the ceremony is an ancient Latin volume from the State Library which for a century or more has been used for this purpose.

The new governor next delivered the inaugural address which appears elsewhere in this issue.

A few guests were entertained at the Denney home for luncheon after the ceremony. A reception was held by Governor and Mrs. Denney in the State House parlors early in the evening previous to the inaugural ball which was held in the Armory. Madden's orchestra furnished music for this brilliant and colorful event.

The College Battalion made one of the best appearances yesterday that it has ever made at a public ceremony. From the time of departure to the time of return the Delaware boys constantly showed their loyalty and college spirit.

The battalion left Newark at nine o'clock on a special train and proceeded to Dover by way of Porter. After the student body arrived at Dover they paraded to the Green where the column of march was formed. The parade moved off at eleven o'clock and proceeded along State Street.

The inaugural ceremonies were held in the Dover Opera House shortly after twelve o'clock.

The rehabilitation men were tinged by the blue arm bands which they wore. The column of rehabilitation men was headed by a large rehabilitation banner.

The assembly for return was called at three-forty and the Delaware College battalion left Dover at four-fifteen. However, many of the students stayed in Dover over night and attended the inaugural ball.

The following officers were in charge of the battalion yesterday: Cadet Major, L. H. Gordy; Cadet Adjutant, J. F. O'Neill; Assistant to Cadet Major, C. F. Denney (Cadet Captain); Sergeant Major, E. L. Stewart.

MAJOR DANFORTH BUSH

takes credit for persuading the Federal Reserve Board to direct banks to accept storage-warehouse receipts for wheat and other grains as collateral on loans.

The U. S. Shipping Board was considering equipping a line of ships with refrigerator space for hauling meat from Argentina and Australia and dumping hundreds of tons of cheap meat on our markets. The Washington representative of the farm bureau federation was on the job and spoke of the work that caused the U. S. Shipping Board to nullify this policy.

Last spring the farmers of Long Island were unable to get their seed potatoes down from Maine due to the car shortage. An appeal was made to Mr. Silver, the Washington representative of the federation. Mr. Silver presented an argument which resulted in the diversion of one hundred cars a day to Maine above the normal car movement there. When fertilizers were needed a second investigation was made and 500 cars were secured for this purpose.

A drive to organize a Delaware Federation of Farm Bureaus, which will become a unit of the national organization will be launched in New Castle County about February 3. The American Federation of Farm Bureaus comprises forty-five states of the Union, with a membership of over 1,500,000 bona fide farmers.

FALLING BEAM FRACTURES YOUNG MAN'S SKULL

Eli Hollett Instantly Killed at Grantham Farm Last Thursday

Eli Hollett, 18 year old son of James and Katherine Hollett, of near Appleton, Md., met death in a tragic manner last Thursday morning. He was engaged in tearing down the barn on the Grantham property where a heavy beam fell from the loft striking him on the head and fracturing his skull. He died in a few minutes.

The young man had lived for several years with the family of Charles H. Jarmon. He came to Newark with them and continued to make his home there. He was a general favorite with young and old, an industrious, dependable workman.

The funeral services were held at the funeral parlors of Undertaker Robert T. Jones on Monday afternoon, with Rev. Frank Herson officiating. Interment was made at Head of Christiana cemetery.

He is survived by his father, mother, and 11 brothers and sisters.

AMERICAN LEGION WINS GAME BY CLOSE SCORE

Newark High School Team Puts Up Good Game Against Soldiers

A basketball game of more than usual interest was played at the Armory last night between the strong Newark High School team and one representing the American Legion. Interest and enthusiasm ran high when at the end of the last half the score stood 16-16. Three extra periods were required to break the tie. The winning shot was made by Charles Eissner, guard for the Legion team, who thus won the game for the latter with the score 18-16.

Paul Moore starred for the High School team making several difficult long shots from the middle of the floor. Walter Holton and Eissner were the high point scorers for the Legion five.

The line-up:

- N. H. S. American Legion
- Moore . . . . forward . . . Scheide
- Smith . . . . forward . . . C. Hopkins
- C. Hopkins . . . center . . . J. Hopkins
- Crompton . . . guard . . . Holton
- Smith . . . . guard . . . Eissner

Time of halves: 20 minutes. Timekeeper: H. McDonald. Referee: Herberner.

OLD DELAWARE COMES BACK IN OLD TIME FORM

Wins Three Straight; Local Youth Stars at Forward

Alexander, McCaughan, Wills, Williams and Keith form the new combination which Coach Shipley has moulded into a finished quintet. With the above team, Delaware conquered Carnegie Tech 35-27, St. John's 47-18, and George Washington University 35-20 on consecutive nights. The showing over Carnegie Tech was a distinct surprise, and proved that despite injury and graduation of players Delaware is still one of the leaders of Eastern Collegiate basketball.

"Jack" Williams has played an excellent game at his new position at forward. "Sank" McCaughan has proven for once and all that he is one of the best centers in collegiate ranks. Captain Alexander, altho not conspicuous by heavy bombardment of field goals like "Sank" is the most important cog in the team. Around him is built the system of defence and offense. "Sank" and "Alec" work together like twin brothers, and the whole team is built upon teamwork and cooperation.

The game with Carnegie Tech was replete with thrills. Starting with the first blow of the whistle, the visitors ran up five points in short order before the Blue team could get started. This did not last for long, however, as "Sank" and "Alec" began dropping them in from all angles and from then on the advantage lay on Delaware's side.

The St. John's team, although game to the finish, was no match for the Blue and Gold. "Sank" McCaughan was easily the star of this fracas, and when the smoke cleared up, had eleven field goals to his credit. Alexander at guard, and Williams, at forward, were also largely responsible for the score.

On Saturday night, George Washington University came on the floor with a long string of victories to their credit and confidently expected to add another to this list. The score does not indicate how hard the Chicks had to work to keep them from doing so. Here, as before, the excellent teamwork of the Blue and Gold was the deciding factor. Keith, at forward, put up a fine game, effectively putting his opponent out of the scoring after the first few minutes of play.

The next home game will be on Saturday night, January 22.

Sigma Phi Dance an Enjoyable Affair

Spirit of Congeniality Characterizes Thirteenth Annual Dance; Decorations Unusual

One hundred and fifty guests and members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity enjoyed the thirteenth annual dance given by the local chapter in Old College, Friday night. The spirit of congeniality and good feeling signalized the evening's pleasure. In fact, everyone went away happy. It is safe to say, and nothing more could be desired by the hosts. The atmosphere of Egypt provided the background for decorations and music.

The decorative scheme, conceived by "Art" Spaid, was well executed. The patronesses corner presented the idea of an Egyptian canopy in purple and red, the colors of the fraternity. The panels of the dining hall were covered with alternating skulls and sphinxes. Around the walls, above and below these panels, small black images of the art of the ancients completed this phase of the scheme. Dimmed lights were cast on the dancers from the orange pyramids which covered the electric lamps. In addition to this lighting effect, two machines threw continuous flashes of purple, red, and the rest of the rainbow's shades about the hall.

A novelty was introduced in the matter of distributing favors, which happened to be programs only, when the grand march commenced. The little Misses Catherine C. Townsend and Louise Hullahen, dressed in robes from Cleopatra's wardrobe, presented the participants in the march with the programs. "Programs only" was the result of the failure of the Dorine case favors to arrive. These sterling vanity boxes, surmounted with the fraternity seal, have since arrived and been delivered to the guests.

The patronesses were: Mrs. H. E. Tiffany, Mrs. J. H. Hossinger, Mrs. C. C. Palmer, Mrs. George L. Townsend, Mrs. L. K. Bowen, Mrs. Walter Hullahen, Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. John Pilling, Mrs. C. L. Penny, Mrs. George Dutton, Mrs. E. Lawrence Smith, Dean Winifred J. Robinson, and Miss Quaesita C. Drake. Among the guests present were: Dean E. L. Smith, Mr. George

Carter, Mr. L. K. Bowen, Professor George Dutton, F. Wilmer Holland, A. E. Marconetti, George Sipple, Dorsey Donoho, H. B. Alexander, and Harry Jones.

The Gas Attack(?)

Just a few lines about a little humorous incident that happened while our outfit was receiving its initial experience in one of the so-called "Rest sectors," up in the Vosage Mountains, in the spring of 1918. At least they were "Rest" sectors until the "Yanks" arrived. There had hardly been a shot fired in that sector (St. Die) since Jerry's last drive in 1916. In fact both Frog and Fritz would use the same creek that ran between the lines to bathe and wash their clothes. It was a kind of an unwritten armistice between them. This, however, was all changed when a doughboy sniper picked a couple of Jerry's off. Fritz retaliated by sending lots of "gas" over, especially at night, until the boys' nerves were on edge. It certainly was not with any pleasant feeling that any of us went to sleep for at any minute the gas alarm would send its blaring signal over the hills and valley for miles around. We had just received our gas masks a trench and like all green troops week or so before entering the who had undergone those delightful (?) (for the Gas N. C. O.) gas mask drills we had heard so much about the deadliness of Fritz's pet medicine that the boys were a bit "feery" of it.

But to resume my story. We had our field kitchen built into the rock wall at the foot of a deep gully, to which place each squad leader would detail a man to go for the squad's "chow." This he carried in a couple of pails. It had become the habit of the "chow carriers" to eat their mess first, usually in front of the kitchen, before carrying the others their share. On afternoon right after a heavy rain, the fellows as usual were sitting around the kitchen on boulders and fallen trees, eating and making sarcastic remarks regarding the quality of the "slum" and hardtack when "Big Bill" Downey, our genial and regular "K. P." came out of the hot and stuffy kitchen to catch a breath of fresh air. I was sitting directly in front of the low, corrugated, iron entrance that acted as a door to our culinary department and was the first to get a look at the puzzled expression that stole over his face, as he took a couple of sniffs of the ozone. He suddenly went pale as a sheet and turning let out one frightened bellow, "Gas!" and started for a gas mask hanging on the wall.

That one cry started something. The air was full of mess kits, slum knives, forks, spoons, helmets, hardtack and cups of hot coffee, as the boys gave everything a toss to get at their masks. "Kid" Goodman (one of the cooks) went for the same gas mask "Big Bill" wanted for his personal use. They nearly tore that mask apart and made the air blue with the language they used as they struggled for possession of the thing that meant life and death at times. Pots, cans, and even the stove was overturned as they fought. I turned from the scrap for a moment and saw two Frenchmen without any masks, laughing heartily. I rather suspected things were not as they should be. I took off my mask and went up to them and asked for an explanation. I sure got it. Here it is. The Americans on dumping their garbage would first dig a hole and bury it, but the Frog cooks would just throw the garbage in a heap and put chloride of lime on it. The rain had wet this stuff, and since our kitchen was lower down the gully, the gas resulting from the mixture of rain and chloride of lime, being heavier than air, drifted down the gully about the time "Big Bill" came out of the stuffy kitchen into the fresh air. He naturally, after his first sniff, thought of Jerry's chlorine gas as we had been the subjects of his last gas attack. Explanations followed and the boys all enjoyed the joke on "Bill" and "Goody" although we lost our dinner. But one thing was noticed ever after. "Big Bill" and the "Kid" always wore their own gas masks at the alert and even went to sleep with them in the same position.

As Ever
LITTLE SAMMY.

Future Babies to Ride in Electrically Equipped Cabs

There has been a marked falling off in the demand for baby carriages, say manufacturers, who assembled for a national convention in Chicago recently.

A glance over the models convinces any one that life in the future is going to be a veritable paradise for infants. Babies of the next few years are going to ride in electrically equipped cabs.

The very latest is a cab equipped with a little knob which the occupant can touch when he or she wants the hood lowered or raised.

There was one white elephant among the cabs exhibited. It was a carriage made in Flint, Mich. It has room for four babies, and owing to the lack of demand the manufacturer intimated that it could be obtained at a bargain.

ALCOHOL FROM GASES

The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey is starting the manufacture on a large scale of a new product known as "petrohol."

The product is made from a new alcohol contained in the gases which arise from the use of the cracking process in the refining of crude oil. This alcohol is known as iso-propyl, and while its existence has been known for some time by chemists, it has only been made in small quantities, synthetically, from acetone.

These gases formerly were used as fuel to operate various stationary engines in use at the refinery, but by a patented process invented by Carleton Otis the propylene in the gases can be refined. The gases from the pressure stills are run through sulphuric acid, which takes up the propylene content. The mixture is then washed with water, removing the sulphuric acid, and leaving the propylene, which is then ready to be refined into the new alcohol product, "petrohol."

It has been found that the new alcohol can be obtained cheaper than either wood or grain alcohol and can be used for any purpose for which the other two alcohols are adapted with the exception of medicines.

Samples of the new product have been sent to different industries and apparently its big initial use will be as solvent in the rubber, varnish and dye industries.—Yall Street Journal.

Hints For Sirup Makers

The necessity for cleanliness and uniformity in making home-made sirup is evidenced by the fact that of 3,000 cans of sirup gathered from various localities, it was found, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, that more than one-third had sugared partially, a few had sugared solid, and the sirup in some was too thin to be classed as sirup. Fifty-odd cans contained sirup that had been made from frozen cane; in one can out of every ten a bee or a wasp was found while many of the cans contained smaller insects. Careful boiling to exactly the right density and the use of a strainer when sirup is packed in the can will help to eliminate these difficulties.

KNITTING CRAZE PREVAILS IN VIENNA

In Vienna just now there is as great a craze for knitting as there was in England during the war. This revival is due to Major Bateman, the American Red Cross commissioner, because it was cheaper for America to furnish garments for the people of Austria. He organized a band of "Volunteer Knitters" whose number has now grown to 20,000 women and 100,000 children. The yarn with which they work is furnished free and the finished garments, most of which are for the smallest children, are distributed through American organizations.

Austrian women invented the so-called "continental" method of knitting, which is said to be faster than any other and involves fewer motions, the familiar click of the needles for instance, being entirely absent. They claim to be the best knitters in the world and have already turned out thousands of garments, using up the wool faster than it can be supplied.

DUELS FOUGHT IN MEXICO WITH WORDS

Duelling as practiced in Mexico is the most harmless of outdoor sports. Although scarcely a week passes but some person whose pride has been hurt challenges the offender to "pistols at twenty paces in the Bosque of Chapultepec," a few reach beyond the stage of talk and none even ventures close to reality.

A deputy from one Mexican state rises in the chamber and bitterly assails a member from another state for his attitude on certain public measures. The other replies with equal vituperation. Before the day is done chances are a challenge will be carried to one or the other by two seconds who later describe their efforts in a verbose report to all newspapers.

Once in a while the challenge will be accepted and then there is a scramble on all sides to see to it that the "government intervenes" at the proper moment. Whether there is official "intervention" is conjecture but the announcement is always the same—that "high authorities frowned upon the contemplated struggle to death and forbade it." Pride is always satisfied by such announcement and the incident is forgotten.

Value of a Good Loser

"Is you boy Josh a help to you?" "Yes," replied Farmer Corn-tassel. "I dunno's I could get along without him. He assists in keeping the hired hands happy and contented by comin' home evenin's and playin' pinochle with them."—Washington Star.

THIEF OF TIME

The secretary of the company had sent out his official call for a meeting of the board of directors of one of our local companies. The notice announced the fact that the meeting would be held at 4 o'clock, and bore also the added injunction: "Please be prompt."

Four were required to constitute a legal quorum, and at the hour three arrived. The impatient three sat around and looked at each other, yawned, and waited for the necessary fourth man to come. They were busy business men and anxious to be on their way. Twenty minutes passed and still progress halted. Finally one of the three stretched himself and exclaimed:

"Who was it once said that promptness is the thief of time?"—Detroit Free Press.

CORN AIDS DAIRY COW RATION

With well-filled corn cribs on many farms, and relatively low prices prevailing this year, it is time, says a feeding specialist from the Dairy Division, United States Department of Agriculture, that correction should be made of the impression found in certain localities that corn is not good feed for dairy cows. Certain recent inquiries on this subject indicate that the use of corn in the dairy ration is not understood by all dairymen; and it is hoped that a correction of this impression may lead to a greater utilization of the large 1920 crop for dairy-cattle feeding.

"When it is fed for a definite purpose, with a complete knowledge of its limitations, as well as its true worth, corn is one of the best and cheapest grains we have than can be used for economical production of milk," says the feeding specialist. "Some dairymen avoid feeding it altogether, on account of the mistaken idea that it is not suited to a cow producing milk. This is because it is so generally used for fattening both hogs and cattle, and because it has not been successful when used alone for dairy-cow feeding."

The function of corn in the ration is to furnish the animal with material for producing heat, energy, and fat; but is rather low in protein and deficient in ash. When fed alone, it does not supply largely the nutrients which make bone, muscle, hair, and the casein in milk. Consequently, in compounding the grain ration it is necessary to add to corn some feed which is high in this substance, such as bran, linseed meal, or cottonseed meal. Bran is useful because it not only lightens the ration, but helps to balance it. Corn-and-cob meal is largely used in feeding dairy cows, and it has one advantage over corn meal in that it is more bulky, although not so palatable. Usually, when corn forms a large portion of the grain ration, protein also should be supplied by feeding some leguminous hay, such as alfalfa or clover, for the roughage in the ration.

Since corn can be grown on most dairy farms, supplies energy in a cheap form, and is palatable, and since, when it is made into silage it provides the cheapest most efficient form of succulence, every dairymen should have the information that will enable him to make corn the basis of a successful ration for economical milk production.

Farmers' Bulletin No. 743, The Feeding of Dairy Cows, contains a discussion relative to the digestible nutrients found in corn, and gives samples of grain mixtures of which corn forms a large part.

ORIGINAL POEM

By A. R. BENSON, Secretary of State

I'd rather spend time growing flowers,
 I'd rather be modest than bold,
 I'd rather be a bee making honey,
 Then spend all my life chasing gold.

I'd rather be damned than unwilling
 I'd rather grow roses than weeds,
 I'd rather do good with my hours,
 Than spend time sowing bad seeds.

I'd rather be free and unhampered,
 I'd rather give place to a friend,
 I'd rather be truthful than pampered,
 I know that is best in the end.

I'd rather stand up for a grilling,
 I'd rather be scorned if I'm right,
 I'd rather be damned than unwilling,
 To strike when its time for a fight.

NEARLY A HUNDRED KIWANIANS DINE AT OLD COLLEGE

Local Members Receive and Provide Varied Entertainment of Guests

A hearty welcome, good food, good music and all of the elements which ordinarily are considered essential to a good time, were offered to the members of the Kiwanis Club who attended the banquet at Delaware College last Wednesday evening. No effort was spared by Mr. Arthur G. Wilkinson, through whom the invitation was extended by local Kiwanians, to make the dinner a success. The ultimate object of the affair was to arouse the interest of this powerful organization in the college.

In the arrangements for the dinner Mr. Wilkinson had the hearty support of Dr. Walter Hullahen, president of Delaware College, the students, faculty and local members of the organization.

The visitors arrived about 7 o'clock in two special railway coaches and marched in a body to the hall at the entrance of which a huge electrically lighted "K" had been placed. They were received by Mr. Wilkinson and members of the entertainment committee which included the local members, H. L. Bonham, W. E. Holton, George L. Townsend, Jr., Louis Klee and J. Wirt Willis. They were then ushered into the banquet hall where they were entertained by the college orchestra.

Hopes Visit Will Become Annual Custom

Mr. Wilkinson adding a personal welcome to the Kiwanians, introduced Dr. Walter Hullahen, who made the address of welcome. Extending the welcome on behalf of Newark, Delaware College, and members of the faculty, Dr. Hullahen expressed the hope that the Kiwanian visit would become an annual custom. The keynote of the work of the Kiwanis Club, he said, is the very best of American business and their spirit of fellowship and brotherhood is worthy of the greatest possible praise. "It is the most hopeful sign," he asserted, "that has come out of the chaos of the great world war."

He agreed with Mr. Wilkinson that Delaware College needed all the help of the Kiwanians and asked for their sympathetic interest and aid.

During the past three years, he pointed out, the students have literally been pouring into the college in numbers far in excess of all past records. Many must be turned away, due to the limited facilities, and for that reason Delaware College must demand heavier appropriations for its upkeep than ever before. "Therefore," he declared, "we need help, actual assistance and aid from the Kiwanis Club and every other like organization."

President William G. Corey of the Kiwanis Club responded to the address of welcome. He said the organization greatly appreciated the honor bestowed upon them for the first time by Newark, and expressed a hope the people of the two communities would get to know each other better.

Following President Corey's response, Kiwanian Guy R. Ford led in community singing, favorites being Baby Dreams, Hold Me, Old Fashioned Garden, Avalon, Love Nest, and Carolina Sunshine.

Several solos were sung by Mrs. J. Pearce Cann and selections played by the orchestra.

Mayor Taylor Urges State-Wide Cooperation

Mayor William G. Taylor, of Wilmington, said it was about time Wilmingtonians learned there was more of the State of Delaware than one city. Our friendship should be extended throughout the state, he said, and the people in the farthest part of Delaware would be brought closer to us.

He urged his hearers to tell of Delaware's good points and to advertise. Though he admitted there are some weak points in the make-up of the state, he claimed there are more good points to Delaware than to any other state in the Union, advancing the opinion that the next two years will be the greatest in the history of Delaware. We are on the eve of prosperity, he said, pointing to the Wilmington harbor as one of the greatest hopes we have to cling to.

He closed his remarks by urging every one to make himself not only a Wilmingtonian but a full-fledged Delawarean, and to all boost together and make Delaware College one of the greatest institutions of learning in the country.

The mayor's address was followed by more community singing, a delightful solo by Miss Katherine Graybill and a skit by Messrs. Lilly, Harmer and Watson.

The famous faculty quartette, composed of Professors Hancock, Harris, Kirkbride and Van Keuren sang several selections which concluded the evening's entertainment.

Newark High Loses to Beacom in Close Game

A particularly close and hard-fought game of basketball was played on Friday evening between Beacom Business College of Wilmington and Newark High School. The former team won in the last second of play when Prisybilski, the crack Wilmington center, shot a pretty field goal putting his team in the lead by one point. The score previous to that play was 18-17 in favor of Newark.

The work of the two centers featured the game. Hopkins, center for Newark, shot 5 field goals, and Prisybilski, center for Beacom's, shot 4 field goals and 7 fouls. The line-up:

Support Grows as Campaign For Better Stock Extends

That there is widespread public interest in live-stock improvement is shown by the support accorded such activities as cow-testing associations, poultry culling and the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign and similar movements of the United States Department of Agriculture. On June 30, 1920, cow testing associations in the United States numbered 467, a gain of 84 over the corresponding date in 1919. Bull associations increased during the same period from 78 to 120.

The "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign, planned to bring about improvement in the average quality of all classes of live stock, has been well received. On June 30, records show, 2,078 persons, owning approximately 232,322 head of stock, had pledged themselves to use only purebred sires and to follow methods of breeding leading to live-stock improvement. Statistical information compiled from blanks filled out by persons participating in the campaign shows clearly that purebred sires lead also to rapid improvement of female stock.

Comprehensive investigations now are being made by the department to learn definitely the principles of breeding which will make possible the most economical production.

The Distrustful Bride

Chlorine, the dusky queen of the kitchen, showed up at the receiving teller's booth with an air of determination on her midnight features.

"Ah wants you should take care of dis yeah cash fo' a while," she remarked, planking down her savings of several years.

"Why, Chlorine," ejaculated the teller, who knew her of old. "I thought you always said you'd never trust the bank."

"Dat's all right, dat's all right, but de circumstances surroundin' de matter makes me change mah mind. Yo, see, I'se gwine get married an' Ah don't want dat much money round do house with no strange culud man on de premises." — American Legion Weekly.

WHY HE SMILED

Noticing one of her pupils nibbling at some luncheon in school one day, the teacher called the culprit to the desk.

"You know," she began sternly, "that you must not eat during lesson hours. Now, as a punishment, you must stand in front of the class and eat every bit of it."

The small boy did as he was told, a curious grin overspreading his face. The teacher misunderstood that grin until the last scrap had disappeared, when from the class a small voice wailed in tearful accents:

"Please, teacher, that wasn't his lunch he was eatin'—it was mine." — Houston Post.

INVESTIGATOR INDORSES NEAR EAST RELIEF

During the Peace Conference in Paris the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, appreciating the importance of accurate, first hand information about the Armenian situation, sent Capt. Benjamin Burges Moore of the American Red Cross as head of a special mission to study and report on the value of the work done by the Near East Relief form part of his special report.

"Armenians are sincerely grateful to us," Captain Moore states, "since no exaggeration to say that they would have disappeared as a nation had not been for this splendid help given them by the Near East Relief and American Food Administration. The best that sympathetic Americans can do is to continue and enlarge the present admirable work of the Near East Relief."
