

FOOD AND INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION AT BRANDYWINE SPRINGS

Plans are almost complete for the Food and Industrial Exposition which will open at Brandywine Springs Park on August 14 and continue for ten days. In addition to the exhibition in which there will be probably fifty or more exhibitors there will be an interesting program of events during its progress.

A WORD FOR THE COUNTRY SCHOOL

A report submitted to the National Educational Association at its recent convention in Chicago, and commented upon in these columns, scored the country school as the fount of inefficiency, saying, "Among other things, that conditions in the average rural school house are 'so unattractive that more than two-thirds of the 12,000,000 pupils in the country districts fail to reach a satisfactory standing in their studies.'"

UNDESIRABLE PLANT SEED

For some reason not explained the farmers of this country have failed to raise grass seed enough to supply the demand, and great quantities have been imported, some from abroad.

The Secretary of Agriculture in his report on the matter says: "A special examination of seed of alsike clover and red clover imported from Canada during 1911 showed that approximately one-half was unsalable for seeding purposes in that country, the seed-control act there prohibiting sale when more than a prescribed number of noxious seeds are found in the pound. One lot of seed of alsike contained less than 50 per cent. of pure seed, germinating only 15 per cent., or 7 1/2 per cent. of the entire bulk. This particular lot contained approximately 135,000 weed seeds in each pound."

THE VALUE OF A HARD BEGINNING

There is a story of a tender-hearted woman who, seeing within a cocoon the struggle that the butterfly was making to free itself, thought to help by breaking the meshes and letting the silken-winged creature loose; but the butterfly, thus released, was too weak to lift itself, too undeveloped to care for itself, and died before its rescuer's eyes. It needed the battle.

Beginnings ought to be hard; the people whose beginnings are made easy for them are the handicapped. Attainment, achievement, fulfillment cannot be made easy—and beginnings should not be. Patience, determination, thoroughness come hard to those who have never known hard beginnings.

It is not only the virtues essential to success that are to be associated with hard beginnings; family affection flourishes best when there is need of family effort to get the younger members started right. That does not mean freeing them from burdens, but taking pains to adjust the load properly upon their young shoulders.

Many rich men are perplexed by the problem how to keep their children from growing up inefficient through being accustomed to easy conditions of life. Many wives of rich men are saddened because they seem not so necessary to their children, not so intimate with them, as those mothers who, in the eyes of the world, are less fortunately placed.—Ex.

Poison Ivy Harms No One Save In Self Defence

I have come across such a welcome bit of information recently that I hasten to pass it on to other woods lovers who live in dread of contact with poisonous vines.

Dr. S. C. Schmecker, the recognized authority on woodlore and nature work of this part of the country, states that there are only two plants in the eastern United States which are poisonous to a sensitive skin. These are the poison ivy and the swamp sumac.

There is only one other plant which one is likely to confuse with the poison ivy, of which we wish to beware. I refer to the pretty and harmless Virginia creeper which is easily distinguished after all, since its leaves have five leaflets each instead of the three of the poison vine.

We find the poison ivy, which possesses an attractive dullness, running over the fence posts, telegraph poles, etc., everywhere. It has developed a system of economy whereby its greatest strength can go to the leaves, and very little energy be wasted upon the stem of the plant.

The poison itself is the strongest element in the ivy. Every part contains it; every season of the year finds it present and active. But the most interesting part of the plant's history to me is this: It harms no one except in self defence. The greatest fallacy in connection with the plant is that only the wind blowing from off it when wet with dew, is necessary to bring about a painful case of poisoning.

in the plant is an oil that is not volatile. Quoting Dr. Schmecker, "It is, however, most persistent and can easily be transferred from one object to the other. One person getting it on his hands and washing and wiping his hands on a towel can later give it to any person who is unfortunate enough to use the same towel. Furthermore, a person treading on the plant can later transfer it to his skin on removing his shoes. If a person who has unwittingly brushed against it will promptly scrub his hands well with warm water and soap, he can often remove all traces of the oil before the eruption appears. The same treatment early in the attack will sometimes be enough to prevent its spread. Once well established on the skin no remedy seems to even allay its violence until it has run its course. Each person has his own pet treatment, but none commands the general regard of physicians. One thing the oily nature of the original poison makes evident, and that is, that oily remedies run great risk of simply dissolving the poison and thus spreading the disease over a large surface."

One of the Victims.

CITIZENS OF THE SKIES

The address of Camille Flammarion at the recent celebration of his 70th birthday contained these stirring passages: "We know that the moon, with her mysterious brightness, is illuminated by the same sun that shines upon us, and is so close to our own world that we could reach her over a bridge of 20 arches, each the diameter of the earth. We know that the other planets, the brilliant Venus, Mars with its reddish continents, Jupiter enveloped in clouds, Saturn circled by fantastic rings, are all lighted by our sun and subject to organic laws similar to those that rule here. We know that each star is a sun, and that the one nearest to us is 25,625,000,000 miles away. Sirius is more than twice as far, Aldebaran three times, Altair four times. You think these are far distances. These are stars that are millions of billions and billions of billions of miles from the earth. We know that there are more than 100,000,000 suns in the visible universe, and that they are all moving at the rate of from 50 to 200 miles a second; that some of them are in their birth throes, and are sending out hydrogen flames of dazzling brilliance; that others are in the agonies of death, and against the blackness of night appear like drops of blood ready to coagulate; and that still others flash like diamonds, topazes, rubies, emeralds, sapphires, turquoises and amethysts. * * * Everything forms an immense unity—the unity of a force that, however unknowable, is intelligent. * * * We are citizens, not of a city or of a nation, or even of the earth. We are citizens of the skies!"

IN THE EDUCATIONAL WORLD

A Children's County Fair

A few years ago the pupils of a school in Yamhill County, Oregon, took up a collection to buy popcorn for some festivity they had planned. At the same time the county superintendent of schools was considering the case of a boy about to be disciplined for stealing watermelons.

The two things coming together impressed the superintendent with a sense of something wrong. He reasoned that the pupils, instead of being obliged to buy popcorn, might have it to sell, and that if every boy raised his own watermelons he would not be tempted to steal melons from others. Accordingly, he offered prizes to the boy or the girl who should raise the best popcorn or the best watermelon in the county.

Such was the origin of an idea from which has come a children's county fair, in which six thousand school children now compete annually for prizes in agriculture, woodwork, sewing and cooking. The result has been a general improvement in rural life throughout the county far greater than that in the state at large.

The former county superintendent of schools is now state superintendent. At a recent conference of various organizations, called by the bankers' association to consider methods of bettering rural conditions, he described the plan that had proved so successful in Yamhill County. The bankers adopted it, and placed eighteen hundred dollars at the superintendent's disposal to make the competition statewide. The stock yards companies gave another thousand. Pigs and poultry have been added to the premium lists, for at present Oregon consumes twenty million dollars worth more of pork products than she raises, and spends several millions for eggs and dressed poultry that she might just as well produce at home.

Henceforth there will be a children's fair in every county, the best exhibits of which will be sent to the state fair in the fall. It is easy to see in the plan a counterpart of the boys' corn clubs of the South and the middle West, and the girls' tomato clubs; but it seems better than either, for since it is more varied and comprehensive, it leaves more to individual preference, and consequently is more broadly educative.

Hygiene in the Kitchen

The work of keeping the home neat and clean is made more difficult than it need be by the absence of modern plumbing fixtures. Think of the convenience a beautiful snow-white porcelain enameled kitchen sink would afford; imagine the ease and thoroughness with which various domestic tasks could be performed—and always with the knowledge that the laws of hygiene were being faithfully fulfilled—health saved and comfort increased.

We can install such a sink in your home—a genuine guaranteed "Standard" fixture, handsome in appearance and a real labor saver, and guarantee the highest grade of sanitary plumbing when installing it. May we show you one, or quote you?

MR. HEALD AND HIS PARTY

If recent newspaper reports be correct, Mr. Heald has absolutely refused to withdraw from the Congressional contest. Further than this, up to the present date he not only refuses to withdraw his name but resents the advice of friends and party leaders in giving the matter any consideration. These friends and party leaders, until recently staunch supporters for his renomination, have listened to the protests on all sides and have become convinced that no personal preference or selfish ambition should stand in the way of party success and the State's welfare.

Party leaders and voters of the rank and file realize this growing opposition and rightfully resent the attitude of Mr. Heald as given through the press reports. The petty policies of county office holders in Wilmington attempting to dictate delegates to the convention and by strategy take away true local representation is only adding strength to the opposition. Such tactics have always been more or less resented but this year has added a disgust among the voters that does not speak well for party success.

Reluctantly it may be admitted, but it is a fact nevertheless, that the voters are going to play a part in choosing the candidates as well as in their election. Those leaders who have responded to the wish of the voters in urging the withdrawal of Mr. Heald will be loyally supported in any fair proposal leading to Republican success, while those who persist in flaunting a personal whim in the face of statewide opinion, will meet a merited and stern rebuke. Only as the party is united, and that only as the voters are united, can they wish and will of the voters be they acknowledged leaders. Any other procedure brands them as "boss," a political type of ill repute.

The actual leaders of the party in this State, men who have the State's welfare at heart as well as party success, have shown a readiness to concede to the will of the majority, realizing that it is only by such consideration that the Republican party can stay in power. Realizing, too, that the same judgment of a majority of voters in this State is of more serious importance than any individual preference or ambition.

Mr. Heald has received generous recognition from his party and it becomes him to resent the wishes of those who have so honored him. Rather would we think of him as appreciating these honors and in response to the advice of friends and the needs of the hour, lay aside his personal ambition and offer his hearty support to the man of the people's choice. By haughtily refusing he jeopardizes a needed harmony, embarrasses his most loyal friends and stands open to the accusation of posing as greater than his party.

The opposition has heretofore in great part been kindly but this recent haughty attitude encourages drastic action. No man of whatever political strength has the right to stand above his constituency and refuse even to consider their advice. Mr. Heald or any other man in honor by a certain amount of consistency. He won his first nomination on the third term issue; rather than break a party precedent the voters supported him. Only by an overwhelming demand on the part of those voters should he even consent to take the nomination, to say nothing of an ill considered preference. Any man with a semblance of political foresight will say that this campaign is not the one in which this precedent should be broken. Had Mr. Heald's record been far superior to those of his predecessors and political conditions normal, it would be somewhat excusable. But with this opposition, and its realization on the part of his friends and those in executive charge of the party, together with unprecedented political uncertainties, by his refusal to withdraw and work for a healthier action all down the line, Mr. Heald has put himself in an unenviable position. He has it in his power to do the graceful thing by responding to these wishes and throwing his support to the people's choice. Such action would not be a defeat but a display of true Republicanism.

This is not a New Castle county contest; it is Statewide. In fact, from a political standpoint the ticket should be composed of the strongest men rather than county representation.

County rotation, personal preferences, and party debts should all give way to the naming of the strongest possible ticket. Let no name be put on the ticket branded as any one man's or county's choice, nor refuse the consideration of any district's claim. Never was there a stronger and we could well say sterner demand for men in politics. Men associated closely perhaps with party management and policy, but men who have the interest of the voter in mind as well as individual success. We want men who can appeal to the judgment of the voter as well as the mere support of the party's organization.

The fight seems to center around the Congressional nomination and only by naming a candidate of considerable force can Republican success be assured.

CONGRATULATIONS

In another column appears the final and complete financial statement of the Carnival Committee. The firemen are certainly to be congratulated on the success of their efforts. With the exception of a very few, the results have been beyond all expectations. It shows, as we have always maintained, just how much can be done by an interested co-operation.

The capital now in hand the fire companies can effectively use for the improvement of the company and make provisions for a more efficient service.

We feel sure the action of the committee appointed to make investigations for the expenditure of this money will go thoroughly into the matter and we do not doubt but that the money will be wisely spent. The attitude of the company in taking the public into its confidence and giving wide publicity to all the reports, has done much to gain the loyal support given their efforts.

Public opinion, as we have gathered it, has no special suggestion to offer. Although interested and feeling more than ever that the Aetna is a Newark public service organization, everyone seems content to leave the matter to the judgment of the boys themselves.

The two ideas in view have been, a new engine better suited to meet the needs of a growing town or a new fire house and home for the company. Opinion among the firemen, shared by most of the citizens, is that the engine should be the first consideration, keeping in mind, however, a new building as a further object in view.

Along with all the citizens, the Post offers its word of congratulation. If we may be permitted, our only word of advice is, "Don't let this success blind you to the need of a greater one next year."

Cecil County Letter

Will the Cecil-Kent Queen Anne's Fair will not be held at Telechester this year, a racing program has been arranged for there on August 27-28, in which trotters and pacers entered on the Peninsula tracks, will figure.

A company of Boy Scouts from Philadelphia are camped at Eagle Point on the North East River.

One of the largest yields of wheat reported in Cecil this year is that of the Benzott farm, near Chesapeake City. Thomas M. Price, tenant, who got a total of 2,800 bushels.

The annual picnic of Big Creek Sunday School will be held in Elmer E. Janney's grove on Friday, August 23. Everybody welcome.

James J. Doyle, transferred to Elkton from Newark, about two years ago, as section foreman on the P. B. & W. R. R. has resigned. His successor has not yet been named.

According to Dr. Marshall L. Price, Secretary of the State Board of Health, upwards of 30 per cent of the cows owned in Maryland are affected with tuberculosis, making their milk dangerous for use.

N. P. Hull, lecturer for National Grange, P. of H., will deliver an address at the Elk Neck farmers' picnic to be held at Thompson's shore on Elk river, on Friday.

The second railroad excursion to Telechester, run on Wednesday, was well attended from Elkton, where 110 tickets were sold.

Elkton is to have a new firm of butchers, Messrs. Walter Deibert and Cleaver Potts, who have had a new building erected in the west end where they will likely enjoy a good trade despite the rivalry of seven competitors.

The power freight barge "Princess," hailing from Fredericktown, on the Sassafras river, loaded with 200 tons of stone for use on W. Evans Frazer's new mill dam, near Earleville, sprang a leak and sank in the Susquehanna near Perryville one day last week, but is to be raised by the Baltimore Wrecking Company.

William T. Warburton, Esq., of Elkton, will give the chief address at the annual meeting of the State Camp, P. O. S. A., at Chestertown on August 14.

The Cecil County Sunday School Association will hold its annual meeting tomorrow (Thursday) on Woodlawn camp grounds. An interesting program has been arranged, including an address by Frank E. Williams, editor of the Whig.

Charged with stealing $2 from his brother-in-law, William Meredith, Charles Foreacre, of the Fourth district, is lodged in Elkton jail awaiting the action of the September grand jury.

Mrs. Mary E. Ott, of the Fourth district, has filed a bill for divorce in the Cecil Circuit Court, from her husband, Richard Ott, on the ground of desertion.

A sea-going barge of 1500 tons capacity is about to be launched at the Henry Deibert Sons Company's yard in Chesapeake City.

The threshing outfit of James Lyle, of New London, broke down on the 2nd of August at Kirk's farm, near Rising Sun, and the creamery, near Rising Sun, one day last week and fell into the stream.

Elkton launch owners have been bustling during the week in consequence of the fines imposed by Collector Stone, of Baltimore, upon parties rounded up by the revenue cutter Guthrie for failure to comply with the regulations governing the operation of motor boats, and are now prepared to stand examination. But one Elktonian, C. J. Rudolph, was caught in the net, but quite a batch of craft owners in Port Deposit and Havre de Grace were charged with violations of the regulations and fined.

Lightning during the storm of Thursday night fired the large double deck barn on the farm of Miss Kay Price, of Chesapeake City, on the Glasgow road, about two and one-half miles from Elkton. The blaze started about 10:30 o'clock and lasted till long past midnight. The barn with its contents, 1100 bushels of threshed wheat and about 25 tons of hay, farming implements, wagons, carriages, harness, etc., were destroyed. Most of the stock was liberated, but one valuable horse and a heifer perished in the flames. The loss was fairly well covered by insurance. The barn was struck by lightning about ten years ago but at that time escaped destruction.

Two of the largest mortgages ever offered for record in the Cecil Circuit Court were presented in the clerk's office this week. The first, for $10,000,000, issued by the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central Railroad to the Fidelity Trust Company, of Philadelphia is to secure a like amount of bonds. The second is for $3,500,000, given by the American Ice Company to the Pennsylvania Company for insurances on lives and granting annuities to secure an issue of bonds. The document when recorded will fill fully 100 pages of the mortgage record book in which it is entered. It is said that another big mortgage for $15,000,000 will shortly be offered for record in the Cecil and Harford Circuit Courts by the Susquehanna Power Company, whose great hydro-electric plant is to be erected at Conowingo.

Democrats of White Clay Creek hundred will hold a meeting in Center Hall on Friday night to name delegates to the Democratic State Convention at Dover.

CALL FOR REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

A State Convention of the Republican Party of the State of Delaware will be held at Dover on Tuesday, the twentieth day of August, A.D. 1912, at 11 o'clock A.M., for the purpose of nominating three candidates for electors to vote for a President and Vice-President of the United States, a candidate for the office of Representative from the State of Delaware in the Sixty-third Congress of the United States, a candidate for the office of Governor, a candidate for the office of Lieutenant Governor, a candidate for the office of Attorney General, a candidate for the office of Insurance Commissioner, a candidate for the office of State Treasurer, a candidate for the office of Auditor of Accounts and for the purpose of transacting such other business as may properly come before it.

The Convention shall consist of one hundred and sixty delegates, apportioned among the several districts as follows:

- Forty delegates to be chosen from the First District.
- Thirty-eight delegates to be chosen from the Second District.
- Forty delegates to be chosen from the Third District.
- Forty-two delegates to be chosen from the Fourth District.

The said delegates shall be apportioned among the several wards, hundreds and districts in the same manner as was done at the last State Convention.

The election of delegates shall be as follows:

In the First and Second Districts, the delegates with their alternates, shall be chosen on Saturday, August 17th, 1912, in accordance with the provisions of the Election Law. The Executive Committee of the respective First and Second Districts, shall name the election officers. In the various districts, shall designate the time and place of holding said election and shall have authority in all other matters necessary for the proper holding of said election.

In the Third and Fourth Districts, on Saturday, August 17th, 1912, the Republican voters of the several election districts shall assemble at the voting places therein and shall select two judges and two clerks who, together with the inspectors hereinafter provided for, shall conduct the said election. The Executive Committees of the respective Third and Fourth District Committees shall name the inspectors for the various districts, shall designate the time and place of holding said election and shall have authority in all matters necessary for the proper holding of said election.

Upon closing the polls the judges shall publicly count the votes and make certificates of the result of the election in duplicate, one of which shall be delivered to the delegate or delegates elected and the other forthwith mailed to the Secretary of the Republican State Committee at Dover.

EDMUND MITCHELL, Chairman, Republican State Committee
HARRY BILANSKY, Secretary, Republican State Committee

Where Printing is Done

PRINTING as Usual

You have often heard the expression "I've got a little 'printin'" to have done and I run down to the job office and have it struck off. Of course, there are lots of things that do "printin'" and are rightfully called job offices. And too, if you want a little "printin'" "struck off," they are the places to go. But if you are in need of printing—that is printing, beginning with a big "P" and ending with a "g"—it's most likely that you will go to a place like the Post Press, whose shop is on Main street in the town of Newark—the State College another well-known institution is just across the street. This is not a job office and we do not "strike off" any "printin'."

This is a printing shop where printing is considered a work of art and not just a "job of printer." The devil—a printer's devil—may "strike off a few" on any old press. But to do a piece of work that will attract notice worthy of a gentleman, requires a careful man at a well-appointed and well-selected case of type. Next a good press (our Col's runs perfectly), good ink, not lamp-black—that's for printer's—and then an artist to make that form ready. Then a good pressman who has an eye for accurate register. Let the devil slip sheet it, put it in the drying rack. Then you have a piece of real printing—one two, three or four colors, we do this. A piece of "printin'" struck off" is a sad attempt at one color and then every sheet is different.

One thing you forgot—it must be good stock. This costs money, you say. Oh, yes, any work really worth while costs money. But do you know it costs you but very little more than "printin'" struck off." And there's lots of satisfaction in having a piece of printing done instead of a "job of printer'" struck off. And it pays big returns. All really successful business men have printing instead of "printin'." You judge a man and so do we, by his stationery. How's yours? We don't "strike off" any letter heads and envelopes—but we can print some fine ones. Want to see a sample?

BASE BALL NEWS

GAMES OF THE WEEK

Port Deposit Increases Lead.
All the first division teams in the Tri-County League with the exception of the leaders, Port Deposit lost the games played on Saturday. Port Deposit by defeating Newark 1 to 0, got a more substantial hold on the first place division. Elkton defeated Havre de Grace in a eleven inning game by the score of 2 to 1. Elk Mills won from Aberdeen 2 to 1, and Oxford took Northeast into camp 14 to 9. The standing of the clubs in the race at the present time is as follows:

	W.	L.	Pe.
Port Deposit	12	5	706
Havre de Grace	11	7	611
Aberdeen	10	7	588
Newark	9	8	529
Elkton	9	8	529
Oxford	8	9	471
Elk Mills	5	12	294
Northeast	5	13	278

Willis Pitched Great Game.
After pitching the kind of ball that "Vic" Willis did against Port Deposit on Saturday, it was unfortunate to loose out in the ninth inning on errors, but that is the uncertainty of baseball, and as both players who made the errors are usually reliable, there is room for little complaint.

It was by far, however, the greatest game of the season and was thoroughly enjoyed by a large number of fans. The game was a pitchers battle between Willis and Taylor, with the former having all the best of it during the entire game. "Vic" was in better form than he has been in at any time this season and his local admirers probably never saw him pitch such classy ball. It was the kind of pitching that for thirteen years made him one of the stars and one of the most feared of the twirlers in the National League.

While Port Deposit is credited with a hit made by Russell in the sixth inning, he could just as easily have been given a no hit game, as the one hit was very scratchy and on a smoother diamond could have been made an easy out by Johnson, who let it get by him. From the beginning it was evident that the fame was going to be a pitchers battle. "Vic" had the visitors at his mercy at all times and at no stage were they in danger of scoring until the errors were made in the ninth inning. His control was wonderful and he seemed to have his curve ball working good. Although Del Willis had made two errors, at first they did no damage and Newark had played a fast fielding game until the blowup arrived. Morris in the second inning made a sensational one hand catch of a fly in deep short which robbed Barr of a hit. Jackson at third handled a couple of bunts in big league style and threw the runners out at first. The entire outfield had played good ball and did not allow any of the eight balls knocked in their territory drop safe.

Scott Gregg, a local favorite, who played such a great game at first base all last season, played his first game of the year for Newark and was given a hearty welcome by the fans. Gregg covered centre field and showed that he is a natural ball player as he covered that position like a veteran. The fast youngster accepted five chances, some of them difficult. At the bat, however, Gregg showed the lack of practice but as he is a naturally good hitter he will soon get his batting eye.

Up until the ninth inning but three visiting players had reached first base and as two of them were caught it made but 25 players facing Willis in eight innings. Russell, the first man to face Willis, was safe on Del's error, but he was caught off the bag a moment later. Barr reached first in the fifth on Del's second error, but he was left there. In the sixth Russell made his hit between second and first and was caught trying to steal.

In the ninth inning McCardle led off for Port Deposit. He hit a grounder to Johnson, who fumbled and the runner was safe. Taylor advanced him to second on a pretty sacrifice. Russell hit in front of the plate, and although Marsey had the ball in plenty of time he continued to fumble it until it was even too late to make the throw. This put McCardle on third with but one down. Buck won the game for his teammates by a long sacrifice fly to centre. Although Gregg handled the ball clean, the hit was too long to even make an attempt to catch the runner at the plate.

There was not a pass issued by either twirler during the game and Willis fanned eight while Taylor had ten strikeouts. While his pitching was not near as good as that of the local pitcher, Taylor did wonderful good work and was encouraged by perfect support. He was at his best in the pinches and the locals could do nothing whatever with his delivery with men on the bases. In three different innings Newark had a runner on second but could not get the hit that would bring him around. In three innings the first man up for Newark hit safe and the fact that not a man got further than second is an indication of the good pitching that Taylor was doing.

Schweitzer Case Again.

Some of the clubs in the league are persistent in their claims that Schweitzer of the Havre de Grace team is not eligible to play in this league because of having played professional ball for money early in the season. This charge has been made on several occasions but it has never been proven as yet. While the Port Deposit team was here on Saturday an official of the club stated that they now had positive proof that Schweitzer was paid money while with the Cleveland Americans and the Wilmington Tri-State League teams in the spring.

Schweitzer has been the mainstay of the Havre de Grace team and has kept that club in the running. While all rules of the league of course should be enforced, but in this instance the matter is sure to cause a lot of trouble in the organization if it is not dropped. At the most all that could be done would be to refuse to allow Havre de Grace to use Schweitzer the remainder of the season. No good sport either in Havre de Grace or any other town in the league would stand to see all the games that Schweitzer has pitched thrown out. These games were played and won on their merits. If there was a question about him being eligible the matter should have been definitely settled before he pitched a game and not let him continue for two months or more.

Taylor May Be Tried Out.

The pitching of Taylor, the star twirler of the Port Deposit team, has attracted the attention of some of the managers in the professional leagues, including Wilmington Tri-State, and it is reported that he may be given a try-out on that club this month. Taylor's friends say that he is sure to make good. In addition to being a good pitcher he also has the reputation of being an equally good a catcher. His work here on Saturday was far above the average Tri-State League pitcher should he show the same form in Wilmington, Taylor, it is predicted, will be one of the sensations of that league. He appears to be a good control, which is estimated to be about three-fourths of qualifications of a good pitcher. Perfect control, however, is not that he had on Saturday, as his curve was all right and his speed to burn. Taylor was quickly a star pitcher on the Am. Continued on page 7

O-Cedar Polish

¶ A woman can live with a broom in her hand and still not be a good housekeeper. The dust settling on the furniture and window sills has always been a trying problem to the dainty housewife who wants things spick and span. Not only that but dust is the greatest germ carrier. Living on our dusty streets, this has become a serious problem. You all know how you swept yesterday and company came to-day and there you could write your name on the furniture.

¶ And now here comes a remedy
O-CEDAR

Moisten a piece of cheese cloth and wipe off the furniture and the dust is absorbed. Nor does it injure the polish on the piano--it is a polish as well, absolutely GUARANTEED not to injure the highest mahogany finish.

It is in fact a wonder for it not only is a dust killer but a polish and germ killer. This may sound strange but a trial will convince the most particular.

For floors, an O-Cedar DUSTLESS MOP comes that beats electricity--it gives a tone to the floor like a new waxing--even on plain stained and varnished floors.

Again--for cleaning and polishing automobiles--it comes highly recommended.

Try it out--it's not expensive and a labor saver.

DOINGS OF THE N. E. A.
 The National Education Association held its annual convention in Chicago during the week ending July 13th. Edward T. Fairchild, superintendent of schools for the State of Kansas, was elected president. He was opposed by Miss Grace C. Strachan, a district superintendent of schools of Brooklyn, New York. Miss Strachan's friends urged support for her on the ground that a woman should be president of the association in alternate years. The women elected Mrs. Ella Plag Young of Chicago in 1910, they said, and consented to the election of a man, and it was now the turn of the women again. The association, however, accepted the recommendation of the nominating committee, which favored Mr. Fairchild by a majority of 28. Resolutions were adopted favoring women suffrage, uniform marriage and divorce laws, a national university, industrial training in the public schools, and a thorough investigation by the national Bureau of Education of the needs of the schools in the city and the country.

WHAT CHOLERA COSTS
 Statistics were prepared showing the loss annually caused by the deaths of hogs and poultry by cholera, the results would be appalling, and in the United States alone would run into millions of dollars. An effective remedy against the ravages of this disease has been found in Cal-Sino powder. It is not only a cure but a preventive, illustrating the value of an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure. Cal-Sino wards off cholera and other bowel ailments and keeps swine or fowl in the pink of condition. The preparation is a prescription of one of the foremost veterinarians of the age, and the results from its use have been amazingly satisfactory. Hundreds of voluntary testimonials bear evidence to this fact. Cal-Sino is put up in two forms, one for poultry and one for hogs. A small portion mixed with the food will keep the swine or fowl strong and healthy. The manufacturers, the Royal Distributing Co., Baltimore, Md., will send to live stock owners, free on request, a copy of their 60 page illustrated book, "How to Tell," showing how to know and how to cure diseases in horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry. It contains most valuable information.

 College team. He is now an instructor at Tome Institute.

Hoffecker Another Coming Twirler.
 Hoffecker, the big twirler of the Elk Mills team, is another of the Tri-County League pitchers who could probably get a tryout in the Tri-State if he would agree to it. Hoffecker has been pitching great ball on a losing team. On Saturday he defeated Aberdeen, holding that club to three hits. He is a student at the Maryland Agricultural College and it is rumored that he will not consider a proposition to play professional baseball, at least until he is through college.

Oxford Here Next Saturday.
 No team in the league has been playing any better if as good ball as Oxford during the past five or six weeks. This club by winning the last five or six games has jumped from what seemed to be a hopeless position in the second division to the top of that division and is now but a few games behind the leaders and still a contender. Last Saturday Oxford battered Finn of Northeast for 18 hits, winning the game 14 to 9.

Oxford will be here next Saturday and this because of the gait that the team is going should prove to be equally as good an attraction as Port Deposit was last Saturday.

Tri-County League Notes.
 Port Deposit has a two game lead on that much admired first position.

Clay and Watson held Havre de Grace to three hits on Saturday, and Elkton captured an eleven inning game, 2 to 1. Schweitzer also pitched a good game, allowing but five hits in eleven innings. "Vic" Willis showed that he has some speed when it is necessary to use it, on Saturday by covering first base and taking a throw from Del. getting the runner. It would do well for the younger pitchers to benefit by this example as many pitchers never think of covering the bag when the first baseman is after a grounder.

Newark has but four more games at home and six away. After August 24th the club will be away until September 21st. It looked good to see Scott Gregg back in the game and he strengthens the team considerably. It will probably be a long time before the Newark fans will again see such an exhibition of pitching as they were treated to last Saturday.

 Had Johnson or Morris covered second base in the ninth inning on Marsey's quick return to "Vic," the run might have been saved and the game gone into extra innings.

"Dick" Morris made a wonderful catch with his bare hand of a fly off Barr's bat. That was robbery pure and simple.
 Gregg goes after a fly ball better than any man who has played in the Newark outfield this season and at that he is an infielder and not an outfielder.

Absent Ones
 Absence makes the heart grow fonder but the memory of the absent one becomes vague and dim. You long to picture in your mind just how "HE" or "SHE" would look, but there's a mysterious something which makes the mental picture impossible.
 But if you had a photograph before you, then you could recall the forgotten face, yes, even the kind acts, the gentle words.
 Wouldn't that "ONE" so far away appreciate your photograph too?

COAL
 Many of the best posted people believe it wise, for those who can do so, to lay in now their winter supply of coal.
 For one-sixth of the entire year no coal has been mined, and it is deemed that when cold weather comes again the demand will exceed the supply, and prices, too, will be higher.
 Benefit yourselves by filling up your bins now, and at the same time you will be out of the way of those for whom it is not convenient to buy until later on in the season. We have good coal and could deliver at any time entirely convenient to you.
