NEW CHARTER FOR NEWARK IS NOW BEING DRAFTED

Three Attorneys Preparing
Bill To Be Presented To Legislature In January

MAYOR AIDS WORK

To meet the growing needs of the town, especially in view of the extension of the boundaries nearly two years ago the Legislature, which will meet in January, will be asked to pass a new charter for Newark.

Council, it is understood, has been considering this question for some months, and recently Charles B. Evans, J. Pearce Cann and George L. Townsend, Jr., three local attorneys, were appointed a special committee to confer with Mayor E. B. Frazer on the subject.

The first conference of these four men was held Monday night when tentative plans for drafting the new charter bill were discussed. At this first conference there was only time to discuss the matter in a general way, but it was definitely settled that the three lawyers are to draft the bill as soon as possible after which it will be submitted to Council. It is also possible that there may be a public meeting on the matter before the bill is finally sent to Dover for action. The present town charter was passed more than 40 years ago, in 1887, to be exact. It has been amended a number of times, since then it is generally felt that the charter is entirely inadequate for Newark in view of the great growth of the town, especially during the past 15 years. The present charter is far from modern and it was felt that so many amendments were needed to bring it up to date that it would be much better to provide an entirely new charter. Newark is now probably the second largest town in the state outside of Wilmington and is growing much faster than any other town in Delaware. The extension of the boundaries brought into the town large sections of outlying territory, which increased the need for a more modern charter.

In preparing the charter bill the attorneys will examine charters of numerous other towns, both in and out of the state and incorporate what they consider the best features in the Newark bill.

One important change that is contemplated in the new charter is to increase the councilmatic districts of the town which will make it possible for all localities to be represented in Council. At present there are three districts with two councilmen from each, and it is proposed to have four districts with two councilmen from each. The mayor will be elected at large, which is also done under the present charter. This change would make the membership of Council 9 with the mayor in stead of 7 as at present.

Another important change that has been suggested is relative to town elections. It is proposed to require registration at a specified date before the election to make the voter eligible to vote at the town election. However, these are all suggestions in only a tentative form that have yet to be worked out.

BARACCA SUPPER

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Baracca Class of the Presbyterian Church served their monthly supper to about one hundred and twenty members of the class and their guests last evening, in the auditorium of the Sunday School. Mrs. R. J. Colbert and her group, consisting of Mrs. N. W. Bryan, Mrs. Ralph Haney, Miss Anne Smith, Miss May Chambers, Miss Sara Steele, Mrs. J. R. Fader, and Mrs. George S. Wood, were the hostesses of the evening, with Mr. George W. Griffin as host. After the supper, Mrs. Walter Blackwell read a letter of thanks for the box recently sent to the Sunday School Missionary, Rev. Ernest A. Boyd, in the Ozark Mountains. Dr. J. B. Turner, formerly pastor of the Dover Presbyterian Church and of Port Deposit, Md., now residing in Newark, gave a short talk. Music for the evening was furnished by Professor Ira S. Brinser and his orchestra.

These affairs, always popular, seem to be growing even more in favor with the Auxiliary and the Baracca Class. At the December supper, the men, as hosts to the ladies, promise a very entertaining evening.

SURPRISE PARTY

On Tuesday evening, November 13, a number of the Newark High School pupils gave Miss Lillian K. Brown a surprise party in honor of her sixteenth birthday, at the home of her parents, near Newark. The evening was spent in playing games and music.

Those present were: Misses Hester C. Morris, Margaret Wilkinson, Mary Moore, Roberta Leak, Beatrice Moore, Dorothy J. Wheelless, Grace McMullen, Pauline Moore, Anna Scott, Melissa Egan, Alice Richards, Dorothy Thorp, Lillian K. Brown, Messrs. John L. Holloway, Jr., Ernest Reed, John C. Johnston, Phillip B. Walton, Walter Crewe, Warren Bunting, Roy T. Walton, Willard Johnston, Stanley Wilson, Otis Seeds, Vincent Mayer, Robert McCloskey, John Melson, Bayard K. Vansant.

NEWARK NEW CENTURY CLUB

The informal meeting of the Newark New Century Club, held on Monday afternoon, was quite interesting. The program was in charge of Mrs. L. K. Bowen. Mrs. Charles W. Dunlevy, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. L. K. Bowen, Mrs. Lee Lewis and Mrs. Harry Davis read interesting bits of current events. Mrs. S. J. Smith, with Mrs. D. O. Evans accompanying, and Miss Eleanor Duffy, with Mrs. H. W. Davis as accompanist, and Mrs. H. W. Davis all sang very delightfully. Mrs. David O. Evans gave several piano selections. The members, about thirty were present, report a very pleasant afternoon.

CARD PARTY

A benefit card party will be held this evening in the New Century Club, the proceeds to go to the Flower Hospital.

Bridge, Five Hundred, Euchre and Beano will be played. Some very beautiful prizes have been donated.

The committee in charge consists of Mrs. T. Reese Griffin, Mrs. Arthur Underwood, Mrs. J. R. Downes, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. P. K. Musselman, Mrs. Joseph McVey, Mrs. Wm. Hayes, and Miss Gertrude Hill.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

The tenth annual Thanksgiving dinner of Delaware College, University of Delaware, will be given by the Student Council Tuesday evening at the Commons, Old College. This is an institution introduced some years ago by Mr. A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator of the University.

Writes of Rescue Dash To Aid the Vestris

One of Claude McFarlin's buddies on the U. S. S. Wyoming has written telling of the 234 mile rescue dash of the Wyoming in answer to the S. O. S. of the ill-fated Vestris. Claude McFarlin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McFarlin of Newark, is in the crew of the Wyoming, but at the time of the call was not aboard, being confined in a base hospital with a dislocated shoulder.

Claude's buddy writes that the Wyoming was at target practice when the message was received, and started for the scene of the wreck immediately. The last message received was that the ship was being abandoned. Just before he started his letter the Wyoming ran into heavy seas, which buried the bow, and two men were thrown against a turret, injuring them severely. One received a compound fracture of the skull, and the other had his leg nearly torn off.

STATE TEACHERS ELECT WOMAN AS THEIR PRESIDENT

Educators Make Urgent Appeal For Legislature To Continue School Building Program And Pass Budget Approved By Governor

OVER 1000 ATTEND

Newark was host last week to the Delaware State Education Association when the two-day session brought more than one thousand teachers to the town. It was one of the largest and most interesting sessions of the association since it was organized ten years ago.

Not only the local public school teachers, but also members of the faculty of the University of Delaware and townspeople did every thing possible to make the stay of the teachers here on Thursday and Friday a pleasant one. The Chamber of Commerce aided materially in the plans for entertaining the visitors and making them welcome. The general sessions were held in the armory and Wolf Hall, while the various group meetings were held in the high school building and in rooms of the university.

Professor W. A. Wilkinson, a former president of the association, and Professor R. W. Heim, as well as other members of the university faculty either aided with the arrangements for the session or were on the program. Ira S. Brinser, superintendent of the local schools, and several of the teachers of the schools, were on the program. Several of the local teachers gave demonstrations in modern methods of teaching with pupils under them.

For the first time in the history of the association a woman was elected president. She is Miss Rosalie Martin, a teacher at Georgetown. Gilbert Martin, of Middletown, was elected vice-president and Miss M. Phyllis Mason, rural supervisor for New (Continued on Page 4.)

TELLS OF TRIP TO TEXAS AND MEXICO

The monthly meeting of Lt. J. Allison O'Daniel Post, No. 10, American Legion, was held in the Post headquarters, Academy Building.

The calendar committee reported all ads were sold and the work was in the hands of the printer, and calendars will be ready for distribution about the first of the year. The Legion Calendar will be a valuable asset to any home as it contains the date of all lodge, civic and church meetings in the community and can be had free by notifying John R. Fader or any member of the Post.

Officers were nominated for next year, and at the next meeting further nominations will be made and the annual election will take place. At the close of business, Mr. Frank C. Springer of Delaware Post No. 1, Bugle and Drum Corps, gave a very interesting talk on his trip to San Antonio, Texas, and Mexico.

LEAP YEAR DANCE

The Girls' Auxiliary of Company "E" will give a Leap Year Dance in the Elkton Armory, Friday evening, November 23rd. Music will be furnished by Orville E. Jacobs and his famous orchestra, of Baltimore, with dancing from 9 to 1.

Golden Eagles To Celebrate

Parade and Open House to Mark 37th Anniversary Saturday Evening

Ivy Castle, No. 23, Knights of the Golden Eagle of this place will celebrate their thirty-seventh anniversary next Saturday evening. The committee in charge of the affair has made extensive preparations and they expect to have the Supreme Chief of the order, Charles Rigg, of West Virginia, as the guest and main speaker of the evening. Other prominent Eagles from other places are also expected to be present.

The opening feature of the celebration will be a short street parade. The members of the Castle will meet at their lodge room in Fraternal Hall at 7 p. m., and headed by the Continental Band, will march over the principal streets in the center of town. Following the parade the Castle will hold open house at the lodge room and a program of special features will be given.

Ivy Crow Temple No. 4, Ladies of Golden Eagle, will serve refreshments.

Officers and members of the committee in charge of the celebration, request that all members of Ivy Castle turn out in time to take part in the parade.

AGED RESIDENT OF RED MEN'S HOME DIES

James H. McGloethen, aged 83 years, past great sachem of the Improved Order of Red Men, died at the Red Men's Fraternal Home at Newark, Monday, after an illness of a few days.

Mr. McGloethen was a life long resident of Georgetown, where he conducted a general store for a number of years and was also a funeral director. He was a member of Nanticoke Tribe and entered the Red Men's Home September 2, 1921, following the death of his wife. His only surviving relatives are a sister in Ohio, and three nieces, one in Dover and the other two in Philadelphia.

The funeral took place from the Yeatman Funeral Home, 819 Washington street, Wilmington, last evening, with further services this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Georgetown M. E. Church. Interment was in Union Cemetery, Georgetown.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE

The announcement of the marriage of Harold F. Webber and Miss Marguerite Patton, of Pottsville, on November 10th, has been received. Mr. Webber, who has been assistant supervisor on the Pennsylvania Railroad here for the past six months, was transferred to Harrisburg on the day of his wedding.

The many friends that Mr. Webber has made in his short stay here regret that he and his bride will be unable to make their home in Newark.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Newark Board of Education held its monthly meeting last Friday evening. All the members, H. Harrison Gray, president, Robert S. Gallaher, vice-president, Edward L. Richards, and Ira S. Brinser, superintendent and secretary, were present. Mr. J. Pearce Cann, attorney for the board, met with the board in the interest of legal phases which from time to time come up for adjustment and summary.

Mr. Brinser, superintendent of the schools and secretary to the Board, presented a report of the activities of the Newark School at the Delaware State Education Association Convention, which was held in Newark.

The co-operation of the pupils with the faculty in getting ready for the convention was commended.

The increasing enrollment and the lack of space in the Newark School, the need for more teachers as well as more class rooms, occupied the serious attention of the Board. The number of pupils from districts outside the boundaries of the Newark Special School District is becoming greater each year, which, together with the growing pupil population in the Newark District, presents a problem which is fast clamoring for solution.

DR. GLAZEBROOK URGES PERSONAL EVANGELISM

In the interests of the personal evangelism campaign of the Episcopal Church and in which Bishop Philip Cook and the Laymen's Leagues of each county are taking an active interest, two meetings were held in St. Thomas' P. E. Church last week by Dr. Larkin W. Glazebrook, of Washington, D. C. At the meeting on Thursday night, open to the public, Dr. Glazebrook had a message of special interest. On Friday night he held a conference with the men of the church when he discussed with them the project of getting more people into the Episcopal Church, not from among the membership of other churches, but those who are found to not be affiliated with any other church.

V. F. W.'S HOLD OPEN NIGHT

The Veterans of Foreign Wars met in their hall in Old Academy last night. The meeting was open, the members entertaining their wives and families. A social evening, during which refreshments were served, was enjoyed. Colonel S. J. Smith presided. At this meeting arrangements were made to reorganize the Women's Auxiliary of the V. F. W., particulars to be announced later. This organization, active at the time the rehabilitation work was being done at the University, had been allowed to lapse for some time.

POST EDITOR ON VACATION

C. B. Jacobs, Jr., Editor of The Newark Post, is spending two weeks in Waterbury, Conn.

NEWARK LEADS STATE TOWNS IN STREET WORK

Program Involving Expenditure Of Nearly $100,000 For Permanent Improvement Will Be Completed Within Few Weeks

COUNTY ALSO AIDS

The most extensive street building work ever attempted by any town in Delaware outside of Wilmington, will be completed in Newark within the next few weeks. The town part of the contract is now practically finished, but the county part of the program is still in course of construction but will be completed before cold weather that may handicap the workers in.

The town part of the contract amounts to about $87,000, and with the work being done by the county the total expenditure will reach nearly $100,000. As far as can be learned no other town in the state has ever attempted a street building program in one year of more than probably $40,000, and that under a bond issue.

The most interesting feature of the present town street work is the fact that it is being done without a bond issue, on the pay as you go plan. The work is being paid for out of current funds. The town will have to borrow some money but there will be no bond issue. No other town in the state has ever attempted to build more than $10,000 to $20,000 of streets without a bond issue.

PARENTS' DAY GREAT SUCCESS

Gymnasium And New Recitation Hall Pointed Out As Most Urgent Needs

TALKS BY STUDENTS

Parents' Day was observed at the Women's College, University of Delaware, yesterday and ended with a dinner at the college last evening which was attended by the parents of a number of the students. This was the first Parents' Day but it will probably be made an annual affair in the future.

During the afternoon the visitors witnessed a hockey game between the Freshman and Sophomore teams which was won by the former. This was followed by tea.

The dinner was held at 6 o'clock in the main dining hall and was attended by probably 75 parents of students. Miss Eleanor Edge, president of the Student Self-Government Association, was toastmistress and she called on the following student heads of various activities for remarks: Miss Helen Elliott, president of the Athletic Association; Miss Blanche Malcom, president of the Dramatic Club; Miss Agatha Hagan, head of the Glee Club; Miss Edith Passmore, representing the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Leroy W. Hickman, of Wilmington, made a few remarks on behalf of the parents.

Dean Winifred J. Robinson and A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator, also made remarks.

Mr. Wilkinson spoke of the fine co-operation at the college among the students, faculty and parents. Several of the speakers referred to a new gymnasium and new recitation hall as the most urgent needs of the college and that the legislature should be asked to provide them.

Miss Ann Barclay lead the singing during the dinner.

After the dinner most of the visitors witnessed a short play given by members of the Sophomore class.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY FRIEND WHILE GUNNING

John H. Morrison, of Cleveland avenue, was accidentally shot by a friend, Harold Hoagland, of Richardson Park, while the two were gunning for rabbits on Saturday. Some of the shot struck Morrison about the face and body. His wounds were not serious, however, and after being attended by Dr. J. R. Downes, he went to his home.

VESTRY HOLDS MEETING

The vestry of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church held a meeting last night at the home of the rector, Dr. R. B. Matthews, when the budget for the coming year was considered and discussed.

Christiana

At the regular meeting of the Christiana Improvement Association held Tuesday evening, November 13, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Stafford and Mr. Samuel Butler were elected members of the society. Mrs. Preston W. Spence, Jr., Mrs. Homer Vincent and Mrs. Raymond Louth were appointed as entertainment committee, to serve for the next three months. Rev. P. W. Spence, Jr., pastor of the Christiana M. E. Church, invited the association to attend church in a body on Sunday evening, January 6.

The Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church met at State Road Chapel Wednesday evening, November 14, as the guests of Mrs. Harry Hance and Mrs. Frank Moody. At the close of the business session, Miss Florence M. Appleby presented the following program: Several songs by the society; recitations by Irene, Mildred and Rachel Morrison and Ella Mae Maclary, jokes, prepared by Miss Anna Moody and read by Lois Phelps; vocal solos by Mrs. Chandler Gebhart of New Castle, numerical dialogue by Dorothea Rothwell and Ruth Phelps; and a sketch, "The Elder Pays a Call," with the parts taken by the following: Mrs. Harvey Maclary, Mr. Harry C. Dance, Lois, Rachel and Sylvia Phelps. Mrs. William H. McCoy also read an original poem, congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moody on their wedding anniversary, which they were celebrating on that very day, November 14.

The Christiana Fire Company and Ladies Auxiliary held their fall poultry and oyster supper in the Fire-house last Wednesday evening. As usual, there was a large attendance, over two hundred people being served—which means, of course, that a decidedly substantial addition was made to the company's treasury.

The Girl Reserves held a box social in the school house last Friday evening, the object being to raise funds for the club. Although the attendance was small, the girls cleared over $13 from the sale of their boxes, home-made cakes, candy and lemonade—all of which, except the lemonade, were auctioned off by Mr. Raymond Louth. Preceding the sale there was a short entertainment, as follows: Club song, "Follow the Glean," by all the girls; short talk by Miss Ruth Kemp, assistant to the State Executive; song, "My High Silk Hat," by Elizabeth Moore and Rachel Phelps; pantomime, "Hasty Harry," by Elizabeth Moore, Rachel Phelps, Mollie Cleaves, Elsie Ware, Lois Phelps, Sara Moore and Frances Louth, closing with the code song by the club. On Saturday the girls enjoyed a hike which took the form of a "treasure-hunt." There were Girl Reserves from New Castle, Newport, Newark, Marshallton, Claymont and Christiana—all meeting at Marshallton, as the most nearly central starting-point. From there they hiked to Brandywine Springs, where they ate lunch, toasted marshmallows and played games. The weather was ideal for hiking, and the girls all report a wonderful time.

There was no school on Thursday and Friday of last week, because of the annual convention of the Delaware State Education Association at Newark. In fact, the children are having an unusually large number of holidays this month, four being the total to date.

Mrs. Hill, teacher of the upper grades of the public school, is planning to organize an orchestra among her pupils. Considerable interest in the matter has been aroused and if the plans materialize, the school will have a real orchestra before the year is over.

What might easily have been a serious, if not fatal, automobile accident occurred early Sunday afternoon just below the Four Corners, on the road to Cooch's Bridge. Mr. Arthur Maclary of Milltown, in a Ford sedan, started to make a left turn into what is known as the "Back Lane." Another Ford, coming close behind, crashed into Mr. Maclary's car, turning it over on its side, and demolishing the front of the second car. One woman was cut by broken glass, and was taken into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barrett, close by; but aside from this, no one was injured, though everybody in both cars was naturally considerably shaken-up and frightened.

Early Sunday morning, between one and two o'clock, the people of this quiet community were aroused by a blast, long, loud and persistent of the fire siren. It proved to be an out-of-town call, and both engines responded. The fire was at Kirkwood, in an unoccupied bungalow, which was burned entirely to the ground.

From the beginning of the open season on rabbits and quail, there has been an almost continual popping of guns and barking of dogs in the woods and fields on all sides of the village. In some places it is reported that foxes have been carrying off many of the young rabbits—but judging by the number the hunters bring in, there must be a goodly number that the foxes did not find.

Miss Nellie Appleby, of Hare's Corner, after attending the Teachers

Convention at Newark on Thursday and Friday, spent the week-end as the guest of her niece, Mrs. Frank Morrison, Jr., at her home near Ogletown.

Mr. A. Durrell Vincent visited a college friend, Mr. R. K. Meredith, at New Brighton, N. Y., over the week-end. Both young men were members of the class of '27, University of Delaware.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barrett of Edge Moor were week-end guests of Mrs. Barrett's mother, Mrs. Amy Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, of Greensboro, Md., spent Thursday with Mrs. Jane Cleaver. Mrs. Cleaver also had as Sunday visitors Mr. and Mrs. Robert Naylor, of Blackbird, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Ingram of Hare's Corner, and Katherine and Ruth Newman of Odessa.

Mrs. Cupit, an old-time resident of this neighborhood, is visiting Mrs. James Appleby, having come here last week from Mantua, N. J., where she had been staying for some time.

Miss Marion Phelps was the guest on Sunday of Miss Elva Davis, at her home near Thompson Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Appleby and family, of Red Lion, were recent visitors at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. William Howell and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Vincent. Mr. and Mrs. Howell also entertained on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Hanna and daughters, Elizabeth and Mildred.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Clayville and Children, John and Dorothy, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Cleaves, of Stanton.

Miss Margaret Walker of Newport was the week-end guest of relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Louth and children, Jean and William, and Mrs. Gifford of Gibbstown, N. J., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Louth on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stevenson and family of Holloway Terrace were week-end guests of Mrs. Stevenson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Smith. The Smiths are occupying the house on the hill vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller, when they moved to their new home on the Cooch's Bridge road.

Mr. George Ward and Miss Frances Louth visited on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Ward of Charlestown.

Little Helen, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cleaves, was taken quite seriously ill last Friday, but is now slowly improving.

Mrs. Sue Currinder and Mrs. Sara Kilvington, both of whom were ill at their homes for several weeks, have recovered now, and are able to be about once more, quite as usual.

One Man Is Dead; Second May Die After Automobile Accident

Knocked down while they were trying to help two other men straighten out their machines after a collision, on the Elkton-North East road, George McKinney, aged 37, of North East, is dead, and Roscoe Clendaniel, age 23, of Lincoln, Del., is in a serious condition at Union Hospital, Elkton, suffering from a fractured skull.

Norman Bakeoven, of Elkton, whose automobile struck the two men last Friday night, said he was blinded by the lights of the automobiles that had stopped for the accident, and had failed to see the men in the road.

Coroner Green has begun an investigation into the death of McKinney and hopes to unravel the details of the accident which is a badly jumbled up affair.

According to the information obtained, a truck whose owner and driver is unknown, skidded on the road near North East and turned across the road. While in this position it is said to have been struck by another car, though stories on this differ. It is known, however, that while the truck and another car were in a mix-up on the road, McKinney and Clendaniel, each driving his own car, came along and went into the truck.

Neither of the men suffered injuries at that time and getting out of their cars started to aid in untangling the mix-up and getting the cars off the road. While they were assisting, Norman Bakeoven, a young man of Elkton, came along in his car and ran into the men. McKinney was thrown against the side of the truck, his skull fractured and both legs injured. Clendaniel was also thrown against the truck and his skull fractured. Both men were brought to the Union Hospital, Elkton.

Bakeoven claims that he was blinded by the lights in the road and could not see the cars and the men at work on them until he had crashed into them.

Tome Institute Defeats Wilmington High School Eleven 19 to 0

The Tome Institute football eleven from Port Deposit, Md., handed the Wilmington High School team its second defeat of the season at Penny Field, Wilmington, Saturday, by the score of 19 to 0.

In the first half the Wilmington Highlets played rings around the Tome lads. Two first downs were garnered by the Highlets before Tome could stop them. The first period went scoreless, without either team coming close enough to the goal to threaten. Keppe, the big Indian half-back for Tome, came into the game towards the end of the quarter and on the first play tore around right end for 20 yards. That started things going for the Tome boys who collected their only first down of the quarter on the play.

Tome drew blood in the second period. Just after the quarter opened they started an attack on the Wilmington wings that advanced the ball deep into Highlet territory. Resorting to line plunges when the oval was close to the goal line, Tome pushed it down to the 1 foot line. Keppe made the six-pointer by leaping over the Wilmington line. His try for the extra point failed.

In the second and third quarters neither team scored, although the Highlets made several gains by short end runs and carried the ball deep into Tome's territory, only to lose it on downs.

The fourth quarter was the Tome School's big moment. The first touchdown was made by the aerial route when Keppe dropped back and heaved a pass to Dunley, who was waiting on the 35 yard line. A placement try for the extra point failed and the score stood 12 to 0. Again the ball was run into Highlet territory and Keppe carried it over from the 20 yard line on a wide run around the right end. On the try for point Tome attempted another kick but Dunley, who was making the try, fumbled. He scooped up the ball before a Highlet man could fall on it and ran around left end for the point. When the game ended Tome had the ball on the Highlets' 35-yard line again. Final score: Tome, 19; W. H. S., 0.

Have You Joined?

The Red Cross Roll Call will be sounded for one more week. The aim this year is 5,000,000 members, 12,000 of these are expected from Delaware. Newark has always more than filled its part of its quota, and this year the local committee is making a particularly intensive drive.

The appeal of the Red Cross is modest considering the scope and extent of its work. It deserves to expect more than it does. Every good citizen should be eager to join this great organization, and feel that he or she is having a part in its work. Anyone who has not been approached by a committee member, can enroll or renew their membership at either of the local banks.

Castle county, was elected a director for three years. The president will name the other officers and committees. The Seaford Kiwanis Club extended an invitation for the association to meet there next year.

One of the features of the week was the joint banquet of the Delaware State Education Association and the Delaware Vocational Association attended by nearly five hundred. J. E. Fuller, of Goldsby Business College, was toastmaster. The speeches were by Dr. R. O. Small, state director of vocational education, Boston, Mass., and Dr. Howard R. Driggs, of New York University.

During the week some of the leading educators of the state and a number of prominent men in the educational field from other states gave talks. Some of those from this state were Dr. Walter Hüllihen, Dr. David A. Ward, and Dr. H. V. Holloway.

At the final business session of the association on Friday resolutions were adopted urging the continuation of the school building program, approval by the legislature of the school budget and the establishment of a Teachers' Retirement system. These resolutions follow:

"That the State Legislature be urged to accept and approve in full the budget for the operation and maintenance of the schools in the State for the next biennium as approved by the Governor.

"That the Legislature be urged to appropriate sufficient funds for continuing the building program, which was begun at the last session, until every child in Delaware is provided with modern facilities for school.

"That the Legislature be urged to provide for an adequate retirement system for teachers.

"That the support of the Delaware State Education Association be given to the Education Bill now pending in the United States Congress and providing for a secretary in the President's cabinet.

The association also adopted the report of the resolutions committee of which C. W. Schantz was chairman and which contains a number of matters of special interest to those interested in the advancement of the school work of the state as follows:

"We believe that education is a matter of premier concern to the nation as a whole. This national responsibility for education is recognized from the earliest days of the republic by grants of land and of money to the several states in the support of their public school system. We hold that the Federal Government should promote the further development of our state and local school systems through the establishment of a department of education with a secretary in the president's cabinet.

"The people are satisfied to know the purposes and achievements and the needs of their schools. Those charged with the administration must accept the responsibility of giving the public the information to which it is entitled.

"Education is the most complete process with which the human race is concerned. The State Education Association reaffirms that our public schools must be fully staffed with trained teachers so that the schools can fully meet their obligations. None but professionally trained teachers should be granted the privilege of presiding over the State's class rooms.

"The exercise of the suffrage and the observance of law, are primarily duties of a citizen. Teachers and administrators of schools should teach, both in the school rooms and by personal conduct, a wholesome respect for an obedience of all laws, and should take an active and intelligent part in the selection of school officials and the consideration of public questions. Teachers and administrators welcome the co-operation of the bar association and similar agencies in a task with which the schools always have been vitally concerned to establish and maintain the Constitution of the United States and the principle ideas of our government in the minds and hearts of the people.

"Our boys and girls are the greatest assets of the State. It is essential that they shall receive proper character training, honest integrity and truthfulness should be emphasized in all works of the school. We believe however, that the responsibility of character building must fall primarily from the home. At the same time teachers must by precept and example do everything possible to develop the highest type of character in boys and girls under their influence. We believe religious education is fundamental in the development of character. Holding to these views we urge that the schools, the home, and the church, co-operate fully in the training of our youth. The day has come when parents, teachers and leaders in religious, moral and educational work must co-operate fully for the protection of our girls and boys of high school age. Manners and morals today need safe-guarding and direction. Many forms of recreation now prevailing should be eliminated and all recreation should be supervised.

"The association recommends that the administrative authorities protect schools from attempts by outside agencies to use the school organizations for furtherance of ends not directly connected with the aims of public education.

"We express our sincere appreciation of the courtesy and hospitality extended to the members of the association by the superintendents, teachers, the civic organizations, University of Delaware and by private citizens. We acknowledge the great service rendered to the teachers and the cause of education by the intelligent and public spirited reports of our deliberations published not only by the local press, but by other great papers of the State."

In an address before the association Dr. H. V. Holloway, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, told of the great increase in appropriations for the public schools of the state during the past ten years, and other advancement made in the educational system of the state. He said:

"The report of the schools in Delaware for 1917-18, just ten years ago, showed an expenditure for public education of $913,924, while last year there was expended $3,168,855, not counting more than $200,000 spent for new buildings. The enrollment of the elementary schools during this decade increased from 34,129 to 34,450, an increase of about 1 per cent. The enrollment of the high schools increased from 2578 to 6351, an increase of 146 per cent. The average Delaware child last year attended 2½ months more than the average Delaware child attended ten years ago. The length of the school year increased from 140 days to 183 days. The average annual salary of elementary teachers increased from $474 to $1233, while that of high school teachers increased from $950 to $1739. During this period there have been put into use 279 new modern rooms, while there are now 146 rooms more either under construction or planned for and the finances already provided."

At the annual meeting of the Delaware Interscholastic Athletic Association held Friday afternoon in connection with the teachers' meeting the following officers were named for the ensuing year: President, H. E. Stahl, Claymont; vice-president, W. L. Mowlds, Bridgeville; secretary and treasurer, Major P. S. Prince of Dover, field agent for the D. I. A. A.; executive committee, New Castle county, Miss M. Phyllis Mason, county supervisor; E. P. Vogel of Middletown, and Ralph Hodgkins of duPont School; Kent county, M. L. Hydon, county supervisor; Phillip A. Wright of Milford, and W. T. Michael of Caesar Rodney School; Sussex county, E. P. Burkholder, county supervisor, and G. V. Bryan of Lewes.

The Delaware Vocational Association which also met here elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, J. Franklin Gordy, of Seaford; vice-president, Eleanor Burke, of Milford; secretary-treasurer, M. P. Fairheller, of Wilmington.

The completion of this contract will give Newark the best system of paved streets by far of any town in Delaware. For some years Council has been building permanent streets at the rate of from $20,000 to $40,000 a year out of current funds and without a bond issue. No other town in Delaware can boast of such a fine record.

The streets built this year have been constructed by the A. Petrillo Company, of Wilmington. The contractors in the opinion of the town officials have done a fine piece of work. The enlarged street building program this year was made necessary because of the passage by the Legislature nearly two years ago of the bill extending the town boundaries. The new citizens rightly demanded improvements and Council decided on the building of permanent streets in some of the new sections.

The new streets built under the $87,000 expenditure include Orchard Road from Delaware avenue to Park Place; Park Place from the western town limits to Academy street and the widening and rebuilding of Depot Road to the town limits near the Pennsylvania Railroad station.

All of this work is now completed with the exception of some top coating along Park Place between Orchard Road and Depot Road. The work has apparently met with general approval and has been highly commended by officials of a number of other towns.

When the town was about through the work it was realized that the job would not really be completed until the extension of Park Place from the town limits to Elkton Road, a distance of about one-third of a mile was also built. This section, however, is outside the town limits. Mayor Frazer and other town officials took the matter up with the Levy Court and after the situation had been explained to the county officials they also agreed that the work of building Park Place extended to Elkton Road should be part of the general project. The county then awarded a contract to the same contractor, Petrillo and Company, to do this work. This company is now at work on that portion of the contract and will have it finished in a short time.

This will make complete the most extensive street building program ever attempted in the state outside of Wilmington.

While no definite plans have been made it is known that Town Council is contemplating more street building for next year and other general improvements for the benefit of the enlarged town.

Teachers and Pupils Give Educational Program for Entertainment of State Board

In order to give The Newark Post readers a general idea of the magnitude of work planned by the Newark Board of Education for the entertainment of the tenth annual meeting of the Delaware State Education held here last week, Mr. Ira S. Brinser, superintendent of the Newark Schools, has written for our columns a full account of the proceedings, which follows:

Mr. Vincent Mayer, with Mr. Meloy and Miss Gallagher as advisors, together with the officers of the General Organization, arranged for and appointed the various committees to cooperate in systematizing the matters of ushering and the giving of information at the convention.

The pupils who served in this capacity were: Eleanor Vansant, Martha Jaquette, Jay Dawson, Fred Porter, Edgar Clarke, Margaret Wilkin, Doris Strahorn, Marjorie Barnard, Louise Hutchison, Louise Fulton, Eleanor Doordan, Charles Cole, Caroline Cobb, Lawrence Brown, Ellis Rittenhouse and Jack Collins.

Cafeteria Serves Luncheon

A very attractive luncheon was served to the visiting members of the Delaware Interscholastic Athletic Association and guests in the newly decorated cafeteria of the Newark School. More than one hundred guests were present. The committee in charge of arrangements were: Mr. Thomas Malin, chairman, and as vice-president of the D. I. A. A., president, Mr. William K. Gillespie, Miss Hannah B. Lindell, Miss Mary Mote and Mrs. Lillian Maxwell. The luncheon was prepared by the latter two and served by the following members of the General Organization of the Newark School: The Misses Alice McCormick, Mary Riley, Sara Gray, Harriet Ferguson and Lucy Danby. The Executive Committee of the D. I. A. A. expressed deep appreciation for the luncheon with its fine quality and service.

Exhibits

Members of the State Association were warm in their praise for the way in which the exhibits of the Delaware schools were displayed in the high and spacious corridors of the Newark School Building. The worth whileness of the exhibit reflected, among other phases, two things: the commendable work and carefulness of Delaware's teachers planning the exhibits in their own schools; and the artistic way in which the Faculty Committee of the Newark School arranged it. The Newark Committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. William K. Gillespie, were: Miss Greta McKinsey, Mr. David McMenamin, Miss Sara Glass, Mr. Thomas Malin, Miss May Strough, Miss Harriet Wilson and Miss Mary Vaughn. The Faculty Committee was assisted by Representative samples of the work of the Newark School in all its grades and subjects were exhibited in a conference room in the new building; however, the home economics exhibit was very attractively displayed in the home economics laboratory rooms under the direction of Mrs. Frances Cook.

Fifteen companies displayed their newest productions in education supplies, magazines, materials of instruction and books. Butler's, of Wilmington, and Fox Films, Inc., of Philadelphia, operated "educational movies" during the two days of the session. Many of the films shown were produced in the Eastman Laboratories in Rochester, under the direction of Doctor Thomas Finnegun, former State Superintendent of Pennsylvania.

The Delaware Citizens Association and the American Red Cross also had booths. The Commercial exhibit was planned by Mr. Claire Meloy, chairman, Miss Hannah Lindell and Miss Anna Gallagher, assisted by the following student librarians: Lois Phelps, Ethel Hobson, Verona Chalmers, Helen Moore, Mary Doordan, Margaret Wilkin, Beatrice Sillitoe, Marion Jordan.

DEFEAT DOVER IN DECIDING GAME

Newark Will Now Play Laurel Thanksgiving Day For State D. I. A. A. Title

By defeating Dover High 19 to 6 in a hard fought game last Saturday, Newark High won the championship for the Northern Section of the State and will not play Laurel, the Southern Section winners, for the State D. I. A. A. secondary high school football title at Dover on Thanksgiving Day. It was a clean cut and deserved victory. As Newark lost but one game while all other teams in the Northern section lost two or more, this gave the local boys the right to battle for the State championship.

In every year since the organization of the D. I. A. A. Newark has won the Northern District title. The first six years Newark also won the State championship but in 1926 and 1927 they were defeated in the championship game by Laurel. The two teams will battle again this year and followers of the local eleven, while realizing it is a tight game, think they have an excellent chance to bring home the title again. Coach Gillespie, who has done excellent work with the light material available, is allowing the squad to take it fairly easy since Saturday, but will have the team in good shape for the Thanksgiving Day battle.

Newark had an edge on Dover throughout the game on Saturday and started the scoring in the first quarter when Smith took the ball over for a touchdown. Short but consistent line plunges by Frank Mayer aided materially in taking the ball to within scoring distance of Dover's goal.

A 15 yard penalty on Newark for holding in the second quarter paved the way for Dover's only touchdown. Captain Mayer following this penalty had to kick from back of his goal line and a Dover back catching the punt on Newark's 25 yard line ran the ball back 10 yards. Reed then circled the end for a touchdown.

Neither team scored in the third quarter but in the final period Newark started a drive that resulted in two more touchdowns before the game was over. Frank Mayer made one of these and Smith the last one. Newark had Dover on the defensive most of the last quarter.

Frank Mayer, Smith and Edman were steady ground gainers for Newark, while Captain Mayer and Jaquette played a strong defensive game.

Reed and Branner did good work for Dover.

Road Bonds Set Calendar Ahead

Issues Worth $240,000,000 Authorized To Cut Motoring Costs

Father Time is being taken by the forelock in road building as he never was before states E. E. Duffy, Delaware Automobile Association, A. M. A. The "pay as you go" method of building highways is being supplemented by the "pay as you ride" policy which carried with it refinements that mark the modern automobile as compared with the high wheeled auto buggy of the whips-and-sock era.

State road bonds worth $240,000,000 were authorized November 6 as follows: Iowa, $100,000,000; West Virginia, $35,000,000; Louisiana, $30,000,000; Missouri, $75,000,000.

Next year portends to be a banner period for highway issues with Texas now seriously considering the passage of a $300,000,000 issue with which to put a crimp in the vast mileage of unsurfaced, heavily traveled roads there.

Other states considering bond issues are Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, and Minnesota.

Since 1916, states have passed road issues totaling $1,159,836,000, while from 1919 until this fall, counties voted issues amounting to $985,417,000. Several counties passed issues November 6, including that of Will county Illinois, for $1,750,000, and that of Armstrong county, Pa., for $1,500,000.

Installation buying, for such it is, has proven to be as desirable to the conduct of government as to individuals who pay for radios, automobiles, washing machines, and so on, by means of future earnings. Bond issues bring large sums of money

U. OF D. DROPS GAME TO ST. JOE

Blue and Gold To Play Final Game Of Season Saturday With Haverford

With only one victory to their credit out of seven games played, University of Delaware will play the final game of the 1928 schedule on Saturday with their old rivals, Haverford, as opponents on Frazer Field. The only victory has been over Gallaudet.

On Saturday Delaware lost the game to St. Joseph's of Philadelphia by the score of 26 to 0. St. Joe played a much stronger game and while they got the breaks of the game, especially in recovering fumbles at critical stages, yet they deserved to win by playing the best and smartest ball.

St. Joe outclassed Delaware by a large margin in the first quarter, scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter and one in the second. In the first half the Blue and Gold failed to make a first down and made two disastrous fumbles which paved the way for touchdowns. The Delaware line looked very weak this half, while St. Joe's line stopped the local backs every time any attempt was made to get through.

The first touchdown came early in the first quarter when St. Joe recovered DiJoseph's fumble on Delaware's 20 yard line. Grecco a few minutes later took the ball over. A short time later Cinkutis blocked Hubert's punt, recovered the ball and raved over for a touchdown. In the second quarter after a St. Joe player had recovered a fumble by Hubert, Smith got a forward pass and ran 20 yards for the touchdown. The fourth touchdown was scored by Grecco in the final quarter.

Hopkins was the only Delaware back that was able to make gains through St. Joe's line. In the third period when Delaware played their best ball of the afternoon, Hopkins got loose for a 25 yard run. The Delaware line was unable to make holes for the backs.

with which highway improvements are immediately constructed so that the motorist and taxpayer, usually the same person, may save money directly in car operating costs, and indirectly through lowered upkeep costs paid out of state funds.

Road bond issues are usually financed entirely by gasoline tax revenues and motor license fees. Highway economists point out that where motorists pay out from 9 to 15 dollars in gasoline taxes per year, based on an average use of 300 gallons, the actual return to the motorist through highway benefits will exceed this several times over.

By "paying as you ride" highway conveniences of a decade or so hence are available for current use and at no greater cost, for poor roads cost from one to three cents more a mile to drive over. The saving possible here more than offsets that bugaboo, interest on bonds.

GET READY FOR "OLD MAN WINTER"

CHANDLER SERVICE HEAD GIVES HELPFUL HINTS

"Most anytime and anywhere now freezing weather is liable to occur, consequently the wise car owner should be making preparations with the motor car, to combat the ravages of winter," comments K. A. Drake, Wilmington Chandler distributor.

"Too often a car owner delays the necessary attention until after the 'First Freeze,' or after damage has been done. Prolonged delay will most likely result in expensive repair bills, especially if a new radiator or cylinder block must be purchased.

"There are a number of vital considerations regarding preparations for cold weather, but probably the most important is the cooling system. Unless it has already been done, the cooling system should be drained while warm. This is most important because the water in the cooling system is thoroughly agitated with all rust and impurities in suspension. Stop the engine before the water has been completely drained and wait until the flow at the lower drain cock has stopped. Then flush the cooling system thoroughly and drain once more. It is not necessary to use a soda solution in the system, unless an extremely rusty condition is evident, which is usually caused from the use of hard water. Next pour in whatever anti-freeze you have selected, and add water until the cooling system has been filled slightly below the radiator filler neck, so that slight expansion of the heated liquid will not cause loss through the overflow pipe of the radiator. Consult your instruction book for the table indicating the proper solution of anti-freeze for different temperatures.

"About the same time that the cooling system is given attention, the electrical system should receive inspection. Test the battery with a battery hydrometer. If the reading is not up to standard have the battery recharged, but do not dope it. Many filling stations are selling dope to rejuvenate old batteries. However, it becomes a matter of conjecture as to whether it is more economical to install a new battery than play with a poor battery, that eventually will cause no end of exasperation during the cold months of short daylight. Your automobile instruction book offers many suggestions for proper battery maintenance," further remarks Mr. Drake.

"Don't overlook the generator so that your battery may receive all the current possible, while it is working overtime during the period of increased darkness. During the warm season the generator should be set for a low charging rate, while for cold weather the generator should be set just below the maximum output. This adjustment should be done at a service station. Go over all the electrical connections, especially at the coupling boxes on the body dash, to make certain that they are tight. Moist cold, followed by a freeze may play peculiar pranks with loose connections.

Lubrication System

"All oiling stations make preparation to supply 'winter lubricants' long before you anticipate using them. Without question, all lubricants should be drained from the engine, the transmission, the rear axle and chassis system, and replaced with lighter bodied lubricants. Engine oils and gear oils should be of the best quality and the proper grade used, as specified by the manufacturer of the lubricant. Each year the car manufacturer supplies the oil companies with complete lubrication specifications, to conform to the ideal operating characteristics of the particular car in question. Assimilation of this data enables the lubricant manufacturer to produce lubricants more suitable for proper operating efficiency of your car. So use the best lubricants and the specified grades for best results. Here again it is unwise to dope lubricants for winter use. Diluting lubricants to thin them out is unsafe and unnecessary. Better to drain completely and refill with the proper grades than to risk damage, as the result of unwise economy.

"As a rule, the fuel system should receive attention before cold weather. During warm weather most fuels condense moisture on the cooler surfaces of the fuel system, such as the main tank, the vacuum tank and the connecting pipes. Eventually this moisture collects in the form of water, the quantity depending upon miscellaneous conditions. Oftentimes, this water collects within the fuel system in such a quantity that if not drained, will freeze into ice during cold weather, and cause no end of annoyance while driving. The wise motorist will usually drain a little fuel from the bottom of both the main tank, the vacuum and carburetor. In this manner the source of future trouble from the fuel system will be eliminated. Changing over to 'winter fuel' is perhaps a good procedure if for no other reason than to reduce the 'starting drag' on the battery. However, when changing over, make certain that your garageman has checked the ignition setting, and the carburetor adjustment. Some fuels have different operating characteristics in that they require a slight readjustment of the carburetor and ignition settings, for economical results.

"Last, but not least, tires and chain equipment should not be overlooked. Many a car owner has found, to his chagrin, that it pays to check over the tires before winter. Many a head cold results from changing tires during cold weather. Weak casings should be disposed of before ice roads cause them to go flat. Keep tires up to specifications and little trouble will follow."

H. H. OBERLY ATTENDS BRICKMAKERS MEETING

Howard H. Oberly, vice-president and treasurer of the Oberly Brick Company, attended the monthly meeting of the Common Brickmakers' Association, which was held at the Bellevue Stratford, in Philadelphia, last Thursday.

Among some of the new operations for which the company is supplying brick are a school at Avondale and the Rodney Street Garage, at Fourteenth and Rodney streets, Wilmington. The latter consists of a second floor addition, and is being done by Louis Feldman, builder and contractor. He is using the special brick. Another contract is for a large home built by Ernest Samworth on Weldin road, near Blueball. ### MANY REPEAT ORDERS FOR C. C. GINGER ALE

H. A. Mundorff, proprietor of the Orange Crush Bottling Works at Thirtieth and Market streets, Wilmington, has been exceedingly pleased with the large number of repeat orders for Canadian Club Ginger Ale, of which he is the local distributor. This popular beverage, one of a complete line of bottled goods manufactured by Mr. Mundorff, is meeting with wide sales, not only in Wilmington, but in many of the suburbs, all of which are reached by the Mundorff fleet. Dealers report that once having bought Canadian Club Ginger Ale, patrons ask for it by name, the second time, and not just for ginger ale. With Thanksgiving near at hand, he expects a substantial increase in business, as many festive boards will be graced by this beverage.

ARTIFICIAL STONE CO. AUGMENTS ITS FORCE

To meet with the many demands made upon him, Arthur Pavoni, head of the Artificial Stone and Tile Company, at 1906 West Ninth street, Wilmington, found it necessary to take on more extra help last week. Only two weeks before, he had engaged extra men. While he is working on a number of residential contracts, doing the tile baths, he also has several large contracts. The principal one is for the laying of a terrazzo floor in the furniture store of A. W. Solson, 604-6 Edgmont avenue, Chester.

CECIL MAN FACES TWO RUM CHARGES

John W. Eanes, Rising Sun, went on trial before Juries twice Friday in the United States District Court, Baltimore, for Volstead act violations, and each time was convicted.

The first offense charged illegal transportation and possession of twenty gallons of corn whisky. For this he was fined $500 and costs. His second trial was for his connection with a large still found in Cecil county. E. F. Ely, Federal prohibition agent, testified that Eanes escaped but that he recognized him and was able later to identify him positively, even before he knew his name.

Judge Morris A. Soper, in sentencing the accused to six months in jail for the second offense, asserted that Eanes deliberately perjured himself when on the stand in his own defense.

SELECT BREEDERS NOW

Egg production may be improved in three ways, namely, better breeding, better feeding, and better management. There is a great deal that could be said about each of them, so we shall limit ourselves to the question of breeding.

Poultrymen who expect to incubate eggs from their flock should turn their thoughts to the mating up of the breeding pen in the fall. The birds that are most likely to be used as breeders should be selected and put in a house by themselves. The object is to give them a rest prior to the hatching season. Birds that have been laying continuously for a year are more or less out of condition and have considerable rebuilding of broken down tissues to do. The size, health, and vitality of the chicks depends upon the health and condition of the parent stock.

In selecting breeders, handle every bird to determine the vigor, condition, and production ability. Do not use any birds that are decidedly underweight or out of condition. Size and constitutional vigor should be the foundation of every breeding pen. A good layer is broad and deep in body. This gives her room to consume lots of feed and ample room for the continuous development of yolks and production of eggs. Her back is broad, flat, and free of fat; the keel bone fairly long so as to support the internal organs. Looking at the bird, it gives you the impression of being flat-sided as contrasted with the round body of a poor layer.

While the greatest profit for the average poultryman is in the egg basket and not in the show room, it does not mean he should forget breed characteristics when selecting breeders. We all should strive to keep a pure bred flock. Success in breeding depends to a very large extent upon the care given the birds. They should be housed in dry, comfortable quarters. A warm house, if damp, is much more objectionable than a dry house that is cold. Proper feeding likewise plays an important part in the care of breeders. Hens given an over-stimulating diet, or undernourished so that they are in poor flesh at hatching time, produce poor hatching eggs. The eggs may hatch, but the chicks are small, weak, and unthrifty.

Teachers and Pupils

Newark Teachers Participate

Mrs. Emma Robinson arranged for a first grade demonstration lesson in first grade reading which was taught by Miss White, of the Tower Hill School. The theme of the lesson was the project of the first grade of the Newark School. The project was worked out in three phases: Mrs. Robinson's section made a living-room playhouse; Miss Steele's section made a dining-room playhouse, and Miss McMahon's section added a bedroom playhouse.

Mrs. Mamie Palmer arranged for a demonstration lesson in second grade language lesson which was taught by Miss Eleanor Norris, of Tower Hill School. Mrs. Norris selected her lesson from the regular school work in hand. The lesson, "A Trip to the Mill," had been prepared by actually taking a trip to Dayette's Mill where they learned at first hand some of the things in the making of flour. The lesson was an oral discussion on the trip.

In the second grade projects relating to old farm life in Newark were constructed: Miss Vaughn's section constructed the old Newark village; Miss White's section added the Old Market place; while Mrs. Palmer's section contributed the old farmyards of colonial days.

A third grade lesson in Geography was taught by Miss Harriet Wilson, who selected as her theme, "Newark and Its History," with special emphasis on "Colonial Life in Newark." The lesson is one from many in a six month's project of the Newark School in its first three grades in its social science, which aims to combine the history, geography, art, English, arithmetic—in short the project aims to form the common meeting and using ground of those things which all the subjects together with the home purposes to teach.

Miss Wilson took as her special phase colonial lighting and made very effective use of lighting equipment of colonial days. Prior to teaching the lesson Miss Wilson presented a comprehensive outline of the entire project, which included sources of information, bibliography, and possible avenues of correlation. Miss Reafer's section of the third grade also carried a correlated project.

Pupils who formed the class for the lesson were: Jimmy Ingham, Evelyn Belsky, Ann Tarr, Katherine White, Doris Jolla, Anna May Jerhold, Mary Brown, Leighton Heney, Burton Collins, Charles Swideman and Rodney Moore.

Miss Madelyn Johnston, who was to have a demonstration lesson in fourth grade history was prevented from so doing by a recent operation for appendicitis. Miss Johnston had planned a lesson on the explorers.

Miss Laura J. Wilson, of Friends School, showed very well how to teach a lesson of the work type in grade five. The demonstration was arranged for by Miss Bessie Wingate and Miss Nell Lemley. The following pupils formed the class: William Turney, Marjorie Nickols, Jean Danby, John Hopkins, John Danby, Josephine Narado, Christos Pappas, Ernest Burnley, Charles Margerum, Pauline Ring, Mildred Wilson, Adelta Dawson, Evelyn French, Elizabeth Fulton and Helen Brown.

Miss Sarah Glass and Miss Greta McKinsey arranged for a demonstration lesson in sixth grade history, Miss Glass teaching the lesson and Miss McKinsey leading the discussion. The central theme of the lesson was "Life in the Middle Ages," the immediate problem in hand was "How did the work of the Monks in the Middle Ages contribute to our present civilization?" The type of lesson illustrated was supervised study, with pupils' recitation and discussion thereafter. In discussing the lesson as taught, Miss McKinsey emphasized the aims of the lesson as actually carried out in the lesson: the enlargement of history vocabulary, the improvement of silent reading by answering fact questions and showing how learning was kept from being totally destroyed during the dark ages. The new type of many phases test was also shown by the demonstration as well as the summary and assignment for the next day's work. The pupils who formed the class for the demonstration lesson were: Robert Hancock, Ernest George, Arthur Huston, Alex Cobb, James Hutchison, Ross Hutchison, Orville Richardson, Martha Moore, Ott Widdoes, Virginia Morris, Dorothy Barrows, Edwin Knauss and Roberta Spencer.

A first year junior high lesson on the teaching of Ideals was arranged for by Miss Irene Wilkinson. The lesson was taught by Miss Stetenko, of Rose Hill, who used Leigh Hunt's poem, "Abou Ben Adhem." The theme of the discussion by the pupils was peace, with emphasis on the Kellogg Peace Plan and the Golden Rule. Pupils of the Newark School who formed the class were: Anna Bell, Barbara Bonham, Rosalyn Ernest, Mary Hayes, Marleen Kennard, Edna Kinsinger, Eleanor Roberts, Anna Smith, Raymond Rogers, Frank Butworth, Willard Grant, Mike Smith and Harry Wilson.

In the general sessions, held in the Armory, Doctor Driggs, of Columbia, taught two classes furnished by the Newark School. Mr. McMenamin arranged for the following members of the demonstration class in "Teaching the Lyrics": Fred Porter, Alfred Cleaver, Anna Starkley, Mildred Beeson, Ernest Lomax, Anna Dill, Myra Hall, Woodlea Baum, Florence Johnson, Louise Murray and Elizabeth Hall.

Miss Medill and Miss Glass arranged for the demonstration class for Doctor Driggs on Thursday morning. Those who formed the class on "Connecting Composition with Life" were: Bernard Doordan, Arthur McClintock, Victor Ewing, Howard Leverage, Helen Smith, Pauline Duhadaway, Jack Cooper, Leon Truett, Ruth Kinsinger, Virginia Phillips, Virginia Hurlock, Margaret Hauber, Sara Slack, Lucille Morgan, Alice Fischer, Myra Smith, Josephine George, Beatrice Bell, Camilla Heiser and Rebecca Dyer.

A demonstration lesson was taught by Mrs. Gray, which was arranged for by Mr. Keller and Miss McKinsey, of the Newark School. The participating pupils were: Anna Bell, Raymond Beers, Willard Grant, Anna Smith, Maralee Kennard, Frank Butworth, Mary Hayes, Mike Smith, Edna Kinsinger, Eleanor Roberts, Barbara Bonham, Rosalyn Earnest, Mr. Claire Meloy, of the English Department of the Newark School, in his address before the English section, presided over by Professor Steelman, of the Wilmington High School, emphasized the great need of oral composition and attacked especially the present tendency of under-emphasis placed upon self-expression at the dangerous expense of correct expression. Mr. Meloy and Mrs. Duffy assisted in making arrangements for the English section.

Probably one of the outstanding contributions and addresses at the sectional meetings was that of Professor Crooks before the History and Social Science section on Thursday afternoon. Professor Crooks spoke on "Teaching School Attitudes" and brought out among other things two ways by which students may obtain or develop good social attitudes: first, by specific example from the life and teachings of the instructor; second, by concrete examples in history for the students to accept. Doctor Crooks' talk was followed by a discussion from the group which brought out the importance of teaching the unbiased truth in all subjects, but especially in history, if we are to develop in our students the best moral attitude for life.

Miss Gallaher represented the Newark School at the section meeting. Professor Barkley, of the University of Delaware, was elected chairman for 1929 to succeed Superintendent Snavely, of the New Castle School.

Doctor Carl Rees, of the University of Delaware, in speaking before the Mathematics section, emphasized the great need of four years of mathematics in the secondary schools, with special emphasis on a good working knowledge of algebra. Miss Hancock extended the courtesies of the Newark School to the Mathematics section. The Vocational section, Miss Hannah Deakyns, chairman, Home Economics teacher at Claymont, presided. Dr. R. O. Small, State Director of Vocational Education in Boston, was the speaker. Dr. Small emphasized the extension of vocational education by taking each step forward in its natural sequence. Mr. Thomas Malin and Mrs. F. M. Cook were hosts to the visitors in this particular line of work.

Doctor Bristow, assistant director of Secondary Education for the State of Pennsylvania, in his address before the Secondary section, presided over by Mr. Shilling, emphasized the elements for an effective junior high school. Doctor Bristow, in his address, made some very favorable comments on the Newark plan of student participation in government. Doctor Bristow further emphasized the great need of keeping constantly in our clarified vision the fundamental aims and purposes of the junior high school. Learning by doing is still the law of progress and of growth," said Doctor Bristow in closing.

The music for the Annual Banquet was furnished by Mr. Samuel Ettel-son, piano; Mr. Harold Barker, clarinet; Mr. David McMenamin, Mr. B. Davis and Mr. Frank Myer, violins; Mr. Willey, flute; Mr. Paul Steele, drums; Mr. Orville Little and Mr. John Wolleyhan, cornets; Mr. Herman Stradley, bass; and Mr. S. Brinser, trombone.
