DISPOSAL PLANT NEARING COMPLETION

Immigrants Camping On The Ground

Work on the disposal plant of the new sewage system being installed by Contractor Jacobs, has progressed at a gratifying rate during the last few weeks. The plant is just east of town between the B. & O. railroad and White Clay Creek. Many persons visit the site daily, and find much to interest them.

The work of laying the pipes from the Imhof tank, to the creek, a distance of 300 yards, has been completely finished. These include two separate lines, the large ones for the sewage proper, and the smaller ones, running only to the filter, for town water to be used for cleansing and flushing purposes.

The concrete Imhof tank, twenty-five feet in depth, and varying in form from concave bottom to triangular and again to circular outlines, is about complete. The grading is being done around the sludge bed, while the concrete work on the filter is finished and workmen are busy on the grading and the stone wall.

The work has progressed rapidly since the importation about two weeks ago of thirty-two immigrants who had landed only a few days before in New York. The newcomers hail from Russia, Italy, Servia, Spain and Austria. A temporary shack, 80 by 16 feet, has been erected in the field and here the men sleep and do their own cooking.

Their quartermaster, who acts as interpreter as well, is a graduate of an Italian University, and speaks eight languages. A small store has been opened by the quartermaster where many of the necessities are sold for the greater convenience of the men. But of course this cannot include all the needs of the men, and there are many excursions to town and interesting experiences in the stores, when Pilnick, the Russian shoemaker, is pressed into service as interpreter. Mr. Pilnick is master of seven languages. The gang includes about forty men.

A group of six yesterday, composed of five white men and one negro, found after working on one job for several hours, that not one was able to understand the conversation of the other.

There are, in all, about one hundred nine men working at the disposal plant and on the pipe line. Mr. Jacobs expects to complete the former in about two weeks. Some delay has been encountered on the line on Delaware avenue, both east and west of the Depot road, by in the first instance striking water, and in the second, running into sand. The contractor expects to conquer the difficulty within a few days.

Another Painting For Iron Hill

On Sunday afternoon, October 20th, at the Perkins Memorial Chapel at Iron Hill, O. R. Washburn will present the Chapel, on behalf of Miss Sara J. Eddy of Bristol Ferry, R. I., a second oil painting. The gift is a life sized Madonna and Child, in the modern conception of the subject, representing devotion, motherhood and childhood as well as the Mary the Mother idea. It is a fine work, comparing well with the three paintings in Otis Chapel, near there. Those interested in good art should make an especial effort to see it.

Delaware Training Hard For Saturday's Game

Coach McAvoy is putting the Delaware football team through strenuous practice this week, keeping them in good shape for the contest with Catholic University at Washington next Saturday. Delaware, judging by the scores of both teams so far, seems to be stronger than the Washington boys, who were defeated last Saturday by the Mt. St. Mary's eleven by the score of 27 to 0. Delaware plays Mt. St. Mary's here in November, so it would seem in order to stand a chance with that eleven she must win over the Catholic University next Saturday.

NEWARK BOY SCOUTS VISIT PHILADELPHIA

Ox-Roast Prounced A Great Success

The Boy Scouts of Newark Troop No. 1, sent representatives to Philadelphia last Saturday to attend an ox roast at the Philadelphia Country Club. One thousand scouts from Philadelphia and surrounding country were present and enjoyed the affair.

Assembly was called at Belmont Plateau at 3.00 o'clock, the troops marching from there to the grounds of the Country Club where the ox was to be seen skewered to a long pole and roasting nicely. This operation had been going on for about 24 hours. At 4.50 the carving and distributing began and the men with the knives were kept busy. The ox furnished material for about 2,000 sandwiches. The boys furnished their own bread and butter and such other food as they wished.

After supper an illustrated lecture, beginning at 7.30, was presented by Dr. Allen S. Williams. Merit badges and trophies won at Treasure Island this summer were distributed. The Newark representatives reported to Mr. J. M. Neeley and Scout Master Rubensame, both of whom rendered such valuable service at the Newark Scout Field Day and were right royally received by them.

The return was made by boat to Wilmington in company with Old Swedes' and Harrison Street Scouts under Scout Masters Garrick Mallery, Jr., and Mr. Porter.

The local boys' verdict of the affair is: "There is some class to an ox roast, especially the eats." What next?

Reports from the Scouts denote a hearty interest in the Scout Benefit to be given in Newark Opera House, Tuesday, November 28th. All who have not yet bought their tickets should do so at once, from any of the Scouts. Remember, this is a movement worthy of your support as it makes boys that parents can be proud of and men who will be a credit to their country.

The new Spaulding basket ball was received last Wednesday evening and the Scouts at once entered into enthusiastic practice. The boys hope to be able to develop a team to meet teams from other troops.

After going to a depth of forty feet water was found, but the boring has been continued in order to guarantee a satisfactory supply. The contract for the building was awarded some time ago to Clifford Willis, contractor of Newark.

LETTERS TO THE PEOPLE OF DELAWARE

To the People of the State of Delaware:

The public schools of our state have now all opened for the year, and will be open every legal school day. Every child of school age may there get the knowledge and training that shall make him or her a useful, worthy man or woman. The teachers are on hand daily to direct these processes for the best interests of the children and of the community. We need now to realize that there is a part for the homes to perform if the children are to get the full benefit of the school, and if the community is to get the full return for the money spent on the school.

The teachers hope that this year parents shall see to it that school attendance is both regular and punctual to a degree never reached before. A united, determined effort all over the state to make this one gain is sure to succeed.

The child loses in several ways by being absent from school. He loses the lessons and the teaching given while he is absent. This results in a loss of interest in the work, and in a loss of development of his mind. From this experience there will grow in the child's mind the opinion that it does not matter whether he is in school or out of school. The first two results are sad, the last is a tragedy in the child's life. Blame and reproach are the certain portion of parents who permit the child to form such an opinion or who would allow and sometimes even encourage him to act on it.

The presence of the child at school every day in fit condition for the work of the school will be possible only when the parents realize that the chance which the child loses one day cannot be made up the next day. The chance lost today is lost forever. The next day brings its own chances, which, if used to give the child the chance he should have used yesterday, is surely lost.

The school also loses if the child is absent. A larger class is more interesting than a smaller one; the exchange of opinions and of experiences is lost, and the class, the school and the teacher will get the reputation of failing to make progress.

The parents suffer serious loss, also, although they may think they are saving money by keeping the children at home to work. In the first place, they lose the sense of doing their duty and feel instead the pricks of conscience for an unperformed duty, for an unredeemed and unwillingness to make sacrifices for their children. In the second place, their children will fall behind in the competition of life, and the parents will lose the supreme happiness that comes from seeing the children win places of trust, of honor, of power, of leadership. Thus the few dollars saved by the labor of the child are sure to bring to the parents vain regret and sorrow, disappointment in their children and the gnawings of remorse.

Ninety per cent of attendance should be our aim. We cannot make a more meritorious or more noteworthy advance this year, since on this feature depends excellence in all other matters. Let us begin right now. Let us resolve, "It shall be done."

CHARLES A. WAGNER, Commissioner of Education.

Oxford Fair Grounds To Be Sold

Negotiations are in progress for the sale of Oxford Fair Grounds to Al. E. Wheeler, who will make them his permanent winter quarters for his show. The managers of the fair decided to sell the grounds as debt against the agricultural association was becoming more of a burden each year. Mr. Wheeler has arranged to purchase all the outstanding stock at the market price and he will satisfy the mortgage and note against the Association. In all the grounds will represent an investment of about eight thousand dollars, or at the rate of $100 an acre. The fair will be held as usual each year, the association renting the grounds from Mr. Wheeler for their exhibitions.

Civil War Veterans Observe Anniversary

Recalling the days when they left Hare's Corner in response to orders to go into service in the Civil War, forty surviving veterans of the First Delaware Regiment gathered around the "camp fire" in the New Century Club at Smyrna and swapped war time yarns Friday afternoon.

This followed an interesting fifteen minutes address by Governor Charles R. Miller, during which he referred in touching manner to the thinning ranks of the veterans and congratulated the surviving comrades of the regiment upon their having attained the fifty-second anniversary of the departure from Hare's Corner, after having so gallantly, fearlessly and nobly fought for their country's union. The old heroes of the First Delaware formed the intimate acquaintance of Governor Miller at the Gettysburg reunion and his presence served to more strongly bind the tie of comradeship between them. In appreciation the veterans tendered him a reception in the Colonial Hotel.

It was just fifty-two years ago that as gallant a regiment of patriotic young men as ever departed for the Civil War shouldered arms at Hare's Corner, took cars to Newport and went by steamer to Baltimore, Md., and then to Norfolk, Va. As their name indicates, this regiment of brave men were among the first to enlist, and after their short terms expired, most of them re-enlisted and served during the whole war. They saw service on the field at Gettysburg, and at many other of the most important battles during the war. Their many experiences were vividly painted in their minds by the reunion.

Captain Lewis, president of the organization of survivors, Captain Smith, the secretary; Colonel Cunningham and others took active part in the celebration. After the reunion a committee of residents of Smyrna gave the governor a reception.

School Funds Apportioned

The State of Delaware, through State Treasurer Hastings, has just announced the amount of Delaware receive from their investments for public school purposes, and the consequent allotment of these moneys to the various counties and city of Wilmington to help pay the expenses of conducting the public schools.

The legislature appropriates annually from the general fund of the State's treasury the sum of $132,000. This is not apportioned however, until the State Treasurer gets in all the other revenue set aside for this fund to carry on the schools. All these revenues have now been received, including the dividends on the stock of the Farmers' Bank of the State of Delaware, of which stock the people of the State own fifty-seven per cent, the dividends from which go automatically, by law, to this school fund.

With all these revenues now in and the $132,000 ready, the State Treasurer found that he could make the following apportionment: To the city of Wilmington, $38,600; rural New Castle county, $32,212.92; Kent county, $38,942.15; Sussex county, $50,637.09.

The amounts are arrived at after deducting the amount spent for text books by the various districts. Without the textbook expense, the fund would have been considerably larger. The State furnishes free text books, which is an additional advantage derived from these wise allotments of State funds, it is claimed.

These county funds are deposited in county banks in the various counties and are there drawn by each school district in proportion to the number of teachers the districts employ, the basis on which the State awards the funds.

The allotment for each teacher is $193. It was as high as $196 in 1911.

Commissioner Wagner Visits Newark

Commissioner of Education Wagner was a College visitor on Friday of last week. Dr. Wagner is already planning for the Summer School next session.

During the last few weeks he has been visiting the schools of Sussex county. In speaking of the conditions there, he expressed himself well pleased with the outlook. There seems to be a growing enthusiasm on school questions. Especially is this true in improvement of the physical conditions.

Commissioner Wagner will visit the New Castle county schools as soon as the new county superintendent has his work well in charge.

First Local Institute Of Rural Teachers

New Castle county school teachers crowded the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday morning and afternoon when the first teachers' institute was held. Dr. Charles A. Wagner, state commissioner of education, opened the institute with prayer.

County Superintendent Elmer L. Cross welcomed the teachers and said that during the coming year several institutes would be held in the rural schools. The New Castle county teachers will meet in joint institute with the Kent county teachers in Dover on November 12, 13 and 14. At the meeting it was decided to have seats for all the teachers reserved at the evening sessions when delightful entertainments will be given. Dr. Wagner spoke on "An educational advance." In his address he spoke of the school, church, home, newspapers and grangers as agencies for good in the dissemination of knowledge.

Dr. J. E. Carroll, county superintendent of Kent county, also spoke and expressed pleasure that an institute is to be held in Dover. Dr. Carroll spoke interestingly regarding the teaching of geography.

The report of the treasurer showed $261 in the savings fund. A general discussion took place over the disposition of the money and it was decided not to touch the money at present.

The rates at the hotels in Dover during the institute will be $1.50 a day. Teachers who attend will be given credit for one of the three days allowed under the law.

Wise Plan For Civic Improvement

A West Chester colored man has shown this year what ingenuity and industry can do in relieving a neighborhood of a disease and mosquito breeding stagnant pond, and furnishing him with a fine vegetable garden.

There was about a one-third section of a square in the eastern portion of West Chester, which has been an annoyance to the citizens. He leased the lot and had in the course of time the lot filled up with ashes and street, thus removing the pond and giving him a nice loamy soil for a garden.

During the long evenings and early daylight mornings of summer he cultivated the lot, and as a result has made a remarkably large crop of vegetables. He has sold five bushels of potatoes and still has enough left to keep his family—a good sized one—all winter.

KEEPING WELL INSTEAD OF GETTING WELL

Prominent scientists declare that a TEASPOONFUL OF GRAPE JUICE will kill all the typhoid germs in a glassful of water.

Grape Juice is a food, the nearest thing to milk. Its elements gluten and grape sugar make flesh and muscle. Grape Juice supplies a perfectly pure water, sweetened and flavored by nature herself. An excellent tonic served as a delicious and refreshing drink.

ter. He also raised fifty baskets of tomatoes, 75 quarts of lima beans, and has several hundred heads of cabbage. Besides he had peppers, lettuce, peas and other varieties of truck.

As all the work was done outside of his general working hours at other business, on what was a former swamp, he points with some pride to the result, and says there are plenty of vacant lots about town that could be utilized in the same way if men would employ their spare time in cultivating them instead of loafing around the Court House corner or other places.

This is a pointer for next spring. Would it not be equally as profitable for citizens to organize open lot cultivation clubs for men and boys as well as play-grounds. This is being done in many other cities and towns with good results.

Good Roads Congress

The fourth American good roads congress will be held in the First Regiment armory in Philadelphia on December 9, 10, 11 and 12, in connection with the tenth annual convention of the American Road Builders' Association. The exhibition of methods, materials and machinery to be held in connection with the congress will surpass that of any previous year. Many of the machinery exhibits will consist of large units, such as traction engines, rollers, truck, etc. which will be shown outside the exhibition hall.

He died shortly after being taken ashore and did not state how the accident occurred. He leaves a widow and three children.

David S. Marvel, a Wilmington liveryman, has been appointed administrator of Homer C. Wiggins, the young murderer and bandit, who robbed the Wilmington and Philadelphia Traction Company's car barn and later killed himself after a battle with policemen. $556 was found on his body and the money is claimed by the Traction Company and John F. Jones, whose cigar store was also robbed by Wiggins. One of the objects of administering upon Wiggins' personal estate is the recovery of the money.

Councilman Stover of Wilmington stated on Thursday that the appointment of a confidential agent or detective to investigate certain conditions existing in the city had not been made with the purpose of "getting" Chief of Police Black or anyone else, which view President of Council W. P. White confirmed. Mr. Stover said it would not be prudent to give the grounds upon which Council's action was based but said a non-resident, who had investigated the matter, had reported finding 46 disreputable houses in the city.

Harry Buckson, Benjamin Hicks and Michael Pesse, charged with violations of the Wilmington market regulations, were given hearings before Judge Churchman on Thursday but the cases were dismissed on technical grounds, chiefly defects in the information upon which they were arrested.

That Touch of Refinement

No matter how expensive the furnishings of your home may be if the feeling of appropriateness and refinement is lacking, you cannot be satisfied.

This is especially true of the bathroom as it should accord with the rest of the home in the quiet appropriate design of its furnishings, and here good taste is so evident. Good health, as well as appearances, must be considered, for true refinement is shown by that deeper unobtrusive feeling which pervades the home, but is best and chiefly shown by the appointments for the health and comfort of the household.

The Federal Migratory Bird Law As It Affects Delaware

When President Wilson on October 1st, last, at 12.40 p. m. affixed his signature to the Regulations for the Protection of Migratory Birds, the law at once became effective and a long list of migratory game and insectivorous birds became the wards of Uncle Sam.

The following regulations are now effective in Delaware.

1. For the purpose of these regulations the following shall be considered migratory game birds:

a. Anatidae or waterfowl, including brant, wild ducks, geese and swans.

b. Gruidae or cranes, including little brown, sandhill and whooping cranes.

c. Rallidae or rails, including coots, gallinules and sora and other rails.

d. Limicolae or shore birds, including avocets, curlew, dowitchers, godwits, knots, oyster catchers, plover, sandpipers, snipe, stilts, surf birds, turnstones, willett woodcock, and yellowlegs.

e. Columbidae or pigeons, including doves and wild pigeons.

For the purpose of these regulations the following shall be considered migratory insectivorous birds:

f. Bobolinks, catbirds, chickadees, cuckoos, flickers, flycatchers, grosbeaks, tanagers, hummingbird kinglets, martins, meadowlarks, nighthawks or bull bats, nuthatches, orioles, robins, shrikes, swallows, swifts, titmice, thrushes, vireos, warblers, waxwings, whippoorwills, woodpeckers, and wrens, and all other perching birds which feed entirely or chiefly on insects.

2. A daily closed season on all migratory game and insectivorous birds shall extend from sunset to sunrise.

3. A closed season on migratory insectivorous birds shall continue to December 31, 1913, and each year thereafter shall begin January 1st, and continue to December 31, both dates inclusive, provided that nothing in this or any other of these regulations shall be construed to prevent the issue of permits for collecting birds for scientific purposes in accordance with the laws and regulations in force in the respective States and Territories and the District of Columbia; and provided further that the closed season on redbirds or ricebirds in Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, and South Carolina shall begin November 1st and end August 31, next following, both dates inclusive.

4. A closed season shall continue until September 1, 1918, on the following migratory game birds: Band-tailed pigeons, little brown, sandhill and whooping cranes, swans, curlew, and all shore birds except the black breasted and golden plover, Wilson or jack snipe, woodcock and the greater and lesser yellowlegs.

A closed season shall also continue until September 1, 1918, on wood ducks in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, California, Oregon and Washington; on rails in California and Vermont; and on woodcock in Illinois and Missouri.

5. A closed season shall continue between January 1st and December 31, both dates inclusive, of each year, on all migratory birds passing over or at rest on any of the waters of the main streams of the following navigable rivers, to wit: The Mississippi River between Minneapolis, Minn., and Memphis, Tenn.; and Missouri River between Bismarck, N. D., and Nebraska City, Neb., and on the killing or capture of any of such birds on or over the shores of any of said rivers, or at any point within the limits aforesaid, from any boat, raft or other device, floating or otherwise, in or on any such waters.

Regulation 6 divides the United States into two zones, zone No. 1, called the breeding zone, is in the North, while zone No. 2, termed the wintering zone, comprises states lying wholly or in part south of latitude 40 degrees and the Ohio river. Delaware is in zone No. 2.

The following are the open seasons in Delaware:

	Opens	Closes
Waterfowl (including all wild ducks)	Nov. 1	Jan. 31
Rails, Coots and Gallinules	Sept. 1	Nov. 30
Woodcock	Nov. 15	Dec. 31
Plover, Snipe and Yellowlegs	Sept. 1	Dec. 15

All other birds named above are protected all the year and cannot be killed at any time. The penalty for violating any provision of this law is $100.00 fine or ninety days imprisonment, or both.

A comprehensive plan for the enforcement of the new law has been made. The whole country has been divided into a number of districts, with an Inspector in charge of each district. Delaware is in what is known as the Middle States District of which D. C. Speenburgh of New York City has been made Inspector. He has already appointed several Federal Wardens in Delaware and will soon appoint others.

This law was passed by Congress and approved by President Taft, March 4th, 1913, being the last Act signed by him as President. The Department of Agriculture was directed to prepare the regulations, and they have now been approved by President Wilson.

This law was created at the instigation of the Department of Agriculture as the result of its long and scientific study of the habits and use of birds. It having been clearly demonstrated that birds are of wonderful economic value to agriculture on account of the enormous quantities of insects and weed seeds that they devour. Many of our birds are in danger of being exterminated and the co-operation of every thinking citizen in their protection is earnestly desired.

New Rector At St. Andrews

Rev. Richard W. Trapnell of St. Andrew's church, Amarillo, Texas has accepted a call to St. Andrew's church in Wilmington, when the resignation of Rev. Hubert W. Wells takes effect on the first Sunday of November. It is expected that Mr. Trapnell will take charge of St. Andrew's church on November 30, which is St. Andrew's Day. Mr. Wells has been with the church for thirteen years.

Official Examination After Accidents

The General Manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad has communicated to superintendents, instructions prohibiting the destruction of railroad equipment involved in an accident causing loss of life or injuries to passengers, until public officials have had ample opportunity to examine the same. It is not intended that any such rule should operate to prevent the promptest possible resumption of traffic, nor that such equipment shall remain for any great length of time along the right of way. The Company feels that it may reasonably expect public officials desiring to make such an examination to do so quite promptly.

Delaware State Corn Show

The Seventh Annual State Corn Show will be held in Georgetown, Del., Dec. 11 and 12. Preparations are under way to make this the most interesting and instructive exhibition ever held in the State. The premium list will be more extensive and the premiums larger than heretofore. The total premiums will amount to about $500. In order to encourage new exhibitors the premiums will be divided into two general classes. First, the honorary class in which those who have won a first premium in previous shows will be expected to enter. Second, the amateur class, open to new exhibitors and to those who have exhibited before but have not won a first premium. It is hoped that this arrangement will meet the favor of new exhibitors as they will not be obliged to compete against growers who have had considerable experience in selecting grain for exhibition. In both classes the premiums will be of the same value. Also, premiums will be offered for the best samples of grain from the state at large. Each county will have a class open to the growers from that section.

While the State exhibition is generally known as the Corn Show, it is the object of the Corn Growers' Association to encourage the production of small grains and legume seeds of high quality. To this end liberal premiums will be offered for the best peck samples of wheat, oats, rye, buckwheat, cowpeas, soy beans and field beans; also for the seed of red clover, crimson clover and timothy. Premiums will also be offered for red clover, crimson clover and timothy. Premiums will also be offered for samples of grain in the sheaf, as wheat, oats and rye. Bundles of forage plants, such as alfalfa, red clover, crimson clover, timothy, soy beans and cowpeas may be exhibited for premiums.

In order that the corn show will have something more than State wide interest one class will be open to the world at large. This class will offer four premiums for the ten ears of corn shelling the most grain by weight. Growers from this or any other state may enter this class. During the Corn Show, a program consisting of addresses on corn growing and small grain production and on Methods of Soil Improvement will be given by experts of national reputation in these lines. For other particulars, premium lists and entry cards, address: A. E. Grantham, Sec'y Delaware Corn Growers' Ass'n, Newark, Del.

High Courage And Good Business
American cities have been doing praiseworthy acts in the last five years in building model school houses in poor districts. In some instances these structures have been placed in the midst of poverty vice and human failure. There have been strong criticisms, but what are the results? The children have been found to be bright and eager to learn. They have responded to the better influences. They have caused reactions in gloomy homes. The reforms have not been spectacular, but there has been a noticeable improvement by setting in the right path many boys and girls.

It was high courage for the leaders of education to take their best into the midst of the worst, but there they have found sound material and are developing it. It is wise, for it is the practical way to build up better citizenship.

Life's Happy Time

Y is for Youth,
Life's happy time;
To let Teeth trouble war it
Is really a crime.

The care given the teeth in youth usually decides the kind of teeth one will have later in life; good care will insure escape from many an ache; neglect means aches and early loss of teeth.

Among the other popular weaves in dress goods we are showing Serges, Poplins, Batiste, Wool Crepes, Epouges, Plaids and Checks.

THE ANGELS OF THE PINES

On the great mountains, all the year, in every rain and wind,
In the dripping mists or stinging hail that drives in level lines,
Unfearing all the blasts and frosts, forever there I find
The singers of the Living God, the Angels of the Pines.

Up rockbound steeps where never yet the path of man was made,
Where primal, savage and untamed the mountain rears its breast,
By many a roaring waterfall in age-long solemn shade,
They wait beneath the mighty skies to do the Lord's behest.

Green are their mantles, flowing free on limbs with incense sweet;
Their locks are streaming in the air before the hurrying breeze;
The carpets of the myriad years are woven 'neath their feet;
The windows of their dwellings front the cloudland's shining seas

In the early summer mornings we may hear the whisper run.
As angel unto angel calls and greets the rising day:
Their voices send their praises to the all-beholding sun,
Till at evening in the silence you may hear them softly pray

Strong are the granite ledges, the bones of Mother Earth,
But stronger the immortal ones who stand upon the hills—
Their voices tuned to Heaven's harps, are singing Heaven's worth.
When man has half forgotten God in fancied human ills.

Strong angels of the ancient pines that front the shock of years;
Strong spirits calling unto us the mysteries to show—
I come to you from little things, from lesser mirth and tears,
For the mighty psalms of comfort and the wisdom that you know.

In solemn hours you walk with me to strengthen and restore;
In troubled days you bide your time to teach the way of peace.
Sweet singers of unsullied heights, oh, bless me more and more,
Till with thy praise all earth shall join, till lesser songs shall cease.
Iron Hill, Md. O. R. Washburn.

Returns For The Year From Harrison's Nurseries

The following interesting facts and figures on the 1913 peach crop of J. G. Harrison & Sons, at eBrLin, Md., comprising less than 100 acres has been obtained:

The shipments were as follows: 20,214 half-bushel baskets or 31 cars of 640 baskets each and 374 baskets over; 12,890 carriers, six gallons, making 30 cars of 400 carriers each with 89 carriers over. This makes a total of nearly 62 cars, or 19,174 bushels.

The highest price for which first grade peaches in six gallon carriers sold for net f. o. b. Berlin was $2.09; the lowest price $1.25. The highest price paid for one-half bushel baskets, first grade peaches net f. o. b. Berlin was $1.05 per basket; lowest price, 60 cents.

The total net sales of peaches was $35,165.53 which would make an average price per bushel, including all grades, soft peaches sold locally, etc., of $1.83.

The first full car was loaded on July 18, the last full car was loaded on August 22.

The expense in growing this crop of peaches, picking, packing it and loading on cars was as follows:

Plowing, cultivation, etc.	$ 776.37
Pruning, etc.	395.71
Fertilizing, seeding, etc.	60.50
Spraying	704.72
Harvesting, hauling, loading, etc.	2,286.06

Making a total labor account of $4,223.36

On nine cars consigned on their own account they had to pay:

Ice charges amounting to	$ 242.50
Spent for carriers	2,058.73
For baskets	1,085.90
Labels	38.25
Pads	149.00
Spray material	1,528.95

Making a total for misc. items $5,103.33

Added to labor accounts of $4,223.36

Makes a total expense of $9,326.69

Which amount deducted from the total net sales of $35,165.53 leaves a total net profit for the year on the peach crop of $25,838.84.

a great success. Letters have been sent to all the societies in the State inviting them to attend the convention and promising that their entertainment will be taken care of by the Wilmington committee during their stay. A noontime luncheon will be given to the delegates by the St. Paul's Society, both November 6 and 7, in the dining room of St. Paul's church, and arrangements are being made to secure several prominent and interesting speakers

Some Questions

Is it so hard to be fair
To each other that many despair
Of justice and honor and right
As they enter the tumult and fight?
Is it so hard to do right
And be honest and liberal and true,
That men give up trying to do?

Is the earnest desire for the truth
So meagre it fades in its youth?
That we live in a life of lies,
That we practice to hate and despise,
That we do each other such wrong
Instead of helping along
With sweetness and patience and light
The growth of the world toward right?

Is it so hard to forgive
And in living to also let live?
Is it so hard to be frank like men
With more of the give and take again
That makes life beautiful everywhere,
Or must we be burdened for aye
with care
Because it's so hard to be fair?

Theatre Parties In Vogue

Residents of Newark are expressing much interest in the Playhouse, the new theatre in Wilmington. It is reasonable to suppose that the new Playhouse will have many patrons from this locality. We have many here interested in the higher class of plays and with the opportunity so close at hand, the theatre party at the Playhouse will likely be a feature of this season's social activities. What is most needed is a reliable train service. At present, our trains leaving Newark are a little too early for attending the play. Our local agents should serve us well by securing this service.

Growth In Humanity

Man was proud before he was kind; he was chivalrous before he was decent; he was tattooed before he was washed; he was painted before he was clothed; he built temples before he built a home; he sacrificed to his gods before he helped his neighbor; he was heroic before he was self-denying; he was devout before he was charitable.

We are losing the savage virtues and vanities and growing in the grace of all humanities, and this process will doubtless go on, with many interruptions and set-backs, of course, till the kingdom of love is fairly established upon the earth!

—John Burroughs.

Do You Blame the Operator for Every Delay?

In a Telephone Central Office there are rushes just as in the business of a store, a bank or a restaurant.

Does any store clerk, sales girl, cashier in any store in town wait on you as quickly as do the operators of the Telephone Company?

The average time you wait for Central to say "Number please," is less than four seconds. Where else does one receive as uniformly good service?

Consider, too, how long, some times, you are in answering your telephone bell. You expect prompt answers. Do YOU answer promptly?

Theodore Panaretos has returned to Elkton after a nine months absence fighting for his country with the Greeks against the Turks and Bulgarians. With his brother, Manuel Panaretos, who conducts the Newark Kandy Kitchen in the Post building, he left some nine months ago and has seen active service. When he returned to Elkton last week he had with him a few interesting souvenirs of the wars. A revolver, taken from the equipment of a Bulgarian slain in battle, an efficient but rather old looking weapon, is marked with the name, presumably of the maker, Rossi, possibly of Italian make. A sheath knife and the sheath of pigskin, taken from the same outfit, double-edged and grooved at the sides, goes with it. A Turkish officer's cap, expensively made in the Turkish style of headgear, and a red fez from a soldier who died for the Mohammedan cause, show the style of headgear of men on that side of the battles.

A small Turkish flag, star and crescent of white on a red ground, made a decoration in a house in a captured city. A curiosity in this part of the world was a Turkish coffee grinder, mostly of brass. It is a tube a foot or so long, with a cap at one end and dividing near the middle. The crank is stored in the top and when used the crank is attached to a simple grinding device, the coffee poured in and ground and taken from the machine in the bottom half of the tube. It has the advantage, for army operations, of being compact and not easily put out of repair. The tube is about an inch and a half in diameter.

Another interesting object is an old Turkish muzzle-loading pistol, with arrangement for the use of percussion caps. A ramrod is carried with it, as with our old fashioned guns. The handle is beautifully mounted with silver work in the conventional oriental style for such decoration. This weapon was not used in the war but was seized along with other firearms in Salonica.

A number of photographs of army and navy operations and Greek newspapers giving illustrated accounts of events, complete the collection.

One article published shows the welcome to the Greek king on his return to Athens. Guns of all kinds, captured from the Bulgarians and from the Turks, festooned upon the monuments and buildings a most suggestive series of decorations. Long rows of cannon, also captured, filled the parks and principal streets.

The Greeks say that the man who assassinated their king was hired or incited to do so by the Bulgarians and they exacted extra penalties from that country when they had the opportunity. The rule on both sides in the second war was to kill all they could without mercy. The Greeks say that when they captured Bulgarians in large numbers they found in the pockets of the prisoners, jewels of all kinds, with pieces of ears still attached and some rings with fingers still in them. An eloquent silence as to the fate of such prisoners—prisoners who had raided the home people of the captors, covers the point very well, though it is probable that the Greeks did not kill prisoners as a general thing.

For years before the recent wars Mr. Panaretos says, the Turks had killed some six thousand people a year, in times of peace; murdering and plundering the Christian people, many of them Greeks, in Macedonia. Naturally when the day of settlement came the Turks received little mercy.

Four hundred thousand people perished in the two wars—bloodiest wars in history. The Bulgarians burned villages they passed and killed by wholesale. All of the contestants probably used their own judgement as to what to do when they had a chance to take vengeance for wrongs as ancient as buried cities.

Mr. Panaretos says that he has seen enough and that he will forever oppose war. He is glad to be back, to be able to make fine candies and mingle with peaceful people. He has acted a man's part in returning to defend his homeland and people but he has shared in such scenes as have made him a radical lover of peace and of peaceful industry.

DELAWARE WINS ON FRAZER FIELD

Team Braces Up After First Touchdown. Final Score 28 To 0

Local football enthusiasts were given a chance to display their cheering ability last Saturday when Delaware triumphed over the Temple College eleven, to the tune of 28 to 0.

Until toward the middle of the third period the Delaware team tried out new open-field plays, forward passes and inside kicks. While this was no doubt good practice it failed to run up a score, and Capt. Cann called for straight football.

The third period was nearly over when Temple tried a forward pass. Big Vic Handy intercepted the ball and carried it five yards toward Temple's goal. Jimmy Huston got away for fifteen yards. Handy came back for five more, and in the next play the ball was dropped. Handy recovering it on Temple's two-yard line. Huston put it up to Handy as to whether or not he would have the honor of making the first touchdown for Delaware on Frazer Field. The big fullback responded by planting the ball squarely between the goal posts. Taylor kicked the goal.

This starter proved the necessary spur and the team took on a vim and force which carried the ball, in the remaining quarter, three times over Temple's goal line. At the close of the game the ball was again on the visitor's five yard line and one minute more would in all probability have meant a fifth touchdown.

Temple brought an eleven that outweighed Delaware considerably man for man, but they lacked the training and team work necessary to win games. Rankin, the big fullback of Temple, is a veteran in the game, as he played halfback on Lafayette when Coach McAvoy was captain of the team several years ago. While he was not in the pink of condition he demonstrated that he has not forgotten the game. Bressler, the little left end, was another player who did good work for Temple, and cut Delaware out of several possible scores.

Captain Cann, Handy, Huston, and Taylor were the principal gainers for Delaware. Handy was a star from start to finish of the game. Captain Cann made a sensational forward pass which Handy caught for a gain of 35 yards. Huston, the peppery little quarterback, by spectacular runs carried the ball three times over the goal line. Dean, who replaced Captain Cann as halfback, who in turn replaced Derrickson as end, also carried the ball for substantial gains. Taylor kicked all goals.

Big Scrimmage On Thursdays

Members of the College Athletic Council, in meeting last week, commended the action of the faculty in suspending all classes at 3:45 on Thursday afternoons for the big scrimmage between the 'varsity and the scrubs. The following notice prepared by Coach McAvoy was approved:

"All students are hereby notified that in response to a petition from the physical director the faculty has agreed that all college exercises shall close at 3:45 o'clock on Thursday afternoons during the football season, except in cases where no special arrangements could be made for classes.

"This action means that the faculty wishes in every possible way to encourage outdoor sports, and it is hoped, and expected that every loyal student of Delaware College will be out on the field at 3:45 sharp, either to take part in football sport or by his presence and support to encourage those men who are working hard to win victories for the Blue and the Gold. The presence of the College Band will help to enliven the practice.

"We are at a critical point in our football schedule, several men of 'varsity calibre having recently withdrawn from the squad. If we expect to win games, we must have more men out for practice and the undivided support of all other students. Now is the time for the student body to show their willingness to help make a success of the first football season on the Joe Frazer Field."

Dine With Friends—Social Time In Banquet Hall

The ladies of the First Presbyterian church, Newark, are busily planning for the annual poultry supper to be given in the banquet hall, Newark Opera House on Thursday, November 13. An attractive assortment of hand-made gifts for Christmas will be for sale, as well as delicious cakes and pies, also of the home-made variety.

SCHOOL NOTES

Dr. W. O. Sypherd will give a lecture to the High School students on Friday afternoon, his subject being "What Should a High School Student Read?"

A number of lectures have been arranged for the school. These lectures have always afforded great pleasure as well as instruction to all who hear them.

Last Friday afternoon Dr. Chas. A. Wagner, the State Commissioner of Education, visited the High School. The first period had been set aside for declamation and after the completion of the program, Dr. Wagner gave a delightful talk on the value of such exercises in public schools. This was Dr. Wagner's first visit and we hope we may enjoy many more such visits.

Henry Mote, who was injured during basket ball practice last week, has returned to school after being absent for several days.

The newly organized orchestra, consisting of William Biddle, Arthur Chillas and Gilbert Chambers, violinists; Moore Whiteman, cornetist and Geneva Burnite, pianist, has been practicing for the coming meeting of the High School Literary Society.

SQUIBS

Speaking of Clubs, how about a Town and Gown Club?

"The Woman Thou Gavest Me" by Hall Caine has been barred from the New Century Club Library. Everybody is buying it now.

"Inside the Cup" by Winston Churchill is creating considerable discussion in church circles. Denominational papers are at variance concerning its teaching. The Trend of the Times can best be depicted by a book—"The Individual Drinking Cup."

Are you glad you are living in the Here and Now? Then—Smile.

If I were a member of the Board of Trade of Newark, I would sue the Post for the weekly publicity of my name as an officer of so defunct an institution.

Have you ever noticed the way the Management of the Wilmington Free Library creates the desire for reading? Every once in so often, there appears a chatty bulletin in the newspapers of the new books being added to the Library. This morning gives a word to the Boy Scouts telling of some interesting acquisitions of Scout Literature. The Boys are invited to step in and take a peep at them.

Advertising pays. You can even make better men, better towns by writing cleverly. Of course you must produce the goods. But for building up a big trade in manhood, you must first create the desire. A Library and a good Press Agent are needed.

Pencader Democrats Jubilant

The influence of the little things in History makes interesting reading. The fate of nations depending on the length of Cleopatra's nose, the nod of the head of a peasant boy to a general of Napoleon's army, the Spartan "If," the cackling of geese, the fog in battle at Germantown—all little things of great importance in their sequence.

Now again—locally, Democrats are wild with enthusiasm—T. R. McMullin after months of search has purchased a home in Pencader instead of White Clay. Mr. McMullin sold his Chestnut Hill farm last spring. Since that time he has been trying to locate near Newark and at the same time in Pencader. The fates seemed against him—but now—he has purchased this week the double residence adjoining C. A. Bryan's store a few hundred yards from the Hundred line.

All Pencader Democracy is rejoicing—their leader remains. Mr. McMullin has again been made County Committeeman. He has been for years the recognized leader in the hundred.
