MALCOLM MILLER

Movie to Be Shown At University Hour

Picture to Be About The Ascent of Mt. St. Elias

The thrilling story of the Harvard Mountaineering Club's conquest of North America's greatest ice mountain — Mt. St. Elias in Alaska — will be told by the leader of the expedition, Malcolm Maynard Miller, in a University Hour lecture at Mitchell Hall on Thursday, April 15, at 11:10 a. m.

Mr. Miller will show a color motion picture of the daring ascent. Mt. St. Elias is venerated by Indians as the legendary home of their spirit God and they call it Yaktsetasha.

The pictures show Miller and his seven associates setting sail in the "Grace N" from Yakutat, dodging icebergs among the magnificent scenery up Icy Bay to the foot of the famed Tyndall Glacier. There they set up a series of camps, which was to take them up the towering peak in 34 adventure-packed days, much back-breaking toil, extremely hazardous mountain-climbing, blinding snow-storms, dangerous avalanches and below zero weather.

It was no accident that Mr. Miller was chosen by his associates from the Harvard Mountaineering Club to lead their Mount St. Elias Expedition during the summer of 1946. This twenty-five-year-old former president of their club had been interested in exploration, mountaineering and geology since his boyhood, which was spent in the mountain and forests of Washington State and British Columbia. By the time he was sixteen he had climbed every major peak in the Pacific Northwest.

During his summer vacations he had served as a summit guide at Mount Rainier and in the summer of 1940, he was a member of Bradford Washburn's Expedition, which made the first successful exploration of the Southern Fairweather Range in Alaska in 1940. He was also a member of the American Geological and Glacial Study Expedition to the Alaskan Panhandle in 1941. A year later he was asked to lead the Harvard Mountaineering Club's Selkirk Expedition, which tested U. S. Army food and equip-

Engineers Initiate 14 New Members

Induction Ceremony And Banquet in Old College

Fourteen University of Delaware undergraduate engineering students were inducted into Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity, on Tuesday March 30, in formal initiation ceremonies. Others present at the ceremonies included engineering faculty and alumni members of the society. Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the University, was a special guest.

Both the initiation ceremonies and an initiation banquet which followed were held in Old College. Speaker at the banquet was Mr. Tom C. Gary, administrative assistant of the Engineering Department of the du Pont Company.

Four seniors and ten juniors at the University made up the initiates into the fraternity. Eleven of those honored by election are Delawareans. They include Herbert S. Slack, a junior in electrical engineering, and William F. Lindell, Jr., a junior in electrical engineering, both from Newark; Marshall M. Carpenter, Jr., a junior in electrical engineering; Nathan Edelberg, a junior in electrical engineering; Stanley G. Lemon, a junior in electrical engineering; Fred W. Moore, a senior in mechanical engineering; George F. Moore, a junior in mechanical engineering, and Jacques J. Weinstock, a junior in chemical engineering, all from Wilmington; John F. Waples, a junior in electrical engineering, and Homer H. Stayton, a junior in chemical engineering, both from Milford, and James W. Williams, a junior in electrical engineering, from Laurel.

Other students include Paul C. Harrison, a senior in mechanical engineering, from Perryville, Md; David E. Parker, a senior in mechanical engineering, from Morristown, Indiana, and Harry Pollack, a senior in mechanical engineering, from New York, N. Y.

Election to Tau Beta Pi represents the highest honor open to engineering students, and is based upon both high scholarship and exemplary character. James B. Clements is president of the Delaware Alpha chapter of the national organization. Members of the advisory board of the group are Professors James I. Clower, Jack A. Gerster, and Ralph Jones, and Mr. William Staniar, consulting engineer, of Wilmington.

Arrangements for Law Club Started

Dr. Munroe has accepted the sponsorship of a newly organized Law Club on campus. Much progress has been made by a few of the pre-law students at recent meetings. All pre-law students are invited to attend the next meeting which will be held at 11 o'clock on the Thursday after vacation. Frederick Ashworth was elected temporary president and a temporary treasurer and secretary were elected. The objectives of this club will be discussed at the next meeting. The time and place of future meeting will be decided after an organization meeting.

S.G.A. Presents Statutes For Student-Faculty Nod

World Study Tours Announced for '48

Trips to Vary From 21 To 97 Days in Duration

"Sightseeing plus insight" is the keynote of the more than twenty studytours offered to college students and described in an illustrated booklet just issued by World Studytours, of the Columbia University Travel Service. World Studytours, a non-profit educational corporation, was the first agency to undertake student travel to Europe after the war. They arranged one studytour in the summer of 1946 and six last summer.

Studytours for 1948 vary in length from 21 days to 97 days, and in cost from $230 to $1,960. They include Eastern Europe, behind the alleged iron curtain, as well as Western Europe, South America, Hawaii, Australia, New Zealand, and points of interest in the United States. Several European trips for students are scheduled at costs of only about $600 from New York back to New York. The figure includes steamship, rail and bus fares, rooms, meals, guides, admission fees, and the leadership of an educator especially skilled in combining the recreational aspects of travel with opportunities to meet people and to observe life abroad in ways which most tourists miss.

Studytours are designed not only to be less expensive than commercial tours, but to be more educative in the best sense of that word. They continue the tradition of the pre-war "Open Road," in cultivating trans-national friendships and giving insight into economic, social, political and cultural movements abroad.

Further information may be obtained by addressing World Studytours, Columbia University Travel Service, New York 27, New York.

On Wednesday, April 14 a student referendum will be held for the purpose of approval or disapproval of the new Constitution of the Student Body, ratified Monday by the Student Government Association.

The referendum will be held in Mitchell Hall, with polls open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., with all students of the University eligible to vote.

A copy of the new constitution is found on page 4 of this week's REVIEW, for the consideration of the students.

The new constitution has been written since the old government standard has been found by the Student Government Association of the past two years to be inadequate for the government of a student body of the size which is at present existent. Last fall, a committee headed by Bill Conrad, who is Chairman of Men's Affairs of the S.G.A., was appointed by President Bill Nash to make a study of the constitution. Among the members of the committee were Betty Loose, Len Dougherty, Bob Cofer, Dick Joyeusaz, Nancy Jernee, and Bruce Warren.

The appointed committee patterned the new constitution on the lines of those of five other colleges, which were contacted by Conrad, and after the needs of this college, as determined by the members of the present Student Government Association, who have had opportunity to work with the problems during the past year.

The procedure for the adoption of the proposed constitution involves the passage of the constitution by a referendum of the student body, and approval by the Faculty Committee on Student Organizations, after the Student Government Association had passed it.

The Student Government Association is this year composed of a broad section of the student body, and the committee appointed to prepare the constitution covers as wide a range of interests. The body has discussed each bit of the proposed constitution at length, and honestly believe that the best plan possible has been presented to you. The S.G.A., through spokesman Bill Nash, "recommends this constitution without qualification to both students and faculty, for their approval."

It is the hope of the Student Government Association that every student will read and carefully consider the proposed constitution, and will vote in the referendum on April 14. It is vital to the S.G.A. that a sufficient number of students vote in the election to warrant the installation or rejection, whichever it might be, of the new constitution before the spring elections, which are scheduled to take place the last week in April. Nominations for the elections must be made during the week of April 12, so that ample time for publication, as provided in the new constitution, will be available.

Editorial Notes

The Constitution of the Student Government Association which appears on page 4 of this week's REVIEW should merit your most serious consideration. This constitution is the culmination of almost a year's work on the part of a committee appointed by your Student Government Association and charged with the formulation of a new constitution for that organization.

The old constitution was very incomplete and could not meet the needs of the enlarged student body and increased student activities. This tentative plan is submitted to you, both student and faculty, for your consideration and approval.

You will notice that the constitution calls for an increase in the size of the actual governing body, which now contains only nine members, charged with the government of the 2200 students now on the campus. We believe that this is an excellent change, and feel sure that you will concur.

Bill Conrad, Chairman of Men's Affairs of the S.G.A., was also chairman of the constitution committee, and we believe that he and his entire committee deserve a lot of credit for the foresight shown in the drafting of the new constitution, and we feel sure that it will merit your unqualified approval.

To put this constitution into effect before the spring elections is the prime aim of the Student Government Association, and so the S.G.A. has arranged for the student referendum as to approval or disapproval for Monday, April 12.

So look over the draft of the constitution, and don't forget to cast your ballot on April 12.

We believe that the University made another step in the right direction when a committee for the coordination of all of the religious groups on the campus was set up several weeks ago. This committee will serve to gain increased cooperation between the various religious organizations, and should foster greater strength in the individual groups by means of greater unification and organized strength.

Mr. Herbert H. Finch, of the History Department, is the temporary chairman of the committee, and members of each of the various religious groups on the campus hold committee positions.

Religious life is an integral part of college life, and it has long been neglected by the University, and we feel that this step should do much toward the building up of strong religious clubs at Delaware.

On Monday, April 12, an election will be held to determine the Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager of the REVIEW for the coming year. The new editor will take over the reins that same week, so this is the last issue of the newspaper under the control of the present staff.

We would like to thank all the members of the staff who have been so faithful through what has proven a very difficult year. The REVIEW has tried, often too feebly, to expand its pages to cover the news of all 2200 members of the student body and to bring to you a newspaper which contains news of interest to each and every student on this campus. We have only scratched the surface of the job which the REVIEW must do at Delaware.

Therefore we will to our successors nothing but a job to do—to succeed where we have failed. It must be the job and purpose of the REVIEW to bring out the tremendous potentialities of the student body at Delaware, and arouse their interest in campus affairs, student activities, and enable them to get the most out of their college life.

The cooperation which we have received from the faculty of the University has been without reproach. This paper has, despite its obvious faults, been free from the pressure of any group, and never has that freedom been challenged by the administration. From President Carlson down, there has been nothing but help and cooperation for the REVIEW. For this we are most grateful.

We hope and feel sure that the new staff will receive the same gracious and unstinted cooperation from the entire family of the University of Delaware, and we wish them the highest degree of success in their task.

Well, chillun, it's a great life. After reading the Sunday papers, or even the daily ones, we begin to get that trapped feeling we last knew in ASTP. You're probably getting it yourself—the pressure is on for you to knock yourself out getting an education and yet you can't help wondering whether it'll ever do any good; whether you'll ever get a chance to do anything besides carrying a rifle or a stretcher. We're pretty well convinced that a few more "incidents" may have us donning our OD's again—for practice or for the "big game." AST was a little different; we knew that whatever we learned would never be used by the Army; that we might leave at any time; and yet we were still expected to be interested. Let's look at this from three angles—no fight, light and win, fight and lose.

If there's no fight, the answer is obvious. Give up trying now and if you ever get a chance for an education again you'll be so far behind your age group that you'll be seriously handicapped and you'll need real ability to succeed. Even if you're inducted for training, you'll want to continue your education—and the more you complete now the greater your chance to reenter school and the shorter the time between your return to school and your beginning life as a college grad.

If we fight and win, you're in much the same position as the man inducted for training. Get your education finished now or as nearly finished as possible, and you'll be able to beat the rush for jobs after it's over—and there may not be too many; our resources will be nearly exhausted if we have another war. And the training in how to think will help you and your country in the Army as well as out of it.

If we fight and lose—and this is a point to consider seriously, because we'll have no buffer to give us time to prepare—your training now may be the only training you'll ever receive. A conqueror doesn't teach his victims enough to overthrow his rule. Technical education in particular will be necessary for reconstruction—so education now becomes a patriotic duty as much as a means of personal advancement.

We hope you'll consider these points and be convinced—as we were—that you owe it to yourself to continue to make every effort to learn. Maybe you're not even disturbed now, but keep this in the back of your mind, just in case. And if you're not yet convinced, we feel strongly enough about this to play chaplain if you want to be convinced.

We hope this demonstration of intelligent (?) thought will convince people that we're on a slightly higher plane than Earl Wilson, the man who discovered the Bosom. Maybe it's just because we don't have his opportunities, though—nobody ever invited us to tour a false factory, and we haven't had as much opportunity for studying the Form Divine. Or maybe it's because we don't want people thinking that Delaware conducts all its research in beer and babes—some of the faculty have other interests.

We're not too well up on what went on this week—we're still recovering from the shock of seeing "Dan'l Boone" Skura without his foliage. Guess he found that diamond-blade razor. We do know that Ed Clark managed to escape with life and limb after his car blew up—and he has two beautiful ashtrays made from the scraps. Rumor has it that Al Thawley is making a fortune out of his plan for retiring on one dollar (just put it under your pillow at night).

Nope - T'aint ours:

When Gussie was a little boy
He had a thirst for knowledge
When Gussie grew a little more
He quenched his thirst in college
But sad to say the thirst he quenched
When he arrived at college
Was not the thirst he had at first
When starting after knowledge.

People say that it's difficult to write. They find it hard to sit down and rattle off a few phrases. Every word is an effort, every clause an obstacle. Now that's strange when you consider the prodigious volume of sesquipedalian verbiage that emanates from the more verbose, but it's just those who pale at the thought of a complex sentence—in print.

We admit that there are times when the pen falls us and we have to guide the point, but there's a remedy even then—plagiarize. (If you're not taking a physics course).

An example of the way in which to hurdle this "I-don't-know-what-to-write (das Ichweissnichtwaszuschreibenheif) business is this:

We were up against it. We didn't have an article, and the deadline was coming closer by the hour. All week we had been hoping for an inspiration, but nothing had happened. We had pored over the obituary columns, the chemistry handbook, and Dwight's Tables of Integrals in the search of a likely subject. We even ran an analysis on the Soup at the State Restaurant, and then found that we couldn't print the results. Finally, in desperation, we called Drew Pearson and Walter Winchell into a joint conference; but, sad to say, they advised us to give up the whole thing and go back to the farm.

Disgusted, dejected, and at odds with the world, including Hialeah, we sat in our drafty garret and stared at our typewriter. We stared, and stared, and then, at last, with our fingers tensely clutching the keys, and with beads of perspiration standing out on our forehead, we typed out four vibrating words: "The Hell With It."

with that we dashed to the window, flung it open, and jumped out into the black night. It will suffice to say that that was a rash move.

As we climbed down from the persimmon tree we had an inspiration. We knew what we would write—we knew. We raced around to the front door, stuck a nickel in the turnstile, and rushed back up to our drafty garret. Sticking a fresh piece of Scott's foolscap into the typewriter we pounded out an article and this—is it.

NOTICE!

There will be an important meeting the week after vacation of all seniors expecting to graduate in June. Students MUST be prepared at this time to place their final orders for invitations and announcements. Samples will be on display.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We would like to restate the policy of the REVIEW with regard to the printing of letters to the Editor. We are very glad to print letters which will prove factual on investigation by the REVIEW staff, and which contain the name or names of the sender. The name or names may be withheld on request of the sender, but must be in the hands of the Editor of the REVIEW. This prevents any individual who might not be representative of a group from signing the name of the entire group.

Body Found in The Review Office Mon.

We regret to announce that when the REVIEW office was opened Monday night a body was found huddled in the far corner. Upon careful examination by those hardy souls brave enough to go near, the following facts were established: the body was that of a female, dressed in a gray fur coat. She had brown eyes, and gray hair, and, unexpectably, was barefoot. The cause of death was at first undetermined—no marks or abrasions were on her body at all, and a peaceful expression was on her face. The whole thing was most mystifying, but the local police were not called in due to the fact that the REVIEW's super sleuth, Mr. M. E. Prettyman, desired to track down the murderer himself. Mr. Prettyman's brain followed these logical steps: The body was dead, no longer living, so something must have caused said death—perhaps—foul play! Examining the corpse thoroughly, he decided that starvation was the cause of death. Then, setting all wheels clicking and buzzing, he turned up with the solution. We sat here, gnashing our teeth with anticipation, while he carefully unraveled this tangled skein of facts: the door to the basement of the library was locked at noon Saturday, so the corpse (not in that condition) entered before then. And, because of her small size and apparent weakness, she couldn't climb out the window. She starved to death. We're sad. It is with all reluctance that we announce the sudden and unexpected demise of Hortense, our most loyal reader, our pet mouse.

SPORTS

In the Henhouse

By SCOTTY MURDOCK

Betty Gam, familiar athlete from Wilmington, Del., has taken over the role of Archery Manager for the current season and with the assuming of the job has made known the opening of the Archery Tournament beginning April 12 and running to April 22nd. The tournament will be scored on an individual basis with the four highest participants eligible to journey to West Chester to represent the University of Delaware at a tournament on April 24th. There are many advantages to the tournament including, first of all, no eligibility rules, second, practice at any time during the day. There's no strain there. Another advantage for your convenience is the fact that instruction will be given to those wanting it on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 o'clock to 5 o'clock. Since Betty Gam is the counterpart of Robin Hood in the event, all questions pertaining to rules and regulations of the contest event, all questions pertaining to rules and regulations of the contest should be relayed to Betty.

If you can remember last year at this time the women were immersed in the National Telegraphic Meet with other prominent colleges during the archery season and it can be added came in quite high for the University in the competition.

A W. A. A. Mass Meeting will be held for all W. A. A. members, that means anybody that has come out for at least one sport during the season, on April 13th at 4:10 p. m. in the Women's Gym. The meeting will be short and for the purpose of discussing the point system and the picnic. The softball squad will be able to attend their practice due to the short length of the assembly.

Badminton Manager, Shirley Taylor, has announced that a new badminton schedule is posted on the bulletin board and should be followed for the entire tourney.

Gym Squad Elects Downing For 1948

Varsity "D's" were recently awarded to the following members of the gymnastic team for their unstinted support to the 1947-48 season of the team: Bob Downing, Captain; Joe Coady, Leon Hart, Julian Russo, and George Schaeen. It was noted that during the six weeks competitive period the team improved 100 per cent. The most improved member of the team was Leon Hart, who in the first meet scored 75 judges points (last place to first) out of a possible 300, and then in the last meet scored 212 judges points out of a possible 300 (mostly from tumbling).

Next year's team will again be captained by Bob Downing, who was recently re-elected by his teammates. The 1948-49 schedule just released, consists of only one sure addition to the schedule followed this year. The home events will consist of Navy on Jan. 15, and West Chester on Mar. 5. The away events will be at Temple, Army, and West Chester on Feb. 5, 12, 19 respectively. A tentative addition is the University of Maryland.

The team is continuing to work out during this Spring under the guidance of Capt. Bob Downing, while Coach Roy Rylander is assisting Coach Steers with the track team. It is reiterated that new members are always welcome to come and work out with the team. Previous experience is not necessary, as has been evidenced by the progress made by present members of the squad. Interest is the best qualification.

A recapitulation of the season just ended, which consisted of four meets and 10 exhibitions on and off campus, gives Delaware four defeats with a total of 114 points, while the opponents got an aggregate of 286 points. The scores for the meets were West Chester 71-25, Temple 75-21, Navy 74-22, and West Chester 66-46.

Essentials of Art Of Fencing Given

Almost any afternoon you can see a group of men in Taylor Gymnasium arranged in pairs and each facing the business end of a sword. This group of fencers was organized early last spring by Alfredo H. Berguido and Dr. T. A. Botts of the Mathematics Department. Under the latter's careful guidance, this group of men set about revivifying a sport that had not been seen on Delaware's campus since 1937.

Fencing is one of the oldest as well as one of the finest exercises known. In days gone by, the times of the street brawls, it was essential to life; today it is a graceful athletic sport.

The prime essentials of fencing are quickness of eye, speed of thought, and swiftness of physical action, all of which are taken into consideration when scoring a bout. The fencer must face his opponent with every nerve in his body alert, waiting for that opportune opening when he has but a fraction of a second in which to "run his opponent through." All the movements in a fencing bout must be lightning-like and of deadly accuracy.

Our organization specializes in all three weapons—foil, saber, and dueling sword. These weapons are all used differently: for example, the foil, a practice instrument, is used for perfecting one's accuracy, and a touch is valid only on the chest; while the saber, a cutting weapon is used for attacks to the body above the waist line; and the epee or dueling sword is employed for just what its name implies, a touch here is valid on any part of the body and therefore the fight must be performed with great caution. In all bouts, regardless of which instrument is employed, one faces his opponent with the idea that he is going to kill him or be killed in his attempt.

Fencing gives grace, poise, suppleness, and strength on the physical side and judgment, self control and initiative on the mental side.

Thus far this small group of men have had only two meets and were fortunate enough to fare well in both of them. On February 25 they fenced Haverford College and lost by a score of 14 to 4, but were graded superior on tactics, judgment and maneuverability. On March 12 the group fenced the Wilmington "Y" and won with a score of 9 to 5.

The fencing team has high hopes of building itself into a large more active organization and welcomes anyone interested. You need not be an expert to enjoy fencing, for it is an easy matter to learn the basic parries and attacks and the farther one goes there is unlimited opportunity to develop skill and finesse.

Letter Men Form New Varsity Club

At a meeting on March 18th, a committee of Delaware team captains held the first meeting of a varsity club. This meeting was mainly for the organization and the drawing up of a constitution. On the 23rd of March these men met to draw up a slate for club officers. In so doing this new group has made a big step towards forming a club for all junior and senior letter winners.

On April 20th an organizational meeting will be held in the Field House at 8:00 when the constitution will be read, discussed, and voted on. The slate for officers will also be voted on at that time. A name for the club will be submitted and chosen at this meeting. At the present time, the following names have been suggested, The Game Cocks, The Varsity Club, The Varsity "D" Club, The "D" Men, and The Sportsmen. The important matter of a club insignia will be discussed.

All Junior and Senior letter-winners are eligible for charter membership on April 20th, and are invited to attend. Sophomore letter-

Sigma Nu Winner Of I. M. Swim Meet

In an exciting meet that wasn't decided until the final event, the Sigma Nu Fraternity swimming team successfully defended their intra-mural title last Thursday in Taylor Pool with a total of 42 points. In addition they retained the handsome intra-fraternity trophy that was placed in competition last year, although this year's splash was much closer than the meet last year. Bob Cofer, captain of the varsity mermen, came within a hair of piloting his Kappa Alpha team to the championship, and a victory in the final relay would have given them at least a tie. Theta Chi finished third with nine points, Sigma Phi Epsilon closed with four, and Harter Hall, the only independent entry, finished fifth with one point.

Although coping only two of seven events, the Sigma Nu team placed men in every race, and it was on their second, third, and fourth place points that they finished in front. Their best showing was in the opening event, the 50 yard freestyle, where Cappy Bierman, Gary Carpenter and Dick Pretzman, gave them the three first places and ten points. Fred Lewis captured the 200 yard freestyle for K. A., and Bob Young, of the same team, followed up with a victory in the 100 yard breast stroke. Bub Mearns, a Sigma Nu entry, finished first in this race but was disqualified for an illegal kick. Bob Carter, another K. A., copped the diving, and Lewis came back to win the 100 yard dash to give Cofer's lads four of the seven firsts.

The outstanding performer of the evening from the speed angle, was Theta Chi's Dick Murray, who broke Harry Huxford's old 100 yard intra-mural backstroke record. Murray was timed in 1 minute and 16 seconds to lower the old mark of one minute 16.2 seconds last year.

The final event of the evening provided the biggest thrill of the affair, with the outcome of the meet hinging on the relay winner. The Sigma Nu team of Gary Carpenter, Gordy Bierman, Dick Pretzman and Cappy Bierman, won the event by a body length over the K. A. team in the fast time of 1:55.7. The event provided an exciting dual between Lewis and Cappy Bierman, the anchor men, with the latter turning on the heat in the final lap to tuck the meet away.

The meet, under the direction of Mr. Harry Rawstrom, varsity swimming coach, went off without a hitch, with Mr. Max Kurman overseeing things, acting as clerk of the course, and serving in his favorite role as Delaware's Harry Balogh.

The results:
50 Yard Freestyle: 1. C. Bierman, Sigma Nu; 2. Gary Carpenter, Sigma Nu; 3. Dick Pretzman, Sigma Nu; 4. Judd Stewart, Sigma Phi Epsilon. Time 26.1.
200 Yard Freestyle: 1. Fred Lewis, Kappa Alpha; 2. Gene Fieker, Kappa Alpha; 3. Jack Berl, S. N.; 4. Ed Clark, Harter Hall. Time 2:30.7.
100 Yard Breast Stroke: 1. Bob Young, K. A.; 2. Stirling DuBell, S. N.; 3. Gene Murphy, S. N.; 4. Henry Wadsworth, K. A. Time 1:23.3.
100 Yard Back Stroke: 1. Dick Murray, Theta Chi; 2. Bill Berl, S. N.; 3. Bob Young, K. A.; 4. Bill Tammany, S. N. Time: 1:16 (new intra-mural record).
Diving: 1. Bob Carter, K. A.; 2. C. Bierman, S. N.; 3. G. Bierman, S. N.; 4. Jack Berl, S. N. Score: 318.
100 Yard Freestyle: 1. Lewis, K. A.; 2. Dick Pretzman, S. N.; 3. Henry Patterson, S. N.; 4. Rod Warren, Sig Ep. Time: 1:06.
200 Yard Freestyle Relay: 1. Sigma Nu (Carpenter, G. Bierman, Pretzman, C. Bierman); 2. Kappa Alpha (Fieker, Wadsworth, Young, Lewis); 3. Theta Chi (McHenry, Jackson, Murray, Duncan); 4. Sig Ep (Stewart, Kaiser, Sparks, Holton). Time: 1:55.7.

FINAL SCORE:

SPORT SHOTS

DON REYNOLDS

The latest from our old friends up in Ailentown leads us to believe that the Muhlenberg football team (1949 edition) will be the same powerful squad that defeated the Hens by a 20-14 score in the closing minutes of that bitterly-fought contest up at the Liberty High School stadium, Bethlehem.

The Mules will lose only two members of last year's squad, one of whom is our old pal Bill Bell, who has finally left the dusty collegiate gridirons for some of that professional gold. Next year we will again see Crider, Sikorski, Strait, and Mackin operating in the Muhlenberg backfield. Reports indicate that Bell will not be missed at the quarter-back, for they have some new star to take over that all-important role. (We just hope that he hasn't played over five years of college ball.) Muhlenberg is supposed to have such a strong squad, that their school paper is all for quitting the Middle Atlantic Conference and looking for higher stakes. Good luck against Notre Dame and Michigan, boys.

Meanwhile, down here in the more peaceful atmosphere of Frazer Field, Coach Bill Murray has been trying to whip his squad into shape for their forthcoming scrimmage with Villanova, which will be held up at the Mainliners' field this Saturday. Two years ago, Delaware scrimmaged the Wildcats and held up their end in good fashion, and last year the boys went down to Annapolis, where they gave Navy plenty of trouble, so we're hoping that our Hens keep up the good work Saturday, even though they will be trying many of their new plays for the first time against real competition.

Next Monday the baseball squad will start its annual journey into the unfriendly South, where they will have to meet teams with several games under their belt, who will no doubt be in much better shape than our Hens who have had to endure all the horrors of Delaware spring weather. The team will suffer from the fact that Gerald Dougherty, Bob Brodey, and Luke Selby will not be going on the trip. Bill Cole is another doubtful starter, because of a split finger which he suffered in a recent football practice. Here's wishing the boys a lot of luck, and let's hope that our undermanned pitching stay won't pick up too many sore arms from overwork. We'll probably have several candidates for the Sporting News Linament A.C.

Randolph-Macon will be the first stop on the Hen's journey, and provides an excellent example of the kind of competition which the Newark squad will encounter. Coach Sanford has most of his men returning from last year's squad, which walked off with the Virginia State baseball championship. This experienced squad has several All-State players, including third baseman Austion Carneal and outfielder Bob Golubic. Their pitching staff is headed by a lanky south-paw named Syd Thrift, whose fast ball will probably give the Hens plenty of trouble if Sanford should decide to start him next Monday. The Yellow Jackets started their season two weeks ago and will be in pretty good shape for the Hens.

We'd like to offer our congrats to the new captains of Delaware's various winter sports, who are Bill Nash and Bill Cole, basketball Jack Smith and Frank Craig, swimming; Red Tawes, wrestling; and Bob Downing, gymnastics.

Cole and Nash need no introduction. These two Wilmington athletes have been leading figures in the Delaware sportlight for some time, and this new honor was certainly well earned. Smith and Craig have been doing a fine job with Coach Harry Rawstrom's swimming team. You can bet these two boys will be out to help build a winning team next year. Tawes has been a varsity wrestler for two seasons now, and his hard work is deserving of such an honor. Downing, of course, has turned into one of the most outstanding captains in any sport, for his job lasts during the entire school year, and one can find this likable Jerseyite over in the gym working like mad almost any afternoon.

We would like to take this opportunity to bid welcome to the newly-formed Varsity Club of the University of Delaware. This is an organization which is badly needed here at Delaware. We hope that they will be able to do a big job towards promoting athletic interest here on the campus. Together with the Gold Keys, the Varsity Club will be a big step towards getting Delaware on the sports map.

Girls' Pool Scene Of Junior Victory

The opening session of the intra-mural swimming meet at the Women's gymnasium pool featured the best performers from the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes on Tuesday, March 23. Amid the cries of the excited spectators, among them the captains of the men's Varsity and Freshman teams, Bob Cofer and Fred Lewis, the Junior Class took the lead in the scheduled events with 51 points. Following was the Freshman Class with 28 points, and taking last place were the Sophomores with 17 points. The second part of the tank meet was held on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The results were not known at this writing. Jane Reed, manager of swimming, is credited with the organization of the entire meet, which has been and will continue to be held on Thursday afternoons.

Hughes Reviews

Last Thursday evening at 8:15, the Mitchell Hall curtain went up on the E-52 Players' sixteenth play-bill program.

The first offering of the evening was "The House with the Column," by Luigi Pirandello, one of Italy's foremost playwrights. Dealing with the attempts of an aged mother to contact her two sons who have left their home village, the play itself was a highly dramatic one, both timeless and timely in its implication.

In the leading role of Maragrazia, the old mother, was Sybil Levenson, who gave her usual beautiful performance. Although the part lacked the intensity present in that of the mother in "Riders to the Sea," Miss Levenson's last play-bill role, her interpretation was delicate and effective. She put across well the aspect of extreme sorrow and great hope so necessary to the part.

Steven Schafer as the doctor who saves Maragrazia's faith in her sons was quiet and kindly sympathetic. He gave a feeling of power and understanding, in excellent contrast to the other characters of the play.

Also outstanding was Margaret Guenveur as Ninfarosa. There was an electric quality in her performance, due mainly to her unusual stage presence. She put a great deal more into her performance than just her voice and body; a driving personality was also present.

The second play, "Hyacinth Halvey," presented by a class in acting and directing, was the weakest of the three. The main flaw in the performance was due to an eager prompter, who decided, it seems, that the old rule that the backstage crew is unheard from, should be discarded. At every pause in dialogue, whether for effect or not, a piercing female voice shrieked forth the next line.

The cast, however, was quite good. Especially notable was Robert Niemeyer, in the title role. A truly fine comedian, Niemeyer made the most of every situation. His performance, despite the punctuation from the wings, was smooth and fluid, altogether most enjoyable.

Also in the cast were Howard Hitchens, enjoying himself thoroughly as James Quirke; Mae Jane Singer, fluttering gaily through the role of Miss Joyce; Carolyn Bullis, as Mrs. Delane; Jack Fosset, Fardy Farrell; and Robert Howell, Sergeant Carden.

The last presentation, Susan Glaspell's "Suppressed Desires," marked the debut of Alpha Psi Omega of Muhlenberg College on the Mitchell Hall stage. A one-act play classic, this satire on psychoanalysis provided the high spot of the evening. The cast seemed almost perfect in both interpretation and mechanics, the timing and delivery being especially fine.

"Suppressed Desires" was an exchange production, the E-52 Players having given "Hello Out There" on March 13. The exchange production idea is most certainly an excellent one. If this Muhlenberg production offers any forecast of future exchange plays, the Mitchell Hall audience has a great deal to look forward to.

Deadline for Dean Edw. Smith Prize

Students Reminded April Fifteenth Is Last Date

Students planning to enter plays in the Playwriting Contest for the Dean Edward Laurence Smith Memorial Prize of $50 are reminded that the deadline for the submission of manuscripts is April 15, according to an announcement by Dr. C. R. Kase of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech.

A special feature of this contest is that, unlike similar playwriting prizes offered at many colleges, this one is confined to students at the University of Delaware. This limitation provides a greater opportunity for the individual student submitting a play and therefore stimulates the submission of more plays.

Attention is invited to certain regulations concerning the plays submitted. Students may submit one or more plays. Each must not exceed one hour in playing and must be entirely original. Manuscripts should be submitted in triplicate.

A condition of the contest is that any of the plays submitted may be produced at the University, and the Players are hoping that production of many will be possible.

Only one prize will be awarded, and that will go to the play which is considered best in the opinion of the judges.

Each student submitting a play is urged to get a copy of the regulations governing the contest before preparing his manuscript.

JEAN CAMERON — Carny was born in Kentucky, but came to Delaware at the tender age of two. She attended high school in Dover where she was treasurer of the student council.

She likes animals, especially dogs and horses. She is also very active in sports here at Delaware. This year she is vice president of the W. A. A. and last year she was in charge of the financial end of the organization.

Her future is a toss-up between doing Public Health work or teaching Physical Education. After graduation (she's a Junior now) Carny wants to take graduate work before embarking on her career.

ANN WISE — Ann originally came from Michigan, but she had her high school training in Conrad high in Wilmington.

Not to be different from other girls on campus, Ann is a great knitting and bridge fiend. Besides these activities, she has been co-captain of the cheering squad and was chairman of the properties committee for May Day last year. She also admits that she really likes classical music.

As to her future, Ann says that she wants to teach Math or English in a Wilmington school. But she also plans to follow that diamond ring on her third finger, left hand, with another band.

BILLY COLE — a Wilmingtonian by birth—is one of the most active men on campus. His athletic career began at Warner Jr. high school, where he was a member of the football, and swimming teams. At P. S. DuPont, Cole was an important cog on the football, basketball, and baseball squads. After graduation in June of '42, Billy came to Newark, continuing to exhibit his athletic prowess in all three sports before entering the service.

As a soldier Cole won the silver wings of an AAF pilot. From Pre-flight School he graduated first in a class of several hundred. Discharged as a second lieutenant in October '45, Cole returned to the University in February, 1946. Since returning to college, Bill has resumed his role of athlete, student, and campus leader. As well as being an outstanding football, basketball, and baseball player, he is at present treasurer of the Student Government Association. Bill will graduate in June, 1949 with a degree in Education-Science.

In addition to his multitudinous talents, Our Bill was seen the other night on campus entertaining seven of the campus belles. And what was he entertaining them with? The Secret Life of Walter Mitty of course . . . Hey, Bill—Ta-pocketa, pocketa . . .

ROBERT H. POPY—a Keystone by birth, was born in Yeadon in 1921. Upon completion of his high school education there, Bob entered the University of Delaware in September 1939. After finishing two and a half years of college, Popy left school for the Army. He served in a combat infantry battalion of the 9th Armored Division, the first unit to cross the Rhine. For his combat service he was awarded the Combat Infantry Badge and the Bronze Star. He was discharged with the grade of sergeant in October, 1945.

Bob returned to Delaware in January 1946 and received the B. S. Degree in Business Administration last September. He is now a graduate student in economics.

Popy will be well remembered at Delaware for his educated toe. He is one of the finest extra-point kickers ever to don a Blue Hen uniform. In addition to four years of football Bob played basketball in his freshman year on the '39-'40 team. He has been very active in extracurricular activities on campus, serving this year as Cadet Battalion Commander of the Delaware ROTC unit and as freshman football line coach. All of his activities have not narrowed his scholastic record, however, for Bob has been on the Dean's List for the last five consecutive semesters. Popy, who will receive his ORC commission this summer, now lives with his family just outside of Newark.

Bill Owen Elected As Theta Chi Head

Mettenet, Aldridge, And Lanza Also Win In Vote

The Theta Chi fraternity at the University of Delaware held their annual election last Monday night, and William R. Owen, a sophomore from Freeport, New York, was elected to the presidency.

Owen was a member of the varsity basketball team during the past winter, and has been very active in intramural athletics at Delaware. He is a Business Administration major and is a married veteran of three years service with the U. S. Coast Guard.

Other officers chosen by the Alpha Xi Chapter of the fraternity were vice-president, Ernest Mettenet, a member of the varsity football team, and a civil engineer from Conrad high school, in Wilmington; secretary, Harold Aldridge, from Pennington, New Jersey; treasurer, Frank Lanza, from Jersey City, New Jersey; and pledge marshal Jack Hitchens, from Georgetown, Delaware.

Dick Joyeusaz, present chapter president, will relinquish his chair at the installation ceremonies on Monday, April 12.

ASCE Inspects Bethlehem Steel

Tour of Maryland Plant Made by Student Chapter

On Thursday, March 25 the Student Chapter of the A. S. C. E. made an inspection tour of the Bethlehem Steel Company plant at Sparrows Point, Maryland.

The all-day tour began with observation of shipping at the docks where ore is brought in from Chile and Venezuela on Bethlehem's own fleet of ships. The guides pointed out a particular problem in civil engineering that the company is now facing—that of one of the dock's shifting outward due to increased pressure of the blast furnaces and slag storage.

The group then saw a blast furnace being tapped, the metal flowing at about 2,900 degrees. From there the process was followed to the open hearth where the furnaces were being charged, then to the slabber where red hot ingots are shaped between horizontal and vertical rolls into twenty foot slabs.

The party next viewed the slabs being run through the plate mill and the new 25 million dollar strip mill. In the latter a slab of steel twenty feet long and six inches deep is rolled into a thin strip 1,000 feet long by a series of horizontal rolls, and finally is sent speeding along the table of rolls to a mechanism where it is rolled into a coil about five feet in diameter. The entire procedure is completed without the touch of a human hand.

In following one of the succeeding processes of the strip mill product the group toured the cold-rolling mill where the steel was rolled again, shaped, tin-plated and cut for shipment.

The trip was made possible through the office of Mr. C. E. Clarke, General Manager of the plant. Accompanying the members of the Chapter were Professor Thomas D. Mylrea, Faculty Adviser; Professor Thomas D. Smith and Mr. Charles D. Taylor of the Civil Engineering Department.

STA'B'D TACK

We opened our racing (?) season on last Sunday. Coach Rawstrom, we are coming back for a few lessons in speed swimming. With them we could have cleaned up down at George Washington, instead of just floundering around when the boats capsized.

As it was, Princeton and G. W., familiar with the danger signs after being spilled into the waters of the Potomac on Saturday, dominated the race. G. W. was first with 106 points, Princeton second with 100, Hobart 74, and Delaware 62.

All of our crew, Bill Osborne, Les Riggs, Aubrey Smoot, Bernie Deitch, Edie Branin, and Jim Holden, got cooled off in one race or another. However, there were no serious accidents as there were on Saturday when one boat was stove in. After that Princeton and G. W. called it off until Sunday, so the scheduled triangular meet between G. W., Hobart, and Delaware became a combined triangular and dual race. G. W.'s Commodore Eric Nordholm was high skipper, being responsible for 57 of his school's 106 points.

If, after vacation, you see a number of people walking around with strangely colored hair and red faces, don't be alarmed. It will just be some of the sailors who have been cleaning up their boats and getting paint in their hair. The red faces—well, they come from the hours spent snoozing in the sun while the paint dries. Some way this is a racket. Later in the summer, for instance, dozing in a cool clubhouse while the sun is scorching down on the hot sand! What more can you ask? I better shut up, getting myself out of the mood for working.

Brass Sextet Will Play Tower Music

Evening Concert to Be Given in Mitchell Hall

Having just returned from a highly successful tour, the A Cappella Choir and Brass Sextet will present an evening concert in Mitchell Hall, April 15th. Under the direction of Mr. Anthony J. Loudia and Mr. John R. King, the two groups will present many of the selections played on the down-state tour.

The Choir will sing two groups of compositions. The first will consist in part of "I Wrestle and Pray" and a motet of the well-known chorale, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," by Bach, and "Autumn," by Gretchaninoff. The second group of choir selections will include lighter music, exemplified by the spirituals "Set Down Servant" and "I Can Tell the World."

The Brass Sextet will also play two groups of compositions. The first group will consist of the first two movements from the "Sextet, in E Flat Minor," by Oscar Bohme. Later in the evening the sextet will play selections from the "tower music" of the seventeenth century, so-called because it was played daily in the streets or from the towers of the city walls by small groups of musicians.
