NEWARK POST

VOLUME III — NEWARK, DELAWARE, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 1912 — NUMBER 10

THE ANNUAL MOVING DAY

The week ending March 25 has been a busy one in this locality. Moving wagons have been in evidence everywhere, carrying people and their belongings to new homes. A number of the changes are merely from one part of the town to another, rather than to a new location entirely.

Among the changes within the town limits are:

Leslie Snyder from Cleveland avenue to Choate street; Samuel Fulton from Chapel street to Delaware avenue; C. C. Hubert from Prospect avenue to Delaware avenue; P. J. Cella from property adjoining the Deer Park to the H. M. Campbell estate store room vacated by Ed Herbner; Ed Herbner to the Manse Tweed property, adjoining H. B. Wright store; James Mote from Choate street to lately purchased property on South Chapel; H. L. Bonham from South Chapel to his lately completed home on Depot Road; Prof. Harold Tiffany to new home on Depot Road; J. J. Taubenhaus from Delaware avenue to "The Fields," West Main street; D. R. Thompson from the Maxwell property, Main street, to D. C. Rose property, North Chapel; Mrs. Maggie Reese from South Chapel to the Cloud property on Main street; Clarence Evans from Choate street to Mrs. J. P. Wilson's property, East Main street; C. H. Miller and James T. Fulton from E. L. Richards property, Delaware avenue, to Mrs. Reitz property on same street; S.A. Carr, Chapel street to Delaware avenue; William Biddle from Delaware avenue to William Wollaston property, East Main street; Mrs. Martha E. Young from Mrs. J. P. Wilson property to William Wollaston property; Harvey Rutledge, Chester, Pa., and Harry Cleaver from Sharon Hill, to Howard Ferguson property, East Main street; Egbert Shellender to Chapel street.

Among those leaving town are: Peter Richards, who will make his future home in Mount Holly, N. J.; V. Deever, moving to Nottingham, Pa.; William Massey to West Grove, Pa.

ATHLETICS AT HIGH SCHOOL

The candidates for the High School baseball team were put through a strenuous practice last Friday afternoon with each man in his regular position, and Captain Crompton is very much pleased with the work of the boys. After a good lot of fielding and batting practice, the boys were lined up against the Grammar School aggregation, with Green and Holton as battery for the High School. In the four innings that Green pitched, thirteen men faced him, eleven of whom fanned the wind, two received passes, and one of them was caught napping off first. Heinel, who relieved Green in the fifth, pitched good ball but was a little wild. Ferguson shows good form on first, Crow looks good for second, Crompton will occupy his old position at short, and Biddle will probably be placed on the three quarter sack. The outfield will be composed of Mote, Homewood, Heinel and Levett. Holton shows some of last year's form behind the bat and will undoubtedly occupy his old position. The boys are all pleased with this year's team and are confident that they will take the game with Oxford, which will be played this Saturday on Oxford's grounds.

DR. COOK HONORED

The friends of Dr. M. T. Cook, lately of the Delaware College Experiment Station staff, now of the New Jersey State Experiment Station, are pleased to hear of recent honors conferred upon him by the State to which he has moved so recently.

Dr. Cook has been appointed by Governor Woodrow Wilson the one State delegate to the Pennsylvania Conference on chestnut blight. He has been appointed by the mentioned conference a member of the Board of Expert Reviewers on testing methods of combating the chestnut blight.

He has also been elected delegate from the American Society of Plant Pathology to the Centenary Celebration of the Philadelphia Natural Historical Society.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

The college farm has just sold a fine Hackney colt to Mr. Wesley McAllister of Elkton, Md. This makes seven head of horses that have been sold from the farm since last November. With the exception of two, all have been raised upon the farm.

The State Board of Agriculture and the LiveStock Sanitary Board met in the Experiment Station Library, in consultation with Prof. Hayward and Dr. Reed, on Firday of last week. Many important matters were considered. Mr. McClurg, the manager of the New York Land Show, was present at the meeting of the State Board of Agriculture in the afternoon.

Dr. Reed was called to Middletown in consultation with Doctors McDowell and Kuhns, on Saturday.

Professor and Mrs. Hayward were week end visitors at the home of Mrs. Josiah Marvel, at Atlantic City.

Work on the new cattle shed at the college farm will be begun at once. Mr. George Griffin will have the work in charge. This shed is to be 100 feet long 30 feet wide, and be placed 100 feet south of the present dairy barn.

NEW CENTURY CLUB

The Club met in the clubroom last Monday at the usual hour, with twenty-four present.

The incoming president, whoever she may be, was elected delegate to the meeting of the federation, to be held at Middletown, in May. Mrs. Bonham was elected second delegate and Miss Springer and Miss Maxwell were elected alternates.

The Club, by a unanimous vote, decided to make arrangements for a free reading room, to be open every evening.

Miss Maxwell read an interesting paper on "Lower California."

Next week, April first, the Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Blake, at the usual hour, three o'clock, to hear Miss Mary Brevard Roberts of Philadelphia, give a reading. Mrs. Blake hopes that every member can be present.

WELL KNOWN TO NEWARK

The following paragraph is clipped from the Reformatory Record, a weekly of Huntington, Pa., of the issue of March 16, 1912. It refers to Dr. L. D. Smith, son of the late W. H. Smith, for many years one of "the boys of Newark" and a graduate of Delaware College, class 1899:

Lawrence D. Smith, M. D., physician at the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory, has tendered his resignation, to take effect April 1, 1912. Dr. Smith's term of service here dates back to April 1, 1908, when he succeeded Dr. Howard C. Frontz, who resigned to take up the practice of his profession in Huntingdon. He is a graduate of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, and is a skilled practitioner, having had a wide experience before coming to the Reformatory, and he has been signally successful in his work here, exercising special care in the treatment of all cases, recommending from time to time plans for maintaining the best sanitary conditions in and about the institution, supervising the physical training of the inmates, studying the dietary to be prescribed for them and thus keeping them in a healthy condition. He has been untiring in his efforts to promote the general welfare and improvement of the inmates, is a true gentleman, and in his quiet, unostentatious manner has won the confidence and friendship of the officers of the institution and a large number of Huntingdon people, all of whom regret his departure. He will locate in Pitcairn, a thriving town in Western Pennsylvania, where he will open an office for general practice. Dr. Smith's many friends in this locality extend all good wishes for continued success.

DR. BALL IN TOWN

Dr. L. Heisler Ball, Chairman of New Castle County Republican Committee was a Newark visitor to-day.

WEDDED THIS AFTERNOON

C. A. McCue, professor of horticulture at Delaware College and Miss Essie B. Willis of Newark, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Willis, West Main street, this afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Rowan. The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Davis and Mr. Norman Willis officiated as best man. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Louis Cann.

Prof. and Mrs. McCue left for a northern trip. Upon their return they will reside in the property lately vacated by Dr. Cook, on Delaware avenue.

BOUQUETS

A ROYAL GOOD TIME

The stag reception in honor of the Right Reverend Bishop Kinsman, by the vestrymen of the St. Thomas' Church, was a most pleasing affair.

The young men present were much pleased with the compliment paid them, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

The perfect freedom, the lack of stilted formality and tastily arranged tables all tended toward good, wholesome fellowship.

The bishop and Dr. Phelps, and those assisting, made all feel right welcome. It was just fine to see how pleased everybody was. A royal good time—and in a strong, healthy atmosphere. It was indeed a happy thought. Here's thank you to the author.

COLLEGE BAND

A stranger stopped in front of the Post and stood watching the College Band playing. "What is that institution and the band?" On being told, he replied: "Your town is to be congratulated!"

And so, Delaware, our hats off to you—the best band yet!

Your concerts on the college steps are bringing lots of good words from town folk.

Commandant, band and cadet corps—accept our thanks and congratulations.

REPUBLICAN MEETING AT GLASGOW

W. H. Evans, chairman of Republican Committee of Pencader hundred, has issued a letter for a meeting of all Republican voters of the district on Thursday, March 28, at 8 p. m., at Glasgow, W. C. Brook's store.

The selecting of delegates to the State convention, April 16, naming the hundred committee for the ensuing year and other questions relative to the primaries held April 13, will be discussed. A full attendance is desired.

DESERVES SUCCESS

Not since the chamber concerts of the Philadelphia Orchestra, given in the college oratory several years ago, has Newark had the opportunity of hearing music of the kind to be given at the concert as planned by the senior class of Delaware, for the evening of April 24. The entertainers for the evening are members of the Mendelssohn Trio of Wilmington, whose reputations are established in that city.

COLLECTION OF PAINTINGS

The fund for the purchase of the Howard Pyle paintings, which must be raised by the first of April, if the collection of works by that artist are to be kept in Wilmington, is growing steadily. On Tuesday morning the total amount raised reached the sum of $17,795, and the committee feels assured of final success.

The paintings will be for the benefit of the people at large and it is desired that everyone who can afford to do so will have some part in purchasing them. Contributions to this fund, no matter how small, may be sent to the Wilmington Trust Company.

INTERESTING MEETING OF STANTON GRANGE

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

The regular meeting of Stanton Grange held last Monday evening, was an unusually interesting one. Following an animated discussion the following resolutions were finally adopted and a copy of the same forwarded to the Delaware representative in Congress:

Whereas, For 25 years the dairymen of this country have been contending against oleomargarine or imitation butter being passed on the dealer and consumer as genuine butter. We contend that it is due the consumers of the country as well as the producers that the color be made so distinct between the two that each will sell upon its merits—the price based upon its commercial value. We believe that 50 per cent. of the colored oleomargarine sold today is sold for pure butter and is so sold because there is more profit in oleomargarine than there is in pure butter. In view of the fact that the present tax of 10 cents per pound on colored oleomargarine is assumed by the consumer to be the cause of the high price of butter. We are willing to admit the reduction of all taxes to a nominal sum, provided a bill is passed prohibiting coloring oleomargarine in imitation of butter.

Therefore, be it resolved, That the members of Diamond State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, respectfully request our Representative in Congress to favor any bill that would make it impossible for oleomargarine to be imposed on either purchaser or consumer as pure butter, a product of the dairy, by not permitting oleomargarine to be manufactured in resemblance of butter in any shade of yellow.

PLEASANT REUNION

A very enjoyable reunion and shower party was given Monday, the 25th, at the home of Mrs. R. L. Armstrong, near Marshallton, the occasion being the return of Mrs. Armstrong to house keeping. Many useful and handsome presents were given. Among those present were: Mrs. R. L. Armstrong, Mrs. R. A. Springer, Mrs. Lewis Frandies, of Philadelphia, Mr. R. A. Justice, of Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rubencame, Mr. and Mrs. James Bracken and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. A. Springer, of Newark, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Springer, of Wilmington, Mrs. Trexton Boyce and daughter, of Stanton, Mrs. Maud Hawkins, Mrs. Fannie Whiteman, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Ball, and many others taking part in the celebration. Luncheon was served and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. The friends returned to their homes in the evening. Many best wishes were expressed for Mrs. Armstrong.

WORK PROGRESSING

Work on the duPont Boulevard, between Millsboro and Selbyville has been resumed this week. Three hundred men are working at the mentioned point and another large force will go to work near Georgetown soon.

H. S. Garrison, D. C., 1911, arrived in Georgetown Monday, to take charge of experimental stations that will be built every five miles along the road.

After the contracts are given to different contractors, work on the road will be rushed wherever an unobstructed right of way has been obtained.

Managers claim the road will be completed by next year. Contracts for construction of five-mile tracts will be given out next week.

DELAWARE SOCIETY OF NORFOLK

The Delaware Society, of Norfolk, Virginia, will hold the fifth annual banquet next Saturday evening at the Monticello Hotel, of that city. William H. Stayton, of New York City, formerly of Smyrna, will be the principal speaker. George W. Griffin, of Newark, will attend. His son, Byron Griffin, now a prominent contractor of the Southern city, is treasurer of the society.

BUILDING AND IMPROVEMENTS

T. B. Ferguson has begun work on a residence on East Main street, for Mrs. E. F. Burnite.

The Strickersville Athletic Association is building a hall near that village. The building will be of a size and design which will provide a place for basketball and other indoor sports during the winter time.

Repairs on the Mary Nowland property, Appleton, will be under way in the near future.

B. L. Dickey has building operations under way at Ruthby.

L. B. Jacobs is erecting a concrete garage on the property of S. J. Wright.

AN INTERESTING PLACE NEXT THURSDAY

If the usual custom is followed, Newark will be a live town on Thursday morning. The 5 and 10 cent store in the Opera House Building will open for business at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

There is a peculiar fascination about a 5 and 10 cent store that appeals and the opening of such a business is always fraught with interest. And Mr. Duncan, the proprietor, expects to measure up to the usual criterion.

As was reported a few weeks ago, the new store is one of a chain of stores operated by the J. M. Duncan Company. The store in the Opera House has been leased for a term of years and the new business will be launched tomorrow. Mr. Duncan is on the ground and well pleased with the town and prospects.

Yesterday several clerks under his supervision, were busy arranging the goods on display. The new store is the largest in town and well adapted to the display of this special line of merchandise.

This novelty store will no doubt attract considerable trade to the town, heretofore attracted by the Wilmington stores.

HERE AND THERE

The old watch boxes at the crossings along the B. & O. have been replaced by modern concrete structures.

Mrs. E. S. Armstrong, of Cooch's Bridge, gave a box party at the Adelphia Theatre, Philadelphia last Thursday, where the guests enjoyed the play "Over Night."

Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Professor of Pastoral Theology at Princeton Theological Seminary, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon in the College Oratory on Sunday, June 16th.

George L. Heavellow, of Wayne, Pa., formerly of Newark, and Miss Florence Jacobs, of 6116 Pine street, Philadelphia, were married in that city last Wednesday evening, March 13th.

Professor Wesley Webb, president of the State Board of Agriculture, Dr. Kuhns, State Veterinarian, of Dover, and Oliver Newton, member of the same, from Bridgeville, were Newark visitors last Friday.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Elsie Sylvester Smith, of Ridgely, Md., and Mr. George Elliott Dutton, Instructor in English in Delaware College, on Saturday, April 6th, in the M. E. Church, Ridgely, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Dutton will make their future home in Newark.

EASTER DANCE

A dance will be given in the Newark Opera House by a number of the young men of Newark, on Friday evening, April 12th. Music will be furnished by Jacobs' Orchestra. Tickets may be purchased for 50 cents at Rhodes' Drug Store. The dancing will begin at 8.30 o'clock.

THE BEST OF ALL

Better than all we have from all the world;
Better than honor approbation, even love,
Is that sweet consciousness within the soul
That we have loved the Right;
That we have tried for Truth, for Progress and for Righteousness;
That without thought of self, we have reached forth our helping hands toward the highest good of human kind.
If these have been our aims the end we leave with God.

WILMINGTON ARTIST

The Easter number of the Woman's Home Companion presents as its special feature, in full page insert, a reproduction in color of the painting "The Girl in the Hall," the work of a Wilmington artist, Miss Olive Rush.

The magazine also prints a portrait of this young Wilmington artist. Miss Rush was a favorite pupil of Mr. Pyle, and she at present, with Miss Ethel P. Brown, occupys his studio.

Lovers of antique furniture will be pleased to learn of the location of the firm, Gillespie and Shelton, expert cabinet makers, who have pleased their patrons with high class production for the last fifteen years.

The afternoon bridge club will be entertained next Friday by Mrs. Edward Cooch, who, though not a member, substituted a number of times during the winter.

When we shall have advanced sufficiently far—then we shall tear down the slogan, "It can't be done in Newark," and substitute, "Newark, the town which conjures with high sounding words: 'Communal pride, civic betterment, intellectual growth.'"

OBITUARY

J. S. M. NEILL

Word was received last week by relatives in this locality, of the death of John S. M. Neill, of Helena, Montana, the husband of Mrs. Margaret Evans Neill, sister of C. B. Evans, Misses Lena and Hallie Evans of Newark.

Mr. Neill had been in poor health for some time. He had lately returned from Panama and had reached Hot Springs, Ark., on his homeward way, where he died last Friday. Funeral services were held today at the late residence in Helena.

Mr. Neill was an alumnus of Delaware College. A widow and one son survives.

CONSOLIDATION OF RURAL SCHOOLS

SUPT. SPAID MAKES INTERESTING REPORT. ADVOCATES AGRICULTURAL HIGH SCHOOL NEAR STATE FARM

The county commissioners of rural New Castle county met in Wilmington last Thursday. A special report on the consolidation of rural schools was submitted by Superintendent A. R. Spaid. The report follows:

"Before there can be successful consolidation of schools in a county that county must have good roads. Transportation must be rapid and comfortable. Automobiles, trolley cars and steam cars must be used. Schools having an enrollment of fifteen or under should be consolidated because they are small. Other schools should be centralized for the sake of community interests.

"I am a firm believer in agriculture and domestic science for our country schools. In the following groupings, which are largely suggestive, I have but two thoughts in view: 1) the closing of small plants which do not pay and (2) the establishing of certain centers where interest and efficiency can be maintained. It is folly to attempt to settle country districts with families from the cities, but it is good business to hold the people who are already in the country. Good roads, good schools, good teachers, good preachers — in addition to telephone, free delivery of mail, parcels post, will go far to make the country as attractive as the city. Some of these we already have and the others will soon be here.

"Brandywine hundred can easily be resolved into two centers of school power. In the vicinity of Talleyville should be built a graded school with room for 250 pupils. The following schools would furnish the children: Right Square (45), Point Breeze (22), Shipley (69), Rockland (63). In all 199.

"On the top of Penny Hill should be built a second model school combining the following schools: Shellpot (51), Edge Moor (59), Forwood (60), and Mt. Pleasant (99). This would give the new school an enrollment of 269. This leaves Hanby with an enrollment last year of 36 to join either center; Naaman could send 25 or 30 pupils in the advanced grades to Penny Hill. This would leave a good primary room at Clay-Pine Mills (14) should be closed and the pupils sent to Wilmington or the new school at Penny Hill.

"At Newark opposite the State Farm I could locate another school center. The following schools would be in this combination: McClellandsville (17), Milford Cross Roads (18), White Clay Creek (30) Ogleton (33), Welsh Tract (32), Salem (26), Columbia (17). These schools would give an enrollment of 183. This school would also be the place for the Agricultural High School of the county. Pupils from Newport, Stanton, Marshallton, and Delaware City, as well as other points, could reach this high school by train.

"Another rural school center could be established at Mt. Pleasant in combination with Summit Bridge (18), Eight Square (23), Woodland (23), and Jamison's Corner (32). Mt. Pleasant enrolled 22 last year. Three teachers could do the work more thoroughly in a centralized school than the present five can.

"Odessa has three teachers with an enrollment of 74. This should be the center for Matthew's Corner (17), McDonough (21), Mill Lane (7), and Stump Corner (19). At present seven teachers have 138 pupils. Four teachers could do the work much better if these schools were consolidated. Of course the school building would have to be enlarger and remodeled. No other center would have such a fine library.

"I have rejected Townsend for the last rural center. Townsend needs a new building and so do some of the surrounding districts. Townsend at present has four teachers and 153 pupils. To this center would come Fieldsboro (30), Levels (43), Van Dyke (29), Patterson (29). This would give an enrollment of 284.

"Other consolidations should take place. For instance Brown Cottage should come to Middletown; Diamond and Walnut Green should unite and build a new school near Mt. Cuba. Sunnyside, State Road and Eden should combine with Christiana; or Sunnyside and Forest Oak with Stanton. State

AN INTERESTING PLEA FOR NEWSPAPER IDEALS

Two city journalists contemptuous and despairing of their profession have given the writer food for thought. One, a Boston scribe, had this to say: "I have not sent you any more of my 'stuff,' as we in the craft call our humble productions, because a working journalist turns out so much, that nothing seems worth while troubling his friends with. It is shocking to reflect, and an evidence of what sins commercial necessity will drive one to commit, that I have in rubbishy heaps scattered through the drawers of a big desk, enough of my own clippings to fill perhaps a dozen considerable volumes, and most of what I write I have not preserved. My only comfort is the thought that none of it is actually worthy or a reflection of what I do not believe."

The editor of the London Times writing to John Oliver Hobbs some years ago defended the seeming security of his book reviews in this wise:

"The Press is not corrupt, but it is getting disagreeably tainted by subordinating its news columns to the desire for advertisements, with the result that every novel and every play is declared to be worthy of Thackeray or of Shakespeare. I am glad to see that we don't go into this hysterical gush about any one, and the result is that you hardly ever see us quoted in advertisements."

The crux with this journalist seemed to lie whether he should go into "advertising" and "hysterical gush," or confine himself to news; of which Mr. Pulitzer said there was really only one kind worth editing, and that was "fighting news." Mr. Pulitzer explained himself by saying that "fighting news" included everything that defeated the wrong, and made the right victorious.

Now like Martin Luther, the discontented journalist defames and darkens that which he is, in all decency and loyalty bound to adorn and lift up. If sick and ashamed of his ailing spouse, let him try to console her. Let him bring to her gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh; praise that energizes; honors that decorate; food that nourishes. With his life, if need be, let him defend her from those who would revile and seduce her. Journalists who really believe in the power of the American Press cannot fail to ennoble and glorify it. One sentence of truth gallantly delivered increases that power a thousand times more than reams of what its producers quite justly term "stuff" and "rubbish." One journalist pronouncing with conviction and a holy arrogance, like Brunetiere of the Revue des Deux Mondes makes "space fillers" an injustice against which every honest newspaper man should take arms. Does not the average reader, like the London Times, weep for more space for good things, rather than "stuff" for "filling" what the advertisers have left so scarce? It is not so bad to have "hysterical gush" in the way of bookpuffing, suddenly cut off in mid-flow by a picture of a hair switch which you may get by applying to Madame Lamballe. But who can fancy the Times or the Zeitung stopping short in a world rousing editorial to make way for Carter's Little Liver Pills?

If "commercial interests" will not permit a journalist to confine his "stuff" to veracity and value of some sort, let him shake off the dust of his shoes from the whole shameless imposition, and no matter how late in life, turn to an honest trade which he may, if he will transform into a fine art. I once saw a kitchen sink converted into a sanctuary of art and beauty. The genius of ages was above and around it. Painting, history, poetry; yes, if you will, architecture even; for the walls were pitched on the architectural lines of Ancient France, not those of a United States "contractor." I see no reason why we should not go to the ends of the earth for the best models of things, if we must, to bring back home, where we have as yet so few good patterns.

One may compare this kitchen in the heart of democratic America, with certain kitchens among the Pennsylvania Germans, swept and garnished indeed, but from which the Holy Spirit has been driven out by mercenary and avaricious scourges.

The former had been converted into a shrine of labor in which the spirit of the toiler knelt. A bit of the sculptor's skill in marble, purchased with the blood and tears of endeavor was there. Mignonette and pansies incensed it as with the Creator's own breath. A length of hand wrought lace, woven by pure hands and brought over seas partially veiled this Secret Beauty. Never saw I silver and glass so brightly burnished, nor floors so snowy clean. A sister of charity had transformed a kitchen sink into a shrine. The "learned tongue" of the most universal language in the world was almost native to this American woman who gently intoned her Pater Noster qui est in coeli as she turned on the hot or cold water faucet.

How can we succeed in a work which we despise and deride? Self confidence is a perilous thing, but an intense confidence in our work, that confidence which almost amounts to a noble insolence—this is indispensable to all good achievement.

The standard bearer fights his way to the front. If in so doing he gets a ball or two so long as it is not fatal, he may fall and lie in silence, the standard still in his hand. Then, as another is about to wrest it from him, the enforcing life triumphs, and he hurls himself forward again. Such is the work of a standard bearer of the American Press. The Lord of the Universe drove the money changers out of the temple with whip and scourge, as His Vicar Pius X drove the Modernists out of the Fold to which they were traitors; but neither Lord nor Servant raged one stone of the temple itself. On the contrary, these acts of justice served but to add one more pinnacle to its soaring grace. Let American writers clean the Press from within, and stop hurling stones from without. The Press now suffering such abuse can never be exonerated by these traitors in her fold—"stuff" writers, "space fillers" shamefacedly writhing in their own "performances;" for these but contribute to the scandal which they upbraid.

Let us who revere our work, and who have built a temple of labor about it, preserve it from assault. Whether it be a kitchen sink, or a monument of brass in words, let us enshrine it, and make of it a prayerful toil of the spirit. Sometimes we may have to shut the doors of it in what may seem a stubborn silence, until some "stuff writer," some "space filler" has exhausted his mind upon it. But watch and see. You will observe how the enclosed perfume of your flowers is enriched by the contraction of your space, how the light concentrates on your work.

Mrs. Frederick D. Chester.

Road, Eden, Red Lion and Franklin (No. 51) might centralize at Red Lion. Harmony (No. 55), and Howell might combine with Kirkwood. All the combinations cannot be carried out at present on account of the roads, but sooner or later new roads will make every combination possible. Dale's Corner could be added to Odessa.

"Some of the present school districts could be divided to advantage. Brandywine Springs school needs a new building or the present one remodeled; but 90 per cent. of the children live at 'The Cedars.' Either the new school should be built at 'The Cedars' or that village joined to Marshallton. In either case the upper part of District 33 should be added to adjoining districts.

"In the five or six centers which I have pointed out agriculture and domestic science should me emphasized. Each center would have ample play grounds and gardens. Forenoons would be devoted to lessons with books, but the afternoons to doing things. At all these centers every child would have a warm lunch prepared by the classes in domestic science. Every center would have its lecture room. Every winter there would be a course of lectures and entertainments at night for both children and parents."

A second report was given on the subject of the present conditions of school grounds, etc. In many instances the regulations adopted by the commissioners and the State Board of Health concerning sanitary matters have been largely ignored. The superintendent advises walks of cement, crushed stone or board around the school grounds and urges improvements in outhouses.

Many of the schools need new furniture. All the new desks should be single and at least one-fourth of them adjustable. The heating and ventilation, another serious problem, was touched upon.

Your Bath Room Equipment

NO room is so important as the bathroom in its relation to the health and comfort of the family. Its equipment must, therefore, be of the highest order to insure complete satisfaction and there should be an assurance, that once installed, there should be no necessity for the expense of throwing out fixtures which have become imperfect and unsanitary on account of inferior grade of fixtures or workmanship.

Good fixtures are not expensive—it is the so called "cheap" fixtures that are expensive. When you purchase bathroom fixtures, you are buying articles which yourself and family want to use constantly with comfort and security for years to come.

It is not necessary to go beyond your means to purchase the best fixtures and have them installed right. If you call or write, we will gladly quote you on "Standard" Ware, which is positively guaranteed and the best to be had, and we are sure the price will be within the reach of every home owner. Illustrated literature always on hand.

YOUR RIGHT AND MINE

If the word America has any significance aside from a mere name, it is the title of the charter, giving each and every one the right to his opinion.

And those of us who truly represent the spirit of our age and country gladly grant and strongly demand that privilege to every man.

So long as white is white and black is black, so long as right is right and wrong is wrong, so long as light is day and darkness night, so long as education is truth and ignorance error, just so long will there be a struggle between the conflicting forces. And just so long as we have to contend not only with the evil itself, but with the honest man who is wrong, will we have need of education.

Any campaign for progress is not war. It is education. It is not conflicting forces in darkness. It is a searching for dawn.

All progress that history records is a campaign of education, of convincing the man, the honest man of his error.

As dawn dispels the darkness and ushers in a newer day, so education will eventually dispel error and truth will prevail. And man reads ill the signs of the times, if he fails to see what history predicts in a struggle waged for the advancement of education and light of truth.

More books, better books, healthier books, tend toward this end. Thus our claim for a free library.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

CHANGES HIS MIND

Correspondent Who Wrote Last Week Against Free Library Now Favors It.

Editor of The Post: Since writing a letter to The Post last week, taking issue with you on your advocacy of a free library for Newark and expressing my conviction that we were not yet ready for such an institution here—the present town library serving sufficiently well the needs of the reading public—I have been led to change my mind by the information I have been able to elicit from various sources. It is difficult, sometimes, to reverse one's judgment and desert one's own argument, when facts seem against one, but it is only a fool who never changes his mind, and I don't want to feel myself in that class of "undesirable citizens."

As to a popular demand for a free library in Newark, I still maintain my stand that the people are not "crying for it," but I feel now, with you, that they should, be educated up to "crying for it," and I make my compliments to you, Mr. Editor, for doing what you have done in this direction, though I have not liked the spirit always in which you have done it, especially when you have hinted at class opposition to the wish of the "masses." To my mind, talk of this sort is unwise and utterly wrong. The population of Newark is not so divided. It never was before The Post was started here, and I am morally certain it is not so now.

What chiefly has influenced me in changing my mind in this matter, is the fact that the present town library (which is supported partly by subscribers, by fines and by the income of a trust fund, held by the New Century Club) has only 116 subscribers out of a population of 2,000 or 2,500, if the population of the surrounding country is included. This is a lamentably poor showing—one that should make the "Athens of Delaware" blush with shame, only about one person in twenty using the library, while in Wilmington, under free system, there are 15,000 out of a population of 90,000, about one person in 6. This low percentage of readers means something wrong, and it is our duty to see where lies the blame and what is the remedy.

There is before me a letter from Odessa, Delaware, giving some facts about the Corbit Free Library there. This library was founded many years ago by members of the Corbit family there, and has always been absolutely free. The income from the Corbit endowment is $600 a year; from town tax $80, and from the State $50. It has 5,900 volumes and 300 users, out of a population of about 600, which means every other person is a user of the library. It is true, that under the Newark system, one library card often suffices for a family, but still the small number of subscribers here is nothing short of disgraceful.

The New Century Club, on Monday, took a vote on the question of a free library and the result was adverse to it, but it was hardly a conclusive one and there is every reason to believe that the club will, with a further discussion and vote, favor a free library and under certain conditions turn over the books now under its control.

Viator Vacuus.

Editor of the Post: There is at least one person in the vicinity of Newark who will take active measures to maintain the beauty of scenery that naturally belongs to the town and its surroundings. That was the person who removed the advertising posters from the trees that shade South College avenue in front of the Red Men's Home. Whether the good deed can be traced to the New-Century Club, to property owners along the road, or to boys and girls passing that way, the writer does not know, but he feels deep gratitude in any case. One can almost endure display advertisements in the cities, where man's handiwork predominates over nature, but where nature predominates she should not be unnecessarily disturbed. Certainly if posters must be used let them be tacked to telephone poles, not to the trunks of trees, especially of such noble trees as those that lie along our southern entrance, giving the stranger a first and favorable impression of the town.

CALL FOR REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION

A State Convention of the Republican Party of the State of Delaware will be held at Dover, on Tuesday, the sixteenth day of April, A. D., 1912, at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of selecting four delegates-at-large and two delegates from the Congressional District of Delaware, together with one alternate delegate for each elected, who shall serve in case of absence of his principal. One delegate-at-large, with his alternate, shall be elected from each convention district. The two Congressional Delegates, with their alternates, shall be elected by the Convention at large, one of these delegates and his alternate to be residents of the Third Convention District, and the other delegate and his alternate to be residents of the Fourth Convention District.

The delegates so elected shall represent the State of Delaware at the Republican National Convention to be held in the City of Chicago, in the state of Illinois, on Tuesday, the eighteenth day of June, A. D., 1912, for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, to be voted for at the Presidential election on Tuesday, November 5, 1912.

The said Convention shall also elect members of the State Committee and transact such other business as is usual and which may properly come before it.

The Convention shall consist of one hundred and sixty delegates, apportioned among the several districts of the State as follows:

Forty delegates to be chosen from the First District.

Thirty-eight delegates to be chosen from the Second District.

Forty delegates to be chosen from the Third District.

Forty-two delegates to be chosen from the Fourth District.

The delegates from the above districts shall be apportioned among the several hundreds, wards and districts by their respective County Committees.

The election of delegates shall be as follows:—

The delegates, with their alternates, shall be chosen on Saturday, the thirteenth day of April, A. D., 1912, and the Executive Committees of the respective Republican County and District Committees shall name the election officers for the various districts and shall designate the time and places of holding said election and shall have authority in all other matters necessary for the proper holding of said election.

Upon closing the polls, the judges of election shall publicly count the votes and make certificates of the result of the election in duplicate, one of which shall be delivered to the delegate or delegates elected and the other forthwith to the Secretary of the Republican State Committee at Dover.

At the same time and places that the delegates to the said Convention shall be elected, the respective County and District Committees shall cause to be elected new County and District Committees through the four districts of the State; in the First District by wards, and in the Second, Third and Fourth Districts by election districts, and said Committees, when elected, shall constitute the Republican County and District Committees of the Republican Party in this State.

All persons who believe in the principles of the Republican Party and endorse its policies shall be entitled to vote.

EDMUND MITCHELL,
Chairman, Republican State Committee.
THOMAS S. LEWIS,
Secretary, Republican State Committee.
Dover, Delaware, March 6, 1912.

Mr. Cole Howell has moved to his lately purchased farm near Landenburg, Pa.

Mr. Kinsey Chambers is having the old Chambers homestead remodeled. Mr. Chambers will move in as soon as the house is in fit condition.

Around Hockessin

Hockessin Grange celebrated its 38th anniversary last Monday night. Forty-four members were present and 5 visitors from Harmony Grange. A granger from lower Delaware was present and gave an enthusiastic talk, filled with good ideas and much encouragement for the listeners.

Owing to the meeting night falling on moving day, there was a small attendance at Harmony Grange last Monday night.

The Hockessin Young Friends Association will give a social in the meeting house on April 3.

Moving day brought the usual round of changes to this locality. Among those finding new homes were: Lawrence Pennington, who moved to the James Henry Walker place, near Harmony Grange Hall.

Thomas Mitchell, who sold his farm recently to Hugh Kelley, moved to the old Stephen Mitchell property near Hockessin meeting. Clarence Walker, who purchased the George Klair property two years ago, has rented the farm and returned to Wilmington, where he will make his home in the future.

Mrs. Olive A. Drennan and children wish to thank, through the Newark Post, all those who so kindly offered to help in their late sad bereavement.

Mrs. E. A. Harding of Media, Pa., is spending some time with her mother.

Mr. Frank Vansant, who has been quite ill, is improving.

Miss Dora Singles of Wilmington, spent the week end with her parents.

Cecil County Letter

County Treasurer Taylor will place all tax bills not paid by Monday next, April 1, in the hands of the Sheriff for collection.

The recent heavy rains and their resulting floods damaged roads and bridges throughout the county. President Griffith, of the County Commissioners and County Roads Engineer Richards, estimate that from $20,000 to $25,000 will be required to cover the cost of repairs and new work.

The Felton House, near Elkton railroad station, has been re-opened by Mrs. A. M. Crosby of Baltimore. Her uncle, Geoge Stanton, of Baltimore, will assist in the management.

A bill that will meet with general approval, providing for monthly statements of the county's receipts and expenditures, introduced by Senator Crothers, has passed the State Senate and will likely pass the House of Delegates before the adjournment of the Legislature.

Dr. John E. Mackall, a rising young physician of Elkton, is ill with typhoid fever at his home on Bridge street. Several other cases have developed among residents on that same street.

Court Crier George A. Brown, was stricken with paralysis on Thursday, at the home of his son, on Bow street, where he had called during the morning. He is now at his own home, on North street, and is reported but little improved.

The funeral of Charles C. Laws, a former well known Elktonian, was held on Wednesday, with interment in Bethel cemetery, near Chesapeake City. He was 34 years of age and unmarried, and died on the previous Saturday at the Montclair, N. J. Hospital, from injuries received while working for Reiter, Curtis & Hill, railroad contractors on the Erie Railroad, near Bloomfield, N. J. He was a nephew of Walter Laws of this vicinity and of Henry Laws of the Ogletown section.

Cecil county's share of the quarterly distribution of the State School and Free Book Funds is $5,437.98 and $770.49 respectively.

The Chandler coal and lumber yards, planing mill, etc., in Oxford, have been sold to former Sheriff Harvey H. Mackey, by Mackey and Yerkes, Janett Mackey and James Yerkes.

Other heirs of the late Marks Lieberman, a former well-known clothier of Elkton, have sold his property, including the storehouse on Main street in the "Hollow," to his daughter Mrs. Fannie Vandegrift, for $2,400.

Frank R. Scott, president of the National Bank of Elkton, has been elected a director of the Southern States Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Philadelphia.

David S. Warren of Wilmington, who was awarded $9,279 damages last week by the jury in the trial of his suit against the Harlan and Hollingsworth Corporation, for loss of an arm while in its employ, is a former Elktonian, a brother of Mrs. George Davis.

In line with the proposed improvement of the Elkton-Perryville road by the State, Delegate Osborn of Hartford county, has a bill pending in the Legislature, providing for the purchase by the State of the Perryville-Havre de Grace toll bridge, the old P., W. and B. R. R. bridge and making it free to public use, as the Conowingo bridge became after its like purchase.

A meeting was called for last (Tuesday) night in Council Hall, Elkton, to arrange for taking practical steps toward securing a "Chautauqua Week" for Elkton during June next, as proposed by the Chautauqua Association of Pennsylvania. George H. Turner, assistant director of the association, explained at a meeting held last week aims and features of the proposed program which would be given in a tent seating at least two thousand people. The proposal is conditioned on the sale of 600 season tickets at $2 each, the association taking chances for the sale of 400 more, or as many as it could sell after the acceptance of its proposal. The association is not out for profit, but simply seeks to meet its expenses. Georgetown, Dover and Chestertown, thus far on the peninsula, have accepted the proposal.

SOCIAL AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The social evening planned by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian Church for last Friday evening was a great success. Each person, as he entered the door, was presented with a paper bag with which he gloved his right hand. The rules required that the wearer must shake hands until only shreds of the paper remained. After this happy introduction the outline of a story was read, the hearers supplying the greater part with the help of the suggestive tunes played by the pianist. The principal feature of the evening's entertainment was the indoor track meet which occasioned much fun. The events were close pin race, potato race, thirty-six inch race (elowing for a marshmallow at the end of a yard of string), hammer throw (paper bags filled with wind), etc.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

The committee cannot but feel their efforts appreciated. We hope the occasion will be repeated in the near future.

FATHER OF CHATAUQUA HONORED

Before the phrase "University Extension" had been coined, the idea of extending the possibility of broader education to those for whom the college and the university were impossible had been conceived by the Rev. John H. Vincent. The outgrowth of Bishop Vincent's idea was the Chautauqua movement which has grown until it is one of the most powerful educational influences in the country. It was fitting, therefore, that the eightieth birthday of Bishop Vincent, which occurred on February 23, should be observed, and that the President of the United States should head the list of those who offered their congratulations.

TO A BLUEBIRD

By Eleanor Robbins Wilson.

O, singer blithe 'neath skies of gray!
The sweery of thy song impels
And soon adown the April way
Spring will trip lightly o'er the fells;
Bluets will twinkle in the grass,
The wind play softly on his lyre,
And all a-thrill to see her pass,
The maples flush with fond desire.

For thine the music Beauty waits
As summons to her noiseless lodin—
The lyric call at closed gates
That conjureth a world of bloom.
When o'er gray wastes, lone way and long,
A touch of heaven on thy wing,
Thou comest with a silver song
To waken wide the dreaming Spring.

Very truly yours,

GEORGE W. RHODES

"We may live without poetry, music and art,
We may live without conscience, and live without heart;
We may live without friends, we may live without books;
But civilized man cannot live without cooks."

And a good cook is ever alert to improved cooking utensils. She knows their value.

Do you realize the difference between cooking with the heavy iron pots, skillets and tea kettles of a by-gone day, and the light smooth, metal utencils to be found in the modern kitchen?

You can afford these modern improved utensils in your home—in fact you can not offord to be without them.

A fine line of these goods just received. They are worth investigating.

"ROCHESTER" WASH BOILERS

Wash Day comes around every week, whether we like it or not—and any help we can get is welcome. The Rochester without a doubt helps along. It has the patent cover hanger and soap shaver. Again the handles have an attachment that hooks on the tub when emptying. Saves lots of lifting. They are well made, too. Riveted handles and copper bottomed.

The Rochester people have made up some good sizes with our named stamped in the lid.

SHADE TREE INSECTS

NEW CENTURY CLUB PUBLISHES BULLETIN

Governor Pennewill, "in order that we may fully appreciate the benefits to be derived from trees, shrubs and birds and the attention which should be given to their care and protection," has set apart Friday, March 29, as Arbor Day. He requests that this day be observed by all schools throughout the State and an endeavor be made toward the advancement of the study of arbor culture and the promotion of the spirit of protection to birds and trees.

The following article has recently been published in attractive folder form by the Civics Committee of the New Century Club, Wilmington, Delaware. It is reprinted by request of the local club, and affords interesting information for the Arbor Day program:

SHADE TREE INSECTS.

Two species of insects, the Tussock-moth caterpillar and the Bagworm, are responsible for almost all the injury to the foliage of the shade trees of Wilmington (this locality). Two facts in their life-histories, when known, make their control on small or medium-sized trees a very simple matter:

Both species pass the winter in the egg stage, and these eggs are easily found and removed from the tree.

In both species the egg-laying females are wingless; consequently when the eggs are removed in the winter, a fresh supply cannot be deposited on the tree until caterpillars (which have limited powers of locomotion) find their way to it again.

THE TUSSOCK-MOTH CATERPILLAR.

This is the small hairy caterpillar so abundant on our shade trees and pavements; and the cocoons of this insect, spun on the trunks and branches of trees, on porches, walls and fences, are almost as familiar as the worms themselves. From these cocoons the moths emerge, the males gray-winged and active, the females fat, wingless and inactive. The female deposits her eggs (about 400) in a mass on top of the cocoon from which she emerged, covering them with a tough white frothy weatherproof secretion; those deposited in the late summer remain unhatched until spring, and from these the spring brood of worms emerge.

Remedy.—In winter, gather and destroy all the egg-masses on or near the tree. The cocoons with egg-masses attached are often on the trunk of the tree; sometimes on the branches or slender twigs, wrapped in a dry leaf; or on walls and fences near by. Do not overlook crevices in the bark and overlapping scales of bark which frequently conceal them. The freshly-spun cocoons are light colored and conspicuous, the egg-masses white; but both soon become discolored with smoke and dust, and for this reason they are more readily found in early fall. Many may be picked by hand from the bark or twigs; a long-handled hoe or similar implement is sometimes useful for scraping them from the tree trunk higher up; and by these methods, together with the use of a ladder and tree-clipper, every egg-mass may be removed from trees even of considerable size. The banding of the trees, in spring and summer, with cotton, insect-lime or tanglefoot, when properly applied, prevents caterpillars from gaining access to the foliage from below, but is ineffective if the eggs have not been removed from above the band, and is often unnecessary if the egg-masses on and near the tree have all been destroyed; the caterpillars creep considerable distances from one tree to another, and the advisability of banding, after removing the egg-masses, depends upon the proximity of other infected trees.

THE BAG-WORM.

These tough silken cases are readily seen hanging from the twigs in winter time, when the larger cases, those of the female moths, usually contain about 900 eggs closely packed in the brown pupa-shell of the moth. From these in early summer hatch small active worms, each of which constructs a "bag" for itself, feeds voraciously on the leaves and becomes a full grown bag-worm in August, when it attaches its case firmly to a twig. From the male cases emerge (usually in September) black-bodied clear-winged moths, which mate with the almost helpless grub-like females that do not leave their cases. The females then fill their pupa-shells with eggs for the next season's crop of worms and die. There is but one brood a year, and this completes the round of their existence.

Remedy.—In winter, when the cases or "bags" may readily be seen on the bare trees gather and burn all the cases containing the eggs for next season's crop of worms.

Where suitable spraying apparatus is available, arsenate of lead, preferably applied in spring and early summer when the worms are young and easily killed, will be effective against both of these insects; but this method of control is often impracticable for the individual property holder.

THE GOSPEL OF SMILES

"I find the earth not gray, but rosy.
Heaven not grim but fair of hue.
Do I stoop? I pluck a posy;
Do I stand and stare, all's blue."

"Listen to the birds that call.
Get joy from the glisten of their wings.
Be happy with all happy things."

"Work is often the father of pleasure. Happiness is a good that nature sells us."

"There's joy a-plenty in this world
To fill life's silver cup.
If you'll only keep the corners
Of your mouth turned up."

"Where the sun does not enter, the doctor does."

"The thing to seek is not the good time, but the spirit which can make good times out of common time—the spirit of good cheer. The spirit of good cheer, that is the spring in the hills, whence laughter runs."

"Oh, a trouble's a ton, or a trouble's an ounce,
Or a trouble is what you make it.
And it isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts,
But only—how did you take it?"

"Smile once in a while.
'Twill make your heart seem lighter;
Smile once in a while.
'Twill make your pathway brighter
Life's a mirror; if we smile,
Smiles come back to greet us;
If we're frowning all the while,
Frowns forever meet us."

Absent Ones

Absence makes the heart grow fonder but the memory of the absent one becomes vague and dim. You long to picture in your mind just how "HE" or "SHE" would look, but there's a mysterious something which makes the mental picture impossible.

But if you had a photograph before you, then you could recall the forgotten face, yes, even the kind acts, the gentle words.

Wouldn't that "ONE" so far away appreciate your photograph too.

STANLEY STEAMER SERVICE

As will be seen by our advertising columns, Newark is to have additional automobile service to P., B. & W. R. R. station, in the form of a fine ten-passenger car, operated by the Stanley Service Company, or otherwise by Mr. Richard R. Whittingham, who represents the Stanley Steamer for the State of Delaware and the eastern shore of Maryland and Virginia.

Mr. Whittingham has said little about his plans until a recent interview, in which he stated his position as follows:

"Yes, I intend to operate a large car and some smaller cars in and around Newark, to such an extent as may prove most useful to our people. Newark, it seems to me, has lined up with the progressives, regardless of politics, and as the essence of progression is to 'keep moving,' I am going to keep.

"It is true that there is an excellent auto bus now in service to and from the station, but it is alone, and the traffic is growing faster than most people realize; also, it must not be forgotten that automobiles are only human and subject to such disorders as may at any time require their temporary withdrawal for treatment; in which event it will be to the advantage of our patrons to have two strings to their bow."

"As agent for the Stanley, are you not figuring somewhat on the advertising value of the service to your cars?"

"Undoubtedly, and so long as I know that I can furnish an automobile that will give more power, comfort and all-around ability than any gasoline car of twice its price, I am glad of any opportunity to make that car better known."

Mr. Whittingham has rented space at the Deer Park stables for the proper housing of his cars and will make the hotel his headquarters, to give prompt attention to calls for service to any point.

CRITIC BASEBALL FAN, COMING EDITOR AND TOWN BOOSTER WHO IS THE MAN?

Mr. E. C. Johnson, Dear Sir: I am not a critic but I wish to criticise your paper in one way. Here we are in Newark with a baseball team that held the amateur championship of Delaware in 1911. The largest college in the State therefore having the best baseball, basketball, football and track teams. The second largest high school in the State, which has a baseball team well to be proud of, and yet your paper never more than mentions a game that results in a victory for the home team.

I would be glad to write a piece each week concerning baseball, in the town, college and high school. I will write a piece each week for about three weeks before I make myself known to you. If they are satisfactory you can correct small mistakes and publish them. Then if you choose to pay me you can do so. You could make a column headed "Local Baseball," or just "Baseball," or anything you like. If you publish the following piece in your next edition I will know you are pleased with my offer.

Delaware showed the first signs of baseball this week when they got in a few days of good practice out of doors. With only two of last year's players missing. Dunn and Marshall, Coach McAvoy hopes to put forth a good team. Captain Hoek is already following up the playing of the freshmen. Geoghegan, the Newark High School star, bids well for a 'varsity berth. Taylor, from New Castle, High School, is another who is expected to make a good showing.

Practice has been going on steadily at the High School. The showing already made in fielding the ball is astonishing. Captain Crompton is putting the players through a hard drill of batting practice and this seems to be the weakest point of the team. Manager Allcorn has completed one of the longest and hardest schedules in the history of the school. The following is the schedule:

March 30—Oxford High School at Oxford.

April 6—Central Academy at home.

April 10—DuPont High School at Wilmington.

April 19—Elkton High School at home.

April 20—DuPont Academy at home.

April 27—Dover High School at home.

April 30—Salesianum Catholic High School at home.

May 4—DuPont Academy at Wilmington.

May 8—DuPont High School at home.

May 11—St. Aloysius Academy at home.

May 15—Elkton High School at Elkton.

May 18—Chesley Academy at home.

May 22—St. Aloysius at Wilmington.

May 31—Elkton High School at Iron Hill.

June 1—Chesley Academy at Wilmington.

(Undecided), Dover High School at Dover.

Newark has not yet started practice, but this Saturday will most likely find them all out upon the field.

Jest rain and snow! and rain again!
And dribble! drip and blow!
Then snow! and thaw! and slush! and then—
Some more rain and snow!

This morning I was 'most afeard
To wake up—when, I jing!
I seen the sun shine out and heerd
The first bluebird of Spring!—
Mother she'd raised the winder some—
And in acrost the orchard come,
Soft as an angel's wing,
A breezy, treesy, beesy hum,
Too sweet for anything!

The Winter's shroud was rent apart—
The sun burst forth in glee,
And when that bluebird sung my heart
Hopped out o' bed with me!
