Shutdown Of Tank Plant Questioned By Senate Group

Refauver Disputes Army
Claim Of $18 Millions
Saying By GM Contract
While some 3,000 employees at the Chrysler Delaware Tank Plant in Newark approach the April end of scheduled tank production, Pentagon officials in Washington are being interrogated by members of the Senate Armed Services Committee concerning defense work expenditures and policies.

Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who has been critical of a shutdown of the Chrysler tank plant at Newark, noted that the government had put up $5 million dollars for equipment that must be mothballed there.

He told the Senate Armed Services committee that mothballing the Newark tank plant with the loss of tax benefits granted for that installation and the displacement of most of the 3,000 skilled workers, would cost the government more than $18,000,000.

Mayor Endorses Family Health Research Work By University

In enthusiastic support of the Family Health Research Project undertaken by the University of Delaware, Mayor Wallace M. Johnson has written the following open letter:

Fellow Citizens of Newark:
The "Family and Health Research Project" now being conducted by the University of Delaware has been approved by the National Research Council and endorsed by Governor J. Caleb Boggs. The purpose of the study is to obtain information about the work people do, about life in the family, and about problems our communities face. This will add to our general understanding of human relations, and will provide valuable information for community and state groups dealing with people and their welfare.

Approximately 1,000 homes in the state have been selected by the best known scientific methods. In the homes so selected, each member of the family between the ages of 10 and 65 will be interviewed individually by a representative of the University. When the information is released, no names of individual families will be used, since only general results are desired.

The cooperation of the families selected, in the matter of giving the information needed for the study, is the key to the success of the project. Therefore, I urge the citizens of Newark, who happen to be selected for the study, to give their full cooperation to it so that the results of the study can become available for the purpose of individual family betterment and improved group living.

Sincerely yours,
Wallace M. Johnson,
Mayor of Newark

William J. Frazer, a member of the board of directors and secretary of the Aetna Fire Insurance Co., announced yesterday that the new pumper ordered last October from American-Lafayette is to be shipped March 22.

Newark Hospital Charter Secured By Civic Leaders

Kiwanis Sponsors Move
For Medical Center As
Survey Nears Completion
A charter has been secured for a hospital and medical center to be located near Newark as the result of a January meeting sponsored by the Newark Kiwanis Club and attended by a large group of local civic leaders.

Mayor Wallace M. Johnson appointed an executive committee at the initial meeting to survey the need for a hospital, to apply for a charter and hospital zone, and to secure necessary professional service.

The committee, composed of Merle Taylor, chairman; T. Russell Silk, Dr. Thos. Houghland, Dr. John R. Downes, Miss M. Katherine Jones, Edward Matthews, and Raymond Edwards, has been working since then.

Mr. Taylor disclosed that the survey is nearing completion and that the first group meetings have been scheduled. With Newark physicians and dentists invited to attend a meeting at 2:30 p.m. March 21, in the auditorium of the Newark Masonic Temple.

That same evening at 6:30, registered nurses of the area are invited to attend a similar meeting to be held in the Masonic Temple auditorium.

These meetings are to be followed by a general meeting of the Board of Trustees of the new corporation, with a dinner meeting on March 21, at 6:30, at the Glasgow Arms.

Plans For 80-Unit Apartment Project Approved By Council

Building To Be Constructed Between So. College Ave.
And Academy Street, North Of PRR; Long Named City
Assessor; Lumbrook Ash Ave. Sewer Designed Approved
In a next-to-last Tuesday night appearance before a new team takes over starting positions around the council table following the April 13 election, Newark's City Council approved plans for the construction of an 80-unit apartment house in Newark, assured residents of Ash Avenue in Lumbrook of sewer service in a "very short time"; appointed a new member of the Planning Commission and a City Assessor.

Plans for the apartment building to be constructed south of Williams Street and north of the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, between Academy Street and South College Avenue, had been approved by the city planning commission and the project will be known as the State Apartments. The building will be of brick and concrete block masonry similar to the University Gardens apartments.

Council was told the developer would provide all the utilities, but no cost for the work was given. City Engineer Fred Neide said no permit had been issued for the construction and Council approval was contingent upon execution of proper agreements between the city and builders.

An agreement between the Continental Diamond Fibre Company and the city fixing a sewer charge covering unmetres water discharged by Continental into the city sewer system was approved.

Charles Long, city secretary, was appointed town assessor to carry out the annual property evaluation. George Stover, of the city tank plant, was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Joseph Kerigan, resigned.

In a letter to council the Newark Recreation Association suggested that the land occupied by a recreation area when the land is no longer used for its present purpose. Council agreed to look favorably on the request when and if the property became available.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Shew, of 131 East Delaware Avenue, in Somers, N.Y., is now a student of the Air Force School of Electronics, Biloxi, Miss.

Bd. Of Education Creates Two New School Positions

Jr. High School Principal,
Superintendent Aide, OK'd;
Two Teachers Appointed
The appointment of two teachers was approved by Newark's Special School District Board of Education Friday night, and two posts were created for next year.

The board authorized employment of a junior high school principal to run the present Newark High School as a separate building for grades 7 to 9 after 1955 and an administrative assistant to Supt. Wilmer E. Shue to supervise cafeterias, janitors, transportation, and construction.

President Joseph M. McVey, noting that the district had five buildings, told Mr. Shue: "Your problems will be many-fold what they are today and you will have to dissociate yourself from some business details."

Local Man Granted Patent For Study Of Metal Oxides

C. M. Olson, Newark, U.S.
Patent For Research Work
In Chemical Processing
Carl M. Olson, of Newark, and John N. Tully, Wilmington, are the inventors of a recently issued U.S. Patent 2,670,275, entitled "Metal Oxide Production."

It is known that metal oxides may be produced by the reaction of vaporized metal chlorides with oxygen or water. For example, a titanium oxide, which is used for pigment purposes, may be obtained by the reaction of an oxygen-containing gas with vaporized titanium tetrachloride.

However, in the foregoing process, according to Messrs. Olson and Tully, a portion of the oxide product becomes deposited upon, and tenaciously adheres to, the internal surfaces of the reaction equipment. This is objectionable for several reasons. The material frequently packs to such an extent that it cannot be recovered in useful form; it results in a harmful change in the apparatus and it may reach a state of accumulation in which the apparatus becomes completely plugged and must be shut down for cleaning.

William Fanning Elected To Head Local VFW Post

Master Sgt. William Fanning of Pittsburgh, Pa., a member of the Army instruction unit with the ROTC, University of Delaware, was elected commander of the local VFW Post 10, VFW, at the post home on Barksdale Road last week.

John Burke, Sr., was elected senior vice commander; William Coburn, junior vice commander; Norman Little, chaplain; Robert N. McCormick, commander of New Castle County District 2, quartermaster; William Beck, surgeon; Joseph Fisher, judge advocate; and Alfred MacClary, Mr. Burk, Mr. Corbin, James Kelley, and James Simpers, trustees.

They will be installed March 23 at the post home by Ellwood B. Richards of Selbyville, department commander.

The post endorsed the recent stand for bingo by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs.

High School Class
Of '33 Wins Honor
As College Frosh
Newark High School principal Frederick B. Kutz announced this week that 39 per cent of the 1933 graduates of Newark High School who are now freshmen at the University of Delaware were on the dean's list for the first semester.

Mr. Kutz said 66 Newark graduates of all classes are attending the university and 23 or 30 per cent obtained the 3.0 grade average necessary for the dean's list. With the freshmen, the proportion was slightly higher—9 out of 23 for the 39 per cent figure. And one of them got all A's for a perfect 4.0 average.

The figure came from William G. Fletcher, director of admissions, who praised the Newark students' record in a letter to Mr. Kutz.

Brick Tossers Wrecks Glass
In Main St. Store Window
Newark Police are investigating an act of vandalism that occurred on East Main Street late Sunday night or early Monday morning when a brick was thrown through the plate glass front window of the Newark Lumber Company.

It was apparently just a case of breaking—not entering—as the contents of the store were undisturbed.

The proposal grew out of a recent meeting of state and local health officials with school administrators, who surveyed the Newark school health program.

The group found that both defects were the number one health problem statistically among pupils and that heart murmurs were the most serious ailment uncovered.

The survey group according to Mr. Shue also found that there was a need for greater parent cooperation in securing follow-up treatment for pupils after examinations by the school physician. He explained that after a pupil undergoes a school health examination, the school notifies the parents of the results and indicates any treatment that is required. This must be done by the individual's family physician or dentist.

Attending the health meeting were: Dr. John R. Downes, city health commissioner; Dr. Edward Glavin, head of the New Castle County Health Unit; George Avers, state director of health and physical education; Dr. Howard Armstrong, Newark school physician; Mrs. David Anderson, Jr., health officer, Newark PTA health committee; Miss Hazel Lyon, county health unit; plus members of the Newark school cafeteria and physical education staffs, the school nurses and administrators.

July Conference Offers Delaware Teachers Credit

NEA Meeting At U. of D.
To Meet Requirements
For Certificate Renewal

Delaware classroom teachers who attend the national conference of the NEA Department of Classroom Teachers at the University of Delaware July 6-16 will be permitted to apply the credits earned toward the renewal of their Delaware teaching certificates.

In the Delaware School Journal for March, official publication of the Delaware State Education Association, Dr. Howard E. Row, executive secretary, announced that the professional work conference scheduled has been recognized by Dr. George R. Miller, Jr., state superintendent of public instruction, and Dr. Ward L. Miller, superintendent of schools in the city of Wilmington as meeting the requirements for certificate renewal credits. The university has already arranged to list the NEA Conference as a special course, Education 409, for two undergraduate or graduate credits.

Certificate Renewal
The state superintendent has answered a request from the DSEA by indicating that those persons who register for college credit may present those credits for certificate renewal and those persons who register for and are in regular attendance at the conference but who do not wish college credit may present the conference certificate, signed by President Perkins of the University of Delaware and Hilda Machting of NEA, for two credits toward renewal of a Delaware teaching certificate.

M. Channing Wagner, chairman of the executive committee for professional growth for the schools of Wilmington, has informed the DSEA and NEA that college credits granted by the university for this conference will be accepted as two college credits and the certificate granted for the same work will be accepted as two professional credits for both certificate renewal and salary increments. Teachers of both city and state schools should review the rules requiring prior approval for renewal work.

"Honored"
William O. Penrose, dean of the School of Education at the University of Delaware and chairman of the DSEA committee on Teacher Education and Professional Standards has stated: "We feel honored that the University of Delaware has been chosen as the site for this important national teachers conference. After discussing the proposed program with conference officials, I consider the granting of credit for participation very appropriate, for in addition to being stimulating and interesting, the conference sessions are educational in the truest sense of the word."

Delaware is one of the states of the nation which, in recognition of the need for teachers to continue in professional growth, requires that certificates be renewed after each five-year period in Wilmington, after four years elsewhere. Renewals are based on a number of studies or activities that will enrich the competency of the teachers in their respective teaching fields.

The Department of Classroom Teachers of the Delaware State Education Association is affiliated with the national department and will assist in certain phases of the conference program. The conference is open to members of the NEA and their international guests. NEA, university, and DSEA officials anticipate that 300 to 500 teachers from all of the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, the Caribbean area, and several nations of Europe and Asia will be in attendance.

LIONS' BRIDGE PARTY
The Lions Club benefit bridge party held recently at the Newark Country Club featured 33 tables of bridge, Chairman Jacob E. Brown reported, and was both a financial and social success. Proceeds will be used by the local Lions for their civic work.

Jim Kinch Leads Blue Hen Scorers With 260 Points

Capt. Frank White, Lone Senior, Sets Three Year Scoring Record For Hens

Figures of the Blue Hens' disappointing 9-13 campaign reveal that Jim Kinch, 6-7 sophomore center from Dunellen, N.J., led all scorers with 260 points on 100 field goals and 60 free throws. He also topped the team in rebounds with 223. Captain Frank White, the only member of the squad who will be lost by graduation, followed closely in all departments, scoring 249 points and hauling in 210 rebounds. White led the team for the second consecutive year in accuracy from the free throw line, dropping 67 of 87 attempts for 77 per cent. He also led in assists with 51.

White closes his varsity career with the Blue Hen basketball team with a new record for the most points scored in three seasons of competition. The ex-P. S. duPont ace accounted for 802 points (229-324-249) to break by 22 the mark previously held by Capt. Billy Utt, who performed with the teams from 1949-52. During this three-season span, White maintained an average of 14.5 points for 68 games.

quest, while around the country the NCAA is holding the quarter finals with the champions of all the conferences and the independents entered. The LaSalle crew from Philly are favored to go to the semi-finals and with a little luck could be in the finals.

The 1953 champs are already out of it as Notre Dame trounced Indiana. So a new champion will be crowned. Kentucky has raised a sort of delicate question, are undefeated this year, but have lost the tournament because the eligibility of three of their players is questioned and Coach Rupp raises the point as to why they could not be called champions, too.

Quinn, Sr. It is little known, but he saved the Red Sox franchise when Harry Frazee had just about run it into the ground. He ran that club until it was purchased by Mr. Yawkey and then he turned his attention to another sick club, the Braves. He kept them going until bought by Mr. Perini and his associates. After he got them started on the right track, he turned the job over to his son, Bob Quinn, Jr., who is today general manager of the Braves. A good baseball man, who knew the whys and wherefores of the game from the field on up through the front office.

Word has gone around that if the club doesn't draw this year the franchise will be moved to another city—maybe to the west coast. So Joost and his coaches have to get a winning team, or at least a colorful one, out there on the field and if he can get the boys off to a winning, maybe the fans who stayed away last year will be coming back.

Another Casualty
For the second time this spring, a major accident has occurred on the campus. Outfielder Bobby Thompson of the Braves was hit by a car sliding into second base and will be out for two or three months. It would seem that the Red Sox are going to get a better break on Ted Williams, as the National Vulcanized Fibre's eagles walloped the Continental squad, 32-40 in the first of two Adult Recreation League games at the Armory Monday night as Continental's Johnson led the scoring with 10 field goals and a pair of free throws for 22 points. Pierce was high for National with seven field goals and six fouls.

Miller, Kelleher Named Co-Captains Of Varsity Cagers

Don Miller and Pete Kelleher were chosen as co-captains of the Delaware basketball team for the 1954-55 season last week. Both are now juniors.

Miller, of Prospect Park, Pa., is better known for his football exploits than for his performance on the basketball court, but he won a starting berth at guard this season on the basis of his hustle. He appeared in 21 of the season's 22 games and was the fifth leading scorer with 129 points, an average of 6.1 per game. His best night came in the final home game against the Horns when he scored 20 points.

Kelleher proved valuable both as starter and spot player, participating in all games and scoring 103 points. He was the team's second best action shot, hitting for 37.3 per cent of shots from the floor, many of which came on his patented two-handed jump. A 6-4 Wilmingtonian, Kelleher formerly starred for Salesman.

Tops In Basketball Plan World Series At Convention Hall

Globetrotters To Meet College All-Americans In Cage Classic Apr. 2

The fifth annual "world series of basketball", matching the Harlem Globetrotters against a select squad of 1954 college All-Americans, will come to Convention Hall April 2. In the past four series, which the Globetrotters won by margins of 11-7, 14-4, 11-5 and 14-7, a total of 51 colleges were represented on the All-American squads.

Identity of the All-American squad for the "World Series" will not be known until next month. Nominations of outstanding senior players have been made by coaches and other observers in all parts of the country, but final selection will be based on accomplishments for the full season.

Two local stars have captured the most valuable player award in the past. In 1950 Paul Arizin, then with Villanova, later with the Warriors, and now with the Marines, took the trophy, while last year Ernie Beck, of Penn and also the Warriors and currently in the Navy at Bainbridge Naval Training Station, gained the award.

In the first practice meet of the indoor season Saturday, Coach Ken Steers' Delaware trackmen trampled visiting Towson State Teachers 70-42 in Carpenter Field House. The Blue Hens placed first in nine of the 13 events as Steve Butcher set a new indoor mark for a Delaware track man when he threw the shot 43 feet, 7 1/2 inches. Frank Davidson was another standout for the Hens as he copied the half-mile and broad jump events.

Giardello Boxes Troy In Friday Middleweight Bout

Troy To Challenge Joey For Rating As No. 1 Challenger For Crown

Joe Giardello's newly acquired rating as number one contender to challenge Bobo Olson will be challenged by Willie Troy in a scheduled 10-round middleweight match as the Friday television and radio feature from Madison Square Garden on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports.

This bout is of primary importance to both boys since the winner will be in an excellent position to challenge the winner of the April 2 title-go between Olson and Gavilan. This feature contest will receive nationwide coverage through the facilities of the NBC television and ABC radio networks, starting at 10 p.m.

Giardello, a crowd pleasing boxer, has always impressed the experts with his excellent style, especially in recent appearances. He has gained forty-eight victories since turning pro in 1948. Joe's combination of boxing or slugging plus a good left hand has enabled him to score over such well-knowns as Billy Graham, Ernie Durando, Joey Giambra, Walter Turner and most recently Walter Currier.

Troy, stablemate of Rocky Marciano, is regarded as a better than average boxer. A powerful counter puncher, Willie has kayaked 20 of his 26 victims while losing only one via a decision. Since turning pro in 1951, Willie has defeated among others Randy Sandy, Lee Sala, Terry Moore and Billy Kilgore.

The action in what promises to be an interesting and bruising contest will be described by Jimmy Powers, Don Dunphy and Win Elliot.

MAC Athletic Conference To Be Held Here, Friday

Clinics in spring sports will be held from 10 a.m. to noon with fall and winter sports sessions following the luncheon meeting.

Davey Douglas Top Money With Baton Rouge Tie-for

Newark Pro Cards 281 For Fifth Place Tie For $650 To Boost Winter Tour Earnings To Middlecoff, 19th At Baton Rouge, Second Win

The idea of March found Davey Douglas setting pace in leading the winter-touring golf professionals winners after scoring a fifth place tie in the $10,000 Rouge Open on Sunday. Lean and with a hungry look, proved dangerous, too, as Newark's touring titan won the first prize purse of $6,200 last week Houston Open and then checked in with a $650 win more recent Louisiana melon.

High School Plans Approved By State Bd. Of Education

New Buildings To House
600 Pupils; Provisions
For Expansion Included

The floor plan of the proposed Newark senior high has been approved by the State Department of Public Instruction, Wilmer E. Shue, superintendent of the district, announced last week.

The plans call for a one-story structure containing offices, library, cafeteria, gymnasium, and a three non-classroom facilities. Attached to it would be a two-story classroom section.

The $2,060,000 that will be available for the district's building program if the Mt. Pleasant tax suit is decided by June, must be shared with the Brookside Elementary School project. With an estimated $1,200,000 left for the high school, officials of the district hope to build enough classrooms for 600 students at first, plus as many other facilities as possible. Long-range plans call for adding an auditorium and increasing the capacity to 1,200 students.

Construction of the West Park Place Elementary School is "showing good progress," Mr. Shue stated. The concrete subfloor was poured last week and some brickwork had been started on walls of the one-story structure. The floors contain pipes for radiant heating, which will be supplemented with forced air. It is still expected that the contractors will meet the Sept. 15 deadline for finishing the school, Mr. Shue said.

Cabinets are being installed and the first coat of paint being applied in the second dormitory of the E. Frances Medill School on the Capitol Trail. This addition is due to be finished by Easter. The kitchen at Medill is nearly finished and milk is being served every noon, but hot meals will not be served there until next fall because of staff and other problems.

The contractors finished linking the second half of the new school into the heating system in less than a full day after shutting off the heat. Room mothers had provided space heaters and there was no break in classes because of the cold, Mr. Shue said. It had been predicted that the job would take three days.

Scouting developments in the district during the past year and a preview of activities for the next twelve months will be discussed as a major part of the program.

Delayed Removal Of Dead Trees Cited As Hazard

Aging in the wood, beneficial for some things, is anything but that for dead and dying trees. They should not be left standing too long. This seems pretty obvious, but tree experts say too many property owners delay having trees felled in the mistaken belief removals become more economical the longer the hulks stand.

Actually, this neglect compounds the peril for both passerby and the professional tree men who eventually will be called upon to remove the trees. To make matters worse, the property owners may have to pay more than the normal cost for prompt tree removal.

That's because some tree surgeons rightly require premium payment for the extra hazards involved. Even under the best conditions, the experts consider dead tree removal their No. 1 accident hazard.

In the city, trees are removed by cutting into small pieces that are carefully lowered with stout ropes. They are not felled the way lumberjacks do it in the forest.

Getting rid of unsightly dead and dying trees is a great favor to the landscape in general. Decaying trees often are breeding grounds for insects that can infect healthy trees. With elms, in particular, removal and burning is vital to prevent the spread of Dutch elm disease, carried by the elm bark beetle.

Money to Burn!

WE hear tell that there's a Maharajah or something in Asia who is said as much gold as he weighs. No doubt he has money to burn. But for us more ordinary people money is pretty hard to come by. That's why bank savings are so important, because when money is put into a bank it draws interest. The Maharajah needn't worry about interest, but we ordinary folks can't let this get away either.

The board voted to purchase the land for the temporary play area between the temporary Brookside Elementary School and Brookside Boulevard. The land will be graded by the development firm. The Newark Recreation Association was again authorized to use the high school and New London Avenue School playgrounds, and the first floor of the old Main Street School in the summer.

Henry M. Brader, elementary school supervisor, reported 900 pupils in extra-curricular studies have received physical examinations and 220 cards about defects—mostly in teeth—were sent to parents. Cards have been returned by 81, indicating the health need has been taken care of. There were 21 pupils present when the children were examined, he added.

He added that those who live within the corporate limits of Newark also paid a city tax bringing the overall total to $1.43 per $100.

These figures were then compared with last year's property taxes in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

A property owner in the Penna. School District in New Jersey paid $8.84 per $100 of assessed value last year and a property owner in West Chester, Pa., paid $2.35 per $100 plus a capitation tax of $10.

Taxes collected for the Newark Special School District last year totaled $59,760. Of this amount $31,000 was used to supplement the state allowance of $423,700 for current operating expenses in the district, Mr. Hageneyer stated.

Olson and Tully have discovered that these undesirable formations may be prevented or minimized by reacting the metal chloride with oxygen-containing gas in a tubular conduit the wall of which is made of a porous heat-resistant substance, and then slowly and continuously diffusing through such wall an inert gas which may be nitrogen or helium.

By their process, a protective layer of the inert gas is maintained within and over the internal surfaces of the reaction vessel so that such surfaces are shielded and kept out of contact with the products being treated.
