MAD DOG SCARE ALARMS TOWN

All Dogs Must Be Muzzled As Result of Saturday's Excitement

ANIMAL FINALLY KILLED NEAR COOCH'S BRIDGE

Local Man Receives Pasteur Treatment

A stray Airedale, suffering from hydrophobia in an advanced stage, entered Newark during the height of Saturday afternoon business activity last week and wandered about town, biting several dogs before it was finally shot by a farmer living near Cooch's Bridge.

Boland Herdman, Board of Health bacteriologist examined the head Sunday evening, and called a special meeting of the town Board of Health to take up the matter of muzzling dogs. An order was formulated, in which all dogs found within town limits without a muzzle on or leash after today, Wednesday, will be immediately shot by officers.

The mad dog was a fine Airedale, owned by B. Trimmingham, of 2425 West 16th Street, Wilmington. It was first seen early Saturday afternoon in Deandale, where it bit one or two dogs. The animal then traversed Choate Street to Main and up Main to the Deer Park Hotel, then back to Academy Street in the early evening. Estimates reveal that probably 15 dogs owned by Newark citizens will have to be shot as a result of bits.

There were no people bitten and, although the news spread over town like wildfire, very few actually saw the strange brute on its travels.

Town Council has authorized the Board of Health to take whatever steps are necessary in preventing a spread of the disease among local canines.

The disease-stricken dog was seen by several people on Newark streets, but it showed no tendency to attack them. It tore up a young pig and bit the head off a chicken near Cooch's Bridge before it was destroyed.

Willard Bradley, of Chapel street, is taking the Pasteur treatment as a preventative of the dread disease. Mr. Bradley's hand was flecked with saliva from the mad dog Saturday, as he was stopping its attack on another canine, and when the member began to pain him, he was advised by Dr. Blake to take the treatment.

PUTTING IN NEW DOORS

Workmen are busy this week in replacing the old doors of the Academy Building with new ones which open outward, thus doing away with a real danger in case of fire. Other minor repairs are also being made.

MUMFORD HEAD OF REHAB POULTRY FARM

Entered Into New Duties July 1st. Several Experiments Will Be Made Here

Since July 1, last, Carroll W. Mumford has been superintendent of the Rehabilitation Poultry Plant of the University of Delaware, located on the University farm near the P. R. R. station.

Mr. Mumford was one of the first students to enroll in the Rehabilitation school and his training is entirely a result of work in this division combined with several months' experience at the great poultry center of Vineland, N. J., and visits to other institutions and poultry plants. For several months before appointment he served as acting superintendent directly under the supervision of Professor A. S. Schaffle, the Head of the Poultry Department.

The Director of the Rehabilitation School, Mr. R. M. Upton, has also appointed Mr. Mumford as assistant instructor in the Poultry Department of the school. In this connection Mr. Mumford will assist Professor Schaffle in laboratory classes and in the instruction of the various practice classes connected with the Poultry Department.

Toward the more successful accomplishment of the above duties Mr. Mumford is carrying on experiments with nesting, pedigree work, genetics, poultry cost accounting, etc. From time to time articles will be published in these columns concerning the progress of these experiments.

DOG OWNERS WARNED

The local Board of Health, as a result of the current mad dog trouble, has ordered all dog owners to tie up or muzzle their animal before midnight tonight. All dogs running loose without muzzles thereafter will be shot on sight.

In the meantime Council plans to draw up an ordinance with regard to the dog question which will, it is expected, take care of all future misunderstandings during such emergencies.

REHAB-STUDENT GETS CARNIVAL AUTO

Samuel Kellar Holds Lucky Ticket; Other Articles Given Away

RAIN DELAYED AFFAIR

Due to a delay caused by rain on Wednesday night of last week, the date set for the awarding of the prize automobile, the first Carnival of the Red Men and Heptasophs of Newark closed Saturday evening with the usual big crowd, and the awarding of the Star automobile.

The winner proved to be a Newark resident, Samuel Kellar, a member of the Rehabilitation School at the University and well known in the community. Mr. Kellar lives at 74 Delaware avenue. The winning number was 39-W. Mr. Kellar in addition to the winning ticket, took another chance on the car, making his total expenditure for the prize 43 cents.

Other Winners

After the car was disposed of, several other articles were given away in the same manner by the Carnival committee. Two rugs and a manicure set went to fortunate ticket holders, S. R. Sweeney and Miss Alice Marvel, the latter a member of the 1923 Summer School, were local winners.

An unusually large attendance was recorded at the Carnival the last night.

Carns were parked in Academy street two abreast along both sides and many more in the immediate vicinity.

George A. Koerber, Ernest Frazer, Irvin Durnall and W. S. Armstrong took charge of the prize drawing. The former two together with other men were not in any way connected with the carnival and were present as inspectors.

The two largest carnivals in the vicinity to date were kind to Newark people, as the car awarded by the Elkton Ball Team's carnival went to John Daley of this place.

Special award winners announced at the closing of the Carnival are as follows:

Gold Watch—Won by Ralph Edmondson of Delaware avenue.

Fountain Pen—Won by Mary White of Cleveland avenue.

Eversharp Pencil—Won by Charles Whiteman of Marshallton, Del.

Wicker Rocking Chair—Won by Frederick Kenelharz of North Chapel street.

Wicker Stand—Won by A. C. Stiltz, Jr., Delaware avenue.

The net proceeds of the carnival were announced yesterday afternoon by W. S. Armstrong to be in the neighborhood of $1500. Mr. Armstrong expressed his appreciation of the way the Newark community helped make it a success.

CHANGING BANK INTERIOR

In order to make more room for convenient attention to business, part of the present lobby of the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Co. will be added to the banking room, by the removal of the small customers' room to the right of the doorway. Several square feet of space will thus be reclaimed without hindrance to the patrons.

NEW HOSPITAL STARTS

Dr. G. H. Richards has opened one of the most complete and attractive little hospitals in this section of the country at Port Deposit. The hospital was formerly the Heald mansion house and was purchased by Dr. Richards over a year ago and remodelled. At the present time fourteen patients are under treatment at the local institution.

TEMPORARY DORM FOR WOMEN'S COLLEGE

School Auxiliary Comes To Aid of University To Relieve Crowded Conditions

Seeking admission to Women's College and no room! Such are the cold, blank, sad facts facing University authorities. Crowded last year, conditions are still worse now.

Dean Robinson predicted this condition a year ago and before she left for Europe there was a waiting list with no dormitory accommodations. Turn girls away when they want to come, turn teacher training applicants away or bar outside students—these were all too serious to consider.

Then as usual, it seems, the Delaware School Auxiliary decided to come to the assistance again. Dean Robinson and Rodney Sharp of the Building and Grounds Committee made application to the Auxiliary. A special meeting was called, the need presented—decision made. Another temporary building, the third to be built by this organization, will be erected by the Auxiliary thus making possible a College education for Delaware girls. A third building is ordered to be erected at once. Mr. Taylor, Engineer for the School Auxiliary, has promised to have it completed by the opening of the Fall term.

Just another instance of the failure of the General Assembly is the local comment and a civic conscience of individuals making good where public officials fail. There are already over 20 applicants for rooms in the building—all other available space being taken.

EXCURSION TOMORROW

The members of the St. Thomas Episcopal Church School, accompanied by their parents and friends, will leave tomorrow morning for an all-day excursion to Riverside Park, N. J. They will go to Wilmington by car and take the Wilson Line boat for the river trip.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

The following real estate sales and transfers were reported yesterday by the Newark Trust and Safe Deposit Company:

The property of Elizabeth M. Sakers, on Park Place, has been purchased by Ernest Friebe, of Wilmington, Del.

The Aubrey Travers home on Choate Street was sold last week to George Dobson of Newark. Mr. Travers will take up his residence shortly near Vineland, N. J., where he will engage in project work in connection with his studies in the Rehabilitation School here.

The property formerly owned by Mrs. E. K. Butler on New London Avenue was sold to William G. Saunders, Jr.

TO SAIL THROUGH CANAL TO WEST COAST

Two Newark Boys Leave Saturday for Two Months' Trip

J. Penrose Wilson, Jr., and R. Frank Dunlevy, both of Newark, leave Saturday the 21st from Fall River, Mass., for San Pedro, California. They will make the trip on the S. S. Taalagas, Captain Samuel Milliken, of Pittsburgh, in command.

They will pass through the Panama Canal on the trip. It is expected that they will be gone for about two months.

"FARMERS' DAY" SET FOR AUGUST 9TH

Good Speakers and Picnic Lunch Will Feature Event

The annual "Farmers' Day" will be held on the University Farm Thursday, August 9th. Good speakers will be provided and the usual basket picnic will be held. Coffee will be served by the University. Fruit growers will be especially interested in fertilizer experiments in the apple orchard. This experiment has been running fifteen years and some remarkable differences are now apparent from the effects of different fertilizer treatments.

Poultry men will be interested in the poultry plant and the experimental plots of corn and grains always show a lesson to the general farmer.

JAIL BREAKERS PASS THROUGH NEWARK ON DARING BREAK FOR FREEDOM

Buy Clothes and Food from Local Merchants—Abandon Car Near Elkton—Separate Into Two Parties

POLICE OF FIVE STATES ON MAN-HUNT

Newark received a thrill in connection with the escape last Saturday morning of six prisoners from the Eastern Penitentiary in Philadelphia, when the town was visited by the men. They stopped at at least two business houses here to purchase clothing and food, before going on to a point near Elkton off the main highway where they remained in hiding until nightfall, after which they abandoned the car and bound the chauffeur.

Isaac Murriz, Main street merchant, waited on a well dressed stranger about 11.00 o'clock Saturday morning. The stranger bought two pairs of trousers and a straw hat and seemed to be in a hurry. Mr. Murriz was busy with other customers, and failed to see the other men in the touring car parked outside the store. One of the salesgirls at the store, however, said she saw the men in the back seat kicking and bending over something on the floor of the car. It was probably the chauffeur whom they abducted with the car. The men, said the girl, were roughly dressed and in shirtsleeves.

Headed For Open Sea

An Elkton taxi driver asserted that he drove two strangers from Elkton to the B. and O. station in Newark and was of the opinion that they were the two who left the main party. The rumor could not be confirmed.

Four of the escaped prisoners are believed to have headed south from Elkton and reached Pocomoke City or some nearby town Sunday night. A motor boat was stolen and it is said they headed down the bay. Wireless messages and radio broadcasts are being sent to all points on the lower bay to be on the lookout.

Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland are excited over the escape and close watch is being kept on all roads, and ports of call along the Chesapeake Bay. Fast patrol boats are on the water day and night, hoping to overtake the criminals.

TWENTY-EIGHT BUSHELS IS THE RECORD YIELD

Enos Slack Holds Ribbon To Date For Local Wheat Production

Bad weather for hay, worse for tomatoes, impossible for wheat plowing, it is fine for threshing—and the "Thashing Siren" is sounding around the hills hereabouts.

The yield this year is uncertain, some farmers reporting as low as 13 bushels. The average of some twenty yields reported is 21 bushels. Today Enos Slack, near Pencader, wears the ribbon for the big field yield. His whole acreage gave him a registered yield of something over 28 bushels.

This farm near Pencader crossing, just southeast of town, has always been a producer—even back in the days of the Harnish ownership. Mr. Slack, during the last fifteen years, by intensive culture and personal attention has made it one of the prize farms of the section.

SEWING CLUB ORGANIZES

Members of the Newark Busy B Club, a sewing club recently organized by Miss Naomi Pepper, acting County Club Leader, held an interesting meeting in Wolf Hall Monday afternoon. Miss Pepper gave some demonstration of club work. Parents of the girl members attended the

DR. WALTER HULLIHEN SAILS FOR FRANCE

Dr. Walter Hullihen, president of the University of Delaware, and Mrs. Hullihen sailed from New York for France today. They will tour several countries and will return about September 1st. While in Paris Dr. Hullihen will meet Professor R. W. Kirkbride and the eight Delaware students who recently went to France for a year's study under the Foreign Study Plan.

FAMOUS EDITOR HERE ON THURSDAY

Ernest Abbott Speaks in Wolf Hall Thursday Evening

BISHOP HUGHES PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE

Lecture Series Draws State- Wide Attention

The series of lectures and Sunday evening services at the University of Delaware Summer School continues with increasing success. On Sunday evening Bishop Edwin Hughes, of Boston, preached an eloquent sermon on the text, "Honor Thy Father and Mother," to the largest audience of the Summer School this year.

During the entire week Dr. Otis W. Caldwell will lecture each morning and afternoon to the students who are required to attend the lectures and will receive credit for them. Dr. Caldwell is the Director of the Lincoln School, Teachers' College, Columbia, and is one of the foremost educationalists in the country. He will undoubtedly have much of value to bring to Delaware teachers by telling them what has been done in the Lincoln School and pointing out what can be done in Delaware.

On Thursday, Ernest Abbott, Editor-in-chief of the Outlook, will lecture at 7.30, standard time, in Wolf Hall on "How a Weekly Periodical is Made." A son of the late Lyman Abbott, Ernest Abbott has recently succeeded his brother as editor of one of the best known weeklies in the country. He was graduated from Harvard in 1893 and from Andover Theological Seminary in 1896. Since that time he has been on the editorial staff of the Outlook, acting as special correspondent on many occasions of international import such as the Peace Conference at Paris and the Arms Conference at Washington. In addition to his editorial work, he is the author of several books.

The next Sunday evening service will be conducted by the Reverend George H. Toop, D.D., Rector of the Holy Apostles, Philadelphia, and special music will be given by W. LeRoy Fraim, of Philadelphia, assisted by a quartette composed of Jane Neilson, soprano; Marie Stone Langston, contralto; Bernard Poland, tenor; Henry Hotz, basso; of Philadelphia.

Jane Neilson, whose singing was so thoroughly enjoyed at the first Sunday evening concert, will return as soprano for the quartette. Miss Neilson is taking a personal interest in the present series and for her final appearance has chosen a very beautiful solo which she will sing in addition to the two appearances with the quartette.

Marie Stone Langston has appeared so many times before Newark audiences and has been received so enthusiastically that further comment seems unnecessary. Miss Langston still retains the great volume and beauty of tone for which her voice always has been noted. During the past season fifty-two appearances were made in concert, while in May she filled a week's engagement at the Stanley, Philadelphia.

Sunday evening the Reverend Edgar Jones, Rector of the Episcopal Church of Newark, will have charge of the service.

A TRAFFIC COP?

It is the opinion of local police officials and many citizens that a traffic officer should be stationed at the corner of Main and Academy Streets at stated times during the week.

Constable Ellison stated that the need was the greatest on Wednesday and Saturday evenings. On the latter night, hundreds of cars pass through town and at times assume the proportions of a parade. The Academy Street corner is admittedly a dangerous one, and all efforts should be made, in the opinion of several residents, to guard against a probable accident during busy hours.

A near jam resulted Saturday night when cars parked solid on Academy Street poured out on the main thoroughfare. Fortunately no mishap occurred.

MAMMOTH DAM NEAR CONOWINGO

The Federal Power Commission has granted a permit for a huge power house and dam across the Susquehanna River above Conowingo, a project which has been planned for a number of years. The estimated cost will be $20,000,000.

Experts say that the power unit will rival the Niagara Falls plant in both size and output. The current produced from the dam will be used to light cities and towns in four states, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York and Delaware. Federal engineers are now making a preliminary survey.

REV. B. F. JESTER WAS WELL KNOWN IN TOWN
Killed in Wilmington Auto Accident on Birthday
GRANDSON LIVES HERE

"13" ODDLY LINKED WITH DEAD PASTOR'S LIFE

The number "13" played an almost uncanny part in the life of Rev. B. F. Jester, who was killed in Wilmington Friday. Here are some of the odd facts:
He was born on Friday the 13th and died on Friday the 13th.
He was the youngest of 13 children.
His mother was 49 years of age when he was born; 4 and 9 add to 13.
He was killed on his 67th birthday; 6 and 7 add to 13.
He was the father of 13 children.

Local people were shocked to hear of the untimely death of the Rev. B. F. Jester, of Wilmington, who was fatally injured in Wilmington when run down by an auto at Fourth and French Streets Friday last. His wife and daughters were preparing for a surprise birthday party for him at the time he was killed. He was 67 years old.

Rev. Jester was well known to many residents of Newark, having for many years been actively associated with church work here. He was also engaged in the insurance business for a time and made many trips down here.

H. D. Jester, of Newark, the oldest grandson of the deceased survives him. The two Jester children are the dead man's only great-grandchildren.

The deceased was known as the "Baptizing Parson," having baptized more children than any other minister in this section of the country. Fifteen years ago, while a minister in Dover, he was badly injured when his horse ran away. The funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in Harrison Street M. E. Church, Wilmington.

ELKTON AND RISING SUN TIE FOR LEAD
Former Team Noses Out Elk Mills in Clever Game Saturday

The race for the second half banner in the Susquehanna League tightened as a result of Saturday's games. Elkton maintained their lead but were tied by Rising Sun, their ancient rivals. Bel Air, first half winners, have dropped to fifth place in the standing.

Elkton's two runs in the first inning stood them in good stead when they warded off the dangerous rallies of the Elk Mills boys on the latter grounds before a big crowd Saturday. Early leads are customary with the County Seat tossers. One run in the ninth won the game, however.

Cleaver Potts, the popular and hard working catcher of the Elkton outfit had another big day as did Bill Shanner, star moundsman. Allen, Elk Mills pitcher, besides twirling a high grade game, pounded out four hits to top off his day's work.

The big crowd held many scores of Elkton rooters, and they were rewarded with a great game. The score:

FIND NO TRACE OF STOLEN AUTOMOBILE
Police of Nearby Towns on Watch for Thieves

Local police officials have not succeeded in apprehending the thieves who stole the Ford car belonging to Miss Helen M. Thompson of Port Deposit, Md., which was stolen in Newark Thursday morning last. Flyers have been sent out to Wilmington, Elkton and many other towns in this section of the country, giving a description of the car in the hope that it will be picked up.

Miss Thompson, a member of the 1923 Summer School at the University, bought the car but three weeks ago, and was using it daily from her home in Maryland to Newark. She usually brought several other students along each morning. On this particular morning she parked her car in front of the residence of Daniel Thompson on Main street, and left it securely locked before going to classes.

When she returned at noon to procure her lunch, the car had disappeared. Officer Lewis and Constable Ellison were immediately notified of the theft and have been on the trail ever since.

QUIET WEEK IN COURT

The Newark Palace of Justice has been on an enforced vacation the past week. The mad dog scare was, of course, a bit out of the ordinary, and relieved the monotony of keeping watch over a community which has absolutely refused to be bad. Everybody appears to be in a most amiable frame of mind. Hence the lull.

LAURA AXWORTHY IS BEATEN AT GLASGOW
Straight Heats Mark Events At Second Race Matinee

Miss Willowdale threw a surprise into the large throng of horse-lovers who watched the second matinee of the season at the J. Wirt Willis Farm near Glasgow Saturday afternoon. The above entry won the Class C event in two heats, making the best time of the matinee season at the Willis Track. Laura Axworthy, winner of a similar event the last meeting, was forced to be content with third money, being nosed out for second place by Fatima Axworthy.

The other events on the card went in straight heats. Ruth Todd, J. P. T. and Waponetti repeated their victories of the meeting three weeks ago.

Attractive Roadhouse A Mecca For Cecil Countians

Several hundred people attended the opening of Green Hill Inn, near North East, Saturday afternoon and evening. The place was formerly the Thomas mansion house, situated on the State Road between North East and Perryville, and will be an ideal stopping place for automobile travelers. Miss Ruth Murray, formerly with Wanamaker's Tea Room, is manager of the Inn.

Japanese lanterns in festoons across the lawn, a bright, cheery porch with tables and an old-fashioned home, attractively and conveniently arranged makes it a place which is a delight to the casual visitor.

TEACHERS' EXAM SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

August 10th and 11th Dates Set by State Department

Examinations for persons desiring to secure regular certificates will be held on Friday and Saturday, August 10th and 11th, at the following places:

No. 1 School, Wilmington; Dover High School; Georgetown High School; Seaford High School; Dover Colored School.

Schedule for examinations is as follows:

Friday, August Tenth

Morning—Arithmetic, handwriting, spelling, Delaware history.

Afternoon—U. S. history, geography, music, theory and practice of teaching.

Saturday, August Eleventh

Morning—Reading, oral and written English, elementary science, community civics.

Afternoon—Drawing, hygiene and sanitation, physical training, hand-work.

Teachers desiring to take other examinations than those mentioned in the above schedule must notify the State Department of Public Instruction at least four weeks before the times above stated. Such other examinations will be given only at these times.

The Department will be glad to advise persons who have at some previous time taken examinations, regarding number of subjects to be passed off before receiving regular certificates. Requests for such information should be sent to the Department office as soon as possible.

MATERIAL ON HAND

Many local builders have been troubled with a failure to procure lumber of late. A car of yellow pine has arrived at the Warner McNeal yards and is being rapidly disposed of locally.

Automobiles and Pedestrians

Prepared by the Delaware Safety Council

1. No law prohibits pedestrians from using the streets. In fact, pedestrians have equal rights on the streets with automobiles and other vehicles. Just because some pedestrians use the streets needlessly and incautiously, there is no excuse for the drivers of motor vehicles not taking every precaution to avoid injuring pedestrians.

2. Drivers should stop 10 feet behind street cars, which have stopped to load or unload passengers. In some cities where there are safety zones, automobiles are permitted to pass standing cars if they do so slowly and at least 8 feet from the side of the car.

3. People who have just alighted from a trolley car sometimes are bewildered and do not know which way to go. Give them plenty of time to get their bearings before attempting to pass them.

4. Regardless of who you think is at fault, if your car injures or kills some other person you are usually held responsible. Juries are inclined to be sympathetic toward and favor the pedestrian.

5. Moreover, no matter who was to blame, and in spite of large sums of money paid for "damages," the dead cannot be brought to life, nor could anything or anybody console you in case the one killed happened to be your wife, your child, or some one or more people are crossing the street together. Quite often before an approaching automobile one person may stop, or they may separate and go in opposite directions.

6. Above all, do not unnecessarily or suddenly squawk your horn. Pedestrians may be easily frightened and temporarily "paralyzed."

7. Drivers should stop 10 feet behind street cars, which have stopped to load or unload passengers. In some cities where there are safety zones, automobiles are permitted to pass standing cars if they do so slowly and at least 8 feet from the side of the car.

8. People who have just alighted from a trolley car sometimes are bewildered and do not know which way to go. Give them plenty of time to get their bearings before attempting to pass them.

9. Moreover, no matter who was to blame, and in spite of large sums of money paid for "damages," the dead cannot be brought to life, nor could anything or anybody console you in case the one killed happened to be your wife, your child, or some one

LODGE NOTES

Jr. O. U. A. M.

Henry Mote, who was appointed a deputy installing officer in Delaware, at the last national meeting, with the aid of several of the officers of the local order, expects to visit Delaware City Council tomorrow evening. While visiting Delaware City Council he will install their officers. He expects to follow a system set forth on July 9th, by Bro. Hore, also a deputy installing officer in Delaware, and his assisting installing team when they visited Newark and installed the officers of American Flag Council No. 28.

On the occasion above mentioned, every one spent a very pleasant evening. After the installation of officers was completed all those present were served ice cream, then later cigars were passed around. The visiting brothers, before leaving, thanked the local order for the courteous treatment which they always extend to visiting brothers.

PYTHIAN WEEK INTERESTS LOCAL LODGEMEN

Fifteen thousand Pythians from various lodges in the New England and North and Middle Atlantic states are expected to gather in The Rockaways, Long Island, New York City, during "Pythian Week," to be held by the Rockaway Lodge, No. 418, Knights of Pythias, from August 4th to August 12th. Supreme Chancellor George Cabell will preside over the celebration. Letters have been directed to all lodges of the order, advising them that reservations could be made through the local Keeper of Records and Seals and enclosing a leaflet giving the large and unusual program of events for the week. This program will devote a day of Pythian week to each state in the northeast.

The program will be as follows: Saturday, August 4th, Supreme Chancellor's Day, a large parade with illuminations; Sunday, August 5th, New Jersey Day, baseball game, boating and fishing parties, surf-bathing; Monday, August 6th, District of Columbia-Maryland Day, frolics, airplane rides, motorcycle races, freak shows, etc.; Tuesday, August 7th, Massachusetts Day, sight-seeing; Wednesday, August 8th, New York Day, Dedication ceremonies, presided over by the Supreme Chancellor; Thursday, August 9th, Connecticut Day, banquet; Friday, August 10th, Pennsylvania Day, boxing bouts and theatre parties; Saturday, August 11th, Delaware Day, field events, including all kinds of races; Sunday, August 12th, Vermont-New Hampshire Day, baseball games between Brooklyn and New York lodges.

Other events and amusements, incidental to the regular program will be included in the hilarity of Pythian Week. Because of the proximity of The Rockaways to the greater city and the facilities that make the peninsula the natural playground of the east, "Pythian Week" in The Rockaways will be one of the largest get-together weeks of its kind ever held in the east.

The installation ceremonies of Ivy Castle No. 23, Knights of the Golden Eagle of Newark, will be held next Saturday evening in Center Hall, at eight o'clock.

An installation team from the Wilmington lodge will have charge of the ceremonies. Refreshments will be served to all later in the evening. Officials of the local lodge request that members bring cakes with them.

SOME RULES FOR

AVOIDING FIRE

Ashes, whether inside or outside the house, should be placed in metal receptacles. Rags or cloths used in oiling floors or polishing furniture often ignite spontaneously; they should be stored in metal containers or else burned after using. If kerosene lamps are used, keep them clean and well filled, for those allowed to burn with little oil in them are liable to explode. Hanging electric light cords on nails or hooks is almost certain in time to destroy or injure the insulation; this condition may cause a fire. Kerosene should not be used to enliven a fire,

BISHOP HUGHES LAUDS CHINESE CUSTOMS

In the course of his splendid address before the students of the Summer School and townspeople last Sunday night in Wolf Hall, Bishop Hughes took occasion to speak of the high ideals and moral uprightness of the Chinese race. He called attention to the fact that America could well afford to copy some of the customs present in the Far East. In speaking of the so-called "yellow peril," the Bishop said:

"The only yellow peril I know of that threatens the United States today is the yellow streak in some of our people."

"Honor Thy Father and Mother" was the theme of the sermon and the speaker drove home some powerful lessons calling on the young people to respect and admire their parents.

nor poured into a range or furnace even when the fire is out. An electric light bulb used for warming beds or for drying clothes is almost certain to start a fire.

POTATO INSPECTION TOUR TODAY

Several Farms Visited On County Trip

Final plans having been made by County Agent R. O. Bausman and the New Castle County Bureau for the proposed potato inspection tour in automobiles of the county, the tour was held today. The object is to increase the yield through better seed selection. Much was accomplished by the trip last year.

The tour started this morning at 9.30 o'clock, standard time, from the farm of J. Howard Mitchell & Sons at North Star School. Last year the crop raised by Mr. Mitchell from certified seed doubled in yield that grown from home grown seed. The party then motored to the farm of Mahlon P. Lee of Hockessin. Mr. Lee has an interesting demonstration showing the value of the certified seed over the local seed and the year-old certified seed.

Lunch was served at Hockessin.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Walker L. Fell, of Newark, held a party on Friday evening, July 13th, announcing the engagement of their daughter, Alice L. Fell, to Frank S. Morgan, of Germantown, Philadelphia. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Orville Little, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis W. Strong, Mr. Kennedy Fell, of Newark; Miss Celeste Blackburn and Mr. Alvin McMillan, of Landenberg, and Mr. Charles Morgan and Mr. George Young, of Germantown, Philadelphia.

WEDDING

Mrs. Letitia Fouracre and Mr. John E. Frazer, both of Newark, were quietly married yesterday evening, at seven o'clock, at the home of the former's son, Edward Fouracre, 282 Taylor Street, Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed by Elder Eubanks, pastor of Welsh Tract Church here, in the presence of a few relatives and friends. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Frazer left for a short pleasure trip to Atlantic City. They will return to Newark the latter part of this week and take up their residence on Depot Road. Mr. Frazer is gardener and caretaker at Kells.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Holton, of Newark, the latter a niece of Mr. Frazer, were present at the wedding.

Kennedy—Vansant

The marriage of Elva LeNoir Vansant and Jacob Moore Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kennedy of Pleasantville, N. J., took place on Saturday evening, July Fourteenth. Rev. George F. Conner, of West Grove, performed the ring ceremony. Miss Mary G. Kimble, of New London, was the maid of honor, and the best man was LaRue Vansant, brother of the bride.

The bride was becomingly gowned in plaited white crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of white rose buds. The maid of honor wore a beautiful white chiffon dress over satin, and carried white rose buds. The wedding supper was served at 7 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left on Sunday for Atlantic City, where he has employment. The groom is an electrician.

HIS MAJESTY THE STORK

Born in St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore, Md., to Professor and Mrs. Carl Rankin of Newark, a son. He was christened John Bruce Rankin. The newcomer arrived last Wednesday. Both mother and child are doing very nicely. Prof. Rankin is now in Baltimore with his wife and child.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Campbell are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter, born Tuesday morning of this week.

About fifty guests from Newark, Wilmington and nearby points were present at the delightful affair.

DECLARE BOY'S
DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Coroner's Jury Finds Verdict
After Tragedy Near North East

The jury called by Coroner Magaw, of Elkton, Monday evening to investigate the death of five-year-old Adrian Smelling, of Blythedale, who was fatally injured Sunday evening, returned a verdict of accidental death and exonerated David Cohn, driver of the car, of all blame for the mishap.

It is understood that the tot ran up the road from his parents' car after it had stopped by the roadside, and without warning dashed in front of the Cohn machine, which was travelling at a moderate rate of speed.

The accident, happening as it did in the early evening, attracted many passing motorists. The Cohn machine was slightly damaged when it upset in the ditch in trying to avoid the child. Mrs. Cohn was severely shaken up in the crash.

State Policemen from several nearby stations were soon on the scene and took charge, directing traffic and clearing the vicinity of the curious crowds.

VESTRY ACCEPTS RESIGNATION

At a meeting the Vestry of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church Thursday night the resignation of Dr. Edgar Jones, rector, was accepted with regrets. Dr. Jones will become Dean of the Cathedral of Cincinnati October 1st, when he leaves Newark. Mr. Ball, of Philadelphia, had charge of the services in St. Thomas' Church last Sunday.

CORRECTION

The property recently purchased by Earl Dawson on West Main Street was the George G. Brown home, not the Maxwell property, as reported in last week's issue of the Post.

JONES GOLFING EXPERT AT AGE OF FOURTEEN

Winner of National Open A Flawless Player

Not since the war had an amateur been able to win the U. S. Open Golf championship, though three of the last played prior to the war went to the credit of the simon-pures.

Bobby Jones' challenge for the title last year at Skokie, when he tied for second place with John Black a stroke back of Gene Sarazen, is the most formidable effort by an amateur since the resumption of championship play in 1919.

Bobby first began to attract national attention as a golfer back in 1916, when at the age of 14 years he qualified in the National Amateur and won his first two matches. Since that time he has been recognized as one of the most brilliant figures in golf. He was runner-up in the amateur championship at Oakmont in 1919, a semi-finalist at the Engineers' the following year, among the last eight in 1921 and a semi-finalist again last year.

His record in the last three open championships, the only one in which he has taken part, is second only to that of Walter Hagen. His total score for the 12 rounds of play in these tournaments is 891, but a stroke behind Hagen. In 1920, he tied for fifth place, and last year he tied for second.

In addition to the foregoing, he has twice won the Southern amateur championship, and in 1920 was runner-up to Chick Evans in the Western amateur.

Owing to scholastic duties in the Harvard Law School, he was unable to accompany the American amateur team to England this year. There is no doubt that Jones had all of the golfing skill of an open champion. A slashing wood club player both from the tee and through the green, a real artist with the masher and a good average putter, his game mechanically has few flaws.

PROVIDENCE WINS IN NINTH INNING RALLY

Hand River Boys Their First Jolt of Season

Providence journeyed to Charlestown, Saturday, and by an exciting rally in the ninth inning handed the Charlestown team their first beating of the season by the score of 7-4.

Two fast double plays by the Providence boys and the pitching of Anderson and King featured the game.

Scarborough hit timely for the visitors, driving in four of their seven runs.

NOW! A Shingle that's different from all others!

FLEXSTONE The Slate Surfaced Asbestos Shingle

Heretofore there has been only one Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingle, distinguishable by its rock-like hardness. With the introduction of Flexstone you may now get, at a reduced price, many of the extraordinary merits of that famous Johns-Manville rigid asbestos shingle—for Flexstone shingles, although costing less, are all mineral, fire-resistant, rot-proof. They are made of asbestos felt densely impregnated with asphalt and surfaced with red, green or blue-black slate or feldspar (gray). They should not be confused with ordinary slate surfaced shingles.

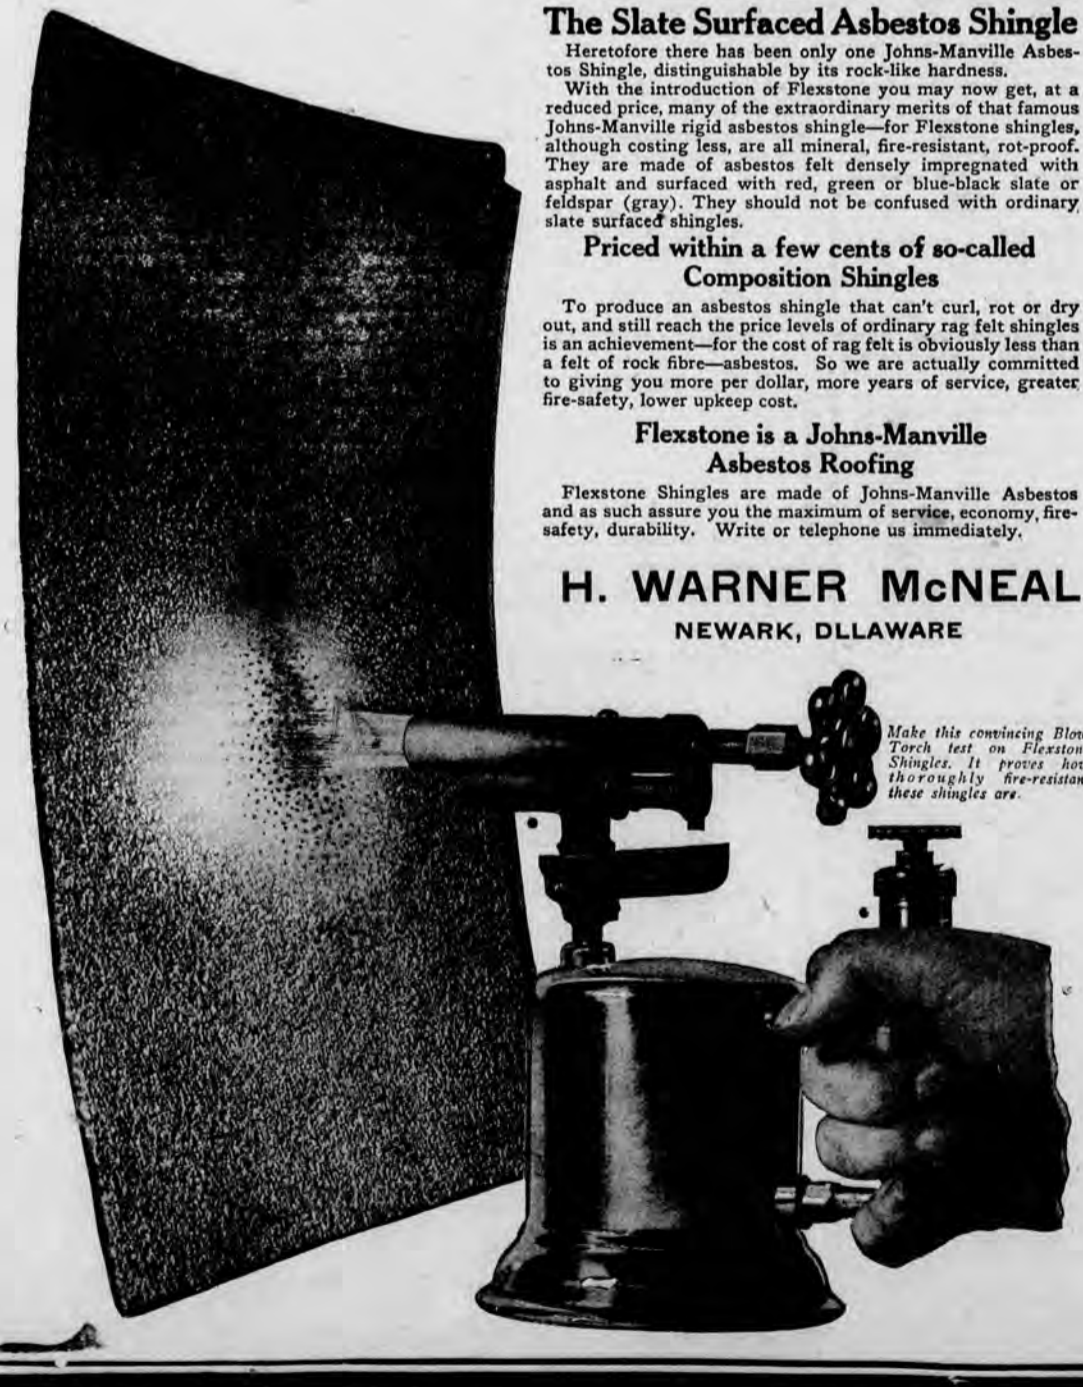

Priced within a few cents of so-called Composition Shingles

To produce an asbestos shingle that can't curl, rot or dry out, and still reach the price levels of ordinary rag felt shingles is an achievement—for the cost of rag felt is obviously less than a felt of rock fibre—asbestos. So we are actually committed to giving you more per dollar, more years of service, greater fire-safety, lower upkeep cost.

Flexstone is a Johns-Manville Asbestos Roofing

Flexstone Shingles are made of Johns-Manville Asbestos and as such assure you the maximum of service, economy, fire-safety, durability. Write or telephone us immediately.

BASEBALL AND MAD DOGS A BAD COMBINATION

Dear Mr. Ticker: Well, another week has flew by on the wings of Time as the poets would say. Speaking of poets, Sally Ann (that's my wife, you know) heard about that real live poet you folks up at Newark corralled, hog-tied and dragged into Wolf Hall last Wednesday, so she put on her new shoes and store clothes and went up to see him. Maybe I should have went too, to report the session, but I had to play checkers that night, so Sally Ann said she would give me the dope verbally. When she got back home, I asked her what it was all about and she said "I'll be darned if I know," so how is a fellow going to write without something to write about. I saw a fellow up to the creamery yesterday morning who was present and he said just what Sally said only with a few more remarks added. So I guess it must of been a real good poet you folks caught. But to get back to my subject (as Mr. Chauncey Depew would so intemperately say), us folks down here never let a week go by without getting a thrill of some kind and this one is no exception. Take Saturday for inst. They had a baseball game in Newark and hoss racin in Glasgow besides thrashin and fishing in the creek. Of course you don't get much of a thrill out of thrashin, but like takin a bath on Saturday, it's just got to be done. However, not being engaged in tillin the soil, I gathered up my notebook and pencil and took some impressions of the ball game in Newark. I was much interested in the Funk Army which held the right side of the Yorklyn defensive line all afternoon. I knew them boys up at Unionville, Pa., several years ago. In fact, if you look close at them, you will find that they shaved off full beards so they could pass for youngsters. My Granddaddy used to play corner ball at sales with them fellows. The Continental Band was there too, and played some of that Jazz stuff which is keepin girls from out of the kitchen and wearin out shoe leather somethin terrible. The Band boys had plenty of pep, and cheered the home team in defeat with great eclate (that's a now one Mr. Ticker. It's being used by the best writers nowadays.) But this thrill of the ball game and ice cream in town wasn't nothin compared to the Mad Dog Scare we had Sunday. Somebody told somebody else to tell the cop that a Mad Dog was in town. And that's how it started. They chased the poor dog all over Newark and finally down here to the Bridge. Feelin that there weren't any dogs down here but what it would be a blessing to have bitten, the officers stopped runnin and went back home. Along about afternoon Sunday, the dog was seen wanderin around the roads down this way, so one of my neighbors took it upon himself to try out his new gun. He took a shot at the dog from a distance of twenty feet, and much to his surprise the dog fell down completely dead. We were all excited and kept the children in the attic, and the dogs in the parlor until it was all over. They took the poor brute's noble head to my friend Roland Herdman, and he pronounced it Hydrophoby in its fullest sense of the word. Now we all have got to keep our dogs out of Newark unless we want them shot. I know of a few that I'd like to take up there when I go to the creamery, but Sally Ann says that would be unethical. The Great Fall Drive of Politicians is about ready to start, and I suppose they will come down here botherin us same as ever. Like as not they will ask me to run for somethin, but I just won't listen to them. Bill Brooks up at Glasgow has an open air meeting every night out on the wall by his store, and I guess they're fixin up some devilment, but I will be no party to any politics until I join the Elks next winter. Then I'm goin out for Prohibition officer. Just the mere mention of that would scare more bootleggers out of this neighborhood pronto. Cause I could bring Pros. Harding down here and tell him a snappy story about most every farmhouse around here. But these folks is my friends, and though I could expose them in the New York Times any Sunday I wanted to, I would hate to do it. They say somethin about a County Fair over Elkton way pretty soon. Oh well, that means another pair of fancy shoes for Sally Ann. Seems though I can't lay up a cent any more. My special writin pays pretty well but these Newspaper fellers don't think about me havin an expensive wife. If you see Sol Wilson any time soon, ask him whether he has my pants don which I left there about February 1st. "Over The River" Respectfully, etc. JOSEPH SPIVUS.

NOTES "Over the river," as you perhaps don't know, is one of them toasts which is included in a new book I just bought called "Toasts And After Dinner Stories" by the Author of "Alice in Wonderland and Others." They're some pretty good stories in that book, toasts for every drink except water.

WILLYS

No Trick Seats. The new Willys-Knight Coupe-Sedan has no folding seats to climb over or squeeze between. Instead, it has doors both front and rear, offering easy entrance and exit to all five passengers. This superb creation combines engineering excellence with complete, luxurious closed car appointments at a modest price. We know of no Willys-Knight engine that has worn out.

The Facts of Success —and Why

- 1—A Million Dollars in 18 Years
- 2—50 per cent Dividend
- 3—$194,775.85 of Profits Given to Patrons

This is the story of a Success made right here in Newark. There is no need of comment. The FACTS presented by these startling figures speak for themselves. When the Little Bank around the Corner started, everyone admired their faith in the town but doubted their business judgment. Their Ideals were the subject of smiles and their promises were sincerely questioned. The Idea was considered fine but unnecessary—Newark did not need such an institution.

The Reason for Success

The Directors started with a new Idea in Rural Banking. Interest was paid on Savings Accounts at the rate of 4 per cent—something never done in Rural Banking.

Here was an Idea—something new. Directors and Stockholders sharing profits with their depositors and patrons—something unheard of in rural banking.

So Success Came

Figures not Words tell the story. The capital stock increased from $30,000 to $50,000. A new Bank was built. No Dividends were paid the first 3 1-2 years because the Directors were building for the future and Newark. They were building for the success that has now come—A Million Dollar Bank—and in 18 years. In 1909 they paid to stockholders—$900. since then they have paid $81,900.00.

They have laid aside in undivided profits—the greatest of all their Ideas of sharing profits, has won for them in these 18 years and they have paid out in interest to patrons the sum of $194,775.85.

Four Newark Girls Included Among Those Having Positions

Four Newark members of the 1923 graduating class of the Women's College of Delaware have obtained positions in the teaching profession for the coming school year. Many other members have also accepted similar positions.

Miss Elizabeth McNeal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Warner McNeal, will teach English in the Paulsboro, N. J., High School. Miss Edna Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Green, of near Newark, enters the local High School and will teach Mathematics. The third Newark member of the class, Miss Marion Gallaher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Gallaher, goes to Tracopow, Virginia, where she will teach History, English and Latin in the schools there. Miss Alice Jaquette, also of Newark, will teach English and History in the High School here.

Miss Ruth King another member of the class has accepted the position of Assistant Dietitian at the University. Commons here, taking the place of Miss Marion Skewis. Miss Skewis leaves this fall for New York City where she has entered Columbia University, and will work for a degree from that institution.

W. Faye Moore will be teacher of Mathematics and Science at Beesley's Point, N. J. E. Lucile Roe will be a teacher of Mathematics and Science in Princess Anna, Maryland. Sara S. Roe will go to the same county to teach English and Physical Education. Helen D. Shorb will teach Home Economics at Delaware City, and Mabel E. Smith will teach the same subject at Dover. Elizabeth J. Walker will teach in Denton, Md.

Community Association After Successful Week

The carnival held at Stanton under the auspices of the Stanton Community Association closed Saturday night, it being very successful in every way. The Ferris Industrial School Band furnished music and there were other special features on the program. The attendance was very large and all of the booths did a profitable business.

A thoroughbred calf, donated to the association, was awarded to John W. Banks, of Stanton. John W. Marvel, Jr., won a $2.50 gold piece and an entrance ticket to the Wilmington Fair, while John W. Marvel, Sr., won a ton of coal.

The vessel docked at Cherbourg, France, and the party proceeded at once to Paris. Ocean letters were received by relatives of the three young women here.

A. D. Cobb, State Club Leader, is making the arrangements for the annual club week for members of Boys' and Girls' clubs of the State to be held at the University August 7th to 11th inclusive.

KEEP YOUR EYES OPEN

Merchants in the lower part of New Castle County have been warned to look out for a forger who has been operating in this end of the State. A peculiarity about his methods is that he invariably presents checks for $25 in making payment for small purchases at stores. Such checks passed in various towns in the county have been found by shopkeepers, who cashed them for the stranger, and found them to be worthless when they presented the checks at the banks.

COLORED MASONS ORGANIZE

Local colored Masons recently organized the King Solomon Consistory with 24 members. The initiation was in charge of Dr. W. H. Benderson, 33d degree P. S. G. C., assisted by Grand Master David A. Boyles, 33d degree N. S. G. C. The following is a list of those who took the thirty-third and thirty-second degrees: Thirty-third degree, John H. Boyles, Isaac H. Watson, Himan Lambert, Robert Winn, John Hudson and Henry Dorsey; thirty-second degree, Delbert Simpers, Louis Toulson, Samuel Watson, George Brown, Edwin Bishop, Ernest Tryman, Howard Wilson, Samuel Gilbert, William Boyles, Chas. Hayman, Richard Williams, Thos. Loper, Thomas Rider, Jordan Smith, Thomas Anderson, Wilkins Stafford, Thomas Smith and Robert Watson. John H. Boyles was elected commander-in-chief; John Hudson, secretary and David W. Boyles, grand master.

LOAD OF WHEAT IS DESTROYED BY FLAMES

Threshing Engine Spark Ignites Grain on Benson Farm

The Newark firemen were called out Friday morning last to the Benson farm along the Lincoln Highway about three miles from Newark when a load of wheat being brought to the threshing machine passed too close to the engine.

Sparks from the latter set fire to the load and a lively blaze ensued. Failing to put out the flames and realizing the possibility of its spreading to the big pile of straw nearby, workmen sent in a hurry call for the load on the wagon, and saved the firemen.

Using the chemical extinguishers, the Aetna boys confined the fire to the straw pile.

LOCAL GUARDSMEN WIN CAMP HONORS

Return from Four Day Instruction Period at Militia Camp on Long Island

Led by Lieut. Frank Mote, eight officers and non-commissioned officers of Battery "E," 198th Field Artillery, (Anti-Aircraft) joined similar groups from other states for a four day period of instruction at Camp Alexander Hamilton, formerly Camp Upton on Long Island, N. Y. The local guardsmen returned to Newark Friday last and won honors for marksmanship at the camp. The first day on the anti-aircraft range Newark's battery crew showed the way in the matter of hits. Individual honors for local men went to William M. Crow and Burton Reynolds. These men each scored hits during aerial target practice match with a New Hampshire outfit. The Delaware Unit won scoring four hits to none.

The latest model anti-aircraft weapons were demonstrated to and operated by the local soldiers, the object being to train them for instruction work when the large camp opens late this month.

In machine gun work, Dover's battery won the assembling contest, and New Castle carried off the honors in disassembling the gun.

Several pictures were brought home by the Newark contingent showing the group operating the weapons.

NAME ADDITIONS TO ALUMNI ASSOC. BOARD

Judge Morris Among Those Appointed to Directorate in University Organization

Three appointments to the Board of Directors of the University of Delaware Alumni Association were recently made by the president of the association, George N. Davis. The men named are Judge Hugh M. Morris, of the United States District Court in Wilmington, Harris Samonisky, sports editor of Every Evening, and John W. Jones, of Philadelphia.

A meeting of the officers and committee chairmen was held Saturday in the offices of Mr. Davis, Wilmington. The officers of the association, besides the president, are: William T. Homewood, vice-president; Dean Geo. E. Dutton, secretary and treasurer; H. G. Lawson, chairman of the ways and means committee, and J. P. Cann, chairman of the athletic committee.

THE HISTORY OF CECIL COUNTY

Written by Students of Elkton High School and Reprinted in The Post by Special Permission

Chapter 5*The Sixth District

The sixth district occupies the northwestern part of Cecil County and its election center is Rising Sun.

This district is bounded on the north by Pennsylvania, on the east by the ninth and fifth districts, on the south by the seventh district, and on the west by Octoraro Creek. Its chief means of transportation are the Octoraro Creek, which empties into the Susquehanna River, and the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad.

One of the noted buildings in this county is the West Nottingham Academy, in the sixth district. This Academy is the oldest institution for learning in the county, and many of the learned ones of this day were educated at West Nottingham Academy.

The only building of importance in the community of Richardsmere is the old school house at Love Run. This old school house was used to educate all learned ones in the community and is over one hundred years old.

Rising Sun occupies a hill top on which one may obtain a beautiful view of the surrounding country. Rising Sun is a town typical of Pennsylvania, rather than of Maryland's eastern shore.

With all the wealth in natural beauty, there is an attendant wealth in the fertility of this region, so we might expect far back that our forefathers would select such a spot on which to live.

Rising Sun, which was formerly known as Summer Hill, is a very old town, but recent and modern developments have worked havoc with the old historical buildings.

The old house on the farm now owned by Abram W. Kirk, about one half mile east of this town was once honored by the presence of General Lafayette, who stopped there one night while marching his troops from Elk Neck to join the forces of Washington at Yorktown.

It will be interesting to note that Azariah Rittenhouse established the first store in the community. Later into the business circles have also come new firms, each realizing the advantages of locating in the center of such a rich farming district.

Rising Sun has shipping facilities offered by the central branch of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore Railroad and is almost midway between the two cities. A more beautiful location could not be imagined, and while typical of the homes of conservative, substantial citizens, rather than of those called to it by manufacturing industries, there is vigorous activity apparent, because of the large region to which merchandise is distributed through its stores.

At present writing (1923) there is a great scarcity of good houses and it is probable that building operations will soon commence.

Taken in all, Rising Sun is a highly prosperous town, the home of much wealth, and the ideal center of northern Cecil.

The sixth district is about fifth in size, and is probably one of the most interesting ones of Cecil County.

The Seventh District

The seventh district is located in the western part of Cecil County. It is bounded on the west by the Susquehanna River; on the north by the eighth and sixth districts; on the east by the fifth district; and on the south by the Chesapeake Bay. It ranks

W. R. BALDWIN HOST TO ALUMNI AT ELK MILLS

U. of P. Graduates Had Merry Time Last Week Near Here

Attorneys, physicians, business men and a United States Senator, members of the Delaware Alumni Association of the University of Pennsylvania, held their annual frolic Saturday afternoon on the farm of William Ray Baldwin, at Elk Mills.

Dr. John Palmer was elected president of the association for the ensuing year. Other officers elected are:

about fourth in size, and the chief towns are Perryville, Jackson, Aikin, Blythedale, Craig Town, Rock Run, Woodlawn, Port Deposit and Perry Point.

Port Deposit is mostly noted for its historical sites and its granite quarry.

In the year of 1607 John Smith sailed up the Chesapeake Bay, past Watson Island to the place that is now called Conowingo, but not finding the Susquehanna River navigable he went back over his course and settled at Jamestown, Virginia, in the same year. Before Smith went back he named Conowingo after an Indian chief who was with him. Smith said that the fish in the Susquehanna River were so thick that you could walk from shore to shore on their backs.

The first educational institute that was built in the United States was built in 1627 on Watson Island.

In the early days all of the grain and lumber from the western shore came down the Susquehanna River or up to Perryville and Port Deposit where it was loaded on trains. These trains were taken from Port Deposit to Perryville or vice versa on canal boats. In the year of 1850 the river froze over so hard that the railroad tracks were laid on the ice and in this way the trains crossed the river.

The first bridge that was built across the Susquehanna River was built from Port Deposit to Lapidum. Part of this bridge caved in when a large drove of cattle was being driven across it and the rest was swept away by an ice gorge.

The first carload of flour that ever went to Baltimore was sent from Rock Run Roller Mill located at Port Deposit.

The oldest iron works in the United States are located near Port Deposit. They are called the Whitaker Iron Works. Many guns that were used in the Revolutionary War were made there.

The granite quarries located at Port Deposit rank as second best in the United States. Some of the most beautiful buildings in the United States are built of granite quarried there. These quarries rise from eighty feet to six hundred feet above sea level.

The first railroad bridge went from Port Deposit to Perryville. It was only a single track but later when a bridge with a double track was made the first one was offered to either Harford or Cecil County but neither would accept it. Four prominent men of the two counties bought it, but not long ago it was sold to the state for $585,000. The plans for the future are to lift the toll entirely.

The largest Medical Supply Depot in America is located at Perry Point. This depot is presided over by Peyton Patterson. The Union Hospital for wounded soldiers and an aviation station are also located at Perry Point.

Some Institute for poor boys was built in 1889 by Jacob Tome. In the year of 1898 six million dollars was left by Tome to keep this school for the poor boys of Cecil County but in 1900 the will was taken to law and broken. Part of the six million was used to build the finest boarding school for boys in America. The old school is still kept. If this will had not been broken, and the money left by Tome properly invested, it would have lasted forever for the support of the school for poor boys.

William Ray Baldwin, vice-president; Wilbur L. Adams, secretary, and Donald Ashbrook, treasurer. Eleven directors were elected as follows: United States Senator L. Heisler Ball, Dr. W. A. La Motte, Dr. Harold L. Springer, George S. Cappelle, Jr., Dr. William C. Speakman, Dr. H. P. Keaveny, Morris Whiteside, Felix du Pont, Nathaniel W. Howell, Moulford Taylor and Dr. J. A. Cann.

A baseball game was played between the professional graduates and the collegiates. The latter won by a score of 11 to 6. Dinner was served at the farm. Mrs. Baldwin was presented with a basket of flowers and a box of candy by the association.

HERMAN TYSON HOME

Herman R. Tyson, local bid for fame on the harness tracks of the East this season, spent a few days of this week at his home here during a lull in his racing program. He has been racing over New England tracks since the season opened, and the latter part of this week will be in charge of his string of horses in New York State. Mr. Tyson reports good results from his speedy charges so far. He will again be in the sulky at several Eastern meetings of the Grand Circuit this year.

CECIL COUNTY FAIR SCHEDULED SEPT. 11-15

First Attempt for Many Years Will Take Place Near Elkton

BUILDING RAPIDLY

What a few months ago was unheard of, except to a few people who were interested financially, has now turned out to be a reality in the case of the first Fair of the Cecil County State Fair and Agricultural Society.

The five-day affair will take place on the above dates and arrangements are going ahead rapidly for the event. The site of the Fair will be on the former Rudolph farm, well known to farmers in this vicinity, lying along the Elkton-Glasgow road, about one mile from the town limits of Elkton.

The completion of the concrete road from Elkton to the State Line, while not promised in time for the Fair, will in future years be a great boost for the meeting.

Officials of the society are now busy making up entry lists for the various forms of exhibits which will be on display. They will be mailed in a short while to thousands of people in Maryland and nearby States.

While no predictions are being made by the officials, it is expected that the Fair, with good racing added, will be largely patronized by residents of this section. Many years ago Elkton held a Fair each year on land now lying back of the Armory.

J. Wirt Willis, of Glasgow, Emerson Crothers of Elkton, and Roy Freck of Wilmington, are among the officials of the new State Fair Society.

WHITE CLAY PASTOR TO VISIT WEST COAST

W. R. McElroy Off to California Next Week

The Rev. W. R. McElroy, pastor of White Clay Presbyterian Church, will leave next week for his vacation. The period will be spent in California, where the minister will pay a visit to his mother and sister, who reside in the Garden State. He will fill the pulpit as usual next Sunday.

Rev. McElroy preached in the Central Church in Baltimore on Sunday the 8th of July, before a large congregation.

PERPETUAL MOTION

The merchandise of a scientifically advertised business house is new and seasonable.

The goods of a merchant who is waiting for the public to find him and ask him what he has to offer cannot be kept up to the minute.

The important thing with a merchant is what is called "turn-over" of stock.

The advertising merchant has more turn-over of his stock; that is, sells out and buys again more times per year and can, therefore, sell at lower cost.

Local merchants consistently use THE POST to facilitate the prompt and continuous movement of merchandise.

SHOP IN THE POST BEFORE SHOPPING IN THE SHOPS.

VOCATIONAL LEADERS DISCUSS ISSUES HERE

Two-Day Conference Held This Week Upon Invitation of R. W. Heim

PROJECT WORK URGED

The Agricultural College of the University of Delaware is host to the Agricultural Science teachers of the State for a two-day conference. The first session was held Monday afternoon, at which time Professor Heim, of the Department of Agricultural Education outlined in detail the standards and policies of the State and Federal Acts.

Some of the outstanding statements were that all schools conducting work along vocational lines must be under public supervision and control; second, the controlling purpose of vocational instruction must be to fit the students for useful employment; third, the instruction must be of less than college grade; and fourth, the instruction must be designed to meet the needs of persons over fourteen years of age who have already entered upon or who are preparing to enter upon the work of the farm home.

In outlining the work Professor Heim made it clear that each boy enrolled in the Agricultural Science courses must do a certain amount of practical work which ordinarily takes the form of a productive project. This requirement, he stated, is not optional with the States, as the Federal Law, under which Delaware receives its vocational aid, requires at least six months' supervised farm practice each year. The project results for the nation as a whole are very encouraging since the passage of the Vocational Act in 1917. During the past year a total of $1,546,781.40 was realized, after all expenses were paid, on pupils' projects which were carried on as a part of the school work. The amount expended by the Federal Government for agricultural instruction was only $1,274,835.00, which means that for every dollar of federal money expended there was a return of $1.21 from farm projects carried on by vocational pupils while in attendance at school.

The last topic taken up on Monday was Project Aims and Requirements, which was outlined by Messrs. Geo. Butler, of the Caesar Rodney School, and C. R. Snyder, of the Seaford High School. The conclusions drawn from the discussion which followed are:

The term "project" in agriculture has been used at least since the passage of the Adams Act to designate a unit of agricultural work. In vocational agriculture the term represents the practical application of the information obtained in the classroom. As is evident the class room instruction and the project work should correlate closely.

While the aim of a project will vary with the type of project, the following aims are typical of all projects:

1. To offer educational development to the boy through agricultural activities.
2. To offer an opportunity for the correlation of the practical and the theoretical.
3. To motivate and utilize the study of vocational agriculture.
4. To furnish an opportunity for a remunerative activity.
5. To develop manipulative skill.
6. To develop a keener appreciation and the proper attitude toward farming as a vocation.
7. To give the individual student an opportunity for individual development.
8. To train for farming.

The other topics which received consideration at the conference were the teachers' yearly plan of work; community activities of an agricultural teacher and the relation of an agricultural teacher to the entire school organization.

LOSE PET DOGS

Two much prized dogs were among those sacrificed this week to prevent the spread of hydrophobia among the animals of the vicinity.

Miss Alice Kerr lost her splendid Collie thoroughbred which was bitten on a farm near Newark. The dog was a familiar sight on the streets in the west end of town.

Big "Mac," a most intelligent and lovable pet, part bulldog and part Airedale, belonging to Mrs. Hannah Collier, was also destroyed Monday evening. The big fellow was much mourned by many who knew him.

An Essay Which Received A Prize At The 1923 Commencement Exercises At The University of Delaware

MURRAY HANSON OF CLAYMONT

Human nature is indeed a hard thing to understand. There seems to be no set rule for a person's behavior. There certainly are not any consistent laws by which a man's likes and dislikes may be gauged. Many of us are like a horse with blinders on—we can see only in one direction and all the rest goes by unobserved. Usually our blinders consist of conventionalities, and it is from conventionalities that most of our regulations arise. Law is a product of conventionality. If it were a perfectly conventional thing to rob a house or rifle a safe, there doubtless would be no law prohibiting such acts. If convention did not look with contempt upon the drunkard there would doubtless be open saloons today. And thus convention, whether we realize it or not, rules our daily lives either directly or indirectly. Convention lays out the course which we daily travel, but how often does this same old guide, convention, deviate from the path that should be traveled, and allow us to trample in bogs that prove to be our downfall.

We are indignant when we hear of a person's pocket being picked on some street car, or in some public gathering. We are incensed against the thief. The person who is caught burglarizing a home or in the act of removing the contents of a safe is usually given a scholarship to a state institution for a period of several years. We loathe a drunkard and we imprison the man who sells the intoxicating beverage. We are horrified at the accounts of drug fiends that we read in the daily journals, and we experience a deep satisfaction upon hearing of the apprehension and conviction of a person whose business it is to peddle such drugs as morphine, opium, hashish, and cocaine. We feel a profound pleasure to know that a rum runner has been heavily fined and imprisoned, and the deportation of some political fanatic who insists on hurling bombs diffuses one with a rosy glow of satisfaction. And why does it seem the natural thing for us to prohibit these things? Simply because convention has condemned them, governmental laws have been legislated against them, and by having become used to these laws we never doubt their right for being. And yet convention not only tolerates, but in some cases approves of one of the most despicable and pernicious habits that has ever been fastened upon a man—the cigarette habit.

There is no doubt, not even in the minds of the people who are confirmed cigarette smokers, that the cigarette habit is a vicious one, and one that will eventually undermine the health of the individual. The man who is the most confirmed cigarette smoker is very often the one who laments the fact that he is shackled to a habit that is so injurious to his health.

There are several phases in the discussion of the evils of cigarette smoking. These may be generally divided into three classes: first, the evil which is done to the physical body; second, the evil that is done to the mental part of the body; and third, the moral effect upon the body and upon the nation.

Under the first division there is perhaps the most room for discussion. There can only be one reliable source of information on the subject of bodily injury due to the effect of any drug, and that is the data of medical men who make a study of the body's ills their life's profession. There is not a single doctor who will advise or approve of the use of cigarettes, either continually or occasionally. When a man goes to a doctor in an ill condition it is seldom indeed that he is not asked if he uses cigarettes. The injuries that are done to the body by the use of cigarettes are several.

Primarily the cigarette injures the heart more than it does any other part of the body. The heart, as even a person unversed entirely in knowledge of physiology knows, is the most vital organ in the body. The brain may be removed and the body may still live, but with the cessation of the heart's action, the circulatory system "goes dead" and death is the immediate result. Thus any injury to the heart, even in a small degree, endangers the life of the individual to a great extent. The effect of the cigarette upon the heart is a peculiar one. The action is not directly upon the heart but rather upon the nerves which control the heart. These are so deranged from their natural state that the action of the heart becomes unsteady—sometimes beating very hard and fast, and sometimes with a weak, fluttering beat. This trouble is known as "tobacco heart," and is very common among young cigarette smokers. The weakening effect of tobacco upon all muscle cells has also been noticed by doctors. All athletes or men who are subjected to violent physical exercise where strength and stamina are required cannot be successful for any length of time and continue the use of cigarettes.

As noted before in the action of the heart, the trouble in the muscle cells is produced through the action of the tobacco upon the nerves controlling the cells, rather than upon the cells themselves. The nervous regulation of all parts of the body is not normal in the cigarette smoker. Persons who use tobacco are often troubled with a restlessness and a jerkiness of movement, so that they cannot remain long in any one position. They are also subjected to more or less constant trembling of the extremities, especially the hands. Men who use tobacco seldom have the steadiness of nerves required to make expert marksmen or any thing that necessitates steadiness. The harm that cigarettes do to lungs is due to three rea-

The nicotine contained in tobacco naturally has a temporary stimulating effect, but this passes off after a short period, leaving the person to crave the drug again. The smoke causes a natural irritation to the air passages and tiny capillaries of the lungs. But what is perhaps the most dangerous part of cigarettes is the carbon monoxide which is generated in very small quantities in the burning of the cigarette paper. Carbon monoxide is perhaps the most deadly of all common gases and is the gas which is fatal in most cases of suffocation from coal gas, illuminating gas, etc. The action of this gas is a peculiar one. It combines with the red corpuscles of the blood and renders them incapable of transporting oxygen. The red corpuscles are the means of carrying oxygen from the lungs to the body cells. Thus this tiny amount of carbon monoxide, which is present in each inhalation of cigarette smoke, annihilates hundreds of red corpuscles and cuts down the efficiency of the blood. The sad part is that when a corpusele is so afflicted it never recovers.

Two of the special sense organs are injured by this pernicious habit of cigarette smoking. The olfactory nerves, or those which control the sense of smell, are injured and their efficiency greatly impaired by the passage of tobacco smoke through the nostrils. Immediately after smoking the sense of smell is so deadened that the most pungent of odors is not noticed, and often when they are detected the nerves do not record correctly and the person senses the odor entirely different from what it truly is to a normal person. The taste is also hurt by the use of cigarettes. The delicate "taste buds" of the mouth, wherein are the nerves of taste, are so affected by the nicotine of the tobacco that they also fail to register properly. After constant smoking, if a person eats something, the taste is completely different. Often the taste is only deadened, in most cases the effect is even worse than this. If the person has been smoking, a sweet drink often stings the tongue like fire and gives a bitter impression.

In a few persons, tobacco affects the nerves of sight so that distinct vision and the power of distinguishing between colors are lost. Tobacco smoke is irritating to the eyes, and in a considerable number of persons, smoking brings on a congestion and redness of the eyes and eyelids. In most cases, however, tobacco does not seriously harm the eyes.

Another effect of cigarettes that is repugnant is the stain that is continually upon the fingers of the habitual user of the cigarette. The nicotine in the smoke, which often flows back upon the finger, collects upon the skin and stains it a dark, dirty, repulsive yellow. The stain is not removed by ordinary washing of the hands, and unless special pains are taken to remove it, it grows deeper and darker with age.

The effects of tobacco on the mind are more pronounced than its effects on the nervous control of the muscles. One class at Yale University was divided into four classes according to scholarship. Only twenty-five per cent of those in the highest division used tobacco, while eighty-five per cent of the lowest division were users of tobacco. Of the ten Phi Kappa Phi men at the University of Delaware in 1921, only one was an habitual user of tobacco. Phi Kappa Phi is an honorary fraternity in which scholarship is the only thing considered for admission. In young pupils the effects on the mind are much more marked than are its effects on older persons. In a Chicago school, out of 125 boys who smoked, only two were able to keep up with their class. Nine-tenths of these 125 boys belonged to educated, intelligent families; they had excellent school advantages; yet among them were found nearly all the boys who were from two to four years older than the average age of the children in their grade. In all, there were reported in Chicago 2402 pupils who were cigarette smokers, and only six per cent were able to do the school work of their grade. It is reasonable to believe, therefore, that the use of tobacco had dulled the minds of these boys and had changed many of them from bright, active pupils, into idling incompetents. Intelligence tests show that men who are habitual cigarette smokers are not as active minded as those who do not use tobacco. An habitual smoker when deprived of his cigarettes temporarily becomes mentally fogged and his mind cannot function as clearly as it should. This is due to the craving for the drug, nicotine. As soon as the drug is supplied, the brain clears somewhat, but common sense tells us that a drug which acts in such a way is no less harmful than is opium or cocaine. This phase of the behavior of cigarette smokers has even prompted special provisions to be made for them at many colleges. At the University of Pennsylvania a ten-minute recess is given during three-hour examinations in order to allow cigarette smokers to step outside the room and smoke a cigarette. The most deplorable thing in this instance is that college men should be so weak as to succumb to a habit which they know can only be harmful.

boys seek work. But the employer does not have a very responsible place for a boy whose mentalities are not sufficient to pass him in school, and consequently the boy never gets a very good position. He becomes discouraged with his labor, his small pay, and his existing conditions, and soon he seeks an easier way out. Petty thieving may initiate his downfall, and from that time on he becomes worse and worse until some day he finds himself in prison for some crime. And thus cigarettes play an important part in the making of criminals from those who would ordinarily be good citizens. Of course no one can say that the cause is primarily in cigarettes, but certainly cigarettes are one of the factors that help the matter along.

Then if all these things are so apparent to everyone, even to those who smoke, why is this habit propagated and furthered through years and years and generations and generations? Why must such a thing be overlooked by those who have it within their power to destroy it?

The smoking of cigarettes is not only a national habit, but is a universal habit. In many parts of Europe, Asia, and all the other continents, the habit prevails. And singularly enough the habit is rarely formed in manhood but nearly always in childhood or youth. Parents who smoke forbid their children to do so, even though they smoke themselves. Older brothers forbid their younger brothers to imitate them. Older men wish that they had never formed the habit and try to convince the younger people that it is willfully wrong to smoke. Then why does a boy wish to learn to smoke?

There is a certain amount of psychology contained in the reason. A child is a great deal like a monkey—they desire to imitate whatever they see done about them. And seeing their elders with a cigarette in their mouth prompts them to wish to do likewise. Invariably the child is forbidden to smoke and the longing for the forbidden fruit grows stronger as time goes on. The fact that it is forbidden makes the longing all the worse. Finally the youngster steals a smoke in secret. He may not like it, for very often the first cigarette makes a boy sick. But he is still prompted by the desire to be "grown-up." He continues and before long he inhales "just like dad." From then on the habit becomes stronger and stronger until finally he cannot (Continued on Page 12.)

A modern bathroom reduces housework

Old bathroom fixtures that are streaked, cracked and chipped are a needless source of extra housework. Then too, danger of contagion lies in every one of these germ catching blemishes. Keeping the floor clean, under and back of an old style tub and fixtures, is a matter of lots of hard work.

Join the long list of families who have improved their homes with modern built-in bath tubs and other up-to-date sanitary fixtures. They are a blessing to the housewife; and cost far less than they increase the property's value.

The installation or replacement of plumbing fixtures is no longer a thing to be dreaded. Our new and modern methods enable us to concentrate and quickly finish a job, without mussing up the whole house.

HEARN MOTOR OILS

Are Uniform and Dependable because they are tested before they are sold.

The Emulsibility Test, to which each grade of Hearn Motor Oil is subjected, is one of the best tests to determine the lubricating value of motor oils.

Equal parts of Hearn Motor Oil and water are put into a bottle and shaken well. After settling, the oil rises to the top, but globules of oil are scattered throughout the water at the bottom. This clearly indicates a certain portion of the water has been absorbed by the oil. Water is always present in every motor, it cannot be kept out. Ordinary oil will not absorb this water. As a result the water breaks down the oil film on the frictional surfaces and allows metal to rub on metal, causing scored cylinders and worn bearings.

Hearn motor oil absorbs moisture. Therefore water cannot destroy the film it maintains on the walls of the cylinders, and the metal parts of your motor suffer no injury. All Hearn oil is tested for its absorbing qualities before it is sold.

There are six grades of Hearn motor oil prepared to meet all requirements. You can secure the proper grade for your car for this season of the year.

There is a Hearn filling station convenient to you. The man at that station knows, and he will see that you get the correct grade of oil for your car.

Hearn "Y" Motor Oil is specially prepared for use in most makes of cars all-the-year-around.

Hearnoleum Products
The Hearn Oil Company manufactures tractor oils, greases and fuel oil.

Hearn Gasoline is reliable

When you buy Hearn Gasoline, you get a gasoline that has been rigidly tested before it is offered for sale. It is tested for ready vaporization, power, purity, mileage, uniformity and non-carbonizing qualities.

FRUIT GROWERS INVITED TO WASHINGTON, AUG. 25th

The reduction in the size of the fruit crop of the Middle Atlantic States as a result of a very heavy drop since the blossoming period will be one of the principal subjects considered at a meeting of fruit growers, dealers, railroad officials, and other interested parties to be held at 10 a. m. on July 25th, at the City Club, 1320 G street, Washington, D. C.

Following the custom of the last two years, this meeting has been called by the marketing officials of Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware and Pennsylvania and the United States Department of Agriculture to furnish an opportunity for an exchange of information on the condition of the apple and peach crops in these states, which compose one of the leading producing areas of the country.

Official estimates for each of the states mentioned and a full report regarding the conditions in other important commercial producing sections of the country will be offered. Representative growers will be asked to offer a short report for each of the more important sections in the states in question. Railroad officials attending will make reports of conditions along their lines, and the question of car supply and transportation facilities on the various roads passing through fruit sections will be taken up.

Every grower, shipper, or dealer interested in the marketing of apples or peaches in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, and West Virginia is invited to be present at this meeting. The large attendance at the session last year indicated the value of such meetings as a means of exchanging information and creating a better understanding between the various organizations and individuals involved in the marketing of the fruit crop of this territory.

The Maryland Horticultural Society has extended a cordial invitation to all fruit growers to attend their summer meetings on July 26th, at Ringgold, Md., Waynesboro, Pa., and Pen Mar, Pa.

WHAT IS THE POOR FARMER GOING TO DO?

Can Make and Keep Cider, But Can't Drink It When It Is Hard

American farmers recently won a dubious victory when the prohibition bureau ruled that they may make and keep "hard" cider, but they must not drink it.

The status of cider has been in doubt ever since the passage of the Volstead act. Ordinary sweet cider is legal, but it has a proclivity for turning "hard" with intoxicating results. Such hard cider has hitherto been considered illegal.

The bureau has rendered an opinion that the manufacture of innocent cider is legal, the possession of such cider after it has turned "hard" is also legal, but the only legal use for it after it has "worked" is its manufacture into vinegar. If it is imbibed, a breach of the law is committed.

Legal officials of the bureau admitted that the ruling is anomalous. They frankly admitted that it is doubtful if the prohibition against beverage use of hard cider can ever be enforced.

It will be fully as difficult to prevent farmers from drinking hard cider as it is to check the manufacture and consumption of home brew, they declared.

The ruling re-imposed the prohibition against the use of dried fruits, dandelions and rhubarb in the production of "non-intoxicating fruit juices."

Two bone harpoons, found under peat in East Yorkshire, Eng., are stated to date back from 10,000 to 12,000 B. C.

MANY LIFE INSURANCE HOLDERS IN DELAWARE

Statistics Show State To Be Third on List In Per Capita Reckoning

That life insurance policy holders are plentiful in New Castle, Sussex and Kent counties is evident by the figures recently compiled in Washington relative to that subject.

Delaware, the second smallest state in the Union stands third in the list of per capita life insurance in the United States. Only two exceed Delaware, and one of these, the District of Columbia, is a special district owing to the prevalence of high salaried men there. Iowa alone surpasses this state.

Delaware stood at $644.73 per capita life insurance last year, according to the Statistical Insurance Field of July 13. Iowa stands $882.25, while the District of Columbia holds a mark of $661.74.

The per capita life insurance average for the whole of the United States is $456.46.

The total business in Delaware at the beginning of 1922 was $135,632,820. The terminations amounted to $22,198,694. The business at the end of 1922 totaled $143,778,502. The business issued equaled $31,651,374. Losses and claims paid amounted to $1,123,021. The total premiums collected reached the sum of $4,536,474.

The business in Delaware was represented by 38 companies. The high rating of Delaware is a source of congratulation, and local insurance men are much pleased at the showing of their state.

Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car

We Want to Talk to Every Prospect Who Plans to Pay More Than $500 for a Car

We want to tell you something about the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car. Want you to examine it—and to drive it.

Stop in and let us prove what a vast difference there is between the Light-Six and other cars at about the same price—or between the Light-Six and cars of other makes costing several hundred dollars more.

To be able to buy a Six, practically free from vibration, for less than $1,000 is an opportunity not duplicated anywhere in the world. Elimination of vibration adds immeasurably to the life of the motor. It is one of the reasons for the universal high resale value of the Light-Six.

The Touring Car body is all-steel—even to its framework. Seat cushions—of genuine leather—are ten inches deep and are placed at the most restful angle.

The one-piece windshield is handsome and practical because it gives unobstructed view of the road ahead and is rain-proof. The quick-action cowl ventilator and the parking lights are but indications of the quality and completeness of the appointments.

No other make of car ever built, by anyone, at any price, represents so great a dollar-for-dollar value as the Light-Six Touring Car. The savings resulting from large volume, complete manufacture and the fact that Studebaker's overhead is shared by three distinct models make possible its low price and high value.

The Light-Six upholds Studebaker's 71-year reputation for honest value.

7,500 FARMERS

The New England section of the Eastern States 1923 Feed Pool, just closing, has more than doubled its Pool tonnage of last year, with 7,500 farmers participating. This is an increase of 3,000 purchasers, or 66%, over the 1922 Pool.

To deliver the feeds thus contracted for by these New England farmers alone, the mills will ship out a solid trainload of from 35 to 50 carlots every other day this fall and winter.

The Eastern States Farmers' Exchange, co-operating with the Delaware Farm Bureau Federation, is offering these same open formula feeds on the same Pool basis to Delaware farmers:

- Eastern States MILKMORE Dairy Ration, 24%
- Eastern States FULPAIL Dairy Ration, 20%
- Eastern States Fitting Ration
- Eastern States Egg Mash

Increased "repeat" orders from Delaware farmers who have used these feeds in the past prove that they have met with the same approval here as in New England. And the fast-growing number of "new" Delaware patrons proves that our "old" friends have been spreading some facts about the Eastern States organization and its products.

The Delaware section of the present Feed Pool closes on August 4th. This date marks your last opportunity this year to get these feeds of proven goodness on the Pool basis—which means quantity purchase on a low market, for manufacture and delivery as you require.

Write now to the Springfield office for a folder and booklet descriptive of the Eastern States 1923 Feed Pool and the feeds it offers, so that you may be ready for the Farm Bureau and Exchange representatives when they call.

WORK FOR EVERYBODY

Facts That Even Democrats Admit

"Industrial, clerical and farm employment opportunities in this State were never better," according to a bulletin just issued by the employment bureau, Department of Labor, Washington. This bulletin says:

"A large building program continues throughout Delaware with prospects for an enlargement, contingent upon the supply of building mechanics, which at the present time cannot meet the demand.

"Farm labor demands are very large and the impossibility of securing this class of help is the cause of considerable anxiety among the farmers.

"Industries are all running on a full basis, with full quotas of workers employed.

"There is plenty of work for everyone in Wilmington who wants a job. This is shown in the comments on conditions in Wilmington. The report from that city says:

"Practically all local industries are running on a full-time basis. They are calling on young men 16 to 21 years of age to fill the gap caused by the shortage of adult help. There is sufficient employment to absorb all others out of work.

"A large cigar company, in changing its factory site, will increase its employes from 250 to 500 within the next few days. The large building program continues and is hampered somewhat from further expansion on account of the shortage of tradesmen."

EVILS OF CIGARETTE SMOKING

break away from it, and during the rest of his life he is shackled to a habit that serves only to impair his health and to be a constant expense to him. The average cigarette smoker consumes a package of twenty cigarettes a day at an average expense of eighteen cents a package. In the course of a year this amounts to approximately sixty-five dollars, which is fifteen dollars more than the price of tuition per semester at the University of Delaware.

The problem is just the same as the one we faced before the prohibition amendment. The man regrets that he has formed the habit, but he continues it because the desire to break it lies entirely within himself. The only way that he can break himself of the habit is to have the cigarettes entirely removed. Even then he will find it difficult and no doubt he will lead a miserable life until he conquers the craving, but in the end he will be able to win out. The place where the greatest work can be done is in preventing young boys from having them. Numerous states and towns have passed bills prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to any one. An example of this latter case is Kansas City, Missouri, where there is not a cigarette legally on sale. But just the same as liquor, cigarettes are sold in those localities by unscrupulous persons who defy the law. Cigarettes are imported from other states or other towns for individual consumption and the situation is but little better than it was before such legislation took place. Therefore, the only logical way to combat this danger is to have national prohibition of the manufacture or sale of any kind of cigarettes.

To some people the national prohibition of the manufacture or sale of cigarettes may seem to be too puritanical or too radical for this age. But where the issue at stake is one that concerns the health of the manhood of our country, there should be but little hesitation over whether it is worth while or not. I do not believe that the opposition to such a law would be found in those who are victims of the habit; for they realize its injurious effects and certainly wish their children to be free from it. The opposition will be found among those who make their living from the sale of cigarettes. Corporations who have millions of dollars back of them will oppose the movement and their opposition will be due to a purely mercenary purpose. When the opposition of these corporations is overcome, and it is inevitable that they will be overcome, the problem is ended. Legislation will be passed prohibiting the use of cigarettes and the newer generations will never know what the habit is, and their lives will be as much the better off. It is a problem of the present time. We must take steps to overcome this evil in order that posterity may be advanced another step in civilization. (I am indebted to J. M.
