

Dec. 30, 1909.

Hotel Couraine,
Boston.

Thursday Evening.

Dear Mr. Dale.

I was dining with Mrs. Coolidge
& the Vutons at the Ludlow tonight & saw you & Mrs.
Hornum. I could not leave the table & cross the room
but would very much to see you both.

I arrived this morning & am ostensibly staying here but must really spend most of my time in ~~Dorchester~~ Brookline watching the rehearsals of a new "Review" (Edict Telegraph) is my little play which opens at the Tremont on Monday.

I hope you will see it.
Sometimes though you may be boresed by anything so slight & unpretentious; - still there are moments when I think myself it is rather "nice".
At any rate I wish you'd come to see M^{rs}, which is less of a risk; I could be at home Sunday afternoon but - my husband will be here too. Sincerely
Kate Douglas Wiggin
