Students' Dinner a Great Success

Enjoyable Affair Given Last Night as Farewell to Miss Carrie Stuart

The Students' Thanksgiving Dinner held in the Dining Room of Old College last evening was a great success. The entire Student Body assembled at six P. M. and welcomed with mighty roars the guests from the Faculty of the College and from the Press throughout the State. The Dining Hall was decorated with the Blue and Gold of Delaware and with the banners of many of our rival athletic colleges. Shaded lights and carefully arranged flowers and plants made the room very attractive.

Miss Carrie Stuart

The dinner was more than a Thanksgiving affair. It was really a Farewell Dinner given in honor of Miss Carrie Stuart, the "Big Sister" of Old College, who has resigned her position as Dietitian. Miss Stuart expects to be married in the near future. She had planned to keep it a secret but Mr. Wilkinson realizing how vitally interested "The Boys" were, informed certain members of the Student Body who immediately took orders from the "Little General" as to just what sort of a Farewell should be tendered Miss Stuart. As a result came the dinner.

To F. Bayard Carter, president of the Student Council, credit should be given for managing the Student end of the affair. Through (Continued on Page 4)

Interpretations of Insurance

Several new interpretations of the War Risk Insurance Act have been received by the editor. These interpretations have to do in most cases with the matter of reinstatement, the provisions for which have been made exceedingly liberal. They should be of interest to any former service men who have not continued their insurance and who feel that they should like to know more of the provisions made by the government for the continuing of the insurance given to soldiers during the war. The editor will be glad to receive any queries about this matter or about any other problems in connection with the government insurance.

H. T. Bradley Gives Books To Library

Mr. Henry T. Bradley, of the "Sons of Delaware," who has already presented to the College Library 500 books on History Fiction, Essays, and Natural Science, has agreed to give 100 more books which are needed at once. A list of the books desired is now in Mr. Bradley's hands, and it is expected that they will soon be received.

Mr. Bradley hopes that two of his friends, both of whom are "Sons of Delaware," will each present to the Library 100 books. These books, like those which Mr. Bradley has given, will be of great value to the departments of the College. Additional lists of the books most needed at the present time have been sent to Mr. Bradley. The number of books thus added to the Library by Mr. Bradley and his friends will make a valuable addition to the present equipment.

Chautauqua Visits Newark On Circuit

During the past week a Chautauqua Company, under the direction of Mr. Hunt Cook, has been entertaining the people of Newark in the auditorium of Wolf Hall. Mr. Cook delivered several very interesting lectures. The "Review Company" and "The Hawaiian Quintet" were also well received. The casts of these companies are made up of persons who, in many cases, have a national reputation in their particular line of work.

MR. EDGAR M. HOOPES TO ADDRESS SOCIETY

Former City Engineer of Wil- mington Will Tell of Con- struction Division

One of the most interesting meetings of the year will be held by the Engineering Society on Thursday evening, December 4, when Mr. Edgar M. Hoopes, of Wilmington, will describe the work of the Construction Division during the war. Before his entrance with the army as a captain in the Construction Division, Mr. Hoopes was City Engineer of Wilmington. In this capacity he was chief of both the Water Department and the Street and Sewer Department, positions requiring great executive ability.

The Construction Division of the Army was created to fill the need arising in the building of large cantonments both in this country and abroad. Their work was entirely separate from the work of the corps of engineers. Due to necessities of appropriation measures, the Division was conducted under the direction of the quartermaster department. The plans however, anticipated making the division a distinct army corps.

Mr. Hoopes is thoroughly conversant with the work done by the division, and his address will be of great interest. The Engineering Society extends an invitation to all students of the college and to members of the Faculty to be present at this meeting.

New York University alumni living in and near Philadelphia have formed the Philadelphia District New York University Alumni Association.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR BASKETBALL

Strong Team to Represent Delaware; Will Play Big Colleges

As the present football season draws to a close, interest is gradually turning toward the coming basketball year and speculation is rife as to the prospects for a good season. With four regulars back, with several varsity subs again in togs, and with a wealth of new material in the Freshman Class, Coach Shipley should have little trouble in turning out a five equal to, if not better than, that which caused such a big stir in Eastern basketball circles last year.

For several years Delaware has been trying to break into the schedules of the big colleges and it seems as if she had succeeded this year in forcing her way into the most exclusive of the east. Consequently, the team this year will have a better chance to show its worth than did that of last year. And it is firmly believed by all who follow the sporting dope at Delaware, that the five men whom Coach Shipley sends on the floor in the opening game with Navy will hold up their end of what will probably be the stiffest schedule a Delaware team has ever had.

The loss of "Heinie" Marston at guard will prove a serious setback to the Blue and Gold. Marston played a wonderful guarding game last year and his position will be a hard one to fill.

The loss of Bayard Carter, captain elect of 1919 and one of the mainstays of the squad, is imminent. Bess recently was awarded the Rhodes Scholarship and it is thought that he will have to leave for England in January, despite an application to stay until June. (Continued on Page 4)

Faculty—Senior Football Game

After winning a great moral victory over the Chess Club, the husky purveyors of knowledge have planned a football encounter with the Seniors. The line-up of the huskies consists of six plow-jockeys, the substitute for "Old Scotch," the Kansas insomnia cure, one regal interpreter, one burley mine layer, and the head professor of physical torture. Despite this array, assisted by a scrub team consisting of administrators, linguists, and other artisans, and with "everfaithful" Obie, as trainer, the Seniors have accepted the unseemly challenge, and blood will be shed on December 6, also on Frazer Field.

Additional pads for the uniforms of the Chess Team have been ordered in order that the streamline (?) physiques of the husky horde may not be exposed too much to the admiring gaze of the on-lookers. Bocklets, in the form of wrist watches, are being prepared for the Faculty players who have difficulty in remembering the signals, if there are any.

When interviewed, the Senior captain and coaches refused to give any information as to the line-up. This fact has caused much discussion as to the possibility of "dark horses," and the critics, although seeming confident of the result, have refused to commit themselves.

Class Basketball To Begin Soon

After the grand finale of the football season on "Turkey Day," the main floor of the old gym will become more and more popular and basketball will come into its own again. Unlike previous years, the first activities of the year will be the interclass series, which have usually taken place toward the end of the regular season. Although the schedule for the series has not been arranged as yet, the first game is due to be played on Wednesday, December 3.

At this time, it is hard to pick the winning team for the series. The Juniors, who were victorious last year, have practically the same team, while the Sophs are strengthened by several new men. As usual, the Freshmen are the dark horses, and may spring a surprise on the other three classes. However, it looks as though the fight lies between the Sophs and Juniors and from all reports, it will be a fight to the finish.

KAPPA ALPHA HAS REUNION

Dinner Given To Alumni and Pledges Last Saturday

The afternoon of the Lebanon Valley game was the occasion of a reunion of the Beta Epsilon Chapter of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity. The alumni watched the Blue and Gold take the minors into camp and enjoyed the exhibition of some real "Old Delaware" football.

At six o'clock, dinner was served to the alumni, the active members, and the pledges of the Fraternity, in the West wing of Old College. The dining room was decorated with college and Kappa Alpha banners. The menu consisted of: Lamb Chops, Toast and Lettuce, French Fried Potatoes, Candied Sweet Potatoes, French Peas, Apple Pie and Ice Cream, and Coffee.

Following the dinner, Delaware and Kappa Alpha songs were sung, solos by "artists" of the Fraternity featured the entertainment. Later, the Fraternity adjourned to the chapter house.

The whole Fraternity expresses appreciation for Miss Carrie Stuart's interest and cooperation in making the dinner a success.

Varsity Trounces Lebanon Valley 21-7

Blue Hen Machine Proves Too Much for Rival Eleven

The varsity won its second victory of the season Saturday on Frazer Field defeating Lebanon Valley by the score of 21-7. Lebanon got the jump on Delaware in the first quarter and scored a touchdown in the first few minutes of play.

Delaware kicked off and after failing to gain, Lebanon returned the kick. On the second play, Delaware fumbled and Lebanon Valley recovered the ball. By straight football, with Howan carrying the ball most of the time, the visitors made a touchdown. Behman kicked the goal.

Delaware, after this touchdown, braced, and for the remainder of the game had Lebanon on the defensive. The varsity's first two touchdowns came in the second quarter. The first was the result of line plunging, featured particularly by Kavanaugh's good work. Piam scored the touchdown. The second touchdown was the result of a forward pass over the goal line, cleverly executed by McCaughan and Carter. Captain "Bill" Stewart kicked both goals.

In the third quarter the ball was in Lebanon Valley's territory practically all the time. In the last quarter, by line plunging and clever open field running, the Blue Hens advanced the pigskin to the visitors two yard line but failed to make the scoring gain. Lebanon (Continued on Page 4)

Promise Shown In Track Meet

Some of the results of the eight events in the Freshman-Sophomore dual meet which were held last Saturday are worthy of note as holding great promise for the varsity team.

The time for the 100 yard-dash, 10.3, was exceptionally fast for this time of year. Next spring Pitman should loosen up even more. Humphrey came within a foot of Loose's Javelin record, and with a little more training, combined with spiked shoes, should break that record. In fact nearly all the events were fast and bets on next year's track team have boomed 100%.

The events and the records are as follows:
100 yd.—Pitman, '23; Baron, '23; Kavanaugh, '22.
220 yd.—vs. '23; Pitman, '23; Baron, '23.
880 yd.—Christfield, '22; Hoey, '23; Moulds, '22.

1 mile—Hoey, '23; Christfield, '22; Moulds, '22.
2 mile—Christfield, '22; Hoey, '23; Moulds, '22.
High Hurdles—France, '23; M. Carter, '22; McDonnell, '22.
Javelin—Humphrey, '23; Rothrock, '22; Harmer, '22.
High Jump—McDonnell, '22; France, '23; Long, '23.
Broad Jump—Harper, '22; McDonnell, '22; Humphrey, '22.
Discus—Humphrey, '23; McDonnell, '22; Carter, '22.

The final results will be published after the conclusion of the meet.

Score Board Proves

of Great Service

With the end of the football games on Frazer Field for this year's varsity, the new scoreboard shows itself a valuable asset to the college. It should be of enormous value next year. Many favorable comments were made concerning it by the spectators on Saturday. The ease with which the game could be followed due to it was greatly appreciated.

This scoreboard is the gift of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity to the college. It was formally presented to the Athletic Council at its last meeting.

Opinion From W. C. D.

The article in "The Review" entitled "A Joint Annual" invited any suggestions that might aid in the crystallizing of opinion on the matter. Since the students of the Women's College of Delaware are as much concerned with the matter as the Delaware College men, we should like to express our opinion thru the medium of "The Review."

The article passed over the matter of the college's being separate units as if it were nothing. Yet the fact remains that Delaware College and the Women's College are affiliated and not co-ed. Although some of us may look for the union of the colleges in the distant future, it is still true that girls' going to football games and men's coming to open nights do not make colleges co-ed. As things now stand, our interests are widely different. The men would object to giving space in their annual to the W. C. D. Red Cross, Home Economics Club, and Y. W. C. A., whereas the girls would think it unnecessary to have endless pictures of track teams and engineering societies. In fact, the only thing that could be used in common would be the faculty pictures. It would mean that the Women's College would be sandwiched between faculty and fraternities, gratefully accepting the meager space offered by the Blue Hen Staff. Some of us remember when W. C. D. was supposed to have a column in "The Review."

The annuals are read by different audiences. A joint book would probably be a bulky affair, so expensive that the public as a whole would not buy it. The Alumni and Alumae would have far less interest in a joint book than separate annuals. Of course, the photographs of manly Juniors might attract new girls to W. C. D.—and then again they might not.

As for advertisers, though many of them are patrons of both books, they realize that the books are not read by the same people. Moreover, there are some merchants who would have goods to advertise which would interest only the boys or the girls. Last year our advertising manager found very few business men who objected to advertising in our annual on the grounds that it was charity.

Finally, although the Women's College has published an annual for only two years, it has made a success both times, even though we may not publish as showy a book as "The Blue Hen." If "The Blue Hen" needs any help in publishing an annual on time, we should be very glad to offer any suggestions, but just now we feel capable of publishing our own annual. In other words, the Women's College of Delaware objects to being an "also-ran" in "The Blue Hen."

CAMPUS NOTES

Inspection Trip

Fifteen members of the Senior Class in Engineering, accompanied by Professor Thone, made a trip of inspection on Saturday to the Brandywine Power Plant of the Wilmington and Philadelphia Traction Co. in Wilmington. A thorough inspection was made of the entire plant.

Speak At Dover

At a meeting held in Dover last Saturday by the Organization Committee of the Delaware State Teachers' Association, Dr. K. R. Greenfield lead the discussion in history and Dr. F. M. K. Foster lead the discussion in English. The Association aims to organize Delaware teachers into a unit of the National Association.

Association Meeting

The Association of colleges and preparatory schools of the Middle Atlantic States and Maryland will meet at the University of Pennsylvania on Friday and Saturday, November 28 and 29. At the Saturday session, the Conference on English in the Middle Atlantic States will meet with the Association. It is expected the all of these meetings will be of great interest.

Professors from Delaware College will attend the meetings to represent the departments of Modern Languages, English, History, Mathematics, and Science.

Hopkins Busy At Harvard

John A. Hopkins, '17, who is doing graduate work in Economics at Harvard, is carrying an unusually heavy schedule with the object of securing the M. A. degree in the spring. The University considers that four courses are enough for any graduate student. Hopkins, however, is carrying four courses in economics and one in French and is doing "section work" for Professor Carber. The "section work" consists of giving a quiz and discussing the week's work on Saturday with the class in Agricultural Economics. This work makes up a total equivalent to six courses and according to Hopkins' account, he is kept very busy.

As a loyal alumnus of Delaware College, Hopkins pleads for higher standards of scholarship at Delaware College, pointing out clearly the test to which our men are put when, in their graduate work in the different Universities and technical schools, they have to meet picked students from the colleges throughout the country. Hopkins' appeal should have weight with every Delaware man in making for thoroughness in scholarship, and breadth of vision. Hopkins feels that the business of the College is to teach men to think.

GREAT DIVERSITY ON QUALITIES

Test Given By Major Coulter Shows Peculiar Idea of Human Traits

In a test recently held by Major Coulter to ascertain the consensus of opinion as to the most desirable quality in a man, a great diversity of opinion prevailed.

The test consisted in a student naming the qualities which he most admired in, 1. any man, 2. an army officer, 3. an enlisted man. The third question was given to the upper three classes only, being added after the test was given to the Freshman.

The following tables show the three qualities under each heading which received the greatest number of votes. Table four shows the three qualities receiving the greatest combined vote.

TABLE I

Qualities	Man				Total
	Man	Officer	Enlisted Man
Honesty	43	8	3		54
Courage	22	36	4		52
Honor	22	3	1		26

TABLE II

Qualities	Officer				Total
	Man	Officer	Enlisted Man
Courage	36	22	4		52
Leadership	23	1	0		24
Ability	18	2	1		21

TABLE III

Qualities	Enlisted Man				Total
	Man	Officer	Enlisted Man
Obedience	40	4	0		64
Courage	4	22	36		52
Courtesy	4	11	6		21

TABLE IV

Qualities	Total
	Man	Officer	Enlisted Man	Total
Obedience	4	0	60	64
Honesty	43	8	3	54
Courage	22	36	4	52

Judging from the fact that the qualities listed in table 4, are those at the head of the other tables, it seems that the men voted according to the station in life of the individual considered. The underlying fact that all men as men should possess the same qualities was disregarded. Less than ten per cent of the men voted for the same quality under each man.

FRESHMAN KOLUM

Good morning!
Yes, thank you!

I read in the Wilmington Morning News about the "smoker" held in Old College last Friday evening. There wasn't a Freshman there. Poor spirit men.

When Blanton dies he should be buried in an iron coffin. That would be the only way to keep him down.

Several "Rats" have been seen training industriously on Frazer Field. It is understood that they are getting their appetites in trim for the Thanksgiving feed in Old College. I hope Miss Stuart is not caught unprepared.

Cheer-up, Wade! The death rate in the aviation service is high. You may win her yet.

Thoughts while waiting on my "steady's" front porch last Sunday evening. Wonder if the Old man and Old Lady are going out tonight. They stick around too much. There's the old man in the parlor with his shoes off. He'll beat it when I ring. They haven't taken the sofa out of the parlor yet. If it could talk I'd burn it up. I oughta've stayed home and studied that history for Dr. Vaughn I guess. Maybe I'll slip past. Guess the bell's on the blink I'd better knock. Look at the old man duck. He's forgotten his shoes. Here she comes. Hello Mame!

France was preparing to take a shower last week when he discovered a track jersey he had missed last spring. He had never taken it off.

W. C. D. PLAYS MEET WITH GREAT SUCCESS

Miracle and Morality Plays Presented Well, Soph Class

Last Thursday evening in Wolf Hall, the Sophomore English Class of the Women's College of Delaware successfully presented to a large audience the miracle play, "Abraham and Isaac," and the morality play, "Everyman."

These plays were given as a regular part of the Sophomore English Courses. Much credit for the success of the performances must be given to Dr. J. R. Moore. Miss Florence Hubbard of the Women's College assisted Dr. Moore in the presentation of the plays.

"Abraham and Isaac," which is the poetic version of the well known Bible story, was given first. The main characters were: "Abraham," Miss Helen Groves; and "Isaac," Miss Mayme Statnekoo. Miss Statnekoo acted her part with a vigor and a sincerity which was particularly effective.

The details of "Everyman" had been worked out to a finer degree than the first play. The costumes were gorgeous, and reflected much credit on the ingenuity and skill of the designers. The lighting effects aided in expressing the spirit of the play. Miss Dorothy Ford, as "Everyman," entered heartily into the spirit of the play, and bore her arduous part with an ease and grace of manner not often possessed by an amateur. Miss Helen Groves, as "Good Deeds" also did some exceptionally fine acting. Miss Elizabeth Taylor, as "Death," showed the results of consistent endeavor. Others who excelled in the performance were: Miss Eleanor Cannon, as "Confession;" Miss Louise Francis, as

"Fellowship;" and Miss Grace Marvel, as "Doctor."
Professors Hancock and Thone aided in the production by generously loaning electrical equipment used. Mr. George C. Price rendered valuable assistance in arranging the properties and electrical equipment.

REVIEW RUST

Lindsay—"Yes sir"—Pshewew—"Slippery Elm" came across and paid fifty for two.

Aikens—Hot Dog! Let's go down tomorrow Walt.

Did you ever run around a corner suddenly and find two or three "Profs" discussing the High Cost of Teaching?

Graves—All those men who have She—Who is that girl?

He—What girl?

She—Why, the one with bobbed hair.

He—You've got me guessin'—I don't know Bob Hare either.

THE LIGHTHOUSE

With Lebanon Valley's scalp safely tucked under our belts, we can take another glimpse into the future. There we find P. M. C., or in other words, "our old friends, the enemy."

On Thanksgiving Day, P. M. C. will welcome the Blue Hen's Chicks to their home grounds with the idea of attempting to do that which they have tired in vain to do for the last ten years—that is, to wallop the Blue and Gold. And as things look now, history will repeat itself and the "Kaydets" will suffer their eleventh annual defeat.

The team has come through the Lebanon Valley game in good shape. None of the players are seriously hurt. The game showed up our offensive to good advantage. Moreover, the defense in its present formations seems to be fitted for smashing up line plays and protecting on forward passes. It took a touchdown to get the boys started, but there was no stopping them after that.

In spite of those facts and the fact that P. M. C. is seeking "consolation in comparative scores," it is evident that the team from Chester is out to "get us" this year with a vengeance. It is going to take hard work and the support of every loyal Delaware man to keep the Gray team from our goal line.

Let every man who can possibly make it, be on hand Thursday and give the team the support they need and have proved they are worthy of receiving.

Naval Observations Given To Library

Hon. Albert F. Polk of Georgetown, Delaware, a graduate of Delaware College in the class of 1889, has presented to the Library a set of the Observations of the United States Naval Observatory. The set is bound in dark green half morocco. It contains the data from observations made through a long period of years upon the sun, the moon, and various planets. Among these data are some very interesting observations made with a nine-inch solar transit. The material is of immense value for research work along scientific lines. The gift of these books by Mr. Polk is another indication of the increasing cooperation which the alumni are showing on behalf of the College.

A. E. Grantham Describes Observations On Wheat

Professor A. E. Grantham read an able paper at the meeting of the American Society of Agronomy in Chicago last week. The subject of Professor Grantham's paper was "Some Observations on the Behavior of Smooth and Bearded Wheats." For a year Professor Grantham has been carrying on a series of experiments in this field of research. The paper was illustrated and forms a permanent contribution to the science of agriculture.

kicked and Delaware reopened its line-smashing attack, this time scoring a touchdown. Tonkin scored and Stewart kicked. Score 21-7.

In the last part of the fourth period Coach Shipley had replaced almost the entire varsity with scrubs.

The game was rough and bloody. Alexander was knocked silly in the second period; Marconetti had a severe cut under his eye, but gamely "stayed with 'em." There were several penalties for unnecessary roughness, both sides offending.

Howan and Moore starred for the visitors.

It was the last game on Frazer Field for "Bill" Stewart and "Bess" Carter. Their line work was a feature of the contest and the kicking of "Bill" deserves special mention. He kicked three goals, and every kick-off sending the pig-skin to the five or ten-yard line.

Kavanaugh, a new man this year, played a particularly clever game of line plunging and, open field running. McCaughan displayed his usual good leadership at quarterback.

Line-up:

Delaware	Lebanon Val.
Megaw l. e.	Giles
Holton l. t.	Behman
Pool l. g.	Shorasky

Carter's loss will be felt greatly, for he and Marston formed one of the best team of guards in the East. He will be here, however, for the big games with Navy, Bucknell, C. U., Georgetown, and possibly Penn and it is hoped that in these few contests he will give his team a flying start toward the coveted championship of the East.

At center, Coach Shipley will undoubtedly work big "Sank" McCaughan. Sank's long, lean, frame was a pleasing and reassuring sight as it padded around the cage last year and his friends predict a better season for him this year.

"Big Aleck" and "Little" Carter will probably fight off the attempts of any Freshmen aspiring to the forward positions. Alexander and Carter worked well together last year and it is predicted that they, working together with "Sank," will make some of the opposing guards step to keep up with them.

Dick Barnard will also be out in togs this year making somebody work for his position. Dick will probably have a big job on his hands this year if Coach shifts him to the guard position but most of those who know him believe him capable of filling the position well.

Besides these letter men from 1918, Coach Shipley will have a wealth of new material from which to pick his team. Freshmen who have just entered and Sophomores and Juniors who have played here before will be out fighting for positions and helping to make the varsity a success.

Careful consideration of the dope for the coming season points towards the Delaware team as a world-beater and with the moral and physical support of the student body there is no reason in the world why she should not "clean up" this year.

STUDENTS' DINNER GREAT SUCCESS

his efforts interest was created in the Student Body and detailed arrangements carried to completion.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Sharp, Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wilkinson, Dean and Mrs. Edward Laurence Smith, Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Miller, Dr. J. R. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. George Carter, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reybold, Mr. and Mrs. G. Gray, Miss Mary L. Powers, Mr. and Mrs. W. Morgan, and Mr. William Hayes. Many members of the Faculty and their wives were present at the dinner.

The evening was opened by a speech by F. Bayard Carter, welcoming the guests and introducing Mr. H. Rodney Sharp. Mr. Sharp in a wonderfully clear speech, set forth the purposes for which Old College had been remodeled and stated his pleasure at the interest and regard with which the building was held by the students. A rousing cheer was given Mr. Sharp at the completion of his speech.

After the tables had been cleared, the real surprises of the evening came in rapid succession. "Bess" introduced Mr. Wilkinson as the first speaker. Mr. Wilkinson then proceeded to enlighten the Student Body as to the real cause of the dinner, Miss Stuart's leaving to be married. Such a yell went up that it was fully three minutes before Mr. Wilkinson could continue. Then came another surprise. Four Freshmen entered carrying a mysterious package which was placed before "Bess" on the table. This package proved to be a wonderful silver chocolate service given Miss Stuart on behalf of the Student Body. Engraved on the service was the following:

To Our Beloved "Big Sister" from
The Student Body of Delaware College
Nov. 25, 1919.

Mr. Wilkinson then proceeded to introduce Miss Hall, the new Dietitian, "Bess" then presented, on behalf of the Students, a gold friendship circle showing their friendship and desire to cooperate.

Dr. Mitchell summed up the whole spirit of the meeting. He was followed by Dean Smith who spoke most favorably of conditions on the campus this year.

Then came the "Follies." Dr. Moore entertained the gathering with the conferring of an honorary degree on Miss Stuart. Lattomus and Challenger gave an impersonation of Mannie and Walton. Challenger was the lady and the stunt was clever. The orchestra then gave a few selections. Dr. Miller led the Student Body in singing the popular songs. Then came the two Brown Brothers, "Saxophone Joe" Wise and Blow 'Em' White-man. These boys entertained the happy audience for five minutes. The Varsity Quartet composed of Magee, Wise, Keith, and Gela sang the college songs. Freshman Hughes as "Shufflin' Joe" gave some fine buck and wing dancing. Sweezy, Dorsey, Tebo, Rowan, Robinson, and other Freshmen entertained with ukes and banjos.

The violon solos by Wilmer Jones and Samuel Maroney closed a most delightful affair.

Neatly pressed and creased clothes constitute the college man's traditional ambition. You serve not only your own ambition, but do an act of generosity when you get your clothes pressed by the fellow who is working his way through.
