DR. RYDEN NAMED TO HISTORY POST

On Saturday morning, the second day of the conference of the Middle Atlantic Association of History Teachers, Dr. George H. Ryden, head of the University of Delaware Department of History and Social Science, was elected second vice-president of the group. Dr. Ryden will automatically step into the presidency two years hence. He served as head of the committee on arrangements for this year's meeting.

Jonathan B. Scott, of New York University, was the first speaker of the convention on Friday afternoon. He addressed approximately 150 teachers and students in Mitchell Hall on the subject, "War and Propaganda." Mr. Scott spoke of the widespread effect propaganda had in creating unrest between nations, which usually leads directly to wars.

In the second address, delivered by Hadley Cantril of Teachers College, Columbia University on "Education and Propaganda," the speaker said that education could do much to offset the affects of propaganda. Mr. Cantril dismissed pacifism as a means toward peace.

Dr. George Ryden presided at the afternoon session, while, Dr. H. V. Holloway, state superintendent of public instruction, was toastmaster at the dinner held Friday night, in the Hotel du Pont.

AFFAIR AT REHOBOTH

The Department of Delaware will officially entertain the national commander of the American Legion, J. Ray Murphy of Iowa, at a reception, banquet and dance to be held in the Belhaven Hotel, Rehoboth, on Saturday evening, May 9.

This will be Commander Murphy's first visit to the Department of Delaware, and it is expected that a great many legionnaires, not only from Delaware, but from the adjoining states of Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey will be in Rehoboth at the time of his visit.

Due to the fact that the Department of Delaware is leading the country in membership, with an all time membership record, it is thought that the forthcoming affair will be one of the largest of its kind ever held in the state.

April 26, 1911

Electric Light Globes

Broken and Stolen

The lighting of the Depot Road is an improvement which all who travel appreciate. Being the way by which most newcomers gain their first impression of the town, this road should be suggestive of progress. That all do not co-operate in such a scheme is proven by the fact that since the placing of the electric lights the globes have frequently disappeared. The man recently replacing the missing globes discovered evidences of their having been shot away.

The mischief of the tampering with the street lights has extended to those west of the B. & O. The Newark Water & Electric Company has recently placed $80 Tungsten burners on each pole. These have twice been removed and replaced by old ones.

L. B. Jacobs, when questioned concerning the truth of the rumor, confirmed the statement.

Hockessin Hotel Purchased

John T. Buckley, a hotel keeper from Wilmington, has purchased the Delaware House at Hockessin, for the last few years conducted by James McKelvey, now owner of the Deer Park Hotel. Mr. Buckley plans to make many improvements at his new hotel and will conduct it so that ample accommodations can be provided for the traveling public.

Wedding

The marriage of Ira Clyde McLaughlin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira G. McLaughlin, and Miss Sara Ann Dickinson, eldest daughter of Mrs. Sophia and the late William Dickinson, will be quietly solemnized Wednesday afternoon, April 26, at four o'clock at the bride's home on Locust street. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. R. H. Taylor, pastor of the Oxford Presbyterian Church. Only the immediate families will be present. The bride will wear a traveling suit of mode broadcloth, with hat and gloves to harmonize. After the ceremony a supper will be served and the bride and groom leave on the five o'clock train for a honeymoon trip of about ten days.

College Notes

The Southern trip was a failure financially, but from the standpoint of the team's performance it was an assured success. Owing to the inclement weather only four of the seven scheduled games were played. Delaware only won one but considering the teams played, and the closeness of the scores, this was not a bad showing. The team is in excellent shape with the exception of the pitching staff, and until this defect is remedied it cannot expect to win the majority of the games.

Brint Ralight of the heaving department has certainly improved wonderfully during the last month; and if he can overcome that tendency to blow up in the pinches, he will become a tower of strength for Coach McAvoy's aggregation. To date the

Prettying Up inside the Home

Give Your House a New Deal-- Clean Up—Paint Up—Fix Up—Rebuild

BE FAIR with yourself!

HONESTLY, now haven't you put up with your old-fashioned water heating equipment long enough? Aren't you a bit weary of adjusting your cleanliness habits to suit its whims and fancies? Aren't you tired of running up and down stairs to tend it, when at best it gives only "part-time" service?

Why try to excuse it again, even to yourself, when made-to-measure automatic gas hot water service costs you less than many little trifles you buy . . . just about 10c a day for the average family, using one of the new water heaters.

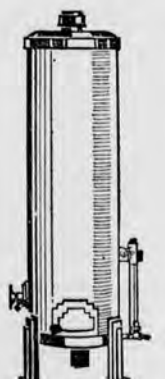

Skeptical about this cost? Well, we're not, because actual usage has proven this amazingly low figure.

Public Opinion

The Newark Post Newark, Delaware Dear Editor:

As a former resident of your picturesque little town, and a reader of the Post for many years, let me tell you how much I think the paper has been improved.

The whole make-up is much better; the printing can't be compared with recent issues—it's that much improved; the news is better and better written; and the ads are artistic. In fact it all shows great growth.

I do hope that the people in Newark are liking the change and that the Post's circulation grows to where it belongs.

Congratulations, Miss "Former Newarker" Baltimore, Md., April 20, 1936.

(Editor's Note—The lady writer, who desires to keep her identity a secret, is an outstanding professional woman, active in Baltimore social, educational and civic affairs. Her kind letter is deeply appreciated.)

Extension Service

By JOHN H. SKINNER
Extension Editor
University of Delaware

By JOHN H. SKINNER, Jr.

Local agricultural conservation committees, temporarily appointed to conduct local community meetings at which the details of the new agricultural conservation program will be explained to interested farmers and to assist the farmers in filling out work sheets which will make them eligible for soil-building and soil-conserving payments under the new program, have been appointed by the three Delaware county committees, it was announced by A. D. Cobb, acting director of agricultural extension at the University of Delaware.

Committees for New Castle County communities are: W. P. Naudain, Newark; W. Lewis Phipps, Centerville; John Holloway, Newark; Benjamin W. Johnson, Bear; Frank Moody, Newark; Benjamin Vinton, St. Georges; George Danby, Bear; Barton Hopkins, New Castle; B. Irvin Armstrong, Middletown; J. Lawson Crothers, Mt. Pleasant; Herman Cochran, Middletown; Walter D. Marker, Townsend; and G. Arthur Ginn, Townsend. The New Castle County committee consists of George K. Ball, Marshallton; J. Leslie Ford, Newark; and E. H. Shalleross, Middletown.

A roadside stand may be just a table on the lawn, where surplus garden products can be displayed for sale from time to time. It may be a more permanent stand in front of the home or on a nearby highway, with a display counter or shelves, and a roof to protect the produce and the attendant from both sun and rain. It may be still more ambitious, a fairly large structure where several farm families cooperate to sell most of their fruit and vegetables and other products to steady customers and passing motorists who like to buy direct from the growers to get freshness and high quality.

Stands which show up well from either direction on the highway, so motorists may see them in time to slow down, apparently have an advantage. A place to enable customers to park comfortably and safely is an essential. Location on a heavily traveled route seems not so important if one has developed customers for a specialty. Sight will direct people down a side road to find this specialty. A distinctive name for the stand and its products often helps advertising. Attractive appearance of stand and products always counts.

Hobby Riding With Max Chambers

Taxidermy

Taxidermy is the science of mounting birds and animal life in natural form. "Stuffing birds" is the common term but it involves more than that. It is one of the most interesting hobbies because it gives vent to mental as well as physical expression, and when the specimen is completed, it portrays a real life situation.

The art is easy to learn and not confined to birds and squirrels but is applicable to fish, snakes, and all kinds of animals. Besides the pleasure, there is opportunity for profit when a hobby rider becomes proficient. A master taxidermist gets about $300 for mounting a Bengal tiger; $20 for a deer head, $10 for bass or trout and $5 for a duck.

The exhibit of mounted Maryland wild fowl on the Claiborne-Annapolis ferry, "Albert C. Ritchie" is the finest in the State. Mr. Elmer Hall of Fishing Creek prepared these specimens. His life work developed from a hobby and improved by a training course. He does work for sportsmen all over the East.

Mr. Norman Toadvine of Salisbury is the animal man—his models are especially attractive. His squirrels are so natural they appear to be alive. He says, "Taxidermy has meant much to me. It has given me a love for the great outdoors that no one can take away from me. It has taught me how to study nature, protect our nearest kin, and has satisfied me in taking fewer game birds and animals. Taxidermy has meant something to me in collecting spare money to help keep me on with my nature work."

A. B. Brittain, Jr., of Federalsburg, has done some outstanding work and is continuing his study of taxidermy at Catawba College. Wayne Blount of Centreville is another enthusiast. There is an interesting article in the May Popular Mechanics magazine.

The world's finest exhibit of taxidermy is housed in the new National Museum at Washington where the "Teddy" Roosevelt African Hunt trophies may be seen in a natural setting.

SOUTH COLLEGE AVENUE CROSSING GOING

While it is good news indeed that the dangerous grade crossing on South College Avenue is soon to be eliminated, what about the atrocious situation existing on North College Avenue, and the even worse one at the intersection of West Main Street, New London Avenue and the Baltimore & Ohio tracks, where complications are added by traffic on Elkton Road?

It is gratifying that the Pennsylvania Railroad and the state and federal governments have agreed to spend $100,000 for eliminating a dangerous crossing. The value of the investment is self-evident. It is genuine. But it immediately enlarges the fact that similar cooperative steps should be made by the state and federal governments and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Promises have been made in the past by federal work-relief programs that funds would be used in grade crossing eliminations. Little has been accomplished in this area to fulfill those promises. Let's hope, however, that the forthcoming step is only the first of three sorely needed ones and that once the ball starts rolling it will exterminate grade crossings in Newark once and for all time.

May Hop At Elkton To Feature Spotts' Band

Friday night, May 8, at the State Armory, Elkton, the Company E Club will present the 1936 May Hop, featuring Wally Spotts and his orchestra.

Spotts himself hails from Reading, Pa., but twelve years ago he drifted South to Georgia where he rounded up ten clever musicians. Since then he and his band have traveled a long trail of popularity.

Known as the Georgia Ramblers, the outfit has made successful appearances at the Biltmore Country Club, Atlanta; Terrace Gardens, Cleveland; and Castle Gardens, Louisville. They captured collegiate admiration at Princeton, Cornell, Penn State, Hood and here at the University of Delaware.

The band specializes in soft, sweet rhythms, but the old familiar jazz tunes are not missing. Wally commands a high spot (not a pun) in the musical world, and, with the recent addition of a charming female vocalist, that spot has expanded and grown brighter.

Company E expresses the belief that the May Hop will be another "big" event and, under the guidance of Lieut. Harold T. Perkins, the dance committee has arranged for unusual decorations.

Following the usual custom of semi-formal attire, the dance will start at nine and end at one.

State Theatre House Notes

Forty thousand dollars worth of authentic airline equipment was used to supply genuine backgrounds for "Thirteen Hours By Air," aviation drama featuring Fred MacMurray and Joan Bennett which plays this picture house Friday and Saturday. This picture is the story of romance and intrigue on a trans-continental air voyage in a commercial transport plane. For settings representing airport offices and waiting rooms, the Paramount Studio leased equipment from regular airlines. Included were five teletype machines, radio receiving and sending apparatus, Page printers, perforators and reperforators for sending weather reports and latest type flying instruments. An air beacon and especially-drawn weather maps were obtained from the U. S. Bureau of Air Commerce.

The star of all western stars, Ken Maynard, will be seen in "Western Courage" on Saturday only. Ken will please you with his trick riding and the way he will thrill you in this film of the great outdoors is beyond describing.

That inimitable team of the screen lovers, Dick Powell with tuneful songs on his lips, and Ruby Keeler with her rhythmic dancing, together with Joan Blondell and Jack Oakie, head the cast of Warner Bros.' latest spectacular musical comedy, "Colleen," which comes to this theatre Monday and Tuesday. In addition to the four stars, the cast, which is one of the most notable ever assembled for a production of this type, includes Hugh Herbert, Louise Fazenda, Paul Draper, Marie Wilson and a score of other famous names besides two hundred beautiful chorus girls and dancing youths. The dance numbers were under the personal direction of Bobby Connolly, formerly dance director for the Ziegfeld Follies and other New York shows.

Wednesday finds that ever popular comic of the screen Jack Haley in "F Man." Supporting Jack in this film made up of fun and laughter are Grace Bradley, William Frawley and Roscoe Karns. The story is of a young man's rise to become a "G Man" but only got to be a "F Man." Newark's first Amateur Show will be presented on this evening only. So keep your date book open for this night, there will be more fun seeing this show with her than taking her out under the stars and making LOVE.

"Man Hunt," starring Ricardo Cortez, Marguerite Churchill, William Gargan and that grand old man of the stage and screen Charles "Chic" Sale will be the main event on Thursday evening. Aside from the feature picture there will be cash awards offered to the holders of the lucky coupons.

ROAMIN' WITH RUTLEDGE

Congrats, Newark

Independent baseball in Newark received an unusually good start for 1936 last Sunday and the fact is not emphasized entirely by the 17-0 victory scored over Elkton.

"THE ROAMER"

By everyone we mean just that—the officers of the team, the voluntary ticket sellers and the public at large. They did a grand job. So grand in fact that a reliable source supplies the information that the receipts were the largest ever collected on Continental Field, excepting at a donkey game last season.

Ticket Sellers Sell

The ticket sellers stationed at every opening around Continental Field carried out their duties to perfection. They actually sold tickets and from the amount of the returns it is indicative that few patrons entered the enclosure without depositing the necessary two-bit piece.

George Alcorn, Johnny Doyle, Angelo Cataldi, Henry Jackson, J. Q. Smith and Charlie Moore, assisted by President Huey Morris and Secretary-Treasurer John Murray, must have spent a busy afternoon grabbing quarters.

On top of that, business men in Newark, by cash contributions, and the directors of the team, by donations and purchases, have outfitted the club in every respect. New uniforms will be received within ten days.

The uniforms, incidentally, were purchased in Newark and not in some neighboring city, contrary to an unfortunate practice followed by too many local retail buyers.

Yes, Newark gave proof that it is capable of doing things like other communities—in a cooperative manner. Let's hope the good work continues and is not a flash in the pan.

On Your Mark

Set — Go! That's the cry which will echo over historic Frazier Field many times Saturday afternoon when the annual interscholastic track and field championships are to be held. Some 42 schools from four states are to vie for honors.

Of principal interest to University of Delaware students, however, will be the inter-fraternity relay which is an annual classic. Six fraternities, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Nu, Theta Chi, Sigma Tau Phi, Kappa Alpha, and Phi Kappa Tau, will participate in the event.

Collegiate bookies have named the crack Sigma Nu team the favorite by the staggering odds of 6-1. Sigma Phi Epsilon at even money is rated as the second choice.

We know nothing about the relative merits of the respective opponents, but wouldn't it be funny to see one of the pre-affair underdogs cop the championship? Heh, heh.

Collegiate Conversation

A bright (?) looking Delaware coed, one who appeared as though she might become blinded by the glittering street lights of Stanton, inquired in "Pop's" — "George, do you have any pecan?" "Yes," clearly answered George. "Oh, my, you have no pecan?" the bright one further inquired. "Yes, I said we do have pecan," a slightly nettled George responded. "Well then," came back the intelligent lass, "what do you have in nut ice cream?"

How about a coed brand?

NEWARK THROTTLES ELKTON; PERRYVILLE AND STARS WIN

Edmanson, Sheats, and Craig Shine As Bridgewater Clan Romps To 17-0 Victory; Havre de Grace Bows, 3-2; Providence Loses 6-4 Decision; Hurlers Hold Edge; Show Form

Baseball warfare opened in a big way last Sunday when the Bi-State League swung into action on three widely separated fronts. More than 1,200 fans braved a drizzling to view games here, at Havre de Grace and Bel Air, a downpour of rain early in the afternoon threatening to cause a unanimous halt to the proceedings.

With some 350 spectators gathered at Continental Field, where Jackie Bridgewater's new Newark combine throttled Elkton 17-0, more than 600 paying patrons filed through the gate at Havre de Grace and another 250 graced the stands at Bel Air.

Continuing the classy brand of baseball each team demonstrated in the 1935 title series, the Perryville Pandours, runners-up last year, defeated the champion Rivermen, 3-2, in a great hurling duel. Providence bowed to the Harford All-Stars, 6-4, when six errors ruined Reggie Conway's excellent chugging.

Games next week-end are as follows: Saturday, Providence vs. Newark at Continental Field; Havre de Grace at Elkton; Harford All-Stars at Perryville. Sunday, Newark at Providence; Elkton at Havre de Grace; and Perryville vs. Harford All-Stars at Bel Air.

By Bill Fletcher

By "The Roamer"

A clubbing Newark team enmassed behind the masterful hurling of Johnny Craig to shut out Elkton on the Continental Field, Sunday, by the score of 17-0. The locals pounded three pitchers for a total of 18 hits in the opening game of the Bi-State loop as Craig limited the Barristers to four scattered safeties.

Sheats with a home-run, double and a single; and, Edmanson, with a double and two singles, led the Newark batsmen.

Manager Jackie Bridgewater, the first Newarker to face Norm Schulte, initiated the season in fine style, by slamming a triple to right field to score on George's sacrifice.

Elkton Threatens Twice

Elkton made two desperate efforts to avoid a shut-out; once in the second, and another in the seventh when on both occasions, Ninny Charsbee reached third base. Their attempts to score were futile, however, due to the locals' impenetrable defense and the effective hurling of Craig.

A cloudburst in the early part of the afternoon, and overcast skies threatened to mar the pleasure of some 350 fans who turned out for the opener, but, gloom was dispelled when the sun blazed out during the second inning.

Boots Hurt Barristers

Playing a big part in the overwhelming defeat were the numerous Elkton errors which speckled the play, and led to many Newark tallies.

The Jackets enjoyed two big innings. In the fourth, the locals torpedooed the hurling of Schulte for six hits and a total of eight runs. Three straight errors ignited the fuse in the big fourth that opened the fireworks. Two of them by Norm Schulte, scored Roberts and placed Sheats on third and Whiteman on first. A long single by Knotts cleaned the sacks who scored a moment later on Craig's deep single to the same sector. Craig was forced out on Bridgewater's in-field hit, who tallied on Jack Edmanson's double to right field. Ernie George's hit rolled through Harada's legs into center field to allow Edmanson to score. Sheats' long drive to the fence cleared the sacks, scoring Roberts, his second run of the inning, and George; but he was called out on a close play, attempting to stretch the blow to a triple.

Dunkle Takes Lacing

The shell-shocked Schulte brothers wended their way to the showers and were replaced by Dunkle in the box with McCann behind the plate.

Losing little time in solving the delivery of the new hurler, the Jackets started stinging again in the sixth and succeeded in piling up five more runs.

Bridgewater went to third, as Edmanson drove out his second hit of the day. Ernie George grounded into a double play, and, it looked as if the threat would be stopped, but Roberts resumed the scoring with a double over the left field fence. Sheats' single scored Roberts which was followed by a single by Whiteman and a complimentary pass to Knotts, load-

Lucas In Limelight

Marvin Lucas, Rising Sun boy playing short for Perryville, was easily the star of the contest. In addition to collecting three of Perryville's hits, one of which drove in a run, he turned in a pair of sensational catches. The last one ended the contest and saved the ball game. With runners on second and third, Jackie Myers, diminutive Riverman keystone, made a bid for a hit by looping a short fly near the left-field foul line. Lucas took a desperate dive and retained a hold on the ball as he made a double roll on the ground.

Errors Hunt Providence

Staging a two-run rally in the eighth frame, the Perryville Pandours, runners-up for the 1935 Bi-State gonfalon, took a half-line, 3-2 decision from the champion Rivermen before more than 600 fans at Havre de Grace, Sunday.

Providence was the victim of a 6-4 setback at Bel Air the same afternoon when Freddie Baldwin's Harford All-Stars took advantage of six hits and as many Papermarker errors to roll up a sufficient margin to win in the first four innings. Some 250 spectators viewed the hostilities.

Rivermen Score Early

With youthful Woodrow Wilson Preston, late of Perryville, commanding the hurling parapet for Havre de Grace, and Lloyd (Toy) Jebb doing the pitching chores for the Pandours, fans were afforded a rare twirling exhibition.

The Rivermen lost no time in breaking the scoring ice, however, as Jobes' lengthy double, Larry Preston's in-field bingle and a one-baser by Tollenger accounted for the initial run in the first frame.

Perryville deadlocked the issue in the third. Ryan took a walk and made a fast dash to the plate when Lucas dented the left-field wall for a double.

Stevens Socks Fourmaster

Taking a tooth on Jebb's fast one, Freddie Stephens gave the Rivermen another short edge when he clouted for the circuit in the fourth. The ball, despite a retarding wind, had plenty of carry to clear the left-field barrier.

Preston gave a great exhibition of a castoff's revenge for seven innings, but his third walk to Cooney proved to be his downfall. Joe opened Perryville's eighth by strolling and took second on Stan Lloyd's sacrifice.

Big Guns Roar

Stopped on three occasions each by Preston's teasing delivery, the Pandours' big guns, Marquess and Bud Lloyd crashed consecutive singles to center. Cooney tied the score on the first hit while Marquess advanced to third on the second belt.

Hornberger, on the second attempt, dropped a bunt ahead of the plate as Marquess steamed across with the winning marker.

Perryville threatened again in the ninth when Jebb singled and Lucas beat out a bunt to Grant for his third hit. Larry Preston ended the uprising, however, by galloping far for Cooney's fly, doubling Jebb off second.

AUTO RACING TO OPEN MAY 17 IN PENNA.

100 Miles of Racing Listed For Langhorne Speedway Opening

STARS AT INAUGURAL

The resounding roar of high-powered racing motors will inaugurate the Eastern speedway season at Langhorne, Pa., Sunday, May 17, announcement from Hankinson Speedway has disclosed.

Perennial scene of the East's foremost speed conflicts, Langhorne will again offer the choice attractions in the Delaware, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania sectors, according to owner and operator Ralph A. Hankinson.

Situated along the Lincoln Highway, midway between the neighboring cities of Philadelphia and Trenton, N. J., the Langhorne track has become a favored mecca for thousands of Eastern speed devotees. Last year, a capacity throng of 41,634 witnessed the inaugural events here.

With the majority of America's drivers harbored East of the Mississippi river, Langhorne has gained constant popularity among members of the speed profession. Annually, a goodly representation of midwestern performers dot the Langhorne entry lists.

Universally recognized feats of such noted stars as Kelly Pettilo and George "Doc" Mackenzie have established Langhorne as one of America's outstanding speedways, rivalled only by the master course at Indianapolis. Pettilo, current national champion, last October hoisted a new world record for 100 miles at Langhorne. Mackenzie, the 1935 monarch of the East, possesses the existing qualifying mark here—a 36-second mile established in 1934.

During the season of 1935, four outstanding speed events were conducted at the Lincoln Highway oval. The inaugural was captured by the late Johnny Hannon; the second went to Ben Shaw, of Westville, N. J.; Mackenzie annexed the lions share of laurels in the August offering, while Pettilo forged to triumph in the 1935 national championship finale.

According to Hankinson, six Three-A sanctioned events will inaugurate the current speedway season here. One hundred miles of auto racing will include time trials, four 10-mile sprints and a 50-mile featured final.

GOLDEN EAGLES JOIN

The Mainstreeters, defending champions, will open the 1936 campaign in the Newark Softball League against the newly formed Red Men outfit on Monday evening, May 4.

Boasting the same line-up that carried them to the flag last season, the Streeters will be out to get started on the right foot toward another gonfalon. Manager Sidwell of the Red Men, however, is hopeful of upsetting the Griffith sluggers and a good battle should be the result.

Captain Aiken will probably start for the champs with Pierpont ready for relief duty. Al Lewis is the likely hurling choice for the Red Men.

Smokies Start Tuesday

The Actna Firemen and Presbyterians play Tuesday evening. Runners-up last year, the "Smoke-eaters" will engage some fancy pitching by Gillespie of the Churchmen, but they expect Charlie Giesner's hurling to outdo that of the opposition.

The Firemen look to have the heavier hitters with "Charlie the Painter" Tasker and Kip Moore, two lefties, to swat the pill. Buckingham, the circus catcher, will support Giesner in his own inimitable style.

CONTARY TO CUSTOM, we present to you with pleasure, our first anonymous pan-letter, which was very very slyly slipped into our coat while eating in a local shop. Although it is not the usual procedure to publish that which is not graced by the signature of the writer, we beg to

"BILL" FLETCHER make an exception in this case, due to the fact that the person expressed herself so beautifully and came so directly to the point.

Citizens of Newark, you have within your fair city, one who is most sincerely interested in your welfare, Newark's Joan of Arc raises the banner in an effort, we hope it is not in vain, to purge Newark of what she considers to be undesired evils—and she starts on us. We quote:

"Get wise to yourself Fletcher—Don't be a dub all your life. Printed remarks often cause trouble."

Identity of the writer is purely theory, but, we wish to thank her most sincerely for the interest shown; say God-speed on her cleansing mission, and commend her upon the somewhat brief, but pointed note. (Our eight confirmed reader—a-ha!)

THE BLUE HEN track mentor, Lyle Clark, continues to bemoan the prospects of a poor track season. His slogan seems to be, "We haven't got anything." The team is marked with an outstanding lack of sprinters, but shows exceptional strength in the field events. Dash material is unusually poor this year with the fastest hundred being run in about 10.8. The team is balanced only by a plenty strong weight crew, which aids in keeping Coach Clark's headache away.

with six hits, Reggie Conway departed a better fate than the 6-4 error handed him. Six fielding errors, five of which were charged to Steve Hubbs, aided the Stars in rolling up all of their runs in the first four frames.

Providence drove Davis from the mound with a four-run spurge in the fourth and Baldwin found it necessary to come in from left field to quench the uprising. Carter finished the game.

Conway handled eight chances in the field without a slip to establish a new mark for Bi-State pitchers. Providence had a total of 15 assists.

NEW CASTLE LOOP OPENS AS GLASGOW AND VETS DIVIDE

The New Castle County Baseball League lifted the curtain on its 1936 season last week-end with six games on as many diamonds.

Hillcrest and the Newark Vets divided a pair of contests, as did Fort duPont and Glasgow. Wilmington took a pair from Cranston Heights.

The Vets bowed at Continental Field Saturday, 17-5, but reversed the order at Hillcrest Sunday, 6-2. Fort duPont trimmed Glasgow Saturday, 6-3, and received a 6-2 reverse at the hands of the Scots on Sunday.

Wilmington sunk Cranston Heights Saturday, 12-10, and repeated the louse, 5-0, Monday night in a postponed affair.

TWILIGHT CHAMPS DOWNED BY JUNIOR LEGION; CARDS WIN

Staring an upset in the opening game of the Newark Twilight League, Roy Hill's Junior Legion crew downed the champion Continental-Diamond outfit, 7-1, Monday night to open the 1936 campaign.

Fibremakers continued to find the going rough the following night when the Cardinals trounced the National Fibre, 9-2. St. John's Church failed to appear for the scheduled contest with the Vets on Wednesday and suffered dismissal from the league. Battery E will fill the open berth.

Behind the steady hurling of young Bob Ewing, the Legionaires made easy work of sinking Ellis Cullen's pets in the opener. The Continental array captured 25 victories in 27 starts last season and were primed to start the current campaign on the right foot.

Morgan and Grundy led the attack on the Continental team, the former slamming a home run over the left-field fence. Barrow homered for the losers' lone score.

Although touched for nine bingles Tuesday night Lomax, hurling for the Cards, kept the hits scattered. Sid Argo was the victim of six fielding errors by his mates.

The teams of Guy Lookabaugh, new head football coach at Grinnell College, have won 50 and lost 30 games.

FLASHES

ders down to a minimum.

THERE'S ONE EVENT that none of the frats will miss. The pronounced lack of interest that was so evident in the swimming and play competitions will be missing in the forthcoming inter-fraternity relay which will be held Saturday.

Feeling always runs high before this annual classic, and brotherly patriotism soars to the peak. There's always plenty of pesos flowing around to back that patriotism, too.

A prediction of the outcome would be only a supposition on our part, so we remain silent on that score. If we had money to wager, we'd lay it on a nag, because you never can tell about these relays.

THE TENNIS SEASON brings to mind the outstanding feats of the Laskaris quartet, which performs exceptional feats on the courts.

Leo, who has a habit of emitting a grunt whenever he makes a bad shot (which is seldom) is hampered by only one thing—he can't play on a sunny day. When "old Sol" is burning up the clay, Leo sounds like a tuba player in a band, playing a hot number.

On the other hand, Chris, the youngest of the group, cannot play on a cloudy day—not an alibi—a fact.

Tom, or Axel, as he is better known, is held back by his desire to preserve perfect form on every shot, whether he's standing on his head or his feet. The stylist does keep his form, but usually loses his match, due to his flair for beauty on the courts.

George, the old man of the collection, slides away from tennis and displays a sixth sense for picking the "gees," that we often envy. He usually hits 'em on the nose.

Speaking of "hits on noses," now that we've ploughed through these last series of paragraphs, we recall that Leo threatened, "I'll get you, if you say anything," and so we only walk at night, hiding behind every tree and building, and leaping to a disturbing height whenever we hear a grunting tuba-like noise.

BY REQUEST we insert a plug for Christopher Royer Donoho, student at the University of Delaware, and tennis star extraordinary. Lacking adjectives, etc., we can't do any better by C. Roy than to quote to you exactly what he told us to insert.

"Tell them I'm plenty hot; that I nudged Captain Wheeler out of number one position; that my equal does not exist in the school, and I'm going places in the tennis world. Thanks."

To which we reply, "You're welcome, and make all checks payable to The Newark Post."

IF THERE'S ANYTHING TO the old sayings, "Practice makes perfect," and "You get out of a thing what you put into it," the production of "Peer Gynt," by the E52 Players should be a roaring success.

Our sleuth reports seeing lights in Mitchell Hall as early as two-thirty in the morning—that really putting out the calories.

OUR SLEUTH also reports seeing a local husband and father drive into the notorious Manns' Orchard—we suppose to pick apples.

We shy from the Winchell staff, and the object of this paragraph is not to criticize, but to commend him upon the preservation of youthful, romantic instincts.

Garage Destroyed by Flames At Loss of More Than $600

A garage owned by Mrs. L. Neal at McClellandville, was destroyed by fire last Thursday with a loss of more than $600. Burning brush ignited the building and the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company arrived too late to save the building.

A wood fire, which burned about 50 acres on the farm of Miss Lillian Devine, about two miles below Glasgow, also demanded the attention of the Newark company on Thursday afternoon.

Eight students of the University of Delaware assisted the firemen.

CAMPUS CAPERS

By CAM

The Spring Frolic, presented last Friday evening by the Student Council, was a staggering success. Although liquid spirits were not quite so evident as in the past, few and far between were the ones who were able to walk the "straight line" at the conclusion of the frolic. The boys from Dover, Connor, and Massey, decided to rush the summer season and appeared in dark trousers and palm beach coats. And Benson must possess Navy blood in his veins; he waltzed around in regulation Navy togs; Fred Kelley had his sleeves rolled up and a pair of bright red suspenders contrasted with his white shirt.

The real fun took place at the Green Lantern Inn. More in evidence than anyone else were Carl Bleiberg and Sam Kahn who had a great time acting as masters of ceremony. Carl even promised the audience (through the microphone), that he would lend his best efforts in securing, for the novelty dancer of the floor show, the coveted position of entertainer in the halls of congress.

Sports editor of "The Review," Dave Sloan, seemed pretty well wrapped up in his "blind date" for the dance. Let's find out something about her. She's dark, has blue eyes, and is about five feet five. Her father is a Captain in the U. S. Navy and she has just returned from Hollywood where she previously resided. Incidentally, the young lady was granted a small part in the motion picture "The King of Burlesque."

Finally, her name is Miss Emily Penn and you can believe me—she is all "right." There's no stopping that Sloan fellow.

Tony "Pancho" DiMaio has solved the problem of obtaining that always absent ready cash. DiMaio has found that social and scholastic will not mix and he has to have them both. Here's why—his girl requires so many dates each week and to keep these dates Tony has to have some dinero. To earn a few cents he has to have a "little" education and he can't get the latter without stopping his dates and losing his girl. Here's Pancho's plan. The rotund little fellow is going to write an autobiography entitled "Love-life of a Modern Casanova." With the estimated royalties of this he hopes to continue visiting Southwest Wilmington and attend College at the same time. Whether or not he secures an education makes little or no difference. Send us a copy, will you Tony?

The loungers in Old College have tired their old game "Rummy" and have developed a new one. It is played as follows: a deep fissure is scratched in the table top with a knife, the respective players slide their coins toward the scar, and the one coming closest to the mark takes the pot. Ronald Zabowski pulled a fast one on his opponents. Taking last turn, he picked out the winner and slid his own coin with force enough to displace his opponent and take that position nearest the line. He's sure of winning as long as he doesn't miss.
