Phi Beta Kappa Chapter To Be Established Here

A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the National Scholastic honorary fraternity, will be established during the coming academic year at the University of Delaware, according to an announcement made by Professor Herbert E. Newman, chairman of the Phi Beta Kappa Committee at Delaware.

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest honorary organization in the country recognizing scholarship in the liberal arts. It was founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary.

The announcement came as a result of the efforts of twenty-five faculty members of Phi Beta Kappa. A committee consisting of Professors Able, Clift, DeArmond, Newman, W. V. Smith, E. W. Smith and Dean John E. Hocutt carried on negotiations for the establishment of a Delaware chapter.

Preliminary negotiations included the preparation of a formal report in 1953 supporting the members' application, and a two-day investigation by Columbia University's Dean Lawrence Chamberlain, a member of Phi Beta Kappa's Committee on qualifications. Approval by the committee on qualifications and the Senate of United Chapters took place in December, 1954. The final step, approval by the triennial council of the United Chapters, occurred at Minneapolis on September 2, 1955.

Scholastic and other eligibility requirements for Delaware students will be announced later, after faculty members of the organization have completed organization of the new chapter.

Designer Of Student Health Center Named

E. William Martin has been selected as architect for the new construction which will soon begin.

The announcement was made by H. F. duPont, chairman of the Grounds and Building Committee of the Board of Trustees.

The structure was made possible by $300,000 from an anonymous donor early this year.

Site of the new building will be the southerly end of the campus between Topsy, Turvey, Bolletus Halls and Warner Hall facing the Memorial Library.

Eleven UD Staff Members Receive Leaves, Resignations

Leaves of absence have been granted to four members of the university faculty for the 1955-56 session. Seven others have resigned their positions.

Miss Irma Ayers, dean of the school of home economics, will take a one-year leave of absence to pursue advanced study at Columbia University. During this period, Miss Mary E. Wines will be acting dean.

Dr. Walter Kirchner of the history department will join the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University. Dr. Walter L. Woodfill has received a Guggenheim grant for study on English music and will spend the year in London conducting research on this subject.

Miss Mary Ellen Durrett will undertake advanced study in the field of child development at Florida State University and the Merrill Palmer School in Detroit.

Seven other members of the faculty have resigned their positions to accept jobs in other colleges or business and for ad-

Semester Opens As Convocation Speech Stresses Adventure

The 122nd session of the University of Delaware officially opened on Monday, September 19, with the convocation exercises presented on the campus green.

The principal speaker, Thomas Bayard McCabe, president of the Scott Paper Company, stressed the need for "the spirit of adventure."

Following the address, President John A. Perkins conferred the honorary degree of "Doctor of Laws" to Mr. McCabe for his work in industry and in civil service. The "Doctor of Science" degree was presented to Dr. Francis Bayard Carter, gynecologist and obstetrician, for his outstanding contributions to the medical field.

The freshman, according to Mr. McCabe, is "in the light" at convocation time. With his college career ahead of him, the freshman should try to get as much as he can in his all-too-short four year program.

"To grasp the spirit of adventure," "to look for dividends measured in terms of knowledge, personality, and development of spiritual growth" and "to establish an educational objective," are the necessary tenets for learning to understand the existing world and its problems.

Mr. McCabe cited that industry wants the "higher individual with the understanding of man's cultural knowledge" — a person "trained in basic principles, philosophical thinking, the humanities and the simple virtues." The pay-off will come to those who have acquired sound judgement.

The University of Delaware symphonic band played "March Processional" by Clare Grundman, "March from Suite in F" by Frederick Breydert and "Crown Imperial" by William Walton. The singing of the alma mater closed the convocation.

vanced study.

Dr. Matthew J. Pillard, associate professor of education, has accepted the position of managing editor of the School Executive and the American School and University.

Dr. Ardwin J. Dolio, professor of education, has submitted his resignation, but his future plans are not definite at this time.

William B. Clements, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, has been employed as industrial engineering and management consultant for Seabrook Farms.

June M. Patterson, assistant professor of home economics, has accepted a teaching position with Yale University Nursery School.

Elsie N. Crouthamel, instructor in home economics, will join the textiles department of the duPont Company.

Della Durant and Ruth L. Malburg, both instructors in physical education, have left the university to pursue advanced study.

Wagner Receives Rank Of ROTC Cadet Colonel

Andrew J. Wagner has been appointed regimental commander of the university's ROTC unit with the rank of Cadet Colonel. The announcement came from Colonel E. W. Hiddleston, professor of military science and tactics, last Monday.

Colonel Hiddleston also appointed Clark C. Carbaugh as regimental executive officer with the rank of Cadet Lieutenant Colonel. Eleven other appointments to the battalion and regimental staffs as well as the six companies and the band were also announced.

EVERYONE'S BACK ON CAMPUS . . . after a long vacation. Although total enrollment figures have not been released, it seems a certainty that 1955-56 will establish a new record for attendance. The highest enrollment at Delaware was recorded shortly after the Second World War with the influx of veterans.

Homecoming Features Pageant; Queen Petition Deadline Nears

Petitions for Homecoming Queen candidates must be handed in at the Review office no later than 4 p. m. on September 30. If a picture is not enclosed with the signatures, the petition will be discarded.

Homecoming Weekend, to be held from October 14 to 16, will include separate and joint activities for students and alumni. The main events of the weekend will be the Delaware-New Hampshire football game on Saturday afternoon, October 15, and the Harvest Hop the same evening.

Editor Announces Year Book Theme For '56 "Blue Hen"

A series of pen and pencil sketches will be featured as the theme of this year's Blue Hen yearbook, according to Ed Gearhart, editor-in-chief.

Catchy pictures will play a more prominent part than in previous editions of the Blue Hen. The first six pages will be devoted to technicolor scenes emphasizing the beauty of the university grounds.

A sales goal of 1,000 books, which will mean a yearbook for every two students, is approaching completion with 800 books sold so far. In an intensive campaign, which will be conducted during the next two months, the goal is expected to be achieved.

Although the nucleus of the Blue Hen staff was chosen last spring, there are still many important positions vacant. Divisions in which positions are open are typing, sports coverage and photography. Students interested should contact the editor or attend the Blue Hen meeting on Tuesday, September 27 at 4 p. m.

Following the game, the alumni will hold a Goal Post Party at the University Cub in Wilmington.

A similar Goal Post Party arranged by Richard Groo, director of alumni activities and coordinator of the entire alumni activities for the weekend, will be held at the Glass Kitchen for the New Hampshire alumni. Two years ago a party of this sort was arranged for these alumni and because of the favorable response, it is being repeated. Last year, when Delaware played this university at Durham, the New Hampshire alumni reciprocated by arranging a Goal Post Party for the Delawareans.

Saturday night, George Madden and his orchestra will play for the Harvest Hop, a semi-formal dance. The date that the tickets will go on sale has not yet been announced.

As is customary for alumni to hold a "formal" reunion every five years; the classes with the majority of people returning will be 1951, 1946, 1941, 1936, and so forth.

Other activities for the alumni will be announced at a later date in the Review.

If any candidate for Homecoming queen wishes to have her picture taken, she should contact Ray DeVries, Editor of the Review, before noon on Friday, September 30.

Wagner, who hails from Baltimore, Maryland, will head the entire regiment consisting of a regimental headquarters, two battalions of three companies each and a band.

Wagner is a two-time varsity football letterman and is a likely starter in a halfback position in tomorrow's game with Bainbridge. He is a member of Theta Chi social fraternity. He is a senior in the school of arts and sciences.

Carbaugh, also a senior, is a chemical engineering major. He comes from Catonsville, Maryland and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Other regimental appointments are: Cadet Lt. Colonel Vincent E. Landi, first battalion commander; Cadet Lt. Col. Richard E. Garrett, second battalion commander; Cadet Major Joseph F. Camp, regimental adjutant; Cadet Major John R. Eagle, regimental S-3; Cadet Captain John B. Long, Jr., regimental assistant S-3.

Officers of the first battalion headquarters will be Earl J. Carpenter, executive officer, cadet major; Frank S. Pettyjohn, adjutant, cadet captain; and Donald A. Goodridge, S-3, Cadet captain.

Second battalion officers are Donald R. Romano, executive officer, cadet major; Joseph E. Morgan, adjutant, cadet captain; and Bennett McLaughlin, S-3, cadet captain.

Company Commanders, all of who are cadet captains are Marshall Baker, Company A; Joseph Lauletta, Company B; James Zaiser, Company C; Thomas Oves, Company D; Irvin Richter, Company E; Robert Hooper, Company F; and Joseph Evan, band.

Winterthur Series To Be Coordinated By Doctor Moyne

Dr. Ernest Moyne, assistant professor of English here, has recently been appointed coordinator of the Winterthur program.

His predecessor, Dr. Frank Sommers, resigned from the Delaware staff to take Jesuit orders. He is now living at the Novitiate in Wernersville, Pennsylvania.

Dr. Moyne, who received his B. A. and M. A. from Yale and his Ph.D. from Harvard, began teaching here in 1948. Since his arrival, he has been active in a number of organizations, including:

Pep Dance Tonight

An informal record dance will be held after the pepfest tonight in the Women's Gym.

This will be the first dance open to upper classmen as last week's affair was for freshmen only. Tickets for the dance, which will run from 7:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m., are $.25 and may be purchased at the door.

The seniors, under the direction of Mike Ferver, president of the class, are planning a dance for Saturday, October 1. The band or combo for this event has not been decided on yet. The dance will be held in the Field House from 8 p. m. to 12 p. m.

Think You're Far From Home? See Thonaldor Sveinbjornsson

by Hal Bodley

2,700 miles, an airplane ride and finally the University of Delaware — that sums up the story of Thonaldor Sveinbjornsson, the freshman who is the furthest from home.

Thonaldor hails from Reykjavik, on the southwest coast of Iceland. Prior to coming to Delaware, this freshman went to a junior college in Reykjavik and attended the University of Iceland for two years.

If the University of Iceland had offered a complete course in electrical engineering, chances are Delawareans would have never laid eyes on the Iclander. After he had finished his two years at Iceland University he realized that it would be impossible to obtain the education he desired in electrical engineering. He considered two possibilities for furthering his education. With the strong desire to learn the English language, Thonaldor began to investigate the possibility of attending colleges in the United States and in England.

There were several reasons why the Iclander decided on the University of Delaware: American schools offer a broader education in engineering, and most of the technical instruments in use today are produced in the United States. He has a brother, who is an American citizen living near Wilmington, and with his brother's influence, he decided on the University of Delaware.

Thonaldor arrived in the United States on August 16 after two months of no sunshine in Iceland. He found the sweltering United States heat very difficult to adjust to, since he had never been exposed to excess heat before.

As for Thonaldor's likes and views of Delaware:

He is interested in sports to a large extent, especially soccer. He played a good deal of soccer in his home town and is interested in the Blue Hen's team.

Old ATO House Changed To Dorm

Evans Hall is the most recent attempt by the administration to alleviate the overcrowded dormitory situation.

The new hall is the same building that housed the ATO fraternity for the past few years and is located across the street from Old College. Remodeled inside, the hall accommodates 13 men, mostly freshmen, and the graduate advisor.

Because of the lack of heating facilities on the third floor, the occupants are roomed on the main and second floors much in the same manner as the men in the Delaware Avenue dorms.

Because of the ever-increasing freshman enrollment, the university has once again opened up the Knoll. This building, across the street from the infirmary, was closed for the second semester last year.

REW To Be Held On Local Campus From Nov. 13-16

"Thinking Our Way Through" has been selected as the main theme of this year's Religious Emphasis Week, which will be held from November 13 to 16.

"In an effort to give all students a clear, concise idea of the different religious denominations, the University Religious Council, sponsor of the program, is trying to arrange events which will be of interest to all faiths," stated William Merryman, chairman of REW.

Three convocation programs, all centering around the main theme of REW, "Thinking Our Way Through," will be the core of the affair. The speaker for each of these programs will be a representative from one of the three major faiths here: Catholic, Protestant and Jewish.

Cannon Brian Green, a prominent Anglican clergyman who has conducted preaching missions in South Africa, New Zealand and Australia, will be the Protestant speaker. The other two have not yet been announced.

Brian Green, Cannon of Birmingham Cathedral in England, was brought to the United States this year by the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware to conduct preaching missions throughout the state. He will be available for the house discussions during REW.

Discussion Scheduled

Among the other activities to be scheduled are dormitory and fraternity discussions, seminars, faculty meetings, personal conferences and special groups. The film, "Martin Luther," will be shown during the week.

As a prelude to REW, H. Edwin Rosser, director of the Mexico City Student Center, will speak to the University Religious Council on October 6 at 4 p. m. in Alison Hall.

The URC is now developing plans for REW. The next meeting for this program will be held on Monday, September 26, in 213 Alison Hall.

Scientific Papers Read At Meeting Of Nat'l Chemists

Three members of the faculty of the department of chemistry, University of Delaware, presented scientific papers before the 128th national meeting of the American Chemical Society last week, which was held in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Professors Glenn S. Skinner and R. E. Ludwig of the DuPont Company presented "The Synthesis and Properties of Oxazolidinones and Pyrrolidinetrioxanes." This work describes a number of new materials potentially useful as drugs. Professor William A. Mosher and Dr. H. S. Brady of Olin-Mathieson Chemical Company, Niagara Falls, N. Y., discussed "The Acid Catalyzed Reaction of Diphenylmethane and Diphenylcarbinol" and will offer proof of a new mechanism involved in the preparation of high-octane gasoline.

On Friday Professor Harold Kwart and Mr. Lewis B. Weisfeld presented "The Hydration of 3-Menthene and the Mechanism of the Acid Catalyzed Hydration of Olefins." This research reveals new details on how certain important types of chemicals are formed from widely available petroleum components.

In addition to the scientific papers, Dr. Mosher will attend the meeting of the National Council of the Society and will preside at special meetings of the committee on Professional Relations and Status of the national organization.

UD Faculty Members Receive Promotions To Higher Ranks

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees last summer, four associate professors were promoted to the rank of full professors and three assistant professors were promoted to associate professors.

Raised to full professors are Dr. Jack A. Gerster, Dr. Walter Kirchner, Dr. E. Gorham Lane and David M. Nelson. The new associate professors are Dr. Richard G. Barnes, Dr. Harold W. Kwart and Miss Mary E. Wines.

Dr. Gerster, a member of the university faculty since 1946, served as acting chairman of the department of chemical engineering for the past semester. He has long been active in problems of distillation research.

Dr. Kirchner, a member of the history department faculty for the past ten years, has been granted a leave of absence for the 1955-56 academic year to become a visiting member of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University.

Dr. Lane, recipient of the 1955 certificate and $500 prize for excellence in teaching, came to the university in 1947.

Nelson has served as athletic director and head football coach since he came to the campus in 1952.

Dr. Barnes is a member of the physics staff, while Dr. Kwart and Miss Wines are members of the chemistry department and the school of home economics, respectively.

New Men's Advisor Tackles Problems Confronting Student

The change from high school study habits to college study habits is one of the biggest problems encountered by a guidance counselor, stated Stanley C. Thomas, new resident advisor for men.

According to Mr. Thomas, freshmen should budget their study time so that they can have time for some social activities.

Before coming to the university, Mr. Thomas was guidance counselor and social studies teacher at Oak Grove School in Elsmere.

Mr. Thomas, who took a graduate course here last fall, feels very much at home on the Delaware campus as it reminds him of Bucknell, from which he graduated.

From his office on the first floor in Brown Hall dorm, Mr. Thomas has aired the problems of many freshmen during the two weeks.

After receiving his master of science and master of education degrees from Bucknell in 1947, Mr. Thomas served as public school instructor in Hazelton, Pa., professor at the University of New Brunswick in Canada and in the Office of the Armed Forces Information and Educational Service as head of research.

Precision Marching To Highlight Contest

Tomorrow will mark the University of Delaware Band's initial appearance at Delaware Stadium, Newark, for the season's opening football game between Bainbridge and the Delaware Blue Hens.

The band will feature a military precision marching show with left and right flank movements by all or by sections of the band. The sixty members of the marching band, which include seventeen freshmen, will then form a USN for the U. S. Naval Training Center stands. Coming out of that formation, they will go directly into a DEL for the Delaware side.

The music for these formations will include the "Belle of Chicago March" by Sousa, "Anchors Aweigh," the official Navy song and the "Delaware Fight Song."

Captain A. J. Mayer Named Aide To Military Department

Captain Arthur J. Mayer

Captain Arthur J. Mayer, a native of San Antonio, Texas, has been assigned as assistant professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Delaware.

After completing studies in Jefferson High School in San Antonio, Captain Mayer attended the United States Military Academy, graduating in 1949.

The new university official attended the Ground General School, Ft. Riley, Kansas, and the Officer's Basic Course at the Armored School, Ft. Knox, Kentucky, before serving in Europe in 1950.

When Captain Mayer returned to the states in 1953, he was ordered to the First Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Texas. Prior to his appointment at the University of Delaware, Captain Mayer completed the Officer's Advanced Course at the Armored School, Ft. Knox, Kentucky.

by Janet Bonin

"We feel that the out of class life of the student can be made a significant educational experience just as is true for the formal course work every student takes. We recognize that the primary purpose the student has in college is to gain a formal education. We think the out of class life of the student plays an important part in achieving this purpose," stated Dean of Students John E. Hocutt.

Dean John E. Hocutt

Dean Hocutt filled several different positions at William and Mary College before coming to the University of Delaware. He received his Bachelor's Degree from William and Mary in June of 1935. The following September he was appointed instructor of chemistry there. During 1937-1938 he took a leave of absence to attend the Ohio State University to do graduate work with an assistantship in chemistry. In September of 1938 he received his M.S. Dean Hocutt interrupted his graduate study to return to William and Mary in the fall of 1938 as assistant Dean of Men. While working as an administrative officer he served as a part-time faculty member in the Chemistry Department. From 1941-1942, he was assistant to the president at William and Mary.

Serves in Navy

In 1942 Dean Hocutt was granted a four year leave of absence during which time he was on active duty in the navy. For the first part of his service, he was a civilian personnel officer at a Navy ammunition depot. The latter part of his naval career was spent as aide and flag secretary on the staff of Commander Cruiser 16, in the Pacific. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal with combat "V." in recognition of his service on his staff.

Dean Hocutt returned to William and Mary in February 1946 as Dean of Men and associate professor of Chemistry. He resigned in the summer of 1952 to come to Delaware as the University's first Dean of Students. About his work Dean Hocutt said, "I enjoy administration. In particular, I enjoy working with students. There are many headaches and quite a few heartaches along the way, but the pleasures I gain from the work over shadow them. I think it takes a sense of humor to live with the job."

Since coming to Delaware, Dean Hocutt has been active in the naval reserve program. He is commanding officer of Naval Reserve Surface Battalion 4-1, Wilmington.

Outside Interests

He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa as an under graduate at William and Mary, and is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa. He is also a member of Sigma Nu. Last April Dean Hocutt was elected president of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, an organization in which he has been active for almost eight years.

Dean Hocutt is married and has two children; a daughter Mary Anne, age 10, and a son, John, Jr., age 6.

Movie Series First Feature, "Annapurna" To Be Shown Sunday

"Annapurna," the first in a series of full-length foreign and educational films, will be shown in Wolf Hall Auditorium on Sunday at 3:15 p. m. and again at 8:15 p. m.

The movie is an actual film record of Maurice Herzog's Himalayan expedition. It is based on Herzog's prize winning novel. The film is one of a series of movies acquired by the cultural activities committee for the entertainment of students. Coming films include "The Pickwick Papers," "All the King's Men," "The Imposter," "Gentlemen's Agreement" and "Grapes of Wrath."

An added attraction of this year's series is the use of new movie equipment purchased by the university. All the films will be shown on Sundays in Wolf Hall and are free to the public. The dates will be announced later.

"Annapurna" was filmed in the jungles and mountains of the Himalayas and is highlighted by an expedition's mountain ascent.

PLACEMENT BUREAU

The Director of the Placement Bureau will discuss with seniors, at the times listed below, the procedure to be followed in registering with the Placement Bureau. These meetings are very important and every senior should be present at the time indicated for his classification, regardless of what he plans to do following graduation. Each senior should bring with him a pen or pencil.

ROTC Cadets Score High In Rifle Firing

The University of Delaware ROTC cadets placed fourth among 27 colleges and universities in the caliber .30-M1 rifle firing at the Fort Meade summer encampment.

Donald R. Romano, a senior, brought top honors to company "G" with a score of 223.

Other high scorers for Delaware include Marshall H. Baker, Company "A", 203; Frank S. Pettyjohn, Company "B", 206; Edwin A. Kwiatkowski, Company "C", 213; Vincent E. Landi, Company "D", 216 and Frederick Hurlock, Company "F", 213.

The Delaware rifle team placed seventh among 39 schools in the Warrior of the Pacific Rifle Team Competition held this summer at Fort Meade and Fort Campbell.

The cadets' average score was 194.279 — 1.859 points out of first place.

Contesting

School Spirit

With the beginning of football season tomorrow, all the dorms and fraternities will be displaying decorations portraying the theme of "Beat The Commodores."

The purpose of these displays is to instill spirit in the various groups on campus and primarily to give a boost to the football team. In accordance with this, the cheerleaders have always awarded trophies to the groups on campus which have the best total record in three categories; house decorations, attendance and enthusiasm at pep fests and the homecoming floats.

There are naturally drawbacks in any system of judging, but it seems to us that there are some serious ones in the system the cheerleaders have set up.

First of all, the winners are not announced until the end of the season. From here, it appears that it would enliven the contest if the winners were announced weekly and a running tabulation of the leaders were kept. It may be argued that interest would lag among the losing groups. If that were the case, it would indicate false school spirit and a desire primarily for personal prestige.

Secondly, the alumni who gather each year at Homecoming never find out what groups have constructed the winning floats. The old-grads, many of whom were members of the organizations, would get an added thrill if the float winners were announced at the game.

Finally, the point system needs a definite revision. With the present system, it would be possible for the winner of the float parade to capture the trophy even though they failed to score another point in the other divisions of the contest.

Thus it appears to us that a little more effort could create more enthusiasm, cooperation and spirit, and a better contest.

B-B Shots

by Bill Brown

Another summer has passed and we again begin a school year at the University of Delaware. The events of the summer of 1955, however, might very well compel us as students to re-arrange and re-vitalize our thinking on national and international affairs. The Geneva "summit" conference of the Big Five has in many ways changed the political climate of our day.

Whether the change of attitude on the part of the Soviet Union from hostility to glowing receptiveness is sincere and longlasting is difficult to say. But in any event the relaxation of cold-war tensions has brought new emphasis on the quest for a lasting peace and the resolution of the conflict between Soviet and American systems, on which that peace must be based.

The Geneva Conference has put both East and West on the spot — both blocs are being forced to compromise and bargain in order to prove their good intentions.

In this new and perhaps promising atmosphere, the American people cannot rest in ease and take it for granted that peace is just around the corner. Now, if ever, is the time for self-appraisal, for the strengthening of our position. If the Communist peace offensive should prove to be a temporary stalling tactic, this nation cannot afford to be caught off guard either militarily or intellectually. As students we must rid ourselves of the mental laziness or timidity which too often leaves us uninformed or misinformed on political problems of our day. Our course of study, be it engineering or home economics chemistry or English, can no longer separate us from the over-powering significance of the conflict of politics around us.

The world of politics is no place for the timid . . . it takes strength of character and mind to search for our principles and defend them when we have found them. In this day and age, if we are to meet the challenge of conflict, if we are to prove that democracy is right, we must find strength. Here in the atmosphere of knowledge and free intellectual pursuit at our university, we must go beyond our own career interests and train our minds for the defense of our way of life.

In the summer of 1955 the returning PW's told of the fate of many of their comrades who could not answer the political arguments of the Chinese Communist brainwashers; they could not defend the democratic system because they had never learned how it really works.

In the months ahead, we may see the development of a new era of international co-operation, or we may find that the old stalemate is just hiding around the corner. In any case, as a nation we will be put to even greater tests — the conflict of minds remains.

Our interests MUST now go beyond our own small worlds, beyond the sports page of the paper and beyond the equations of the calculus class. Our interests must in part turn to our nation . . . this is our duty . . . and our duty is our strength.

Off Stage

by George Spelvin

Hedda Hopper, Earl Wilson, Dorothy Kilgallen and Brooks Atkinson have one thing in common; they write columns about show business. Well, I'm going to try to write a column incorporating the theatre, television, art, motion pictures and music into one article for your information and enjoyment. Often you might find me taking a bold step and acting as a layman's critic.

It seems that the theatre season on campus is going to be a big one. Between the E-52 players and the University Group there will be much diversity in Mitchell Hall; from Thornton Wilder's hilarious comedy, "The Skin of Our Teeth", to Shakespeare's immortal "Romeo and Juliet." During the freshman program last Friday, Mr. Thomas B. Pegg announced that the first laboratory theatre, November 1, will be primarily for freshman participation. Here is a chance for the freshmen to show their stuff.

According to the reviews in the Wilmington Morning News, anyone who saw Faye Emerson in the new sellout play, "The Heavenly Twins," received quite a treat, but some U of D students had entirely different ideas. Starting this Monday the musical "Kismet," will take the Playhouse stage for one week. Some student rate tickets will be sold in the office of Mitchell Hall.

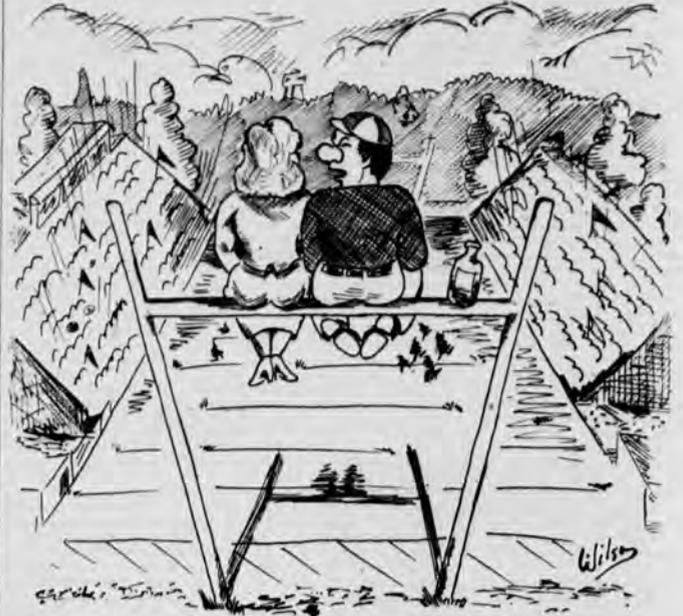

One of the most exciting movies traveling the circuit is "Night of the Hunter," directed by Charles Laughton. The story concerns two country children whose father entrusts them with $10,000 before he is executed for murder. The children, having been sworn to secrecy, do not share this secret with anyone. The excitement develops when the father's cellmate, Robert Mitchum, is released and goes in search of the hidden money. He gains the confidence of the town and the widow by posing as a country parson and takes violent steps to uncover the secret. Only the two children and the audience know that the bills are sewn inside a doll which the little girl constantly carries . . . I usually don't care for Robert Mitchum, Delaware's contribution to the movie industry, but with Charles Laughton as the master mind, Mitchum's villainous performance is excellent.

If you can get in front of a TV screen tomorrow night, switch to channel 10 at 9:30 p.m. and see Judy Garland's TV debut. The 90 minute show will be largely based on her songs and routines which shot her to the top, and Judy will probably be at her usual best.

The St. Thomas Episcopal Church is sponsoring the tenth Newark Antique Show on September 28, 29, and 30. The show will be held in the new parish house on South College Avenue . . . So 'til next week, enjoy yourself while you can.

At present Dr. Movne, whose primary field of interest is in nineteenth century American literature, is editing late eighteenth century memoir owned by the University of Delaware. This book is the recollections of an Englishwoman, Margaret Hazlitt, who was so impressed by her four year visit to America that she wrote down her conception of America. Miss Hazlitt was the sister of William Hazlitt, well-known English essayist and critic.

Among the writing published by Dr. Moyne are included an article on Edgar Allen Poe's lecture at Newark Academy and a book entitled "A Half Year in the New World." This book, translated by Dr. Movne from original Swedish and Finnish editions, is a nineteenth century account of America by Baroness Gripenberg.

Nelson Begins Fourth Year As Grid Mentor

The "Guiding Light" of the University of Delaware's football forces, the master strategist of its gridiron tactics and the major-domo of the annual fall pigskin circus is "Admiral" Dave Nelson. Nelson has posted a 24-10-0 record since he took over as Delaware's head coach in 1951.

His Blue Hen teams have the distinction of never having been shut out, although they have engineered five shutouts in the past four years. Nelson's best year was in 1953 when his Blue Hen club posted a 7-1 log. However, last year's 8-2 season, climaxed by a decisive Refrigerator Bowl victory, will probably be conceded as his best all-round year.

Originally from Detroit, he attended the University of Michigan where he played football as a teammate of the famed Tom Harmon. In 1942, when he was a senior, Nelson led the Wolverine ballcarriers in rushing with an average of 6.31 yards per carry.

The versatile "Admiral" was also proficient on the baseball diamond. His total of 20 runs scored in 1942 broke Hoot Ever's

Coach Nelson Announces Football Rule Revisions Result In A Better Game

In the opinion of Coach Dave Nelson the 1955 brand of college football will be better because of new regulations.

The revised substitution rule, which allows a player who started a quarter to return once in the same period, answers a plea raised by many of the country's coaches last year. Quotes the coach, "With the present regulations we will still have the one-plateon system, but with somewhat more spectacular and safer football."

Nelson explained that now coaches can withdraw players if there is any question of injury and still be able to put them back in once they are mark of 18 for a Big Ten record which still stands, Mickey Cochran, who coached him while he was with the Great Lakes Naval Center team, rated him a prospective major league player.

Nelson's scholarly ability is attested to by the fact that he received an award from the Big Ten Conference in 1941 for proficiency in scholarship and athletics.

Varsity Kickers To Display Skills Against Bainbridge

When the Blue Hens take the field with the Bainbridge Commodores on September 24, Delaware rooters will have a chance to see what their gridders have in the way of kicking talent.

Although the Hens had some difficulty with kicking last season, this year's varsity appears not to be too severely lacking in that department. Delaware can boast the return of tackle Nick Mergo, six feet four inch 220 pound senior, who handled most of the punting chores last year. Carmen Cella, junior end, is also a standout prospect as punter, while Warren Allen and Ray Heal, both ends, will be ready when called upon. Larry Catuzzi and Bob Hooper, both quarterbacks, are also available for the punting chores.

Extra-point kickers on hand are Jim Zaiser, senior halfback, Andy Wagner, senior halfback and Bob Hooper, the Hens' all-around utility back, now prime candidate for starting berth at quarterback. Hooper booted four extra tallies for Delaware last year. Other extra-point kickers who look promising are Walt Handel and Ben Klingler, a pair of sophomores up from last year's freshman team.

When asked about the outlook for the Hens' kickers, line coach "Mike" Lude remarked: Mergo is dependable, of course, but Cella is also quick and accurate and can get plenty of distance on the ball. All in all, I'd say our kicking this year will be just as good if not better than last year."

Blue Hens Appear Set For Opener After Scrimmage Win Over Columbia

by Frank Garosi

With a rather successful pre-season scrimmage against Columbia under their collective belts, the '55 Blue Hen gridders appear as ready as they will ever be for tomorrow's opener against Bainbridge Navy.

Lou Little's Columbia Lions, while not considered in the same class with the Yale and Cornell powerhouses or a Royce Flippin-led Princeton, are a power to be reckoned with in the Ivy League.

The scrimmage was conducted under as near actual game conditions as possible. However, the teams played five twenty-minute quarters, instead of the usual four 15 minute periods, and the coaches were permitted to make on-the-field corrections.

Columbia opened the game by marching 60 yards, after taking the kick-off, to the Hens' 20 yard line. The Hen defenses held at this point and the first quarter ended in a 0-0 deadlock.

In the second quarter the Blue and Gold engineered an 88 yard touchdown which included a brilliant 60 yard run by Johnny Oberg and terminated in a 16 yard reverse by Jim Zaiser.

A pass from quarterback Bob Hooper to captain Vince Grande on a bootleg play resulted in Delaware's second first-half touchdowns.

Oberg opened the scoring in the 3rd quarter by blasting over from the two yard stripe. Another successful "bootleg" pass from Larry Catuzzi to Ben Klingler and a scoring jaunt by George Jarome accounted for the rest of the Hen's scoring.

Coach Dave Nelson refused to be overly enthusiastic about the victory. He explained that Columbia was handicapped by not knowing Delaware's plays since they haven't scouted us. Further, more, the coach added, Columbia didn't have the Hens' depth in second and third string reserves.

Delaware Frosh Gridders To Meet Saint Andrews In Practice Game Today

Delaware's freshman football team will get its first taste of outside competition this afternoon when they travel to Middletown to meet the forces of Saint Andrew's Preparatory School in a practice scrimmage. Coach Sullivan and his staff have much confidence in this year's edition of the Blue Chicks eleven. Today's practice contest will make an even deeper impression of what the coming season has in store for the yearling squad.

Coach Sullivan has not announced the starting team as of yet. As for comments on the team, the freshman coach stated that the squad is smaller, only 36, than usual; but is doing as well as last year's team. He also said that many of the positions, will be filled with players who definitely have talent for college football. There is only one drawback on the squad and that lies in the fact that none of the boys have played football under the

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By FRANK GAROSI

Tomorrow is the big day. Tomorrow, in case you aren't aware, is the long-awaited opening game of the 1955 football season. And no one has long-awaited this day more than "Admiral" Dave Nelson.

The only accurate evaluation of the long hours of practice, the intrasquad scrimmages and the skull sessions is a real-McCoy game. Even though last Saturday the Hens scrimmaged the Columbia Lions and beat them impressively 34-12, we have to try hard not to be too optimistic about the strength and ability of the Hens because it was only a pre-season scrimmage game. Even then, Columbia is out of our class and we did beat them.

Despite the fact that one scrimmage doesn't make a season it does seem to us that the "Admirals" crew is knee deep in talented reserves. Since there are few teams who can boast eleven sixty-minute men you can see how important second and third-line strength is.

Naleski and Mossi kept the Indians in the race this year when their vaunted Big Three folded; Dusty Rhodes came off the bench innumerable times in 1954 to lead the Giants to a stirring pennant victory; ancient Ellis Kinder has made the long trip from bullpen to mound to come to the rescue of many a floundering Bosox toiler—enough of this melodramatic mush, you get the point.

Lacking a brilliant, awe-inspiring Little All American star such as Don Miller, the Hens will have to depend upon keeping constant pressure on their opponents by liberal use of a strong bench (a bit of prognostication).

Nobody will dare (we hope) throw in their third string to gain a little breathing spell because the Hens (we hope) will be able to retaliate with fresh reserves not far removed from front-line ability.

We hope (again) that this is more than just an idle editor's pipe dream. Anyway, tomorrow's the day and we wish the team a lot of luck and we would like to see all of you there.

Coach Nelson

Mike Lude, who was previously employed by Hillsdale College as line coach, is now serving Delaware in his fifth year in this position.

He graduated from Hillsdale in 1947 where he returned the following year as a coach. He received his master's degree at Michigan.

Besides serving as line coach at Hillsdale, Lude was an instructor of physical education, head trainer, director of intramural sports and baseball coach.

His only other stop en route to Delaware was the University of Maine. There Lude was line coach and head coach of a championship baseball team. He came to Delaware in 1951, the same year that Nelson was appointed head football coach. Lude also handles scouting duties and has developed an excellent scholastic guidance program for varsity athletes.

His coaching experience is not limited to the three aforementioned colleges. While in the Marines, Lude served as regimental football and baseball coach for troops in the Pacific Theatre during World War II.

Irwin Wisniewski

Irvin "Whiz" Wisniewski is coming back for his fourth year as "Blue Hen" end coach. He graduated from Michigan in 1950 where he played first string football.

At Michigan Wisniewski starred as a defensive end on three Western Conference championship teams, 1947-48-49. In addition he won four letters in basketball, playing on the 1947-48 Western Conference champion team in the NCAA Tournament in Madison Square Garden.

After graduation he joined the Hillsdale College staff as line coach, rising to head football coach the following season. While there, he also coached the basketball and golf squads, two chores which he picked up here last year.

Coach Wisniewski uses his ability as a program director and counselor in the summer when he operates a Varsity Day Camp for boys near Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Harold Raymond

This fall marks the beginning of Harold "Tubby" Raymond's second year as backfield coach of the Blue Hens. He graduated from Michigan in 1949 where he played quarterback and guard for the Wolverines. Coach Raymond was quick to earn the respect of the Delaware team. Don Miller, little All-America quarterback, attributed much of his own success to him.

Raymond began his career at the University High School in Ann Arbor, Michigan. He then went to the University of Maine where he was line coach, chief scout and head baseball coach.

His 5-1 season with the freshman team this spring came as no surprise, since Raymond is also a former professional baseball player. After graduation from college, Raymond played for two seasons with Muskegon.

Jim Sullivan

Coach James V. Sullivan will go into his fourth season as mentor for the Blue Hens' "Chicks" this year.

Coach Sullivan has guided his freshman team to nine victories against four losses and one tie during his last three years at Delaware, with his last year's eleven snapping Dover Air Force Bases' six-game winning streak and crushing Temple frosh 27 to 0.

Sullivan came to Delaware after graduating from the University of Maine, where as a first-string guard, he captained the defensive eleven coached by his present boss, Dave Nelson.

NOTICE

Anyone who wishes to form a touch football team to compete in the intramural program please turn in a roster of no more than fifteen men to the Intramural Council on Tuesday, September 20, Room 28, Recitation Hall.

In addition to his coaching duties, the Maine native is equipment supervisor. Sullivan has invented a revolutionary double cantilever shoulder pad which is now being manufactured for national distribution by the MacGregor Sporting Goods Company.

Sullivan, also was coach of the freshman basketball team for the latter part of last season, is married and has two daughters.

ready for action. Usually, the players were either taken out of the game and lost for the remainder of the quarter — or left in with a possible serious injury.

The coach went on to comment that this rule will mark the return, to a limited extent, of the specialist. "Now we can put extra-point kickers and others into the game and quickly take them back again," he adds.

One good change, according to the coach, requires all offensive players to be within fifteen yards of the ball when it is declared ready for play. "The sleeper play is comparable to a false start or a quick pitch in baseball — it deserves to be ruled out."

Freshmen and Upperclassmen! Are you wondering what to do with all that leisure time you have when you are not in classes? You can't study all the time you know. The Women's Athletic Association is an organization which provides an extensive intramural and club program for the resident student and the commuter after class hours. Every woman student is automatically a member of this organization. Notices of sport tournaments and club tryouts are posted on dorm and gym bulletin boards and in the Review. Watch for these notices! You don't have to be a pro, everyone is welcome. The Women's P. E. department furnishes all the necessary equipment.

The hockey tournament will get started on September 26, with the first practice at 4 p. m. The tennis tournament will begin the same day. There will be singles and doubles matches for those interested. If there is enough interest in archery, a tournament will be started. Sign-up sheets will be posted for these tournaments.

Aquatic Club and Modern Dance Club tryouts will be soon. Recreational swimming hours are 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday and 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m. Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Choral Director Announces Plans For Varied Schedule

Dr. Ivan Trusler, new director of choral organizations at the university, has announced a varied program of choral activities for the school year.

The first event scheduled is a two-day festival of contemporary American music featuring the works of Virgil Thomson. This festival, in which Mr. Thomson will appear personally, will be held in late November.

Shortly before Christmas vacation, a concert of Christmas choral music will be given which will include a performance of the Saint-Saens "Christmas Oratorio" as well as numerous carols and Christmas anthems.

A second two-day festival will be held during the spring semester, and will feature the works of a composer from the French School, possibly Gabriel Faure.

Again this year, a Holy Week concert of sacred music will be presented. Plans are also being made to give concert versions of the "Desert Song" and "A Tribute to Remberg", both of which will be presented with the university's Symphonic Band. The a cappella choir will round out its schedule with a tour of Delaware High Schools.

Dr. Trusler comes to the Newark campus after having spent fifteen months in New York City where he assisted Dr. Harry R. Wilson, conductor of Columbia University's Teachers College

Chorus. While in New York, he also organized and directed the YWCA Chorus of New York City. He has done extensive work with church choirs, and recently was appointed choir director at the Newark Methodist Church.

Dr. Trusler is enthusiastic about prospects for university choral music, and anticipates a successful season for choral students.

There still are openings in the various choral organizations for interested students and tryouts are not required, according to Dr. Trusler.

Reception Held By Cosmopolitan Club For New Students

The Cosmopolitan Club of the university, in cooperation with the SGA, held a reception for all new foreign students last Saturday afternoon.

Approximately fifty persons attended the reception including representatives from Iceland, Jordan, Ireland, Latvia, The Ukraine, France, Mexico, Korea, Greece, Iraq and South America. Stan Lowicki, SGA president, and Serge Sachuruk, Cosmopolitan Club president, welcomed the new students and introduced several members of the faculty.

The background music was folk-song records from various countries. Refreshments were served by Mary Terrell and Vladimir Bohden.

Three University ROTC Graduates Receive Lt. Bars

Three University of Delaware ROTC graduates received second lieutenant commissions in ceremonies on the Delaware campus on Thursday, September 8, 1955. The new officers are Richard F. Saunders, 3700 Spruce Street, Wilmington, Del.; Thomas F. Redfield, 172 Belmont Avenue, Doylestown, Pa.; and Reading D. Pollitt, 210 Grassmere Avenue, Interlaken, Asbury Park, New Jersey.

The newly commissioned men represent three of the top leaders of the 1954-55 senior class. Saunders, president of his class for two years, was active in many student organizations, while Redfield was outstanding as a football and baseball player and Pollitt was prominent in fraternity affairs.
