At the recent 15th annual meeting of the Newark Recreation Association, a Red Feather agency, it was reported that the NRA provides a year-round, community-wide program of recreational activities for all ages in the greater Newark area of some 80 square miles, activities available to members of the Newark community from Hockessin to Christiana to Bear and along Route 40 to the Maryland line.

The general program is composed of social, cultural, athletic and instructional activities, Director Glenn Wilson reported, with 50 different activities offered in 1961. These include summer playground for the young, complete with trips, events and the Kids Kounty Fair, with a record registration of boys and girls signing for events and nearly 40,000 participations during the eight-week season.

In addition to the regular summer playground program, a tot-lot playground program for pre-school children registered over 300 boys and girls with a participation of nearly 9,000 children for the season.

Play Festival

Summer drama and music projects for the youngsters culminated in a two-day play festival, enabling juvenile actors and actresses to "strut" Smoot said.

A total of 34 youth baseball teams played in seven leagues with an assignment of nearly 700 boys, comprising a 15-week season with local parks.

Nearly 4,700 teen-age boys and girls participated in the summer recreation dance program centrally located in the City of Newark.

Regular Friday and Saturday night dances during the fall, winter and spring, conducted by junior and senior high school students of the entire area, recorded over 11,000 attendants.

Summer bowling and basketball leagues for teen-age girls and boys were included in the program.

Indoor activities for both boys and girls included table tennis, checkers and general indoor recreation.

Swimming instruction and tournaments were held in conjunction with the Delaware Lawn Tennis Association, and over 100 youngsters (and even a few early twenties (including some young housewives) received 10 weeks of professional tennis instruction for a nominal fee.

Adult Sports

Adult baseball, softball and bowling leagues were organized for men and church groups were extremely active in the softball and volleyball activities, while industrial and independent teams participated in basketball.

Body conditioning class was held for ex wacks, and adult arts and crafts attended on a co-recreational basis proved popular.

CD Chief Downes Warns Of Danger In Rural Fallout

Robert N. Downes

Director of the State Department of Civil Defense, Newark's Capt. Robert N. Downes warned yesterday that those living on farms or in remote rural communities face the same danger from radioactive fallout as residents of large cities.

Captain Downes pointed out that some rural residents erroneously think that since the cities would be the primary targets of an enemy attack, those living many miles away would be able to escape death or injury without making use of protective facilities.

In the case of isolated farmhouses, he said, individual shelters would be desirable—in basements or in yards adjoining the dwellings.

Failure to provide some measure of fallout protection, Captain Downes continued, would place the country dweller in a more vulnerable position than those living or working in the large towns where community shelters will be provided.

In the remote rural areas where farmhouses are often a mile or more apart, the community shelter would not be feasible, since a high degree of risk would be involved in going to and from the site.

Downes warned that the threat to many rural areas, especially those that are on the downwind side of large target cities, is real.

Membership is limited to 100, with two educators selected from each of the 50 states.

Aid Offered

He said that the Delaware Safety Council had "vast, virtually untapped resources," and that along with industry it had the know-how and willingness to assist Newark with local safety problems.

Manager J. James Ashton traced the history of the Delaware Safety Council from its founding in 1908 by Irenee du Pont as the first safety council in the country, and cited its inauguration of the student driver training program, with the council paying the entire cost "until it went broke and the state took it up."

Ashton said that the safety council had more than 100 movies available in its library for free public projection, and concerning cost of a locally directed safety program, said "it will cost very little."

Austin C. "Bud" Chidester of the Delaware Safety Council reported a statewide reduction of 26 per cent in fatal accidents for the past year with a total of 145 representing 61 traffic, 35 home, 21 public, and 15 industrial accident fatalities.

He said that Delaware's fatal traffic toll was 4.6 persons for 100 million miles traveled compared with the national average of 5.2.

Others attending the luncheon with the mayor included City Manager J. Francis Neide; Police Chief Arthur S. Haussler; William J. Gallagher, and William H. Waggaman, Jr., president and past-president of the Newark Chamber of Commerce; Wilmer E. Shue, superintendent of the Newark special school district; H. Teachers Respond To Novel Program For Get-Togethers

Superintendent Wilmer E. Shue reports that teachers in the Newark special school district responded favorably to a new approach to district-wide faculty meetings recently.

The general topic for the last meeting which brought together teachers from the district's 11 schools was "Broadening Horizons."

Teachers were given the opportunity to attend any one of seven seminars, ranging in topics from U. S. foreign relations to reports on specific countries of Mexico, Spain, India, and the Soviet Union.

Thomas Calhoun, Ogletown Junior High School principal, led a seminar on U. S. foreign relations, with a review of current books on this topic.

Seminars on specific countries were led by members of the Newark district staff who recently visited these lands.

William Bohning, Spanish teacher at Newark High School, reported on Spain.

Mrs. May Leasure, teaching principal at Eden, led the discussion of Mexico.

Mrs. Elizabeth Young reported on India, and Superintendent Shue led the discussion on the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Charlotte Higley, Latin and German teacher at Ogletown Junior High, reported on her visit to Europe, particularly Germany.

Safe Driving Distances Urged By Safety Council

A campaign to impress motorists with the wisdom of keeping a safe distance between vehicles has been started by the Delaware Safety Council with 35 billboards throughout the state carrying this message: "Follow at a Safe Distance."

J. H. Tyler McConnell, president, said the council is emphasizing that message because following too closely has become an increasing cause of accidents.

McConnell recommended the "Rule of 10" which suggests the driver drop back one car length for each 10 miles of speed. Thus, at 50 miles an hour, there should be five car lengths—roughly 100 feet—between cars.

FREEDOM TO COMPETE

Robert G. Dunlop, president of the Sun Oil Company, recently stressed his "faith in the common sense of the American people to preserve private property—and freedom to compete and to choose—as the dominant principles of American life—not to be lured backward by the false notion that others somehow have the magic to protect us from work and to provide us with 'the good life' for the asking."

Speaking of Money...

"The next ten years in the Job Market"

by: JOHN BUCHANAN

Speaking for the Wilmington Savings Fund Society

Hi there. John Buchanan, SPEAKING OF MONEY. What will be the most promising careers during the next ten years? I thought you'd like to look at the job prospects as projected by experts, so I asked some questions.

Our Secretary of Labor has predicted startling changes in the labor force in the next ten years. For one thing, it will increase faster than the number of people who buy goods and services. That's because the record number of babies being born now will not be old enough yet to buy things.

Another change will be the unbalanced distribution of workers in the different age groups. If you are thirty or older now, you'll be in the 45-and-older group, which will increase 20% by 1970. Those in the 25-and-under group (now in elementary and junior high schools) will increase by 46%! However, the groups in between . . . the Depression babies 35 and up, and the war babies, 25 and up, will be in short supply, causing employers to draw more upon the older and younger groups.

Professional and tecl nical workers will lead the employment field. The outlook remains excellent for engineers in all fields, but especially mechanical, electrical, chemical, ceramic and metallurgical. Many technicians are needed to work as aides to engineers and scientists. Those in the scientific field should go for a Ph.D. degree for the better jobs.

The second largest profession for men after engineering is accounting, and the demand will be strong for certified public accountants.

Teachers will be greatly needed, especially in elementary schools and colleges. Other school personnel—librarians, counselors and administrators—will also be in demand. Here again—the more degrees, the better.

Management people, particularly in the retail trade, will find increasing opportunities, especially if they hold degrees in finance, marketing or purchasing.

Demand for skilled workers during the next ten years will jump 24%; mechanics, machinists, repairmen, building-trades craftsmen, tool and die makers, and so forth.

On the other hand, the unskilled labor market will remain stationary. This tells you emphatically—get more training.

Farmers and farm workers will actually decrease in number, though there will be good openings for those trained as scientists in agriculture.

Where will be greatest growth and best opportunities in the next ten years?

Look to the construction and service industries: finance, real estate, insurance, trade, repairing, laundering, and so forth. Also, government services and the important field of health. We will need increasing numbers of doctors, dentists, nurses.

Career progress and job security—now and in the future—depend on education and training. You know what to do from there on. The time to make a better tomorrow . . . is today!

Scouters testifying to Fred's right to receive the badge were William Barr, James Cox, Edward Newman, and Paul Lovett, treasurer of the Del-Mar-Va Council.

The family-type dinner was attended by 180 persons who saw Sharp present to Kenneth Crouse a Scout committee in recognition for his efforts as Scoutmaster of Troop 56. Crouse will become Scoutmaster of new Troop 250 recently organized at the church to take care of the increasing number of boys who wish to share in the Scouting program.

Neckerchief slides for selling 10 or more tickets to the Brandywine Scouting Exposition last fall were awarded to Robert Bower and Robert Taylor, by Crouse.

Service awards for one-year were presented Randy Sharp, Steve Burnley, William and David Widdoes, Ken Snow, James Cox, James Slack, Thomas Barr, Jeff Heath, Robbie Wilson, Thomas Simpers and Roger Pedigo; two years — Robert Bower, Edward Morris, William McIntosh, and Paul Kraszewski; three-years — Chris Shuster and Dennis Quinn; four years — Kenneth and George Shuster; and five years — Fred McIntosh.

Crouse presented den chief cords to Paul Kraszewski and Randy Sharp; patrol leader stripes to Kenneth Snow and Phil Ferris; assistant patrol leader stripes to David Widdoes, and quartermaster stripes to Robert Taylor.

Roger Pedigo presented merit badges to Robert Bower, Phil Ferris, Fred and William McIntosh, Dennis Quinn, Robert Taylor, Kenneth and Chris Shuster.

New Troop 250 will have a nucleus of eight boys who were inducted as Tenderfoot Scouts in a candlelight ceremony conducted by Patrol Leader William McIntosh. The boys are David Helms, Wayne Calvert, James Glenn, Wayne Smith, Douglas Epps, Wayne Gregg, Ted Thomas and Grier Murray.

The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Thomas Davis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church; and Mrs. Raymond Baylis was dinner chairman, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Snow, Mrs. John Slack, Mrs. William Barr, Mrs. Ernest Burnley and Mrs. Francis Friedlen.

A native of Newark, he was a son of the late Stephen L. and Alice V. Cornog.

Mr. Cornog was a retail merchant in Newark for 42 years, operating grocery and candy stores here on East Main Street.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Emilie Koelig Cornog; a sister, Mrs. Clarence H. Hopkins, Newark; a brother, Irving P., Delaware City, and several nieces and nephews.

Instead of flowers, the family suggests contributions to the Delaware Heart Association, 1912 Shallcross Avenue, Wilmington.

"Arabian Nights" To Feature Theme Of Dance Concert

The Modern Dance Club, University of Delaware, has selected an Arabian theme for its annual concert in Mitchell Hall this Friday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

"A Thousand and One Nights" will feature dances telling "Arabian Nights" tales, why modern Scheherazade might relate. According to legend, Scheherazade's sultan husband made a practice of killing his wives the morning after the wedding, but spared her because he enjoyed the stories she told.

Anita Cicorte club president and junior drama and speech major of Wilmington, is staging the production under the guidance of Janet Phoderic, instructor in physical education and club advisor.

Joining club members in the concert will be several members of the university's football team.

The concert is open to the public.

Jaycees At Dover Hosts For Pageant Of Miss Delaware

The Dover Junior Chamber of Commerce is the host chapter this year for the Delaware Jaycees annual Miss Delaware Pageant.

This is the second time that the pageant, Delaware's only official preliminary Miss America Contest, has come to the capitol city.

The pageant is to be held Saturday, May 5, in Dover High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

Eligible girls must be single, between 18 and 28; must be high school graduates as of Sept. 1, 1962, and possess talent, poise, personality, beauty, and the desire to represent city, state, and nation.

Deadline for entries is April 3.

Jaycees' Speaker Cites Production Of U. S. Farmers

At a recent meeting of the Newark Junior Chamber of Commerce, Jacob Zimmerman, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, cited production of farm crops in the United States and Russia, with one American farmer feeding 20 non-farmers, compared to a Russian one-in-four ratio. In America, 20 per cent of a family income is spent on food — in Russia, 60 per cent, Jaycee Charles Breza reports.

Kelly Deal was welcomed as a new Jaycee, and Tom Thompson reported $20 for the youth activity fund netted from a coin machine project.

Drugs donated by doctors and collected by the Jaycees for "Project Doctor" resulted in three shipping bags full for distribution by the Leprosy Relief Fund in Thailand, and in Korea, India, Burma, and Indonesia, Breza reports.

"We are in need for members who will be active in the interest of our community," Ronald Mayer of the Jaycees announced yesterday.

Interested persons are asked to call Mayer, or Neil Kline of the local Jaycee group.

It's nice to be loved.

Like we've said: "When people like a car they show it." All you have to do is put together a car that's sharper looking, smoother running and a bigger value. That's why Pontiac and Tempest stormed into third place.* Why don't you see your Pontiac dealer (a very happy man these days) and go with a winner?

David Guerin Proving Old Adage At U.D. That Picture Is Worth A Thousand Words

A new director of audio-visual services at the University of Delaware is proving the old adage that a picture is worth a thousand words.

Slides, filmstrips, motion pictures, tape recorders and overhead projectors are among the tools of Dr. David V. Guerin, who heads the university Teaching Resources Center.

Guerin, whose varied experience in audio-visual teaching includes instruction of native workers in the oil fields of Arabia, has made motion pictures and filmstrips and has provided slides and art work for faculty members in almost every teaching field.

One of his early "customers" was Dr. Edward Rosenberry, associate professor of English, who projected parts of student themes on a screen and made corrections on the spot. This technique has been adopted as standard practice. Through the use of overlays, color transparencies and polarization techniques, instructors also have been able to convey the impression of motion and to control the amount of information presented at a given time.

The department of dramatic arts and speech has cooperated in a film project to show the student how he looks and sounds when making a public presentation. Each of the members of Dr. Henderhan's speech class will be filmed for two minutes while speaking before the class.

"While 8-mm cinematography has not yet been refined so that its quality approaches that of 16-mm, we have been able to achieve some worthwhile results," Dr. Guerin reports. "I believe that 8-mm cinematography may become to educational motion pictures what the box camera was to still photography. Although not top quality, it is suitable for diagnostic purposes and lends itself exceedingly well to local production and to use by faculty and students as well as by the Teaching Resources Center."

The 8-mm process is being used in teaching lecture-demonstration techniques for home economics students in a class conducted by Eva J. McCreary, assistant professor of foods and nutrition, and its use is contemplated in teacher training under the direction of Prof. Bruce Joyce.

In the 16-mm field, Dr. Guerin is working with Prof. Russell G. Stauffer, director of the university's Reading-Study Center, in preparing a film on teaching young children to read.

Some novel uses of the overhead projector are being made.

J. Robert King of the music department, plans to use slides to present intricate band maneuvers; Coach Irv Wisniewski has diagrammed basketball plays in a similar manner, and it is being utilized by Prof. Mildred Gaddis in teaching music theory.

Dr. Guerin's activities also have included teaching a course in audio-visual instruction in the school of education.

The center is temporarily housed in the offices of the extension division, but will eventually have quarters in the soon-to-be-constructed new library on the Newark campus.

Browning's NHS Cagers Stop Colonials, Lose To Dynahs; Face Devils On Friday

Walloping William Penn 61-43 on the Colonials court last Friday night, Coach Cliff Browning's Yellowjackets gave the league-leading Dynahs a scare before losing a 70-59 thriller to visiting P. S. du Pont at Newark last Tuesday night.

The Yellowjackets with a 6-7 Blue Hen Conference record and an overall season log of 8-7, face Wilmington High School's Red Devil cagers away tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in a return engagement. Newark stopped Wilmington 73-64 in a first meeting here at home.

Walt Jones, and Darrell Huff and Curt Tucker paced the Newark Yellowjacket scorers against William Penn with 18, 14, and 12 points as Newark rallied from the short end of a 16-12 first period performance to dominate the play in each of the remaining three quarters.

The Yellowjackets held the Colonials to four points in the second period while scoring 18 for a 30-22 halftime lead.

Against P. S. du Pont, Newark piled up a 20-13 lead in the first quarter to shock the conference leaders.

But the Dynahs rallied in a 20-11 second period and outscored their hosts 20-12 in the third quarter, closing with a 17-16 command performance.

Alan Ely and Walt Jones led the Yellowjacket scorers with six field goals and three fouls, and five field goals and three successful shots from the foul line for 15 and 13 points.

Connie Mack Ball Election Planned For Next Thursday

Officers for the Connie Mack League teams in Newark will be elected next Thursday at a meeting in Linton's Restaurant at 7:30 p.m.

All fathers of boys who graduated from last year's Babe Ruth League are especially invited to attend.

Officers for the Connie Mack League last year were President Bob Beattie; Vice-President Ed Wilson; Treasurer John Crary, and Secretary Ken Fell.

Two Newark teams — the VFW and the Newark Shopping Center — played Connie Mack League baseball last year in competition for 15-16-year-old boys.

Three Records Set By Hen Trackmen With Indoor Meet

Delaware trackmen broke three Carpenter Fieldhouse records in beating West Chester State in an indoor meet last Friday night, 59-41.

McMaster won the 1,000-yard run in 2:22.3, to top the old mark of 2:28.6 by Bob Dodds of Penn in 1952.

Jerry Quigg of Delaware set the former record of 1:19.4 in 1959.

Tatnall, sophomore out of Wilmington High, leaped 22 feet, 1-3/4 inches in the broad jump. Bill Faulk of Penn set the old mark of 21.6 in 1952.

Mike Brown, Delaware halfback, tied the 50-yard dash record of 5.3 by his coach Jimmy Flynn at Delaware in 1954.

Other Delaware winners were Wes Slack in the mile (4:29.9), Ollie Baker, high jump (5-10); Bob Kidwell, pole vault (12-0) and Larry Pratt, shot put (45-3).

Tony Fabrizi Colt To Start Saturday In Bowie Stakes

Anthony P. Fabrizi's Sweet Evenin' who had the distinction of three owners in a space of 12 hours last summer will make his initial stakes appearance on Saturday in the $10,000 added George Washington at Bowie.

The over-supply of owners occurred at Delaware Park on June 19.

Sweet Evenin' was entered the same day for a claiming price of $5,000 in the Hecht colors and was haltered out of the race by his present owner.

The son of Mameluke has revealed marked improvement under trainer Raymond Archer, and will command strong support in the weekend fixture.

Sweet Evenin' worked three furlongs in :37-4/5 over muddy going in a speed trial "around dogs."

A sharp field is expected to oppose Sweet Evenin' in the six furlong George Washington, including two winners at the current meeting in Harold G. Bensing's Dicks' Pet and Charles E. Reithmeyer's Double Heritage.

Diving Record Set By Pete Georges For Taylor Pool

Pete Georges set a Delaware diving record at Taylor Pool last Tuesday night as Coach Harry Rawstrom's Blue Hens lost to Bucknell, 61-34. Delaware's fourth loss in nine meets.

Georges scored 72.43 points in finishing behind Bob Humphreys of Bucknell. The old Delaware record was 71.37 set by Dutch Holsinger earlier this season.

Charley Derrick also smashed a Delaware record in winning the 200-yard butterfly in 2:27.8. Bob Wagner was the former record-holder, with 2:32.8 in 1954. Derrick won the 50 free style, too, in 24.3. Delaware's only other winner was Dan Roosevelt in the 200 individual medley.

Bucknell freshmen broke three pool records in whipping the Delaware frosh, 68-25. Len Bird was a double winner for the Blue Chicks in the 220 free style and 440 free style.

The Hen mermen wind up the regular season at home this Saturday with Swarthmore, beginning at 2 p.m.

WATSON'S MATMEN

Coach Gene Watson's Blue Hen wrestlers will visit Drexel this Saturday to conclude the regular season. The MAC championships are scheduled for March 2-3.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

Who'll Be The Ninth?

Nominations for the three races making up the American Triple Crown — the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes — close on February 15 and the Triple Crown hopefuls among the 11,535 foals of 1959 will narrow down to perhaps 100. The term Triple Crown, created by the sportswriters, was made official in 1950 when the Directors of Thoroughbred Racing Associations commissioned Cartiers, Inc. to create a trophy to be presented retroactively to the owners of the only eight horses to win this trio of events. Last year the casually bred, but anything but casual racer, Carry Back, appeared likely to become the ninth Triple Crown winner, but in the Belmont Stakes he rapped an ankle and finished unplaced. The TEA trophy went back to the vault and Carry Back went to the sidelines for two months. Total take home pay for Sir Barton for becoming the first Triple Crown winner in 1919 was $57,275. Citation, the last horse to turn the trick, earned $252,970 for the three races in 1948. If one of this year's crop of 3-year-olds proves to be the ninth Triple Crown winner he'll net in the neighborhood of $400,000, his share of the $125,000 which both Churchill Downs and Belmont Park put up and the $150,000 which is added to the Preakness by Pimlico. Other Triple Crown winners have been the late William Woodward's father-son combine of Gallant Fox (1930) and Omaha (1935); Man o War's good son, War Admiral (1937); Calumet Farm's Whirlaway, (1941); Mrs. John D. Hertz' Count Fleet, (1943) and Robert J. Kleberg's Assault, (1946).

Wisniewski's Whiz Kids Rebound To Win Three Straight In MAC Play; Face Owls

Despite a pair of successive setbacks—by one point in each case at the hands of St. Joe's and LaSalle—Coach Irv Wisniewski's Fightin' Blue Hens bounced back to sweep three straight from Middle Atlantic Conference opponents in Lehigh, Muhlenberg, and Gettysberg, and Delaware tangles with Temple in a conference contest this Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Palestra at Philadelphia.

Last week, the Hens walloped visiting Lehigh 76-64, and beat the Mules at Mulhenberg, 64-39. Delaware defeated Lehigh in an earlier meeting, but last a non-conference joust with the Mules in the Loyola Invitational Tournament at Baltimore during the Christmas holidays.

And last Monday night at Carpenter Fieldhouse, the Hens wrapped up their third successive MAC victory by stopping Gettysburg 69-52 before a crowd of 2,575 fans.

The victory, Delaware's eighth against two MAC defeats, tightened the Blue Hens' hold on fourth place behind Lafayette, Temple and St. Joseph's. Lafayette is in first place, while Temple and St. Joseph's are tied for second.

Superior height and rebounding ability, plus the scoring of brothers Nate and Pete Cloud carried Delaware to its 15th win against four defeats this season.

The Blue Hens held a 28-23 advantage at intermission, then pulled away to their most decisive victory with a 41-point spurt in the second half.

Delaware's frosh quintet took its seventh decision in 13 starts in the preliminary game, 61-56.

It seems that horsepower was a great deal safer when only the horses had it.

Wayne J. Pollari To Be Coordinator For All-Star Game

Wayne J. Pollari, head football coach and chairman of the social sciences department at Mt. Pleasant High School, and former Newark resident, has been named coordinator of the 1962 Delaware All-Star High School Football Game, succeeding Jack Gregory.

Coach of the Blue All-Star team in the 1960 contest, Pollari has been a member of the Mt. Pleasant faculty for 11 years, and head football coach for three years.

A graduate of the University of Delaware in 1950, Pollari is a former president of the Delaware State Education Association.

The seventh annual game to be played for the benefit of Delaware's retarded children, is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 25 at Delaware Stadium.

Dynahs Cop Title At Interscholastic Swimming Meet

Brandywine High's Ed Gray and Howard's Jim Bell were standout performers in the seventh annual Delaware Interscholastic Swimming Championships at Taylor Pool on Saturday.

Gray and Bell, were the only double winners. Gray scored in the 100-yard butterfly and in the 200 individual medley, and Bell took the 50 free style and one-meter diving.

P. S. du Pont, which won six of the 11 events, won the team title for the fourth time. The Dynamiters regained the championship after losing it to out-of-state schools the last three years.

The Dynamiters wound up with 46 points; Salesianum, 42; Brandywine, 13; Newark 12; Howard 10; Wilmington 7, and Conrad 4.

Co-Champion Yellowjackets, Brandywine To Meet Saturday For Wrestling Crown

Coach Andy Marcantonio's Yellowjackets champions will meet Brandywine's undefeated Bulldogs this Saturday, away, in a test for the Blue Hen Conference wrestling championship. The first match is scheduled for 2 p.m.

The two teams are 1961 conference co-champions, and both are undefeated in conference competition this season, although Newark lost a close decision to St. Andrew's matmen in a non-league meeting.

Last Saturday night at Newark, the Yellowjackets walloped Dickinson 31-9, as Co-Captains Tom Hannagan and Gerald Godbey scored the only two pins of the evening in the 133 and heavyweight divisions.

FIGHTIN' BLUE HENS!

And Coach Irv Wisniewski's Blue Hen cagers are just that—fighters, in every best sense of the word! An apparent shoo-in for the MAC title, Delaware dropped a pair of consecutive one-point decisions and out of an undefeated first place ranking in what should have been a completely demoralizing experience for the high flyin' Hens.

Instead, the Delaware led by Co-Captains Jack Barry and Bill Wagamon bounced back to win three straight conference contests over Lehigh, Muhlenberg, and Gettysburg—and the Mules had stopped the Hens in a non-conference play at Baltimore. Congratulations!
