60 FAMILY APT. HOUSE AUTHORIZED BY COUNCIL

Big Project Finally Gets Go-Ahead At June Meeting

The $300,000 apartment house development, twice rejected here due to property owner protests, was finally approved for the Elkton Road site by the Town Council at its June session on Monday night. The vote on the issue was unanimous.

Reduced from 70 to 60 families, the project was authorized with the provision that two entranceways be established to divide tenant car traffic on an equal basis between Elkton Road and Beverly Road. This removed the major objection which had been that the big development would throw too much traffic on residential Beverly Road and adjacent streets.

The two promoters, Allan S. Hart and John K. Walters, further promised to cooperate as far as possible with Council in meeting local building standards and in satisfying surrounding property owners.

Chief factor behind Council's about face on the issue was the fact that the promoters in a letter of protest on last month's rejection threatened possible court action. The letter pointed out that it would be to the advantage of the town to cooperate in drawing the plans now, rather than have the development designed as the promoters saw fit, if they got a go-ahead from the courts.

Town Solicitor Samuel Handloff gave as his opinion that the town's rejection of the project had no legal validity in view of the fact that there is no zoning law here. He said Council's authority on building permits was limited to seeing that existing safety, property and fire ordinances were enforced. There is no other municipal law which Council can execute.

As plans now stand, the project will contain 60 apartments, renting from $65 to $85 per month. The building will be in colonial style to conform to that of the university and will be of brick construction. The units will be cross ventilated and will contain either one or two bedrooms, plus kitchen, dining room and living room. A fire wall will enclose every four apartments.

Complete laundry facilities will be installed in the basement; no wash will be hung out. Playgrounds will be provided, and ample parking space will be offered.

Full plans have not yet been completed, and no word could be had on when construction would begin. It is expected that much of the sub-contracting will go to local contractors.

Resolutions of respect on the death of Commander William K. Richardson were passed at a meeting of the J. Allison O'Daniel Post, American Legion. Richard L. Cooch, Vice-Commander, presided.

The post will put on an entertainment at the Veterans Hospital at New Castle Air Base on Tuesday evening, June 15, with Frank Rago as M. C. The Auxiliary members will act as hostesses for the party to follow.

ST. THOMAS' TO SPONSOR LAWN PARTY

Entertainment Will Be Varied At Public Fete

The annual spring garden party, sponsored by the women of St. Thomas' Church, will be held Saturday from 12 to 6 p. m. on the Norris Wright's lawn. In case of rain, the affair will be held in the Century Club.

Entertainment for young and old will be offered.

A punch and judy show, staged by young Miss Joy Murray and her assistants, will highlight the events for children. Also, there will be pony rides, a grab bag and a hoo-pla game.

For the adults there will be horse shoe pitching, fortune telling and professional advice on golf putting by Mr. and Mrs. Gibby Young. Mrs. Edgar Bullock has secured the services of a photographer for speedy snap shots.

Sandwiches, cold drinks and pie will be sold by Mrs. J. Fenton Daugherty's lunch committee.

At 4 p. m. there will be a drawing for a radio and an electric mix-master. Tickets on the drawing may now be secured from Mrs. E. L. Symington or Mrs. P. K. Musselman.

A fancy booth will be under the direction of Mrs. William Adams, and Mrs. Arthur Haroldson's committee will have baked goods for sale. A second fancy booth will offer such items as needle cases, embroidered napkins, tea towels, pot holders, baby bibs, glass jackets and others. These articles are the work of a group of church school girls who were instructed by Mrs. Herbert Dorn.

The entertainment committee, under Mrs. E. C. Byam, includes the following: Mrs. Charles Humphreys, pony rides; Miss Martha Wright, grab bag; Mrs. Daniel Button, balloons; Miss Joy Murray, and Mrs. James Myers, punch and judy; Mrs. Basil Sourschnikow, games; Mrs. Arthur Webber, horse shoes.

Mrs. R. O. Bausman is general chairman for the party and Mrs. J. P. Patnovic is in charge of publicity.

Local Youth Graduates At Mercersburg Academy

Hugh C. Miller, son of Mrs. A. B. Miller, 107 Briar Lane, Newark, graduated from The Mercersburg Academy at commencement exercises held there Monday. Headmaster Charles S. Tippetts presided at the ceremonies and awarded diplomas to some 160 members of the June class of 1948 before a large gathering of students, parents, and friends of the school.

Miller, who entered Mercerburg in the fall of 1945, was a member of the John Marshall literary society. He received a varsity letter in swimming, and he was on the cross-country team and the track squad.

Newark Radio Show Will Be Heard Daily For 13 Weeks Starting Monday

Newark's own half hour radio show, sponsored by over forty local merchants, will be heard for the first time on Monday, June 14, of WTUX from 9:30 to 10 a. m.

Thereafter, the program will be heard daily except Sundays.

Results of months of planning and organization by a small committee of retailers, the show will feature a telephone quizz in which numbers on the Newark exchange will be called. Persons who can answer the question of the day will receive a prize. Unanswered questions will be carried over from day to day, and the prizes will accumulate.

Other highlights of the program will be news announcements and musical selections.

Exactly 44 Newark retailers have signed to back the project, which will be something of an experiment. Originally planned as a variety show to include interviews of local people and recordings of special events in town, the plans were revamped when it was decided the quizz would arouse more sustained interest.

Since the show is a cooperative venture, the advertising theme will be somewhat generalized, pointing out the advantages of Newark as a shopping center. However, a few individual merchants will be mentioned each day, it was said.

The committee, which organized the project and lined up the merchants behind it, includes: George Wiggins, Noble Golt, Bob Pilnick, Don Savitch, George Neighbors, Jack Handloff, Alex Richards and Henry Mote.

DR. MILLER IN TALK TO 99 GRADS AT NHS FRIDAY

More Active Citizenship Is Asked By School Head

The increased responsibilities of the individual citizen towards his government in these difficult times were stressed by Dr. George R. Miller, state superintendent of public instruction, in his address to the graduating class of the Newark High School at the commencement exercises Friday night in the auditorium.

Ninety-nine seniors performed the last act of their high school careers in accepting their diplomas from Joseph McVey, president of the Board of Education.

Much of Dr. Miller's talk was devoted to citing examples of grave crises in history when mankind seemed faced by insurmountable obstacles. Many time before, Dr. Miller said, the future of the world has seemed hopeless and leaders have despaired. In each case, though, he said, men have somehow found the will-power, talent and leadership to pull through and move on to a better life.

Winners of prizes and awards were announced by Principal Frederick B. Kutz as follows:

Elizabeth Davis-Don Martin—American Legion Award of a medal to a boy and a girl for high rank in honor, courage, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Elizabeth Riley—Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizenship Pin and Certificate for dependability, leadership, service and patriotism.

MEMORIAL DRIVE SET

The drive to provide funds for a war memorial will get underway on June 25, in conjunction with the opening of the Aetna Company carnival.

The firemen have granted permission to both veteran organizations to operate concessions during the fete, with the proceeds going toward the cost of the proposed monument.

The town-wide committee to push the drive is still in process of formation. The group was partially organized at a meeting on Tuesday in the Council Offices. A second meeting to complete the committee will be held next Tuesday at 8 p. m. Also, plans are set to sign a contract for the monument at that time with Edward Hatti, Newark sculptor.

Three clay miniatures of proposed designs have been on display all week in the window of the Newark Department Store and will continue there until June 20. Residents are being asked to name their preference either by filling out a slip at the store or writing William Coverdale at the V. F. W. Post, Barksdale Road.

Census Results And 1948 Assessment Totals Set

3,367 Adults Listed In Tax Registration; Appeal Day Is Fixed

Results of the recent town census and figures on the 1948 assessment, listing property valuations here at well over $8,000,000, were announced Monday by F. A. Wheeless, town assessor. The assessment total marks a slight jump over last year's figure.

A new tax rate of 30 cents on $100 of assessment, an increase of five cents over last year's levy, was also set this week. The tax is expected to yield about $20,000 net, the legal limit for the town on property levies.

The 1948 assessment books will go on public display today in Rhodes Drug Store and will remain there for inspection by any citizen until June 28.

That date has been set by Council as assessment appeal day, when property owners may register complaints on their individual assessment.

Included in Mr. Wheeless' report were the results of the census ordered last month by Council in order to assess all non-property owners directly for a capitation tax.

Interesting in themselves, apart from the tax question, the registration listed a total of 3,367 citizens over 21 living in the town limits. Of these 1,479 are property owners, and 1,888 non-propertied. An estimate of the total population, including minors, would, therefore, be well over 5,000.

Exact total on the property assessment here, according to Mr. Wheeless' report, was $8,422,224. In addition, every citizen is assessed $100 for a capitation levy, bringing the total assessment to $8,758,924. Freeholders merely have to pay the 30 cent minimum on their $100 assessment to be eligible to vote in town elections.

AUXILIARY NOMINATES OFFICERS

Also Names Delegates To Convention

Miss Dora Gibb was nominated for president and Mrs. Robert Davis, Sr., first vice-president of the J. A. O'Daniel Unit, No. 10, American Legion, at the group's June meeting last Thursday.

Allyn Cooch, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Harry Truitt, chaplain; Mrs. William Hamilton, historian; and Mrs. Charles W. Keith, sergeant-at-arms.

The nominating committee was headed by Mrs. John R. Fader.

Delegates to the state Auxiliary Convention to be held at Rehoboth Beach, June 25 and 26, will be: Mrs. J. H. Dickey, Mrs. Myron E. Jacques, delegates; Mrs. Lee Lewis and Mrs. Roy Reed, alternates. Delegates-at-large will be: Miss Dora Gibb, Mrs. John R. Fader, Mrs. Orville Little, Mrs. C. K. D. Lewis, Mrs. William Mote.

Resolutions were adopted on the death of post commander William K. Richardson. Tribute was paid to his outstanding work in the Legion and his friendly cooperation with the Auxiliary.

The recent poppy drive here was reported a success by Mrs. Paul D. Levett, chairman.

A picnic supper marked the session held in the rear of the Academy Building.

TEN PERMITS ARE GRANTED ON BUILDINGS

Engineer Lists Work During May

Ten building permits, the largest for a $20,000 one-story brick addition to the Farmers Trust Company, were approved by the Town Council during May.

Others were granted as follows: Carl J. Rees, $12,000 dwelling; C. Emerson Johnson, $600 enlarged kitchen; Chester Ewing, $4,000 three-car garage; Harry Downs, $2,000 for converting second story apartment; Orville Little, $500 addition; Church of Nazarene, $6,000 addition; C. R. Runk, $1,500 addition; R. T. Jones, $2,500 display room; Mackenzie and Strickland, $2,500 show window.

George Ramsey, who has acted as town supervisor during the month following the resignation of George Price, listed completion of substantial amounts of work by various municipal departments in his report. Meantime, M. G. Amick has now taken over as part time town engineer, and Robert Nelson, recent engineering graduate at the University of Delaware, is ready to assume his duties as town supervisor.

One new street light and 10 new meters were installed by the light department, according to Mr. Ramsey. In addition to the electric work on the sewer sludge pump was completed, and a new transformer set up at Orchard Road. A number of other installations were also made.

The water department reported the installation of seven new taps and the renewal of six old ones. One leak in the main was repaired and a new fire plug was put into operation. Also, all fire plugs were painted. Other work included the laying of 600 feet of water main on the east end of Kells Avenue.

The street department listed completion of much-needed spring maintenance work, including the painting of white traffic lines, yellow curb lines and stop buttons.

The storm sewer on Dallam Road was also finished and four man holes built there. One tree was removed from Main Street.

Many other incidental jobs were also listed.

During May 21,088,000 gallons of water were pumped for the town. This marks a daily average of 680,258, an increase of 434,500 gallons over the previous month.

TOWN SETS MEETING ON ZONING LAW FOR JUNE 22

Revives Long Tabled Plan; First Draft Now Revised

Plans for a town zoning ordinance, shelved for over a year, were revived by the Town Council on Monday night, when the group set June 22 as the date for a special meeting to reconsider the measure.

The session was decided on, when F. A. Wheeless, head of the town zoning commission, announced that his group has revamped the initial draft of the ordinance first proposed last year and is now ready to offer it for Council approval.

Also, Mr. Wheeless said he plans to offer his resignation as zoning chief at the coming meeting. He stated that he felt the post rightfully belongs to someone not on the Council. When he was appointed, Mr. Wheeless was not a member of the town body.

Under requirements of state law, Council, if satisfied with the new draft, must conduct a second public hearing.

The first, held last August under the sponsorship of the zoning commission, proved a stormy session in which the proposed ordinance was roundly criticized, especially by local merchants who objected to restrictions placed on expansion of the business district.

The draft at that time had been drawn up by the zoning commission in cooperation with experts of the Institute of State and Local Governments, University of Pennsylvania, and was regarded as embodying the latest features of zoning ordinances for communities of this size.

Council is now about to take up where it left off at that time. The procedure for adopting a zoning law as required by the state, calls for, first, the initial draft and a public hearing by the zoning commission. Next, the measure must be revised to include worthwhile suggestions brought forth at the public hearing, then it must be turned over to Council, which, after approving it, is required to hold a another public hearing.

The need for a formal zoning law here was pointed up at Monday night's session in connection with the apartment house issue. Town Solicitor Samuel Handloff emphasized that in his opinion the town was gravely limited in its authority to issue building permits. Without a zoning law, Council can only enforce existing building regulations, he said.

New Member Is Inducted By Rotary

Club business was the chief concern of the Newark Rotarians at their weekly dinner meeting on Monday night. President William S. Hamilton presided.

Frank Tolomeo was formally welcomed into the club by Gilbert Nickle, in-coming secretary.

An auditing committee was named as follows: Jerry Weinberg, chairman, George Wiggins and Joe Bryan.

Program chairman next week will be Roland McCloskey.

Newark Artist To Do 10 Portraits For Somerset Maugham's Best Novel Series

Robert Arnold, young local artist, has been commissioned to illustrate W. Somerset Maugham's 11-volume series of great novel condensations to be published next fall.

Mr. Arnold, whose work has appeared previously in the Sunday Book Section of the Philadelphia Inquirer, has been assigned to do 10 pen and ink portraits of the great authors whose classics Maugham is condensing.

The youth artist said this week that he has already completed the drawings, which will appear together in the introductory volume of the series to be entitled "Great Novelists and Their Novels." This will contain Maugham's introductions to his 10 best novel selections.

Later, the novels themselves as condensed by Maugham, will be published in individual volumes, with Arnold's portraits of each author as the frontespiece. His illustrations will be of Fielding, Stendhal, Emily Bronte, Flaubert, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Jane Austin, Balzac and Melville. Eleven books will make up the series, which is being published by John C. Winston Company, Philadelphia. The latter volumes will also contain illustrations by other artists.

Arnold's good fortune in getting the commission came, he says, merely because he happened to be at the "right place at the right time." Advised by friends to show his work to leading publishers, Arnold, who maintains a studio and attends art school in Philadelphia, applied at Winston Company, when officials there were considering bringing out Maugham's selections. The editors liked Arnold's work and asked him to submit samples for the Maugham publication. Arnold complied, and, after his offerings were reviewed by outstanding illustrators, he was accepted for the job.

Arnold, who is 26, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Arnold, North College Avenue. His Philadelphia studio is at 118 S. 17th Street, and he is attending the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

For a time he studied engineering at the University of Delaware, but, after war service, decided to follow his natural bent. In 1947 he took a summer course at the Academy, then studied for a term at the Philadelphia Museum of Industrial Arts. Last January, he reentered the Academy where he expectes to study for three more years.

Tuesday night he was interviewed over WCAU by Philadelphia's Old Night Owl, Powers Gouraud.

The speaker was Dean Theodore C. Blegen, of the University of Minnesota's graduate school, who told the audience of about 1800 students, faculty members and guests that education must assume the lead in bringing human relations in line with human knowledge.

Town To Cash Last Two $10,000 War Bonds

Cashing of its two remaining $10,000 war bonds was ordered by the Town Council at its Monday night meeting. The move means the town nearing the last of the surplus funds accumulated during the war, when shortages forced curtailment of ordinary maintenance projects.

Faced now by demands for financing the proposed southside sewer, completing payments on the northside sewer and much needed street repairs, the town finds itself in tight financial straits, it was said. Limited by the charter to $20,000 in tax revenue per year, the town will be forced to operate on a close budget during the next 12 months.

Plans for purchasing a mobile street sweeper, ordered many months ago, were cancelled at the session.

Town Treasurer Vernon Steele reported cash on hand totaling $14,350.30 at the end of May. Total receipts were $41,796.10, less disbursements of $43,189.45.

Auto Dealers In Sales Parley Here

Plymouth, DeSoto and Dodge dealers from Chester to Baltimore and throughout the eastern shore attended a sales conference at the Newark Country Club last Thursday evening.

About 150 retailers heard discussions of new sales techniques and facts on the Plymouth car at the session presided over by W. C. Cumbers, regional sales head for the Plymouth Motors, a division of the Chrysler Corporation.

Purpose of the meeting was to impress the dealers with the need for a improved customer approach now that the car market is tightening.

Also revealed was the fact that Newark may become the permanent headquarters for such regional sessions of the company, since the town is conveniently located for the majority of the members.

The Newark Post

Six — The Newark Post, Newark, Delaware, Thursday, June 10, 1948

FILLIN' IN

The other day on the train we saw a fairly common accident. A man sat down, opened his newspaper and lost control. He used the crude, spread-eagle method, and, as he tried to turn a page, the paper buckled in the middle. In a twinkling, a large metropolitan edition was on the loose, pages billowing and lashing about like the rigging of a stricken galleon.

When the uproar subsided, the man looked around sheepishly, squashed the twisted mass of newspaper on the floor under his seat, and, pretending unconcern, drew a small, manageable magazine from his pocket and buried his flaming face behind it.

Through the car, snickers could be heard. These were from men who were reading their newspapers with practiced ease. They were using the commuter's fold, which is a secret formula enabling one to handle a newspaper on a train without creating a panic. Experts with this technique crease the paper in a long, narrow sheath, then fold half pages at a time, peeking around them craftily, without, apparently, ever losing their way.

The men on the train who were masters of this method had no sympathy for the awkward stranger. This was because they had never known what it means to suffer under the handicap of being unable to learn the commuter's fold.

We had some idea how the man felt, though, because we have labored under the same affliction all our life. Our trouble dates from the time our old man used to refuse to read the Sunday comic strips to us, and we got in the habit of spreading them out on the living room floor. This got us off on the wrong foot, and we've never since been able to handle a newspaper as a normal adult should.

If we try it, sections slide out, pages crumble, and soon we are working with a tight, little ball. Sometimes, the whole paper just collapses on us, and we remind bystanders of an inept boy scout trying to erect his first pup tent.

Unlike the stranger, though, we have trained ourself never to read a newspaper in public. We wait until we can get it home, where we can spread it out on the floor or get someone to read it to us.

This makes for a trying existence, though. It causes cramps in the legs and leads to embarrassing situations—as when guests drop in and surprise on hands and knees.

We often wonder why, with all the books these days giving expert advice on every imagineable human problem, some great seer has not come forth with a handbook on "The Easy Way to Master the Commuter's Fold."

Such a volume, if based on sound research, would come as a boon to millions of silent sufferers, unable to take their rightful place in the newspaper-reading world.

Word from the Newark Trust claims we were wrong in last week's item on their big clock. We mentioned a rumor to the effect that the clock's spooky tolling at midnight attracted witches from throughout the couny. Bank officials said his is unlikely since the clock's chimes are shut off every night at 10 p. m. and are not heard again until 7 a. m.

Well, it was a good rumor anyway. Maybe it was put out by a groggy night shift worker who happened to hear the thing strike noon.

Incidentally, we notice the clock's one face which was out of order has been repaired.

Newark's team in the Susquehanna League continued with its run of bad breaks on Sunday at Elkton. Even the umpire took up arms against it. According to Manager Ralph Edmanson, Tom Silk was robbed of a game winning home run when the umpire took a part in returning the ball to play. Edmanson says Silk drove the ball out of the regulation lot, and another ball, returned to the third baseman by the ump, was used to tag Silk out at home. The decision stood because Silk failed to touch home the first time and was nabbed with the odd ball when he turned back. Edmanson is protesting the decision with league officials.

Results of the town tax census indicate a lower population here that was generally believed until now. A total of 3,367 adults was listed or 1,479 property owners and 1,888 non-propertied. Of course, this doesn't include minors, nor those the census takers failed to catch. Include these and the total population would probably be near 6,000.

Incidentally, freeholders not registered in the census still have a chance to get on the tax rolls and thus qualify to vote in next year's town election.

They can sign up on assessment appeal day here, June 28.

RED MEN AND INDIANS, BOTH UNDEFEATED, ARE TIED FOR TOWN SOFTBALL LOOP LEAD

Monday's Scheduled Game Between The Two Clubs Postponed; Red Men Sink Newark A. C., 12-1, In Best Tilt Of Past Week; Coming Games Listed

The Red Men and the Indians are out in front in the community softball league as the race moved into its fourth week here today.

The two clubs, each with three victories against no losses, were scheduled to meet Monday night in an all-out struggle for first place, but the contest was rained out.

Best game last week took place Wednesday night when the Men trounced Newark A. C., 12-1. The tilt was something of an upset, since the Aces put up their top speedball artist, H. Merritt, whose underarm delivery is said to carry plenty of deception as well as power.

The Red Men got to him, however, in the second inning when they poured across eight runs, adding four more in the last two stanzas. The Aces got their singleton in the second.

UNIVERSITY ENROLLS 1000 FOR SUMMER

100 Delaware Teachers In Studies Here

More than 1,000 students, including about 100 teachers from elementary and secondary schools in Delaware, have signified their intentions of attending the first of two summer session terms at the University of Delaware, according to Dr. W. Earl Armstrong, dean of education and director of the session. The university, Dean Armstrong said.

A feature of the summer school will be a seminar in supervision to be carried on in cooperation with the University of Maryland, Temple University and the University of Pennsylvania. In addition, seven types of problems laboratories are provided for teachers besides the regular courses of study.

The summer sessions are designed to serve the needs of students whose programs have been irregular, students who wish to accelerate in order to hasten their graduation, and all school teachers of the state who are interested in improving their services to the schools, or in completing work toward either a baccalaureate or an advanced degree. The program includes both undergraduate and graduate courses.

NEWARK PROTESTS 5-4 LOSS TO ELKTON SUNDAY; CLAIMS UNFAIR DECISION BY UMPIRE

Silk Tagged At Plate In Third By A Ball Local Officials Say Was Returned To Play By Ump;

Playing under protest from the third inning, Newark's [illegible] fought through eleven heated stanzas against Elkton on Sunday only to go down by one run as the twilight set in.

It was the third loss of the season for the locals, as the brea[illegible] continued to run against them in the Susquehanna League ra[illegible] All three defeats were by a single run, this being the second ga[illegible] to go eleven innings.

The dispute arose in the third when Tom Silk hit what sho[illegible] have been a home run, scoring Skripps who had gained fo[illegible] through a walk. The plate umpire called Silk out at home, however, because he failed to touch the plate. After crossing, Silk turned to touch home but was tagged by Mullin, Elkton backstop.

This decision was challenged because it was claimed Mullins had tagged Silk with a ball thrown by the third baseman who had received it from the umpire while Silk was still rounding the bases. The ball, Newark officials said, was not even the one Silk had hit. The latter went out of playing field and was returned by a spectator.

Newark's protest, charging that the ball had not been placed in play properly, was sent to league officials Monday by Newark's manager Ralph Edmanson. He asked the two runs be counted and the game recorded as a victory for Newark. In view of the umpire's unorthodox decision, Edmanson says he has high hopes the game will be reversed.

After the decision, the count stood at 3 all. Both teams tallied again in the fourth, then fought without a score until the elevnth.

Hock, who went the distance for Newark, hurled a top notch game, yielding 11 hits, and Silk, who caught him nicely, topped the local sluggers with the disputed triple and a double.

Two home games are scheduled for this week-end, the first at 2:30 p. m. Saturday when Havre de Grace will provide the opposition in a game postponed from three weeks ago. Sunday, Newark will meet North East on the Continental Field.

SOUTHSIDE SEWER WORK NOW PLANNED

Extensions To Sanitary System Set

With the $75,000 northside sanitary sewer project nearing completion, the Town Council is now planning to launch work on the long delayd southside sewer extension, which will bring remaining areas into the municipal disposal system.

The plans are nearly in shape to permit advertising for bids, according to M. G. Amick, new part-time town engineer.

The project will include the laying of sanitary sewer lines along Beverly Road, South Orchard Road, Manns Avenue, West Park Place and Ritter Lane. A pumping station is also planned for west Ritter Lane.

Knotty problem is the matter of financing the new project. Council's war-time accumulated surplus is about depleted, and there appears to be little doubt that the town will be forced to launch a bond issue to cover the cost of the new project. This, it is expected, will come to almost as much as for the current northside project.

It is felt, however, the work cannot be postponed since it already has been hanging fire for a number of years.

The extensive northside project has connected up wide areas within the town limits heretofore not served by the municipal disposal system. It also covered the erection of a pumping station in the North Chapel Street area.

HARD OF HEARING NOW HEAR CLOCK TICK

A new device has been developed to give hope for the hard of hearing. Through the adoption of a new miniature electronic tube, science now brings restored hearing to the deafened.

No more cumbersome batteries or battery cords needed. This new device weighs only a few ounces yet so powerful the hard of hearing may now hear whispers.

It is suggested, if interested for yourself or a friend, write Tonemaster, P. O. 123, Newark, Delaware, for full free information.—Adv.
