New Scholarships Now in Education

Addition of 15 scholarships, worth $400 each, to the 18 awarded last year by the University of Delaware's School of Education, was announced yesterday by Dr. W. Earl Armstrong, dean of the school.

Made possible by a grant from the Delaware School Auxiliary Association, the scholarships will be open to freshmen, sophomores or juniors in the School of Education, although it is anticipated that the majority of those selected will be completing high school courses in Delaware schools this spring. There now are 18 holders of School of Education scholarships granted last year as the first step of a program designed to improve Delaware's supply of teachers and maintain the quality of the state's teaching personnel in both elementary and secondary schools. The first 18 scholarships are expected to be renewed in the coming year, according to Dean Armstrong.

The original value of the 18 scholarships made them the largest grant ever made in Delaware for such awards, and their renewal value, plus the value of those now offered for the first time, sends the grant's total, so far, to more than $20,000. Dean Armstrong said it is hoped sufficient funds will be available to enable renewal of the scholarships from time to time.

Outlining the conditions for the new awards, Dean Armstrong said applicants should take qualifying examinations to be held at 10 a. m. on Saturday, Feb. 21, in Wilmington, Dover and Georgetown high schools. Applicants should report to whichever school is closest. No application need be made until Feb. 21.

The next step, he said, will be holding of personal interviews on April 17 for those applicants who have been selected for interviews. The winners of the scholarships will be announced April 26.

Applicants, who must be residents of Delaware, will be required to present evidence of serious intention to become teachers in the state after they have completed the University's teacher education curriculum. Applicants must present evidence of their ability to do college work, based upon rank in their high school class, scores on general and special ability tests, and scores on achievement examinations to be administered by the School of Education. Personality characteristics suitable for teaching, based upon such evidence as personality records, vocational interest inventories, speech tests, and health records, will be considered. The need for financial aid will be taken into account only after an applicant has met all other standards, but if two applicants are equal in general qualifications, the one in greater need of financial assistance will be favored. Recipients of the scholarships will be expected to carry a normal college load, and will be encouraged to live on campus, in order to participate in the extra-class life of the University.

Students receiving the scholarships, Dean Armstrong said, will have a "moral, though not a legal, obligation to teach in Delaware."

Lanier, Kakavas to Speak at P. K. P.

A meeting of the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the annual meeting devoted to research, will be held in the Women's Faculty Club Rooms in Warner Hall on Wednesday, February 18, at 8:00 p. m. Dr. Charles N. Lanier and Dr. James C. Kakavas will speak on the following subjects: "Legislating Labor Relations," and "Chemotherapy in Infectious Diseases."

Ten inches of snow has left the Delaware campus looking like a good replica of Admiral Byrd's Little America. Wolf Hall, on the right, is well hidden by white-blanketed evergreen bushes.

Harter Scholarship Is Offered Again

The Harter Scholarship Committee of the University of Delaware's Alumni Association now is receiving applications for the 1948 award of the four-year Dr. George A. Harter Scholarship which is worth $2,000 to the recipient.

Thomas W. Mulrooney, director of the Department of Child Development and Guidance in the Wilmington public schools, who is chairman of the Harter Scholarship Committee, said that applications would be closed on April 1. Men students only are eligible, and the award is based on three standards; the boy's scholastic record in a school accredited by the University of Delaware; his participation in any or all athletic activities rather than on varsity athletics; and his moral conduct.

The winner's $2,000 will be divided equally among the four academic years which he would spend at the University, and so long as he continues to meet eligibility requirements, he will receive the income. If for any reason a Harter Scholar discontinues his studies at the University, he no longer is eligible for further grants. The recipient must live on the campus.

In addition to the candidate selected by the committee for the award, the committee also will name first and second alternates who will qualify in order if the original recipient is unable to attend the University.

Mr. Mulrooney said an applicant should seek a formal application blank from the University's Alumni Office in Newark. He also should send a letter stating his reasons for applying, and have the principal of his school send a transcript of his record to the committee.

This will be the third award of the scholarship. Last year, when there were applicants from all parts of Delaware and several other states, the winner was Richard B. Wells of Hamilton, Ill., who now is a freshman at the University. The winner in the scholarship's first year was James P. McFadden of Wilmington, a graduate of Salesianum Catholic High School.

The scholarship was created in honor of, and named for, the late Dr. George A. Harter, former President and Professor of Mathematics at Delaware College and the University of Delaware. In addition to Mr. Mulrooney, members of the 1948 committee are: Ralph W. Jones, Associate Professor of Applied and Theoretical Mechanics at the University of Delaware; Milman E. Prettyman, Superintendent of Schools in Seaford; William B. Simpson, Superintendent of the Caesar Rodney School at Camden, Wyoming; and Phillip H. Marvel, of Maplewood, N. J., director of Pine Knoll Camp in New Hampshire. All are Delaware alumni.

Dean Arm to Speak At Alumni Banquet

Dean David L. Arm of the University of Delaware's School of Engineering will be the speaker at the annual Mid-Winter Banquet of the University's Alumni Association, on Saturday, February 14.

In announcing the selection of Dean Arm, John E. H. Lafferty, chairman of the association's reunion committee, said the dean's talk would encompass aspects of all phases of the University. He added that the alumni felt it desirable to be kept up-to-date in this way in many developments concerning the program at Delaware.

Dean Arm will speak following a dinner to be served in Old College at 6:15 p. m. Following the dinner meeting, alumni will attend the Delaware-Urius basketball game in the Field house. Announcements now are being sent to all alumni.

Magazine Honors U. of Delaware

The University of Delaware is one of several American colleges honored by the magazine "Telegraph Delivery Spirit," monthly publication of the Telegraph Delivery Service, in its February issue.

Included are photographs of the Memorial Library and University Hall on the Newark campus, with the notation that Delaware is one of the universities honored by TDS for its efforts to further the floral industry through classes in horticulture and floriculture. The magazine is distributed nationally to florists associated with the Telegraph Delivery Service.

Two Fellowships To Be Renewed

Renewal of two postgraduate fellowships in chemical engineering at the University of Delaware was announced today by Dr. Robert L. Pigford, Chairman of the Department of Chemical Engineering.

To be offered in 1948-49 for the third year will be a DuPont Company fellowship, while for the second year the Shell Oil Co. will offer an award for graduate study. The Shell Fellowship includes a fixed stipend of $1,200 to the holder, plus tuition and other fees. The University receives a sum of not more than $300 for equipment, materials, and related research expenses. Conditions of the DuPont Fellowship call for an $1,800 grant to a married applicant, or $1,500 to a single applicant, plus $1,000 to cover tuition and fees. The remainder of the latter sum, if any, is available to the Chemical Engineering Department for equipment.

The present holder of the Shell Fellowship is Frank G. Carpenter, who is conducting research on condensing heat transfer coefficients, and the holder of the DuPont Fellowship is Carl Gazley, Jr., who is working on two-phase fluid flow. Both Carpenter and Gazley—among the first to study for doctors' degrees at the University of Delaware—are expected to complete their work for the Ph.D degree during the present year.

Fields of study, in both cases, are chosen by the University and the student. Commenting on the renewal of the fellowships, Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the University, interpreted continuation of the grants "as recognition that our efforts are being productive."

Newark Alumnae To Sponsor Movie

The Newark Alumnae Chapter is sponsoring as a movie benefit, "Possessed," with Joan Crawford. Tickets are on sale at Rhodes' Drug Store and Jackson's Hardware Store at the usual price, $40. The proceeds of the benefit will be used to buy new dishes for Warner Hall.

Brooklyn Dodgers Sign Hens' Marusa

Standout Guard Follows Thompson to Flatbush

One of the first actions taken by Branch Rickey, baseball's immortal "Mahatma" and owner and president of Brooklyn's baseball Dodgers, in his reorganization of the problem children of the All-American professional football conference, the Brooklyn Dodgers, has been the signing of Walt "Moose" Marusa, erstwhile Delaware ace guard and co-captain. Chief Scout Rex Bowen, whose serves in the same capacity with the baseball club, visited the Newark campus on Monday, and the 5'7", 215-pound ex-Wilmington High School star affixed his name to a Flatbush contract for an undisclosed sum.

Marusa, a standout guard in 1941 and 1942 before his three years of army service, had previously expressed disinterest in professional football, but talks with Bowen resulted in the contract. The little All-American guard will tangle with another Delawarean, Tex Warrington, from Dover, and Alabama Tech, for a guard position.

At the same time Marusa's contract was announced, Harold "Buck" Thompson, another former Delaware star, who left school with a year of collegiate eligibility remaining last spring, revealed that he had signed for his second season with the same Dodgers. The 6'1", 215-pound wing, whose signing with the AAC last spring caused a flare of words between Delaware's usually taciturn grid mentor Bill Murray and Los Angeles Dons Coach Dud DeGroot, was shuffled from Los Angeles to the Chicago Rockets and thence to the Dodgers last fall. Spending most of the campaign as a Dodger, Thompson set a All-America loop record when he caught nine passes out of nine attempts against the Dons. Thompson has reportedly received a substantial pay increase over his 1947 figure.

Haynes New Dean Home Economics

Appointment of Mrs. Edena S. Haynes as interim head of the School of Home Economics at the University of Delaware has been announced by Dr. William S. Carlson, the University's president.

In an appointment as associate professor until the end of the present academic year in June, Mrs. Haynes succeeds Miss Amy Rextrew, who has become dean of women of the University. Dean Rextrew succeeded Dean Gwendolyn S. Crawford, who resigned.

Mrs. Haynes formerly was supervisor in home economics subjects in the public school system of St. Louis. She also has been at the University of Missouri for three years in guidance and counseling work in connection with home economics.

She holds B.S. and M.A. degrees from Teachers College of Columbia University, has done graduate work at the University of Missouri, and for the past year has been studying at Columbia. She is a member of the American Association of University Women, the American Home Economics Association, Pi Lambda Theta, honorary society for women in education; and the National Vocational Guidance Association.

NOTICE

All fraternity men who belong to fraternities which do not have chapters at Delaware are requested to submit to Bob Winter, either through Box 1344 or the Sigma Nu House, their name, fraternity, and the college where active.

Editorial Thoughts

February 28 will mark an experiment in social functions at the University of Delaware. The biggest "name band" ever to appear on the campus of the University of Delaware will provide the music for the annual Junior Promenade in the Field House.

For years students have been crying for better quality music for the big dances of the year. This year, through the splendid efforts of Prom Co-chairmen Candy Barr and Jack Beach, the best band available has been procured for the Junior Class dance. We hope the time spent by the Prom Co-chairmen, Junior Class officers, and various committees, will be rewarded by the biggest turnout ever.

The price per couple will be $4.80—which may seem a trifle steep. However, the price was the same for the Junior Prom a year ago, and this year a better dance is offered.

The State Highways Commission of Delaware recently announced their plans for road improvements over a long period of time scheduled for the state of Delaware. Included in this plan was the extension of the dual highway, which stretched from Wilmington to Limestone Road, into Newark. This extension, however, is not on the immediate agenda of the Commission's plans.

We believe that the need for improved roads between Wilmington is more urgent than that, and that top priority should be given to this project. Several accidents involving commuter students at the University of Delaware have already occurred. Unless the deplorable condition of the Capitol Trail is remedied we fear that more will follow.

The commuters realize this problem probably even more than we do, and we would advise them to drop a note to the State Highway Commission, Dover, Delaware, and let them know how you feel. Remember, there are some 1200 students travelling that road every day—that's 1200 potential voters. They'll listen to you.

We would like to publicly apologize for statements made in Bob Bell's "Covering the Campus" column in the January 15 issue of the REVIEW. The facts in the accusation of Mrs. Dorothy Patterson, Director of Dormitories, were erroneous.

University officials also were not ready to release the fact that a Negro had made application for admittance to Delaware at the time Mr. Bell revealed it.

About a week later, the University of Delaware announced that they were the first southern state university to admit Negroes in some courses.

Figures from the Registrar's office, released by the Alumni Public Relations office reveal that 5.5% of the student body was dropped last term because of failures. According to the release as printed in the Wilmington Journal-Evening, this figure is far below the normal 10% rate at most colleges. By simple arithmetic, we see that at other colleges that if 10% of a class failed out at the end of each semester, by the end of the last semester of the senior year, more than one-half of the class would have been dropped because of failures. Look at the fellow next to you. If you were not at Delaware, either you or he would flunk out before you graduated.

We'd like to repeat a plea from Mr. W. D. Murray, Director of Athletics, who suggested that we be a little better hosts to both members of opposing teams and to officials of athletic events at home.

We read in the Muhlenberg College weekly where at a recent Temple-Muhlenberg basketball contest, played in Allentown, the booing from the home stands was not limited to the officials and opponents, but the Mule fans even booed their own coach and players. We don't think Delawareans are that bad, but quiet when fouls are being shot, a little remembrance that the officials were closer to that play than you were, and just a little plain sportsmanship will go a long way in improving athletic relations between Delaware and other colleges. Try to remember when Delaware plays Ursinus in the Field House Saturday night. Don't forget to hoot and holler for the Blue and Gold, though!

Jack Beach, former Managing Editor of the REVIEW, author of "To Each His Own", and Co-chairman of the Junior Prom, has withdrawn from school. We would like to take this opportunity to thank him for his generous service to the REVIEW and to the school in general. Lots of luck, Jack!

Do You Know The Right Time, Mac?

Listen, Brother, don't ask that question on THIS Campus unless you want to get a smart answer.

The question becomes quite involved if you really try to answer it. Suppose you are in Recitation Hall. The bell rings. That is supposed to be 10 minutes after three. You look at the wall clock and notice that it reads 13 minutes after three. Slightly confused you look at your trusty wrist-watch. It says five minutes after three. Now you are confused because you just set your watch by the radio before you left for class. Also you remember it was only about two weeks ago that the bells used to ring three minutes late by radio time. Now the bells are five minutes fast—or the clock is eight minutes fast.

Some day soon, the clocks or the bells or both will be adjusted so that they will be five minutes late or eight minutes late, according to which you go by. And day by day the school clocks will tick off the minutes just a little faster than your watch, while the super-automatic bell system will probably fall into step with Mean Solar Time.

Let's see how it all works out in actual Campus life.

On Saturday you go to breakfast at Kent Hall. The doors open at 7:20 a.m. and close at 7:25. It takes you 10 minutes to walk it so you start at 7:10. You get there and several of your friends are standing outside the door. They are discussing whether they are five minutes late or eight minutes early. Finally you decide to pick up your nerve and ask someone in authority. So you knock gingerly on the door. A head appears in the door-way and says "Can't you ever learn when breakfast is served? You're late. We can't let people in who are late, these waitresses have to get through and make an eight o'clock class." But you are standing where you can see the wall clock on the inside. It says 7:15. You point that out and get the answer "Oh, that! It's not right. I go by my own watch which I set by the bell last night." So you apologize and withdraw very much like a gentleman. Perhaps you are thinking about the $165 you plunked down for what is technically called a 7-3 ticket, but that is beside the point. Must be on time, you know.

On Monday you decide to go to breakfast at your usual dining place, the Commons. You start about eight minutes before the doors are supposed to close. It takes between two and three minutes to walk over there. When you get there what do you find. The doors are closed. Are you early or late? Have the clocks been "adjusted" over the week-end? But lets not go into that tiresome, involved story. You head for the State or the Deluxe.

There is a rumor that Bill Bergman, the fleet footed physicist, has a formula that is guaranteed to work. It's very simple. You just take into consideration the fact that one solar year equals 366.2421 sidereal days, that is, the whole thing is figured out by relation to fixed stars. This year being leap year complicates the matter somewhat. The formula that Bill is supposed to use only takes a few minutes to figure out on your slide-rule: Day of the month x phase of the moon x 366.2421. 38th meridian x Mr. Grubb's telephone number.

HUMOR?

Two little boys were standing on a corner. A little girl passed by. Said one, "Her necks dirty." Said to other, "Her does?"

Mark Anthony: "I want to see Cleopatra."
Servant: "I'm sorry, she's in bed with laryngitis."
Mark Anthony: "Damn those Greeks."

Freshman: "I've got a date for the prom with a chiffonier."
Senior: "Don't be silly, a chiffonier is a big thing with drawers."
Freshman: "I know, I know."

The Geyser

JIM REAGAN

THANKS—to Jack Beach for his welcome. We hope to be as successful in pleasing the people.

Such heavy response has been pouring in from our two weekly projects that we almost decided to close the contests and let our fine judging staff—three blind men and a dead cow—begin the difficult work of pouring over thousands of letters—and selecting the ones with enough basis for libel suits. Perhaps you've noticed that both contests are related to Delaware gals. This is no coincidence—we are trying to find some alluring young things to keep explorers like George Wood and Jim Edmundson a little closer to home. And of course, all this hasn't hurt us any—people have a new word to say after "stupid" when they mention our name, our walls are lined with pictures, and our little black book is filled with addresses. We can't figure why everyone lives at "General Delivery," Newark, except for one Western beauty from "Dead Letter Office," Washington—probably just a stone's throw from Seattle. Don't forget now—only three more days to send in entries.

BLOWING OFF STEAM—We were all set for a beautiful plug for the way registration was handled this term—when the bolt struck. Seems as though the engineering department hadn't quite made up its mind about when to have its classes. So a lot of engineers—including us—spent a couple of days trudging around listening to people say, "We already have too many . . ." Where's that Walling Wall?

Tickets, Tickets—who's got the Prom tickets? This isn't a contest yet—but it may be soon.

We hear the difference between a married man and a bachelor is that when a bachelor walks the floor with a babe in his arms he's trying to sober her up.

Hints for Conversationalists—Or How to Make Their Eyes Light Up—try talking about—airplanes to Frank Mooney—Philadelphia to Doc Wood—Junior to Bob Logan—lessons to Roy Manlove—cars to Woody Branner—physics to Jim Collins—Rose Murphy to Andy Seari—horses to Gug Bengston—rooms to Dan Tynen—Peg to Burt Williams—sun glasses to Bones Lindenkohl—Dick Meixwell and Dotty Matthews to Gine Wolf—anything to Jim Le Compte.

Sports minded? Or just like the sight of fresh blood? Drop in on some organized mayhem at the Field House—nope, not boxing or hockey—just intramural basketball. The boys are really in there with all they've got. Stop over real soon and see a ten man bout for free.

Due to favorable comment by a guy who owes us two bucks (we won't say whom, but look through the names again), we've decided to continue our musical comments—for about two more lines. Just that we get our kicks from a chunk of corn like "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover" and we think the Felko String Bands could stop Spike Jones any day in the week.

Now that the cat's out of the bag, let's get behind the Junior Prom and give it the support that a big affair deserves. If we want name bands and big dances, we've got to show that it's worthwhile for the school to have them. We think it's a swell idea and we hope that the student body thinks so too—to the extent of making it the number one social and financial success of the season.

Well, that's it. Don't take any wooden Indians.

NOTICE

News and Feature Staff of Review will have an important meeting on Monday, Feb. 16, at 4:00. All students interested in joining the staff are urged to attend also.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The Editor:

The "hungry freshman" who said in the last issue of "The Review" that when it comes to chow he is a "griper" certainly spoke the truth: he is a first-class one with no justification for griping.

No one can truthfully say that the food served in Kent Hall is not "edible" or "decent." You can't expect a meal exactly like a home-cooked one when it is quantity cooking for 500. If left-over food is used that is not being unsanitary, but economical. And he can't say that he doesn't get enough to eat. He knows that seconds and thirds are available. Maybe he is allotted only one bottle of milk, but with a little effort or by asking the waitress, he usually gets his fill.

If L. P. had a reasonable complaint instead of an ax to grind he would have specified the food that he thinks is not edible or decent.

We hope this term he did not buy a Kent Hall meal ticket but eats his meals uptown to see how fat he gets (if he is not already fat). We also suggest that he stop to introspect and be thankful that he is not a student in almost any foreign land where he wouldn't be getting half the food he is getting here—the quality nor the variety.

To The Editor:

I wish to take this opportunity to inform you that your column "Covering the Campus" which appeared in the Jan. 15th issue of the Review contained a few erroneous statements.

1. I did not occupy a double room in Brown Hall and never have. At the time the column was written I was living in a single room in Harter Hall which was assigned to me by Dean Daugherty in September of 1946. Dean Daugherty has charge of room assignments and not my mother, Mrs. Patterson.

2. In regard to your statement concerning the Newman Club Meeting, I would suggest that you contact Ed Vaklyes, chairman of the club's social committee, who was present at the time of the supposed "very impolite demands" to find out what actually did happen, and I assure you that you will find that the statements in your column are very incorrect. Furthermore, I can show you a letter from one of the guests present which states there was no impoliteness, rudeness, or inconsideration demands on the part of my mother.

Sincerely,
Vernon W. Patterson

SPORTS

SPORT SHOTS

DON REYNOLDS

A hard fighting Freshman basketball team is fastly becoming the strongest athletic squad to represent the University of Delaware so far this year. These Blue Hen fledglings have compiled an impressive record against teams in the Middle Atlantic Freshman basketball conference.

After dropping their opener to a strong Brown Prep quintet from Philadelphia, the Frosh have built up a five-game winning streak, and all of these wins have been against conference opponents. Their victims have been Swarthmore, P.M.C., Drexel, Ursinus, and Haverford.

Coach Bob Selman has had such a large squad that it has been very hard to pick a starting five. The team seems to abound in height and with extensive practice could be a tough aggregation to beat. The big point man on the team is guard Jim Thomas, a Wilmington lad who consistently breaks into the double column figures. His latest performance in the Haverford contest proved to be his tops of the season, as he dumped in eleven field goals and a foul for a total of 23 points.

Center Jim Middleton, a 6'3" youngster from P. S. duPont High, has proved the team with another scoring threat and a ball hawk under those backboards.

This Friday an improving Delaware swimming team will face Swarthmore in their final home meet of the season here at Taylor Gym.

Coach Rawstrom's charges have not exactly had a great season, but the coach reports that the team has improved in many respects and is hopeful of a good showing here on Friday in what should be a tightly contested meet starting at 3 p.m.

Capt. Bob Cofer's recent recovery from a back injury has given the Hen Mermen a powerful threat in the free style events. Bob's victory over Temple's Bill Ackerman in last Saturday's meet was the climax of his comeback. Cofer won the 50-yard free style in 24.9 to beat the runner-up in last year's Eastern Collegiate's. In practice, Bob has broken the existing Delaware team and pool records in both the 50 and 100 yard events.

Baudy Grier turned in a stellar performance in the Brooklyn Polytechnic meet by breaking the team and pool records by approximately 10 points. Also the improvement of Jimmy Baird in the breaststroke event gives the Hens a double threat in a department that has been woefully weak in the past. He and Jim Crumlish can now bring the team some points which they hadn't previously been able to count on.

Jack Smith has been doing well in the 220 and 440 and has even gotten within six seconds of the existing Delaware record in the 220 at practice.

However the most welcome news to Coach Rawstrom has been the return of Murray Campbell. Campbell, a backstroke artist, participated in his first meet since returning last Saturday, and took the 150 yard backstroke event in 1:52.2. In Campbell and Reds Ward, the Delaware tankmen have two excellent entries in backstroke events, and worries in that department, are temporarily at least, over.

In a preliminary starting at 1:45 the Delaware Freshman Swimming team will meet Trenton, N. J., High, who, incidentally, are the New Jersey state champs, and have been for quite some time.

Coach Shack Martin still is having his troubles in forming a full wrestling team. The meets so far this season have shown that there is a definite weakness in the 121 pound and heavyweight classes. However, more men could be used in all other weights.

Once again the Coach wants to point out that previous experience is not necessary. One can learn the sport providing you are willing to work. The only boys with previous wrestling experience are Bob Carter, Red Tawes, Dave Scott, and the "mountain of strength," Hank Paris. Of these only Carter had any experience prior to entering Delaware. In other words, the whole team is made up of boys with one year experience.

The same situation prevails in the Freshman wrestling squad. Here it is much worse, for the coach had a hard time getting enough men to give the opposition a match. The Freshman need men especially bad in the 121, 136, 165, 175, and heavyweight classes. At the present time, Delaware has no one to compete in the Frosh 136, 165, and 175 lb. classes.

It's a shame that such a situation should occur, especially when you see that we have two more meets, (with Johns Hopkins and West Chester S.T.C.) The Frosh have been entered in the Middle Atlantic Freshman Wrestling conference in which the following teams are entered: Rutgers, Ursinus, Gettysburg, Haverford, Muhlenburg, Lafayette, Swarthmore, Bucknell, and Delaware.

We think that this wrestling team merits a little more support; whatta ya' say we get behind them?

This Saturday the Blue Hens meet Ursinus here at the Field House in a very crucial basketball game, which could easily determine the Hens' chances of taking the Southern Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference. The Hens are fighting to overcome an early lead built up by Swarthmore, Drexel, and Ursinus.

Here are the conference standings, including the results of those games played last Saturday night:

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
Ursinus	3	1	.750	Delaware	2	3	.400
Swarthmore	3	1	.750	P. M. C.	2	3	.400

Track Workouts At Taylor Gym

Coach Ken Steers' Blue Hen track hopefuls started workouts in Taylor Gym this week in preparation for the coming cinder season. The harriers will not have to wait until the opening meet with F. & M. on April 17 to try out their spiked shoes, however, since Coach Steers is planning to enter several of the more promising candidates in the annual South Atlantic A.A.U. indoor games in Baltimore on March 13. The meet will feature all of the events usually found on indoor track programs, but the Delaware mentor is primarily interested in 70 yard high hurdles, 75 yard dash, 1,000 yard run, 2 mile walk, Mason-Dixon mile relay, high jump.

All men who are interested in trying out for any of the above

By SCOTTY MURDOCK

Will Sussex slaughter New Castle in basketball? Do you think Turvey can beat Warner? How about the Commuters, will they trounce the campus basketeers? We'll soon see. What am I talking about? Inter-dorm competition that's what. . . Pretty good idea don't you think? Who thought it up? The W.A.A., naturally. Here's how it works—

Next week the W.A.A. will sponsor night games at the gym between each dorm, the commuters and those who live off campus in Newark. Each dorm etc., will select their own team and captain to represent their dormitory against the other dorms and squads. Two games are to be held nightly on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday during the season. This means that by the rotation method each team will play about once a week. Practice times can be arranged in the day for each team by signing up. This gives those of you who can't play during the day a chance to compete at night.

This is to be a trial program, if found successful; inter-dorm competition will be held for the remainder of the term in swimming and softball. This is undoubtedly one of the best ideas hit upon yet to foster women's sports on this campus.

There's the idea, right in your laps. Let's see you make it work. Select your team and captain or manager then contact Irene Short over at Warner right away. Remember everybody's in on it; dorm kids, off-campus and commuters alike.

The intramural basketball loop has begun the playoffs for the non-existent title in the W. A. A. First up on the agenda was the clash between the Freshman Red squad and the Juniors. Results of the contest were not known at this writing.

The full schedule goes as follows:
Tues., Feb. 10—Fresh. Red vs. Juniors.
Thurs., Feb. 12—Soph. vs. Fresh. Blue.
Tues., Feb. 17—Juniors vs. Fresh. Blue.
Thurs., Feb. 19—Soph. vs. Fresh. Red.
Thurs., Feb. 26—Soph. vs. Juniors.

Invitations have been extended to various and sundry colleges surrounding Delaware to come to the U. of Del. for a Play Day at the Women's Gym some time in the early part of March. This Play Day will be handled, arranged, and directed by the Phys. Ed. majors and Miss Maryann Waltz. Events of the day will include basketball, table tennis, badminton and shuffleboard. The whole afternoon and part of the morning will be taken over by the athletes for the scheduled events of the day. As a finale to the program, the pool will be opened to all attending for a cooling dip.

Wrestlers Bow To Gettysburg 24-5

Gettysburg College handed the Delaware grapplers a 24 to 5 setback this past Saturday. Captain Bob Carter was the only Blue Hen to turn in a victory on the Delaware team, but Hank Paris was able to tie Binder. It was the second loss in four meets for the Delaware matmen who will travel to Johns Hopkins this Saturday.

The Delaware and Gettysburg freshman teams battled to a 14-14 tie in an informal preliminary match.

Temple Sinks Del. At Swimming Meet

Temple University's powerful swimming team handed the Delaware tankmen their third defeat, as they gained a 53 to 22 victory last Saturday in Philadelphia.

All news was not bad however, for Delaware's Captain Bob Cofer succeeded in defeating Ackerman of Temple. Last year this same Ackerman was the runner-up in last year's Eastern Intercollegiate. Murray Campbell turned in the other Delaware first with a victory in the 150-yard backstroke event.

Del. Collects Win Over Haverford

Paced by a first period scoring spree, the University of Delaware chalked up its third straight victory of the season last Saturday night against Haverford on the latter's court.

Captain Gerry Bowlus led the Hens in their early point surge, which at one time gave them a 15 point lead. However the Main-Liners had shaved the lead to 31-26 at halftime thanks to the efforts of Sol Tollin, the leading scorer in the Philadelphia district. During the course of the game Mr. Tollin racked up 20 points to gain the scoring honors.

Delaware's leading scorer turned out to be Barney 'Monk' Runcie, the speedy forward who turned in six field goals and four fouls for a total of 16 points. Bowlus collected 11 while Center Vic Wood

Freshman Squads Victors For Fifth

Delaware's strong Freshman squad gained their fifth straight league victory in the preliminary last Saturday night at Haverford, as they came through to a 57-49 triumph.

Jimmy Thomas again led the scoring parade for the Hen Frosh with a total of 23 points. Jim Middleton also broke into the double figures with 10. The Haverford five came from behind to tie the game up in the early moments of the last quarter, but the Hens caught fire and gained a commanding lead in the closing minutes.

Vote Now for Prom King and Queen

The Junior Class desires that their weekend be the biggest social event ever to hit the Blue and Gold institution. But this is not possible without the full cooperation of all the students on the campus. After all, the success of this venture affects everyone enrolled at this school. There has, indubitably, existed a seriously growing lack of adequate social entertainment at the University of Delaware. The Class of '49 believes that an extensive program will get under way if it can be shown that there is an urgent need and a real desire for this. The amount of your cooperation in this project will determine whether our university is to remain a "Five day school" or serve as a social as well as an intellectual stimulus.

On the 28th of February the best available band in the nation will play for your individual dancing pleasure at the annual Promenade. After much discussion it was agreed that everyone on campus should be given an opportunity to enjoy this gala occasion. As a result the Prom Committee has acquired more tickets which are scheduled to go on sale in the ticket booth in University Hall at 9 o'clock on Friday morning, the 13th. The price is still $4.80, tax included.

To add a bigger attraction, a King and Queen will be crowned at the dance as a climax to their reigning throughout the entire weekend. The royal couple will be selected by all the students in this school. They will represent the outstanding Junior fellow and girl. Only juniors are eligible to be king and queen.

So come on, everybody, cast your ballot now. Simply tear out the coupon below, write the name of the person you believe to be the outstanding man in the Junior Class on the top line, and the same thing for the Junior Girl on the lower line, and drop the finished ballot in the college mail box. That's all there is to it.

The names of all juniors can be found on the roster on the bulletin boards in University Hall or in the basement of the library near the mail boxes. Schedule of events for the Junior weekend will appear in next week's "Review."

JACK WALLS,
Pres. of Junior Class.

Piano Concert by Miss Berry Feb. 17

The Music Department of the University of Delaware will present Miss Grace E. Berry, pianist, in the first of this season's faculty recitals on Tuesday, February 17, at 8:15 p.m. in Mitchell Hall.

A graduate of Syracuse University in 1943, Miss Berry has been an instructor in piano, organ and harmony at the University of Delaware since September, 1946. She is also organist at the Second Baptist Church, Wilmington.

This past summer Miss Berry spent in advanced piano study under Robert Casadesus and with harmony classes under Nadia Boulanger at the Ecole d'arts Americaines in Fontainebleau, France. Miss Berry has also studied under M. Casadesus in New York.

She is a member of the American Guild of Organists; of Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary scholastic fraternity; and of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music sorority.

The Mitchell Hall concert is open to the public. Miss Berry's program will include two works of Couperin, Soeur Monique and Les Moissonneures; two compositions of Rameau, Le Rappel des Oiseaux and L'Egyptienne; Beethoven's Thirty-Two Variations in C Minor; Chopin's Barcarolle, Nocturne in F Major, Op. 15, No. 1, and Tarentelle; Faure's Second Impromptu; Debussy's Minstrels; and The Idylle and Scherzo-Valse of Chabrier.

Newman Club Host To Father Tucker

The Reverend J. Francis Tucker will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Newman Club to be held on Tuesday, February 17, at 7:15 in the East Lounge of Old College.

Father Tucker, pastor of St. Anthony's Church in Wilmington and Provincial of the Oblate Order of St. Francis De Sales, is well qualified to speak to the group. He is no stranger to the Newman Club since he is an annual guest and has proved to be an interesting speaker.

The Program Committee announced meetings will be held each week during the Lenten Season. These special meetings will be held on Tuesday evenings at a place to be announced at the meeting on February 17.

Father Carlin, club chaplain, announced the opening of a Newman Club office on Main street just off the campus. It was stated that this office would be used as a central point where the individual club members may confer with the chaplain during specified hours of the day and evening. A club library currently being assembled by the Catholic Diocesan Alumni Association of Wilmington will be placed in the new office.

NOTICE

A meeting of the Class of 1951 will be held in Mitchell Hall at 11:00 Thursday morning, February 19, for the purpose of election of officers.

Silos Entertain At Hillel Foundation

Jon and Ruth Silo, professional entertainers from New York, offered a program of folk song, humor, and drama at a meeting of the Hillel Foundation on Monday, February 9. A former member of the Yiddish Art Theatre in New York, Jon Silo is noted for his impersonations of famous people, while his wife is a radio artist and a popular monologist.

The services of the Silos were obtained through the National Hillel Foundation by Saul Sitzer, vice president in charge of programs of the local chapter. Other local officers include: Daniel Bloch, president; Peggy Shuizer, vice president in charge of membership; Edythe Ploener, secretary; and Robert Simon, treasurer. The group meets every other Monday night on the campus.

Refreshments and a community sing formed a part of the program.

Versatile Badgers Dominate Athletics

One of the most active and versatile athletic groups to be found on campus is the Badgers, a group of ambitious students who live in the Training House.

This outstanding squad has continuously been a dominating factor in Intra-Mural competition, during the past few years. In 1946, under the leadership of Phil Dougherty, the team succeeded in winning the football championship by defeating Theta Chi fraternity. Under the same coach in 1947, it was runner-up for the basketball championship, being defeated in the play-offs, in a very close and exciting game, by Sig Ep fraternity.

During the 1947 football season, the team underwent a slight change with "Ace" Hoffstein replacing Phil Dougherty as coach. Under "Ace's" capable leadership, the Badgers once again took the football championship by defeating the highly-rated Eagles by a score of 25 to 0.

At present, the Badgers are again in the race for the season's basketball championship in the National League under the superior coaching of Joe Picciotti. So far, the team has been victorious over the Training House Terrors, the Training House, and the Ghosts, and hopes to come out on top once again by defeating the Gunners on Tuesday, February 10.

The current squad consists of the following: Donald "Snoot" Van Brunt, an important cog in the Badger machinery, hailing from Long Branch, New Jersey, where he was outstanding in several major sports.

Earl Smith, a former P. S. star, and a member of the current leading Hanover basketball squad of Wilmington, is one of the outstanding defensive guards in the league.

Jack "Rubber Arms" Monaco, a former W.H.S. letterman, is the Badgers' rebound artist, and set shot specialist.

Joe Hanley, a former member of the high scoring Christ Our King quintet, is the Badger play-maker and court general.

Walt Jerominski, voted the most outstanding player in the Delaware State Tourney a few years ago, is the squads valuable pivot man.

John Shinn, a former P.S. athlete, is a hard-fighting guard and defensive star.

Joe Miller, who for a while was farmed out to the Varsity, and Verdell Short are the big scoring threats.

Steve Milewski, a former Brown Vocational football star, is the other valuable play-maker and rebound man.

Joe "Wheaties" Bradley, an all-around ball handler and a master of the tough, one-handed set-shot, is another P.S. duPont graduate.

Jim "Dixie" Dickerson, a former Claymont High asset, is a fast and deceptive ball handler.

A new comer to the squad is Francis "McGinty" McAllister, an ex-A.I. duPont gridiron and court star.

The team is cheered to victory by manager Paul "Bones" Capadanno, trainer, Gene "Napoleon" Milewski, scorekeeper Charles Cannon, and timekeeper Don Boorse.

Riflemen Practice In Newark Armory

The rifle team of the University of Delaware's Military Department, now holding tri-weekly practices in the Newark Armory, is accepting matches for the future, and when sufficient practices have been held challenges will be sent to leading college teams.

The only major small bore class not now held by a First Army Area team is for College Level, and the Delaware team is hoping to change that by its entrance into the field. The team will accept new participants at the Armory at 2 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

events are urged to see Coach Steers immediately. Freshmen as well as upperclassmen are eligible to participate in the meet.

Approximately 50 men have already started daily practice sessions of calisthenics rope skipping, and jogging, in preparation for the Baltimore meet try outs and the April opening of the regular Spring season. This year's outdoor track card is one of the best that Delaware thinclads have ever run. It will feature six dual meets, the Penn Relays, and the annual M. A. S. C. A. C. Championships. For the first time in Delaware's athletic history a Freshman track schedule has also been arranged, which includes four dual meets and the Freshman events in the Middle Atlantic and Mason-Dixon Conference championships.

Since this is the first year of the Freshman rule at Delaware, meaning that no new men will be eligible to compete in varsity sports this spring, Coach Steers will have to rely on his returning letter winners as entrants in the varsity meets. The track monogram wearers are Walt Bartoshesky, Bill Buckworth, Gene Carrell, Jack Catts, Pete Currier, Marion Davidson, Jack Gallagher, Bill Gordon, Baudy Grier, Jim Holden, Don Keister, Jack Levis, Bill Otten, Jim Riley, Bob Roberts, Dave Scott, Nine Stalloni, Bill Tawes, Jack Waples.

Papy, Tatnall Win ROTC Distinction

The first University of Delaware students ever to win the designation of "Distinguished Military Students" are Robert H. Papy, cadet lieutenant-colonel of the University's ROTC unit, and Phillip R. Tatnall, cadet captain commanding Battery A of the unit. Both are veterans of overseas duty in the Army, who are married and have children.

In announcing the selection of Papy and Tatnall for the honor, Col. Randolph T. Pendleton, professor of military science and tactics, said that they may be considered for Regular Army commission upon completion of their work at the university. The designations were made with the approval of Dr. Francis H. Squire, Dean of the University, since excellent records in all academic work are required.

Papy, a graduate student in business administration, is seeking his master's degree after being graduated last September. A veteran infantryman, he was a sergeant in a mortar platoon, where he won the Combat Infantryman's Badge. He fought through the Rhineland and Central European campaigns. Before his graduation, he was a football player at the University, and was line coach of last year's freshman team at Delaware. He is married and lives with his wife and their five-year-old daughter, Roberte, in Newark. He formerly lived in Yeadon, Pennsylvania.

Tatnall, a senior in business administration, is married and has a 10-month-old son, Phillip Jr. He lives at 3611 Washington street, Wilmington, Delaware. A veteran of 40 months in the Signal Corps, he achieved the rank of master sergeant, and was in the Naples and Rome campaigns in Italy. He is a graduate of Conrad high school.

Freedley to Speak At University Hour

George Freedley, New York drama critic, who participated in the Eastern Theatre Conference held at the University of Delaware last October, returns to the Newark campus on Thursday, February 12, as the speaker in the University Hour program, open to the public in Mitchell Hall at 11:10 a.m. His topic will be "Two Seats on the Aisle."

The drama critic of the New York Morning Telegraph, Mr. Freedley also is curator of the Theatre Collection of the New York Public Library, which under his guidance has become one of the most complete in the country. He also has compiled, edited and co-authored several books on the theatre, including "Theatre Collections in Libraries and Museums," "Theatre Handbook and Digest of Plays," "Theatrical Designs from the Baroque through Neoclassicism," and "A History of the Theatre."

Mr. Freedley is an officer of the New York Drama Critics Circle, the National Entertainment Industrial Council, and is on the board of directors of the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures. In addition, he is president of the Theatre Library Association and executive secretary of the Societe Universelle du Theatre.

After being graduated from the University of Richmond, Mr. Freedley took a postgraduate course in the Department of Drama at Yale University, where he was a student of George Pierce Baker. Then, in 1928, he became a stage manager, play reader, and production assistant for the Theatre Guild and other managements. Since 1928, he has seen almost every play on Broadway and in 1931, undertook the formation of the famous Theatre Collection.

History News

Mrs. Tamis W. Leonard, of Washington, D. C., has been appointed to the staff of the University of Delaware's History Department for the present semester, according to Dr. H. Clay Reed, chairman of the department.
